

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

See all RFDs and RESULTS Archived at
<https://www.fags.org/ftp/usenet/news.announce.newgroups/talk/talk.religion.bahai>

1st RESULT: March 27, 1997

RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 157:691

From: jjd@primenet.com (Jim Davis)

Date: 1997/03/27

Message-Id: <859422879.4199@isc.org>

Newsgroups:

news.announce.newgroups,news.groups,soc.culture.iranian,soc.culture.israel,soc.rights.human,talk.religion.misc,soc.religion.bahai

RESULT

unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai fails 157:691

There were 157 YES votes and 691 NO votes, for a total of 848 valid votes.
There were 19 abstains and 2 invalid ballots.

For group passage, YES votes must be at least 2/3 of all valid (YES and NO) votes. There also must be at least 100 more YES votes than NO votes.

There is a five day discussion period after these results are posted.
Unless serious allegations of voting irregularities are raised, the group may not be voted on again for six months.

Newsgroup line:

talk.religion.bahai Unmoderated discussion of the Bahai faith.

This vote was conducted by a neutral third party. Direct questions about the proposed group to the proponent.

Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

Mentor: Christopher Stone <cbstone@phoenix.Princeton.EDU>

Votetaker: Jim Davis <jjd@primenet.com>

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

All newsgroups and listservs given to the discussion of the Bahai faith are moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

The proponent intends that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai. The establishment of unmoderated companion groups is a well-accepted practice on Usenet. This newsgroup will be part of the talk.* hierarchy, which is exclusively for unmoderated groups.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Bahai faith -- its history, teachings, theology -- and so on would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Crossposting of articles not specifically relevant to the Bahai faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, special-format files, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Readers are asked not to start or prolong flamewars and excessive crossposts. Articles may be crossposted to soc.religion.bahai -- subject, of course, to the approval of the moderator of that group.

Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to the charter above.

END CHARTER.

talk.religion.bahai Final Vote Ack

Voted Yes

3arb@qlink.queensu.ca	Andy
3fa1@qlink.queensu.ca	Farid Ahmad
3sv12@qlink.queensu.ca	Virk Shakeel
4emb1@qlink.queensu.ca	Eric Berger
72110.2126@CompuServe.COM	David Langness
ab248@freenet.carleton.ca	Elizabeth Holden afshin.afrashteh@utoronto.ca
ahmadi@why.net	Saman Ahmadi
allenp5@lesbois.com	Allen Parks
andrew@utcc.utoronto.ca	dr a. rose anser@kamla.brain.net.pk ANSHARIF@aol.com
arm@chass.utoronto.ca	Abdul-Rehman Malik as-Shukri
aslam@openix.com	Muhammad Aslam Nasir
aslam@ulysses.att.com	M Aslam Nasir
babak.mohajerin@aus.deuba.com	Babak Mohajerin
batkhan@ihug.co.nz	Basharat A Khan bgraham@emerald.tufts.edu	Bryan S. Graham
bhayee@cyberus.ca	Hayee Basharat
bmathieu@micron.net	Brent Mathieu
bn872@freenet.carleton.ca	McKenny Michael BobSolem@aol.com
bon_giovanni@juno.com	Bon Giovanni
BrentReed@aol.com
BugDaddy@cris.com	BugDaddy
chughes@commnet.edu	Charles Hughes
cjdpcssd@mail.ims-1.com	Curtis Jewell / Dennis Whalen
clarsen@cfj.jsc.nasa.gov	Curtis Larsen
dan@cthulhu.control.com	Dan L. Pierson DaveCrnll@aol.com
dbowie@sas.upenn.edu	David Bowie
deadlock@one.net	DeadLock the Feral DeDanan@aol.com
dfbaker@panix.com	Debra Fran Baker
DLandhill@aol.com
dp10006@thor.cam.ac.uk	D. Povey
e8727192@tuwien.ac.at	Ahmet Ekrem SABAN
edn@msn.fullfeed.com	Eric Nelson EdvardJ@simi.is
ejohnsto@atcon.com	Earl Johnston
estep@hotmail.com	Christopher Estep
fateh.ahmad@cressoft.com.pk	fateh.ahmad
fbaker@ncsa.uiuc.edu	Frank Baker
FG@hotmail.com	FG
finc27@pop.uni-dortmund.de	Thomas Adams
fnord@odyssee.net	Thomas Moll
forumbahai@es.co.nz	Alison & Steve Marshall
fran@crhc.uiuc.edu	Fran Baker
freedman@netmedia.net.il	Dov Shmuel Freedman
fstrpba@umac.mo	Robert P. Biuk-Aghai
Gabriel.Salman.Lenz@directory.Reed.EDU	Gabriel Salman Lenz
gaillard@panix.com	Ed Gaillard

gedaliah@panix.com
 ggw@wolves.durham.nc.us guardian@iinet.net.au hamid01@paknet1.ptc.pk hmirza@yesic.com htana@ee.mcgill.ca
 humayun.ahmed@cressoft.com.pk iahmad@undergrad.math.uwaterloo.ca ibraheem.malik@cressoft.com.pk irauf@Phys.UAlberta.CA iskandar@EESUN2.tamu.edu
 jason.roberts@mail.admin.wisc.edu jdg@rahul.net
 jgoldberg@megsinet.net JKLintzBFA@aol.com
 jmalik@mailstorm.dot.gov johnd@northlink.com johnn@jolt.mpx.com.au JohnWrldPc@aol.com jrcole@umich.edu jwalbrid@indiana.edu katracha@juno.com keillan@quest.cc.purdue.edu khan@kherps.brain.com.pk kibo@dhp.com kjohnsto@Fox.nstn.ca koubae@rmi.net
 kwattles@sas.upenn.edu LaAeterna@aol.com lbhollin@uxmail.ust.hk lilandbr@scn.org lisarm@cei.net MahmudTaha@aol.com
 mahsa@psy.uwa.edu.au maitreya@worldnet.att.net maley@ism.net
 mansur.sheikh@cressoft.com.pk masnas@paknet1.ptc.pk Massoud.Ajami@sdsu.edu matuli_a@marlin.navsea.navy.mil mbkafes@bestweb.net Member1700@aol.com
 mibon@mailhost.cinet.co.cn mirele@xmission.com
 mlp@sover.net mrscotty@minn.net msabet@mail.net mubasher@ffclhr.brain.com.pk mughal@alumni.caltech.edu nahil@ece.utexas.edu
 naveed@nather.brain.com.pk Nefratiri@aol.com
 nkeiths@wavefront.com obfusa@mack.rt66.com olav@viking.mv..com @moa.net
 paustin@astro.ocis.temple.edu paxil@cancom.net
 Peace144@aol.com
 PIERCEED@sswdserver.sswd.csus.edu pimentel@ultranet.com pjktg@itis.com pjohnson@leo.vsla.edu positive@marsweb.com priven@best.com
 Rafiq@Colorado.EDU
 rafiq@ksc9.th.com

Gedaliah Friedenberg
 Gregory G. Woodbury
 Joel B Marangella
 Hamid Rahim Sheikh
 Dr. Hameed A. Mirza
 Hazem Nasereddin
 humayun.ahmed Irfan Ahmad
 ibraheem.malik
 Dr. Ijaz A. Rauf
 Alexandre Khalil
 Jason Roberts
 John David Galt
 Jeffrey Goldberg
 Jawad A. Malik
 John Dale
 John New

Juan R. I. Cole
 John Walbridge
 kamran raika
 Kelly G. Willis

kibo
 Kip Johnston
 Eric Kouba
 Kirk Wattles

rv
 Leland Bryant Ross
 Lisa Armstrong

Mahsa
 Joseph M. Emmanuel
 Tom Maley
 mansur.sheikh
 Masood Nasir
 Massoud Ajami
 Alex Matulich 03T1
 Milissa Boyer Kafes

Mike Furst
 Deana M. Holmes (NED for OTs Series)
 Marie L. Procter
 Scott Hanson
 M. Sabet

Asim Mughal
 Nahil Mahmood
 Mr. Naveed Athar Sheik

nkeiths
 Olav Nieuwejaar

Pam Austin
 Trevor

Eric D. Pierce
 J. Pimentel
 Paul Kansteiner
 K. Paul Johnson
 Dan Bailiff
 Aaron Priven
 Anwar Rafiq
 RAFIQ

Raymond.E.Armstrong@ism.net rbic@unix.infoserve.net regmor@rof.net
 rehman@advocate.sdnpk.undp.org RMckin6046@aol.com
 rodney684@silicon.email.net ross@u.washington.edu rsaltd@wctc.net
 rtower@bwc.org
 SAMIN@PHNET.SPH.JHU.EDU
 schand+@andrew.cmu.edu seeker@indiana.edu
 seeker@leland.Stanford.EDU SHAFIQUE@compuserve.com
 shank210@clubhouse.email.net Sharaf94@aol.com
 sharir@acel.net.au Shenassa@worldnet.att.net sindiogi@nmsu.edu soleman@unixg.ubc.ca spanky9114@aol.com
 ss@look1.apmaths.uwo.ca sscholl@jeffnet.org
 ssemmler@datalynx.com
 ST010517@BROWNVN.BROWN.EDU
 stuart@cosc.canterbury.ac.nz techind@ilcnet.com think@ucla.edu thriley@ccia.com trbutl@most.fw.hac.com
 uppal@ACSU.Buffalo.EDU usdaebcl@hol.gr
 uzair@xds.brain.com.pk VWoodsong@aol.com
 wgilmore@cris.com
 white-wolf-arts@juno.com woodgold@seismo.nrcan.gc.ca
 z.pontoh@bandung.wasantara.net.id

Raymond Armstrong
 Roger Bicknell
 Reg Moore
 rehman

R. Summers
 George A. Mohr
 Ron Tower
 Shahina Amin
 Sandeep Chand
 Karen St. Rain
 Hamed Rehman Saeed
 Shafique

Shahryar Razmafrooz
 Shenassa
 Eric Indiogine
 Syed Soleman Hashmi
 Spanky9114
 Sultan Sial
 White Cloud Press
 Steve Semler

Stuart Yeates
 Matt Perry
 SAFA SADEGHPOUR
 Tom Riley
 Thomas R. Butler [Tom] (219) 429-5957
 Faisal Uppal
 Javid Kashefi

gil gilmore
 Robert Stauffer
 Catherine woodgold

Voted No

100076.3536@CompuServe.COM
 100444.3521@CompuServe.COM
 4dmo@qlink.queensu.ca
 70264.1414@CompuServe.COM
 73751.1530@CompuServe.COM
 74211.273@CompuServe.COM
 a.k.davison@clear.net.nz abdf@tscc.macarthur.uws.au ABEDIAN@socsci.uct.ac.za abir@jal.cc.il.us abizadeh@husc.harvard.edu Acompere@aol.com
 ad859@lafn.org
 adamsonlyn@cix.compulink.co.uk ae449@freenet.carleton.ca
 aegillet@mtholyoke.edu
 AErfani@aol.com
 afabbro@brokenarrow.us.itd.umich.edu
 AFowlkes@domaincorp.com
 AGhosh@UH.EDU
 ai152@chebucto.ns.ca aipenner@oberon.ark.com al767455@mail.mty.itesm.mx
 alarash@uclink2.berkeley.edu alchemy@student.adelaide.edu.au ale42@atl.mindspring.com

C Pemberton-Pigott

Denise Oelrich
 H MORAN
 Judy Baker
 GEORGE R. MATHER
 Ash & Kahu Davison
 Dash Forghani
 Abedian, I, Iraj, Dr
 Abir Majid
 Arash Abizadeh

Akka Ram
 Lynda Adamson
 Malcom Sargent
 bananne

Andrew Fabbro
 Aaron Fowlkes

Michael H. Mahar
 Irv Penner
 Martha May Villagomez H.
 Ala Moshiri
 Bill
 Alex Wainer

alexander@netwalk.com ali99@is2.dal.ca
alicouwe@hometown.on.ca amare@erols.com
aminm@cs.washington.edu Amosborden@aol.com
amostag@uhc.com
andrew.pemberton-pigott@ualberta.ca
APERVUKHINA@IMF.ORG
APowers636@aol.com
Aram_Abizadeh@UManitoba.CA
areid@best.com armin@netgate.net arthine@yahoo.com arthur.murphy@arch.gatech.edu artwrite@istar.ca ashraghi@uio.satnet.net atorrie@u.washington.edu
aull@ll.mit.edu
AVI-Systems@iAfrica.sz
azadegan@midget.towson.edu badi@dawn.joensuu.fi baha@atc.boeing.com
bahai.iceland@itn.is BahaiFfm@aol.com bahman@nur.sfos.ro
baker@dpe1.UNET.dec.com
bandrig@mgl.ca BaugherK@aol.com bbaker@cognex.com
bcross@dubois.fisk.edu Beckyjones@aol.com
benn@sprintmail.com beri486@postoffice.worldnet.att.net bernal@tranquillity.com beverlyh@bwc.org Bfcandfield@aol.com
bgomill@hubcap.clemson.edu bgreene@cisco.com
bhbarick@VNET.IBM.COM bjdrage@sn.no
blair@teleport.com bledgar@web.net
blimber@CapAccess.org BMESBAH@aol.com
bmony@tiac.net
BMTHIAN@sp.ac.sg
bobh@tti-net.com booda@datasync.com brianf@norfolk.infi.net bruce@cheerful.com
bruce@kenosis.com bsimmons@cis-corp.com bstover@uafphpl.uark.edu bwalters@mail.island.net BXUK@kenfinn.demon.co.uk cardin@fsj.net
Carmel1@gnn.com
Carol_Bowie@mindlink.bc.ca Caroyl@aol.com case@commonlink.com casseman@mail.keyworld.net cchen3@mailhost.tcs.tulane.edu ccoffey@crystal.ncc.cc.nm.us cdonuts@southernx.or.jp cfancey@auracom.com cfarhoum@osf1.gmu.edu

Alex S.
RAGE ALI99 PEACE
Alice Ouwerkerk
Zelalem & Gail Amare
Amin Mansuri

anoosh mostaghimi
Andrew Pemberton-pigott
Alexandra Pervukhina

Aram Abizadeh
Anthony & Amy Reid, Esq.
Armin Miraftebi
Arthine van Duyne
Arthur R. Murphy
Bruce Filson & Margaret Bremner
Farzin Ashraghi
A. Torrie
Brian Aull
Steven Fletcher
Shiva Azadegan
Badi Moore
Jahanshah Darvish
NSA of the Baha'is of Iceland

Bahman Rahmatian
Dwight Baker 11-Mar-1997 0121
Michelle Andrighetti

Bill Baker Cross

Ben

Bernal Schooley
Beverly Hunsaker

Bridgette Gomillion
Barry Raveendran Greene

Brit Drageset
Stephen & Ann Blair
Vision 9
Bruce Limber

Bennett Montgomery
Thian Boon Meng/EE/SP_SF
Bob Harrison
Martin H. Booda
Brian Fountain
Bruce R. Haendel
Bruce Baugh
Benjamin Simmons
Bryan Stover
Bud Walters
C:WINSOCKKA9QSPPOOLMAIL
Bernie & Heather Cardin
AHMAD MAHBOUBI
Carol Bowie

Ryan E. Lundberg emanuel cassar
Constance M. Chen
Charles J. Coffey
Charles Duncan
Clayton and Joan Fancey Cheshmak A Farhoumand

cfravel@wpo.borland.com cgraber@ghgcorp.com
charles@oneworld.new-era.com Chesley.John@ic.gc.ca chetan@ee.iitb.ernet.in CHILLEDMON@aol.com
Chris.Hamilton@wku.edu chris@cosmic.dinoco.de christina.hinshaw@St-Peters.oxford.ac.uk Cipher@mindspring.com
cmann01@ibm.net
CMATHENG@SONNET.UCLA.EDU
cn103@freenet.toronto.on.ca cprice@telogy.com csayer@efn.org
ctoussa@linfield.edu
ctwatkins@juno.com
CVK9Bahai@aol.com
cwm@esper.com cwonders@falcon.tamucc.edu cxasf@eiu.edu
CYMA40A@prodigy.com
D.McGinn-Combs@mindspring.com daboo@resnet.uoregon.edu daddison@hawaii.edu dale.marxen@mankato.msus.edu
DALE@maxwell.amtsgr.bc.ca
Darrell.Rodgers@advcom.com darren@hiwaay.net david.ritscher@zibmt.uni-ulm.de dballard@cs.com DBDahl@aol.com
dcallen@norfolk.infi.net Dcorbett@aol.com
dcote@uottawa.ca
deamar@u.washington.edu dearaujo@centre.edu dehutton@mn.uswest.net
deng@oneworld.new-era.com DENREID@raychem.com derekmc@ix.netcom.com devan@tm.net.my devlin@prcn.org dhanson@hal-pc.org Dillard@dhr.state.nc.us djs@teleport.com DLagiglia@aol.com
dlyon@ak.planet.gen.nz dmc30@concentric.net dnhuff@acm.org dodgefam@cruzio.com don@new-era.com
don_greenaway@sunshine.net DRanchuk@aol.com
dsacct@flintheills.com DSaly33635@aol.com
dtw@Brooktrout.COM
durksen@freenet.calgary.ab.ca dwcott@srv.net Ebluehaven@aol.com eburgess@bbn.com edelgado@pcc.edu
edey@supernet.ab.ca EdP94@aol.com
edpauls@umich.edu edyoung@aloha.net
egelit@island.net

Carl Fravel
Caroll Graber
Charles W. Cooper II
Chesley, John: HFX
Prof.Chetan Parikh

Chris Hamilton
Christian Much
Christina H. N'tchougan-Sonou

Christena Mann
Carmen Mathenge
Duncan Findlay
Christine Price
Carole Sayer
Colby Toussaint
Candace N Watkins

Cheri Wallace Matthews
Chris Wonders
Amelia S. Felty
MS LYNDA GODWIN
Dan McGinn-Combs
Nelson Kidd
David Addison
Dale Marxen

Darren Hiebert
David Ritscher
Don Ballard

Carole and Dwight Allen

Daniel Cote
Dean Martineau
Mark de Araujo
Deborah Ann Hutton
Dale Eng

DEREK COCKSHUT
Vasudevan a/I Gopal Nair
Gina Devlin
David L. Hanson
Dillard Henderson
Don Johnston

dlyon dmc30
Don Huff

Don Davis
Don Greenaway

Sue Haas

David T. Wolff
Susan Durksen
Don Cott

Ed Burgess
Evelyn Delgado
Mavis Edey

Edward Benjamin Pauls
Ed Young
Terrance Egeli

EGWE@tdk.net
 ehd0@CEHDEH1.EM.CDC.GOV
 EIB@adem.state.al.us EKreitzer@aol.com
 elhum@ns.apexvoice.com
 elman@hawaii.edu ELowcock@aol.com engcah@panther.Gsu.EDU
 engp5242@leonis.nus.sg esheehan@mind.net eshraghi@ohsu.edu
 esser@bucknell.edu
 eusmith@cln.etc.bc.ca euthke@siam.muc.de ewilson@netidea.com
 f.naghdy@uow.edu.au fafagh@ccs.carleton.ca famreyes@caribe.net farah@mlj.com farahbh@tuns.ca
 faramarz@pinc.com
 Farhad.Fozdar@vs.siemens.de FARIVAR.SANEI@vslib.cz farshad@erols.com"@erols.com farshid@ix.netcom.com fata@hinge.mistral.co.uk fben@islandnet.com
 ferdows@sequent.com Fereydoun_Tavangary@ccm.jf.intel.com ferguson@generation.net ferrie@brentwood.bc.ca fine@cruzio.com firouz@au.ac.th fmohaje@uswest.com
 Fred.Delgado@worldnet.att.net FRED3532@aol.com
 fritz@caribe.net FritzzyWow@aol.com frohani@axionet.com fshtrw@umac.mo
 fsrst@aurora.alaska.edu fyazdani@imtn.tpd.dsccc.com G.Naghdy@elec.uow.edu.au garriehill@nextek.net
 Gata@aol.com
 GAYLE_J._HANKE@commonlink.com
 gbg4@columbia.edu
 GCBerteig@KEYANOC.AB.CA
 gduly@zamnet.zm gdunham@is.dal.ca
 gemma.burford@exeter.oxford.ac.uk geoeil@cancom.net geohelm[deltedupon] georgem@magnet.at ghughes@nanaimo.ark.com
 gilbert@cruzio.com
 GILLETTE@fredonia.edu GKaramalli@aol.com
 globe99@Mlink.NET
 gmurray@cln.etc.bc.ca govani@acsu.buffalo.edu gpeters@emory.edu gpr96002@uconnvm.uconn.edu graham@fragrant.demon.co.uk greent@singnet.com.sg greyfox@aloha.net grlindberg@maxxum.com

Eric Gustav Werk
 Donnelly, Elizabeth H.
 Bittner, Enid

Elhum Vahdat
 Floren Elman

Cher Ann Holt-fortin
 Lu Fang

Ernie Sheehan
 Niknam Eshraghi
 Suzi Esser

Eugene Smith
 Ekkehard Uthke
 Emery Wilson
 Fazel Naghdy
 Fred Afagh
 C Reyes

Farah Aghdasi
 Hamid Farahbakhsh
 Faramarz Rohani
 Fozdar, Farhad VS extern Farivar Sanei
 farshad farhoumand farshid

Ferdows Mehregani Fereydoun Tavangary
 ferguson

Naomi Fine
 Firouz Anaraki
 Farid Mohajerjasbi
 Fred Delgado

Kersting Family

Farid Rohani
 Rex Wilson
 Darkside Cowboy
 Flora Yazdani
 Golsha
 Garrie Hill

GAYLE J. HANKE

Gavin Grant
 Garry Berteig
 Greg Duly
 Glenda E Dunham
 Gemma Burford
 George/Eileen Collins [request]
 George A. McKeever
 Glen Hughs
 Mary-Lela and Art Gilbert
 Linda Gillette

Derrick Jobidon
 Greg Murray
 Sanam R Govari
 Gretchen Frances Peters
 G.P. Ryan
 Graham Sorenson
 Green Traazil
 Robert L. Miller
 Gary Lindberg

GRWyckoff@aol.com
 gt0517b@prism.gatech.edu
 gt3192a@prism.gatech.edu
 gt5614b@prism.gatech.edu
 gt5678a@prism.gatech.edu
 gt8203b@prism.gatech.edu
 guitarking@compuserve.com gydestar@northernnet.com
 h-s@intellinet.com
 HAI.ISKANDAR@FORUM.VA.GOV
 hajizads@nbnet.nb.ca halldor@rala.is HAMEDR@aol.com
 Harald_Indgul@dell.com harri@bahai.fi
 hatch@Oakland.edu HCWTcurtis@msn.com
 healy@pipeline.com
 hedley@zamnet.zm Heshute@aol.com
 hessam@hpcvn2hk.cv.hp.com heyep@pc.jaring.my hf@redshift.com himel@svg.com hn04@uow.edu.au
 hnielsen@uclink4.berkeley.edu holbrsd@wku.edu holger@isl.uit.no hollyh@mail.utexas.edu homa@philadelphia.libertynet.org hosseini@cig.mot.com houta@med.su.oz.au
 hpa@transmeta.com
 IanDigby@compuserve.com ianem_walker@bc.sympatico.ca iaustvol@online.no inarula@po.incl.or.jp info@globus-zpp.com
 infp@oro.net
 INNOVZN@aol.com
 iskandar@acsu.buffalo.edu iskandar@ns.moran.com isp@iol.ie
 izadi@csc.fi Jackie095@aol.com
 jahed@nb.rockwell.com jainet@rain.org
 james@csa.com
 janelamb@gatepoly.co.ck janetb@pris.bc.ca janisfaybahai@juno.com jasmine@fl.net.au jauca@unixg.ubc.ca jaznkaz@ix.netcom.com
 jazzara@suffolk.lib.ny.us JBarnes159@aol.com
 jbd@foothills.eznet.com jbrown@3-cities.com jcornell@moby.net jeffrey.brown@medtronic.com jer.1844@mail.utexas.edu jesp@intercable.net jgtraub@toto.pitton.com jhall@kuentos.guam.net jhampton@voyageronline.net jimrtex@pipeline.com
 jjam@hplabsz.hpl.hp.com

Sina Eghrari
 Pooria Sabetazm
 galadriel, lady of the elves
 Sima Razi
 Nabil Fanaian
 Steven King

Hampton-Stover

hajizads
 Halldor Thorgeirsson

Harald Indgul
 harri saajanlehto
 Jeremy M Hatch
 Larry Curtis
 Gerald J. & Virginia P. Healy
 Darren and Naghmeh Hedley

Hessam_Khorvash
 Yeap Hong Ean
 Ken & Kris Caldwell
 Marc Himel
 Hoda Naghdy hana n-k
 DOUG Holger Hagan
 Shirley Hamamcy
 Homa Sabet Tavangar
 Kamran Hosseini
 Houta Salahifar
 H. Peter Anvin
 Ian Digby
 Ian E M Walker
 Ivar Austvoll
 Mohan Narula
 GLOBUS

Iskandar Hai
 Iskandar Hai, M.D.
 Iain S. Palin
 Izadi Partow

Fred Jahed
 jainet toth
 James Spurlock
 Jane Lamb
 Janet Beavers (PVT)
 Janis M. Holden-Toruqo
 Jasmine Taylor
 Ciprian D Jauca
 jaznkaz
 [N2GYN] JOHN AZZARA

Jeanne & Buz
 Jay A. Brown
 John B. Cornell
 Jeffrey Brown
 Jerome Whittington
 Jesus Eugenio Sanchez
 James G. Traub
 Jan Hall
 Joan Hampton
 Jim Riley
 Jim Jam

JJBOOHUD@aol.com
jjbosch@ix.netcom.com jjensen@ecnet.ec
jjensen@welchlink.welch.jhu.edu JKEWISH@aol.com
jkramer1@swarthmore.edu
jkurth@tenet.edu JLedge@aol.com jmfelty@eiu.edu joanne@aloha.net
JoeCPacileo@SkyBest.Com
johnw@borland.com
jon@holly.ColoState.EDU
Jonathan_Agnew@postoffice.Brown.edu jonesgj@teleport.com jonpiff@mind.net
JON_FIROOZ@HP-Loveland-om10.om.hp.com
josborne@unaalpa.una.edu
Josie@kopano.demon.co.uk
JOWEN@maxwell.amtsgi.bc.ca
JP_VADER@compuserve.com jrussell@northlink.com jschulz@primenet.com JSPirmorad@aol.com
judd@pnn.com jvoogt@atl.mindspring.com jws@ms8.hinet.net kacollin@u.washington.edu kalahea@aloha.net Kambiz@gem2000.com
kamran@kunetos.guam.net karvonen@dawn.joensuu.fi kash@pop.jaring.my katew@cicero.spc.uchicago.edu kathyg@xtra.co.nz KBishop919@aol.com
kbowden@ns.inter.edu kdgenus@iscanet.com KelseyCuzn@aol.com kepritchard@earthlink.net kerryann@cybernet.co.nz khaleghian@xtra.co.nz khudson@dopm.uab.edu kimdv@netcom.com kimmov@cc.joensuu.fi kjames@vision.net.au
kkoay@umich.edu KLWilke@aol.com
kmolav02@sprynet.com kmotlagh@geocities.com
kornatz@bc.sympatico.ca
KOUROS01@UTSW.SWMED.EDU
krayemn@ucs.orst.edu kshanks@bwc.org
ksm8p@avery.med.virginia.edu
kushab@BIOMED.MED.YALE.EDU kwilson@tnc.com
LABARBERA@fredonia.edu
LABARBERAJ@fredonia.edu Ladiri@aol.com
laina@singnet.com.sg laleh@dawn.joensuu.fi LARON@UI.URBAN.ORG
larry@vexcel.com
Larry_Hanser@rand.org LauchnerM@aol.com
laurk@alpha.montclair.edu

Jerry Johnson
Jim Jensen
Joan Jensen

Joshua Kramer
Jeffrey R Kurth

J. Michael Felty
Joanne Farlander
Joe and Cindy Pacileo
John Wiegley
Jon Firooz
Jonathan Agnew
Gerald Jones
Jonathan Piff

Jacqueline Osborne
Josie Akhurst
Johanna Owen
John-Paul Vader
Judy Russell
Jason A. Schulz

Judd Rook
Jesse Voogt
John Soderlund
K. Collins

Kambiz Sabouri
kamran
Jarmo Karvonen
Kashminder Singh
Kate the Short
Kathleen Gilbert

Kim Bowden
Kevin Genus

Karen Pritchard
Kerry-Ann
Peyvand Khaleghian
Keitha Hudson
Kim DeV Vaughn
Kimmo Vesajoki

Kelly W Koay

Kristin Motlagh
Kornatz

Nizar Krayem
Kate Shanks
Kavian Sadeghzade Milani
Barmak Kusha
Kevin Wilson
Ida M. labarbera
Joseph T. Labarbera

Laleh Missaghi
Laudan Y. Aron
Larry Peterson
Lawrence M. Hanser

LCHARLON@unb.ca
 lcs@zk3.dec.com
 Ldwyer@usbnc.org
 Leanne_Ralya-Eleff-R19313@email.sps.mot.com lebensold@talismans.com leblancj@is.dal.ca leclak@nbnet.nb.ca
 ledesma@worldpage.com leelarry@logan.net
 lemmonw@ftn.net
 LGENTILE@MSUMUSIK.MURSUKY.EDU lianz@kuentos.guam.net lisamo@cats.ucsc.edu lizhm@aloha.net
 ljr2m@avery.med.virginia.edu LKewish@aol.com
 lleetch@facstaff.wisc.edu LLindsley@usbnc.org
 loffstein@geneva.bic.org
 LONNINSJ@mail.isd196.k12.mn.us
 LoranaK@aol.com
 LOUE@edu.univ-montp3.fr
 LPUZON@aol.com
 LRao@harbinger.com
 lrobinso@cecasun.utc.edu
 LSEAMANS@MU3.MILLERSV.EDU
 luckyme@compuserve.com LWalker@usbnc.org
 lynsmith@mail.island.net m9@interlog.com
 mac*13*@cyberhighway.net macleodr@nbnet.nb.ca maeissin@worldnet.att.net mahoney@sopris.net MAINN@aol.com
 maloney@talismans.com Mani.Sobhian@analog.com marav@cruzio.com marcia@osha.igs.net Marc_Sacco@voga.com.br margo@dra.com
 margreet@margreet.seanet.com Marlene_Russell@bcon.com maryday@mind.net marylou95@juno.com
 mat@psych.mc.duke.edu matthews@esper.com
 mb12@cornell.edu
 mbarth@napanet.net mccartb@uwec.edu mckinney@sol.racsa.co.cr mcswiny@ibm.net
 mdaddress@aec2.apgea.army.mil meghas@sparcom.com mehrank@nait.ab.ca
 meikku@dawn.joensuu.fi MelansonG@gfc.dfo.ca memo@leland.Stanford.EDU merat@armon.rain.com mfabry@efn.org
 MFARNSWORTH@macalester.edu
 MFISH@alston.cba.ua.edu michaelm@ccintnet.wrq.com milewski@worldnet.fr minu@rz.uni-sb.de miraftab@wpgw.cc.lut.fi
 MKENNEDY@FSC.EDU

Lisa Charlong
 Larry Smith
 Liz Dwyer
 Leanne Ralya-Eleff-R19313
 Julian Lebensold
 Dr. John C. LeBlanc
 leclak

Lee Olson
 Wm. Lemmon
 Lea Gentile
 Howe - Marianas
 Lisa Melanie Morris
 Liz Hahn-Morin
 Leila Rassekh Milani

linda leetch
 Lorelee Lindsley
 Louis Offstein
 Lonning, Steven

Emil Lou

Lakshmi Rao
 Dr. Leland Robinson
 Lynne Seamans
 arr
 Lewis Walker
 Lynn Smith
 Mikel Muttart

Robert MacLeod
 Michael Eissinger
 Ladjamaya/Bill Mahoney

Suzanne Maloney

Mara Van der Pas marcia Marc Sacco
 Margo Dean
 Marguerite K. Gipson
 Marlene Russell
 Marilyn Boesch

Gary L. Matthews
 Marybeth Bleecker Vargha
 Marie R. Barth
 Bonnie C. Mc Carty
 Jere McKinney
 mcswiny

Megha Shyam
 Mehran Kia'i
 Mei Schulz
 Giselle Melanson
 Elham Mottahed
 Merat Bagha
 Mary Ann/Shannon Fabry

MARY FISH

milewski
 Minu Hemmati-Weber
 Barbara Miraftabi

mlc@iberia.cca.rockwell.com MMenking@aol.com
 mmoayyed@admin.nelpoly.ac.nz MMOHAJE@CO.PIERCE.WA.US
 mmoum@pop.inwave.com mobrien@erinet.com
 mohajer@atc.boeing.com MOLDER@dnr.state.wi.us
 momen@northill.demon.co.uk Monadjem@iafrica.sz
 monib@adam.com.au
 morgan@buckaroo.ICS.UCI.EDU morris@mail.netshop.net Moshtael@ix.netcom.com mpanahi@umich.edu
 mroy@mhnet.mhmc.org mrranjba@expert.cc.purdue.edu msamii@light.win-uk.net mspittal@isomedia.com mtb@ilmsystems.com
 mthursto@potlatch.esd112.wednet.edu
 Muhtadia@aol.com
 M_Penn@ACAD.FANDM.EDU
 n.hatami@student.canberra.edu.au
 N.Kaviani@massey.ac.nz naddy@mips.pfalz.de nadimi@dcssc.sj.hp.com naim@eng.uminho.pt
 nallchin@wvu.edu NanKevSmit@aol.com nationwide@worldpage.com navid@direct.ca
 naz9z@virginia.edu
 ndhowes@discovery.skybus.com nehoyle@mindlink.bc.ca nexus@dns.terminal.cz nfields@mlc.awinc.com nick@cimio.co.uk nightbrd@humboldt1.com
 njcrs@pipeline.com Nlhatley@aol.com
 nlimber@CapAccess.org Noorbakhsh.Monzavi@hibo.no normando@nbnet.nb.ca NUFAITH@wcnet.org olson@macatawa.org omid@sequent.com
 Omidvaran@aol.com
 Omid_Dadgar@onaustralia.com.au osborndo@pilot.msu.edu oystein.fjar@rel.uib.no paccassi@carib-link.net parand.rohani@wso140serv.wiso.uni-goettingen.de paris@byu.edu
 parsiani@exodo.upr.clu.edu patl@lcs.mit.edu
 patla@LAGUNA.EPCC.EDU
 Paul.C.Lin-Easton-1@tc.umn.edu
 Paul_Bellamy@msn.com payam@bahai.tirana.al payam@dream.vol.net.mt
 paymon@VNET.IBM.COM
 PAZER@aol.com
 PDODENHOFF@aol.com peaches@voyager.co.nz petcook@emcobb.com
 pewatler@cyf-kr.edu.pl

Michael Cook

Monib

Majid Mohajer-Jasbi (Majid MohajerJasbi)

Michael Moum

Marilyn O'Brien

Soheil Mohajerjasbi

MOLDER

Wendi and Moojan Momen

Drs F & S Monadjem

Monib Mahdavi

Tim Morgan

D.V. Morris

Mark A Panahi

Mary-Louise Roy

R. Ranjbar

Manoocher Samii

Mark Spittal

Michael Boswell

MJ Thurston

Hatami / Nagmeh (SCI)

Nasser Kaviani

Christian Weisgerber

Ron Nadimi

Naim Haie

Nancy Joy Allchin

Navid Ghiami

Nafis Andrew Zebarjadi

Nigel Denton-Howes

N. E. Hoyle

Nexus Europe

Norman Fields

Nick Waterman

Douglas Myers

Joel Nizin

Nahid Limber

Monzavi Noorbakhsh

Juliette & Jean-Yves

The Rule's

Phillip Olson

Omid Meshkin

Omid Dadgar

Donald Zhang Osborn

Pat Paccassi

Parand Rohani

Robert Craig Harman

Dr. Hamed Parsiani

Patrick J. LoPresti

Paul C Lin-Easton

Paul Bellamy

Payam Payman

payam

Sabine or Callan

Peter Cook

Miguel Watler

pfreis@mail.telepac.pt ph289jk@prism.gatech.edu philwalk@verinet.com phoenix2@pond.com phoenix@imag.net
 phomjp@telecom.telecom.emory.edu pirouz@nortel.ca plasenci@ptialaska.net
 pmb@nur.win-uk.net pmedrano@juno.com pmeyers@iu.net
 pmojgani@postoffice.worldnet.att.net pom@iol.ie pooneh@earthlink.net powerm@UMoncton.ca PPAKHAVAN@aol.com
 premo@cruzio.com
 PriscillaSharp@compuserve.com
 PROBIKER9@aol.com
 pwsc@nera.no q9210561@helios.usq.edu.au quita@bwc.org raikak@rpi.edu
 ramin@dawn.joensuu.fi rana@elephant.demon.co.uk ravanbak@sfu.ca
 raven@rinzai.com raynord@tnc.com
 RayRMD@aol.com
 Ray_Rouse@mc.xerox.com
 rbarr@terra.nl.net.nf.ca RBauman@innovating.com rboyle@penetics.com rcgolden@students.wisc.edu rdaykday@tiac.net
 regina@worldaccess.nl
 rfbeacon@chesapeake.net rheac@lascruces.com
 RIAZRASSEKH@msn.com Richardjoe@aol.com richs@MICROSOFT.com
 richsong@vcn.bc.ca rick@bcm.tmc.edu
 ritah@jiensu.dtc.hp.com rizvan@mindspring.com rjcz@pcez.com rmcdonld@telalink.net
 rob@bwc.org
 rocky@mercia.demon.co.uk ronmatthews@worldnet.att.net rosalie@bombay.gps.caltech.edu rosmanha@pinkinc.com
 ross@neuron.datanetix.com Roya9@aol.com
 rrmerrik@aec2.apgea.army.mil rstalcup@telalink.net Rstamats@kktv.com
 rtp2@scruznet.com
 Ruhi19@aol.com
 RWittorf@usbnc.org
 r_saturn@MTS.Net
 s71h@unb.ca
 sabe0005@maroon.tc.umn.edu
 sabet@Phy-Server.Phy.QueensU.CA
 saeid.y.yazdanmehr@ac.com Sahba_Akbari@vancouver.western.sandwell.com said@eng.uminho.pt

Pedro Reis
 Joseph Khoury
 Phil Walker
 Babak Etemad
 Richard Walters
 Marvin Peck
 Pirouz Khodabakhsh

Paul M Booth
 Phyllis P. Jordan
 Pete Meyers
 Parviz Mojgani
 Patrick O'Mara
 Pooneh Rassekh
 Michael Power

Steve Premo
 Priscilla Sharp

Per-Willy Schulz
 Christoph Donges
 Quita Crump
 Kianoosh (Tico Che) Raika
 Ramin Miraftabi
 rana
 David Ravanbakhsh
 Raven Zachary
 Douglas Allan Raynor

Rouse,Ray
 R.K. Barr
 Roya L. Bauman
 Richard Boyle
 Robert Moldenhauer
 russell/katharine day

Rubee Li Fuller
 Rhea M. Coleman
 RIAZ RASSEKH

Rick Schaut
 Richard Songhurst
 Richard H. Miller
 Rita Horner
 Daniel & Bettina Gentry
 R John Czerniejewski
 Bob Macdonald
 Rob Dosenbach
 Rocky Grove
 Ron Matthews

H. A. Rosman
 Andrew Ross

Bob Phillips / Maria Teresa Morales

Rhonda Wittorf
 Ken McCulloch
 Irani Poorang
 Nasha N Sabery
 Riaz & Angela Sabet-Sharghi
 saeid.y.yazdanmehr Akbari, Sahba

sancook@total.net
 sapir@isr.umich.edu sar6476p@uel.ac.uk
 sbelk@mindspring.com SBowlingFP@aol.com
 scallahan@redshift.com schum@agt.net
 scook@primenet.com sdphelps@phoenix.Princeton.EDU SFielding@gnn.com sfortin@mindspring.com sfthomas@hamlet.uncg.edu sgreer@sec.noaa.gov sgsewell@chesco.com shahabb@generation.net
 shahani@uclink4.berkeley.edu Shahed.Shirazi@MCI.Com
 shahpar.mohtadi@sait.ab.ca shahram@internetmci.com shamim.razavi@exeter.oxford.ac.uk shamim@unixg.ubc.ca sharaf@newmexico.com shaunaw@oanet.com
 sheridan@casagrande.com shohre@itis.com silver@online.bc.ca sima@Mail2.Commnections.com simonett@mail.comet.net siruno@pacific.net.sg SiyahChal@aol.com
 skiani@mit.edu
 skrenes@futurenet.co.za slw@ecentral.com
 smali@sph.emory.edu
 smithfam@frontiernet.net
 smsohrab@ucdavis.edu
 SMSV0019@LINDEN.MSVU.CA
 sohailt@bwc.org
 SOHAYL@msd.ucns.uga.edu
 soheila1@airmail.net soheilrz@juno.com soilcon@intrnet.net source9@globetrotter.qc.ca spants@gladstone.uoregon.edu sr1@aggie.tamu.edu
 ssamimi@nait.ab.ca ssbartle@sfu.ca ssohrab@mail.fm
 ssomers@Adobe.COM
 stainles@bga.com stamper@stamper.com steiners@primenet.com stephenf@mail.utexas.edu stephen_blair@MENTORG.COM strieth@hol.gr
 sueroy@ns.olivant.fo Sunnyjem@aol.com
 susan@portolacomm.com sustag@beta.tricity.wsu.edu swalters@mail.island.net
 szia@dpc.com
 S_Wahdatehagh@compuserve.com tahirih@ns.sympatico.ca taniah@mail.utexas.edu tbaum@pnn.com
 tc@Mcs.Net
 TDREYER@rdi.uca.edu.sv

Sandi Cook
 Steven Sapir
 Shabnam Sarafraz
 Sandy Belk

 schumacher sandra cook
 Steven D. Phelps
 Stephanie Fielding
 Seth J. Fortin
 SARAH F. THOMAS
 Sue Greer
 steve sewell
 shahab akhound
 Shahani Purushotma
 Shahed Shirazi/CDR/BSM/MCI
 Shahpar Mohtadi shahram lame'
 New Razavi
 Shamim Sahba
 Danny Phillips
 Shauna Wilson
 Jeanne Sheridan
 Shohre Mansouri
 STANTON'S

 Simonett Rodriguez
 Arthur C. Siruno

 Sepehr Kiani
 Skrenes
 Susan Lewis Wright
 Sonja Mali
 Barbara Smith Traveler
 GISLI SIGTRYGGSSON
 Sohail Tavakoli
 Sohayl Moshtael
 Soheila Zandi
 Soheil Roshan-Zamir
 Scott Martin
 Julie Goudreau
 Sarah Kristine Pantalone
 Sohi Rastegar
 Sia Samimi
 Shidan Bartlett
 Sepehr Sohrab
 Stan Somers
 Dwight Brown
 Chris Stamper
 Jason and Heather
 Stephen A. Fuqua
 Stephen A. Blair
 P.&J.Strieth
 Sue and Roy Philbrow

 Susan MirAftabi
 Tom Hodges (moderated newsgroup)
 Stephanie Walters
 Susan Zia
 Shahaboddin Wahdatehagh
 Andrew Paul
 Tania Zarrin Homayoun
 Thomas R Baumgartner
 Thomas Cuny
 Tracy Philip Dreyer

terrance@oberon.ark.com
 Terry.Maton@skyway.usask.ca
 TFITZGER@SKY.Lakeheadu.Ca thelma@sv.span.com THFleming@compuserve.com
 thomas@aloha.net
 Thomas_Shanks@PULM-MC.ucsd.edu tim@pie.eudaemon.com tirandaz@dallas.net
 tjaskiew@kibo.us.oracle.com Tkutches@aol.com tlawson@amug.org
 tmcd@jove.acs.unt.edu todd.kutches@attws.com tosif@po.pacific.net.sg trhan@serv.net
 trowe@uwsp.edu
 tterrill@bic.org
 Turadj.Miraftabi@upm10.upm-kymmene.com Twaddell@apk.net
 u02sgd@abdn.ac.uk
 u722141@gulfaero.com
 uc645@freenet.victoria.bc.ca
 Unity19@ix.netcom.com UnityNine@aol.com
 username@cyberbeach.net
 UT_RMONROE@SUAGM1
 VaccarSJ@ctrvax.Vanderbilt.Edu
 Vahid_Eshraghi@ccm2.hf.intel.com vanorman@teleport.com varan@central.murdoch.edu.au vartalb@mail.auburn.edu
 vesal@seas.upenn.edu
 Vgcon@aol.com
 VHPLMN@vmmc.org
 victor@dawn.joensuu.fi
 VJ@soas.ac.uk
 VSAMIMI@gov.nb.ca
 W.Houghton@exeter.ac.uk waltersb@sfu.ca
 WARANIUS@vaxa.cis.uwosh.edu whitmo17@pilot.msu.edu
 willm@sun.lssu.edu WippCreme@aol.com
 wittman@iquest.net
 wkwalker@digisys.net
 wordsworth@alpha.futurenet.co.za worlandohunter@friendly.carlsbadnm.com worldman@compuserve.com worthing@U.Arizona.EDU
 wxman2@mindspring.com xpnaraghi@ucdavis.edu yatesb@dns.ida.net
 yinfam@pacific.net.sg
 YOUNG1090@worldnet.att.net
 Z3JEF@ttacs1.ttu.edu
 z6zr@unb.ca
 zajicek@slovnaft.sk ZaynabR@aol.com
 zcgap15@ucl.ac.uk
 zed@cjnetworks.com
 ZIARI@uthscsa.edu

Terry Lalonde
 Terry Maton
 FITZGERALD -TIM

Tony & Hazel Fleming
 Thomas Smithwick

Tim Gilman
 Arash Tirandaz, MD
 Tom Jaskiewicz

Todd C. Lawson
 Timothy Francis Mcdonough
 Kutches, Todd

Tosif
 Teri Rhan
 Rowe, Thomas

Thane Terrill -Net Admin

Bancroft Twaddell

Jafar
 Sam Mohajer-Jasbi
 Gordon Dicks

Firstname Lastname

Stephen Vaccaro
 Vahid Eshraghi
 Jack or Marcia VanOrman
 Duane Varan
 Lee B Vartanian
 Vesal Dini

Liann M. Nelson
 Bear Jason
 Varqa Carlos Jalali
 Samimi, Vahdat (DNRE/ISS)
 Warren Houghton
 Richard Andrew Walters

Ron Whitmore
 Will Morrison

Wittman Family
 William K. Walker

Gilbert Grasselly
 Elizabeth R Worthington
 Gary and Carolyn Peterson
 Pejman Naraghi-Arani

Me
 yinfam
 THE YOUNGS
 Jeff Williams

Zajicek Peter (Uzol PREDAJ)

James Nicholls
 Ned Fleming
 SHAIDA ZIARI

Abstained

af479@rgfn.epcc.Edu
 al697@bard.edu

Samandar Roshan-Zamir
 Amelia Lord

Chris@baha.demon.co.uk
emma@Kanpai.Stanford.EDU
I.Freeman@math.canterbury.ac.nz j.roth@codetel.net.do jbh5@cornell.edu
jeffd@goodnet.com
joe@sfbooks.com
Larry_Anderson@webtv.net rawlinsc@rmcs.cranfield.ac.uk rick@helix.nih.gov rreini@wwnet.com
schuette@s.imap.itd.umich.edu Sekhmet209@aol.com
smsmith@cybertrails.com
Steve.Burgess@pixie.co.za tmcvay@aloha.net
tookey@cs.wisc.edu

Chris
Emma Pease

Dena Roth
Jean B. Hunter
Jeffrey Davey
Joe Bernstein
Lawrence Anderson
Stephen Rawlinson
Rick Troxel
Roger Reini
Cheryll & Wade Schuette

S. Michele Smith
Dr Steve Burgess
The McVays
Keith Tookey

Votes in error

gt0444a@prism.gatech.edu
! Conflicting votes
sxu96ns@reading.ac.uk
! Conflicting votes

Nathan R. Jackson

I never remember to log out

Homepage:

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

See all RFDs and RESULTS Archived at

<https://www.faq.org/ftp/usenet/news.announce.newgroups/talk/talk.religion.bahai>

RFD: Talk.Religion.Bahai Jan 17, 1997

From: FG

Newsgroups:

news.announce.newgroups,news.groups,soc.religion.bahai,soc.culture.iranian,soc.culture.israel,soc.culture.indian,soc.rights.human

Subject: RFD: talk.religion.bahai

Followup-To: news.groups

Date: 17 Jan 1997 23:32:40 -0000 Organization: .

Lines: 93

Sender: tale@rodan.UU.NET

Approved: newgroups-request@uunet.uu.net

Message-ID: <853543959.13303@uunet.uu.net>

NNTP-Posting-Host: rodan.uu.net

Archive-Name: talk.religion.bahai

Path:

zeus.moa.net!news2.acs.oakland.edu!news.tacom.army.mil!news.webspan.net!newsfeeds.sol.net!newspump.sol.net!howland.erols.net!news.mathworks.com!uunet!bounce-back

Xref: zeus.moa.net news.announce.newgroups:9269 news.groups:237803
soc.religion.bahai:14496 soc.culture.iranian:120356 soc.culture.israel:74857
soc.culture.indian:367545 soc.rights.human:57548

REQUEST FOR DISCUSSION (RFD)

unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

This is a formal Request for Discussion (RFD) to create an unmoderated worldwide discussion group called talk.religion.bahai. This is not a Call for Votes (CFV); you cannot vote at this time. Procedural details appear below. All followup discussion should be crossposted to news.groups.

Newsgroup line:

talk.religion.bahai Unmoderated discussion of the Bahai faith.

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

All newsgroups and listservs given to the discussion of the Bahai faith are moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai. The establishment of unmoderated companion groups is a well-accepted practice on Usenet. This newsgroup will be part of the talk.* hierarchy, which is exclusively for unmoderated groups.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Bahai faith -- its history, teachings, theology -- and so on would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Crossposting of articles not specifically relevant to the Bahai faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, special-format files, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Readers are asked not to start or prolong flamewars and excessive crossposts. Articles may be crossposted to soc.religion.bahai -- subject, of course, to the approval of the moderator of that group.

Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to the charter above.

END CHARTER.

PROCEDURE:

The process of creating newsgroups is twofold. First is the RFD stage, when someone writes a Request for Discussion (RFD) outlining the purpose of the proposed group. The RFD appears in news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, and other relevant discussion groups. Anyone may publicly comment on the RFD in news.groups for a three-week period. During the discussion phase, proponents may modify the RFD in response to suggestions from posters on news.groups.

The second stage is the Call for Votes (CFV) stage. The proposal must pass a Usenet-wide vote with a 2/3 supermajority -- and at least 100 more votes in favor than against -- to be created. Anyone with an e-mail address may cast a ballot. A neutral votetaker from the Usenet Volunteer Votetakers (UVV) conducts all CFV's.

This RFD attempts to comply with the Usenet newsgroup creation guidelines outlined in "How to Create a New Usenet Newsgroup" and "Writing an RFD." Please refer to these documents if you have further questions about the process.

DISTRIBUTION:

This RFD has been posted to the following newsgroups:

news.announce.newgroups news.groups soc.religion.bahai, soc.culture.iranian soc.culture.israel soc.religion.christian,
soc.religion.islam soc.rights.human, talk.religion.misc

and the following mailing lists:

Academic discussion of Bahai faith

Subscribe via: jsgreen@umich.edu

Academic discussion of Bahai gnosis

Subscribe via: (working on getting address)

Bahai discussion list

Pointers will appear in the following newsgroups:

soc.religion.unitarian-univ soc.religion.eastern,
soc.religion.gnosis soc.religion.hindu, soc.religion.mormon
soc.religion.paganism soc.religion.quaker,
soc.religion.sikhism, soc.religion.vaishnava,
soc.religion.atheism, talk.religion.buddhism, talk.religion.newage talk.religion.misc

--

Proponent: FG

Homepage:
:

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

See all RFDs and RESULTS Archived at <https://www.faqsg.org/ftp/usenet/news.announce.newgroups/talk/talk.religion.bahai>

2nd RESULT: Talk.Religion.Bahai Feb 22, 1998

Path: spln!extra.newsguy.com!lotsanews.com!su-newshub1.bbnplanet.com!news.bbnplanet.com!sony sjc!vixie!news.isc.org!bounce-back
From: mcq@wco.com (Rebecca McQuitty)
Newsgroups:
news.announce.newgroups,news.groups,alt.religion.bahai,soc.culture.israel,soc.rights.human,talk.religion.misc
Subject: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65
Followup-To: news.groups
Message-ID: <888191514.9571@isc.org>
Supersedes: <886995638.1457@isc.org>
Organization: Usenet Volunteer Votetakers
Approved: newgroups-request@isc.org
Archive-Name: talk.religion.bahai
Date: Sun, 22 Feb 1998 23:51:54 GMT
Lines: 306
Xref: spln news.announce.newgroups:2801 news.groups:118383 alt.religion.bahai:5119
soc.culture.israel:100798 soc.rights.human:35383 talk.religion.misc:165166

RESULT

unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

There were 109 YES votes and 65 NO votes, for a total of 174 valid votes. There were 10 abstains and 3 invalid ballots.

For group passage, YES votes must be at least 2/3 of all valid (YES and NO) votes. There also must be at least 100 more YES votes than NO votes.

There is a five day discussion period after these results are posted. Unless serious allegations of voting irregularities are raised, the group may not be voted on again for six months.

Please post any discussion of this RESULT to news.groups.

Newsgroups line:
talk.religion.bahaiDiscussion of the Baha'i Faith.

The voting period closed at 23:59:59 UTC, 18 Feb 1998.

A neutral, third-party volunteer conducted this vote. Direct questions about the proposed group to the proponents.

Proponent: FG
Proponent: Chris Manvell
Proponent: Ron House
Mentor: Chris Stone

Votetaker: Rebecca McQuitty

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

Between January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, and March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

Between April 1, 1997 and September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months.

Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting.

Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular
religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

talk.religion.bahai Final Vote Ack

Voted Yes

110576.764 [at] compuserve.com	Henri-Charles de Flhrier
aelyria [at] goodnet.com	Alma Engels
afshin.afrashteh [at] utoronto.ca	Afshin Afrashteh
alex [at] unicorn.us.com	Alex Matulich
an588 [at] freenet.carleton.ca	Catherine Woodgold
ann_mcginley [at] hotmail.com	Ann McGinley
aull [at] ll.mit.edu	Brian Aull
baird [at] gate.net	Baird Stafford
bill [at] srisoft.com	Bill W Smith Jr
bmathieu [at] micron.net	Brent Mathieu
bn872 [at] freenet.carleton.ca	Michael McKenny
booda [at] datasync.com	Martin H. Booda
bpuroskey [at] visix.com	Bill Puroskey
Carol_Bowie [at] mindlink.bc.ca	Carol Bowie
cdt [at] op.net	Chris Trumbore
Chris [at] breacais.demon.co.uk	Christopher John Manvell
chriseb [at] nortel.ca	Chris Ebenezer
cipher [at] mindspring.com	David A. Howard
ck508 [at] freenet.carleton.ca	Lionel Wagner
cstone [at] math.unm.edu	Chris Stone
curtis_whalen+usenet [at] geocities.com	Curtis (Jewell) Whalen
dan [at] remote.control.com	Dan L. Pierson
david [at] home.net.nz	David Farrar
dbowie [at] sas.upenn.edu	David Bowie
desiegel [at] aol.com	David E. Siegel
dputzolu [at] teleport.com	David M. Putzolu
ekako [at] northcoast.com	Kindrick Ownby
emma [at] csli.Stanford.EDU	Emma Pease
er_er_an [at] hotmail.com	J Vuh
fbaker [at] ncsa.uiuc.edu	Frank M. Baker
fed [at] millcomm.com	Frank Druktainis
FG [at] hotmail.com	FG
fgsoler [at] value.net	Frank G. Soler
forumbahai [at] es.co.nz	Steve Marshall
fran [at] crhc.uiuc.edu	Frances Baker
gaillard [at] panix.com	Ed Gaillard
gazissax [at] netcom.com	Lynn Diana Gazis
gglaser [at] minn.net	Ginger Glaser
ggw [at] wolves.durham.nc.us	Gregory G. Woodbury
hmiddlem [at] cyberus.ca	Harry T Middleman
hood [at] Eng.Sun.COM	Mark Hood
house [at] usq.edu.au	Ron House
IJF16 [at] student.canterbury.ac.nz	Isaac Freeman
irina [at] rempt.xs4all.nl	Irina Rempt
J.K.A.Singh-Rathore [at] ping.be	J.K.A. Singh-Rathore
jaed [at] best.com	Jeanne A. E. DeVoto
jake [at] netins.net	R. "Jake" Jakoubek

james.farrar [at] ic.ac.uk jbh5 [at] cornell.edu
jdg [at] but-i-dont-like-spam.boxmail.com jeffd [at] goodnet.com jefford [at] cs.utexas.edu jharnick [at] nornet.on.ca jkrobert [at] students.wisc.edu.nolongpig jmalina [at] wenet.net jolomo [at] netcom.com jonathan [at] lionheart.net JoySafari [at] aol.com
jtbell [at] cs1.presby.edu karromde [at] nyx.net kebera [at] Cyblings.ON.CA
keillan [at] quest.cc.purdue.edu kopetsbj [at] cs.purdue.edu kuch [at] ms.uky.edu kyra [at] flash.net lightspring [at] jps.net
maryam [at] netlink.com.au
Massoud.Ajami [at] sdsu.eduDELETE matt [at] mec.edu mcgregoa [at] Cognos.COM
meflin [at] dimensional.com michael [at] unicorn-connection.co.uk mirele [at] super.zippo.com mtgalvin [at] ouray.cudenver.edu mughal [at] alumni.caltech.edu neil [at] nkelley.demon.co.uk neilc [at] stanford.edu obfusa [at] mack.rt66.com olav [at] viking.mv.com [at] moa.net
philh [at] vision25.demon.co.uk PIERCEED [at] sswdserver.sswd.csus.edu pjh1 [at] leicester.ac.uk pjohnson [at] vsia.edu poul [at] earthling.net.NOSPAM.PLEASE rdetweil [at] boi.hp.com
rick [at] bcm.tmc.edu
RK-esperantisto [at] juno.com roesingere [at] indy.tce.com romanc [at] rpi.edu roxanamorgan11 [at] home.com rreini [at] wwnet.net rtower [at] yahoo.com
sas [at] frontiernet.net simon [at] darkmere.gen.nz slavitch [at] loran.com
Tobias.Erle [at] GMX.net todd [at] nutria.nrlssc.navy.mil tommycarter [at] usa.net
tricia [at] glonet.co.nz Wayne_Sanders-Unrein_at_2-HTI-2VA [at] cccgate.hac.com whateverman [at] erols.com wisandr [at] norwich.net WTobyL [at] aol.com wwfiv [at] ix.netcom.com xanthian [at] well.com znmeb [at] teleport.com zutetflute [at] aol.com

James Farrar
Jean B. Hunter
John David Galt
Jeffrey J. Davey
Jeff Ford
John A. Harnick
Jason Roberts
Jo Ann Malina
Joe Morris
Jonathan Padgett

Jon Bell
Ken Arromdee
Krishna E. Bera
Kelly G. Willis
Brett J. Kopetsky
John Allen Kuchenbrod
Debra Davies Huffman
Thomas Spellman
Maryam Butson
Massoud Ajami
Matt Bancroft
Alayne McGregor
James S. Lopeman
Michael Parry
Deana M. Holmes
Michael-Teunis Galvin
Asim Mughal
Neil Kelley
Neilist Crellin
Franklin D. Schlatter Group Orthodox
Olav Nieuwejaar

Philip Hunt
Eric David Pierce
Pete Humble
K. Paul Johnson
Poul A. Costinsky
Dick Detweiler
Richard Miller
Rick Koshko
Eric G Roesinger
Cesar C. Palerm
Roxana Morgan
Roger Reini
Ron Tower
Stuart Schweid
Simon Lyall
Michael Slavitch
Tobias Erle
Todd Mullins
Tommy Carter
Tricia Hague-Blackford
Wayne Sanders-Unrein
Jon Richt
Dick Wisan
Toby Lomax
William W. Farley IV
Kent Paul Dolan
M. Edward Borasky
Andree Maani

Voted No

abir [at] comtrol.com
andrew.pemberton-pigott [at] ualberta.ca babboo [at] writeme.com barneyk [at] ziplink.net bobbymitchell [at] totacc.com centiped [at] grey.xs4all.nl
d [at] idiom.com
David.Robinson [at] Eng.Sun.COM
djull [at] mindspring.com
dwolff [at] world.std.com
EdvardJ [at] simi.is Ekkehard.Uthke [at] gmx.de fdbetts [at] mindspring.com forbes [at] cheerful.com Gata [at] aol.com globe99 [at] Mlink.NET
gpoirier [at] acca.nmsu.edu Graham [at] fragrant.demon.co.uk hcwtcurtis [at] email.msn.com hfung [at] lerami.lerctr.org
hhouse [at] mailcity.com
hymanfam [at] samoatelco.com iskandar [at] acsu.buffalo.edu jasmine [at] fl.net.au jjam [at] hplabsz.hpl.hp.com judd.rook [at] pnn.com kimdv [at] best.com
krc1 [at] mail.enter.net
ksm8p [at] avery.med.virginia.edu lcs [at] zk3.dec.com
LSEAMANS [at] MU3.MILLERSV.EDU marcus9 [at] usa.net mehyar22 [at] siol.net mlcook [at] jerez.cca.rockwell.com mlocher [at] ibm.net momen [at] northhill.demon.co.uk naddy [at] mips.rhein-neckar.de nigel [at] nigelshomes.com nightbrd [at] humboldt1.com ongang [at] mail.indigo.ie pan [at] syix.com
patl [at] cag.lcs.mit.edu persia [at] persia.com petcook [at] total.net pewatler [at] cyf-kr.edu.pl ph289jk [at] prism.gatech.edu polzer [at] uran.informatik.uni-bonn.de red [at] rahul.net
riazor [at] nutecnet.com.br rmp [at] heehaw.com roger.borseth [at] mci2000.com rossdee [at] ramhb.co.nz samoasys [at] samoatelco.com shohre [at] itis.com shrao [at] nyx.net
stainles [at] bga.com steiners [at] primenet.com steve [at] Watt.COM

Abir Majid
Andrew Pemberton-Pigott
Peter Buchy
Michael "Barney" Kennedy
Bobby Mitchell
Roelf Renkema
d
David Robinson
David Jull
David "Not a Bahai" Wolff
Edvard T. Jonsson
Ekkehard Uthke
Dean Betts
Forbes Benning
Shirley Macias
Derrick Jobidon
G. Brent Poirier
Graham Sorenson
Larry D. Curtis
Hank Fung
Harry House
William M. Hyman
Iskandar Hai
Jasmine Taylor
Jim S. Jam
Judd A Rook
Kim DeVaughn
Phil Thomas
kavian milani
Larry Smith
Lynne Seamans
Marcus Davidson
Mehyar Badii-Azandahi
Michael Cook
Maximilian Greer Locher
Moojan Momen
Christian Weisgerber
Nigel Austin-Weeks
Douglas Myers
Ann O'Neill
Pan
Patrick J. LoPresti
Robert Moldenhauer
Peter Cook
Miguel Watler
Joseph Khoury
Andreas Polzer
Red
Irlandes Fernandes Gonzaga Junior Rafael Palmeiro
Roger Borseth
Ross Deeley
Jane C. Hyman
Shohre Mansouri
Shrisha Rao
Dwight Brown
Jason Steiner
Steve Watt

stronguv [at] freenet.edmonton.ab.ca Sunday122 [at] aol.com
talishman [at] usa.net tlawson [at] amug.org todd.kutches [at] attws.com wdmaddox [at] rice.edu wpagel [at] wazoo.com

Donald Strong
Sunday Marie Witte
T. Albert-Ishmael Anderson
Todd C. Lawson
Todd Kutches
Bill Maddox
Karen L. Pagel

Abstained

af479 [at] rgfn.epcc.Edu
biow [at] ezmort.com chris [at] kzim.com guymacon [at] deltanet.com hkt [at] wwa.com johnn [at] jolt.mpx.com.au kpascoe [at] ford.com
NEW_DAWN [at] compuserve.com rick [at] helix.nih.gov rpascoe [at] freenet.npiec.on.ca

Samandar Roshan-Zamir
Christopher Biow
Christopher Robin Zimmerman
Guy Macon
Henrietta Thomas
John New
Kathy Pascoe
Crispin Pemberton-Pigott
Rick Troxel
robert Pascoe

Votes in error

fpbbgre [at] gnenanxv.np.am
! Invalid address
notarius [at] nym.alias.net
! Anonymous remailer tom-hodges [at] geocities.com
! No ballot

Scooter

Notarius

Tom Hodges

--
Rebecca Graham McQuitty

Homepage:

:

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

See all RFDs and RESULTS Archived at <https://www.faqs.org/usenet/news.announce.newgroups/talk/talk.religion.bahai>

<https://www.faqs.org/ftp/usenet/news.announce.newgroups/talk/talk.religion.bahai>

2nd RFD: Talk.Religion.Bahai Jan 12, 1998

Path:
szdc!super.zippo.com!lotsanews.com!logbridge.uoregon.edu!su-news-hub1.bbnplanet.com!news.bbnplanet.com!data.ramona.vix.com!vixie!news.isc.org!bounce-back
From: "FG"
Newsgroups:
news.announce.newgroups,news.groups,alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc,soc.rights.human,soc.culture.israel
Subject: 4th RFD: talk.religion.bahai
Followup-To: news.groups
Message-ID: <884617119.9751@isc.org>
Approved: newgroups-request@isc.org
Archive-Name: talk.religion.bahai
Date: Mon, 12 Jan 1998 14:58:39 GMT
Lines: 172
Xref: szdc news.announce.newgroups:2701 news.groups:114947 alt.religion.bahai:4571 talk.religion.misc:158814 soc.rights.human:32138 soc.culture.israel:94463

REQUEST FOR DISCUSSION (RFD) unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

This is a formal Request for Discussion (RFD) to create an unmoderated worldwide discussion group called talk.religion.bahai. This is not a Call for Votes (CFV); you cannot vote at this time. Procedural details appear below. All followup discussion should be crossposted to news.groups,alt.religion.bahai.

CHANGES from previous RFD:

The only major change on this 4th RFD is the "disclaimer" passage under the Charter. A few other minor changes have been made.

Newsgroup line:
talk.religion.bahaiDiscussion of the Baha'i Faith.

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

>From January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, until March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

>From April 1, 1997, to September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months. Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

PROCEDURE:

An instructive passage by Russ Allbery might fruitfully be considered by all:

"There is no official 'list of acceptable reasons for voting'; Nothing of the sort is enforced. There's no way of knowing why people vote the way they do. There is, however, a general consensus that certain patterns of voting constitute abuse of the system. Block voting on religious, cultural, ethnic, or political grounds is one of the things that is frowned upon. It is unlikely that even extreme block voting would cause a result to be overturned, but it's practically assured that block voting will earn an extremely bad reputation for the group doing the block voting. In other words, yes, the Baha'i could vote down the newsgroup en masse and be successful. This would, however, also earn the Faith a reputation (fairly or no) amongst those people who followed the proposal as a religion that advocates censorship. I think it's in the best interest of Baha'is and the Baha'i Faith to avoid that."
(Message-ID: >

The process of creating newsgroups is twofold. First is the RFD stage, when someone writes a Request for Discussion (RFD) outlining the purpose of the proposed group. The RFD appears in news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, and other relevant discussion groups. Anyone may publicly comment on the RFD in news.groups for a three-week period. During the discussion phase, proponents may modify the RFD in response to suggestions from posters on news.groups.

The second stage is the Call for Votes (CFV) stage. The proposal must pass a Usenet-wide vote with a 2/3 supermajority -- and at least 100 more votes in favor than against -- to be created. Anyone with an e-mail address may cast a ballot. A neutral votetaker from the Usenet Volunteer Votetakers (UVV) conducts all CFV's.

This RFD attempts to comply with the Usenet newsgroup creation guidelines outlined in "How to Create a New Usenet Newsgroup" and "Writing an RFD." Please refer to these documents if you have further questions about the process.

DISTRIBUTION:

This RFD has been posted to the following newsgroups:
news.announce.newgroups,news.groups,soc.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc,soc.rights.human,
soc.culture.israel

and the following three mailing lists:

Talisman
Subscribe via: jsgreen@umich.edu

Bahai Studies
Subscribe via: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

h-Bahai h-Bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Subscribe smaneck@BERRY.EDU or jrcole@umich.edu

Pointers will appear in the following newsgroups:

soc.religion.unitarian-univ,soc.religion.eastern,
soc.religion.gnosis,soc.religion.hindu,
soc.religion.paganism,soc.religion.quaker,
soc.religion.sikhism,soc.religion.vaishnava,
talk.religion.buddhism,talk.religion.newage,
alt.religion.islam,alt.religion,a.bsu.religion,
uk.religion.misc,uk.religion.interfaith,
uk.religion.other-faiths,news.admin.censorship

And to the following seven Bahai-only listservs:

Subscribe via bahai-request@bccca.org

Baha'i Campus Forum (BCF)

Baha'i Discuss (Discuss)

Baha'i Singles (Singles)

Baha'i Teachers (Teachers)

Baha'i Women Converse (Women)

Baha'i Youth (Youth - aimed at the 12-18 age group)

Baha'i Announce (Announce)

Mentor: Chris Stone

Proponent: FG

Proponent: Chris Manvell

Proponent: Ron House

Homepage:

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Various messages from two of the proponents for talk.religion.bahai may be found at

Fran Baker and Ron House

See all RFDs and RESULTS Archived at

<https://www.fags.org/ftp/usenet/news.announce.newgroups/talk/talk.religion.bahai>

From: Dave Cornejo <dave@dogwood.com>

Subject: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai passes 218:63

Date: Sunday, January 10, 1999 10:41 PM

RESULT

unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai passes 218:63

There were 218 YES votes and 63 NO votes, for a total of 281 valid votes. There were 6 abstentions and 8 invalid ballots.

For a group to pass, YES votes must be at least 2/3 of all valid (YES and NO) votes. There must also be at least 100 more YES votes than NO votes.

A five day discussion period follows this announcement. If no serious allegations of voting irregularities are raised, the moderator of news.announce.newgroups will create the group shortly thereafter.

Newsgroups line:

talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

Voting closed at 23:59:59 UTC, 25 Dec 1998.

This vote was conducted by a neutral third party. Questions about the proposed group should be directed to the proponent.

Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>

Proponent: Fran Baker <fran@crhc.uiuc.edu>

Proponent: Frank Baker <fbaker@ncsa.uiuc.edu>

Proponent: John Walker <johnwalker@ozemail.com.au>

Votetaker: Dave Cornejo <dave@dogwood.com>

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

The newsgroup talk.religion.bahai is proposed to meet the need for an open and unmoderated forum for discussion of the Baha'i Faith within the structure of the Big 8 hierarchies.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai the opportunity to participate. It is noted that the alt.* hierarchy is less well propagated than the talk.* hierarchy; this has meant that many people who have voted YES on earlier proposals have been unable to join discussions on alt.religion.bahai.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Talk.religion.bahai fills the need for a fully open and universally accessible Internet forum about the Baha'i Faith. Postings may take any point of view with regard to the Baha'i Faith. While this allows criticism, it also fully opens the door for enquirers to see with their own eyes and not through the eyes of their neighbors, asking questions and reading replies from anyone who is interested in their question.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette in their use of this newsgroup.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not relevant to the Baha'i Faith is prohibited. Large ASCII graphics, large binaries, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely personal or commercial nature are prohibited. To facilitate viewing in news readers that are not HTML-capable, HTML-formatted postings are strongly discouraged.

Cross-posting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect follow-ups to reduce excessive cross-posting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected >from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

END CHARTER.

DISTRIBUTION:

In addition to the groups named in the Newsgroups: header, the CFV and the eventual RESULT posts will be mailed to these mailing lists:

Mailing list name: Talisman
Submission address: talisman@umich.edu
Request address: jsgreen@umich.edu

Mailing list name: Bahai Studies
Submission address: bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us
Request address: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

Mailing list name: h-Bahai
Submission address: h-Bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Request address: jrcole@umich.edu

Mailing list name: bahai-faith
Submission address: bahai-faith@egroups.com
Request address: bahai-faith-subscribe@egroups.com

Pointers directing readers to this CFV will be posted in these groups:

alt.religion
soc.religion.eastern
soc.religion.gnosis
soc.religion.hindu
soc.religion.paganism
soc.religion.quaker
soc.religion.unitarian-univ
talk.religion.buddhism
talk.religion.newage
talk.philosophy.humanism
talk.philosophy.misc
uk.religion.interfaith

uk.religion.misc
uk.religion.other-faiths

talk.religion.bahai Final Voter list

Voted YES

garner#looksmart.com.au	Rena Garner
johnn#mpx.com.au	John New mclark#tpgi.com.au	Martin Clark
house#usq.edu.au	Ron House
jmara#cyllene.uwa.edu.au	Joel Jani Marangella
ghous#osr.nsw.gov.au	Gitie House
billbrwr#compusmart.ab.ca	Bill Brewer
sugimotm#cuug.ab.ca	Mike Sugimoto
crleech#freenet.carleton.ca	Colin R. Leech shaheedi#nbnet.nb.ca	Afzal Shaheedi
trustone#bc.sympatico.ca	Akbarally Meherally
zarepour#mathstat.uottawa.ca	Mahmoud Zarepour.
narayan123#123india.com	Kanva Narayan
tierney#alloymail.com	Sal Tierney
hanv#angelfire.com	Haq Hanvey
AAli929596#aol.com	Abdulnasser Ali
BRaynor781#aol.com
CRust60001#aol.com
FG#aol.com	FG
HANI72#aol.com	Hani Ayyad
Jimo3#aol.com	Jim Overmyer
JoySafari#aol.com	Marcella Hamilton
KevinEco#aol.com	Kevin Haines
Macho786#aol.com	Maaz Khan
Member1700#aol.com	Anthony A. Lee
Pglaysheer#aol.com
PParvin#aol.com
RayHanania#aol.com	John Doe
RobertNik#aol.com	Robert S Nikjoo
SAMaso#aol.com	J. Eddie Parent.
Shaksway#aol.com	jim Davis (shaksway)
Smastr#aol.com	Sam Masters
amasri#dcn.att.com	Ala'a Elmasri
macleod#beloved.com	John MacLeod
alexdawson#bigfoot.com	Alex Dawson
kindervater#businessweekmail.com	"Doc" Kindervater
tom4#canoemail.com	Thomas Buckland
sandraa#ccnmail.com	S. A.
habuhant#CH2M.com	Haytham Abu-Hantash
markow#chickmail.com	Sassy Markow
Laudrigan#collegeclub.com	Bud Laudrigan
jgoldberg#condolawyers.com	Jeffrey A. Goldberg
kathleenm#cybertrails.com	McKibben Family
eridani#datasix.com	Belinda
booda#datasync.com	Martin H. Booda
guymacon#deltanet.com	guymacon#deltanet.com (Guy Macon)
vminai#spd.dsccc.com	Viqar Minai
carducci#easypost.com	Ladislaus Carducci
UNGARINO#ECardMail.Com	Eleanor Ungarino
john_brownston#educastmail.com	John Brownston
mercado959@email.com	Jennifer Mercado
edwardiii#england.com	Edward III
stomljen#enteract.com	Steve Tomljenovic
rothbrian#mail.entrepreneurmag.com	Brian Roth
alshawa#erols.com	Amer Alshawa
shaukat#erols.com	Khalid Shaukat

tutstone#eudoramail.com lopezaz#excite.com umaraadil#excite.com
Umar Aadil Abdul Rahman
gkerley#execpc.com
david#farrar.com
lucie_vendome#fcmail.com wilsonj#flashemail.com runchey467#fnmail.com
dave#frackit.com
howie#giantsfan.com kendrick64#GNWMail.com BHoyt#goplay.com
bjv#herbison.com maher#home.com
c.nunez#hotbot.com burnettcj@hotmail.com shakir_husain@hotmail.com rdetweil#boi.hp.com rshane#us.ibm.com goodlett#ignmail.com takriti#ihorizons.com hopegartner#iname.com matthew_cromer#iname.com ramirazodi#iname.com muntada#inix.com
jaed#jaedworks.com kwame#jahoop.com samorgan#java-man.com
r_lee#jerusalemmail.com Aansari#dc.jones.com o_elkordy#juno.com
Christensen#kansascity.com henry42@mail.kmsp.com todomanana#latino.com
David.Vessell#lpcorp.com
sponseller#lycosmail.com EdythBadalian#MailAndNews.com ogreen#mailcity.com jensen29#mailtag.com hoffman#mailwire.com
cipher#mindspring.com
unrein#cig.mot.com billmc#email.msn.com chesshazlett#email.msn.com
olav#viking.mv.com
hyle#my-dejanews.com marifok#my-dejanews.com rlittle33#my-dejanews.com sutherland55#netradiomail.com mirele#newsguy.com dmarasco#npsnet.com cgruber#us.oracle.com jtidwell#animato.pn.com rlcarr#animato.pn.com ellenberg#popmail.com E.Adams#pousa.com
MRaflin#PREMIER-OIL.com robertwarren#prontomail.com timken#prontomail.com Safir_Ulhaque#raytheon.com jasonmeller#recyclermail.com griffin#rednecks.com chvatel#rotfl.com
maruyama#sacbeemail.com

Marlene Tutstone
Jaime Lopez
McKloskey Abdullah
Gillam Kerley
David Farrar
Lucie Vendome
Jack Wilson
Jeff Runchey
Dave Ratcliffe
Ron Howard
Steve Kendrick
Brian Hoyt
B.J. Herbison
Maher Barakat
Cindy Nunez
Clara Frade-Burnett
Shakir Husain
Dick Detweiler
Randall Shane
Jim Goodlett
Mohamad Takriti
Alice Hopegartner
Matthew Cromer
Roohi Amirazodi
Rashid
Jeanne A. E. DeVoto
Kwame Unanda <FONT = Lee Rusan
Aamir=20
Omar El Kordy
Len Christensen
Henry Wadsworth
Miguel Hernandez
David L. Vessell
David Sponseller
Edyth Badalian
Ogreen
Edward Jensen
Larry Hoffman
Cipher
W. Sanders-Unrein
Bill McJohn
" and be immediately followed Olav Nieuwejaar
Sohayl Shambashi
Arif Muljadi
Robert Little
Lisa Sutherland
Deana M. Holmes
David Marasco
Christian Edward Gruber
Jenifer P. Tidwell
Rich Carreiro
Jane Ellenberg
Eileen Adams
Muhammad Raflin
Robert Warren
Ruth Timken
Safir Ulhaque
Jason Meller
Bud Griffin
David Chvatel
Victor Maruyama

harold#shinsato.com	Harold Shinsato
imran#spsnet.com	Imran A. Mufti pan#syix.com	Pan
s.humes#talk21.com	Shirley Humes
josephb#tezcat.com	Joe Bernstein
charlotte#thedorm.com	Charlotte
lininger#theheadoffice.com	Lininger
AlvartRiecker#unbounded.com	Alvart Riecker
smahmud#uop.com	Shahid Mahmud
lingel#email.women.com	Sam Lingel
haldi#worldmailer.com	Kenneth Haldi
arman_taj@yahoo.com	Arman Tajarobi
galaxy001@yahoo.com	j.s.
kruposki@yahoo.com	Andrew Krupowicz
nimans@yahoo.com	Niman Shukairy
padidehjan@yahoo.com	PadidehJan
uhler668@yahoo.com	Nancy Uhler
kakhtar#yours.com	Khalid Akhtar
vote#kholdan.snafu.de	tobias erle
indratmoko.poerwanto#heim6.tu-clausthal.de	Indratmoko Poerwanto cstone#uclink4.berkeley.edu	Chris Stone
nmcnelly#bu.edu	N.A.F. McNelly
hfung#CSUPomona.Edu	Henry Fung
jdeutsch#osf1.gmu.edu	Jeffrey Deutsch
jdresner#fas.harvard.edu	Jonathan Dresner
jwalbrid#indiana.edu	John Walbridge
moslem#MIT.EDU	Tarik Alatovic
osborndo#pilot.msu.edu	Donald Z Osborn
akhtars#ee.eng.ohio-state.edu	Siraj Akhtar
daas#bobcat.ent.ohiou.edu	Mutaz Daas
wajahat#bobcat.ent.ohiou.edu	Wajahat A Khan
slipstk#olemiss.edu	Gordon Smith
kopetsbj#cs.purdue.edu	Brett J. Kopetsky
DELETE_Massoud.Ajami#sdsu.edu	Massoud Ajami
fran#crhc.uiuc.edu	Frances R. Baker
fbaker#ncsa.uiuc.edu	Frank Baker
ashaikh#eecs.umich.edu	Anees Shaikh
nedsaleh#engin.umich.edu	Nedal Saleh
jrcole#umich.edu	Juan Cole
nizam#umich.edu	Nizam Arain
harinath#cs.umn.edu	Raja R Harinath
hougen#cs.umn.edu	Dean Hougen
whitl005#tc.umn.edu	Jonathan R Whitling
dbowie#sas.upenn.edu	David Bowie
aabdalla#pollux.usc.edu	Ahmed Abd-Allah endro#sys3.cs.usu.edu	Endro Kusumo
malo#pop3.utoledo.edu	Mohammed Alo
ASyamil#uoft02.utoledo.edu	John Doe
pjohnson#vsla.edu	K. Paul Johnson
aahmed#biology.biosci.wayne.edu	Aamina Ahmed
nali#med.wayne.edu	Nasima Ali
rufinus#mbe.ece.wisc.edu	J Rufinus
Paul.S.Wolf#alum.wpi.edu	Paul S. Wolf
vsaarine#cs.Helsinki.FI	Vesa Saarinen
bmcewan#healthnet.mrc.gm	Bob McEwan.
nmas#otenet.gr	Nikos Mastrakoulis
khairol#tm.net.my	Khairol Azmi Yussof
rinerin#tm.net.my	shahrin shah bin abdul rahman
sl1pbx#ameritech.net	Gene Truto
mbkafes#bestweb.net	 Milissa Boyer=20
davetayl#concentric.net	David Taylor
islam662#CSSN.NET	Sabeel Ahmed
booko#earthlink.net	Sharon Bouchard
oreocat#ETINTERNET.NET	Gary L. King
ljmoore#freespace.net	LarryMoore

sas#frontiernet.net	Stuart S
baird#gate.net	Baird Stafford
sinanju#gateway.net	John Noland lightspring#jps.net	Thomas Spellman
rreini#mediaone.net	Roger Reini
peterry#megalink.net	Peter=20
bmathieu#micron.net	Brent Mathieu
EPierce#ns.net	Eric D. Pierce
jonboy#onlink.net	Trevor Tymchuk
r.marsou#pmail.net	Robert Marsou
RPittman#postmark.net	Richard Pittman
trhan#serv.net	Teri Rhan
alhadid#SoftHome.net	Muhammad=20
m-t-head#surfari.net	Lloyd Madansky
ayloush#usa.net	Hussam Ayloush
ceo4life#usa.net	Harry Clinkhammer
Toadis#usa.net	Andres Gutierrez de Cos
tommycarter#usa.net	Tommy Carter
emilyjackson#webtv.net	Emily Jackson
kaitlin_forrest#zensearch.net	Kaitlin Forrest
irina#rempt.xs4all.nl	Irina Rempt
forumbahai#es.co.nz	Steve Marshall
iio#iio.org	Islamic Information Office
irshad#irshad.org	Muhammad Irshad
peewee#scc.mi.org	Jason Wright
barthelmes#studentcenter.org	Sophia Barthelmes
andrew#erlenstar.demon.co.uk	Andrew Gierth
neil#nkelley.demon.co.uk	neil kelley
Chambers#fetchmail.co.uk	Scott Chambers
SamtheMan#postmaster.co.uk	SamTHEMan

Voted NO

mansouri#one.net.au	Shahab Mansouri
dany.steyaert#ping.be	Dany Steyaert
carol_bowie#mindlink.bc.ca	David Bowie
towfiq#401kforum.com	Mark Towfiq
AErfani#aol.com
Hlpflhanna#aol.com	Debbie Jenkins
Mac0000013#aol.com
Starlet001#aol.com	Katherine Mayerovitch
kimdv#best.com	Kim DeVaughn
stainles#bga.com	Dwight Brown
david.ritscher#bigfoot.com	David Ritscher
r.woodlock#bigfoot.com	Rachel Butson
lcs#zk3.dec.com	Larry Smith
camm#enhanced.com	Camm Maguire
caryenochr#enochsvision.com	Enoch's Vision, Inc. (Cary Enoch R.)
wcol#erols.com	William Collins
tom-hodges#geocities.com	Tom Hodges
aromatica45@hotmail.com	Victoria Williams
bearone1@hotmail.com	Gary Rosenbaum
fazlollahi@hotmail.com	Ahmad Fazlollahi
rachel_t@hotmail.com	Theresa McClendon
screamingb@hotmail.com	Screaming Banshee
swatchking@hotmail.com	Fred Tague
jjam#spica.hpl.hp.com	Jim Jam
nightbrd#humboldt1.com	Douglas Myers
shohre#itis.com	Shohreh Mansouri
bruce.limber#juno.com	Bruce D. Limber
lpolk01#juno.com	Linda L Polk
palmtop#mailtag.com	Bonnie Blanford
djull#mindspring.com	David Jull
slr1bpz#mindspring.com	George McCoy
bfwkendo#netvigator.com	Brian Walker

chriseb#nortelnetworks.com	Chris Ebenezer
dc#panix.com	David W. Crawford persia#persia.com	Robert Moldenhauer
Sandy-Allan#dial.pipex.com	Sandy Allan
billh#samoatelco.com	Bill Hyman
doug.obrien#the-spa.com	Doug O'Brien
manialip#wowmail.com	Kate Sparks
francis_uy@yahoo.com	F Uy
Ekkehard.Uthke#gmh.de	Ekkehard Uthke
naddy#mips.rhein-neckar.de	Christian Weisgerber
cnelson#calpoly.edu	Craig Nelson
aull#ll.mit.edu	Brian Aull
rick#bcm.tmc.edu	Richard H. Miller
kohli#mail.ameritel.net	Pat Kohli
helenko#bellsouth.net	Helen Oney
cybrmage#dave-world.net	Bud Polk
rogerb#foxinternet.net	Roger Borseth
ellis#ftel.net	Rick Ellis
vpdura#hiwaay.net	Vic Dura
Scarecro#ime.net	Tim Griffin
jcornell#lightspeed.net	John B. Cornell
verbrugh#pionet.net	Albert Verbrugh
okoboji#prodigy.net	Loriann=20
mehyar22#siol.net	Mehyar Badii-Azandahi scooter#taranaki.ac.nz
NUFAITH#wcnet.org	Dennis Rule
tr8770#bristol.ac.uk	Tom Richards
srm103#york.ac.uk	Simon Mawhinney
merlin#A470.demon.co.uk	Darren Wyn Rees
Graham#fragrant.demon.co.uk	Graham Sorenson
leili#Justice.Medford.MA.US	Leili Towfigh

Abstained

sw.unit02.msn#cwix.com	Sue Klein Gennario
chris#kzim.com	Christopher Robin Zimmerman
tikal#mailcity.com	Samandar Roshan-Zamir
neilc#wallaby.stanford.edu	Neil Crellin
schuette#s.imap.itd.umich.edu	Wade Schuette
rick#helix.nih.gov	Rick Troxel

Invalid ballots

afshin.afraشته#utoronto.ca	Afshin Afraشته
! Disqualified
webmaster#muntada.com	Abdul-Rashid Abdullah
! Ineligible address
ALTAHF#aol.com
! No vote statement in message
McCraigB#aol.com	Craig Boyd
! No vote statement in message
LISTSERV#H-NET.MSU.EDU	L-Soft list server at H-Net - Humanities On-Line (1.8c)
! No vote statement in message
lbhollin#ust.hk	Richard Hollinger
! No vote statement in message
smeanver#tm.net.my	smeanver
! No vote statement in message
mezmer#globalnet.co.uk	Bob/Zannie
! No vote statement in message

To restore the email addresses above, pipe the ack list through the following command:

```
sed -e 's/#/@/g'
```

--

Voting question & problems: Dave Cornejo <dave@dogwood.com>

Voting address: vote@dogwood.com

Homepage

Bob/Zannie

! No vote statement in message

To restore the email addresses above, pipe the ack list through the following command:

```
sed -e 's/#/@/g'
```

--

Voting question & problems: Dave Cornejo <dave@dogwood.com>

Voting address: vote@dogwood.com

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

See all RFDs and RESULTS Archived at

<https://www.faqs.org/ftp/usenet/news.announce.newgroups/talk/talk.religion.bahai>

Three changes were made in the RFD after an initial Questionnaire was submitted to the UVV:

1. A new proponent added: John Walker

2. Deleted from the RFD:

"Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter."

3. Deleted from the RFD:

"Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms."

And replaced with:

"Readers are asked to post courteously and not to engage in personal attacks or flamewars."

Revised RFD reflecting the above changes:

REQUEST FOR DISCUSSION (RFD)
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

This is a formal Request for Discussion (RFD) to create talk.religion.bahai as an unmoderated worldwide discussion group. This is not a Call for Votes (CFV); you cannot vote at this time. Procedural details appear below. All follow-up discussion should be cross-posted to news.groups,alt.religion.bahai.

Newsgroup line:
talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

The newsgroup talk.religion.bahai is proposed to meet the need for an open and unmoderated forum for discussion of the Baha'i Faith within the structure of the Big 8 hierarchies.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai the opportunity to participate. It is noted that the alt.* hierarchy is less well propagated than the talk.* hierarchy; this has meant that many people who have voted YES on earlier proposals have been unable to join discussions on alt.religion.bahai.

This is the third talk.religion.bahai proposal to be submitted. The following information is included for those interested in the growth of participation in predecessor forums.

- From January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, until March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

- From April 1, 1997, to September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages were posted on alt.religion.bahai, from people with wide-ranging points of view on the Baha'i Faith. This is an average of 16 messages per day for 179 days or 477 messages a month for six months. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.
- From September 28, 1997, to September 21, 1998, over 31,000 messages have been posted to alt.religion.bahai, an average of 90 messages per day for 341 days or 2,583 messages per month for nine months.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Note that www.dejanews.com cannot pick up all postings and sometimes splits long postings into 2 or more shorter ones; while they may not be exact, these numbers offer a clear picture of the level of activity. Please note that despite the lower propagation rate of the alt.* hierarchy, the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, supporting the formation of an unmoderated newsgroup on the talk.* hierarchy. It is reasonable to conclude that the higher accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Talk.religion.bahai fills the need for a fully open and universally accessible Internet forum about the Baha'i Faith. Postings may take any point of view with regard to the Baha'i Faith. While this allows criticism, it also fully opens the door for enquirers to see with their own eyes and not through the eyes of their neighbors, asking questions and reading replies from anyone who is interested in their question.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette in their use of this newsgroup.

Readers are asked to post courteously and not to engage in personal attacks or flamewars.

The posting of articles not relevant to the Baha'i Faith is prohibited. Large ASCII graphics, large binaries, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely personal or commercial nature are prohibited. To facilitate viewing in news readers that are not HTML-capable, HTML-formatted postings are strongly discouraged.

Cross-posting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect follow-ups to reduce excessive cross-posting.

END CHARTER.

PROCEDURE:

This is a request for discussion, not a call for votes. In this phase of the process, any potential problems with the proposed newsgroup should be raised and resolved. The discussion period will continue for a minimum of 21 days (starting from when the first RFD for this proposal is posted to news.announce.newgroups), after which a Call For Votes (CFV) will be posted by a neutral vote taker. Please do not attempt to vote until this happens.

All discussion of this proposal should be posted to news.groups.

This RFD attempts to comply with the Usenet newsgroup creation guidelines outlined in "How to Create a New Usenet Newsgroup" and "Writing an RFD" and available for perusal on news.groups or news.announce.newgroups. Please refer to these documents if you have further questions about the process.

DISTRIBUTION:

This RFD has been posted to the following newsgroups:
 news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, soc.religion.bahai,
 alt.religion.bahai, talk.religion.misc, soc.rights.human and the following four mailing lists:

Talisman
Subscribe: jsgreen@umich.edu

Bahai Studies
Subscribe: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

h-Bahai h-Bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Subscribe: jrcole@umich.edu

bahai-faith bahai-faith@egroups.com
Subscribe: bahai-faith-subscribe@makelist.com
or <https://www.eGroups.com>

Pointers will appear in the following newsgroups:

soc.religion.eastern,
soc.religion.gnosis,
soc.religion.hindu,
soc.religion.paganism,
soc.religion.quaker,
soc.religion.unitarian-univ,
talk.religion.buddhism,
talk.religion.newage,
uk.religion.misc,
uk.religion.interfaith,
uk.religion.other-faiths,
talk.philosophy.misc,
talk.philosophy.humanism,
alt.religion

Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>

Proponent: Fran Baker <fran@crhc.uiuc.edu>

Proponent: Frank Baker fbaker@ncsa.uiuc.edu

Proponent: John Walker <johnwalker@ozemail.com.au>

This RFD was posted to news.announce.newgroups on October 27, 1998. For comparison the earlier version appears at the end.

From: Frank Baker <fbaker@ncsa.uiuc.edu>

Subject: 2nd RFD: talk.religion.bahai

Date: Tuesday, October 27, 1998 8:57 AM

REQUEST FOR DISCUSSION (RFD)
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

This is a formal Request for Discussion (RFD) to create talk.religion.bahai as an unmoderated worldwide discussion group. This is not a Call for Votes (CFV); you cannot vote at this time. Procedural details appear below. All follow-up discussion should be cross-posted to news.groups, alt.religion.bahai.

Newsgroup line:
talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

The newsgroup talk.religion.bahai is proposed to meet the need for an open and unmoderated forum for discussion of the Baha'i Faith within the structure of the Big 8 hierarchies.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai the opportunity to participate. It is noted that the alt.* hierarchy is less well propagated than the talk.* hierarchy; this has meant that many people who have voted YES on earlier proposals have been unable to join discussions on alt.religion.bahai.

This is the third talk.religion.bahai proposal to be submitted. The following information is included for those interested in the growth of participation in predecessor forums.

- From January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, until March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

- From April 1, 1997, to September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages were posted on alt.religion.bahai, from people with wide-ranging points of view on the Baha'i Faith. This is an average of 16 messages per day for 179 days or 477 messages a month for six months. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.
- From September 28, 1997, to September 21, 1998, over 31,000 messages have been posted to alt.religion.bahai, an average of 90 messages per day for 341 days or 2,583 messages per month for nine months.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Note that www.dejanews.com cannot pick up all postings and sometimes splits long postings into 2 or more shorter ones; while they may not be exact, these numbers offer a clear picture of the level of activity. Please note that despite the lower propagation rate of the alt.* hierarchy, the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, supporting the formation of an unmoderated newsgroup on the talk.* hierarchy. It is reasonable to conclude that the higher accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Talk.religion.bahai fills the need for a fully open and universally accessible Internet forum about the Baha'i Faith. Postings may take any point of view with regard to the Baha'i Faith. While this allows criticism, it also fully opens the door for enquirers to see with their own eyes and not through the eyes of their neighbors, asking questions and reading replies from anyone who is interested in their question.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette in their use of this newsgroup.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not relevant to the Baha'i Faith is prohibited. Large ASCII graphics, large binaries, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely personal or commercial nature are prohibited. To facilitate viewing in news readers that are not HTML-capable, HTML-formatted postings are strongly discouraged.

Cross-posting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect follow-ups to reduce excessive cross-posting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

END CHARTER.

PROCEDURE:

This is a request for discussion, not a call for votes. In this phase of the process, any potential problems with the proposed newsgroup should be raised and resolved. The discussion period will continue for a minimum of 21 days (starting from when the first RFD for this proposal is posted to news.announce.newgroups), after which a Call For Votes (CFV) will be posted by a neutral vote taker. Please do not attempt to vote until this happens.

All discussion of this proposal should be posted to news.groups.

This RFD attempts to comply with the Usenet newsgroup creation guidelines outlined in "How to Create a New Usenet Newsgroup" and "Writing an RFD" and available for perusal on news.groups or news.announce.newgroups. Please refer to these documents if you have further questions about the process.

DISTRIBUTION:

This RFD has been posted to the following newsgroups:
 news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, soc.religion.bahai,
 alt.religion.bahai, talk.religion.misc, soc.rights.human

and the following four mailing lists:

Talisman
Subscribe: jsgreen@umich.edu

Bahai Studies
Subscribe: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

h-Bahai h-Bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Subscribe: jrcole@umich.edu

bahai-faith bahai-faith@egroups.com
Subscribe: bahai-faith-subscribe@makelist.com
or <https://www.eGroups.com>

Pointers will appear in the following newsgroups:

soc.religion.eastern,
soc.religion.gnosis,
soc.religion.hindu,
soc.religion.paganism,
soc.religion.quaker,
soc.religion.unitarian-univ,
talk.religion.buddhism,
talk.religion.newage,
uk.religion.misc,
uk.religion.interfaith,
uk.religion.other-faiths,
talk.philosophy.misc,
talk.philosophy.humanism,
alt.religion

Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>

Proponent: Fran Baker <fran@crhc.uiuc.edu>

Proponent: Frank Baker <fbaker@ncsa.uiuc.edu>

This first draft of the RFD was posted to news.announce.newgroups on September 28, 1998:

REQUEST FOR DISCUSSION (RFD)
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

This is a formal Request for Discussion (RFD) to create an unmoderated worldwide discussion group called talk.religion.bahai. This is not a Call for Votes (CFV); you cannot vote at this time. Procedural details appear below. All followup discussion should be crossposted to news.groups,alt.religion.bahai.

Newsgroup line:

talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

From January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, until March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

From April 1, 1997, to September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months. Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

From September 28, 1997, to September 21, 1998, over 31,000 messages have been posted to alt.religion.bahai resulting in 90 messages per day for 341 days and 2,583 messages per month for nine months.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

As a further indication of interest in an unmoderated newsgroup, it should be noted that the web site "The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience" has had more than 3,715 hits on it since May 8, 1998 representing 26 hits a day for 139 days or roughly 900 a month:

bahai.htm

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Postings may take any point of view with regard to the Baha'i Faith. Whilst this allows criticism, including criticism that might be uncomfortable or hurtful to some, it also fully opens the door for enquirers to see with their own eyes and not through the eyes of their neighbours by asking questions and reading replies from anyone who is interested in their question. Talk.religion.bahai also fills the need for the first and only universally accessible Internet forum about the Baha'i Faith. As the Internet is clearly becoming an indispensable part of modern life, such access for those interested in the Baha'i Faith will, in the future, be as important a civil right as the right to free speech in non-electronic forums. Thus talk.religion.bahai is clearly in the spirit of Baha'u'llah's injunctions supporting a free press.

As Baha'u'llah taught, a free press has both rights and responsibilities. Therefore some Baha'is might fear misuse of the facility, especially postings by covenant-breakers. However, the Universal House of Justice has addressed this question:

"First, the civil rights of Covenant-breakers must be scrupulously upheld."

From a letter written on behalf of the Universal House of Justice to a National Spiritual Assembly, October 29, 1974. Lights of Guidance, Page: 186.

Further, it is permitted for Baha'is to read and post material in an open Internet forum:

"In general, the House of Justice has no objection to Baha'is' participating in public, unmoderated discussions about the Faith, whether those discussions take place in person or through some form of electronic communication."
Department of the Secretariat, DATE: 14 October 1997 U.S.A.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including supposedly soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

PROCEDURE:

An instructive passage by Russ Allbery might fruitfully be considered by all:

"There is no official 'list of acceptable reasons for voting'; Nothing of the sort is enforced. There's no way of knowing why people vote the way they do. There is, however, a general consensus that certain patterns of voting constitute abuse of the system. Block voting on religious, cultural, ethnic, or political grounds is one of the things that is frowned upon. It is unlikely that even extreme block voting would cause a result to be overturned, but it's practically assured that block voting will earn an extremely bad reputation for the group doing the block voting. In other words, yes, the Baha'i could vote down the newsgroup en masse and be successful. This would, however, also earn the Faith a reputation (fairly or no) amongst those people who followed the proposal as a religion that advocates censorship. I think it's in the best interest of Baha'is and the Baha'i Faith to avoid that."

The process of creating newsgroups is twofold. First is the RFD stage, when someone writes a Request for Discussion (RFD) outlining the purpose of the proposed group. The RFD appears in news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, and other relevant discussion groups. Anyone may publicly comment on the RFD in news.groups for a three-week period. During the discussion phase, proponents may modify the RFD in response to suggestions from posters on news.groups.

The second stage is the Call for Votes (CFV) stage. The proposal must pass a Usenet-wide vote with a 2/3 supermajority -- and at least 100 more votes in favor than against -- to be created. Anyone with an e-mail address may cast a ballot. A neutral votetaker from the Usenet Volunteer Votetakers (UVV) conducts all CFV's.

This RFD attempts to comply with the Usenet newsgroup creation guidelines outlined in "How to Create a New Usenet Newsgroup" and "Writing an RFD" and available for perusal on news.groups or news.announce.newgroups. Please refer to these documents if you have further questions about the process.

DISTRIBUTION:

This RFD has been posted to the following newsgroups:
news.announce.newgroups,news.groups,soc.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc,soc.rights.human

and the following four mailing lists:

Talisman
Subscribe: jsgreen@umich.edu

Bahai Studies
Subscribe: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

h-Bahai h-Bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Subscribe: jrc@umich.edu

bahai-faith bahai-faith@egroups.com
Subscribe: bahai-faith-subscribe@makelist.com
or <https://www.eGroups.com>

Pointers will appear in the following newsgroups:

soc.religion.unitarian-univ,soc.religion.eastern,
soc.religion.gnosis,soc.religion.hindu,
soc.religion.paganism,soc.religion.quaker,
talk.religion.buddhism,talk.religion.newage,
uk.religion.misc,uk.religion.interfaith,
uk.religion.other-faiths,news.admin.censorship,
alt.atheism,alt.atheism.moderated,
alt.religion,alt.religion.christian.biblestudy,
alt.religion.christian.last-days,

alt.religion.christian.roman-catholic,
alt.religion.christian.pentecostal,alt.individualism, talk.philosophy.misc,alt.activism,talk.atheism,
talk.philosophy.humanism,talk.philosophy.misc, alt.philosophy.debate,aus.religion.christian

Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>

Proponent: Fran Baker <fran@crhc.uiuc.edu>

Proponent: Frank Baker <fbaker@ncsa.uiuc.edu>

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

95 Theses of the Reform Bahai Faith

in French

Please feel free to share and distribute, in any manner, preferably in full, these 95 Theses.

To His Great Ends, the Reform Bahai Faith invites all souls to a Convocation of celebration, brotherhood, and Reform, during Ridvan, 2006.

The Reform Bahai Faith, calling to mind the sufferings and imprisonment of the Bab, Baha'u'llah, and Abdul-Baha, under the brutal oppression of tyrannical regimes, bent upon silencing and destroying their testimony of God's New Day, resolves

1. To witness the truth of the deviation of the organized, incorporated Baha'i Faith from the Path, and its imposition of manifest corruptions and innovations, over many lamentable decades, that have wrought ever-increasing alienation, fear, censorship, coercion, misrepresentation, distortion, and damage, all the stratagems of despots and dictators, political and religious, upon individual Bahais, their families, and the community of believers.
2. To seek afresh His Will, as at the dawn of a New Day, whereby the earth is born anew and man stands transparent before God's manifestation of His Will.
3. Baha'u'llah execrated execration, slander, and abuse, shunned shunning, and warned his followers against such unseemly tactics.
4. He prohibited the burning of books and all its evils.
5. The tongue and the pen are the sword of this Day.
6. Liberty was a Teaching of Baha'u'llah, recognized and respected by His Son, Abdul-Baha.
7. Baha'u'llah envisions a spiritual democracy.
8. The Founders of the Bahai Dispensation teach a Universal Religion.
9. The Founders did not teach a system of stifling rules and regulations.
10. Crippling creeds of the soul and conscience are abominations.
11. The Writings of Baha'u'llah teach freedom of conscience and respect for the individual.

12. Assemblies are servants of the Bahai community, not dictatorships that are designed to hector people into submission and servile obedience.
13. At all levels, subtle manipulation of the voting for assemblies has undermined and destroyed the integrity of Baha'i "administration."
14. A free, open, and honest voting system, allowing for the give and take of the qualities of individuals, is essential for service to His Cause.
15. The Founders taught not an organization but a Faith.
16. Persecution, harassment, and enmity are barred from the tabernacle of religious freedom.
17. Baha'u'llah did not "copyright" His Revelation but gave it freely to all the peoples of the earth.
18. The more than 20,000 martyrs did not die for a trademark and copyright.
19. Slander and libel, as well as all their variations, are anathema in the Writings of Baha'u'llah.
20. Legalism is the dead letter of the atrophied spirit.
21. The Ocean of His Revelation beckons all mankind to dive and swim in it, seeking its pearls of Wisdom.
22. Shoghi Effendi's death ended the era of an authorized interpreter of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.
23. Shoghi Effendi did not appoint anyone, directly or indirectly, to succeed him as Guardian.
24. The Universal House of Justice has only legislative power, not interpretive.
25. Baha'u'llah opened His House of Worship to all mankind at all times and all conditions.
26. Baha'u'llah's Universal Revelation transcends the locks and chains created after the passing of the Master.
27. Reform Bahais make no claim to possess His Truth but seek it everywhere and always.
28. His Revelation is not a means for a disguised sacerdotal order to acquire material and monetary wealth and control.
29. His Revelation is a call to service, sacrifice, and brotherhood.
30. All portions of the Bahai Feast are open for the repast of humanity.
31. God's Gift to all mankind is the Most Great Name.
32. Deceiving the governments of the earth, East and West, and the United Nations, playing them off against one another, misleading their appointed and elected officials and representatives, is a despicable practice.
33. The financial and accounting records for the support of Bahai "administrators" or clergy shall be open and freely available for review by members and the general public.

34. Baha'u'llah did not reveal a declaration of trust and by-laws.
35. The Bahai Spirit loathes creeds and obscurantism.
36. Baha'u'llah's Call is to Unity and Love: "Consort with the followers of all religions."
37. Ecclesiasticism and dogmas are the structure of division, abuse, and exploitation.
38. Baha'u'llah suffered for freedom of conscience.
39. Abdul-Baha taught, "The Bahai Cause is not an organization."
40. Reform Bahais do not seek "the elimination of any non-Bahai views."
41. Abdul-Baha taught it is necessary and acceptable that citizens participate in the affairs of their nation.
42. Baha'u'llah and Abdul-Baha invoked openness to all of humankind, not Religious Isolation.
43. Social Isolation is the control tactic of tyrants and despots, charlatans and cults, fearfully dominating their flock.
44. Fund raising is not an end in itself but a means of service to the people.
45. The Goal of the Founders was not world domination but attainment to the knowledge of God and service to one's fellow man.
46. God's gift to humankind is a liberal and lofty Cause, conserving the spiritual heritage of humanity.
47. No form of the destruction of the press is taught and tolerated.
48. A membership card does not record the testimony of the heart.
49. No man or organization can fathom the depths God has freely bestowed upon the human heart.
50. At all heights, the bird of humanity soars upon two wings.
51. Baha'u'llah and Abdul-Baha taught independent investigation of the Truth.
52. Abdul-Baha taught "conscientious opinion" and "freedom of conscience, liberty of thought, and right of speech."
53. The literal interpretation of Abdul-Baha's Will and Testament has profoundly damaged Baha'u'llah's Faith and destroyed countless lives and Bahai communities.
54. Thought-police, under any name, are not included in Baha'u'llah's Vision.
55. Baha'u'llah's Dispensation does not include boards of censorship.
56. Baha'u'llah's model for His New World Order is not the tyrannical religious institutions of the past.
57. Bahai community life is not based on organized totalitarianism.

58. Charitable works have more value in the sight of God than marbled ostentation.
59. Fear is the refuge of tyrants and their primary crutch.
60. The Reform Bahai Faith places its trust in God.
61. Spying, informing, and keeping files and records on people for matters of conscience and opinion, expressed on or off the Internet, in email or any other form, are all denounced and banned.
62. Reform Bahais embrace loving association with all the peoples of the earth and do not require identity checks, letters, and cards of verification.
63. The nine doors of fraternity are open to all human beings.
64. The nine doors are open at all times.
65. Segregation and indoctrination, individually or collectively, are contrary to the Writings of Baha'u'llah.
66. Excommunication is excommunicated.
67. The practices of the Middle Ages are history and are an instructive lesson before which Reform Bahais beg God for guidance and protection.
68. The Soul's Covenant is with God and Baha'u'llah.
69. Abdul-Baha taught, "The conscience of man is sacred and to be respected."
70. Everywhere in His Writings, Baha'u'llah loathes injustice, tyranny, and oppression.
71. Guilt by association and collective punishment have no place in Baha'u'llah's Dispensation.
72. A self-serving clergy, hiding behind the secular nuances of the word "administration," remains a pack of wolves whatever the clothing and outward seeming.
73. Non-Bahais and Bahais have the human right to know the fullness of the historical record, without concealment and revision.
74. Abdul-Baha taught human rights are Bahai rights.
75. The distortion and corruption of historical fact is detrimental to the development of humanity and of Baha'u'llah's Faith.
76. The Bahai Technique is not Baha'u'llah's.
77. Individual conscience is not a "dangerous delusion out of Christianity" but a glorious gift of God.
78. Baha'u'llah taught moderation in all things.
79. Abdul-Baha taught humility before one's convictions.
80. Intellectual vigor, especially of the young, should never be crushed, but nurtured.

81. The descendants of the Bab and Baha'u'llah have no special or hereditary prerogatives and rights.

82. Abdul-Baha set the requirements for Bahai membership: "To be a Bahai simply means to love all the world; to love humanity and try to serve it; to work for universal peace and universal brotherhood."

83. Bahais may associate with people of all religious persuasions.

84. Receipt of mail or communication is not mandatory.

85. Harassment for declining the receipt of mail is prohibited and in all cases rejected.

86. Membership statistics are free and open to all interested parties.

87. Shoghi Effendi's writings indisputably contain errors.

88. Bahai experience and history demonstrate that the organized Baha'i Faith has strayed from Baha'u'llah's Teachings and blindly and fanatically opposes all discussion and Reformation.

89. Bahais of good conscience have no alternative but to recognize reality and restore and Reform, at all levels, His Teachings.

90. The Reform Bahai Faith looks not to other Bahai denominations for its understanding of Baha'u'llah's Teachings.

91. The Reform Bahai Faith looks to the fullness of Baha'u'llah's Revelation for guidance.

92. The Reform Bahai Faith does not distort nor select single or unusual passages of the Writings to manipulate or over-emphasize for organizational purposes of thought-control and indoctrination.

93. The Reform Bahai Faith trusts and allows the individual believer to pray and meditate on the inner meaning and purpose of His Revelation, sharing the fruits of reflection with all who are willing to hear, receive, and discuss, without disgraceful groveling or humiliating qualifications.

94. The Reform Bahai Faith recognizes and formalizes the inescapable conflicts of the human spirit that have existed in Baha'u'llah's Faith since the passing of the Master, exacerbated by an oppressive and inflexible interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Teachings.

95. The Reform Bahai Faith rejoices at the Glory of His Revelation and seeks to share His Teachings, with unabashed and renewed enthusiasm, for the Redemption and Renewal of the human race.

Baha'u'llah called all humanity to feast at His bounteous Table.

Reform Bahais rejoice that God has revealed, through time and history, the inevitable path, through trial and turmoil, toward fulfillment of His Vision.

The Reform Bahai Faith invites all non-Bahais, Bahais, ex-Bahais, all humanity, the tens of thousands of people harassed and driven out by fanatical extremists, maligned and slandered, to join together in His Worship and in service to humanity, to restore a sane and moderate form of community life and association based on love, trust, and brotherhood, across all barriers of race and division, social and economic, nationalistic and provincial.

The Reform Bahai Faith bows humbly before His Threshold, supplicating for His Favor and Guidance, supplicating the Hosts of the Kingdom of Abha, recognizing the difficulties and obstacles, apparent and hidden, that confront and will confront the realization of His Vision.

To His Great Ends, the Reform Bahai Faith invites all souls to a Convocation of celebration, brotherhood, and Reform, during Ridvan, 2006.

FG

95 Theses of the Reform Bahai Faith

www.ReformBahai.org

August 19, 2004

Homepage

Questions? CONTACT ME HERE > https://en.allexperts.com/q/Bah-2728/indexExp_113873.htm

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Abbas

Amanat https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Abbas_Amanat_Resurrection_and_Renewal_1989.htm

Resurrection and Renewal: The Making of the Babi Movement in Iran, 1844-1850

By Abbas Amanat; Cornell University Press, 1989. 464 pgs.

See Professor Juan Cole's comments below. Also search for "Abbas Amanat" at the bottom of this site's home page for a complete list of references to him and his important book.

"The true story of Abbas Amanat is as follows..." (follow link... for its entirety.)

"The true story of Abbas Amanat is as follows. He was brought up a Baha'i, in a Kashan family that had traditionally been Jewish but that had converted to the Baha'i faith in the previous generation. His brother Husayn designed the monument at Azadi square in Tehran, and also the seat of the universal house of justice. His father is an accomplished historian and is writing a mult-volume history of the Kashan Baha'i community. His brother Mehrdad is also a historian and co-authored the section on Qajar Iran in the prestigious Cambridge History of Iran. As a young intellectual at Tehran University and then later at Oxford, Abbas noticed that there was an authoritarian and anti-intellectual streak to the Baha'i organization, as exemplified in bigots such as Furutan (who had played a very sinister role in the attack on and suppression of Mazandarani's scholarship back in the 1930s and 1940s). Abbas therefore very wisely decided rather early on that he wanted nothing to do with the Baha'i organization. However, he has said repeatedly and publicly that he is "in love with the Bab.""

For Cole's comments back in January on Maneck's slanderous tactics, essentially "hikmat":

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Cole2001.htm>

Then click Edit, Find "Maneck" for message below and other comments:

JuanFrom: "Juan Cole" <jricole@my-deja.com>

Subject: Re: common ground

Date: Sunday, January 14, 2001 3:20 AM

I do not have the time or the inclination to spend a lot of time on usenet right now, but since I have been slandered (and not for the first time) by Susan Stiles Maneck in her recent posting, I am forced to reply (yet again) to these falsehoods.

But first, I would like to make my own mea culpas. I retract almost everything I said about the faith on email between May 4, 1996 and January 30, 1999. I was very depressed in the wake of the false charges that were launched against me, and as a result had temporarily lost my faith, which had been at the core of my being for 24 years. I am a very sensitive person, and this was a nightmare ordeal for me. I had the misfortune of being among the first persons in history to live through such a period of disorientation in the age of the Internet. Lots of rightwing Baha'is were eager to misrepresent themselves as my friends so as to get out of me my innermost thoughts, and these have been archived in Haifa, and Maneck posts private messages from me from that period occasionally in order to discredit me. Well, if it matters, I know I said a lot of things that were overdrawn or overly emotional, in my hurt, and I disavow them now.

I consider myself a follower of Baha'u'llah again, now (however much I am unwanted), and while I am empathetic with my unbelieving self, that is no longer me.

I am glad to admit I got lots of things wrong. Peter Khan's family was Muslim before becoming Baha'i. An Australian Baha'i misled me that they had at one point been Christian. I was wrong. The members of the House of Justice have all kinds of cars and not just Mercedes. However, they do preside over a budget that runs to hundreds of millions of dollars, and their refusal to publish any budget breakdown does raise questions about the nature of finances in Haifa. However, if I got their car types wrong or imputed to them chauffeurs they don't have, I am glad to retract. Accuracy means a lot to me. Pilgrims had told me these things, and they were pilgrims I trust more than I trust Maneck, but where there is doubt one cannot claim certainty. Moreover, some of my motives in talking about the members' lifestyle were hurt at the enormous injustice they had done to me, which was an unworthy motive.

>And the hypocrisy of their actions became increasingly apparent. They >would complain of censorship and then tell me when I was moderator of >H-Bahai that I shouldn't allow somebody to post because they were >an "ultramontanist" and a "big Nixon supporter."

Let's talk a little bit about hypocrisy. From about August of 1997, when Maneck started secretly working for "counselor" Ghadirian, she began sending him regular spy reports of the confidential deliberations of its academic editors. She began attempting to disrupt the list and "muddy the waters" in accordance with her instructions. We have a rule that subscribers should have a master's degree or more in the humanities or social sciences, to ensure an academic tone to discussions. She suddenly announced that she was going to start enrolling persons without those credentials. One of the persons she proposed to enroll in this maverick way was a lawyer who is also an Auxiliary Board Member for Protection, and who is no academic. I said no. I said that, moreover, the person had kooky ideas about Nixon having been innocent & etc. I mentioned his thinking Dick Nixon was the innocent target of a smear campaign (!!!) as yet another piece of evidence that this person was not a bona fide academic; but lack of credentials was what was determinative.

Maneck's announcement that she would ignore the rules and do as she pleased; her frequent rejection of posts from Steve Scholl and other liberals on purely ideological grounds; her vicious insults directed at a prospective liberal moderator with the intent of scaring him away from helping the list; her constant spy reports to Ghadirian; her expression of delight that a subscriber had signed off that she viewed as a 'covenant breaker' because she intended to mount a campaign on the list to firm the academics up in the covenant; were all capped by a demand that I resign as editor. Ultimately she voluntarily resigned from her editorship in disgrace because she inadvertently supplied evidence, in the course of her persecution of me, that she was spying on the list for Ghadirian. She later publicly accused me on this very list of having fired her! While I would have if I could have, that was for the Editorial Board, and she did not give even them the opportunity. The fact is that she was misusing her position on an academic list to undermine its independence in favor of the imposition of some wacky fundamentalist orthodoxy, and she is still sore at having failed.

>When they tried to persuade me that the Faith had been > taken over by a secret cabal going back to Mason Remey and Horace >Holley, I really had to step back and ask myself just what had I gotten myself into?

If you knew anything about American Baha'i history you would know that both those individuals were deeply involved in creating a rightwing Baha'i culture. As for a cabal, I was upset when I said that. But it isn't far-fetched that the rightwing Counsellors who have taken over the Faith have some sort of at least informal network that allows them to politick so successfully and to come to power and remain there. On the other hand, this phenomenon could be more haphazard. I frankly don't know. At the time, I was commiserating with someone I thought a friend. And people say I never admit having been wrong!

> Then I was sent a rough draft of the Panopticon article and saw it was filled > with distortions about matters where they author had to know better.

The Panopticon article is not filled with distortions. I believe every word of it to be true, and I believed so when I wrote it. And, I sent it to Maneck for her comments, virtually all of which I incorporated into the final draft. So, if it was 'filled with distortions' she had every chance to set me straight on all of them, and it is her own fault if she did not.

> Meanwhile, unfounded charges were being made saying things like the House had > ordered Abbas Amanat expelled from the Faith which I knew simply weren't true.

If that is what you thought was being said, no wonder you thought it wasn't true. What I said was that Derek Cockshut waged a brutal campaign to protest the Bahai Publishing Trust's carrying Abbas Amanat's Resurrection and Renewal in 1989 when it came out. And that the NSA took the issue to the House of Justice. And that the House of Justice wrote that it was all right to carry the book because Abbas Amanat "is not a Baha'i." Abbas, however, was and is an enrolled Baha'i in the US community, and he has never disavowed faith in Baha'u'llah. In the wake of the 1990 letter the NSA sent him several insulting letters demanding to know his conscience (I thought there was no confession in our religion?) He declined to reply, last I knew.
`Abdul-Baha in the Hizar Bayti said we don't have the Muslim custom of declaring believing Baha'is to be infidels because we don't like their views, and I found the arrogance of the 1990 letter breathtaking. It was my first clue that something was very rotten in Haifa, and it wasn't just Wilmette. If Maneck turned against me because of this statement, she really wronged me!

- > Or I was told that the NSA of Canada had sold off a important collection within
- > their archives to prevent it from falling into the hands of academics,
- > something which proved to be utterly false.

First of all, I've said publicly a number of times that I was wrong about that. It seems to me a relatively minor little affair, anyway. I got the story's details wrong, and a more knowledgeable poster corrected them. However, I am unaware that the NSA of Canada has provided its INBA set (manuscript facsimiles of the Baha'i Writings) to any scholars, and I think Maneck knows that it is problematic whether they would do so.

- > And something else would happen as well. I would start have arguments with
- > people on Talisman on basic issues like the existence of revelation and began
- > to realize that the people I was supporting didn't really believe in it in any
- > meaningful way.

In other words, we had to be basically fundamentalists or neo-Calvinists or something, or else Maneck would gleefully join in the auto-da-fe against anything we said. Her idea of "Revelation" isn't dogma that all Baha'is have to accept, and her problems with deism are her problems.

- > But it was becoming increasingly apparent that if I went down, I
- > wasn't going down alone and began to realize that for the sake of
- > these Baha'is I needed to search for solutions rather than add to the
- > problems. So I began to behave much less recklessly.

If you had behaved less recklessly that would have been fine. You turned into a Stasi-like spy, a fifth columnist, and an Inquisitor. And you decided that only by waging a smear campaign against me could you hope to make Baha'i scholarship acceptable to the fundies. That, you didn't have to do. These actions warped your personality and made you a poor Baha'i.

- > Right around this time there was a very lurid thread going on on Talisman
- > discussing some prominent Baha'is supposed sexual indiscretions. Then Juan came
- > bursting on to Talisman saying, "I've been backbitten and so have you!" It was
- > in reference to a talk Counselor Gharian had made in London critical of the
- > Talisman list.

Ghadrarian's talk in London wasn't critical just of the Talisman list. He libelled me and David Langness and did all but issue Anathemas against us just as though he were an ayatollah in a turban. (And I thought you weren't supposed to backbite; David was a particular victim in this). Ghadirian should be careful. In the U.K., libel is easy to prove. As for the other issue, that a high Baha'i official resigned in disgrace from his profession for sexual harassment and then was immediately appointed to a cushy Baha'i job in Geneva was of interest to talismanians like Linda Walbridge. She had been threatened with being declared a covenant breaker for advocating more rights for Baha'i women, including service on the House of Justice. And here was a man in the old buddy system of high Baha'i administration who was actually promoted despite a public scandal that was in the newspapers. It wasn't just a matter of gossiping about someone's private life. It was outrage that innocent liberals were persecuted out of the faith and calumniated, but if you had friends in high places you could get away with anything.

> Ghadirian. how his saintliness and love eventually overcame my fears and > suspicions.

Oh, yeah, all the saints I know call meetings in London to backbite people, and then have their agents spy on people and make reports about their confidential conversations. Why, the KGB was full of saints in its heyday!! Maneck can't see that the only reason she got love-bombed by this manipulative physician was precisely because of his hope of gaining a spy "asset" known to be in close contact with me. And I have to hand it to him, he did a world-class job of turning her into a mole.

>I began to realize that the House of Justice > was not out to destroy academic scholarship on the Baha'i Faith as I >had mistakenly believed all those years,

It seems to be pretty arbitrary. Some people seem to be able to publish and not get in any particular trouble. Others are come down on like a ton of bricks, and it is not always clear why. I wonder if the unpredictability of it isn't intended to disrupt scholarship by making the academics nervous about saying anything at all about the faith. Denis MacEoin told me the story of how House of Justice members Ian Semple and David Hoffman threatened him and chased him out, destroying his faith. And, of course, we all saw what happened to the academics who dared speak publicly on talisman-1.

>and that they did not eat scholars for breakfast

Mainly they seem to threaten them with some form of ostracization if they don't fall silent. But they do this to some and not to others. I have never been able to figure out why.

sincerely,
Juan Cole

ALSO Cole17.htm

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 13.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased from 4.5 million to 6.5 million (Office for National Statistics 2000). The number of people aged 65 and over is projected to increase to 16.5 million by 2020, and the number of people aged 75 and over to 8.5 million (Office for National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the UK. The Department of Health (2000) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the lives of older people. The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity.

The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity. The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity.

The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity. The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity.

The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity. The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity.

The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity. The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity.

The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity. The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity.

The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity. The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity.

The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity. The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity.

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Newsgroups: talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai

From: Freedom of Conscience

Date: Sun, 13 Jun 2010 13:34:00 -0400

Subject: Re: Universal House of Justice Ridvan Message 2010: A Context

Jeffrey wrote:

- > This is the same old tired nonsensical argument that avoids the
- > unambiguous words of Shoghi Effendi and which adds to the Writings
- > assumptions that are not necessarily correct. Everyone is free to
- > believe as they wish, and if it gives people comfort to hold
- > irrational positions and find comfort that there are many others
- > holding to the same false tenets, that is fine with me. But for those
- > who might be fooled by these arguments, I urge you to study the Faith
- > independently and to fully vet the issues for yourself. The reality
- > is that either the Baha'i Faith has a Guardian or its a false
- > religion--- its own verities being discredited and disproven.

There's another possibility I invite people to consider. It is that the Authentic Covenant of Abdul-Baha was delivered in 1912 in New York, the City of the Covenant, which is why New York came to be called that, as widely recognized and acknowledged by the early Bahais and repeatedly published in the Star of the West. For details, see

Abdul-Baha's 1912 Authentic Covenant

<https://www.reformbahai.org/Covenant.html>

It was never Abdul-Baha's intention that the Bahai Faith have a pope-like, imamate, i.e., the so-called guardianship. There is the fact that all Baha'is of the various denominations that claim the fraudulent will and testament of 1921 is true fail to confront. The truth of the written record can be read by anyone interested and willing to make the effort.

- > Moreover, either Shoghi Effendi was right that the Cause must have a
- > Guardian to perform very real functions that only a living human being
- > can perform, or else the Faith is mutilated, or he was wrong. I think
- > our first Guardian was correct.

While I respect the conscience of Baha'is who believe Shoghi Effendi was appointed in 1921 by Abdul-Baha, it is an historical fact that the will and testament was NEVER authenticated as any legitimate will and testament today or even at the time would have been. Further, it was judged by one of the most qualified forensic researchers of the time, Dr. C. Ainsworth Mitchell of the British Museum, to be written by three different people. NEVER has Dr. Mitchell's finding been proven to be false. He and it have merely been slandered and malign by subsequent Baha'is that all seek to use the forged instrument to their own worldly advantage.

Dr. C. (Charles) Ainsworth Mitchell - Certified Copy from the Library of Congress Report on the Writing Shown on the Photographs of the Alleged Will of Abdu'l-Baha. 1930.
https://www.reformbahai.org/CAMitchell_Report.html

Jeffery, as a lawyer, you understand WHY the acceptance of a legal document such as a will can only be based on an independent and reliable assessment of its validity. Shoghi Effendi and other Baha'is who stood to benefit from its acceptance by the early Bahai community merely claimed it was true and then proceeded to harass and brainwash Bahais into accepting it, on the basis of blind, unquestioning belief, an approach widely criticized in the Writings. That same process has continued for decades. It is no more valid today than when it was first forged, despite all the deception that has followed. "By their fruits ye may know them." How rotten has been the fruit of that fraudulent document!

- > Ron Price here wholly discredits Shoghi Effendi and pretends that the
- > Guardianship is a "literary heritage" and not an office that is held
- > by a human being. There is no other way to understand what Shoghi
- > Effendi wrote on the subject than it is an office held by a living
- > person. This complete disregard for the teachings of Shoghi Effendi
- > is the essence of violation.

> Jeffrey

The real "essence of violation" was the substitution of a Shiite imamate for the broad, open, liberal Interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Teachings that His appointed Interpreter of His own Covenant had publicly and repeatedly delivered by spoken and printed word to the Bahai community.

The Reform Bahai Faith
www.ReformBahai.org

About the Reform Bahai Faith
<https://www.reformbahai.org/about.html>

Abdul-Baha's 1912 Authentic Covenant
www.reformbahai.org/Covenant.html

Comments on Abdul-Baha's 1912 Authentic Covenant
https://www.reformbahai.org/Covenant_comments.html

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Abdul-Baha, A Traveler's Narrative, originally published in 1891, 87 - 92.

[To insure] freedom of conscience and tranquility of heart and soul is one of the duties and functions of government, and is in all ages the cause of progress in development and ascendancy over other lands. Other civilized countries acquired not this preeminence, nor attained unto these high degrees of influence and power, till such time as they put away the strife of sects out of their midst, and dealt with all classes according to one standard. All are one people, one nation, one species, one kind. The common interest is complete equality; justice and equality amongst mankind are amongst the chief promoters of empire and the principal means to the extension of the skirt of conquest. From whatever section of earth's denizens signs of contentiousness appear, prompt punishment is required by a just government; while any person who girds up the loins of endeavor and carries off the ball of priority is deserving of royal favors and worthy of splendid gifts. Times are changed, and the need and fashion of the world are changed. Interference with creed and faith in every country causes manifest detriment, while justice and equal dealing towards all peoples on the face of the earth are the means whereby progress is effected.

Where is this little island in the North Atlantic, and where the vast territory of the East Indies? Can such extension be obtained save by equal justice to all peoples and classes? At all events, by means of just laws, freedom of conscience, and uniform dealing and equity towards all nationalities and peoples, they have actually brought under their dominion nearly all of the inhabited quarter of the world, and by reason of these principles of freedom they have added day by day to the strength, power, and extent of their empire, while most of the peoples on the face of the earth celebrate the name of this state for its justice. As regards religious zeal and true piety, their touchstone and proof are firmness and steadfastness in noble qualities, virtues, and perfections, which are the greatest blessings of the human race; but not interference with the belief of this one or that one, demolition of edifices, and cutting off of the human race. In the middle ages, whereof the beginning was the time of the fall of the Roman Empire, and the end the capture of Constantinople at the hands of [the followers of] Islám, fierce intolerance and molestation of far and near arose in [all] the countries of Europe by reason of the paramount influence of religious leaders. The matter came to such a pass that the edifice of humanity seemed tottering to its fall, and the peace and comfort of chief and vassal, king and subject, became hidden behind the veil of annihilation. Night and day all parties were slaves to apprehension and disquietude: civilization was utterly destroyed: the control and order of countries was neglected: the principles and essentials of the happiness of the human race were in abeyance: the supports of kingly authority were shaken: but the influence and power of the heads of religion and of the monks were in all parts complete. But when they removed these differences, persecution, and bigotries out of their midst, and proclaimed the equal rights of all subjects and the liberty of men's consciences, the lights of glory and power arose and shone from the horizons of that kingdom in such wise that those countries made progress in every direction; and whereas the mightiest monarchy of Europe had been servile to and abased before the smallest government of Asia, now the great states of Asia are unable to oppose the small states of Europe. These are effectual and sufficient proofs that the conscience of man is sacred and to be respected; and that liberty thereof produces widening of ideas, amendment of morals, improvement of conduct, disclosure of the secrets of creation, and manifestation of the hidden verities of the contingent world. Moreover, if interrogation of conscience, which is one of the private possessions of the heart and the soul, take place in this world, what further recompense remains for man in the court of divine justice at the day of general resurrection? Convictions and ideas are within the scope of the comprehension of the King of kings, not of kings; and soul and conscience are between the fingers of control of the Lord of hearts, not of [His] servants. So in the world of existence two persons unanimous in all grades [of thought] and all beliefs cannot be found. `The ways unto God are as the number of the breaths of [His] creatures' is a mysterious truth, and `To every [people] We have appointed a [separate] rite' [50] is one of the subtleties of the Qur'án.

"Today we have closed our eyes to every righteous act and have sacrificed the abiding happiness of society to our own transitory profit. We regard fanaticism and zealotry as redounding to our credit and honor, and not content with this, we denounce one another and plot each other's ruin, and whenever we wish to put on a show of wisdom and learning, of virtue and godliness, we set about mocking and reviling this one and that. "The ideas of such a one," we say, "are wide of the mark, and so-and-so's behavior leaves much to be desired. The religious observances of Zayd are few and far between, and Amr is not firm in his faith."...With words such as these they assault the minds of the helpless masses and disturb the hearts of the already bewildered poor, who know nothing of the true state of affairs and the real basis for such talk and remain completely unaware of the fact that a thousand selfish purposes are concealed behind the supposedly religious eloquence of certain individuals. They imagine that speakers of this type are motivated by virtuous zeal, when the truth is that such individuals keep up a great hue and cry because they see their own personal ruin in the welfare of the masses, and believe that if the people's eyes are opened their own light will go out.

Abdul-Baha, The Secret of Divine Civilization, 56-57, 1990 edition.

"Likewise, when you meet those whose opinions differ from your own, do not turn away your face from them. All are seeking truth, and there are many roads leading thereto. Truth has many aspects , but it remains always and forever one. Do not allow difference of opinion, or diversity of thought to separate you from your fellow-men, or to be the cause of dispute, hatred and strife in your hearts." --Abdul-Baha, Paris Talks, 53.

Truly, this is a great and revered nation. Here liberty has reached its highest degree. The intentions of its people are most praiseworthy. They are, indeed, worthy of being the first to build the Tabernacle of the Most Great Peace and proclaim the oneness of mankind. I will supplicate God for assistance [PUP p.36-37]

You are living upon the great continent of the West, enjoying the perfect liberty, security and peace of this just government. There is no cause for sorrow or unhappiness anywhere; every means of happiness and enjoyment is about you, for in this human world there is no greater blessing than liberty. [PUP p.52]

This is the century of new and universal nationhood. Sciences have advanced; industries have progressed; politics have been reformed; liberty has been proclaimed; justice is awakening. [PUP p.143]

Praise be to God! The standard of liberty is held aloft in this land. You enjoy political liberty; you enjoy liberty of thought and speech, religious liberty, racial and personal liberty. Surely this is worthy of appreciation and thanksgiving.[PUP p.390]

But when they removed these differences, persecution, and bigotries out of their midst, and proclaimed the equal rights of all subjects and the liberty of men's consciences, the lights of glory and power arose and shone from the horizons of that kingdom in such wise that those countries made progress in every direction [TN p.91]

When meeting for consultation, each must use perfect liberty in stating his views and unveiling the proof of his demonstration. [BWF p.406]

The third candle is unity in freedom which will surely come to pass. [SWA p.32]

The honoured members must with all freedom express their own thoughts, and it is in no wise permissible for one to belittle the thought of another. [SWA p.88]

[To insure] freedom of conscience and tranquility of heart and soul is one of the duties and functions of government, and is in all ages the cause of progress in development and ascendancy over other lands. [TNp87]

The Constitutional Government, according to the irrefutable text of the Religion of God, is the cause of the glory and prosperity of the nation and the civilization and freedom of the people [TAB p. 492]

[Italics added]

`Abdul-Baha on Freedom of Conscience and Speech - Translated by Juan R.I. Cole, Department of History, University of Michigan

Palo Alto, California, 9 October 1912:

"Before `Abdu l-Baha left Palo Alto, a group again had the honor of gathering in the most holy court. Among his blessed utterances was an explanation of religious conflicts, especially those of the Christians. "Some said Christ was God, and some said he was the Word, while others called him a prophet. Because of these differences, conflicts arose among them, such that in the community there was enmity instead of spirituality, and estrangement rather than unity. But Baha u llah has closed the door on such differences. By arranging for interpretation to be carried out by an authoritative Interpreter of the Book, by establishing the Universal House of Justice--or in other words the Parliament of the [Baha i] community--and by commanding that there be no interference in beliefs or conscience, He blocked such breaches from occurring. He even said that if two persons discussing some matter develop a dispute, such that it leads to a polarization, both are wrong and discredited."

(MahmEd Zarq ni, Kit b-i Bad 'i` al-Ath r, 2 vols. (Hofheim-Langenhain: Bah 'i-Verlag, 1982), 1:294.)

The Three Types of Liberty

A Talk of `Abdu'l-Baha given on 7 April 1913 in Budapest

He is God.

Liberty is of three sorts. One is the divine freedom, that is confined to the essence of the Creator. He is autonomous and absolute. No one can compel

Him with regard to anything at all.

Another form of liberty is that of the Europeans, which holds that human beings may do as they please on the condition that they not harm one another.

This is the liberty of nature, and its highest degree is found in the animal world. This is the estate of the animal. Look at these birds, in what liberty they live. Whatever human beings might do, they can never be as free as animals. Rather, order stands in the way of freedom.

As for the third sort of liberty, it is under the divine laws and ordinances. This is the liberty of the human world, which severs the heart's relationship with all things. It soothes all hardships and sorrow. The more the consciences of human beings progress, the more free their hearts become, and the more glad their spirits become.

In the religion of God there is freedom of thought, for no one can rule over the [individual s] conscience save God. But [freedom of thought] exists only to the extent that it is not expressed in terms that depart from politeness.

In the religion of God there is no freedom of deeds. No one can transgress the divine law, even if in so doing he harms no one. For by the divine law is intended the training of oneself and others. For to God, harming oneself or harming others are the same, and both are reprehensible. In hearts there must be the fear of God, and human beings must not commit blameworthy deeds. Therefore, the freedom of deeds that exists in civil law does not exist in religion. As for freedom of thought, it must not transgress the bounds of politeness. And deeds are also linked to fear of God and the divine good-pleasure.

`Abdu'l-Hamid Ishraq-Khvari, ed., M 'idih-yi Asm ni, 9 vols. (Tehran: Bah 'i Publishing Trust, 1973) 5:17-18.

Compare John Winthrop on Liberty

Compare Abdul-Baha with what a member of the uhj has to say on conscience:

"We have inherited a dangerous delusion from Christianity that our individual conscience is supreme. This is not a Baha'i belief. In the end, in the context of both our role in the community and our role in the greater world, we must be prepared to sacrifice our personal convictions or opinions. The belief that individual conscience is supreme is equivalent to "taking partners with God" which is abhorrent to the Teachings of the Faith." -Doug Martin

<https://www.bahai-library.org/talks/martin.watson.html> (Find > "conscience")

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Abdul-Baha, A Traveler's Narrative, originally published in 1891, 87 - 92.

[To insure] freedom of conscience and tranquility of heart and soul is one of the duties and functions of government, and is in all ages the cause of progress in development and ascendancy over other lands. Other civilized countries acquired not this preeminence, nor attained unto these high degrees of influence and power, till such time as they put away the strife of sects out of their midst, and dealt with all classes according to one standard. All are one people, one nation, one species, one kind. The common interest is complete equality; justice and equality amongst mankind are amongst the chief promoters of empire and the principal means to the extension of the skirt of conquest. From whatever section of earth's denizens signs of contentiousness appear, prompt punishment is required by a just government; while any person who girds up the loins of endeavor and carries off the ball of priority is deserving of royal favors and worthy of splendid gifts. Times are changed, and the need and fashion of the world are changed. Interference with creed and faith in every country causes manifest detriment, while justice and equal dealing towards all peoples on the face of the earth are the means whereby progress is effected.

*
*
*

Where is this little island in the North Atlantic, and where the vast territory of the East Indies? Can such extension be obtained save by equal justice to all peoples and classes? At all events, by means of just laws, freedom of conscience, and uniform dealing and equity towards all nationalities and peoples, they have actually brought under their dominion nearly all of the inhabited quarter of the world, and by reason of these principles of freedom they have added day by day to the strength, power, and extent of their empire, while most of the peoples on the face of the earth celebrate the name of this state for its justice. As regards religious zeal and true piety, their touchstone and proof are firmness and steadfastness in noble qualities, virtues, and perfections, which are the greatest blessings of the human race; but not interference with the belief of this one or that one, demolition of edifices, and cutting off of the human race. In the middle ages, whereof the beginning was the time of the fall of the Roman Empire, and the end the capture of Constantinople at the hands of [the followers of] Islám, fierce intolerance and molestation of far and near arose in [all] the countries of Europe by reason of the paramount influence of religious leaders. The matter came to such a pass that the edifice of humanity seemed tottering to its fall, and the peace and comfort of chief and vassal, king and subject, became hidden behind the veil of annihilation.

Night and day all parties were slaves to apprehension and disquietude: civilization was utterly destroyed: the control and order of countries was neglected: the principles and essentials of the happiness of the human race were in abeyance: the supports of kingly authority were shaken: but the influence and power of the heads of religion and of the monks were in all parts complete. But when they removed these differences, persecution, and bigotries out of their midst, and proclaimed the equal rights of all subjects and the liberty of men's consciences, the lights of glory and power arose and shone from the horizons of that kingdom in such wise that those countries made progress in every direction; and whereas the mightiest monarchy of Europe had been servile to and abased before the smallest government of Asia, now the great states of Asia are unable to oppose the small states of Europe. These are effectual and sufficient proofs that the conscience of man is sacred and to be respected; and that liberty thereof produces widening of ideas, amendment of morals, improvement of conduct, disclosure of the secrets of creation, and manifestation of the hidden verities of the contingent world. Moreover, if interrogation of conscience, which is one of the private possessions of the heart and the soul, take place in this world, what further recompense remains for man in the court of divine justice at the day of general resurrection? Convictions and ideas are within the scope of the comprehension of the King of kings, not of kings; and soul and conscience are between the fingers of control of the Lord of hearts, not of [His] servants. So in the world of existence two persons unanimous in all grades [of thought] and all beliefs cannot be found. 'The ways unto God are as the number of the breaths of [His] creatures' is a mysterious truth, and 'To every [people] We have appointed a [separate] rite' [50] is one of the subtleties of the Qur'án.

"Today we have closed our eyes to every righteous act and have sacrificed the abiding happiness of society to our own transitory profit. We regard fanaticism and zealotry as redounding to our credit and honor, and not content with this, we denounce one another and plot each other's ruin, and whenever we wish to put on a show of wisdom and learning, of virtue and godliness, we set about mocking and reviling this one and that. "The ideas of such a one," we say, "are wide of the mark, and so-and-so's behavior leaves much to be desired. The religious observances of Zayd are few and far between, and Amr is not firm in his faith."...With words such as these they assault the minds of the helpless masses and disturb the hearts of the already bewildered poor, who know nothing of the true state of affairs and the real basis for such talk and remain completely unaware of the fact that a thousand selfish purposes are concealed behind the supposedly religious eloquence of certain individuals. They imagine that speakers of this type are motivated by virtuous zeal, when the truth is that such individuals keep up a great hue and cry because they see their own personal ruin in the welfare of the masses, and believe that if the people's eyes are opened their own light will go out.

Abdul-Baha, The Secret of Divine Civilization, 56-57, 1990 edition.

"Likewise, when you meet those whose opinions differ from your own, do not turn away your face from them. All are seeking truth, and there are many roads leading thereto. Truth has many aspects , but it remains always and forever one. Do not allow difference of opinion, or diversity of thought to separate you from your fellow-men, or to be the cause of dispute, hatred and strife in your hearts." --Abdul-Baha, Paris Talks, 53.

Truly, this is a great and revered nation. Here liberty has reached its highest degree. The intentions of its people are most praiseworthy. They are, indeed, worthy of being the first to build the Tabernacle of the Most Great Peace and proclaim the oneness of mankind. I will supplicate God for assistance [PUP p.36-37]

You are living upon the great continent of the West, enjoying the perfect liberty, security and peace of this just government. There is no cause for sorrow or unhappiness anywhere; every means of happiness and enjoyment is about you, for in this human world there is no greater blessing than liberty. [PUP p.52]

This is the century of new and universal nationhood. Sciences have advanced; industries have progressed; politics have been reformed; liberty has been proclaimed; justice is awakening. [PUP p.143]

Praise be to God! The standard of liberty is held aloft in this land. You enjoy political liberty; you enjoy liberty of thought and speech, religious liberty, racial and personal liberty. Surely this is worthy of appreciation and thanksgiving.[PUP p.390]

But when they removed these differences, persecution, and bigotries out of their midst, and proclaimed the equal rights of all subjects and the liberty of men's consciences, the lights of glory and power arose and shone from the horizons of that kingdom in such wise that those countries made progress in every direction [TN p.91]

When meeting for consultation, each must use perfect liberty in stating his views and unveiling the proof of his demonstration. [BWF p.406]

The third candle is unity in freedom which will surely come to pass. [SWA p.32]

The honoured members must with all freedom express their own thoughts, and it is in no wise permissible for one to belittle the thought of another. [SWA p.88]

[To insure] freedom of conscience and tranquility of heart and soul is one of the duties and functions of government, and is in all ages the cause of progress in development and ascendancy over other lands. [TNp87]

The Constitutional Government, according to the irrefutable text of the Religion of God, is the cause of the glory and prosperity of the nation and the civilization and freedom of the people [TAB p. 492]

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Abdul Baha's Grandson: Story of a Twentieth Century Excommunication

by Ahmad Sohrab.

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/ABG.htm>

"It was in the middle Twenties, only a few years after the Master's departure from this life, that the Bahai community first became aware of the fact that an administrative system was about to be fastened on to the Cause. The majority did not take the idea very seriously; yet, when lectures on the subject were announced, many attended because it was understood that this was Mr. Holley's hobby. A little later, when the existence of The New History Society had become an issue, the thoughts of all Bahais were directed toward the newly created administrative order; and presently the Bahai Cause, to all intents and purposes, drifted into the discard.

This substitution of another cause for the Cause itself necessitated some explanation, and it was to meet this requirement that the Bahai apologists were set to work. They did a good job of it is unquestionable. The believers have been induced to take a detour, on the understanding that it will eventually turn back to the great highway; and they are forging ahead at top speed on a road that leads into the dim and distant past.

In their own times, the stately apologists of Christendom accomplished their mission most satisfactorily. The tomes of their Jesuitical writings may be heaped with the dust of centuries, yet their influence still goes on. It was in appreciation of the complicated structure of the Catholic Church, and with the ambition of gaining an even greater measure of temporal power, that the Bahai authorities converted the Ark of the Lord into a Theological Fortress, in the dungeons of which the living teachings of Baha-O-Llah and Abdul Baha are conserved as archives" ABG (161-162).

ABDUL BAHÁ'S GRANDSON

apologists were set to work. That they did a good job of it is unquestionable. The believers have been induced to take a detour, on the understanding that it will eventually turn back to the great highway; and they are forging ahead at top speed on a road that leads into the dim and distant past.

In their own times, the stately apologists of Christendom accomplished their mission most satisfactorily. The tomes of their Jesuitical writings may be heaped with the dust of centuries, yet their influence still goes on. It was in appreciation of the complicated structure of the Catholic Church, and with the ambition of gaining an even greater measure of temporal power, that the Baháí authorities converted the Ark of the Lord into a Theological Fortress, in the dungeons of which the living teachings of Baha-O-Llah and Abdul Baha are conserved as archives.

The Crucial Choice

There is a time in the life of nation and of man when a crucial choice has to be made between slavery and freedom. The American fathers made that choice on the soil of this continent; the Democracies and would-be-democracies of the entire world are making that choice right now. On the other hand, there are masses of people whose mental and spiritual equipment does not warrant even a consideration of liberty; to them, the goose-step is rhythm and the voice of officialdom law, while the locked door makes home:—

A tame bird was in a cage and a free bird was in the forest.

In due time they met as a decree of fate.

The free bird cried: "O my love, let us fly to the wood."

The caged bird whispered: "Come hither, let us both live in the cage."

Said the free bird: "Among bars, where there is no room to spread one's wings?"

"Alas," cried the caged bird, "I should not know where to sit, perched in the sky."

—Rabindranath Tagore

The entire book was DELETED from H-Net Bahai, as other books by him have also been periodically suppressed on H-Net from time to time . It has now been restored online:

Mirza Ahmad Sohrab. Abdul Baha's Grandson: Story of a Twentieth Century Excommunication New York: Universal Publishing for The New History Foundation, 1943. Reprinted. H-Bahai: Lansing, Michigan, 2004.

<https://www.h-net.org/~bahai/diglib/books/P-T/S/sohrab/ABG.htm>

Excerpts from Mirza Ahmad Sohrab's Broken Silence: The Story of Today's Struggle for Religious Freedom. New York: Universal Publishing, 1942.

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/SohrabEx.htm>

Other works by Sohrab:

Excerpts at bottom: Mirza Ahmad Sohrab. The Will and Testament of Abdul Baha, An Analysis. New York: Universal Publishing, 1944. Reprinted.

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/archives/SohrabWTAB.pdf>

Mirza Ahmad Sohrab. I Heard Him Say. Words of Abdul Baha as Recorded by his Secretary. New York: The New History Foundation, 1937.

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/archives/SohrabIHHS.pdf>

Mirza Ahmad Sohrab. Abdul Baha's Grandson: Story of a Twentieth Century Excommunication New York: Universal Publishing for The New History Foundation, 1943. Reprinted. H-Bahai: Lansing, Michigan, 2004.

<https://www.h-net.org/~bahai/diglib/books/P-T/S/sohrab/ABG.htm>

Mirza Ahmad Sohrab. My Bahai Pilgrimage. Autobiography from Childhood to Middle Age. New York: New History Foundation, 1959.

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/archives/SohrabMBP.pdf>

Sohrab, Mirza Ahmad. The Story of the Divine Plan. Taking Place during, and immediately following World War I. New York: The New History Foundation, 1947. Digitally republished, East Lansing, Mi.: H-Bahai, 2004.

<https://www.h-net.org/~bahai/diglib/books/P-T/S/sohrab/SDP.htm>

Ruth White, Excerpts, Bibliography

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Ruth%20White.htm>

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From - Tue Feb 04 07:21:29 1997
Approved: boatright@cjnetworks.com (Rick Boatright)
From: jrcole@j.imap.itd.umich.edu (Juan R. I. Cole)
Subject: Re: (Fwd) Administrative and Spiritual Expulsion
Newsgroups: soc.religion.bahai
Message-ID: <"cUTn5C.A.6sE.06A8y"@bounty>
Distribution: world
Organization: ----
Date: Wed, 29 Jan 1997 21:15:55 -0600
Lines: 171
Path:
zeus.moa.net!news2.acs.oakland.edu!newsxfer.itd.umich.edu!newsxfer3.itd.umich.edu!su-news-hub1.bbnplanet.com!news.bbnplanet.com!cpk-news-hub1.bbnplanet.com!feed1.news.erols.com!howland.erols.net!surfnet.nl!news.unisource.nl!xs4all!newsgate.cistron.nl!news.bcca.org!not-for-mail

Bill Collins wrote:

>The implication that mere criticism of the National Spiritual Assembly >leads to inevitably to administrative expulsion is both demonstrably >>false and missing a larger context.

What I said was that believers can have their administrative rights taken away for publicly criticizing the National Spiritual Assembly or its policies or actions. Some believers have been publicly sanctioned for such speech during the past five years. That public criticism of the NSA does not always and inevitably lead to sanctions would only suggest that the system is arbitrary, and that the NSA punishes those it wishes to.

Just to keep things in the real world, imagine if the leadership of the Methodist church promulgated a rule that any Methodist who publicly disagrees with the Church leadership or criticizes the actions of any priest or bishop will be excommunicated immediately! This is the equivalent of what the Baha'i leadership is saying.

>I have known many Baha'is who have,
>within the structures provided in the Baha'i writings, queried decisions >of Baha'i institutions. Many of those decisions were modified.

That is, if a believer objects to an NSA decision, the only acceptable way to criticize it is to write to the secretary of the NSA that made the decision, and ask that it be reconsidered. If the NSA refuses to reconsider it, the objecting believer must accept the decision silently and never bring it up again in public.

It would be like saying that if you did not like a law your congressman passed, and wrote him objecting, and he stuck by his guns, you were forbidden from publicly criticizing the law or the congressman forevermore. I fail to see the difference between such a system and totalitarianism.

>However, when one or more believers embark on a campaign in public >forums (either by letter-writing, electronic mail, telephoning, or from >a podium) to call into question the honesty and integrity of a Baha'i >institution and its members, or indeed of another individual believer, >sanctions are possible.

It is not only calling into question the honesty or integrity of the members of a Baha'i institution that is forbidden. It is criticizing any aspect of the policies enacted by Baha'i institutions. Speaking publicly is confused with "launching a campaign." Attempting to suggest better ways of doing things on an e-mail network is lambasted as "negative campaigning."

And what if NSA or LSA members did engage in questionable practices? How could these ever be discovered or outed? What mechanisms of accountability are there?

>"Spiritual Expulsion" is certainly a defense against schismatics. It >also serves as a protection from those who would wield an axe against >the root principles of the Baha'i Faith. One set of root principles >involves the divine origin of the Baha'i administrative order, the >legitimate authority of its institutions, and the love, support and >loyalty that is due them from Baha'is. When one or more believers >repeatedly engage in challenges to the legitimacy of the structure >itself, it is a departure from the covenant, and is as disruptive and >schismatic as any conscious attempt to create a break in the unity of >the Faith.

In other words, if the Baha'i administration makes a set of decisions, Baha'is must unquestioningly acquiesce to them in public or else they will be accused of disrupting the Covenant.

Think about this in other contexts. It would be like saying that no Shi'ite Muslim had the right to disagree publicly with anything that Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, the Supreme Jurisprudent in Iran, said or did. A newspaper editorial disagreeing with one of his rulings, say, on the need to suppress the Baha'i faith, would result in the author's expulsion from Shi'ism, or perhaps in other punishments. (Actually, this is the case; do Baha'is really wish to be so much like Khomeinists?)

Or it would be like a Catholic saying that the least criticism of anything the Pope says or does is equivalent to rank heresy and the critic must be immediately expelled from the Church and damned to hell. No public discussion could occur in Catholicism of women priests, social justice, or birth control. Every Catholic would have to toe the party line exactly or be expelled. Now, there are people in Roman Catholicism who think like this--perhaps Opus Dei, e.g. However, they are generally considered right-wing wackos. That this line is becoming the official line of the Baha'i administration should help to situate it ideologically.

>We may see from a history of covenant-breaking that those >who were spiritually expelled did not necessarily start off to become >schismatics

They also started off drinking milk. I think this fact should alert us to the real danger that all Baha'is are secretly covenant breakers, since they began life drinking milk, just as did Ahmad Sohrab.

> There is a similar issue evolving now: Is it >within the authority of the Universal House of Justice to define the >scope of appropriate behavior, and to call to account those Baha'is who >refuse to understand its requests for a modification in tone, a review >of basic principles, a loyalty to legitimately-elected institutions?

The Universal House of Justice in Haifa was ordained to lead the Baha'i community by Baha'u'llah and is the ultimate legitimate authority in the religion. I say this as a historian who has studied the texts and history of the movement for a quarter of a century. The Universal House of Justice can therefore set any policy it wishes for the Baha'is, and Baha'is must obey those policies.

However, Americans, thank God, still have freedom of religion and conscience, and if we don't like those policies we are not obliged to be Baha'is. I have chosen not to be, because I believe the current Baha'i leadership, in seeking to impose blind obedience and public silence on all Baha'is and in libelling some of its devoted followers as verbal breakers of the covenant, is overstepping its scriptural mandate and has betrayed the spirit and promise of Baha'i universalism and liberal principles. It is confusing constructive criticism with treason, confusing freedom of speech with libel, confusing theological liberalism with heresy. A religion that is divided against itself cannot stand. I believe that Unitarian Universalism now best embodies the old Baha'i spirit, and that the Baha'i community has been taken over by hardline fundamentalists.

There is a difference between saying that the Universal House of Justice is the only legitimate leader of the religion and saying that Baha'i leaders always acts in accord with scriptural principles. It is not within the authority, by the explicit text of `Abdul-Baha, of Baha'i houses of justice at any level to seek to control the mere speech (as opposed to behavior) of Baha'is, about doctrinal or other issues (<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrc/cole/abconsc.htm>). Contrast the current situation in the Baha'i faith, in which all publications are censored, and in which no independent magazine, and not so much as an independent, unmoderated Baha'i email forum is permitted, to what `Abdul-Baha dreamed of:

At the Central Congregational Church in Brooklyn on 16 June 1912, `Abdul-Baha said: "Just as in the world of politics there is need for free thought, likewise in the world of religion there should be the right of unrestricted individual belief. Consider what a vast difference exists between modern democracy and the old forms of despotism. Under an autocratic government the opinions of men are not free, and development is stifled, whereas in a democracy, because thought and speech are not restricted, the greatest progress is witnessed. It is likewise true in the world of religion. When freedom of conscience, liberty of thought and right of speech prevail--that is to say, when every man according to his own

idealization may give expression to his beliefs--development and growth are inevitable."

At the Universalist Church Washington, D.C. on 6 Nov. 1912, he said:
"Praise be to God! The standard of liberty is held aloft in this land. You enjoy political liberty; you enjoy liberty of thought and speech, religious liberty, racial and personal liberty."

Some of `Abdul-Baha's appreciation of American democracy was a reaction against the royal absolutism of Qajar Iran. `Abdul-Baha had complained in 1875 that in Iran, "Not a soul could speak out, because the governor was in absolute control."

I'm afraid that with the best of intentions and with the purest of souls, my good friends among the Baha'is who have adopted the new hard line, have transformed the beautiful Garden of which `Abdul-Baha dreamed into a dingy dungeon in which consciences are coerced, innocents are falsely accused with impunity, administrative rights are revoked for constructive criticism, and shunning is threatened or imposed for academic analysis. A good analysis of all this is found in the current issue of Gnosis magazine \(Winter 1997\).

And you wonder why there are only about 25,000 active Baha'is in this country. There are some things most Americans just won't put up with.

Your Unitarian-Universalist friend,

Juan Cole
Professor
Department of History
University of Michigan

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From - Tue Feb 04 07:21:29 1997
Approved: boatright@cjnetworks.com (Rick Boatright)
From: jrcole@j.imap.itd.umich.edu (Juan R. I. Cole)
Subject: Re: (Fwd) Administrative and Spiritual Expulsion
Newsgroups: soc.religion.bahai
Message-ID: <"cUTn5C.A.6sE.06A8y"@bounty>
Distribution: world
Organization: ----
Date: Wed, 29 Jan 1997 21:15:55 -0600
Lines: 171
Path:
zeus.moa.net!news2.acs.oakland.edu!newsxfer.itd.umich.edu!newsxfer3.itd.umich.edu!su-news-hub1.bbnplanet.com!news.bbnplanet.com!cpk-news-hub1.bbnplanet.com!feed1.news.erols.com!howland.erols.net!surfnet.nl!news.unisource.nl!xs4all!newsgate.cistron.nl!news.bcca.org!not-for-mail

Bill Collins wrote:

>The implication that mere criticism of the National Spiritual Assembly
>leads to inevitably to administrative expulsion is both demonstrably >>false and missing a larger context.

What I said was that believers can have their administrative rights taken away for publicly criticizing the National Spiritual Assembly or its policies or actions. Some believers have been publicly sanctioned for such speech during the past five years. That public criticism of the NSA does not always and inevitably lead to sanctions would only suggest that the system is arbitrary, and that the NSA punishes those it wishes to.

Just to keep things in the real world, imagine if the leadership of the Methodist church promulgated a rule that any Methodist who publicly disagrees with the Church leadership or criticizes the actions of any priest or bishop will be excommunicated immediately! This is the equivalent of what the Baha'i leadership is saying.

>I have known many Baha'is who have,
>within the structures provided in the Baha'i writings, queried decisions
>of Baha'i institutions. Many of those decisions were modified.

That is, if a believer objects to an NSA decision, the only acceptable way to criticize it is to write to the secretary of the NSA that made the decision, and ask that it be reconsidered. If the NSA refuses to reconsider it, the objecting believer must accept the decision silently and never bring it up again in public.

It would be like saying that if you did not like a law your congressman passed, and wrote him objecting, and he stuck by his guns, you were forbidden from publicly criticizing the law or the congressman forevermore. I fail to see the difference between such a system and totalitarianism.

>However, when one or more believers embark on a campaign in public >forums (either by letter-writing, electronic mail, telephoning, or from >a podium) to call into question the honesty and integrity of a Baha'i >institution and its members, or indeed of another individual believer, >sanctions are possible.

It is not only calling into question the honesty or integrity of the members of a Baha'i institution that is forbidden. It is criticizing any aspect of the policies enacted by Baha'i institutions. Speaking publicly is confused with "launching a campaign." Attempting to suggest better ways of doing things on an e-mail network is lambasted as "negative campaigning."

And what if NSA or LSA members did engage in questionable practices? How could these ever be discovered or outed? What mechanisms of accountability are there?

>"Spiritual Expulsion" is certainly a defense against schismatics. It >also serves as a protection from those who would wield an axe against >the root principles of the Baha'i Faith. One set of root principles >involves the divine origin of the Baha'i administrative order, the >legitimate authority of its institutions, and the love, support and >loyalty that is due them from Baha'is. When one or more believers >repeatedly engage in challenges to the legitimacy of the structure >itself, it is a departure from the covenant, and is as disruptive and >schismatic as any conscious attempt to create a break in the unity of >the Faith.

In other words, if the Baha'i administration makes a set of decisions, Baha'is must unquestioningly acquiesce to them in public or else they will be accused of disrupting the Covenant.

Think about this in other contexts. It would be like saying that no Shi'ite Muslim had the right to disagree publicly with anything that Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, the Supreme Jurisprudent in Iran, said or did. A newspaper editorial disagreeing with one of his rulings, say, on the need to suppress the Baha'i faith, would result in the author's expulsion from Shi'ism, or perhaps in other punishments. (Actually, this is the case; do Baha'is really wish to be so much like Khomeinists?)

Or it would be like a Catholic saying that the least criticism of anything the Pope says or does is equivalent to rank heresy and the critic must be immediately expelled from the Church and damned to hell. No public discussion could occur in Catholicism of women priests, social justice, or birth control. Every Catholic would have to toe the party line exactly or be expelled. Now, there are people in Roman Catholicism who think like this--perhaps Opus Dei, e.g. However, they are generally considered right-wing wackos. That this line is becoming the official line of the Baha'i administration should help to situate it ideologically.

>We may see from a history of covenant-breaking that those >who were spiritually expelled did not necessarily start off to become >schismatics

They also started off drinking milk. I think this fact should alert us to the real danger that all Baha'is are secretly covenant breakers, since they began life drinking milk, just as did Ahmad Sohrab.

> There is a similar issue evolving now: Is it >within the authority of the Universal House of Justice to define the >scope of appropriate behavior, and to call to account those Baha'is who >refuse to understand its requests for a modification in tone, a review >of basic principles, a loyalty to legitimately-elected institutions?

The Universal House of Justice in Haifa was ordained to lead the Baha'i community by Baha'u'llah and is the ultimate legitimate authority in the religion. I say this as a historian who has studied the texts and history of the movement for a quarter of a century. The Universal House of Justice can therefore set any policy it wishes for the Baha'is, and Baha'is must obey those policies.

However, Americans, thank God, still have freedom of religion and conscience, and if we don't like those policies we are not obliged to be Baha'is. I have chosen not to be, because I believe the current Baha'i leadership, in seeking to impose blind obedience and public silence on all Baha'is and in libelling some of its devoted followers as verbal breakers of the covenant, is overstepping its scriptural mandate and has betrayed the spirit and promise of Baha'i universalism and liberal principles. It is confusing constructive criticism with treason, confusing freedom of speech with libel, confusing theological liberalism with heresy. A religion that is divided against itself cannot stand. I believe that Unitarian Universalism now best embodies the old Baha'i spirit, and that the Baha'i community has been taken over by hardline fundamentalists.

There is a difference between saying that the Universal House of Justice is the only legitimate leader of the religion and saying that Baha'i leaders always acts in accord with scriptural principles. It is not within the authority, by the explicit text of `Abdul-Baha, of Baha'i houses of justice at any level to seek to control the mere speech (as opposed to behavior) of Baha'is, about doctrinal or other issues (<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrc/cole/abconsc.htm>). Contrast the current situation in the Baha'i faith, in which all publications are censored, and in which no independent magazine, and not so much as an independent, unmoderated Baha'i email forum is permitted, to what `Abdul-Baha dreamed of:

At the Central Congregational Church in Brooklyn on 16 June 1912, `Abdul-Baha said: "Just as in the world of politics there is need for free thought, likewise in the world of religion there should be the right of unrestricted individual belief. Consider what a vast difference exists between modern democracy and the old forms of despotism. Under an autocratic government the opinions of men are not free, and development is stifled, whereas in a democracy, because thought and speech are not restricted, the greatest progress is witnessed. It is likewise true in the world of religion. When freedom of conscience, liberty of thought and right of speech prevail--that is to say, when every man according to his own

idealization may give expression to his beliefs--development and growth are inevitable."

At the Universalist Church Washington, D.C. on 6 Nov. 1912, he said:
"Praise be to God! The standard of liberty is held aloft in this land. You enjoy political liberty; you enjoy liberty of thought and speech, religious liberty, racial and personal liberty."

Some of `Abdul-Baha's appreciation of American democracy was a reaction against the royal absolutism of Qajar Iran. `Abdul-Baha had complained in 1875 that in Iran, "Not a soul could speak out, because the governor was in absolute control."

I'm afraid that with the best of intentions and with the purest of souls, my good friends among the Baha'is who have adopted the new hard line, have transformed the beautiful Garden of which `Abdul-Baha dreamed into a dingy dungeon in which consciences are coerced, innocents are falsely accused with impunity, administrative rights are revoked for constructive criticism, and shunning is threatened or imposed for academic analysis. A good analysis of all this is found in the current issue of Gnosis magazine (Winter 1997).

And you wonder why there are only about 25,000 active Baha'is in this country. There are some things most Americans just won't put up with.

Your Unitarian-Universalist friend,

Juan Cole
Professor
Department of History
University of Michigan

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From - Fri Jan 31 06:43:12 1997

Approved: boatright@cjnetworks.com (Rick Boatright)

From: jrcole@j.imap.itd.umich.edu (Juan R. I. Cole)

Subject: Re: (Fwd) Administrative and Spiritual Expulsion

Newsgroups: soc.religion.bahai

Message-ID: <"cUTn5C.A.6sE.06A8y"@bounty>

Distribution: world

Organization: ----

Date: Wed, 29 Jan 1997 21:15:55 -0600

Lines: 171

Path:

zeus.moa.net!news2.acs.oakland.edu!newsxfer.itd.umich.edu!newsxfer3.itd.umich.edu!su-newshub1.bbnplanet.com!news.bbnplanet.com!cpk-news-hub1.bbnplanet.com!feed1.news.erols.com!

howland.erols.net!surfnet.nl!news.unisource.nl!xs4all!newsgate.cistron.nl!news.bcca.org!not-for-mail

Bill Collins wrote:

>The implication that mere criticism of the National Spiritual Assembly
>leads to inevitably to administrative expulsion is both demonstrably >>false and missing a larger context.

What I said was that believers can have their administrative rights taken away for publicly criticizing the National Spiritual Assembly or its policies or actions. Some believers have been publicly sanctioned for such speech during the past five years. That public criticism of the NSA does not always and inevitably lead to sanctions would only suggest that the system is arbitrary, and that the NSA punishes those it wishes to.

Just to keep things in the real world, imagine if the leadership of the Methodist church promulgated a rule that any Methodist who publicly disagrees with the Church leadership or criticizes the actions of any priest or bishop will be excommunicated immediately! This is the equivalent of what the Baha'i leadership is saying.

>I have known many Baha'is who have,
>within the structures provided in the Baha'i writings, queried decisions
>of Baha'i institutions. Many of those decisions were modified.

That is, if a believer objects to an NSA decision, the only acceptable way to criticize it is to write to the secretary of the NSA that made the decision, and ask that it be reconsidered. If the NSA refuses to reconsider it, the objecting believer must accept the decision silently and never bring it up again in public.

It would be like saying that if you did not like a law your congressman passed, and wrote him objecting, and he stuck by his guns, you were forbidden from publicly criticizing the law or the congressman forevermore. I fail to see the difference between such a system and totalitarianism.

>However, when one or more believers embark on a campaign in public >forums (either by letter-writing, electronic mail, telephoning, or from >a podium) to call into question the honesty and integrity of a Baha'i >institution and its members, or indeed of another individual believer, >sanctions are possible.

It is not only calling into question the honesty or integrity of the members of a Baha'i institution that is forbidden. It is criticizing any aspect of the policies enacted by Baha'i institutions. Speaking publicly is confused with "launching a campaign." Attempting to suggest better ways of doing things on an e-mail network is lambasted as "negative campaigning."

And what if NSA or LSA members did engage in questionable practices? How could these ever be discovered or outed? What mechanisms of accountability are there?

>"Spiritual Expulsion" is certainly a defense against schismatics. It >also serves as a protection from those who would wield an axe against >the root principles of the Baha'i Faith. One set of root principles >involves the divine origin of the Baha'i administrative order, the >legitimate authority of its institutions, and the love, support and >loyalty that is due them from Baha'is. When one or more believers >repeatedly engage in challenges to the legitimacy of the structure >itself, it is a departure from the covenant, and is as disruptive and >schismatic as any conscious attempt to create a break in the unity of >the Faith.

In other words, if the Baha'i administration makes a set of decisions, Baha'is must unquestioningly acquiesce to them in public or else they will be accused of disrupting the Covenant.

Think about this in other contexts. It would be like saying that no Shi'ite Muslim had the right to disagree publicly with anything that Ayotollah Ali Khamenei, the Supreme Jurisprudent in Iran, said or did. A newspaper editorial disagreeing with one of his rulings, say, on the need to suppress the Baha'i faith, would result in the author's expulsion from Shi'ism, or perhaps in other punishments. (Actually, this is the case; do Baha'is really wish to be so much like Khomeinists?)

Or it would be like a Catholic saying that the least criticism of anything the Pope says or does is equivalent to rank heresy and the critic must be immediately expelled from the Church and damned to hell. No public discussion could occur in Catholicism of women priests, social justice, or birth control. Every Catholic would have to toe the party line exactly or be expelled. Now, there are people in Roman Catholicism who think like this--perhaps Opus Dei, e.g. However, they are generally considered right-wing wackos. That this line is becoming the official line of the Baha'i administration should help to situate it ideologically.

>We may see from a history of covenant-breaking that those >who were spiritually expelled did not necessarily start off to become >schismatics

They also started off drinking milk. I think this fact should alert us to the real danger that all Baha'is are secretly covenant breakers, since they began life drinking milk, just as did Ahmad Sohrab.

> There is a similar issue evolving now: Is it >within the authority of the Universal House of Justice to define the >scope of appropriate behavior, and to call to account those Baha'is who >refuse to understand its requests for a modification in tone, a review >of basic principles, a loyalty to legitimately-elected institutions?

The Universal House of Justice in Haifa was ordained to lead the Baha'i community by Baha'u'llah and is the ultimate legitimate authority in the religion. I say this as a historian who has studied the texts and history of the movement for a quarter of a century. The Universal House of Justice can therefore set any policy it wishes for the Baha'is, and Baha'is must obey those policies.

However, Americans, thank God, still have freedom of religion and conscience, and if we don't like those policies we are not obliged to be Baha'is. I have chosen not to be, because I believe the current Baha'i leadership, in seeking to impose blind obedience and public silence on all Baha'is and in libelling some of its devoted followers as verbal breakers of the covenant, is overstepping its scriptural mandate and has betrayed the spirit and promise of Baha'i universalism and liberal principles. It is confusing constructive criticism with treason, confusing freedom of speech with libel, confusing theological liberalism with heresy. A religion that is divided against itself cannot stand. I believe that Unitarian Universalism now best embodies the old Baha'i spirit, and that the Baha'i community has been taken over by hardline fundamentalists.

There is a difference between saying that the Universal House of Justice is the only legitimate leader of the religion and saying that Baha'i leaders always acts in accord with scriptural principles. It is not within the authority, by the explicit text of `Abdul-Baha, of Baha'i houses of justice at any level to seek to control the mere speech (as opposed to behavior) of Baha'is, about doctrinal or other issues (<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/abconsc.htm>). Contrast the current situation in the Baha'i faith, in which all publications are censored, and in which no independent magazine, and not so much as an independent, unmoderated Baha'i email forum is permitted, to what `Abdul-Baha dreamed of:

At the Central Congregational Church in Brooklyn on 16 June 1912, `Abdul-Baha said: "Just as in the world of politics there is need for free thought, likewise in the world of religion there should be the right of unrestricted individual belief. Consider what a vast difference exists between modern democracy and the old forms of despotism. Under an autocratic government the opinions of men are not free, and development is stifled, whereas in a democracy, because thought and speech are not restricted, the greatest progress is witnessed. It is likewise true in the world of religion. When freedom of conscience, liberty of thought and right of speech prevail--that is to say, when every man according to his own idealization may give expression to his beliefs--development and growth are inevitable."

At the Universalist Church Washington, D.C. on 6 Nov. 1912, he said: "Praise be to God! The standard of liberty is held aloft in this land. You enjoy political liberty; you enjoy liberty of thought and speech, religious liberty, racial and personal liberty."

Some of `Abdul-Baha's appreciation of American democracy was a reaction against the royal absolutism of Qajar Iran. `Abdul-Baha had complained in 1875 that in Iran, "Not a soul could speak out, because the governor was in absolute control."

I'm afraid that with the best of intentions and with the purest of souls, my good friends among the Baha'is who have adopted the new hard line, have transformed the beautiful Garden of which `Abdul-Baha dreamed into a dingy dungeon in which consciences are coerced, innocents are falsely accused with impunity, administrative rights are revoked for constructive criticism, and shunning is threatened or imposed for academic analysis. A good analysis of all this is found in the current issue of Gnosis magazine (Winter 1997).

And you wonder why there are only about 25,000 active Baha'is in this country. There are some things most Americans just won't put up with.

Your Unitarian-Universalist friend,

Juan Cole
Professor
Department of History
University of Michigan

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Alison Marshall

"I think the documentation illustrates how the Baha'i administration secretly watches, reports on and records the activities and views of members it sees as a threat. This spying can go on for years without the member knowing and despite general assurances to the contrary. When it suits the administration to act, it can summarily disenrol the person at any time and without any notice. In such circumstances, 'counselling' will comprise any communication that member has had with the institutions, whatever its nature, purpose and timing. This action will be accompanied by a backbiting campaign designed to destroy the member's reputation in the community."

"I think members of the Baha'i community, and those contemplating joining it, have a right to know how the Baha'i administration behaves." [2002]

Further documentation on her experience of fundamentalist bahai tyranny may be read at

<https://home.clear.net.nz/pages/alisonz/news.html>

See especially How "Review" acts as Censorship 3/28/2000 Alison Marshall re Bahai World

Steve Marshall's comments 4/2/00

From: Alison Marshall <alisonz@c...>

Date: Wed Mar 29, 2000 3:48pm

Subject: removal from membership

Well, my dear friends, I write to tell you that the House has asked my National Assembly to remove my name from the New Zealand Baha'i community membership list. As you will see from the letter below, they have decided that over the last 2-3 years my statements, behaviour and attitude have not met the requirements of membership. I can only conclude that the decision is based largely on my Talisman messages, for that is the only place I have lived over that time.

I want to make it clear that I am not upset about this decision at all. In 1998 I had a dream about my mystical death and described it on Talisman. Since then, it was in the back of my mind that I was preparing for this day. And now that it has come, I feel deeply honoured. The reality is that I am a nobody; what do I have to give that is worthy of my beloved? A registration card? If I had a thousand cards, I would gladly give them up. But Baha'u'llah has accepted this small token for my sake and I am overwhelmed by his kindness. Surely, the House has acted as God has instructed it to, and I thank them for playing their part that I might be so blessed.

Alison

**-----
NATIONAL SPIRITUAL ASSEMBLY OF THE BAHA'IS OF NEW ZEALAND

EMAIL MESSAGE (CONFIRMATORY COPY TO FOLLOW)

28 March 2000 Our Ref: 2/10/156

Dear Mrs Marshall,

The Universal House of Justice has advised us of its conclusion that, on the basis of an established pattern of statements by you and behaviour and attitude on your part over the past two or three years, you cannot properly be considered as meeting the requirements of membership in the Baha'i community. Accordingly, we have removed your name from our membership rolls and have informed the Baha'i institutions concerned.

Sincerely
NATIONAL SPIRITUAL ASSEMBLY OF THE BAHA'IS OF NEW ZEALAND

From: Steve Marshall (asmارش@es.co.nz)
Subject: Alison Marshall's account of her legal battle
This is the only article in this thread
View: Original Format
Newsgroups: talk.religion.bahai
Date: 2003-10-03 20:27:22 PST

Here's Alison's account

ka kite
Steve

March 29, 2000, was the day I received notification that I had been summarily disenrolled from the Baha'i community. This is the third anniversary of that day and I am now in a position to show the world Baha'i community what happened and why. A couple of weeks ago, the NSA was successful in having my case for judicial review struck out. This means that the court hearing I was originally after will not take place. It also means that the evidence is no longer sub judice and it is possible for me to tell the story from my point of view.

I have put the judgement up on my web site. You'll see that it is full of legal jargon and argument, so I'll try to explain the guts of it here. In essence, I was trying to get the court to "review" the decision of the NSA, to determine whether it was legal under New Zealand law. Before the court can do that, it has to determine whether the decision is one the court can review. The court decided that it could not review the decision to disenrol me because it was made by the UHJ not the NSA - and, of course, the UHJ isn't a party to the case, given that it is located in Israel. The judge's interpretation of the NSA/UHJ constitutions was that the NSA must do as it's told by the UHJ. The flip side of this, however, is that if a decision is made by the NSA, it would be reviewable by the court.

The NSA tried to argue that all its decisions are spiritual in nature and therefore not reviewable. The judge did not accept this. He held that if an NSA decision affects a person's rights, eg to do with money, property or even voting (such as in my case), then the decision is reviewable. But he did accept that decisions about purely ecclesiastical matters would not be reviewable. The judge also rejected NSA's argument that, because membership in the community is voluntary, NSA decisions would not be reviewable. In other words, although Baha'i community membership is voluntary, NSA still has a recognised legal duty to act in accordance with members' rights.

The judge also rejected my request for it to review the NSA decision because it thought I should have asked the NSA/UHJ to reconsider the decision first, before bringing the matter before the court. The judge argued that the constitution gave me the right to have the decision reviewed/appealed. The trouble with that argument is that the constitution only gives right of review/appeal from decisions of the NSA, not the UHJ. Review/appeal is from NSA to UHJ. Under the constitution, there is no remedy if the UHJ makes the original decision.

As the judge notes, he gave me the opportunity to have the NSA/UHJ reconsider the decision, but I did not take him up on that. I was never interested in being reinstated or having the decision reversed. What I wanted was to prove that I was never counselled and that the NSA had grossly misled the New Zealand Baha'i community in asserting that I had. If the court had seen fit to review the NSA decision, then it would have looked closely at the issue of whether I was counselled. This is what I was hoping to achieve. In the event, however, the judge did not think that proving I was treated unjustly was a good reason to be seeking a remedy from the court. At this point, I think the judge lost a grip on what courts are for.

But it's OK. Getting the courts to look at the issue of whether I was counselled was always the icing on the cake. I can show what happened anyway, and that is the next step. I have written a "Chronology of events" and put it up on my web site. It begins in late 1996, because the disenrollment was the culmination of a lot of little, separate events that took place over several years. The chronology is 20 pages long. This isn't because I have included a lot of detail, but because I have provided documentary evidence of what happened. Most of the evidence comes from personal correspondence between me and Steve (as individuals, not as a couple) on the one hand, and various administrative bodies on the other. Evidence also comes from NSA minutes and NSA correspondence with the UHJ. At relevant points, I have noted where NSA relies on an event as constituting part of my 'counselling'. It is easy, therefore, to get a clear idea of what exactly my 'counselling' amounted to.

The chronology reveals that the NSA minutes began including 'Alison and Steve reports' as far back as December 1998. We never knew that NSA was keeping an eye on us and recording our activities. In September 1999, the NSA became seriously concerned about us after a meeting was held in our local community about the April 7 letter. At that meeting, several local Baha'is expressed concern about the letter. This meeting caused the NSA a great deal of consternation. After this, the NSA met to discuss the 'Alison and Steve problem' and sent a report to the UHJ about us. This included four pages detailing things we'd done and said since 1996. The NSA was particularly concerned about Steve, who was much more outspoken locally than I was.

The minutes give an indication of how the NSA viewed us and our activities. The UHJ responded to the report by asking NSA to do two things: hold another community meeting and have an NSA member meet with us. As it turned out, the community meeting was held, but NSA had not even arranged to meet with us before the UHJ instructed the NSA to disenroll me.

In the minutes from the NSA meeting held to discuss how it would inform me of my disenrollment, the following is recorded: "A question was raised about the fact that the National Spiritual Assembly had not yet implemented the instruction of the House of Justice to visit the Marshalls, and that the House of Justice must have received information from other sources." After the disenrollment, the NSA wrote to six local assemblies stating that: "Efforts have been made to clear up her misunderstandings, but these have been unsuccessful, hence the Supreme Body's decision".

When I saw that the NSA had told six local assemblies that I had been counselled, giving the impression that I had at the very least been contacted about the administration's concerns, I asked the NSA to correct this statement. The NSA refused to do this. Even though I took the matter before the Privacy Commissioner, still the NSA steadfastly refused to accept that the statement was factually incorrect or at least highly misleading. Instead, in a letter to me dated 15 August 2000, the NSA argued that the word "efforts": "does not indicate that all such efforts necessarily involved direct approaches to you by representatives of the institutions on the specific matters in question." This letter ends with a list of the "efforts" the NSA claimed it had made. These are noted on the chronology. You will see that some of these 'efforts' were made years before there was ever any thought that I be disenrolled. The NSA has simply reinterpreted all interactions I have ever had with the institutions as constituting 'counselling'.

In its submission to the court, the NSA outlined what it argues is acceptable procedure when disenrolling a member. It seems to believe that there is no contradiction between this approach and Baha'i principle:

"9.3 In terms of decision-making required when Baha'i membership is at issue or when infringements of Baha'i law are of concern to the institutions, decisions are made based on Baha'i principles. The Baha'i administration is non-adversarial in nature and works in subtle ways. There can be no comparison with the terminology used in legal proceedings in the community at large. For example, Baha'i institutions do not lay any 'charge' against an individual believer, and there is no necessity for giving 'direct notice' to the individual. Similarly, the concept of a 'case to be heard' is foreign to the Baha'i administration. It is at the discretion of the Baha'i administrative body to act as it sees fit in full accordance with the Baha'i principles. ...

9.4 Attempts by a National Spiritual Assembly to correct misunderstandings about the Faith by individual believers can be achieved in a variety of ways. The NSA does not employ the practice of formally approaching an individual before making a decision in every instance. There are many occasions when the deficiencies in understanding of individuals are addressed in a general, all-embracing way with the whole community (for instance, the presentation of community classes dealing with particular issues) rather than singling out individuals for specific attention".

I cannot see any adherence to principle in this testimony. The only 'principle' stated here is that the Baha'i administration reserves the right to treat people exactly as it pleases and refuses to allow any checks on its powers. However, I think the evidence shows that the National Spiritual Assembly was initially concerned that I had not been contacted, but later took the position that this did not matter.

I think the documentation illustrates how the Baha'i administration secretly watches, reports on and records the activities and views of members it sees as a threat. This spying can go on for years without the member knowing and despite general assurances to the contrary. When it suits the administration to act, it can summarily disenrol the person at any time and without any notice. In such circumstances, 'counselling' will comprise any communication that member has had with the institutions, whatever its nature, purpose and timing. This action will be accompanied by a backbiting campaign designed to destroy the member's reputation in the community.

I think members of the Baha'i community, and those contemplating joining it, have a right to know how the Baha'i administration behaves.

Link to judgement:

<https://home.clear.net.nz/pages/alisonz/strike.htm>

Link to chronology:

<https://home.clear.net.nz/pages/alisonz/Chron.htm>

Alison

Rod regarding Alison Marshall incident

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

See too further Marshall discussion

From: "Steve Marshall" <asmarsh@es.co.nz>
Subject: Re: Universal Declaration of Human Rights & Marshall Case
Date: Sunday, April 02, 2000 8:11 AM

>I know nothing of the situation regarding Ms Marshall beyond what has been >reported here (and it would be typical of the Faith if no mention of this >incident is ever reported in official Baha'i media) but on what has been >reported here, if it is accurate, Ms Marshall's rights seem to have been >ignored.

I can vouch for Alison's story. The terse letter from her national spiritual assembly, informing her of the Universal House of Justice's charges and decision, came out of the blue. I think the letter was terse because her national assembly was simply passing on a message. It seems to have had no other part in the process.

The message talked about "an established pattern of statements by [her] and behaviour and attitude on [her] part over the past two or three years". Yet no Baha'i administrative body so much as hinted to Alison that it had any concerns, right up until the email was received.

There was no consultation and no warning - just an arbitrary decision from the House terminating 20 years of membership. I think the lack of due process was shameful.

This new practice of removal from Baha'i membership is, not surprisingly, undocumented. There's plenty of information on deprivation of membership rights, withdrawal from membership and expulsion for covenant-breaking, but none on removal of Baha'i membership. When Michael McKenny had his membership removed a few years ago I asked for documentation on the practice and was told there wasn't any because it happened very infrequently and each situation generally turned on its own facts.

ka kite
Steve

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Question? Ask me at AllExperts.com

Past Questions Answered & below

CONTACT ME HERE >>WITH BAHAI QUESTIONS >>> https://en.allexperts.com/q/Bah-2728/indexExp_113873.htm

11/09/09

Category: Bahá'í

Private: No

Subject: Why do Bahais ignore questions?

Question: I've noticed somthin on this site and the net about some Baha'i sects. can you answer it? why do they ignore questions? or hide from them? like this one

<https://en.allexperts.com/q/Bah-2728/2008/7/policies-Baha-administration.htm>

The guy was just asking a simple question. What do you Bahas have to hide?

Answer:

Reform Bahai Faith

You're asking a very good question, one that has often been noted by many people in various Bahai forums. The example you refer to, from here on AllExperts.com, is a case in point.

The views of the people that David mentions, Juan Cole, myself, Karen Bacquet, "and the many others" may easily be read by anyone interested at

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship>

I agree with David that what these people have written, leaving others to decide regarding myself, is "legitimate."

Here's an excerpt from Professor Juan Cole's book "Modernity and the Millennium: The Genesis of the Baha'i Faith in the Nineteenth-Century Middle East," Columbia University Press, 1998, in which, Professor Juan Cole observes that the Baha'i administration has increasingly come under the control of fundamentalists, "stressing scriptural literalism . . . theocracy, censorship, intellectual intolerance, and denying key democratic values" (196).

Here's an extract from Karen Bacquet's article "Enemies Within: Conflict and Control in the Baha'i Community": "The Baha'i Faith, best-known for its liberal social teachings and tolerance towards other religions, has an authoritarian governing structure that has caused a high level of disillusionment among adherents. Because of the religion's stress on unity, there is considerable insecurity about the expression of dissent and a fear of internal enemies. Conformity is enforced by sanctions, excommunication, and shunning, and information is controlled through a system of censorship."

<https://www.angelfire.com/ca3/bigquestions/enemies.html>

Again, similar views from "many others" may be read at

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship>

My concern with Suzanne Gerstner's response to David and her posting a link to the fundamentalist UHJ's letter to Susan Maneck is that it seeks to minimize what is really involved: fanaticism that has no respect for religious freedom and liberty, including freedom of conscience, and uses the most reprehensible tactics towards anyone who does not accept its narrowly conceived doctrines of who is a Bahai.

Finally, presenting Susan Maneck as a reliable academic is utterly ridiculous to anyone who actually knows what her record is and has been. Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, has written of her, "...she has behaved toward me in an academic setting with dishonesty and deceit in such a way as deprives her of the right to debate me publicly. She spied on me and lied about it." Prof. Juan Cole: <https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Cole20.htm>

I suggest to readers of AllExperts.com that Susan Maneck is not a reliable source for anything and has a very long history on the Internet of being a fundamentalist apologist for the worst fanatical elements among the theocratic Haifan and Wilmette Bahais. Extensive comments to that effect, from many, many people, Bahai and otherwise, for more than a decade, may be read at Susan Maneck, Baha'i scholar:

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Maneck8.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Maneck1.htm>

Finally, to answer your question directly, Why do they hide from or ignore questions? As a member of the Reform Bahai Faith, I would have to say it is ultimately because they are afraid of Abdul-Baha's teaching that "The conscience of man is sacred and to be respected."

Also, depending to what degree you've studied the Bahai writings, the theocratic Bahai denominations, of which there are several, all believe that after Abdul-Bahai's death in 1921, what purports to be his will and testament appointed his grandson Shoghi Effendi as a "guardian" to interpret and run the Bahai Faith. That document was judged fraudulent in 1930 by Dr. C. Ainsworth Mitchell of the British Museum in London, its chief document expert and one of the most respect forensic researchers of the 20th century. Much of the fanaticism that the theocratic Bahais demonstrate is focussed on defending that fraudulent document and the corrupt, power-hungry organization it and Shoghi Effendi created.

The Reform Bahai Faith follows Abdul-Baha's 1912 Covenant, which he delivered publicly, and which emphasizes the universal Covenant of God with man, since Abraham, not to leave mankind unguided, and teaches a moderate spiritual democracy, not a theocracy.

Hope this helps to answer your question.

Bahai regards,

FG

Reform Bahai Faith

<https://reformbahai.org>

12/17/09

Category: Bahá'í

Private: No

Subject: Baha and Islam

Question: Dear Frederick,

Hello. Although I come from an atheist upbringing, i practice as a non-enrolled (by choice) Baha'i. However, I am also deeply attracted to Muslim ritual, and specifically to the teachings of sufis such as Mowlana Jalaluddin Rumi.

As someone who understands both faiths, do you see a contradiction between identifying as both a Muslim and a (non-enrolled) Baha'i? Are you aware of other 'cases' such as myself? Is it theologically sound, in your opinion, to regard Baha'i law as appropriate for today's era, yet still observe Muslim ritual and law, as personal 'supererogatory' preference?

I realize this is likely an odd question, which can't easily be answered in any objective sense. Just curious as to the opinion of a scholar such as yourself.

Thanks for any insight,
Jordan

Answer: Dear Jordan,

Thank you for your question. It's goes to the heart of what religious faith ought to be about. And for me, it's a most timely question.

I just finished rereading yesterday Attar's The Conference of the Birds and Baha'u'llah's The Seven Valleys and the Four Valleys. A few weeks ago I had also reread Rumi's poems of Shamsi Tabriz and large portions of his other work, along with a number of books on Sufism.

As Rumi wrote,

I am neither Christian, nor Jew, nor Gabr, nor Moslem.
I am not of the East, nor of the West, nor of the land,
nor of the sea....
My place is the Placeless, my trace is the Traceless.

In negative terms, Rumi wrote,

Cross and Christians, from end to end,
I surveyed; He was not on the Cross.
I went to the idol-temple, to the ancient pagoda;
No trace was visible there....

I bent the reins of search to the Kaa'ba;
He was not in that resort of old and young....
I gazed into my own heart;
There I saw Him; He was nowhere else....

Such universality is beyond religious organizations, whether Christian, Jewish, or Muslim, whatever. It's about the experience of the Divine Oneness that all the great prophets have taught is the essence of life. Baha'u'llah's Teachings are similarly universal and spiritual in scope and purpose, drawing from and building on this same tradition, quoting Rumi, Sana'i, Attar, Hafez, and other Sufi poets and masters, while rejecting the extremes of Sufism, more "sober," as Sufis themselves put it.

Along such lines, one might say, and I'm sure you'll understand what I mean, What is Baha'i? What is Islam? If either organization encumbers you, spit it out, before you die of the poison!

Much of your question is predicated on your acceptance of something called "Baha'i law." Underlying your reference to "non-enrolled Baha'i" is the assumption that there is such a thing as an "enrolled Bahai." In Sufi terms, if you will, Abdul-Baha's Interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Teachings was quite clear: "People think religion is confined in an edifice, to be worshiped at an altar. In reality it is an attitude toward divinity which is reflected through life."

Further, Abdul-Baha's authentic Covenant of 1912, not the fraudulent one passed off on Bahais in 1921, is first and foremost grounded in God's Eternal Covenant and universal in scope. There is a tendency in all the Bahai denominations to read, understand, and limit Baha'u'llah's Dispensation to just a slightly dusted-off Islam, Islam renewed, same thing just a few cosmetic changes, instead of the universality that he taught and Abdul-Baha emphasized in his many public talks in the West.

It is always easier for the soul to go backwards, remain with the comfortable, look to the past, have someone else tell it what to think and believe, but I don't think that's what the eternal call of God is about. As Abdul-Baha Interpreted it for our Day and time, it is about the individual seeker striving within his or her own spiritual search for the Divine Essence, in a balanced, modern life, in community, local, global and universal. The coercive, oppressive, manipulated forms were put aside, specifically by Baha'u'llah and Abdul-Baha.

The challenge for Bahais of all persuasions is not to repeat the organizational corruptions and patterns of religion in the past, but to believe and trust Abdul-Baha when he repeatedly said,

"The Bahai Movement is not an organization. You cannot organize the Bahai Movement. The Bahai Movement is the spirit of the age. It is the essence of all the highest ideals of this century. The Bahai Cause is an inclusive movement. The teachings of all religions and societies are found here. Christians, Jews, Buddhists, Mohammadans...find their highest aims in this Cause."

It is a new Spirit. It is a new Form. Many will think it's formless, especially those who want to use it for their own acquisition of power, control, and wealth. But then that is merely to indicate once more that that is the story of all the great religious teachings of history.

Only you, Jordan, can decide this question for yourself. I hope this helps you a little. I can only share with you my view.

Bahai regards,

FG

Abdul-Baha's 1912 Authentic Covenant

www.reformbahai.org/Covenant.html

Comments on Abdul-Baha's 1912 Authentic Covenant

https://www.reformbahai.org/Covenant_comments.html

Reform Bahai Faith

Rochester, Michigan USA

www.ReformBahai.org

Subject: 2/2/2010 - Are Baha'is any different?

Question: Why do Baha'is claim to be different from passed religions but aren't? I mean, what happened to all religions having the truth? Now it seems only Baha'is have it. No better

Manuel

Answer: Dear Manuel,

You're asking a very good question. Abdul-Baha was very clear about the universality and inclusiveness of the Baha'u'llah's faith:

"The Bahai Cause is an inclusive movement. The teachings of all religions and societies are found here. Christians, Jews, Buddhists, Mohammadans, Zoroastrians, Theosophists, Freemasons, Spiritualists, etc., find their highest aims in this Cause."

Yet, as you suggest, the exclusive impulse has taken over. Some Baha'i denominations do believe they alone of the one and only true interpretation, which leads them to regard other Baha'is and non-Bahais, as "covenant breakers," heretics.

Reform Bahais do not believe such an interpretation of exclusivity is in harmony with the actual public teachings of Abdul-Baha. All of the Bahai books and publications up to his death in 1921 clearly show Abdul-Baha was teaching, to any one who would listen, an open, loving, inclusive message for the modern age.

So, it is important to distinguish which denomination one is referring to when speaking about these matters. Like Christianity, Buddhism, Islam, and any other religion, there are various interpretations too in the Bahai Movement. Reform Bahais very much share your views in this regard.

For more details, see About the Reform Bahai Faith
<https://www.reformbahai.org/about.html>

Hope this helps.

Bahai regards,

FG

95 Theses - On Bahai Liberty - Articles - Abdu'l-Baha's Covenant
The Reform Bahai Faith
ReformBahai.org

June 7, 2010

Subject: Abdu'l-Baha's Covenant

Question: If Abdu'l-Baha's covenant address in 1912 was the real deal, why had it been suppressed? Why'd God let that happen?

Answer: Thanks for your question.

Unfortunately, religious history is replete with examples of similar things happening. The "Donation of Constantine" was one of the most flagrant instances of a falsified document being used to acquire worldly control over Christians. Similarly, there are many denominations of Buddhism and interpretations of Islam. So, one shouldn't be surprised that analogous things have happened in the Bahai Faith. It was suppressed, as such instances like this always are, because some of the followers of the religion wanted to obtain power and control, creating oppressive institutions and organizations, thinking of themselves, instead of the teachings and guidance of the manifestation.

What is important is that Abdul-Baha's Authentic Covenant of 1912 was delivered publicly in New York, the City of the Covenant, which is why New York came to be known as the City of the Covenant among early Bahais. As Baha'u'llah's appointed Center of his own Covenant, Abdul-Baha authoritatively brought his father's Teachings into the modern, Western world, giving them an Interpretation that was widely known by early Bahais and recorded in such extant publications as the Star of the West.

It's difficult to know or understand why God permits such things to happen. Why give humanity a revelation of His Will and then allow it to be seemingly subverted? I believe the answer in many religions has been that it is a test of the believers, whether they follow the light, or the lamp, what pretends to be a lamp, but in reality is an individual's or a group's smoke screen. Those who love the light, not the lamp, find it incumbent upon them to prove it. Such seems to be the pattern of religious history.

Of course, we human beings never really know, nor can pretend to know, why such things happen. I must admit the preceeding is merely my speculation.

Let's hope and trust that the Bahai Light is not yet put out, but merely beginning to rally from its occultation.

Reform Bahai Faith
<https://reformbahai.org>

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Also see US District Court of Northern Illinois rules against Haifan Baha'is - April 23, 2008
Amici curiae, Reform Bahai Faith
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/USDistrictCourt07.htm>

New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001 Deborah Buchhorn
New Mexico LAWSUIT - Response to Motion to Dismiss 5/2001
Yorgos D. Marinakis, Attorney
New Mexico LAWSUIT - Attorney's Statement 5/26/2001
Yorgos D. Marinakis, Attorney
New Mexico LAWSUIT - Amicus Curiae 7/13/2001 FG

See my comments at New Mexico Lawsuit Annotated

FEDEXed to the Second Judicial District County of Bernalillo, State of New Mexico:

July 13, 2001

Re: Second Judicial District County of Bernalillo, State of New Mexico, Deborah Buchhorn, for Herself and for Minority Members of the Spiritual Assembly of the Bahais of Albuquerque, New Mexico, Plaintiffs, Vs. No. Cv 2001-01978 Trustees of the Spiritual Assembly of the Bahais of Albuquerque, New Mexico, and The Spiritual Assembly of the Bahais of Albuquerque, New Mexico, a Non-profit Corporation, and the National Spiritual Assembly of the Bahais of the United States, an Illinois Corporation, Defendants.

I

I request the Court to consider my testimony as amicus curiae on July 18, 2001, in the Motion to Dismiss Deborah Buchhorn's

lawsuit against the Bahai Local Spiritual Assembly of Albuquerque and the National Spiritual Assembly of the United States.

I converted to the Bahai Faith in 1976 and have never withdrawn from it nor been notified otherwise by the Bahai administration.

II

I, like many Bahais, was and am attracted to the teachings of Baha'u'llah and Abdul-Baha by the progressive and liberal tenor of their writings.

Relevant to Deborah Buchhorn's lawsuit are the almost numberless passages that are well represented by two brief quotations:

These are effectual and sufficient proofs that the conscience of man is sacred and to be respected; and that liberty thereof produces widening of ideas, amendment of morals, improvement of conduct, disclosure of the secrets of the contingent world. Abdul-Baha, A Traveler's Narrative, 91.

When freedom of conscience, liberty of thought and right of speech prevail--that is to say, when every man according to his own idealization may give expression to his beliefs--development and growth are inevitable.
Abdul-Baha, The Promulgation of Universal Peace, 197.

Like many Bahais, the young person I was more than twenty-five years ago trusted these words indicated how the Bahai Faith itself would conduct its own affairs. Unfortunately, Deborah Buchhorn's experience, suggested through the details of her lawsuit, demonstrate the lived reality of everyday Bahai community life for all too many of its members.

III

The many other victims of fundamentalists among my fellow Bahais include Indiana University Professors Linda and John Walbridge, editor of Dialogue

magazine Stephen Scholl, its other editors, the Bahai Encyclopedia editors who resigned in protest over the distortion of many historical facts, David Langness, Professor Juan Cole of the Department of History of the University of Michigan, Canadian writer Michael McKenny, Nima Hazini, former Assistant to the Auxiliary Board Paul Dodenhoff, New Zealander Alison Marshall for writing a critique of Bahai publishing and censorship, and Australian Olympic champion Cathy Freeman.

I urge the Court seeking to understand the Bahai Faith to consider the experience and views of the Bahais and ex-Bahais mentioned above. Many of their testimonies may be found on my website, The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience, which I created in May of 1998 as a means of documenting the pervasive abuse of the liberty and freedom of conscience extolled by the Founders of the Bahai Faith. The over 30 megabytes of information that I have collected can leave little doubt for a fair-minded person that there are indeed very serious reasons for concern about the wide discrepancy that exists between the written and publicly proclaimed aims and goals of the Bahai Faith and the actual experience of many such Bahais, like Deborah Buchhorn, with persistent fraud and character assassination.

Since Bahai fundamentalists have always relied on their ability to operate one way in one country and another elsewhere, and because the Internet now no longer makes it possible with impunity, they have mounted for several years a concerted campaign of fraud and libel on such sites as AOL, the Usenet newsgroups soc.religion.bahai, talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, www.beliefnet.com, many email lists, and elsewhere to discredit and malign independent and diverse voices. Again, the details of Deborah Buchhorn's allegations merely read like more of the same old story.

Far from the Court dismissing Deborah Buchhorn's lawsuit, it is the ardent wish of this Bahai, and I know of many Bahais and non-Bahais, that justice receive a hearing. While her allegations may surprise the inexperienced and unformed about the Bahai Faith, every single detail of Ms. Buchhorn's lawsuit reads like old news to me, and I'm sure many other Bahais. In my opinion nothing she alleges hasn't already happened many, many times to other Americans, and Bahais elsewhere in the world, and has been documented repeatedly. What is unusual in her case is that she and her attorney Yorgos Marinakis have the stamina, courage, and strength of character to withstand the ferocious onslaught of fraud and libel so routinely meted out by the most fanatical and intolerant elements of the Bahai administration.

I appeal to the Court to grant Deborah Buchhorn a just and full hearing.

--

FG

www.FG.com

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/>

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: Juan R. I. Cole <jrcole@umich.edu>
To: Richard C. Logan <nineteen@door.net>; Talisman <talisman@umich.edu>
Subject: Re: anonymous remailers
Date: Wednesday, December 03, 1997 8:51 PM

Dear Richard:

I must say I am shocked and disturbed at your diatribe at me. When did I ever attack you or bring your character and motivations into question? Are you really doing to others as you would have them do unto you?

> He has mounted a bitter campaign > against Baha'i institutions for some time now posting anything he can > find that might tend to discredit the Rulers and the Learned of this > Cause.

Well, actually, I am the one against whom a bitter campaign was mounted, by Farzam Arbab, Doug Martin, Ian Semple, Fred Schechter, Monajjem, Stephen Birkland, and others. I was just minding my own business, studying the writings and doing deepenings for the friends in cyberspace. All of a sudden I am being made out some kind of proto-covenant breaker. And the charges against me were things like talking about Baha'u'llah as a historical person. Stephen Birkland sat in my living room and accused me of talking about Baha'u'llah as a historical person. And this sort of nonsense was being construed by the uhj and the itc as covenantal. He was a historical person, by the way. And after they drove me out of the faith I loved with these utterly false and dishonest charges, the cued or at least allowed their minions to go around slandering me as mentally unbalanced or as thirsting for leadership or some such.

Let me ask you, Richard. What exactly have I done to any of these cultists that even slightly compares to what they did to me?

> There were several instances of this last year including an > attack on a very mild mannered and self-effacing Counselor who resides in > Canada. Those who were subscribed to the list last year will remember > this sad episode.

Your self-effacing Dr. Ghadirian stood up in front of a large crowd in London, where I was not present, and libelled me and David Langness as "enemies from within" of the Baha'i faith. Being a counsellor does not give him license to backbite or to spread falsehoods in public. All I did was protest being treated this way by him. I still haven't gotten the apology from him I deserve, by the way.

> I'm not a member of Irfan because Juan Cole wouldn't allow me to join > when he started the list because he considered me one of those perfidious > fundamentalists he's always excoriating.

Richard, I haven't had anything to do with Irfan@umich.edu for a very long time. Take it up with their board. When it started it was a private list I ran off my x500 program, and I let people on to it who I thought were involved in serious Baha'i studies. I suppose you have amply demonstrated what you thought and think of me, which doesn't exactly call into question my earlier judgment. But I do want you to know that I bear you no ill will and that I know you can be very sweet, and that it is your desire for unity and harmony that drives you to demonize me for protesting injustice. I don't like the role that has been thrust on me, either, you know. But I don't see how I can lie down and let these people walk all over my friends;

it wouldn't be right.

As for the Inquisition launched against a friend of ours, your questioning of my assertion is just a muddying of the waters. After what happened to the prominent Talismanians and to Michael McKenny, does a further Inquisition really sound so implausible to you?

Anyway, all I said was I now think if someone wants to be a true Baha'i in cyberspace, they'd better do it anonymously. What's wrong with my saying that?

cheers Juan

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

For Dr. Linda Walbridge, a prominent anthropologist of Islam, an authority on Shi`ite Islam, and former associate director of the Middle East Institute at Columbia University, also see the following links

"Critics chafe at Baha'i conservatism" By IRA RIFKIN
February 27, 1997, Religion News Service
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/CChafe.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/wrongs.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/anonymou2.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/anonymou3.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Cole38.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Cole7.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Cole18.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/WalbridgeL.htm> Obituary 2002
by Juan Cole

Juan Cole - Menu

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Cole.htm>

From: Juan R. I. Cole <jrcole@umich.edu>
To: Richard C. Logan <nineteen@door.net>; Talisman <talisman@umich.edu>
Subject: Re: anonymous remailers
Date: Friday, December 05, 1997 1:08 AM

>I said I imagined you believe you are doing some kind of good and I meant >it, but I don't believe you can step back from yourself and see the harm >you are causing.

Dear Richard:

Could you please be more specific about my causing any harm? Human beings, real, living human beings, are being manipulated, libelled, given nightmares, silenced or forced out, and having the most treasured parts of their identity torn from them. It happened to me. It happened to Linda Walbridge. It happened to Steve Scholl. It happened to Michael McKenny. And it has happened to many others behind the scenes, who decided to handle it differently. This is being done to devoted Baha'is. Linda Walbridge pioneered in difficult circumstances in both Lebanon and Jordan, and she made enormous sacrifices (including monetary and quality-of-life sacrifices with regard to her children) for the faith while her husband was working for it on the Encyclopedia project. She never harmed the faith she loved. Unlike the treasurer of the Phoenix LSA, she never embezzled $70,000 from the Baha'i faith, yet the treasurer of the Phoenix LSA is still a Baha'i and has not been accused of contravening the covenant. Unlike some high Baha'i officials she was never guilty of any infraction of Baha'i law or of sexual harrassment or of lying to the Baha'is. Yet they have cushy offices and make pompous speeches and are being paid out of your donations to the faith. What was her crime? To express her views on email, views which were legitimately hers as a Baha'i in good standing (i.e. she was guilty of doing the same thing that Richard Logan and Burl Barer do every day). She had the right to declare her conscience and express her views, according to Shoghi Effendi. That right was withdrawn from her suddenly, by narrow-minded elderly men eager to slap down an uppity woman. And she was forced out of the faith she loved, by the very people who should have been nurturing her faith and helping her forward. She was betrayed, deeply, treasonously, inexcusably.

And this is somehow my fault?

>I'm convinced >that it was unnecessary for things to have come to this--that you allowed >yourself to be swept into a self-fulfilling prophecy. I could be very >wrong in this but I'm letting know as a brother and a collegial admirer.

Richard, if I wanted revenge there are lots of ways for me to get it far more efficacious than sending occasional messages to 80 Baha'is. I was in the religion for nearly quarter of a century. I have lots of documentation of Baha'i leaders' peccadilloes. I'm not interested in that sort of thing. When you set out for revenge you have to be sure to dig two graves.

What I am interested in doing is protesting against the systemic injustices being committed against Baha'is by their own administration. And I have the same interest in this as I do protesting, as a member of Amnesty International, violations of human rights in any setting. When the Baha'i administration stops conducting intellectual pogroms and inquisitions that are contrary to Baha'i law and contrary to basic Baha'i scriptural principle, then all you will hear from me is translations of Baha'u'llah's tablets.

>The question of credibility is always at issue when allegations are made.

I said that I was provided information from a source I trust (who was in direct contact with the principal), that an Irfani is currently being prosecuted for email messages that include Irfan messages, which the prosecutors (i.e. the uhj and the counselors) can only have received illicitly and can only use by disregarding the right to privacy and confidentiality that should be enjoyed by everyone on irfan. I stand by this statement and I think there are enough others who know the particulars such that I need not be seen as the only source for this information, nor is it biased in any way.

As for the possibility that I could have handled things differently, I respectfully disagree. While I am glad to say I am all too fallible and make mistakes all the time (something your uhj, out of institutional pride, would never admit about itself), I do not believe this was one of them. You see, I put up with quite a lot over the years from the Baha'i administration, and I never considered leaving the faith. It was not a matter, as with Louis Gregory, of my simply being dropped off salary. I was never on salary, and never sought to be. I endured being buttonholed and hassled about my academic writing (which is no one's business but mine), and I endured being backbitten & so forth. For 24 years.

But when the Baha'i institutions falsely accused me of contravening a covenant for which I had risked my life on more than one occasion, it demonstrated to me that the religion had gone seriously bad, that it had become corrupt and cult-like, and that there was no place in it for persons like myself except if they should live their lives in silence and in fear of the ignorant and narrow-minded. Since this is demonstrably the opposite of what Baha'u'llah and `Abdul-Baha wanted for the world, it is hard to escape the conclusion that the religion has been betrayed by its leaders, just as Islam was betrayed by the ulama and Christianity was betrayed by the popes and the priests.

Roman Catholicism has benefitted enormously from the Protestant, secular and other non-Catholic critique it has been submitted to in the past 400 years, and is demonstrably a better religion after Vatican II than it was during the Inquisition. And in the same way that the non-Catholics have done so much to help the Church right itself after it had gone deeply astray from Jesus's principles, so non-Baha'is with an intimate knowledge of the Baha'i faith have a duty to try to help that religion return to its scriptural roots and principles. This is all the more urgent given that those Baha'is within the administrative order who speak out about the problems they see are swiftly silenced or expelled. And just as the Vatican has never thanked Voltaire for helping reform it, I doubt the Baha'i authorities, after they finally have their version of Vatican II and release the poor Baha'is from intellectual bondage, will thank any of us who helped them achieve that reform. So be it. But that is what is desirable: that the Baha'i institutions start acting as Baha'u'llah and `Abdul-Baha and Shoghi Effendi would have wanted them to, instead of like Inquisitors and musty Stalinists.

cheers Juan

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

For Dr. Linda Walbridge, a prominent anthropologist of Islam, an authority on Shi`ite Islam, and former associate director of the Middle East Institute at Columbia University, also see the following links

"Critics chafe at Baha'i conservatism" By IRA RIFKIN
February 27, 1997, Religion News Service
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/CChafe.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/wrongs.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/anonymou2.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/anonymou3.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Cole38.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Cole7.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Cole18.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/WalbridgeL.htm>
Obituary 2002 by Juan Cole

Juan Cole - Menu

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Cole.htm>

From: Juan R. I. Cole <jrcole@umich.edu>
To: Rhonda Wittorf <rwittorf@usbnc.org>;
fdbetts@mindspring.com <fdbetts@mindspring.com>;
belove@sover.net <belove@sover.net>
Cc: irfan1@umich.edu <irfan1@umich.edu>;
talisman@umich.edu <talisman@umich.edu>
Subject: Re: Re[2]: anonymous remailers
Date: Wednesday, December 03, 1997 1:56 PM

Look, my dear friends, I didn't send my message to Irfan about anonymous remailers in order to provoke a witch hunt against the people forwarding the messages. I have much more respect for the people who declined to sign on to Irfan because they knew they would feel an impulsion to pass "offending" messages over to the Baha'i administration. But it has long been obvious that a number of persons were signed on to Irfan under false pretences, as, essentially, spies. While I think this makes them "not Baha'is" since Shoghi Effendi strictly forbade lying, I think we can all understand the immature sense of "ethics" that drives them to do this. They are between 3 and 4 on the Kohlberg scale. They don't know how to reconcile their loyalty to the faith with their ethical obligations to other irfanis (stage 3); and they are willing to sacrifice their personal integrity for the sake of a group ideology (an odd mixture of stage 2 and stage 4). All totalitarian organizations and one-party states produce such people, and the Baha'i community is riddled with more informers per square inch than was the old Soviet Union or the Shah's Iran.

The reason I sent my message was simply to acknowledge that my expectation that the Baha'i institutions would not be so dishonorable as to act on information supplied unethically was incorrect. They appear entirely willing to snoop through informants' reports from private lists for signs of heresy and then to initiate proceedings against the poster.

In this situation, and given what has happened to devoted Baha'is who sacrificed so much of their lives for the good of the Baha'i faith and for service to humankind and universal ideals, such as Linda Walbridge, Steve Scholl, David Langness, Michael McKenny and a number of other persons who have been silenced behind the scenes, it appears to me that the only viable way to continue to function as a real Baha'i (as opposed to a fundamentalist cultist masquerading as a Baha'i) in cyberspace is to become anonymous. I have forwarded some information about relatively secure anonymous remailers.

I personally think that one of the things that drives the ongoing inquisition is concern about cyberspace visibility translating into electability, so anonymity might be enough to induce the authorities to lay off.

The point is that the Baha'i institutions have developed a mixture of totalitarian and fundamentalist ideology that disallows academic scholarship (thus the silencing of Fadil Mazandarani, the expulsion of Abbas Amanat, and the charging of Linda Walbridge and me), disallows independent Baha'i media not controlled by the institutions, and disallows the public expression of individual faith commitments at variance with the totalitarian/fundamentalist orthodoxy. In a very clever set of reversals, these authoritarian policies are actually attributed to Baha'u'llah, `Abdul-Baha and Shoghi Effendi, despite the clear evidence that they did not and would not have approved of any such thing. The various repressive strategies adopted by this one-party Baha'i state, including informing, surveillance, blackballing, threats, administrative sanctions, and ultimately shunning, have been remarkably effective in stultifying Baha'i intellectual and spiritual life and keeping the religion a tiny cult in the industrialized world. (Most Baha'is have no idea how tiny the religion really is--only a few hundred in most European countries, e.g.).

The only way for the faith to break out of this gridlock and develop and flourish in the West is for the Baha'is to develop civil society. There have to be public institutional spaces wherein the failed policies that have caused such stagnation here and elsewhere can be critiqued, wherein critical thinking can be pursued in common, and an alternative to totalitarian fundamentalism developed. The hard-line, old-style Baha'is in the mold of Holley and Furutan are attempting to prevent this healthy development by targeting thinking Baha'is and chasing them out or dropping them off the rolls or silencing them. They think they are defending the faith even though they are wreaking enormous harm to it. Just as Brezhnev thought he was defending socialism in invading Czechoslovakia or Afghanistan, but was in fact digging its grave.

If anonymity in email is necessary to go forward with genuine Baha'i thinking, which is to say, with universal love, service to humankind, the unity of science and religion (and therefore of reason and faith), the equal rights of all, freedom of conscience and speech, and other principles we all thought we were endorsing when we joined the Baha'i faith (but the opposite of which are secretly held by the cult "administrative order")-- then let there be anonymity.

cheers Juan

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: Juan R. I. Cole <jrcole@umich.edu>
To: irfan@umich.edu <irfan@umich.edu>;
talisman@umich.edu <talisman@umich.edu>
Subject: anonymous remailers
Date: Wednesday, December 03, 1997 1:31 AM

I am sorry to inform you that a devoted Baha'i who has in the past been a wonderful and thoughtful and polite contributor to irfan and talisman has been under investigation by the counselors and has received a threatening letter from the "universal" house of "justice". My information, which is second hand, appears to indicate that irfan postings were included in the indictment and had been archived and sent to the accused as proof of his perfidy. This use of Irfan messages (if my information is correct) strikes me as completely unethical (surprise!) on the part of the Baha'i authorities, since they can only have gotten the messages from someone who is on irfan under false pretenses and lied about their willingness to comply with the no-forwarding policy.

This individual was always unfailingly polite and never criticized the Baha'i institutions in any way. The only possible charge against him is that he is not a fundamentalist. In all the ridiculous and trumped-up heresy cases that have been brought by the uhj and its counsellors against devoted Baha'is in the past two years, to my knowledge not a single conservative, however rude or obstreperous, has been charged, which pretty clearly signals the real intent of these show trials and purges.

I think it may be time for any Baha'i of liberal views who is involved in regular email conversations to think seriously about becoming anonymous, for self-protection. Talisman is glad to accept anonymous email addresses; the Irfan board should decide the issue there, but I should think there is not a problem as long as anonymity doesn't encourage people to act up.

America Online (AOL) allows its subscribers up to six aliases. There are also numerous anonymous remailing services on the Web, the most famous of which is www.hotmail.com. I don't know much about this sort of thing, since I insist on speaking my mind under my own name and then enjoying my notoriety. But I have heard that there is at least one anonymous remailer that provides excellent security against surveillance of the account. Probably a Web keyword search under anonymous remailer would turn up more information.

Obviously, there are thousands of Baha'is who do not share the current uhj's fundamentalist mindset, and they can't put them all on trial, so most of you are probably safe enough. Their tactic appears to be to identify persons who are persistent posters and who therefore are becoming "prominent," with whom they disagree about their vision of the Baha'i faith, and then to target them in hopes of either silencing them or forcing them out of the religion. They probably also hope that a few such publicized cases will scare every other non-fundamentalist into silence, as well. If so, they haven't dealt with many Americans.

cheers Juan

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

PDF: Antinomies 1996 - 2000

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/archives/Antinomies.pdf>

Copyright (c) 2000 by FG www.FG.com

See my Hartford, CT TV interview for further discussion of antinomies:

<https://fglaysher.com/RadioTV.htm>

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

AOL bahai message boards

It's widely believed that Susan Maneck is the current "community leader" on the AOL bahai message boards. See the over five-year record of her activities to suppress free speech and conscience on AOL and a number of bahai newsgroups and mailing lists at Maneck.

To understand how long of a problem the censorship has been, under the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais on AOL, please read a 1998 message by an AOL member.

2002

AOL Legal Department's Address and many messages suppressed and deleted by Maneck on AOL

Selected AOL Messages 2002

2001

Continuing AOL Censorship by bahais during 2001

2000

Messages for 2000 included in archives

1999

Censorship on AOL Late 1998-1999

Even Baha'is on AOL are complaining about Mark Foster 7/11/99

Re: Bahais terminate my AOL account \(Re: fw Ruletherod on AOL Re: Personal St... 3/8/99

To: SteveCase@aol.com and ShawннаT@aol.com 2/4/99

1998

Unidentified Bahais on America Online's Message Boards under Keyword Bahai successfully convinced the TOSGeneral to place a TOS against me. After considering the evidence I presented, documenting Bahai censorship and attacks against me and others on AOL, the TOSGeneral removed the TOS.

Wendy's Bahai diatribe against my posting to AOL 9/3/98

Initial threats on AOL of reporting me to an auxiliary board member - a common Bahai tactic of intimidation 9/8/98

Sample of AOL Bahai messages to which I was responding 9/9/98

AOL first notifies me of placing a TOS against me 9/11/98

My first response to AOL 9/11/98

Kate Mccolloch's message regarding AOL chatroom harassment 9/11/98

My message to Kate Mccolloch advising contacting AOL TOSGeneral 9/11/98

My appeal to others to contact AOL TOSGeneral 9/11/98

My second response to AOL 9/12/98

AOL reviews the evidence and removes the TOS 9/12/98

False strategem of "spam" used by Bahais to justify TOS 9/12/98

Bahais continue unabated their attack against free speech & conscience on AOL and elsewhere 9/13/98

Responding partly to this same incident, cf. Re: Unpopular voices getting equal time....10/1/98

AOL Censorship 1/1/99 to 2/28/99 Half a megabyte. Ascending order.

This file contains extensive evidence of censorship by the Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster, Susan Maneck, and other Bahais on AOL.

See Maneck's references to my opinions and ideas as "garbage" and "litter." Some might find it helpful to compare the revelations of Juan Cole on Susan Maneck: Re: Ms Maneck, Dr Cole 2/21/99

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
To: Juan Cole <jrcole@umich.edu>; bahai-faith @ makelist.com <bahai-faith@makelist.com>
Subject: [bahai-faith] Bahai accusation of TOS on AOL
Date: Friday, September 11, 1998 3:15 PM

I ask all Bahais or non-Bahais on AOL to email
the TOSGeneral@aol.com and inform him or her what you believe may be actually involved here on the part of Bahais.

I myself have stated my opinion below.

FG....The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
index.htm AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

Subj: Terms of Service
Date: 98-09-11 02:54:49 EDT
From: TOSBoards2
To: FG

Dear Member,

I need to let you know that America Online was notified of a post to one of our message boards which violates the Terms of Service. Here is the information I have placed on the account regarding this incident:

On 9/9/98 6:58 AM Eastern Daylight EST the FG screen name posted a message in Baha'i Message Boards, For Non Baha'is >> Subject: Re: Literalminded Bahai ignorance. The following is an excerpt from the post: " The typical response of Bahai fanatics....
FG:

"Some of the most striking methods demonstrated repeatedly by many Bahais during the last year and a half of discussion about an unmoderated newsgroup is their refusal to listen and respond to the criticisms of those who are in favor of talk.religion.bahai, ignoring their concerns, never responding analytically to their messages and reasoning and logic and evidence, attacking them through character assassination and ad hominem, ganging up on individuals, and "circling the wagons" around every action
of the srb moderators or others who are opposed to
talk.religion.bahai.

"More than twenty different people on my web site have posted messages explaining their experience with srb censorship yet many srb Bahais NEVER address their concerns. Ignoring such charges will not make them go away. NO ONE has to "try" to link the trb interest poll with censorship on srb; the moderators themselves have done that by suppressing droves of people for years. There are many people who believe such suppression is part and parcel of the Bahai community as it exists today. A YES vote need not necessarily support such a belief. There are other reasons Bahais might vote YES."

Ron House:

"I know what you mean. I've found over the years that there is a technique used by traditional Baha'is and others to squash dissension: harry the dissenter so much he says something intemperate, then point out how 'loving' and 'compassionate' they are and how nasty the dissenter is. The trouble is that this technique works, so I've been making a conscious effort not to fall for it. Also, when they get the dissenter discouraged and miserable enough, he invariably makes a slip-up sooner or later that they can REALLY let loose the venom over. IMHO, they did this to you when you misread Sharon's intentions. At any other time, they would overlook faults, as Baha'u'llah says, but when they're in this mode they go for the jugular. Very sad."

House2.htm

Fran Baker:

"Just have to say that in my experience this is a common technique of manipulative people in general; it is especially effective with thoughtful people who are willing to see both sides of things, i.e., their own fault. I consider this brow-beating technique to be a form of abuse. The only way to deal with it is to call them on it every time and to refuse to let yourself be beat up, i.e., not to do your part of the "tango." This can be very hard to do, but it works. You can break this pattern in a personal relationship. I don't know whether it's possible when a group acts this way. Very scary."

Dr. Juan Cole:

"Let me ask you why in the world you think that I would risk my professional reputation by publicly stating falsehoods? ...The very technique of the more glaze-eyed among these people is to unbearably bully a Baha'i whom they don't like, use unjustified threats of declaring him or her a CB to silence the individual, and if the person will not be silenced, then to depend upon the gullibility of the Baha'is in refusing to listen to any victim's story because, of course, the Baha'i institutions are infallible and divinely guided and could never do anything wrong. It is a perfect racket.

"Of course, this technique of making liberals go away has been enormously successful, and ex-Baha'i liberals have no credibility with the remaining Baha'is nor do most of them have any energy to continue to make a case, either to the Baha'is or the outside world, for the incredible abuses that go on inside this organization ostensibly committed to tolerance!"

Cole10.htm

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

index.htm See alt.religion.bahai,

talk.religion.misc, or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)

Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/baha'i>

baha'i"

Our Terms of Service agreement, which was presented during the sign up process, allows America Online to be informative, entertaining and, above all, fun for all of our Members. You can review that agreement by using keyword TOS. This area also has information and tools you can use to help protect your account. Also, you may want to take a look at our PARENTAL CONTROLS. This will allow you, among other things, to limit and/or block specific screen names from various online activities.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,
Bill
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

* Have you heard about AOL's latest and easiest to use software version, 4.0?
You can upgrade for free at keyword: Upgrade.

With AOL 4.0, you can have fun by sending multiple files, changing screen names without signing off, customizing your toolbar, and much, much more. Upgrade today!

Bahai posts on AOL responding to "The Baha'i Technique":

Subject: Re: fw Juan Cole Re: [bahai-faith] mutilation theology

Date: Wed, Sep 9, 1998 11:46 EDT

From: Holly7711

Message-id: <1998090915464300.LAA29616@ladder01.news.aol.com>

Friends,

This stuff is not only ugly in its outlook toward Baha'is, but now there is criticism of the Universal House of Justice and the beloved institutions of the Faith.

This is right on the edge... borderline.

Charlotte

Subject: Re: fw Juan Cole Re: [bahai-faith] mutilation theology

Date: Wed, Sep 9, 1998 11:59 EDT

From: Karndor

Message-id: <1998090915595200.LAA03894@ladder03.news.aol.com>

Charlotte,

before you read a post, look who wrote it, and if it is someone, that you might think is a CB, or will make you mad, don't read it, and go on to the next one. trust me it works.

Karen

Momie to

Forrest Febuary 17,1994

Terran October 23, 1996

KidsCom: Mousers

Subject: General Disclaimer

Date: Wed, Sep 9, 1998 14:00 EDT

From: WScott1995

Message-id: <1998090918003500.OAA11333@ladder01.news.aol.com>

For those visiting our Baha'i boards, anyone can post here and say they are a Baha'i. That doesn't necessarily make it so. Every religion has their wolves in sheeps clothing would would try to destroy the flock, and this forum makes this particularly easy since they can hide behind their computers and no one will know who they are. Baha'is need to deal with these people as both our writings and the Bible says:

"But shun profane and vain babblings: for they will increase unto more ungodliness. And their word will eat as doth a canker....and overthrow the faith of some." (2 Tim. 2:16-17)

"Guard what was committed to your trust, avoiding the profane and vain babblings and contradictions of what is falsely called knowledge -by professing it, some have strayed concerning the faith." (1 Tim 6:20-21)

A true Baha'i would abide by the teachings of Baha'u'llah, in every situation, to the best of his or her ability. And those teachings are:

"Should anyone wax angry with you, respond to him with gentleness; and should anyone upbraid you, forbear to upbraid him in return, but leave him to himself and put your trust in God, the omnipotent Avenger, the Lord of might and justice." (Bahá'u'lláh: The Kitáb-i-Aqdas, Page: 75)

Love and peace, Wendy-----<-@

ubject: Re: General Disclaimer
Date: Wed, Sep 9, 1998 15:05 EDT
From: Bennachti
Message-id: <1998090919050600.PAA17531@ladder01.news.aol.com>

I agree, Wendy. I am always reminded of this passage, when I meet people like that online:

"Erelong shall clamorous voices be raised in most lands.
Shun them, O My people, and follow not the iniquitous and evil-hearted."
Baha'u'llah, Kitab-i-Aqdas, pg. 32

I'm all in favor of Karen's suggestion too, to just skip over the names of people who seem to be filled with hatred. I hope that for their sake they learn that their anger only hurts them, not anyone else. They can stew in it, suffer from it, develop heart and liver diseases from it (and more) but it doesn't affect the rest of us at all. It is a most unfortunate malady, this anger and hatred. May God help all of us to recover from angers and resentments whensoever they may afflict us.

Love you all
Zaynab

No man shall attain the shores of the ocean of true understanding except he be detached from all that is in heaven and on earth.
- Bahá'u'lláh -

My Bahá'í Faith website:
Camphor Fountain

Subject: Re: General Disclaimer
Date: Wed, Sep 9, 1998 15:14 EDT
From: Holly7711
Message-id: <1998090919140800.PAA18518@ladder01.news.aol.com>

Excellent advice, everyone!

Thanks particularly for those quotes from the writings.... always good spiritual food for just about any situation that comes up. :)

Love,
Charlotte

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subj: Terms of Service
Date: 98-09-11 02:54:49 EDT
From: TOSBoards2
To: FG

Dear Member,

I need to let you know that America Online was notified of a post to one of our message boards which violates the Terms of Service. Here is the information I have placed on the account regarding this incident:

On 9/9/98 6:58 AM Eastern Daylight EST the FG screen name posted a message in Baha'i Message Boards, For Non Baha'is >> Subject: Re: Literal-minded Bahai ignorance. The following is an excerpt from the post: " The typical response of Bahai fanatics....
FG:

"Some of the most striking methods demonstrated repeatedly by many Bahais during the last year and a half of discussion about an unmoderated newsgroup is their refusal to listen and respond to the criticisms of those who are in favor of talk.religion.bahai, ignoring their concerns, never responding analytically to their messages and reasoning and logic and evidence, attacking them through character assassination and ad hominem, ganging up on individuals, and "circling the wagons" around every action of the srb moderators or others who are opposed to talk.religion.bahai.

"More than twenty different people on my web site have posted messages explaining their experience with srb censorship yet many srb Bahais NEVER address their concerns. Ignoring such charges will not make them go away. NO ONE has to "try" to link the trb interest poll with censorship on srb; the moderators themselves have done that by suppressing droves of people for years. There are many people who believe such suppression is part and parcel of the Bahai community as it exists today. A YES vote need not necessarily support such a belief. There are other reasons Bahais might vote YES."

Ron House:

"I know what you mean. I've found over the years that there is a technique used by traditional Baha'is and others to squash dissension: harry the dissenter so much he says something intemperate, then point out how 'loving' and 'compassionate' they are and how nasty the dissenter is. The trouble is that this technique works, so I've been making a conscious effort not to fall for it. Also, when they get the dissenter discouraged and miserable enough, he invariably makes a slip-up sooner or later that they can REALLY let loose the venom over. IMHO, they did this to you when you misread Sharon's intentions. At any other time, they would overlook faults, as Baha'u'llah says, but when they're in this mode they go for the jugular. Very sad."

House2.htm

Fran Baker:

"Just have to say that in my experience this is a common technique of manipulative people in general; it is especially effective with thoughtful people who are willing to see both sides of things, i.e., their own fault. I consider this brow-beating technique to be a form of abuse. The only way to deal with it is to call them on it every time and to refuse to let yourself be beat up, i.e., not to do your part of the "tango." This can be very hard to do, but it works. You can break this pattern in a personal relationship. I don't know whether it's possible when a group acts this way. Very scary."

Dr. Juan Cole:

"Let me ask you why in the world you think that I would risk my professional reputation by publicly stating falsehoods? ...The very technique of the more glaze-eyed among these people is to unbearably bully a Baha'i whom they don't like, use unjustified threats of declaring him or her a CB to silence the individual, and if the person will not be silenced, then to depend upon the gullibility of the Baha'is in refusing to listen to any victim's story because, of course, the Baha'i institutions are infallible and divinely guided and could never do anything wrong. It is a perfect racket.

"Of course, this technique of making liberals go away has been enormously successful, and ex-Baha'i liberals have no credibility with the remaining Baha'is nor do most of them have any energy to continue to make a case, either to the Baha'is or the outside world, for the incredible abuses that go on inside this organization ostensibly committed to tolerance!"

Cole10.htm

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

index.htm See alt.religion.bahai,

talk.religion.misc, or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)

Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

baha'i

baha'i"

Our Terms of Service agreement, which was presented during the sign up process, allows America Online to be informative, entertaining and, above all, fun for all of our Members. You can review that agreement by using keyword TOS. This area also has information and tools you can use to help protect your account. Also, you may want to take a look at our PARENTAL CONTROLS. This will allow you, among other things, to limit and/or block specific screen names from various online activities.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,
Bill
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

* Have you heard about AOL's latest and easiest to use software version, 4.0?

You can upgrade for free at keyword: Upgrade.

With AOL 4.0, you can have fun by sending multiple files, changing screen names without signing off, customizing your toolbar, and much, much more. Upgrade today!

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subj: Re: AOL removes TOS - Bahai accusation
Date: 98-09-13 16:29:38 EDT
From: wscott1995@aol.com (WScott1995)
To: FG@aol.com (FG)

Fred,

Why are you trying to ruin the reputation of the Baha'is?
Love and peace, Wendy-----

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: Barthaman@aol.com <Barthaman@aol.com>
To: RBCFAdmin@aol.com <RBCFAdmin@aol.com>
Cc: Barthaman@aol.com <Barthaman@aol.com>
Subject: Re: Unpopular voices getting equal time....
Date: Thursday, October 01, 1998 4:03 PM

RBCF Administration (Jerry White):

I just wanted to add my voice to FG's in the appeal for more tolerance of pluralism (opposing, or dissenting viewpoints) in Baha'i Forums. The substance of what Mr. Glaysher says is absolutely true--I've observed the problem myself for a number of years.

Even the most carefully worded, tactful style would be found objectionable by conservative Baha'is in this context--because there are sacred cows in the Baha'i religion, as in other religions, that remain off-limits for questioning. Those who persist in questioning are soon perceived as a mortal threat to the flock of "true believers." Baha'i critics, naturally, are never welcome in "their" forums. Critics like Glaysher (or myself) are immediately singled out for exclusion. We feel our views are just as valid and informative as the messages of the orthodox camp. Sure, we need not be strident, but what justification is there to shield the "true believers" from opposing, responsible views--the same views they will ultimately face in the real world anyway? Counter attacks by the Baha'is on Glaysher (and others) are to be expected. They'll call him anything--"anti-Baha'i," "covenant-breaker"--to dismiss his credibility and weaken his influence. Certainly, in the regard, the Baha'is are anti-democracy--a contradiction in terms of what the internet is all about.

So, what is my point? It's that Baha'i forums should be required to make concessions like any other intellectually honest forums, allowing a fair share of unpopular views to contrast what has so far been propagandistic drivel and authoritarian muscle-flexing. Glaysner and I believe that the Baha'i Faith is a world-class religion worth a whole lot more than that. We believe that fundamentalist mentalities--believers from Christian and Islamic backgrounds--have usurped all of the mainstream public forums now available to Baha'is--within and without their religious community.

In light of the above, please reconsider (if there is room left to do so) Mr. Glaysner's appeals. He does speak for a number of others in this regard.

Thanks for "listening." --Barthaman

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: Barthaman@aol.com <Barthaman@aol.com>
To: RBCFAdmin@aol.com <RBCFAdmin@aol.com>
Cc: Barthaman@aol.com <Barthaman@aol.com>
Subject: Re: Unpopular voices getting equal time....
Date: Thursday, October 01, 1998 4:03 PM

RBCF Administration (Jerry White):

I just wanted to add my voice to FG's in the appeal for more tolerance of pluralism (opposing, or dissenting viewpoints) in Baha'i Forums. The substance of what Mr. Glaysher says is absolutely true--I've observed the problem myself for a number of years.

Even the most carefully worded, tactful style would be found objectionable by conservative Baha'is in this context--because there are sacred cows in the Baha'i religion, as in other religions, that remain off-limits for questioning. Those who persist in questioning are soon perceived as a mortal threat to the flock of "true believers." Baha'i critics, naturally, are never welcome in "their" forums. Critics like Glaysher (or myself) are immediately singled out for exclusion. We feel our views are just as valid and informative as the messages of the orthodox camp. Sure, we need not be strident, but what justification is there to shield the "true believers" from opposing, responsible views--the same views they will ultimately face in the real world anyway? Counter attacks by the Baha'is on Glaysher (and others) are to be expected. They'll call him anything--"anti-Baha'i," "covenant-breaker"--to dismiss his credibility and weaken his influence. Certainly, in the regard, the Baha'is are anti-democracy--a contradiction in terms of what the internet is all about.

So, what is my point? It's that Baha'i forums should be required to make concessions like any other intellectually honest forums, allowing a fair share of unpopular views to contrast what has so far been propagandistic drivel and authoritarian muscle-flexing. Glaysher and I believe that the Baha'i Faith is a world-class religion worth a whole lot more than that. We believe that fundamentalist mentalities--believers from Christian and Islamic backgrounds--have usurped all of the mainstream public forums now available to Baha'is--within and without their religious community.

In light of the above, please reconsider (if there is room left to do so) Mr. Glaysher's appeals. He does speak for a number of others in this regard.

Thanks for "listening." --Barthaman

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: Mr Mahdi <mrmahdi@aol.com>
Subject: Even Baha'is on AOL are complaining about Mark Foster
Date: Sunday, July 11, 1999 1:32 PM

In the past few days a person in particular has been writing posts about me that contained nothing but insults. If any of you were to visit the Baha'i messages boards on AOL you will see this. Just recently, a bahai complained of Mark Foster's double standards. Again, this is not a personal attack on mark, I am documenting cultish extremism and censorship that occurs in the bahai faith. The below passage I cited was from a post that come from a Bahai complaining about Mark Foster.

Subject: Re: Mark Foster!!!
Date: Sun, 11 July 1999 10:24 AM EDT
From: E Borges T
Message-id: <19990711102429.25647.00000645@ng-cq1.aol.com>

Mark,

You wrote as follows:

<<Ernesto,

There is a difference, in my view, between misspelling someone's name, which I assume to be a typo, and calling someone "Cat Litter.">>

Mark, this would be believable if it happened once in a while, but when the person goes out of their ways to think up new and wild permutations to one's name, and does so consistently, in spite of the fact that it has been pointed out to them various times, not only by me but also by others who post here and see what is going on, it does not convince at all. Quite frankly, you look like you are just trying to justify your position, in spite of the fact that you are clearly in the wrong. You have two choices, either delete Kat's posts or leave mine alone. I still await your decision on the matter. Leaving Kat's alone and deleting mine is simply not an acceptable alternative.

And BTW, your E-mail asking me what Kat has called me, other than Ernesto, is just too laughable for words. Not to mention the fact that I already asked you not to E-mail me on this issue any more. I want everything to be above ground, no behind the scenes stuff.

<<Much of this is subjective, and I just try to be as fair and impartial as I can, based on my understanding of TOS guidelines for this forum.>>

No, you are not being "fair and impartial." Not by a long shot! There are quite a few issues that we have been going over in these folders where you are blatantly showing favoritism to certain people, who can say just about anything they want and even resort to name calling, while you make excuses for them and work very hard and trying to ignore complaints that come to you about them. This is not what any person would call "fair and impartial."

Ernesto

Mahdi

<https://members.aol.com/mrmahdi/opinions/index.htm>

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 04, 1999 5:27 PM
To: SteveCase@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com; ShawnaT@aol.com
Subject: Fwd: TOS violation

<<Message: TOS violation>>

Dear Mr. Case,

I'm forwarding you the message below from the Bahai Forum Leader who just showed back up yesterday after being gone at least since early August, 1998, and apparently even for months prior to that.

He's suddenly alleging TOSs against me and apparently threatening others with him. I've been asking for months for him to RESIGN and believe the best thing for AOL members is for him to do so. He's a highly dictatorial personality as I have experienced him on a mailing list, Bahai-Studies, and should not even be allowed to run AOL's Bahai Forums, which are definitely manipulated by fundamentalist Bahais intent on silencing and suppressing others who do not toe the party line....

Please, please do something NOW to help improve the Bahai Forums and prevent them from further abuse by Bahais. I suggest you search the Questions to Forum Leader and Annoucement Folders back to August to corroborate that I have repeatedly attempted to improve the manipulation of these Forums by Bahais.

Further, as a paying member, I ask you to fully investigate the motivations for placing these bogus TOSs on my account and remove them.

Subj: TOS violation
Date: 2/4/1999 12:51:46 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Another TOS violation. Both of these have been reported to AOL.

Mark Foster
Baha'i Forum Manager

Subject: Why RBCF Mark Foster should resign
Date: 2/4/99 06:25 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204072511.13073.00000518@ng38.aol.com>

Since early August 1998, I have repeatedly asked the Forum Leader Mark Foster to improve 3 issues:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais.

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
index.htm

The long record of appeals can be found on Questions for the Forum Leader, Announcements, and For Non-Bahais. During this entire time, and apparently for months even prior to August, he has abandoned his duties and responsibilities as Forum Leader. That is why I emailed him personally on at least two occasions months ago and have repeatedly asked for his resignation in public on the Bahai Forums.

I once again ask Mark Foster to RESIGN and allow someone else become the Forum Leader. I do not believe that Mark Foster, nor Susan Maneck, should be trusted with the position. Mr. Foster has thoroughly proven his inability and incompetence during the last year. Ms. Maneck has equally demonstrated her dishonesty and lack of respect for the principles that undergird AOL--freedom of speech and conscience by referring on these Message Boards and elsewhere to people's "garbage" opinions and ideas. Her demagogic NO vote campaign against talk.religion.bahai speaks poorly of her commitment to the principles that a Forum Leader should adhere to not to mention those that anyone truly worthy of being consider a scholar ought to uphold.

Maneck1.htm

Bahais such as Foster and Maneck have abused the positions of authority when given them. They have and would run the AOL Forums in the same dictatorial way that soc.religion.bahai has and is run. I do not care to pay $21.95 per month for more Bahai censorship of the 3 Issues. People need to understand that the frozen status quo is better than nothing to Bahai like Foster and Maneck.

I request all those people who agree to speak up and say something and support the Petition I have posted in the past and will repost now.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
index.htm On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: Ruletherod@aol.com <Ruletherod@aol.com>
To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Cc: Ruletherod@aol.com <Ruletherod@aol.com> Subject: Re: Bahais terminate my AOL account (Re: fw Ruletherod on AOL Re: Personal St...
Date: Monday, March 08, 1999 1:30 PM

So they finally did it. I'm not surprised because most of the regulars at the AOL board (there are many more where they came from) are the intolerant supporters of Baha'i orthodoxy. And then you have the rabid fanatics (mostly women in my opinion) who think they own the Baha'i faith ("Don't you go messing with MY religion, buddy!"). Even some Baha'is who've recently joined the Faith think it's their exclusive club and that you and I were born yesterday--that we're the unwelcome Strangers in the Night. The irony is that they're reducing the religions of both the Bab and Baha'u'llah to a series of sentimental tea cliques and spoiled brat clubs for women. I had higher hopes, but what can you accomplish when you're routinely perceived as one of the enemy to be shunned.

It's their shunning mentality, backed up by select writings, that kills it for me. (They conveniently forget the other writings about fanaticism, reason over emotion, justice, etc.) The more they hold those self-serving writings up like a crucifix and cloves of garlic, the more resigned I am never to support the Baha'i faith again. If they want enemies, they'll have them. And their definition of the word "enemy" is: "Think like us or you're not one of us."

One of our friends recently told me: The Baha'is like Wendy, Sunni and Zaynab are doing untold damage to the reputation of the Faith themselves

(in they eyes of neutral lurkers) with their narrow-minded, smug and exclusionary attitudes...and that the harm they're doing to the Faith is an unrecognized justice. They're their own worst enemies but they're too filled with "holy certitude" to know this. They think I'm the one with a screw loose.....but that's another story.

Let me know how things ultimately turn out for you. There's no one else to side with me at the board anymore (as PL has left and Larry is too turned off) and the regular crowd is giving me the cold shoulder in the hope that I'll just leave. I've pretty much done that for now.

Mark's arrival has somehow dulled everything. It was better when it was a free-for-all and the non-Bahai folder was at the top of the list. The threat of censorship chills everything.

I was also surprised to learn that many of the regulars at the board like Wendy, Roger, Debbie and some others are far older than I me. I'll be 46 myself this May.

Please keep these thoughts confidential or they'll hang me with them.
Thanks.
Take care, friend.

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: kate_mccolloch_bodi@my-dejanews.com <kate_mccolloch_bodi@my-dejanews.com>
Subject: ARB more harm than good?
Date: Friday, September 11, 1998 2:18 AM

I heard through this list that America On-line had a chat room for Baha'is so I decided on evening to peer inside and have a look-see. I was not granted the opportunity to lurk for a few moments to get the feel for the atmosphere, perhaps my screen name made them nervous...

I asked those in the room very politely a few simple honest questions. Although they seemed very nervous they finally obliged...although several left when they asked me questions. I was told there room was a place to for those interest in the faith to ask that this was their purpose. I told them also that I went there because I saw it mentioned here. Strange that they should warn me not to hang out here though because in their opinion...ARB does more harm than good.

with laughter and free speech
kate

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

This file contains extensive documentation of bahai censorship on AOL. Related material may also

Subject: Re: URLs

Date: 12/1/2001 9:22 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011201102255.14937.00000202@mb-fr.aol.com>

>The question has arisen as to the use of URLs. It is perfectly okay to post a >URL to a website on this board so long as the material on that website is in >keeping with the Board purpose, along with TOS and community standards. If >not, such a post may be removed.
>LDRS LFST Shahid
>AOL Lifestyles
>

And as a bahai fundamentalist you define and decide what is in keeping with the purpose of the board.... That's the problem in my opinion and that of many other people now for years..... Under such a specious interpretation of AOL TOS rules and the bahai writings, you may spam YOUR URL all over these bahai message boards?

Is Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, a real university unlike the one you tutor at, going to have his website suppressed while yours is allowed? AOL TOSGeneral and others should note Prof. Cole has widely published on bahai censorship on and off the Internet, including a book with Columbia University Press.

Further examples of Ms. Maneck's unfairness on AOL, with only her fundamentalist website allowed:

>and as such should be investigated and >studied by scientists. (31 December >1937, to an individual)
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example. Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

>>"My heart goes out to the Baha'is of Iran.

They have suffered

>>more at the hands of their countrymen than that cult in Waco."

>>

>>--Dan Quayle

>

>Rule,

>

>Did Quayle really say that?
>
>warmest, Susan
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
>His wife is a Christian Reconstructionalist.
I'd be very careful.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.
Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
> >Terrorist cells around >>the world are waiting for the green light of jihad.
>
>I believe the 'green light' was given on Sept. 11.
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Community Leader concealing evidence of her abusing TOS rules
Date: 11/30/2001 6:38 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011130073827.09100.00000004@mb-mv.aol.com>

Shahid, Ms. Maneck, is removing messages of hers in which she spams her URL all over AOL bahai messages boards while suppressing and TOSing fellow bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist views.

I ask the TOSGeneral to please ask her to desist or replace her who someone who can be a fair and impartial community leader.

FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Open Letter to TOSGeneral

Date: 11/30/2001 7:44 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011130084420.09100.00000016@mb-mv.aol.com>

This volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom she and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views she opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress "irregular tax breaks"?

Date: 11/30/2001 8:16 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011130091605.09100.00000022@mb-mv.aol.com>

TOSGeneral:

Please find below yet another example of Ms. Maneck, Shahid, the bahai message boards community leader, posting her own URL while TOSing anyone who posts URLs to more liberal bahai sites.

This volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom she and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views she opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

>Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress "irregular tax breaks"?
>Date: 9/9/2001 9:03 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Smaneck
>Message-id: <20010909220324.18255.00001516@mb-md.aol.com>
>
>
>>The apparent intention is indeed to suppress the Israeli newspaper report of >>the uhj receiving "irregular tax breaks."
>>
>
>What those 'irregular tax breaks' are all about is the fact that Baha'is get >a rebate of value added taxes as a religious organization.
>Big deal! I guess there are some members of the religious right who probably >object to anyone but Orthodox Jews getting those. But if Fred can make it >look like a case of corruption, you can be sure he will.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Disagreements with TOS and/or community guidelines
Date: 12/1/2001 9:26 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011201102602.14937.00000203@mb-fr.aol.com>

>Subject: Disagreements with TOS and/or community guidelines
>Date: 12/1/2001 4:12 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: LDRS LFST Shahid
>Message-id: <20011201041245.02572.00000303@mb-dh.aol.com>
>
>
>
>Hey everyone :) I know that strong opinions abound, but please remember >that the message boards are not the place to carry on personal arguments nor >disagreements of TOS and/or community guidelines.
>
>The best sources of information for questions or disagreements with actions >taken are LDRS LFST Mgr, TOSGeneral, or Keyword TOSQuestions.
>
>Thank you for understanding everyone :)
>
>LDRS LFST Shahid
>AOL Lifestyles
>

You're making an utterly false appearance here of fairness and reasonableness. Anyone remotely familiar with your history of censorship and coercion of conscience on AOL will not fail to recognize what you're really doing here.

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress my posts re talk.religion.bahai?
Date: 12/1/2001 9:38 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011201103847.14937.00000205@mb-fr.aol.com>

Your suggestion here is completely bogus. I have not posted the same message. Your distorting and misrepresenting my posts in order to suit your fundamentalist motives and justify your wish to fraudulently TOS me. You're obviously playing to the choir, the TOSGeneral in this case.

>Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress my posts re talk.religion.bahai?
>Date: 11/30/2001 1:08 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: LDRS LFST Shahid
>Message-id: <20011130010806.12953.00000033@mb-ch.aol.com>
>
>
>Dear friends,
>
>I would like to remind everyone that a given post should only be made once on >this board within any thirty day period. Otherwise it constitutes spam and as >such will be considered disruptive.
>LDRS LFST Shahid
>AOL Lifestyles
>
>
>
>
>
>

The community leader regularly slanders me and allows others to as well. As a bahai for over 25 years, my bahai ID card may be found on my website at The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

FG

>Subject: Re: Proselytizing
>Date: 12/12/2001 11:46 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Smaneck
>Message-id: <20011212114659.22386.00003182@mb-md.aol.com>
>
>
>>
>>When you, as a person who is not a Baha'i, come here and try to persuade >>Baha'is to abandon their beliefs and join your religion you are >>proselytizing.
>
>Dear Sunni,
>
>I don't think Fred can be said to have a religion. He has not promoted >anything of a positive nature about his beliefs, he has only trashed the >Baha'i Faith. Were he even to present an alternative Baha'i Faith here, we >>would have to accept that. After all, even Covenant breaking posts are >permitted in this forum.
>
>What is confusing here, is that Fred continues to call himself a Baha'i >although he is not a part of the Baha'i community or any alternative. Nor is >he presenting any alternative vision which he calls Baha'i. And he would be >free to do that here.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>
>

>
>
>
>
>

The Baha'i Technique

During the last several years a number of observers have noted common methods many fundamentalist Bahais use to avoid various issues or discredit people who hold opinions other than their own:

Dermod Ryder, September 19, 2001:

"And then Eureka! I realised why Fred gets the treatment he does . . . for Fred has painstakingly not only assembled the evidence of the canker within but he constantly publicises it to the extent that he really gets up noses and AO noses at that! . . . I basically agree with him that the AO terrorises people - terror is more than bombs or kamikaze aircraft. A whispered aside in the right circumstances can instil terror (like a threat to be made a CB) - most ethnic cleansing is carried out by a piece of "good" advice to the effect that one would be better off NOT living in this neighbourhood, from a gentleman who is known or assumed to have the "right connections" to ensure the advice is heeded. Twenty years ago the AO tried that particular threatening tactic on with me and were told where they could stick it! Others can also testify to that including Dennis Rogers whose experiences were posted on TRB recently. And you guys hate Fred for this, for his continued exposing of the sewer that the AO has become. Of course you all hate Juan, Alison, Michael, Nima etc as well and for the same reason and give them the same treatment but somewhat reduced for they don't post as much as Fred who is just a real pain in the butt for doing what he does so well! Fred is an avid counter terrorist and he's good at it as the whimpering from the BIGS proves!"

Mr Mahdi, November 14, 2000:

"The extremism of those who are trying to get Fred Glaysher off the Internet is beyond any rational justification, for the simple fact that Fred does not use any lewd or obscene language nor does he post irrelevant topics that are not worthy of discussion. Bahais seem to be so obsessed at maintaining their superficial "progressive" image that anything that exposes the . . . hypocrisy of the bahai faith are suppressed and attacked, in order for the bahais to keep deceiving people into thinking that these are unwarranted and baseless attacks and accusations which hold no weight in reality."

Professor Juan Cole, University of Michigan, June 12, 1998:

"Let me ask you why in the world you think that I would risk my professional reputation by publicly stating falsehoods? ...The very technique of the more glaze-eyed among these people is to unbearably bully a Baha'i whom they don't like, use unjustified threats of declaring him or her a CB [Covenant Breaker (heretic)] to silence the individual, and if the person will not be silenced, then to depend upon the gullibility of the Baha'is in refusing to listen to any victim's story because, of course, the Baha'i institutions are infallible and divinely guided and could never do anything wrong. It is a perfect racket."

"Of course, this technique of making liberals go away has been enormously successful, and ex-Baha'i liberals have no credibility with the remaining Baha'is nor do most of them have any energy to continue to make a case, either to the Baha'is or the outside world, for the incredible abuses that go on inside this organization ostensibly committed to tolerance!"

Professor Juan Cole, February 23, 1999:

"There is nothing to be puzzled by. Right wing Baha'is only like to hear the sound of their own voices (which are the only voices they will admit to being "Baha'i" at all)."

"Obviously, the world is so constructed that they cannot in fact only hear their own voices. They are forced to hear other voices that differ from theirs. This most disturbs them when the voices come from enrolled Baha'is or when the voices speak of the Baha'i faith."

"The way they sometimes deal with the enrolled Baha'is is to summon them to a heresy inquiry and threaten them with being shunned if they do not fall silent."

"With non-Baha'is or with ex-Baha'is, they deal with their speech about the faith by backbiting, slandering and libelling the speaker. You will note that since I've been on this list I have been accused of long-term heresy, of "claiming authority," of out and out lying (though that was retracted, twice), of misrepresentation, of 'playing fast and loose with the facts,' and even of being 'delusional.' I have been accused of all these falsehoods by Baha'is, by prominent Baha'is. I have been backbitten by them."

"This shows that all the talk about the danger a sharp tongue can do, all the talk about the need for harmony, for returning poison with honey, for a sin-covering eye, is just talk among right wing Baha'is. No one fights dirtier than they when they discover a voice they cannot silence and cannot refute."

"Paul Johnson has seen all these things, as well, for the past five years. He can explain it to you."

FG, May 12, 1992:

"The Baha'i Faith has become very oppressive and manipulative of the individual. That to me is merely a statement of fact, as I have experienced it, for nearly sixteen years now [since 1976]. The usual stratagem in dealing with anyone who would express his conscience in good faith is to pretend the Cause is above any kind of criticism whatsoever while intimating that anyone who would speak honestly must have something wrong with him, i.e., his spiritual life isn't what it should be, he doesn't understand the nature of unity, or he's accused of trying to obtain power for himself, which at times seems merely a calculated way of discrediting the person, and so on. Another common strategy used to acquire control over the individual is to humor the person by letting him pour himself out, etc., and then self-righteously giving him the Truth."

Ron House, November 14, 1997:

"I know what you mean. I've found over the years that there is a technique used by traditional Baha'is and others to squash dissension: harry the dissenter so much he says something intemperate, then point out how 'loving' and 'compassionate' they are and how nasty the dissenter is. The trouble is that this technique works, so I've been making a conscious effort not to fall for it. Also, when they get the dissenter discouraged and miserable enough, he invariably makes a slip-up sooner or later that they can REALLY let loose the venom over. IMHO, they did this to you when you misread Sharon's intentions. At any other time, they would overlook faults, as Baha'u'llah says, but when they're in this mode they go for the jugular. Very sad."

Fran Baker, May 1998:

"Just have to say that in my experience this is a common technique of manipulative people in general; it is especially effective with thoughtful people who are willing to see both sides of things, i.e., their own fault. I consider this brow-beating technique to be a form of abuse. The only way to deal with it is to call them on it every time and to refuse to let yourself be beat up, i.e., not to do your part of the "tango." This can be very hard to do, but it works. You can break this pattern in a personal relationship. I don't know whether it's possible when a group acts this way. Very scary."

FG, June 1998:

"Some of the most striking methods demonstrated repeatedly by many Bahais during the last year and a half of discussion about an unmoderated newsgroup is their refusal to listen and respond to the criticisms of those who are in favor of talk.religion.bahai, ignoring their concerns, never responding analytically to their messages and reasoning and logic and evidence, attacking them through character assassination and ad hominem, ganging up on individuals, and "circling the wagons" around every action of the srp moderators or others who are opposed to talk.religion.bahai."

K. Paul Johnson, September 15, 1998:

"If that principle [people are innocent until proven guilty] were followed by Baha'i administration and individuals in their condemnations of their fellow believers, I would have very little to complain about regarding Baha'i affairs. But character assassination by innuendo is the preferred way of dealing with anything remotely resembling dissidence. Seems like that's exactly what you're doing to Juan Cole in your message. Saying I don't want to know what you've "got" on him, thus attacking me but insinuating you have some awful proof of unspecified guilt on his part. If that's not character assassination by innuendo, what is?"

Gibro28W, October 12, 1998: "In summary, the biggest problem, as I see it, is that most Baha'is don't take criticism seriously--they tune it out as "negative" or "harmful to spiritual growth." This selfish attitude is very stupid. First of all, Baha'is entice people to join them. When they do, they indoctrinate them until they think like the group. But as soon as a red flare of doubt goes up in the convert's mind, they're cordoned off by the group and reminded of their "spiritual" obligations in the name of Baha'u'llah or the "Covenant." If left unresolved and doubt gives vent to prolonged criticism, the convert is sent packing or is kicked out. What we have here is a broken family that had failed to truly listen to the needs of its members in the first place.

David Langness, 31 Mar 1997:

"I would advise you to be careful about any meetings, calls or correspondence with Hoda Mahmoudi, who used to be an ABM here in Southern California. She is quite conservative, and sees herself -- as do many of the appointed branch, sadly -- as a staunch defender of the Faith and the faithful, able and more than willing to marginalize people like you and I to discredit our ideas. This cultlike practice of shunning and casting out any dissidents has unfortunately become the chief tactic of those fundamentalist Baha'is bent on maintaining the current leadership. My worry is that the more progressive Baha'is like Juan Cole and Steve Scholl and yourself will all leave the Faith and thereby increase the power of the conservatives."

Cf. K. Paul Johnson's general reflections on coercive techniques

This document at

--

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: ATTN - AOL - Result of Censorship by Maneck

Date: 12/19/2001 1:57 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: Smaneck

Message-id: <20011219015744.26000.00001315@mb-md.aol.com>

Well, well, Freddy, I see you've made an interesting bed-fellow with "Death to Baha'is" Muslim militant, Mr. Madhi.

And you've been trying to persuade people your crusade is against fundamentalism.

Try and keep the white powder off the board though, would you?
warmest, Susan

<https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Subj: Board Posting at Keyword: Baha'i

Date: 12/23/2001 3:30:51 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: LDRS LFST Shahid

To: Glaysh112001

CC: LDRS LFST Mgr, LDRS LFST Jerry

Dear Member,

Regarding your messages posted at: Baha'i Message Boards

To avoid further disruption to the message board, your posts have been removed. Please review Keyword: Message Board Product Guidelines and Keyword:

Spirituality Message Board Standards for more information on what is appropriate in our community.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Please address any questions or comments to LDRS LFST Mgr.

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Host
AOL Lifestyles

Subject: Re: How to Report Maneck to AOL
Date: 12/19/2001 7:56 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011219085618.01592.00000009@mb-ch.aol.com>

Keyword Notify AOL, Message Boards, Ask the Staff goes around Maneck as well.

I urge everyone to realize it's difficult to get AOL's attention but it can be done!!! Persist!

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
Subject: How to Report Maneck to AOL
Date: 12/10/2001 6:45 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011210074556.11242.00002825@mb-fi.aol.com>

Those tired of Maneck posting her URL should see the relevant thread at Question to Community Leaders. Or call and complain at 800-827-6364.

Also Keyword Notify AOL, Message Boards, and then Ask the Staff, works well too. It goes over Maneck's head, as I was told on the phone.

Incidentally, when you email the TOSGeneral it goes directly to Maneck, nobody else, which is again why you have to go around her now if you're tired of her manipulating TOS rules and employing her double standards on many fronts.

As a bahai for over 25 years, I'm very tired of her dishonest manipulation of AOL and wish AOL would replace her with an honest person who fairly allows all views to be heard.

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
Subject: Re: When is it o.k. not to forgive some one. according to the writings?
Date: 12/13/2001 6:04 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011213070458.26004.00000008@mb-md.aol.com>

>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Spam....

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
Subject: Re: How to Report Maneck to AOL
Date: 12/13/2001 6:06 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011213070646.26004.00000011@mb-md.aol.com>

>Gee, that's news to me.
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>

><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

That's what I was told by AOL.

Still spamming your URL.....

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Sharing Knowledge

Date: 12/15/2001 7:02 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011215080235.12941.00000208@mb-cu.aol.com>

>warmest, Susan

>

><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

NOT fair....

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: How to Report Maneck to AOL

Date: 12/19/2001 7:56 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011219085618.01592.00000009@mb-ch.aol.com>

Keyword Notify AOL, Message Boards, Ask the Staff goes around Maneck as well.

I urge everyone to realize it's difficult to get AOL's attention but it can be done!!! Persist!

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: How to Report Maneck to AOL

Date: 12/19/2001 3:07 PM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011219160728.06255.00000146@mb-mq.aol.com>

We can also snail mail AOL with a complaint about Maneck's fundamentalist double standard or whatever. Here's the address:

AOL Customer Service

PO Box 10810

Herdon, VA 20170

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Sticks and stones...a few lizard tails...some gizzards...and dinner is ready!

Date: 12/10/2001 7:12 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011210081226.11242.00002830@mb-fi.aol.com>

>Gee, where can I get that clock?

>warmest, Susan

>

><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Please stop spamming your URL to AOL.

Those tired of Maneck's double standard in this regard should see my note at Announcements.

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Sticks and stones...

Date: 12/10/2001 7:13 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011210081359.11242.00002831@mb-fi.aol.com>

>And even then, they must be doing this knowingly. As you know from your >participation on TRB, there are at least >three individuals lately that were engaging in the kind of activity I >mentioned. But they were not declared Covenant breakers, rather they were >removed from the rolls. Why? Because the Universal House of Justice >determined they did not really meet the criteria of membership and hence were >not wholly obligated to the provisions of the Covenant.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Now here's a sample of the way in which Maneck SLANDERS people on AOL....

Note too her double standard URL.....

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Why brainwashed Baha'is don't trust Prof. Juan Cole anymore

Date: 12/11/2001 6:46 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011211074644.12731.00001739@mb-cu.aol.com>

>The truth.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

The truth is you are violating TOS rules regularly by posting your fundamentalist website URL while TOSing liberal-minded bahais like myself who attempt to present the other side of various issues.

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Ahh---the Pain - the Pain

Date: 12/14/2001 11:30 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011214123002.29393.00000366@mb-ch.aol.com>

><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Double standard.

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: My URL

Date: 12/14/2001 11:35 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011214123526.29393.00000367@mb-ch.aol.com>

Anyone else tired of Shahid/Maneck's double standard?

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/>

Call AOL and complain or use Keyword Notify AOL, Message Boards, Ask the Staff.

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: My URL

Date: 12/15/2001 6:42 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011215074232.12941.00000199@mb-cu.aol.com>

>He does it so his post will be removed and then he can complain that he is >being censored -- denied his freedom of speech. He will also claim the >Baha'is are doing it to him -- he will not admit that he violated AOL TOS.
>

False. It's obvious to any honest person that Maneck is SPAMMING the message boards with her URL while TOSing me and others.

She is in violation of the TOS rules which anyone may corroborate by calling 800-827-6364 or Notify AOL, Message Boards, Ask the Staff.

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: My URL
Date: 12/15/2001 6:43 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011215074331.12941.00000200@mb-cu.aol.com>

><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

There's nothing cute about shameless violation of the TOS rules.

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Sticks and stones...
Date: 12/15/2001 7:01 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011215080123.12941.00000207@mb-cu.aol.com>

>ttention from her. ;-}
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

TOS violation # 3,452....

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
Subject: Re: Sticks and stones...
Date: 12/15/2001 7:01 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011215080123.12941.00000207@mb-cu.aol.com>

>ttention from her. ;-}
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

TOS violation # 3,452....

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Posting URLs
Date: 12/20/2001 7:12 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011220081221.01511.00000315@mb-ch.aol.com>

>I would like to ask if it is considered spam if a hyperlink for a url is part >of a signature line?
>

Not if it's her URL. Otherwise, it's definitely spam....

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Posting URLs
Date: 12/20/2001 7:14 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011220081456.01511.00000316@mb-ch.aol.com>

You're not citing AOL's policy on URLs. Attempting to justify spamming your own?

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Posting URLs
Date: 12/21/2001 7:07 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011221080725.20183.00000391@mb-ba.aol.com>

>"We encourage members to provide hyperlinks in their posts where applicable, >but please keep in mind that those websites must not violate AOL's Community >Guidelines.

Post a link to that quotation. THAT is not what more than one AOL representative told me on the phone. Further, your fundamentalist interpretation of what is "appropriate" is not the same as AOL's but reveals your manipulation of the TOS rules in service of your fanatical views.

You've been violating the TOS rules with impunity for years....

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Posting URLs
Date: 12/21/2001 7:07 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011221080725.20183.00000391@mb-ba.aol.com>

>"We encourage members to provide hyperlinks in their posts where applicable, >but please keep in mind that those websites must not violate AOL's Community >Guidelines.

Post a link to that quotation. THAT is not what more than one AOL representative told me on the phone. Further, your fundamentalist interpretation of what is "appropriate" is not the same as AOL's but reveals your manipulation of the TOS rules in service of your fanatical views.

You've been violating the TOS rules with impunity for years....

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Proselytizing
Date: 12/13/2001 6:01 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011213070118.26004.00000007@mb-md.aol.com>

>that here.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Right. Still double-standard spamming your URL, I see....

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: URLs
Date: 12/16/2001 9:22 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011216102219.12878.00000468@mb-cu.aol.com>

Deleting my message doesn't conceal the fact that you continue to suppress URLs of a liberal disposition versus your fanatical opinions....

The "community leader" knows very well she is violating the TOS rules to her advantage while suppressing URLs to any more liberal-minded bahai sites such as mine. All I ask for is fairness from AOL and she is not capable of providing it and has not now for years. I'm tired of it and ask that she be treated accordingly or removed and replaced with someone who can be fair.

I've used Notify AOL, Message Boards, Ask the Staff many times to no avail. The community leader in question, Shahid/Susan Maneck knows she can rely on AOL not caring enough about an obscure religion board to do anything about it. Please prove her wrong....

Thank you for your help.

FG

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: ATTN - AOL - Result of Censorship by Maneck
Date: 12/17/2001 6:16 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011217071635.05612.00000905@mb-fo.aol.com>

For insight into what is the result of the incessant censorship imposed on the bahai message boards by Shahid/Maneck, see below:

>It may be Maneck and the fundamentalist bahais >have a mole, in a sense, inside AOL who is protecting her/them, all the >more reason to go around her....

That is one of the reasons why I have yet to call AOL and report to them what goes on in the bahai message boards. I see calling them an exercise in futility and unfortunately that made me skeptical into thinking calling will do any change.

It is also unfortunate that AOL does not have a system where members of AOL can vote for people whom they want to see moderate their message boards and other forums. You, me, and many people for the past several years have been harrassed by the coward bahai extremists. Recently, one of my messages was removed by the fanatic Maneck using the anonymous handle "Shahid." "Shahid," aka Maneck refuses to use her real name when moderating posts, something that the busta Mark Foster wouldn't even do (he as you know made it clear he was the moderator).

May you Fred or someone else here can find a way to convince AOL to have a third party or a fair-minded person on AOL to investigate the matter and see the double-standard and outright hypocrisy of the bahai extremist domination of bahai forums on AOL. Because with taking this course, complaining to AOL will become something done in vain, unfortunately.

Mahdi Muhammad

Please do something to STOP the continual suppression of discussion here on AOL by Susan Maneck.

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: ATTN - AOL - Result of Censorship by Maneck
Date: 12/19/2001 7:47 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011219084739.01592.00000004@mb-ch.aol.com>

3rd message from Mahdi on what Maneck is doing on AOL:

>Forgive me for sound a bit pessimistic, but the I went through

"Forgive me for sounding a bit pessimistic, but the experience I went through..." (I got a bad habit of not proofreading my posts!)

At any rate, I would like to add that I know that the fanatical behavior of the "forum leaders" on AOL bahai message boards has led to not only people leaving, but having suspended and cancelled accounts over messages that do not contain profanity, slander, threats, spamming and so on. I have talked to people in chat rooms on AOL about members have their accounts terminated over posts that do not contain the above-mentioned things. Many of them thought I was lying or at least exaggerating because they thought it was too crazy to be true.

Thanks to the bahai extremist domination on AOL bahai message boards, even the unbelievable has become a reality!

Mahdi Muhammad

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: ATTN - AOL - Result of Censorship by Maneck

Date: 12/19/2001 7:47 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011219084700.01592.00000003@mb-ch.aol.com>

Another message reposted regarding Maneck's abuse of AOL:

>BASICALLY, hikmat as interpreted by Maneck means she may lie and deceive all >she wants in "service" of the faith..... It's her modus operandi....

Yes, her fanatical interpretation of "hikmat" has made her into a wolf in sheep's clothing. I that believe as a result, her and Mark Foster's bullying on the bahai message boards has led to people to leave the message boards in utter disgust of the double-standards and "good-ole' boy" system they got going on there where certain people have carte blanche while others (like me and you) do not.

You Fred have documented on your site instances of outright double-standards employed by Foster and Maneck. I would like to ask you kindly to post in a new message to newsgroups and elsewhere the quotes of AOL members as well as others who complained and documented the double-standard and hypocrisy of Foster and Maneck and their extremist supporters.

Forgive me for sound a bit pessimistic, but the I went through on the AOL bahai message boards have made me feel hopeless into thinking that fighting for rights on AOL will do any good. Maybe if we constantly remind AOL staff by either calling them or sending them emails about what goes on, then perhaps there will be a chance that justice will prevail.

Hopefully something will be done and AOL will be heedful of our complaints and warnings.

Mahdi Muhammad

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: ATTN - AOL - Result of Censorship by Maneck

Date: 12/19/2001 2:57 PM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011219155747.06255.00000143@mb-mq.aol.com>

Maneck and you are the ones spewing out hatred, slander, and distortions. Both honest people among my fellow Bahais and non-Bahais of discernment increasingly realize that fact.

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: ATTN - AOL - Result of Censorship by Maneck

Date: 12/20/2001 7:02 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011220080242.01511.00000311@mb-ch.aol.com>

More smear and misrepresentations do not constitute addressing the issues of YOUR spamming your URL here on AOL and elsewhere for that matter....

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: ATTN - AOL - Result of Censorship by Maneck

Date: 12/20/2001 7:10 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011220081007.01511.00000314@mb-ch.aol.com>

>Mark Foster

Foster was almost as bad of a "leader" here as Maneck. AOL representatives should look at my website under AOL Censorship for extensive documentation of that fact....

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: "Brent Madison Reed" <brentmreed@hotmail.com>

Subject: Re: Susan, I found your long lost relatives/Maneck sends virus to Baha'iAngst

Date: Thursday, December 27, 2001 1:54 PM

Miss Maneck:

It is difficult for me to believe what you have just stated. Except for your private inquiries to me back in 1997 (to another email address) we have had no direct contact. Why would you put my hotmail email address in your address book? You have no reason to contact someone that you have publicly referred to as a spiritual contagion. Please give us a better excuse. This one isn't good enough.

It interesting too, that I received the virus immediately after reporting you to AOL for a matter involving your censorship of one of my postings. At that time you were very angry.

smaneck@aol.com (Susan Maneck) wrote in message news:<20011227053359.18585.00001902@mb-bk.aol.com>...

> >

> >

> >Maneck sends Baha'i Angst a virus:

> >

> ><https://www.geocities.com/baahith/BackAgain.html>

> >

> >

> >

> >Cute, Nima.

> >

> >While I did catch a virus (badtrans) which was then sent out to everyone in my > >address book, I don't think it could possibly have infected your websites.

> >Websites aren't in my address book.

> >Susan Maneck

> >Associate Professor of History

> >Jackson State University

> >

> >"And we were gathered in one place, a generation lost in space, with no time > >left to start again . . "

> >Don McLean's American Pie

> ><https://bahaistudies.net/susanmaneck/> From: "Mr Mahdi" <mrmahdi@aol.com>

Subject: Extremist Maneck violates AOL's TOS with impunity

Date: Friday, December 28, 2001 7:04 AM

Susan Maneck, the extremist bahai fanatic who is "in charge" of the bahai message boards on AOL, continues to violate AOL's TOS by posting her URLs and attacking other members such as me and friend with slanderous allegations and snide remarks. Extremist Maneck has TOSed posts from me, Fred and others that did not violate AOL's TOS rules. She is becoming a fascist dictator with her "forum leader" title, suppressing those who do not toe her line of fanatical viewpoints and agenda.

Maneck is just another example of what me, Fred Glaysher and others are warning about: extremist elements in the bahai faith that have been successful in manipulating, deceiving ISPs such as AOL, acting with outright double-standards and harrasing non extremists and open-minded individuals on forums such as message boards and chat rooms.

Please visit Fred's site to find extensive proof of Maneck's double-standards and violation of TOS rules with absolute impunity.

Mahdi Muhammad Subject: Re: Mr. Mahdi's fibs won't be rewarded by Santa this year.

Date: 12/29/2001 4:31 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: Mr Mahdi

Message-id: <20011229043107.07120.00001207@mb-dd.aol.com>

Greetings Fred,

>While I have no knowledge of whethering Mr. Mahdi ever said such a thing, I >know I can not trust any claim made by the fundamentalists among my fellow >bahais who regularly misrepresent and outright LIE about people in order to >discredit them....

Of course, I never said what I have been accused of saying. I would like to reiterate that the subject was about Islam's view of punishing apostates. Later on, what I said was twisted and distorted as a smear campaign against me. This continues to be the case to this very day.

The Quran says produce evidence if you are truthful. It is very interesting to note that none of the allegations made against me is corroborated with evidence. Susan has till this very day brought forth any evidence to support her allegations.

I detest the slander against me, Fred and others who are being harrassed and bullied here.

Mahdi Muhammad

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]

Sent: Friday, September 21, 2001 6:18 AM

To: TOSGeneral@aol.com

Cc: FG@home.com

Subject: Fwd: Board Posting at Baha'i Message Board

<<Message: Board Posting at Baha'i Message Board>>

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among our fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

The bahai community leader is harassing me trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the major lawsuit against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico. Please ask him to desist.

This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

A clear example of the way AOL is manipulated and freedom of speech and conscience are regularly DAMAGED by AOL's indulgence.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://www.angelfire.com/mi3/bahai/>

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, September 21, 2001 6:18 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: FG@home.com
Subject: Fwd: Board Posting at Baha'i Message Board

<<Message: Board Posting at Baha'i Message Board>>
AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among our fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

The bahai community leader is harassing me trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the major lawsuit against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico. Please ask him to desist.

This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

A clear example of the way AOL is manipulated and freedom of speech and conscience are regularly DAMAGED by AOL's indulgence.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://www.angelfire.com/mi3/bahai/>

From: Glaysh112001[SMTP:glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Wednesday, November 28, 2001 12:27 PM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com; TOSGen1@aol.com; FG@home.com
Subject: Re: Violence as an instrument

<HTML>> >Terrorist cells around
>>the world are waiting for the green light of jihad.
>
>I believe the 'green light' was given on Sept. 11.
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

</HTML>

<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>

From: Glaysh112001[SMTP:glaysh112001@aol.com]

Sent: Wednesday, November 28, 2001 12:46 PM

To: TOSGeneral@aol.com; FG@home.com

Subject: Re: Former Vice President speaks out

<HTML>>>"My heart goes out to the Baha'is of Iran.

They have suffered

>>more at the hands of their countrymen than that cult in Waco."

>>

>>--Dan Quayle

>

>Rule,

>

>Did Quayle really say that?

>

>warmest, Susan

>

>

>warmest, Susan

>

><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

</HTML>

<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>

From: Glaysh112001[SMTP:glaysh112001@aol.com]

Sent: Wednesday, November 28, 2001 12:48 PM

To: TOSGeneral@aol.com; FG@home.com

Subject: Re: Former Vice President speaks out

<HTML>>>His wife is a Christian Reconstructionist.

I'd be very careful.

>warmest, Susan

>

><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship> </HTML>

<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>

From: Glaysh112001[SMTP:glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Wednesday, November 28, 2001 12:52 PM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com; FG@home.com
Subject: Re: Cloning Around

<HTML>>and as such should be investigated and studied by scientists. (31 December >1937, to an individual)
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
>https://www.susanmaneck.com
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.
Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>
</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>

From: Glaysh112001[SMTP:glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Wednesday, November 28, 2001 1:01 PM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com; FG@home.com
Subject: Re: Are you going to allow slander?

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Are you going to allow slander?
>Date: 9/6/2001 11:18 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: WScott1995
>Message-id: <20010907001831.20750.00000610@mb-fo.aol.com>
>
>
>Shahid,
>
>I don't need a document. Anyone who spends as much time as Fred does trying >to make the Baha'i Faith and its members look bad can't be a Baha'i. It's >really very simple, isn't it?
>
>Love and peace, Wendy ~~~{~{@
>R
>"There's only one race. The human race. You're either in or you're out."
>Lou Mattoni (Scott Bakula), Mean Streak
>

The community leader, Shahid, Ms. Maneck, is selectively permitting slander on the bahai message boards.

</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>

From: Glaysh112001@aol.com[SMTP:Glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, November 30, 2001 8:36 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: FG@home.com
Subject: Fwd: Please remove posts.

<<Message: Re: Please remove posts.>>

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

This volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom she and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>
It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/>

From: Glaysh112001@aol.com[SMTP:Glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, November 30, 2001 8:37 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: FG@home.com
Subject: Fwd: Are you going to suppress my posts re talk.religion.bahai?

<<Message: Re: Are you going to suppress my pos...>>

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

This volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom she and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>
It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/>

From: Glaysh112001@aol.com[SMTP:Glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, November 30, 2001 8:40 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: LDRSLFSTJerry@aol.com; FG@home.com
Subject: Re: Board Posting at Baha'i

This volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom she and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views she opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/>

From: Glaysh112001@aol.com[SMTP:Glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, November 30, 2001 8:41 AM
To: FG@home.com
Subject: Fwd: Please remove posts.

<<Message: Re: Please remove posts.>>
phone #

From: Glaysh112001[SMTP:glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, November 30, 2001 9:16 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com; FG@home.com
Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress "irregular tax breaks"?

<HTML>TOSGeneral:

Please find below yet another example of Ms. Maneck, Shahid, the bahai message boards community leader, posting her own URL while TOSing anyone who posts URLs to more liberal bahai sites.

This volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom she and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views she opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

>Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress "irregular tax breaks"?
>Date: 9/9/2001 9:03 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Smaneck
>Message-id: <20010909220324.18255.00001516@mb-md.aol.com>
>
>
>>The apparent intention is indeed to suppress the Israeli newspaper report of >>the uhj receiving "irregular tax breaks."
>>
>
>What those 'irregular tax breaks' are all about is the fact that Baha'is get
>a rebate of value added taxes as a religious organization.
>Big deal! I guess there are some members of the religious right who probably >object to anyone but Orthodox Jews getting those. But if Fred can make it >look like a case of corruption, you can be sure he will.
>warmest, Susan

>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>

From: Glaysh112001@aol.com[SMTP:Glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, November 30, 2001 9:26 AM
To: BenKucharski@aol.com
Cc: FG@home.com
Subject: Bahai message boards, URL posted by community leader

Ben,

Nice talking with you and thank you for your help. Please find the message I mentioned to you at the end, along several excerpts from messages that appear all over the bahai message boards.

As I mentioned, I and others believe this volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom she and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views she opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/>

Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress "irregular tax breaks"?
Date: 9/9/2001 9:03 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Smaneck
Message-id: <20010909220324.18255.00001516@mb-md.aol.com>

>The apparent intention is indeed to suppress the Israeli newspaper report of
>the uhj receiving "irregular tax breaks."
>

What those 'irregular tax breaks' are all about is the fact that Baha'is get a rebate of value added taxes as a religious organization. Big deal! I guess there are some members of the religious right who probably object to anyone but Orthodox Jews getting those. But if Fred can make it look like a case of corruption, you can be sure he will.
warmest, Susan

<https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Further examples of Shahid or Ms. Maneck's unfairness on AOL scattered all over the bahai message boards:

<HTML>>and as such should be investigated and studied by scientists. (31 December 1937, to an individual)
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example. Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>
<HTML>>>"My heart goes out to the Baha'is of Iran. They have suffered >>more at the hands of their countrymen than that cult in Waco."
>>
>>--Dan Quayle
>
>Rule,
>
>Did Quayle really say that?
>
>warmest, Susan
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>
</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>
<HTML>>>His wife is a Christian Reconstructionalist. I'd be very careful.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.
Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship </HTML>

<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>

<HTML>> >Terrorist cells around

>>the world are waiting for the green light of jihad.

>

>I believe the 'green light' was given on Sept. 11.

>

>warmest, Susan

>

>https://www.susanmaneck.com

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship

</HTML>

<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>

From: Glaysh112001@aol.com[SMTP:Glaysh112001@aol.com]

Sent: Sunday, December 02, 2001 10:23 AM

To: BenKucharski@aol.com

Cc: FG@hotmail.com

Subject: Fwd: Board Posting at Keyword: Baha'i

<<Message: Board Posting at Keyword: Baha'i>>

Subj: Board Posting at Keyword: Baha'i

Date: 12/1/2001 4:52:13 PM Eastern Standard Time

From: LDRS LFST Shahid

To: Glaysh112001

CC: LDRS LFST Mgr, LDRS LFST Jerry

Dear Member:

Regarding your messages posted at: Baha'i Message Boards>Question to the Community Leader.

To avoid further disruption to the message board, your posts have been removed. Please review Keyword: Message Board Product Guidelines and Keyword:

Spirituality Message Board Standards for more information on what is appropriate in our community.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Please address any questions or comments to LDRS LFST Mgr.

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Host
AOL Lifestyles

Subject: Re: URLs
Date: 12/1/2001 9:22 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011201102255.14937.00000202@mb-fr.aol.com>

>The question has arisen as to the use of URLs. It is perfectly okay to post a >URL to a website on this board so long as the material on that website is in >keeping with the Board purpose, along with TOS and community standards. If >not, such a post may be removed.
>LDRS LFST Shahid
>AOL Lifestyles
>

And as a bahai fundamentalist you define and decide what is in keeping with the purpose of the board.... That's the problem in my opinion and that of many other people now for years..... Under such a specious interpretation of AOL TOS rules and the bahai writings, you may spam YOUR URL all over these bahai message boards?

Is Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, a real university unlike the one you tutor at, going to have his website suppressed while yours is allowed? AOL TOS General and others should note Prof. Cole has widely published on bahai censorship on and off the Internet, including a book with Columbia University Press.

Further examples of Ms. Maneck's unfairness on AOL, with only her fundamentalist website allowed:

>and as such should be investigated and
>studied by scientists. (31 December >1937, to an individual)
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
>https://www.susanmaneck.com
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example. Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
>>"My heart goes out to the Baha'is of Iran.
They have suffered
>>more at the hands of their countrymen than that cult in Waco."

>>
>>--Dan Quayle
>
>Rule,
>
>Did Quayle really say that?
>
>warmest, Susan
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
>https://www.susanmaneck.com
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
>His wife is a Christian Reconstructionist.
I'd be very careful.
>warmest, Susan
>
>https://www.susanmaneck.com
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.
Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
> >Terrorist cells around
>>the world are waiting for the green light of jihad.
>
>I believe the 'green light' was given on Sept. 11.
>
>warmest, Susan
>
>https://www.susanmaneck.com

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Community Leader concealing evidence of her abusing TOS rules
Date: 11/30/2001 6:38 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011130073827.09100.00000004@mb-mv.aol.com>

Shahid, Ms. Maneck, is removing messages of hers in which she spams her URL all over AOL bahai messages boards while suppressing and TOSing fellow bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist views.

I ask the TOSGeneral to please ask her to desist or replace her who someone who can be a fair and impartial community leader.

FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Open Letter to TOSGeneral
Date: 11/30/2001 7:44 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011130084420.09100.00000016@mb-mv.aol.com>

This volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom she and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views she opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress "irregular tax breaks"?
Date: 11/30/2001 8:16 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011130091605.09100.00000022@mb-mv.aol.com>

TOSGeneral:

Please find below yet another example of Ms. Maneck, Shahid, the bahai message boards community leader, posting her own URL while TOSing anyone who posts URLs to more liberal bahai sites.

This volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom she and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<A HREF="https://www-

personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm">https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views she opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

>Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress "irregular tax breaks"?
>Date: 9/9/2001 9:03 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Smaneck
>Message-id: <20010909220324.18255.00001516@mb-md.aol.com>
>
>
>>The apparent intention is indeed to suppress the Israeli newspaper report of >>the uhj receiving "irregular tax breaks."
>>
>
>What those 'irregular tax breaks' are all about is the fact that Baha'is get
>a rebate of value added taxes as a religious organization.
>Big deal! I guess there are some members of the religious right who probably >object to anyone but Orthodox Jews getting those. But if Fred can make it >look like a case of corruption, you can be sure he will.
>warmest, Susan
>
>https://www.susanmaneck.com
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Disagreements with TOS and/or community guidelines
Date: 12/1/2001 9:26 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011201102602.14937.00000203@mb-fr.aol.com>

>Subject: Disagreements with TOS and/or community guidelines
>Date: 12/1/2001 4:12 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: LDRS LFST Shahid
>Message-id: <20011201041245.02572.00000303@mb-dh.aol.com>
>
>
>
>Hey everyone :) I know that strong opinions abound, but please remember >that the message boards are not the place to carry on personal arguments nor >disagreements of TOS and/or community guidelines.
>
>The best sources of information for questions or disagreements with actions
>taken are LDRS LFST Mgr, TOSGeneral, or Keyword TOSQuestions.
>
>Thank you for understanding everyone :)
>
>LDRS LFST Shahid
>AOL Lifestyles
>

You're making an utterly false appearance here of fairness and reasonableness. Anyone remotely familiar with your history of censorship and coercion of conscience on AOL will not fail to recognize what you're really doing here.

FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress my posts re talk.religion.bahai?
Date: 12/1/2001 9:38 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011201103847.14937.00000205@mb-fr.aol.com>

Your suggestion here is completely bogus. I have not posted the same message. Your distorting and misrepresenting my posts in order to suit your fundamentalist motives and justify your wish to fraudulently TOS me. You're obviously playing to the choir, the TOSGeneral in this case.

The repeated posting of your URL is okay, though, of course....

>Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress my posts re talk.religion.bahai?
>Date: 11/30/2001 1:08 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: LDRS LFST Shahid
>Message-id: <20011130010806.12953.00000033@mb-ch.aol.com>
>
>
>Dear friends,
>
>I would like to remind everyone that a given post should only be made once on >this board within any thirty day period. Otherwise it constitutes spam and as >such will be considered disruptive.
>LDRS LFST Shahid
>AOL Lifestyles
>
>
>
>
>
>

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: Glaysh112001@aol.com[SMTP:Glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Sunday, December 02, 2001 10:26 AM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Fwd: Board Posting at Keyword: Baha'i

<<Message: Board Posting at Keyword: Baha'i>>
not the message I had posted; I had deleted URLs to my website

From: Glaysh112001[SMTP:glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Sunday, December 02, 2001 10:48 AM
To: benkucharski@aol.com; FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: The hypocrisy of Shahid's censorship

<HTML>Rule,

As a bahai for more than 25 years, I couldn't agree more with your analysis of the way things stand in the bahai faith and here on AOL. Thanks for your courage and persistence under severe conditions....

Fred

>Subject: The hypocrisy of Shahid's censorship
>Date: 12/2/2001 12:36 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Ruletherod
>Message-id: <20011202003621.16383.00000295@mb-ma.aol.com>
>

>
>Subject: Hate Speech
>Date: 12/1/2001 4:57 PM
>From: LDRS LFST Shahid
>
>
>
>Dear Members,
>
>Please keep in mind that this board is dedicated to discussion of the Baha'i >Faith. We should avoid making derogatory comments about other religions here.
>Also, keep in mind that postings which contain hate speech and urge violence >are not acceptable in any area of the service.
>
>LDRS LFST Shahid
>AOL Lifestyles
>
>
> This is just plain old-fashioned censorship; you're overreacting >again. You're trying to impose a sugarcoated world here in the name of >the Baha'i Faith. Everything has to be politically correct!
>
> I think all of the derogatory talk about "covenant-breakers" being a >"spiritual-illness" and the like is hate speech...but Baha'is have their >double-standards about all this.
>
> The Taliban and the tyrants in Iran have one thing in common >with Baha'is: censorship -- the suppression of free speech. As long >as this happens, the world will reject the Baha'i Faith the way it has >Fascism.
>
> What have you learned from the past, Shahid?
>You certainly know nothing about McCarthyism.
>
>--Rule
>
</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>

From: Glaysh112001@aol.com[SMTP:Glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Sunday, December 02, 2001 5:16 PM
To: FG@home.com
Cc: LDRSLFSTMgr@aol.com; LDRSLFSTJerry@aol.com
Subject: Re: Board Posting at Keyword: Baha'i

I believe LDRS LFST Shahid the community leader of the bahai message boards is either TOSing me a second for the very same message or has changed the second message I posted under Questions to Community Leaders in which I had deleted the link to my website. Please consult my original posts to determine whether she has added my links back in and then passed it off to you as my message in order to re-TOS me.

Thank you.

Fred Glaysher

Subj: Board Posting at Keyword: Baha'i
Date: 12/1/2001 5:24:30 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: LDRS LFST Shahid
To: Glaysh112001
CC: LDRS LFST Mgr, LDRS LFST Jerry

Dear Member:

Regarding your messages posted at: Baha'i Message Boards>General Discussion

To avoid further disruption to the message board, your posts have been removed. Please review Keyword: Message Board Product Guidelines and Keyword: Spirituality Message Board Standards for more information on what is appropriate in our community.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Please address any questions or comments to LDRS LFST Mgr.

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Host
AOL Lifestyles

Subject: Re: NM Lawsuit - Summary of Hearing to Dismiss
Date: 11/28/2001 11:23 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011128122319.22507.00003580@mb-cg.aol.com>

>>New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL
>
>Oh, you mean that case that got thrown out of court!
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

Subject: Re: Violence as an instrument
Date: 11/28/2001 11:27 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011128122703.22507.00003583@mb-cg.aol.com>

> >Terrorist cells around
>>the world are waiting for the green light of jihad.
>
>I believe the 'green light' was given on Sept. 11.
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

Subject: Re: Former Vice President speaks out
Date: 11/28/2001 11:46 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011128124622.13024.00002523@mb-mg.aol.com>

>>"My heart goes out to the Baha'is of Iran. They have suffered >>more at the hands of their countrymen than that cult in Waco."
>>
>>--Dan Quayle
>
>Rule,

>
>Did Quayle really say that?
>
>warmest, Susan
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Former Vice President speaks out
Date: 11/28/2001 11:48 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011128124832.13024.00002526@mb-mg.aol.com>

>His wife is a Christian Reconstructionist. I'd be very careful.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.
Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>
FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: Glaysh112001@aol.com[SMTP:Glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Wednesday, December 05, 2001 8:35 AM
To: Cat@aol.com; BenKucharski@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Community Leader on Bahai message boards posts her URL

bahai message boards>Question to the Community Leaders

>Subject: URLs
>Date: 12/1/2001 4:15 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: LDRS LFST Shahid
>Message-id: <20011201041527.02572.00000304@mb-dh.aol.com>

>
>
>Dear Members,

>
>The question has arisen as to the use of URLs. It is perfectly okay to post a
>URL to a website on this board so long as the material on that website is in >keeping with the Board purpose, along with TOS and community standards. If >not, such a post may be removed.
>LDRS LFST Shahid
>AOL Lifestyles

I'm emailing Ben Kucharski and the Community Action Team because it's proving impossible to get the attention of anyone at AOL other than your former responses from the TOS General that refer me back to the community leader, WHO IS THE PROBLEM and IS UNFAIRLY MANIPULATING TOS RULES!!!

The community leader of the bahai message boards, Shahid or Susan Maneck, is regularly TOSing more liberal-minded people for posting URLs while posting dozens of copies of her URL to her own fundamentalist website.

As I mentioned, I and other liberal-minded bahais believe this volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom she and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views she opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

I'm only asking for fairness! IF we shouldn't post URLs, neither should she! She has now turned it into a "policy" permitting her to judge what is in "keeping with the Board purpose" while suppressing anyone who disagrees with her. See all of the examples below, scattered all over the bahai message boards.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/>

Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress "irregular tax breaks"?
Date: 9/9/2001 9:03 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Smaneck
Message-id: <20010909220324.18255.00001516@mb-md.aol.com>

>The apparent intention is indeed to suppress the Israeli newspaper report of
>the uhj receiving "irregular tax breaks."
>

What those 'irregular tax breaks' are all about is the fact that Baha'is get a rebate of value added taxes as a religious organization. Big deal! I guess there are some members of the religious right who probably object to anyone but Orthodox Jews getting those. But if Fred can make it look like a case of corruption, you can be sure he will.
warmest, Susan

<https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Further examples of Shahid or Ms. Maneck's unfairness on AOL scattered all over the bahai message boards:

<HTML>>and as such should be investigated and studied by scientists. (31 December >1937, to an individual)

>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example. Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>
<HTML>>"My heart goes out to the Baha'is of Iran.
They have suffered
>>more at the hands of their countrymen than that cult in Waco."
>>
>>--Dan Quayle
>
>Rule,
>
>Did Quayle really say that?
>
>warmest, Susan
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>
</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>
<HTML>>His wife is a Christian Reconstructionalist.
I'd be very careful.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.
Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

https://members.fortuneci
ty.com/bahaicensorship </HTML>

<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>

<HTML>> >Terrorist cells around

>>the world are waiting for the green light of jihad.

>

>I believe the 'green light' was given on Sept. 11.

>

>warmest, Susan

>

>https://www.susanmaneck.com

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

https://members.fortuneci
ty.com/bahaicensorship

</HTML>

<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>

From: Glaysh112001[SMTP:glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, December 06, 2001 7:32 AM
To: FG@hotmail.com; CAT@aol.com; benkucharski@aol.com
Subject: Re: URLs

<HTML>>Subject: URLs
>Date: 12/1/2001 4:15 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: LDRS LFST Shahid
>Message-id: <20011201041527.02572.00000304@mb-dh.aol.com>

>

>

>Dear Members,

>

>The question has arisen as to the use of URLs. It is perfectly okay to post a
>URL to a website on this board so long as the material on that website is in >keeping with the Board purpose, along with TOS and community standards. If >not, such a post may be removed.

>LDRS LFST Shahid

>AOL Lifestyles

THAT'S not what AOL's TOS rules state, which prohibit, apparently, ALL URLs.
There's no codicil on yours, i.e., Susan Maneck.

Most normal people would call this a double standards. See below. Many other examples exist all over the bahai message boards.

like a case of corruption, you can be sure he will.
warmest, Susan

<https://www.susanmaneck.com>

>1937, to an individual)
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

>Did Quayle really say that?
>
>warmest, Susan
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>
I'd be very careful.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>
11.
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>

From: Glaysh112001[SMTP:glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, December 13, 2001 7:11 AM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Proselytizing

<HTML>Your usual slander, clear and simply....

>subject: Re: Proselytizing
>Date: 12/12/2001 11:46 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Smaneck
>Message-id: <20011212114659.22386.00003182@mb-md.aol.com>
>
>
>>
>>When you, as a person who is not a Baha'i, come here and try to persuade >>Baha'is to abandon their beliefs and join your religion you are >>proselytizing.
>
>Dear Sunni,
>
>I don't think Fred can be said to have a religion. He has not promoted >anything of a positive nature about his beliefs, he has only trashed the >Baha'i Faith. Were he even to present an alternative Baha'i Faith here, we >would have to accept that. After all, even Covenant breaking posts are >permitted in this forum.
>
>What is confusing here, is that Fred continues to call himself a Baha'i >although he is not a part of the Baha'i community or any alternative. Nor is >he presenting any alternative vision which he calls Baha'i. And he would be >free to do that here.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>
>
>

>
>
>
>

</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>

From: Glaysh112001@aol.com[SMTP:Glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Saturday, December 15, 2001 8:12 AM
To: BenKucharski@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: (no subject)

Ben,

Contacting AOL like sending an email into the blankness of the universe.

So here goes again:

Please look at the 9 message thread at bahai message boards > General Discussion > My URL

The "community leader" knows very well she is violating the TOS rules to her advantage while suppressing URLs to any more liberal-minded bahai sites such as mine. All I ask for is fairness from AOL and she is not capable of providing it and has not now for years. I'm tired of it and ask that she be treated accordingly or removed and replaced with someone who can be fair.

I've used Notify AOL, Message Boards, Ask the Staff many times to no avail. The community leader in question, Shahid/Susan Maneck knows she can rely on AOL not caring enough about an obscure religion board to do anything about it. Please prove her wrong....

Thank you for your help.

FG
glaysh112001

From: Glaysh112001@aol.com[SMTP:Glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Wednesday, December 19, 2001 9:39 AM
To: SteveCase@aol.com
Cc: Glaysh112001@aol.com; FG@home.com
Subject: Bahai Message Board Community Leader

I'm emailing Steve Case because it's proving impossible to get the attention of anyone at AOL other than your form responses from the TOS General that refer me back to the community leader, WHO IS THE PROBLEM and IS UNFAIRLY MANIPULATING TOS RULES!!!

The community leader of the bahai message boards, Shahid or Susan Maneck, is regularly TOSing more liberal-minded people for posting URLs while posting dozens of copies of her URL to her own fundamentalist website.

As I mentioned, I and other liberal-minded bahais believe this volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom she and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree. This has gone on FOR YEARS on AOL.

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais, such as Susan Maneck, to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views she opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

I'm only asking for fairness! IF we shouldn't post URLs, neither should she! She has now turned it into a "policy" permitting her to judge what is in "keeping with the Board purpose" while suppressing anyone who disagrees with her. See all of the examples below, scattered all over the bahai message boards.

I have extensive documentation of censorship on AOL available on my website, probably more a couple of megabytes worth stretching back for at least three years. See below.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/>

DOCUMENTATION of abuse of AOL:

"Recently, Dr. Maneck, A.K.A. LDRS LFST, Shahid, on America Online's Baha'i Faith Bulletin Board posted the following...."

What may be expected from such a bahai community "leader" on AOL may be judged from Ms. Maneck's past treatment of opinions other than her own:

<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship/Maneck1.htm>

See her slandering other views as garbage:

<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship/Maneck3.htm>

See her slandering other views as litter:

<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship/Maneck7.htm>

See also messages related to her abuse of her AOL "position" :

<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship/AOL.htm>

<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship/AOLcensorship.htm>

<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship/AOLcensorship1.htm>

Continuing AOL Censorship by bahais 2001

<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship/AOL2001.htm>

Those tired of Maneck posting her URL on AOL should see the relevant thread at Question to Community Leaders. Or call and complain at 800-827-6364.

Also complain at Keyword Notify AOL, Message Boards, and then Ask the Staff, works well too. It goes over Maneck's head, as I was told on the phone.

Incidentally, when you email the TOSGeneral from anywhere in bahai AOL space it in fact goes directly to Maneck, nobody else, which is again why you have to go around her now if you're tired of her manipulating TOS rules and employing her double standards on many fronts. SHE'S the TOSGeneral!!! No wonder nothing results....

As a bahai for over 25 years, I'm very tired of her dishonest manipulation of AOL and wish AOL would replace her with an honest person who fairly allows all views to be heard.

1. (below from AOL member mrmahdi@aol.com Mr Mahdi)

>It may be Maneck and the fundamentalist bahais

>have a mole, in a sense, inside AOL who is protecting her/them, all the >more reason to go around her....

That is one of the reasons why I have yet to call AOL and report to them what goes on in the bahai message boards. I see calling them an exercise in futility and unfortunately that made me skeptical into thinking calling will do any change.

It is also unfortunate that AOL does not have a system where members of AOL can vote for people whom they want to see moderate their message boards and other forums. You, me, and many people for the past several years have been harrassed by the coward bahai extremists. Recently, one of my messages was removed by the fanatic Maneck using the anonymous handle "Shahid." "Shahid," aka Maneck refuses to use her real name when moderating posts, something that the busta Mark Foster wouldn't even do (he as you know made it clear he was the moderator).

May you Fred or someone else here can find a way to convince AOL to have a third party or a fair-minded person on AOL to investigate the matter and see the double-standard and outright hypocrisy of the bahai extremist domination of bahai forums on AOL. Because with taking this course, complaining to AOL will become something done in vain, unfortunately.

Mahdi Muhammad

Please do something to STOP the continual suppression of discussion here on AOL by Susan Maneck.

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

2.

>BASICALLY, hikmat as interpreted by Maneck means she may lie and deceive all >she wants in "service" of the faith..... It's her modus operandi....

Yes, her fanatical interpretation of "hikmat" has made her into a wolf in sheep's clothing. I that believe as a result, her and Mark Foster's bullying on the bahai message boards has led to people to leave the message boards in utter disgust of the double-standards and "good-ole' boy" system they got going on there where certain people have carte blanche while others (like me and you) do not.

You Fred have documented on your site instances of outright double-standards employed by Foster and Maneck. I would like to ask you kindly to post in a new message to newsgroups and elsewhere the quotes of AOL members as well as others who complained and documented the double-standard and hypocrisy of Foster and Maneck and their extremist supporters.

Forgive me for sound a bit pessimistic, but the I went through on the AOL bahai message boards have made me feel hopeless into thinking that fighting for rights on AOL will do any good. Maybe if we constantly remind AOL staff by either calling them or sending them emails about what goes on, then perhaps there will be a chance that justice will prevail.

Hopefully something will be done and AOL will be heedful of our complaints and warnings.

Mahdi Muhammad

3.

>Forgive me for sound a bit pessimistic, but the I went through

"Forgive me for sounding a bit pessimistic, but the experience I went through..." (I got a bad habit of not proofreading my posts!)

At any rate, I would like to add that I know that the fanatical behavior of the "forum leaders" on AOL bahai message boards has led to not only people leaving, but having suspended and cancelled accounts over messages that do not contain profanity, slander, threats, spamming and so on. I have talked to people in chat rooms on AOL about members have their accounts terminated over posts that do not contain the above-mentioned things. Many of them thought I was lying or at least exaggerating because they thought it was too crazy to be true.

Thanks to the bahai extremist domination on AOL bahai message boards, even the unbelievable has become a reality!

Mahdi Muhammad

From: Fred Glaysher[SMTP:fredglaysher@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, December 19, 2001 10:05 AM
To: FG
Subject: Bahai Message Boards Community Leader

An AOL representative on the phone recommended I write Customer Service about the issue below.

I'm writing Steve Case and Customer Service because it's proving impossible to get the attention of anyone at AOL other than your form responses from the TOSGeneral that refer me back to the community leader, WHO IS THE PROBLEM and IS UNFAIRLY MANIPULATING TOS RULES!!!

The community leader of the bahai message boards, Shahid or Susan Maneck, is regularly TOSing more liberal-minded people for posting URLs while posting dozens of copies of her URL to her own fundamentalist website.

As I mentioned, I and other liberal-minded bahais believe this volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom she and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree. This has gone on FOR YEARS on AOL.

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais, such as Susan Maneck, to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views she opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

I'm only asking for fairness! IF we shouldn't post URLs, neither should she! She has now turned it into a "policy" permitting her to judge what is in "keeping with the Board purpose" while suppressing anyone who disagrees with her. See all of the examples below, scattered all over the bahai message boards.

I have extensive documentation of censorship on AOL available on my website, probably more a couple of megabytes worth stretching back for at least three years. See below.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/>

DOCUMENTATION of abuse of AOL:

"Recently, Dr. Maneck, A.K.A. LDRS LFST, Shahid, on America Online's Baha'i Faith Bulletin Board posted the following...."

What may be expected from such a bahai community "leader" on AOL may be judged from Ms. Maneck's past treatment of opinions other than her own:

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Maneck1.htm>

See her slandering other views as garbage:

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Maneck3.htm>

See her slandering other views as litter:

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Maneck7.htm>

See also messages related to her abuse of her AOL "position" :

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/AOL.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/AOLcensorship.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/AOLcensorship1.htm>

Continuing AOL Censorship by bahais 2001

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/AOL2001.htm>

Those tired of Maneck posting her URL on AOL should see the relevant thread at Question to Community Leaders. Or call and complain at 800-827-6364.

Also complain at Keyword Notify AOL, Message Boards, and then Ask the Staff, works well too. It goes over Maneck's head, as I was told on the phone.

Incidentally, when you email the TOSGeneral from anywhere in bahai AOL space it in fact goes directly to Maneck, nobody else, which is again why you have to go around her now if you're tired of her manipulating TOS rules and employing her double standards on many fronts. SHE'S the TOSGeneral!! No wonder nothing results....

As a bahai for over 25 years, I'm very tired of her dishonest manipulation of AOL and wish AOL would replace her with an honest person who fairly allows all views to be heard.

1. (below from AOL member mrmahdi@aol.com Mr Mahdi)

>It may be Maneck and the fundamentalist bahais

>have a mole, in a sense, inside AOL who is protecting her/them, all the >more reason to go around her....

That is one of the reasons why I have yet to call AOL and report to them what goes on in the bahai message boards. I see calling them an exercise in futility and unfortunately that made me skeptical into thinking calling will do any change.

It is also unfortunate that AOL does not have a system where members of AOL can vote for people whom they want to see moderate their message boards and other forums. You, me, and many people for the past several years have been harrassed by the coward bahai extremists. Recently, one of my messages was removed by the fanatic Maneck using the anonymous handle "Shahid."

"Shahid,"

aka Maneck refuses to use her real name when moderating posts, something that the busta Mark Foster wouldn't even do (he as you know made it clear he was the moderator).

May you Fred or someone else here can find a way to convince AOL to have a third party or a fair-minded person on AOL to investigate the matter and see the double-standard and outright hypocrisy of the bahai extremist domination of bahai forums on AOL. Because with taking this course, complaining to AOL will become something done in vain, unfortunately.

Mahdi Muhammad

Please do something to STOP the continual suppression of discussion here on AOL by Susan Maneck.

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

2.

>BASICALLY, hikmat as interpreted by Maneck means she may lie and deceive all >she wants in "service" of the faith..... It's her modus operandi....

Yes, her fanatical interpretation of "hikmat" has made her into a wolf in sheep's clothing. I that believe as a result, her and Mark Foster's bullying on the bahai message boards has led to people to leave the message boards in utter disgust of the double-standards and "good-ole' boy" system they got going on there where certain people have carte blanche while others (like me and you) do not.

You Fred have documented on your site instances of outright double-standards employed by Foster and Maneck. I would like to ask you kindly to post in a new message to newsgroups and elsewhere the quotes of AOL members as well as others who complained and documented the double-standard and hypocrisy of Foster and Maneck and their extremist supporters.

Forgive me for sound a bit pessimistic, but the I went through on the AOL bahai message boards have made me feel hopeless into thinking that fighting for rights on AOL will do any good. Maybe if we constantly remind AOL staff by either calling them or sending them emails about what goes on, then perhaps there will be a chance that justice will prevail.

Hopefully something will be done and AOL will be heedful of our complaints and warnings.

Mahdi Muhammad

3.

>Forgive me for sound a bit pessimistic, but the I went through

"Forgive me for sounding a bit pessimistic, but the experience I went through..." (I got a bad habit of not proofreading my posts!)

At any rate, I would like to add that I know that the fanatical behavior of the "forum leaders" on AOL bahai message boards has led to not only people leaving, but having suspended and cancelled accounts over messages that do not contain profanity, slander, threats, spamming and so on. I have talked to people in chat rooms on AOL about members have their accounts terminated over posts that do not contain the above-mentioned things. Many of them thought I was lying or at least exaggerating because they thought it was too crazy to be true.

Thanks to the bahai extremist domination on AOL bahai message boards, even the unbelievable has become a reality!

Mahdi Muhammad

From: Glaysh112001[SMTP:glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Wednesday, December 19, 2001 4:19 PM
To: FG@home.com; SteveCase@aol.com; TOSGeneral@aol.com
Subject: Re: ATTN - AOL - Result of Censorship by Maneck

<HTML>Mr. Mahdi,

I suggest you email Steve Case@aol.com, post this to Notify AOL, and snail mail a copy to AOL Customer Service, PO Box 10810, Herdon VA 20170. The number to call to complain is 800-827-6364.

For those interested, I believe Mr. Mahdi's statements here under the bahai message boards at Question to Community Leaders>ATTN - AOL - Result of Censorshare essentially correct. I witnessed Shahid/Susan Maneck's unfair treatment of people of all persuasions on AOL and elsewhere for years. Extensive documentation may be found on my website about Maneck's abuse of her AOL position and her driving many, many people out of these forums.

Thanks for trying to oppose her tyranny here. Perhaps someday someone at AOL will listen before they're sued over the censorship she has imposed in their name!

FG

>Subject: Re: ATTN - AOL - Result of Censorship by Maneck
>Date: 12/19/2001 3:54 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Mr Mahdi
>Message-id: <20011219155440.01439.00000028@mb-mk.aol.com>
>
>
>>Well, well, Freddy, I see you've made an interesting bed-fellow with "Death >>to Baha'is" Muslim militant, Mr. Madhi.
>
>Dr. Maneck and has committed slander as well as mocked my name, both I take >it are not allowed under TOS.
>
>I have not advocated the death of any group, including bahais. I have made >it clear many times on the Internet in newsgroups such as TRB that I have >many bahai friends. My beliefs advocate the FREE discussion of beliefs and >the promotion of having forums where people can express and debate their >beliefs with other individuals. The alleged statement that Maneck claimed I >made was taken out of context when the topic of apostasy was discussed in a >chat room. Maneck should not feel that since she is also a forum leader >here, she can slander fellow members with impunity.
>
>Also, my handle is "Mr Mahdi" not Mr. "Madhi." It is obvious that "Madhi" is >an attempt to mock my name by insisting I am "mad." I would like an apology >and the removal of Maneck's post.
>
>>Try and keep the white powder off the board though, would you?
>>warmest, Susan
>
>I find this tasteless, especially for a "forum leader." Maneck, are you >making light of the recent use of anthrax as a tool of terrorism? Please >clarify for us your statements!
>Mahdi Muhammad
>
>
>
>
>
>

</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@home.com]
Sent: Wednesday, December 19, 2001 4:59 PM
To: Yorgos Marinakis Subject: Suing AOL

Yorgos,

Would you consider taking on a case against AOL? See link below.

<https://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/articles/A22150-2001Aug30.html>

There's extensive documentation on my website about Maneck's abuse of AOL's TOS rules and censorship of liberals and others. See in the left column of my homepage. I have many, many messages attempting to contact AOL which they have always ignored, while she continues to TOS me and others, driving different views off the bahai message boards.

I know a number of people share my grievances with AOL and have also not received any response from them.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

From: Glaysh112001@aol.com[SMTP:Glaysh112001@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, December 28, 2001 8:08 AM
To: SteveCase@aol.com
Cc: FG@home.com
Subject: SUING AOL - Re: Bahai Message Boards Community Leader)

Your form letter below does not address the issues I contacted Steve Case about. One of your AOL Representatives on you 800 line instructed me to email Mr. Case about the continual censorship of the AOL bahai message boards.

NOTE: AOL is leaving me and other members no alternative but to SUE in order to receive a fair and honest response to the problem of our fellow bahai who is a fundamentalist and consistently suppressing free speech and discussion.

I have now contacted a lawyer and herewith request that you provide me with the name, address, and phone number of your lawyer.

Sincerely,

FG
glaysh112001@aol.com

Subj: Re: Bahai Message Boards Community Leader
Date: 12/27/2001 10:08:20 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Steve Case
To: Glaysh112001

Dear Glaysh112001,

I am responding to your letter on behalf of Steve Case. Thank you for taking the time to write to us.

As you can imagine, Mr. Case, as the Chairman of AOL Time Warner, is extremely busy throughout the week. As a result, his schedule does not permit him to respond personally to the hundreds of email messages he receives daily. He asked me to help respond to the letters he receives, so that all members receive prompt replies to their inquiries. To keep Mr. Case informed, we compose a monthly update advising him of the member concerns and comments received.

Again, thanks for writing.

Sincerely,
Crystal
Office of the Chairman

-----original message-----
From: Glaysh112001@aol.com
To: SteveCase@aol.com

ALSO snail-mailed to Customer Service:

An AOL representative on the phone recommended I write Customer Service and Steve Case about the issue below.

I'm writing Steve Case and Customer Service because it's proving impossible to get the attention of anyone at AOL other than your form responses from the TOSGeneral that refer me back to the community leader, WHO IS THE PROBLEM and IS UNFAIRLY MANIPULATING TOS RULES!!!

The community leader of the bahai message boards, Shahid or Susan Maneck, is regularly TOSing more liberal-minded people for posting URLs while posting dozens of copies of her URL to her own fundamentalist website.

As I mentioned, I and other liberal-minded bahais believe this volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom she and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree. This has gone on FOR YEARS on AOL.

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais, such as Susan Maneck, to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views she opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

I'm only asking for fairness! IF we shouldn't post URLs, neither should she! She has now turned it into a "policy" permitting her to judge what is in "keeping with the Board purpose" while suppressing anyone who disagrees with her. See all of the examples below, scattered all over the bahai message boards.

I have extensive documentation of censorship on AOL available on my website, probably more a couple of megabytes worth stretching back for at least three years. See below.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/>

DOCUMENTATION of abuse of AOL:

"Recently, Dr. Maneck, A.K.A. LDRS LFST, Shahid, on America Online's Baha'i Faith Bulletin Board posted the following...."

What may be expected from such a bahai community "leader" on AOL may be judged from Ms. Maneck's past treatment of opinions other than her own:

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Maneck1.htm>

See her slandering other views as garbage:
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Maneck3.htm>

See her slandering other views as litter:
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Maneck7.htm>

See also messages related to her abuse of her AOL "position" :
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/AOL.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/AOLcensorship.htm>

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/AOLcensorship1.htm>

Continuing AOL Censorship by bahais 2001
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/AOL2001.htm>

Those tired of Maneck posting her URL on AOL should see the relevant thread at Question to Community Leaders. Or call and complain at 800-827-6364.

Also complain at Keyword Notify AOL, Message Boards, and then Ask the Staff, works well too. It goes over Maneck's head, as I was told on the phone.

Incidentally, when you email the TOSGeneral from anywhere in bahai AOL space it in fact goes directly to Maneck, nobody else, which is again why you have to go around her now if you're tired of her manipulating TOS rules and employing her double standards on many fronts. SHE'S the TOSGeneral!! No wonder nothing results....

As a bahai for over 25 years, I'm very tired of her dishonest manipulation of AOL and wish AOL would replace her with an honest person who fairly allows all views to be heard.

1. (below from AOL member mrmahdi@aol.com Mr Mahdi)
>It may be Maneck and the fundamentalist bahais
>have a mole, in a sense, inside AOL who is protecting her/them, all the >more reason to go around her....

That is one of the reasons why I have yet to call AOL and report to them what goes on in the bahai message boards. I see calling them an exercise in futility and unfortunately that made me skeptical into thinking calling will do any change.

It is also unfortunate that AOL does not have a system where members of AOL can vote for people whom they want to see moderate their message boards and other forums. You, me, and many people for the past several years have been harrassed by the coward bahai extremists. Recently, one of my messages was removed by the fanatic Maneck using the anonymous handle "Shahid." "Shahid," aka Maneck refuses to use her real name when moderating posts, something that the busta Mark Foster wouldn't even do (he as you know made it clear he was the moderator).

May you Fred or someone else here can find a way to convince AOL to have a third party or a fair-minded person on AOL to investigate the matter and see the double-standard and outright hypocrisy of the bahai extremist domination of bahai forums on AOL. Because with taking this course, complaining to AOL will become something done in vain, unfortunately.

Mahdi Muhammad

Please do something to STOP the continual suppression of discussion here on AOL by Susan Maneck.

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

2.
>BASICALLY, hikmat as interpreted by Maneck means she may lie and deceive all >she wants in "service" of the faith..... It's her modus operandi....

Yes, her fanatical interpretation of "hikmat" has made her into a wolf in sheep's clothing. I that believe as a result, her and Mark Foster's bullying on the bahai message boards has led to people to leave the message boards in utter disgust of the double-standards and "good-ole' boy" system they got going on there where certain people have carte blanche while others (like me and you) do not.

You Fred have documented on your site instances of outright double-standards employed by Foster and Maneck. I would like to ask you kindly to post in a new message to newsgroups and elsewhere the quotes of AOL members as well as others who complained and documented the double-standard and hypocrisy of Foster and Maneck and their extremist supporters.

Forgive me for sound a bit pessimistic, but the I went through on the AOL bahai message boards have made me feel hopeless into thinking that fighting for rights on AOL will do any good. Maybe if we constantly remind AOL staff by either calling them or sending them emails about what goes on, then perhaps there will be a chance that justice will prevail.

Hopefully something will be done and AOL will be heedful of our complaints and warnings.

Mahdi Muhammad

3.

>Forgive me for sound a bit pessimistic, but the I went through

"Forgive me for sounding a bit pessimistic, but the experience I went through..." (I got a bad habit of not proofreading my posts!)

At any rate, I would like to add that I know that the fanatical behavior of the "forum leaders" on AOL bahai message boards has led to not only people leaving, but having suspended and cancelled accounts over messages that do not contain profanity, slander, threats, spamming and so on. I have talked to people in chat rooms on AOL about members have their accounts terminated over posts that do not contain the above-mentioned things. Many of them thought I was lying or at least exaggerating because they thought it was too crazy to be true.

Thanks to the bahai extremist domination on AOL bahai message boards, even the unbelievable has become a reality!

Mahdi Muhammad

X-Rep: 21
X-MailId: 3765729
X-Queue: 2
X-Mailer: SwiftMail v3.86

From: MrMahdi@aol.com[SMTP:MrMahdi@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, December 28, 2001 1:52 PM
To: patrick_henry@liberty.com; Glaysh112001@aol.com; FG@home.com
Subject: Fwd: Terms of Service

<<Message: Terms of Service ...>>
Greetings Fred,

Here is the TOS violation notice I got from AOL. Bahai fanatics reported me on the bahai chat room for posting the "Answering Bahaullah" link. Bahais regularly post their links in bahai chat rooms and they never get TOSed. I urge you to also monitor chat rooms on AOL and see the double-standards employed by both AOL and Maneck et al.

Sincerely,

Mahdi Muhammad

From: MrMahdi@aol.com[SMTP:MrMahdi@aol.com]
Sent: Saturday, December 29, 2001 4:42 AM
To: patrick_henry@liberty.com; Glaysh112001@aol.com; FG@home.com
Subject: Concerning the lawsuit...

Greetings Fred,

I would like to ask about the possibility of suing AOL. You mentioned on the messages boards and on TRB about suing AOL for its constant refusal to heed customer complaints and take action against bahai ultra-extremism on its message boards and even chat rooms.

If you do decide to sue, what would be the role of victims like myself in the lawsuit? Would I have to be subpoenaed as a result? I ask because I am working on music album at this current time with plans on moving to Los Angeles next year. Due to my background, I do not think I would favor too highly to travel to whatever court room and testify. But what ever I can do to help the case, I would most likely help you. If you need emails, newsgroups postings, etc., please feel free to ask.

I hope whatever you do, in the end, we will get the rights we deserves as paying members of AOL.

Sincerely,

Mahdi Muhammad

Subj: Community Leader on Bahai message boards posts her URL
Date: 12/5/2001 8:35:03 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
To: Cat, Ben Kucharski
CC: FG@hotmail.com

bahai message boards>Question to the Community Leaders

>Subject: URLs
>Date: 12/1/2001 4:15 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: LDRS LFST Shahid
>Message-id: <20011201041527.02572.00000304@mb-dh.aol.com>
>
>
>Dear Members,
>
>The question has arisen as to the use of t URLs. Iis perfectly okay to post a
>URL to a website on this board so long as the material on that website is in >keeping with the Board purpose, along with TOS and community standards. If >not, such a post may be removed.
>LDRS LFST Shahid
>AOL Lifestyles

I'm emailing Ben Kucharski and the Community Action Team because it's proving impossible to get the attention of anyone at AOL other than that refer me back to the community leader, WHO IS THE PROBLEM and IS UNFAIRLY MANIPULATING TOS RULES!!!

The community leader of the bahai message boards, Shahid or Susan Maneck, is regularly TOSing more liberal-minded people for posting URL to her own fundamentalist website.

As I mentioned, I and other liberal-minded bahais believe this volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views she opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

I'm only asking for fairness! IF we shouldn't post URLs, neither should she! She has now turned it into a "policy" permitting her to judge while suppressing anyone who disagrees with her. See all of the examples below, scattered all over the bahai message boards.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/>

Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress "irregular tax breaks"?
Date: 9/9/2001 9:03 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Smaneck
Message-id: <20010909220324.18255.00001516@mb-md.aol.com>

>The apparent intention is indeed to suppress the Israeli newspaper report of
>the uhj receiving "irregular tax breaks."
>

What those 'irregular tax breaks' are all about is the fact that Baha'is get a rebate of value added taxes as a religious organization. Big deal! I guess there are some members of the religious right who probably object to anyone but Orthodox Jews getting those. But if Fred you can be sure he will.
warmest, Susan

<https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Further examples of Shahid or Ms. Maneck's unfairness on AOL scattered all over the bahai message boards:

<HTML>>and as such should be investigated and studied by scientists. (31 December 1937, to an individual)
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example. Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>
<HTML>>>"My heart goes out to the Baha'is of Iran. They have suffered >>more at the hands of their countrymen than that cult in Waco."
>>
>>--Dan Quayle
>
>Rule,
>
>Did Quayle really say that?
>
>warmest, Susan
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>
</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>
<HTML>>>His wife is a Christian Reconstructionist. I'd be very careful.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example. Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship> </HTML>
<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>
<HTML>>>Terrorist cells around
>>the world are waiting for the green light of jihad.
>
>I believe the 'green light' was given on Sept. 11.
>
>warmest, Susan

>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>

--

Subj:	Board Posting at Keyword: Baha'i
Date:	12/1/2001 4:52:13 PM Eastern Standard Time
From:	LDRS LFST Shahid
To:	Glaysh112001
CC:	LDRS LFST Mgr , LDRS LFST Jerry

Dear Member:

Regarding your messages posted at: Baha'i Message Boards>Question to the Community Leader.

To avoid further disruption to the message board, your posts have been removed. Please review Keyword: Message Board Product Guidelines Standards for more information on what is appropriate in our community.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Please address any questions or comments to LDRS LF

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Host
AOL Lifestyles

Subject: Re: URLs
Date: 12/1/2001 9:22 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011201102255.14937.00000202@mb-fr.aol.com>

>The question has arisen as to the use of URLs. It is perfectly okay to post a >URL to a website on this board so long as the material on that website is in >keeping with the Board purpose, along with TOS and community standards. If >not, such a post may be removed.
>LDRS LFST Shahid
>AOL Lifestyles
>

And as a bahai fundamentalist you define and decide what is in keeping with the purpose of the board.... That's the problem in my opinion an years..... Under such a specious interpretation of AOL TOS rules and the bahai writings, you may spam YOUR URL all over these bahai messag

Is Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, a real university unlike the one you tutor at, going to have his website suppressed while others should note Prof. Cole has widely published on bahai censorship on and off the Internet, including a book with Columbia University Pr

Further examples of Ms. Maneck's unfairness on AOL, with only her fundamentalist website allowed:

>and as such should be investigated and
studied by scientists. (31 December >1937, to an individual)
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.
Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
>>"My heart goes out to the Baha'is of Iran.
They have suffered
>>more at the hands of their countrymen than that cult in Waco."
>>
>>---Dan Quayle
>
>Rule,
>
>Did Quayle really say that?
>
>warmest, Susan
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
>His wife is a Christian Reconstructionist.
I'd be very careful.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.
Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
> >Terrorist cells around
>>the world are waiting for the green light of jihad.
>
>I believe the 'green light' was given on Sept. 11.
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Community Leader concealing evidence of her abusing TOS rules
Date: 11/30/2001 6:38 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011130073827.09100.00000004@mb-mv.aol.com>

Shahid, Ms. Maneck, is removing messages of hers in which she spams her URL all over AOL bahai messages boards while suppressing and TO share her fundamentalist views.

I ask the TOSGeneral to please ask her to desist or replace her who someone who can be a fair and impartial community leader.

FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Open Letter to TOSGeneral

Date: 11/30/2001 7:44 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011130084420.09100.00000016@mb-mv.aol.com>

This volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom she and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views she opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress "irregular tax breaks"?

Date: 11/30/2001 8:16 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011130091605.09100.00000022@mb-mv.aol.com>

TOSGeneral:

Please find below yet another example of Ms. Maneck, Shahid, the bahai message boards community leader, posting her own URL while TOSing bahai sites.

This volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom she and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views she opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

>Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress "irregular tax breaks"?

>Date: 9/9/2001 9:03 PM Eastern Standard Time

>From: Smaneck

>Message-id: <20010909220324.18255.00001516@mb-md.aol.com>

>

>

>>The apparent intention is indeed to suppress the Israeli newspaper report of >>the uhj receiving "irregular tax breaks."

>>

>

>What those 'irregular tax breaks' are all about is the fact that Baha'is get >a rebate of value added taxes as a religious organization.

>Big deal! I guess there are some members of the religious right who probably >object to anyone but Orthodox Jews getting those. But if Fred can make it >look like a case of corruption, you can be sure he will.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Disagreements with TOS and/or community guidelines
Date: 12/1/2001 9:26 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011201102602.14937.00000203@mb-fr.aol.com>

>Subject: Disagreements with TOS and/or community guidelines
>Date: 12/1/2001 4:12 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: LDRS LFST Shahid
>Message-id: <20011201041245.02572.00000303@mb-dh.aol.com>
>
>
>
>Hey everyone :) I know that strong opinions abound, but please remember >that the message boards are not the place to carry on personal arguments nor >disagreements of TOS and/or community guidelines.
>
>The best sources of information for questions or disagreements with actions
>taken are LDRS LFST Mgr, TOSGeneral, or Keyword TOSQuestions.
>
>Thank you for understanding everyone :)
>
>LDRS LFST Shahid
>AOL Lifestyles
>

You're making an utterly false appearance here of fairness and reasonableness. Anyone remotely familiar with your history of censorship ar to recognize what you're really doing here.

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress my posts re talk.religion.bahai?
Date: 12/1/2001 9:38 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011201103847.14937.00000205@mb-fr.aol.com>

Your suggestion here is completely bogus. I have not posted the same message. Your distorting and misrepresenting my posts in order to su your wish to fraudulently TOS me. You're obviously playing to the choir, the TOSGeneral in this case.

The repeated posting of your URL is okay, though, of course....

>Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress my posts re talk.religion.bahai?
>Date: 11/30/2001 1:08 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: LDRS LFST Shahid
>Message-id: <20011130010806.12953.00000033@mb-ch.aol.com>
>
>
>Dear friends,
>
>I would like to remind everyone that a given post should only be made once on >this board within any thirty day period. Otherwise it constitutes spam and as >such will be considered disruptive.
>LDRS LFST Shahid
>AOL Lifestyles
>
>
>
>
>
>

FG
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

11/30/01 to AOL TOS

Ben,

Nice talking with you and thank you for your help. Please find the message I mentioned to you at the end, along several excerpts from messages that appear all over the

As I mentioned, I and others believe this volunteer leader regularly abuses her position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom she and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL.....

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrc/cole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views she opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/>

Subject: Re: Are you going to suppress "irregular tax breaks"?
Date: 9/9/2001 9:03 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Smaneck
Message-id: <20010909220324.18255.00001516@mb-md.aol.com>

>The apparent intention is indeed to suppress the Israeli newspaper report of
>the uhj receiving "irregular tax breaks."
>

What those 'irregular tax breaks' are all about is the fact that Baha'is get a rebate of value added taxes as a religious organization. Big deal! I guess there are some members of the religious right who probably object to anyone but Orthodox Jews getting those. But if Fred can make it look like a case of warmest, Susan

<https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Further examples of Shahid or Ms. Maneck's unfairness on AOL scattered all over the bahai message boards:

```
<HTML><FONT SIZE=2 PTSIZE=10>>and as such should be investigated and studied by scientists. (31 December >1937, to an individual)
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
>https://www.susanmaneck.com
>
```

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example. Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

```
</FONT></HTML>
<HTML><FONT SIZE=2 PTSIZE=10>FG<BR>
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</FONT></HTML>
<HTML><FONT SIZE=2 PTSIZE=10>>>"My heart goes out to the Baha'is of Iran.
They have suffered >>more at the hands of their countrymen than that cult in Waco."
>>
>>--Dan Quayle
>
>Rule,
>
>Did Quayle really say that?
>
>warmest, Susan
>
>
```

>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>
</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>
<HTML>>His wife is a Christian Reconstructionist.
I'd be very careful.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.
Or please explain for me and other bahais on the bahai message boards why she is permitted to post her fundamentalist URL while others are not.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>
</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>
<HTML>> >Terrorist cells around
>>the world are waiting for the green light of jihad.
>
>I believe the 'green light' was given on Sept. 11.
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Ms Maneck, the community leader on the bahai message boards, is misusing her position by constantly posting a link to her website while TOSing anyone else who responds in kind, especially when they are bahais like myself who do not share her fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Revelation.

Please advise her to desist or be tolerant of others who follow her example.

Thank you.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>
</HTML>
<HTML>FG

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience</HTML>

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]
Sent: Sunday, September 23, 2001 7:52 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: FG@home.com
Subject: Fwd: Board Posting at Bahai Message Board
<<Message: Re: Board Posting at Bahai Message B...>>

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among our fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

The bahai community leader is harassing me trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the major lawsuit against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico. Please ask him to desist.

This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

A clear example of the way AOL is manipulated and freedom of speech and conscience are regularly DAMAGED by AOL's indulgence.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://www.angelfire.com/mi3/bahai/>

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]
Sent: Sunday, September 23, 2001 7:53 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: FG@home.com
Subject: Fwd: Board Posting at Baha'i Message Board
<<Message: Board Posting at Baha'i Message Board>>

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among our fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

The bahai community leader is harassing me trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the major lawsuit against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico. Please ask him to desist.

This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

A clear example of the way AOL is manipulated and freedom of speech and conscience are regularly DAMAGED by AOL's indulgence.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]
Sent: Monday, September 17, 2001 9:18 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: FG@home.com
Subject: Fwd: Board Posting at Baha'i Message Board
<<Message: Board Posting at Baha'i Message Board>>

AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among our fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....

Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....

The bahai community leader is harassing me trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the major lawsuit against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico. Please ask him to desist.

This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

A clear example of the way AOL is manipulated and freedom of speech and conscience are regularly DAMAGED by AOL's indulgence.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://www.angelfire.com/mi3/bahai/>

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]
Sent: Monday, September 17, 2001 9:18 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: FG@home.com
Subject: Fwd: Board Posting at Baha'i Message Board
<<Message: Board Posting at Baha'i Message Board>>
AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among our fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING.... Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....
The bahai community leader is harassing me trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the major lawsuit against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico. Please ask him to desist.
This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>
It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....
A clear example of the way AOL is manipulated and freedom of speech and conscience are regularly DAMAGED by AOL's indulgence.

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]
Sent: Sunday, September 16, 2001 4:48 PM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: FG@home.com
Subject: Fwd: Board Posting at Baha'i Message Board
<<Message: Board Posting at Baha'i Message Board>>
This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree. He is the problem and cannot be relied on to moderate fairly.
The bahai community leader is harassing me and others and trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the lawsuits against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico and the many incidents of silencing and coercing individual members. Please ask him to desist.
FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://www.angelfire.com/mi3/bahai/>

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]
Sent: Sunday, September 16, 2001 4:49 PM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: FG@home.com
Subject: Fwd: Board Posting at Baha'i Message Board
<<Message: Board Posting at Baha'i Message Board>>

This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree. He is the problem and cannot be relied on to moderate fairly.

The bahai community leader is harassing me and others and trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the lawsuits against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico and the many incidents of silencing and coercing individual members. Please ask him to desist.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://www.angelfire.com/mi3/bahai/>

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]
Sent: Sunday, September 16, 2001 4:50 PM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: FG@home.com
Subject: Fwd: No spamming please <<Message: No spamming please>> Fundamentalist ad hominem. No substance.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
https://www.angelfire.com/mi3/bahai/

From: Glayshf[SMTP:glayshf@aol.com]
Sent: Sunday, September 16, 2001 5:02 PM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com; FG@home.com
Subject: Re: No spamming please <HTML>>I would like to remind you that the same message should not be posted >multiple times. It is not enough to just change the subject heading.
>LDRS LFST Shahid
>AOL Lifestyles

A completely dishonest statement....

Let's look at the message you're using as pretext to censor and suppress:
"Ad hominem. No substance."

That, incidentally, applies well to your post and your attempt to pretend you have valid reason for deleting my message.

I ask the TOSGeneral to cite this putative community leader who is abusing ridiculously his position to harass people such as myself because

FG
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://www.angelfire.com/mi3/bahai/>
</HTML>

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]
Sent: Sunday, September 16, 2001 5:07 PM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: FG@home.com
Subject: Fwd: Board Posting at Bahai Message Board
<<Message: Re: Board Posting at Bahai Message B...>>
AOL's allowing the fundamentalists among our fellow bahais to run the messages boards is neither FUN nor ENTERTAINING....
Please stop the basic violation, year after year, of our very basic constitutional rights, both those of fellow Bahais, such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL....
The bahai community leader is harassing me trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the major lawsuit against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico. Please ask him to desist.
This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":
<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>
It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

A clear example of the way AOL is manipulated and freedom of speech and conscience are regularly DAMAGED by AOL's indulgence.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://www.angelfire.com/mi3/bahai/>

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]
Sent: Sunday, September 16, 2001 4:47 PM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: FG@home.com
Subject: Fwd: Board Posting at Baha'i Message Board
<<Message: Board Posting at Baha'i Message Board>>
This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree. He is the problem and cannot be relied on to moderate fairly.
The bahai community leader is harassing me and others and trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the lawsuits against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico and the many incidents of silencing and coercing individual members. Please ask him to desist.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

<https://www.angelfire.com/mi3/bahai/>

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]

Sent: Friday, July 13, 2001 11:17 AM

To: TOSGeneral@aol.com

Cc: FG@home.com

Subject: Fwd: Board posting at Keyword: BAHAI

<<Message: Board posting at Keyword: BAHAI>>

This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree. He is the problem and cannot be relied on to moderate fairly.

The bahai community leader is harassing me and others and trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the major lawsuit against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico. Please ask him to desist.

FULL TEXT:

New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001

https://members.nbci.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuit.htm

https://members.nbci.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuitResponse.htm

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":

<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with

AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

A clear example of the way AOL is manipulated and freedom of speech and conscience are regularly DAMAGED by AOL's indulgence.

--FG

www.FG.com

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

https://members.nbci.com/_XMCM/FG/index.htm

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]

Sent: Friday, July 13, 2001 11:17 AM

To: TOSGeneral@aol.com

Cc: FG@home.com

Subject: Fwd: Board posting at Keyword: BAHAI

<<Message: Board posting at Keyword: BAHAI>>

This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree. He is the problem and cannot be relied on to moderate fairly.

The bahai community leader is harassing me and others and trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the major lawsuit against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico. Please ask him to desist.

FULL TEXT:

New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001

https://members.nbci.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuit.htm

https://members.nbci.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuitResponse.htm

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":

<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with

AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

A clear example of the way AOL is manipulated and freedom of speech and conscience are regularly DAMAGED by AOL's indulgence.

--FG

www.FG.com

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

https://members.nbci.com/_XMCM/FG/index.htm

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]

Sent: Friday, July 13, 2001 11:18 AM

To: TOSGeneral@aol.com

Cc: FG@home.com

Subject: Fwd: Board posting at Keyword: BAHAI

<<Message: Board posting at Keyword: BAHAI>>

Please do not send me a form letter instructing me to send "comments regarding activities in a particular forum need to be addressed by the forum's staff or supervisor."

This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree. He is the problem and cannot be relied on to moderate fairly.

The bahai community leader is harassing me and others and trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the major lawsuit against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico. Please ask him to desist.

FULL TEXT:

New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001

https://members.nbc.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuit.htm

https://members.nbc.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuitResponse.htm

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":

<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with

AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

A clear example of the way AOL is manipulated and freedom of speech and conscience are regularly DAMAGED by AOL's indulgence.

--FG

www.FG.com

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

https://members.nbc.com/_XMCM/FG/index.htm

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]

Sent: Friday, July 13, 2001 11:18 AM

To: TOSGeneral@aol.com

Cc: FG@home.com

Subject: Fwd: Board posting at Keyword: BAHAI

<<Message: Board posting at Keyword: BAHAI >>

Please do not send me a form letter instructing me to send "comments regarding activities in a particular forum need to be addressed by the forum's staff or supervisor."

This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree. He is the problem and cannot be relied on to moderate fairly.

The bahai community leader is harassing me and others and trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the major lawsuit against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico. Please ask him to desist.

FULL TEXT:

New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001

https://members.nbc.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuit.htm

https://members.nbc.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuitResponse.htm

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":

<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with

AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

A clear example of the way AOL is manipulated and freedom of speech and conscience are regularly DAMAGED by AOL's indulgence.

--FG

www.FG.com

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

https://members.nbc.com/_XMCM/FG/index.htm

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]

Sent: Monday, July 02, 2001 5:19 AM

To: TOSGeneral@aol.com

Cc: FG@home.com

Subject: Fwd: Board posting at Keyword: BAHAI

<<Message: Board posting at Keyword: BAHAI >>

This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree. He is the problem and cannot be relied on to moderate fairly.

The bahai community leader is harassing me and others and trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the major lawsuit against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico. Please ask him to desist.

FULL TEXT:

New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001

https://members.nbc.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuit.htm

https://members.nbc.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuitResponse.htm

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":

<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved

with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....
A clear example of the way AOL is manipulated and freedom of speech and conscience are regularly DAMAGED by AOL's indulgence.

--FG
www.FG.com
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
https://members.nbc.com/_XMCM/FG/index.htm

In a message dated 6/30/2001 3:03:54 AM Eastern Daylight Time, LDRS LFST

Shahid writes:

> Subj:Board posting at Keyword: BAHA'I
> Date:6/30/2001 3:03:54 AM Eastern Daylight Time
> From:<[A HREF="mailto:LDRS LFST Shahid">LDRS LFST Shahid](mailto:LDRS LFST Shahid)
> To:<A HREF="mailto:Glaysfh">Glaysfh
> CC:<[A HREF="mailto:LDRS LFST Jerry">LDRS LFST Jerry](mailto:LDRS LFST Jerry), <[A HREF="mailto:LDRS LFST Mgr">LDRS LFST Mgr](mailto:LDRS LFST Mgr)
>
>
>
>
>
>
> Dear Fred,
>
> Regarding your messages posted at Lifestyle>Spirituality>Baha'i Message > Board>Off Topic>: 6/29/01 8:34 AM
>
> To avoid further disruption to the message board, your posts have been > removed. Please review Keyword: TOS and the Spirituality Message Board > Standards for more information on what is appropriate in our community.
>
> Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been > submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.
>
> Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot > respond to replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please > send mail to TOSGeneral.
>
> Regards,
>
>
> LDRS LFST Shahid

> Volunteer Message Board Leader

> Baha'i Message Board

>

> Subject: Re: NM Lawsuit - FULL TEXT - Deborah Buchhorn vs BF

> Date: 6/29/01 8:34 AM Eastern Daylight Time

> From: Glayshf

> Message-id: <20010629083439.10217.00003143@ng-md1.aol.com>

>

>

>

>

>

> Fraudulent Oppression and Prevention of Communications between Shareholders

> 21. On April 19, 1998, Defendant Trustees ordered named Plaintiff Deborah

> Buchhorn to refrain from discussing her "issues" with anyone but Auxiliary

> Board member Brent Poirier and the Local Spiritual Assembly. Plaintiff > complied and appealed to Brent Poirier and the National Spiritual Assembly, > who took no action. Defendant LSA has wrapped many of their dealings with > members in the cloak of secrecy in a like manner. Many people have said, in > one way or another, that various cults > operate in this way, i.e., suppress and prevent communication > between members, thereby distorting their perception and > understanding of what is actually taking place, etc....

> "VIOLATED THE RIGHTS OF CORPORATE MEMBERS" to communicate > with others....

>

>

> This too is a quite predictable pattern the uhj > has used

> often to silence and isolate people of conscience. It has been done on AOL, > soc.religion.bahai, and elsewhere on and off line.

>

>

>

>

> FG

From: Glayshf@aol.com[SMTP:Glayshf@aol.com]

Sent: Friday, July 06, 2001 5:37 AM

To: TOSGeneral@aol.com

Cc: FG@home.com

Subject: Fwd: Board posting at Keyword: BAHAI

<<Message: Re: Board posting at Keyword: BAHAI>>

Please do not send me your form letters. Speaking with someone isn't going to help since AOL is not seriously interested in confronting the fundamentalism of my fellow Baha'is the ways in which they are exploiting your TOS rules to suppress freedom of speech and conscience. Instead of your canned TOS General replies, please have a thinking human being respond. See below:

Please do not send me a form letter instructing me to send "comments regarding activities in a particular forum need to be addressed by the forum's staff or supervisor."

This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree. He is the problem and cannot be relied on to moderate fairly.

The bahai community leader is harassing me and others and trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the major lawsuit against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico. Please ask him to desist.

FULL TEXT:

New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001

https://members.nbc.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuit.htm

https://members.nbc.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuitResponse.htm

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997":

<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with

AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

A clear example of the way AOL is manipulated and freedom of speech and conscience are regularly DAMAGED by AOL's indulgence.

--FG

www.FG.com

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

https://members.nbc.com/_XMCM/FG/index.htm

In a message dated 6/27/2001 8:45:48 AM Eastern Daylight Time, TOSGen1 writes:

> Subj:Re: Board posting at Keyword: BAHAI

> Date:6/27/2001 8:45:48 AM Eastern Daylight Time

> From:TOSGen1

> To:Glaysfh

>

>

>

> Dear Member,

>

> Thank you for writing. This issue would be best addressed by speaking to a > Member Services Representative. Please call 1-800-827-6364. You may also > find answers to your questions at Keyword: Help.

>

> If you have any comments or questions please send e-mail to TOSGeneral.

>

> Regards,

> Bryant

> Community Action Team

>

From: "FG" <FG@hotmail.com>

Subject: AOL & Open Petition for a Bahai Reformation

Date: Monday, February 26, 2001 7:55 AM

FYI

Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....

Date: 2/26/2001 7:36 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: GlaysheFJ

Message-id: <20010226073616.04001.00000011@ng-mi1.aol.com>

Dear Community Leader:

Your comments are quite false and misleading, in my opinion.

The uhj has become an intolerant fundamentalist institution, distorting Baha'u'llah's most basic Teachings regarding freedom of speech and conscience. It uses tyrannical and deceitful definitions of what constitutes "loving consultation" to encourage the lowest elements among our fellow Bahais to attack and malign others in the hope of driving them into silence and submission, indeed, even of driving OUT of the Bahai Faith....

Those wishing to confirm these claims need only look at the threats currently being made against my LIFE by a Bahai fundamentalist on talk.religion.bahai, easily accessible from AOL by Keyword Newsgroups.

Do you encourage and support threatening the very lives of your fellow Bahais who do not share your intolerant fundamentalism?

In such an atmosphere of fear and intimidation, many Bahais and ex-bahais, even non-bahais, may very well find it wise to sign my Open Petition for a Bahai Reformation with a pseudonym.

--

FG

www.FG.com

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

<https://members.nbci.com/FG/index.htm>

>Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....

>Date: 2/20/2001 11:32 AM Eastern Standard Time

>From: LDRS LFST Shahid

>Message-id: <20010220113246.05728.00003460@ng-md1.aol.com>

>

>

>>Note in Announcements that I would allow you to use a pseudonym if >>you're too afraid of the intolerant fundamentalism of the universal >>house of "justice" to state your views in an open and candid manner....

>

>Dear Mr. Glaysher,

>

>The Universal House of Justice, which is neither fundamentalist nor >intolerant, is well aware of my views already. I do not hesitate to express >them to that body in a spirit of loving consultation instead of pressure >politicking. Therefore, I do not require either a pseudonym or your petitions
>to do so.

>

>Besides, signing a petition with a pseudonym renders it useless anyhow.

>

>

>LDRS LFST Shahid

>Volunteer Message Board Leader

>Baha'i Message Board

>

>

>

>

>

>

From: "FG" <f_glaysher@hotmail.com>

Subject: Re: AOL & Open Petition for a Bahai Reformation

Date: Saturday, March 03, 2001 7:35 AM

FYI:

Subj: Your Post on the Baha'i Message Board

Date: 2/27/2001 1:42:17 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: LDRS LFST Shahid

To: GlaysherFJ

CC: LDRS LFST Jerry, LDRS LFST Mgr

Dear Mr. Fred Glaysher,

Regarding your message posted at: Lifestyle>Spirituality>Baha'i Message Board>Questions to the Community Leaders>2/26/01 7:36 AM

To avoid further disruption to the message board, some of your posts have been removed. Please review Keyword: TOS and the Spirituality Message Board Guidelines for more information on what is appropriate in our community.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....
Date: 2/26/01 7:36 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: GlaysheFJ
Message-id: <20010226073616.04001.00000011@ng-mi1.aol.com>

Dear Community Leader:

Your comments are quite false and misleading, in my opinion.

The uhj has become an intolerant fundamentalist institution, distorting Baha'u'llah's most basic Teachings regarding freedom of speech and conscience. It uses tyrannical and deceitful definitions of what constitutes "loving consultation" to encourage the lowest elements among our fellow Bahais to attack and malign others in the hope of driving them into silence and submission, indeed, even of driving OUT of the Bahai Faith.... Those wishing to confirm these claims need only look at the threats currently being made against my LIFE by a Bahai fundamentalist on talk.religion.bahai, easily accessible from AOL by Keyword Newsgroups.

Do you encourage and support threatening the very lives of your fellow Bahais who do not share your intolerant fundamentalism?

In such an atmosphere of fear and intimidation, many Bahais and ex-bahais, even non-bahais, may very well find it wise to sign my Open Petition for a Bahai Reformation with a pseudonym.

--

FG
www.FG.com
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.nbc.com/FG/index.htm>

"FG" <FG@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:97djkn$oitbb$1@ID-75545.news.dfncis.de...
> FYI

>

> -----

> Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....
> Date: 2/26/2001 7:36 AM Eastern Standard Time
> From: GlaysheFJ
> Message-id: <20010226073616.04001.00000011@ng-mi1.aol.com>

>

>

> Dear Community Leader:

>

> Your comments are quite false and misleading, in my opinion.

>

> The uhj has become an intolerant fundamentalist institution, distorting
> Baha'u'llah's most basic Teachings regarding freedom of speech and > conscience. It uses tyrannical and deceitful definitions of what constitutes
> "loving consultation" to encourage the lowest elements among our fellow > Bahais to attack and malign others in the hope of driving them into silence
> and submission, indeed, even of driving OUT of the Bahai Faith....
>
> Those wishing to

Regarding your message posted at: Lifestyle>Spirituality>Baha'i Message Board>Questions to the Community Leaders>2/26/01 7:36 AM

To avoid further disruption to the message board, some of your posts have been removed. Please review Keyword: TOS and the Spirituality Message Board Guidelines for more information on what is appropriate in our community.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....
Date: 2/26/01 7:36 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: GlaysheFJ
Message-id: <20010226073616.04001.00000011@ng-mi1.aol.com>

Dear Community Leader:

Your comments are quite false and misleading, in my opinion.

The uhj has become an intolerant fundamentalist institution, distorting Baha'u'llah's most basic Teachings regarding freedom of speech and conscience. It uses tyrannical and deceitful definitions of what constitutes "loving consultation" to encourage the lowest elements among our fellow Bahais to attack and malign others in the hope of driving them into silence and submission, indeed, even of driving OUT of the Bahai Faith.... Those wishing to confirm these claims need only look at the threats currently being made against my LIFE by a Bahai fundamentalist on talk.religion.bahai, easily accessible from AOL by Keyword Newsgroups.

Do you encourage and support threatening the very lives of your fellow Bahais who do not share your intolerant fundamentalism?

In such an atmosphere of fear and intimidation, many Bahais and ex-bahais, even non-bahais, may very well find it wise to sign my Open Petition for a Bahai Reformation with a pseudonym.

--

FG
www.FG.com
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.nbc.com/FG/index.htm>

"FG" <FG@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:97djkn$oitbb$1@ID-75545.news.dfncis.de...

> FYI

>

> -----

> Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....

> Date: 2/26/2001 7:36 AM Eastern Standard Time

> From: GlaysheFJ

> Message-id: <20010226073616.04001.00000011@ng-mi1.aol.com>

>

>

> Dear Community Leader:

>

> Your comments are quite false and misleading, in my opinion.

>

> The uhj has become an intolerant fundamentalist institution, distorting

> Baha'u'llah's most basic Teachings regarding freedom of speech and > conscience. It uses tyrannical and deceitful definitions of what constitutes

> "loving consultation" to encourage the lowest elements among our fellow

> Bahais to attack and malign others in the hope of driving them into

silence

> and submission, indeed, even of driving OUT of the Bahai Faith....

>

> Those wishing to

> confirm these claims need only look at the threats currently being made

> against my LIFE by a Bahai fundamentalist on talk.religion.bahai, easily > accessible from AOL by Keyword Newsgroups.

>

> Do you encourage and support threatening the very lives of your fellow

> Bahais who do not share your intolerant fundamentalism?

>

> In such an atmosphere of fear and intimidation, many Bahais and ex-bahais,

> even non-bahais, may very well find it wise to sign my Open Petition for a

> Bahai Reformation with a pseudonym.

>

> --

> FG

> www.FG.com

> The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

> <https://members.nbc.com/FG/index.htm>

>

>

>

> >Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....

> >Date: 2/20/2001 11:32 AM Eastern Standard Time

> >From: LDRS LFST Shahid

> >Message-id: <20010220113246.05728.00003460@ng-md1.aol.com>

> >

> >

> >>Note in Announcements that I would allow you to use a pseudonym if

> >>you're too afraid of the intolerant fundamentalism of the universal > >>house of "justice" to state your views in an open and candid manner....

> >

> >Dear Mr. Glaysher,

> >

> >The Universal House of Justice, which is neither fundamentalist nor > >intolerant, is well aware of my views already. I do not hesitate to > express

> >them to that body in a spirit of loving consultation instead of pressure

> >politicking. Therefore, I do not require either a pseudonym or your

> petitions

> >to do so.

> >

> >Besides, signing a petition with a pseudonym renders it useless anyhow.

> >

> >

> >LDRS LFST Shahid

> >Volunteer Message Board Leader

> >Baha'i Message Board

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

> >

From: "FG" <FG@hotmail.com>

Subject: Re: AOL & Open Petition for a Bahai Reformation

Date: Wednesday, March 07, 2001 1:25 PM

The latest duplicities:

Subj: Signature Lines, etc.

Date: 3/6/2001 12:45:09 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: ldrslfstshahid@aol.com (LDRS LFST Shahid)

To: glaysherfj@aol.com

Dear friends,

Signature lines are permissible and even encouraged but these must comply with the Spirituality Message Board Standards and AOL's Terms of Service. The Spirituality message boards are dedicated to support and/or fellowship, therefore websites aimed at attacking the Baha'i Faith should not be posted here. Also, please avoid making short "I agree" statements on the board. They tend to clutter the boards. Also, try to avoid reposting entire messages in your responses.
LDRS LFST Shahid

Volunteer Message Board Leader

Baha'i Message Board

----- Headers -----

Return-Path: <ldrslfstshahid@aol.com>
Received: from rly-ye02.mx.aol.com (rly-ye02.mail.aol.com [172.18.151.199])
by air-ye04.mail.aol.com (v77_r1.21) with ESMTP; Tue, 06 Mar 2001
00:45:09 -0500
Received: from imo-m01.mx.aol.com (imo-m01.mx.aol.com [64.12.136.4]) by rly-ye02.mx.aol.com (v77_r1.21) with ESMTP; Tue, 06 Mar 2001 00:44:42 -0500 Received: from ladder05.news.aol.com (ladder05.news.aol.com [172.31.45.159])
by imo-m01.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.8/AOL-5.0.0)
with ESMTP id AAA13684 for <glaysherfj@aol.com>;
Tue, 6 Mar 2001 00:44:27 -0500 (EST)
From: ldrslfstshahid@aol.com (LDRS LFST Shahid)
To: glaysherfj@aol.com
Date: 06 Mar 2001 00:43:32 EST
References: <20010305075229.20363.00000958@ng-ch1.aol.com>
Organization: AOL <https://www.aol.com>
Subject: Signature Lines, etc.
Message-ID: <20010306004332.18966.00001323@ng-mi1.aol.com>

"FG" <f_glaysher@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:ta1p8d80p8re6b@corp.supernews.com...

> FYI:
>
> Subj: Your Post on the Baha'i Message Board
> Date: 2/27/2001 1:42:17 AM Eastern Standard Time
> From: LDRS LFST Shahid
> To: GlaysherFJ
> CC: LDRS LFST Jerry, LDRS LFST Mgr
>
>
> Dear Mr. Fred Glaysher,
>
>
> Regarding your message posted at: Lifestyle>Spirituality>Baha'i Message > Board>Questions to the Community Leaders>2/26/01 7:36 AM
>
> To avoid further disruption to the message board, some of your posts have > been removed. Please review Keyword: TOS and the Spirituality Message Board
> Guidelines for more information on what is appropriate in our community.
>
> Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been > submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.
>
> Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot > respond to replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please
> send mail to TOSGeneral.
>
> Regards,
>
>
>

> LDRS LFST Shahid
> Volunteer Message Board Leader
> Baha'i Message Board
>
> Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....
> Date: 2/26/01 7:36 AM Eastern Standard Time
> From: GlaysheFJ
> Message-id: <20010226073616.04001.00000011@ng-mi1.aol.com>
>
>
> Dear Community Leader:
>
> Your comments are quite false and misleading, in my opinion.
>
> The uhj has become an intolerant fundamentalist institution, distorting
> Baha'u'llah's most basic Teachings regarding freedom of speech and > conscience. It uses tyrannical and deceitful definitions of what constitutes
> "loving consultation" to encourage the lowest elements among our fellow > Bahais to attack and malign others in the hope of driving them into silence
> and submission, indeed, even of driving OUT of the Bahai Faith.... Those > wishing to > confirm these claims need only look at the threats currently being made > against my LIFE by a Bahai fundamentalist on talk.religion.bahai, easily > accessible from AOL by Keyword Newsgroups.
>
> Do you encourage and support threatening the very lives of your fellow > Bahais who do not share your intolerant fundamentalism?
>
> In such an atmosphere of fear and intimidation, many Bahais and ex-bahais, > even non-bahais, may very well find it wise to sign my Open Petition for a > Bahai Reformation with a pseudonym.
>
> --
> FG
> www.FG.com
> The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
> <https://members.nbc.com/FG/index.htm>
>
>
> "FG" <FG@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> news:97djk$oitbb$1@ID-75545.news.dfncis.de...
> > FYI
> >
> > -----
> > Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....
> > Date: 2/26/2001 7:36 AM Eastern Standard Time
> > From: GlaysheFJ
> > Message-id: <20010226073616.04001.00000011@ng-mi1.aol.com>
> >
> > Dear Community Leader:
> >
> > Your comments are quite false and misleading, in my opinion.
> >
> > The uhj has become an intolerant fundamentalist institution, distorting
> > Baha'u'llah's most basic Teachings regarding freedom of speech and > > conscience. It uses tyrannical and deceitful definitions of what > constitutes
> > "loving consultation" to encourage the lowest elements among our fellow > > Bahais to attack and malign others in the hope of driving them into > silence
> > and submission, indeed, even of driving OUT of the Bahai Faith....
> >
> > Those wishing to > > confirm these claims need only look at the threats currently being made > > against my LIFE by a Bahai fundamentalist on talk.religion.bahai, easily > > accessible from AOL by Keyword Newsgroups.
> >
> > Do you encourage and support threatening the very lives of your fellow > > Bahais who do not share your intolerant fundamentalism?
> >
> > In such an atmosphere of fear and intimidation, many Bahais and
ex-bahais,
> > even non-bahais, may very well find it wise to sign my Open Petition for
a

Subject: Baha'i Epochs
Date: 1/29/2001 2:46 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Smaneck
Message-id: <20010129024623.05802.00003149@ng-cg1.aol.com>

Dear friends,

Earlier someone had asked about the various Baha'i Epochs. I was able to locate the following article on this topic.

warmest, Susan

Epochs explained

(From Rodney Clarken's education list,
<https://www-instruct.nmu.edu/education/rclarken/>)

Since the House announced the Fifth Epoch of the Formative Age, I have had several people ask about what it means and for background on the epochs. Below is the best description I have come across and refers to references where the House has explained earlier epochs.

Forwarded by Riaz Khadem via Shahla.

A number of the friends have inquired into the meaning of the Universal House of Justice' announcement of the beginning of the Fifth Epoch of the Formative Age of the Faith. While the full meaning of this announcement will be revealed with time, it is instructive to read the description of the previous epochs of the formative age as described by the House of Justice itself in Messages from the Universal House of Justice, 1963-1986.

"Epoch" is a term used by the Beloved Guardian to describe progressive stages in the evolution of the organic Baha'i community and signal the maturation of its institutions, allowing the Faith to operate at new levels and to initiate new functions. Here is a description of the stages in the evolution of the Faith, using these epochs as demarcations of maturation:

The Epochs of the Apostolic & The Heroic Age of the Dispensations of the Bab and Baha'u'llah:

1844-1853: The Epoch of the Bab
1853-1892: The Epoch of Baha'u'llah
1892-1921: The Epoch of Abdul-Baha

The Epochs of the Formative Age of the Dispensation of Baha'u'llah:

1921-1944/6: The First Epoch

Birth and the primary stages in the erection of the framework of the Administrative Order of the Faith, with the formation of local and national institutions in all five continents. Began with naming of Shoghi Effendi as the Guardian of the Cause, his careful instruction of the community in the principles of Baha'i administration, and led to the inception of the First Seven Year Plan (1937-1944) of the North American Baha'i community, the first systematic teaching campaign in the history of the Faith, which inaugurated the execution of the Tablets of the Divine Plan.

1946-1963: The Second Epoch

Under the guidance of Shoghi Effendi, involved the formulation of a succession of national teaching plans designed to facilitate the development of the Faith beyond the confines of the Western Hemisphere and the continent of Europe. Marked by the inception of the second Seven Year Plan in America (1946-1953) and the worldwide Ten Year Crusade (1953-1963), involving twelve national plans, and achieved the appointment of the Hands of the Cause, the appointment of Auxiliary Boards, and the establishment of the International Baha'i Council, concluding in the election of the Universal House of Justice.

1963-1986: The Third Epoch

Led by the Universal House of Justice, witnessed the emergence of the Faith from obscurity, the initiation of activities designed to foster social and economic development, the creation of the institution of the Continental Boards of Counsellors and the International Teaching Centre, the appointment of assistants to Auxiliary Board Members, and the construction and occupation by the Universal House of Justice of its Seat on Mt. Carmel.

Launched three worldwide plans: the Nine Year Plan (1964-1973) the Five Year Plan (1974-1979) and the Seven Year Plan (1979-1986).

1986-2001: The Fourth Epoch

Witnessed the formulation of the specific goals for each national community through consultation of the National Spiritual Assemblies and the Continental Boards of Counsellors. Began with the Six Year Plan (1986-1992), and continued through the Holy Year (1992-1993) to the Three Year Plan (1993-1996), the Four Year Plan (1996-2000) and the Twelve Month Plan (2000-2001).

2001- : The Fifth Epoch

Via internalizing and integrating the lessons and experiences of systematization witnessed an unparalleled unity of thought in the institution of the Counsellors. Saw the completion of the Arc on Mt. Carmel, a change in the Baha'i culture due to the emergence of training institutes, and the synchronization of institutional collaboration with the external processes toward world unity.

*All the Epochs are described in length in Messages from the Universal House of Justice 1963-1986, Pgs 710 -716 Para 451.1 - 451.14

As we reflect upon the significance of this Fifth Epoch, we may wish to contemplate what marvels will mark this period as the Baha'i community extends to its grassroots-at the level of the Local Spiritual Assemblies and the Auxiliary Board Members and their assistants in a united, systematic process of growth-the collaboration between the institutions of the rulers and learned in the training institutes which have contributed to a dramatic change in the culture of the Baha'i community around the world.

warmest, Susan

<https://www.susanmaneck.com>

From: "FG" <FG@hotmail.com>

Subject: Re: AOL Censorship & Abuse of TOS rules by the fundamentalist Community "Leader"

Date: Wednesday, March 07, 2001 1:36 PM

Please note that my website does not attack the bahai faith but reveals the extent to which fundamentalists among our fellow bahais attack people who do not share their literal-minded mindset.

It will be evident to honest and decent people that you abuse your position and are merely attempting to finding other strategems to falsely TOS me.

--

FG

www.FG.com

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

<https://members.nbci.com/FG/index.htm>

Subj: Signature Lines, etc.

Date: 3/6/2001 12:45:09 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: ldrslfstshahid@aol.com (LDRS LFST Shahid)

To: glaysherfj@aol.com

Dear friends,

Signature lines are permissible and even encouraged but these must comply with the Spirituality Message Board Standards and AOL's Terms of Service. The Spirituality message boards are dedicated to support and/or fellowship, therefore websites aimed at attacking the Baha'i Faith should not be posted here. Also, please avoid making short "I agree" statements on the board. They tend to clutter the boards. Also, try to avoid reposting entire messages in your responses.
LDRS LFST Shahid

Volunteer Message Board Leader

Baha'i Message Board

----- Headers -----

Return-Path: <ldrsfstshahid@aol.com>

Received: from rly-ye02.mx.aol.com (rly-ye02.mail.aol.com [172.18.151.199])
by air-ye04.mail.aol.com (v77_r1.21) with ESMTP; Tue, 06 Mar 2001
00:45:09 -0500

Received: from imo-m01.mx.aol.com (imo-m01.mx.aol.com [64.12.136.4]) by rly-ye02.mx.aol.com (v77_r1.21) with ESMTP; Tue, 06 Mar 2001 00:44:42 -0500

Received: from ladder05.news.aol.com (ladder05.news.aol.com [172.31.45.159])
by imo-m01.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.8/AOL-5.0.0)
with ESMTP id AAA13684 for <glaysherfj@aol.com>;
Tue, 6 Mar 2001 00:44:27 -0500 (EST)

From: ldrsfstshahid@aol.com (LDRS LFST Shahid)

To: glaysherfj@aol.com

Date: 06 Mar 2001 00:43:32 EST

References: <20010305075229.20363.00000958@ng-ch1.aol.com>

Organization: AOL <https://www.aol.com>

Subject: Signature Lines, etc.

Message-ID: <20010306004332.18966.00001323@ng-mi1.aol.com>

Subj: Re: Terms of Service
Date: 6/9/2001 7:58:02 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Glayshf
To: TOSGeneral
CC: FG@home.com

The bahai community leader is harassing me trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the major lawsuit against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico. Please ask him to desist.

FULL TEXT:

New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001

https://members.nbci.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuit.htm

https://members.nbci.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuitResponse.htm

This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais c

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997": <https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

A clear example of the way AOL is manipulated and freedom of speech and conscience are regularly DAMAGED by AOL's indulgence.

--

FG

www.FG.com

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

https://members.nbci.com/_XMCM/FG/index.htm

Subj: Re: Dealing with disruptive messages
Date: 6/11/2001 6:44:50 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Glayshf
To: TOSGeneral
CC: LDRS LFST Mgr

Regarding the community leader of the Bahai message boards violating the TOS and rights of AOL members, please read Mr Mahdi's message below.

NOTE WELL: WE CANNOT APPEAL TO THE STAFF. THEY ARE THE PROBLEM.

Please do something to protect our constitutional rights on these AOL boards.

In addition to below, be sure to see FULL TEXT:

New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001

https://members.nbc.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuit.htm

https://members.nbc.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuitResponse.htm

https://members.nbc.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuitAttorney.htm

FG

www.FG.com

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

https://members.nbc.com/_XMCM/FG/index.htm

If your spiritual assembly behaves like the KGB, please contact me to discuss starting a similar lawsuit in your city. We are preparing these suits all over the USA. Work with us to return the Faith to conformity with the vision of Baha'u'llah and the directives of the UHJ.-Yorgos Marinakis, Ph.D., J.D. Attorney-at-law

"Mr Mahdi" <mrmahdi@aol.com> wrote in message news:<20010610134221.06230.00000668@ng-fg1.aol.com>...

> Greetings Fred,

>

> >It may be time to take up the New Mexico Bahai lawyer's offer for advice > >on suing the fundamentalists, not only in local LSAs, but online as well, > >such as here on AOL, and perhaps AOL itself for allowing them, year > >after year, to violate very basic constitutional rights of fellow Bahais, > >such as myself, and non-Bahais on AOL.... Comments?

>

> As you know, I have been harassed by AOL bahais on many occasions. If their > harassment constitutes any violation of any law, I wonder where the "bahai > love" went that made them into law-breakers.

>

> My views on the bahai faith is based upon what I believe. Some bahais > unfortunately have tried to silence me into submission, even to the point where > they tried to kick me off AOL on SEVERAL occasions. I never encountered such > fanatical behavior in my life online, but I guess there is a first for > everything. And check this out, I haven't even mentioned the harassment on > got from bahais online (particular in TRB) who have even stalked me and kept a > archive of my posts, some dating back to over two years ago! They even have > reported to my ISP many of times, trying once again to get me kicked off AOL.

> What kind of extremism has made these people into such uptight fanatics beats me!

>

> As for suing online bahais, do as you wish. I would like to say Fred that if > you do ever decide to go forward with suing the bahai extremists on AOL and you > need me as a witness or what not, please feel free to ask me. I myself can > testify to the extremism of certain bahais on AOL in the past 3 years against > me as well as others on AOL whom you can also ask to testify against what > certain elements within the bahais have done against them on AOL and elsewhere.

> As you probably know, bahais on AOL don't just harass on the message boards, > but on the chat room as well.

>

> Fred, I suggest that you visit the bahai chat room on AOL and see how certain

> bahais act, trust me, it would make the extremism and intolerant nature of the > message boards look like a child's play. I also mentioned this before that > bahais have slandered you in the chat rooms, calling things like a "CB" to > being a non-bahai to being a mental case and so on.

>

> I would like to thank you Fred for your fairness in these past years and you > giving the minority voices in your religion as well as the critics of the bahai > faith such as myself a place where their views and experiences can be read.

> Your website is definitely a historical document, which I believe serious > scholars can study from.

>

> Finally, if you feel that suing the bahai fanatics on AOL will get a point > across and/or that finally some justice will be served to you as well as many > others who were victims of bahai fanaticism on AOL. follow your intuition. I > would support you in whatever you decide to do in this particular matter, and I > hope that whatever decision you make is deemed by you as the best one. I hope > that you make the right decision on this matter, whatever it may be and I hope > you success.

>

> Peace.

>

> Mahdi Muhammad

>

> <https://members.xoom.com/mrmahdi/caliphate.html>

Subj: Re: Dealing with disruptive messages

Date: 6/10/2001 1:03:59 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: TOSGen1

To: Glaysfhf

Dear Member,

Questions or comments regarding activities in a particular forum need to be addressed by the forum's staff or supervisor. Most forums have a "Feedback" or "Meet the Staff" link. Please contact staff members.

If you are unable to locate the screen name of a staff member, you may want to go to Keyword: Questions or Suggestions. Your letter will be forwarded from there to the proper person.

If you have any comments or questions please send e-mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,
Anthony
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

Subj: Fwd: Board Posting at Bahai Faith
Date: 6/10/2001 10:46:23 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Glavshf
To: TOSGeneral
CC: FG@home.com

The forum's staff are dishonest fundamentalists among my fellow bahais who are using and manipulating AOL's TOS rules to suppress free speech and knowledge of and fraud and libel in New Mexico. Hence I and other AOL members who do not toe the party line cannot appeal to them for justice.

See below for details.

The bahai community leader is harassing me trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the major lawsuit against the bahai faith recently filed in New Mexico. Please ask him to desist.

FULL TEXT:
New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001
https://members.nbci.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuit.htm
https://members.nbci.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuitResponse.htm

This volunteer leader regularly abuses his position and uses it to silence and attack people with whom he and the more fundamentalist-minded among my fellow Bahais disagree.

Professor Juan Cole, of the University of Michigan, discusses related issues in his journal article "The Baha'i Faith in America as Panopticon, 1963-1997": <https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai/1999/jssr/bhjssr.htm>

It should be noted by the non-bahai observer, especially anyone involved with AOL, that the "community leader" regularly TOSes or removes links from people whose views he opposes but allows other fundamentalists to post links to fundamentalist sites and events....

A clear example of the way AOL is manipulated and freedom of speech and conscience are regularly DAMAGED by AOL's indulgence.

--
FG
www.FG.com
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
https://members.nbci.com/_XMCM/FG/index.htm

Forwarded Message:

Subj: Board Posting at Bahai Faith
Date: 6/10/2001 3:46:53 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: LDRS LFST Shahid
To: Glavshf
CC: LDRS LFST Mgr, LDRS LFST Jerry

Dear Member,

Regarding your messages posted at various folders Lifestyle>Spirituality>Baha'i Message Board

To avoid further disruption to the message board, your posts have been removed. Please review Keyword: TOS and the Spirituality Message Board Standards for more information.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

Subject: Re: Attorney Invitation to Court July 18
Date: 6/9/01 9:00 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Glaysht
Message-id: <20010609090028.10595.00000423@ng-bk1.aol.com>

Vital information regarding the lawsuit against bahai institutions for FRAUD and LIBEL is being suppressed on these AOL message boards.

Those interested in the truth should look elsewhere on the Net about the bahai faith.

FG

Subj: Board Posting at Bahai Faith
Date: 6/10/2001 3:46:53 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: LDRS LFST Shahid
To: Glaysht
CC: LDRS LFST Mgr, LDRS LFST Jerry

Dear Member,

Regarding your messages posted at various folders Lifestyle>Spirituality>Baha'i Message Board

To avoid further disruption to the message board, your posts have been removed. Please review Keyword: TOS and the Spirituality Message Board Standards for more information.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

Subject: Re: Attorney Invitation to Court July 18
Date: 6/9/01 9:00 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Glaysht
Message-id: <20010609090028.10595.00000423@ng-bk1.aol.com>

Vital information regarding the lawsuit against bahai institutions for FRAUD and LIBEL is being suppressed on these AOL message boards.

Those interested in the truth should look elsewhere on the Net about the bahai faith.

FG

Subj: Dealing with disruptive messages
Date: 6/10/2001 3:45:05 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: ldrslfstshahid@aol.com (LDRS LFST Shahid)
To: glaysht@aol.com

Dear friends,

I thought I would provide you with some information as to how disruptive messages are handled on this Board. Generally speaking the first step is to post an educational message on this board. That message will be cc'd to the offending party, but normally the post in question is not removed. If posting along the same lines continue, then an official warning is issued. While this is cc'd to the supervisor for the spirituality forums, receiving such a letter does not necessarily mean that the matter has gone to CAT. That usually happens only after a second warning.

This procedure is set by AOL policy and the board monitors do not have the authority to change them.

LDRS LFST Shahid

Volunteer Message Board Leader

Baha'i Message Board

<>

----- Headers -----

Return-Path: <ldrsfstshahid@aol.com>
Received: from rly-ye05.mx.aol.com (rly-ye05.mail.aol.com [172.18.151.202]) by air-ye05.mail.aol.com (v78_r3.8) with ESMTP; Sun, 10 Jun 2001 03:45:04 -0400
Received: from imo-r06.mx.aol.com (imo-r06.mx.aol.com [152.163.225.102]) by rly-ye05.mx.aol.com (v78_r3.8) with ESMTP; Sun, 10 Jun 2001 03:44:35 -0400
Received: from ladder06.news.aol.com (ladder06.news.aol.com [172.31.45.162])
by imo-r06.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.8/AOL-5.0.0)
with ESMTP id DAA12023 for <glayshf@aol.com>;
Sun, 10 Jun 2001 03:44:34 -0400 (EDT)
From: ldrsfstshahid@aol.com (LDRS LFST Shahid)
To: glayshf@aol.com
Date: 10 Jun 2001 03:44:23 EDT
References: <20010609090335.10595.00000425@ng-bk1.aol.com>
Organization: AOL https://www.aol.com
Subject: Dealing with disruptive messages Message-ID: <20010610034423.18544.00006857@ng-mq1.aol.com>

In a message dated 6/6/2001 11:37:42 PM Eastern Standard Time, TOSBoards2 writes:

Subj: Terms of Service

Date: 6/6/2001 11:37:42 PM Eastern Standard Time

From: TOSBoards2

To: Glayshf

Dear Member,

America Online has a Terms of Service agreement which provides community guidelines for online conduct. I need to let you know that guidelines on one of our Message Boards. Here is the information I have placed on the account regarding this incident:

Subj: New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001

Date: 06 Jun 2001 07:21:10 EDT

From: glayshf@aol.com

Message-ID: <20010606072110.11918.00001393@ng-fo1.aol.com>

Author: Mon CD

Violation clip: New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001

SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT
COUNTY OF BERNALILLO
STATE OF NEW MEXICO

DEBORAH BUCHHORN, for herself)
and for MINORITY)

MEMBERS OF THE SPIRITUAL)
ASSEMBLY OF THE BAHÁ'Í'S OF) ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO,)

)
Plaintiffs,)
)

Our Terms of Service agreement, which was presented when you opened your AOL account, allows America Online to be informative, en members. You can review that agreement at Keyword: TOS. Also, you may want to take a look at Keyword: Parental Controls. Parental of specific screen names on your account. For information on how to protect your account, be sure to visit Keyword: Neighborhood Watc

Thank you for taking the time to read this letter. Since this screen name cannot accept replies, please direct any comments or questions

Regards,

Mon

Community Action Team

America Online, Inc.

From: TOSBoards2
To: Glayshf

Dear Member,

America Online has a Terms of Service agreement which provides community guidelines for online conduct. I need to let you know that we received a report regarding a
Here is the information I have placed on the account regarding this incident:

Subj: New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001
Date: 06 Jun 2001 07:21:10 EDT
From: glayshf@aol.com
Message-ID: <20010606072110.11918.00001393@ng-fo1.aol.com>
Author: Mon CD
Violation clip:New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001

SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT
COUNTY OF BERNALILLO
STATE OF NEW MEXICO

DEBORAH BUCHHORN, for herself)
and for MINORITY) MEMBERS OF THE SPIRITUAL)
ASSEMBLY OF THE BAHÁ'Í'S OF) ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO,)
)
Plaintiffs,)
)

Our Terms of Service agreement, which was presented when you opened your AOL account, allows America Online to be informative, entertaining and, above all, fun for .
Keyword: TOS. Also, you may want to take a look at Keyword: Parental Controls. Parental Controls allow you to restrict the online activities of specific screen names on y be sure to visit Keyword: Neighborhood Watch.

Thank you for taking the time to read this letter. Since this screen name cannot accept replies, please direct any comments or questions to screen name TOSGeneral.

Regards,
Mon
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

Subj: Board Posting a Bahai Faith
Date: 6/6/2001 11:34:38 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: LDRS LFST Shahid
To: Glayshf
CC: LDRS LFST Mgr, LDRS LFST Jerry

Dear Member,

Regarding your messages posted at various folders Lifestyle>Spirituality>Baha'i Message Board

To avoid further disruption to the message board, your posts have been removed. Please review Keyword: TOS and the Spirituality Message Board Standards for more in
Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

Subject: New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001
Date: 6/6/01 7:21 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Glayshf
Message-id: <20010606072110.11918.00001393@ng-fo1.aol.com>

New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001

SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT
COUNTY OF BERNALILLO
STATE OF NEW MEXICO

DEBORAH BUCHHORN, for herself)
and for MINORITY) MEMBERS OF THE SPIRITUAL)
ASSEMBLY OF THE BAHÁ'Í'S OF) ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO,)
)
Plaintiffs,)
)
vs.) No. CV 2001-01978

)
)
TRUSTEES OF THE SPIRITUAL)
ASSEMBLY OF THE BAHÁ'Í S OF) ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO, and)
THE SPIRITUAL ASSEMBLY OF THE) BAHÁ'Í'S OF ALBUQUERQUE,)
NEW MEXICO, a non-profit) corporation, and the)
NATIONAL SPIRITUAL ASSEMBLY)
OF THE BAHÁ'Í'S OF THE) UNITED STATES,)
an Illinois Corporation,)
)
Defendants.)

VERIFIED COMPLAINT FOR FRAUD, LIBEL, BREACH OF CORPORATE DUTIES, AND DECLARATORY AND INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

COMES NOW Plaintiffs by and through their attorney of record, Yorgos D. Marinakis, and for their Complaint states as follows:

INTRODUCTION

1. Plaintiffs file this shareholder or member derivative suit against:
 - the Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá'ís of Albuquerque, New Mexico (Local Spiritual Assembly, or LSA),
 - their Trustees, and
 - the Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá'ís of the United States (National Spiritual Assembly, or NSA), with whom the Local Spiritual Assembly and its Trustees have privity.
2. Plaintiffs allege that Trustees breached their duties as corporate officers.
3. Plaintiffs allege that the National Spiritual Assembly breached their duty of deciding appeals owed to Plaintiffs.
4. Plaintiffs allege that the literature review policies of the Local Spiritual Assembly and the National Spiritual Assembly, which lie in privity, unlawfully prevent shareholders from their right to communicate with other shareholders.
5. Plaintiffs allege that Defendants failed to execute their duties under their corporate by-laws.

PARTIES

6. Named Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn was a shareholder or member of the Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá'ís of Albuquerque, New Mexico, at the time of the incidents stated in this Complaint, and she continues to be a member.
7. The Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá'ís of Albuquerque, New Mexico (Local Spiritual Assembly) is a New Mexico non-profit corporation. Shareholder-members may appeal decisions by the Local Spiritual Assembly to the National Spiritual Assembly.
8. The Trustees of the Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá'ís of Albuquerque, New Mexico (Trustees) individually reside in Bernalillo County, New Mexico, as a condition of their Trusteeship. Trustees are Kambiz Victory, Ok-Sun and John McHenry, Manijeh Kavelin, Nelson Sapad, Harry and Sondra Day, Owen Creightney, and Carol Caldwell. Jenny Beery was a Trustee during the time of many of these incidents.
9. The Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá'ís of the United States (National Spiritual Assembly) is incorporated in and has its principal place of business in Illinois.

FACTS

10. The Bahá'í have no clergy. Instead, each community in the Bahá'í Faith annually elects nine Trustees or a "Local Spiritual Assembly," which acts as an agent or subsidiary of the National Spiritual Assembly. Each National Spiritual Assembly answers to the supreme Bahá'í body, The Universal House of Justice. The Universal House of Justice established the Continental Board of Counsellors (sic) to assist them, and the Countinental Board of Counsellors further has the Auxiliary Board to assist them.
11. In the particular situation between the Trustees of the Spiritual Assembly of Bahá'ís of Albuquerque, New Mexico, Defendants Trustees controlled what member activities Plaintiffs were able to engage in and what members they were able to talk to. They stopped them from interacting with friends at member events. They stopped Plaintiffs from serving on committees and stopped their individual activities for personal reasons. They made all the decisions relating to Plaintiffs' membership-related activities. They told named Plaintiff that opinions she may personally hold were bad and implicitly threatened to curtail her presence at member functions. They acted as if the abuse were no big deal, that it was Plaintiff's fault, and denied doing it. They failed to act when one member was physically threatened and shoved by another member.
12. Although Plaintiffs have consistently complied with Defendant Trustees' demands, they have also consistently filed complaints against them with the National and International Bahá'í authorities. This has enraged the Defendant Trustees.
13. Defendant Trustees have never made specific accusations or informed Plaintiffs of wrongdoing, other than vague statements such as "you have issues with the Spiritual Assembly."

14. Therefore, deep-seated animosities and distrust have arisen between Plaintiffs and the Trustees, which are incapable of resolution and thereby present an irreconcilable barrier to the ability of the corporation to function as is.

15. Plaintiffs' reasonable expectations that they would be able to participate in the management and activities of their corporation, as minority shareholders, have been thwarted since at least 1995.

16. Article IV of the LSA by-laws provides that the LSA shall compose differences and disagreements among members of the community. Article VII, section 9 of the NSA by-laws provides that any member of a Bahá'í community may appeal from a decision of his LSA to the NSA.

Failure to Allow Inspection of Books and Records

17. The books and records of the corporation have been maintained in an inaccurate and inequitable manner.

18. The year 2000 annual meeting showed a 10%, $10,000 discrepancy in the corporate books.

19. In a letter dated September 3, 2000, named Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn informed the Local Spiritual Assembly that she desired to inspect their financial books. Defendants refused.

20. Following mailing of the demand letter, the LSA offered to allow named Plaintiff to inspect the books and records, but under conditions that the Plaintiff deemed in bad faith.

Fraudulent Oppression and Prevention of Communications between Shareholders

21. On April 19, 1998, Defendant Trustees ordered named Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn to refrain from discussing her "issues" with anyone but Auxiliary Board member Brent Poirier and the Local Spiritual Assembly. Plaintiff complied and appealed to Brent Poirier and the National Spiritual Assembly, who took no action. Defendant LSA has wrapped many of their dealings with members in the cloak of secrecy in a like manner.

Electioneering

22. At the Annual Meeting Feast of 1999, Defendant Trustees fraudulently rigged the election of Trustee Nelson Sapad by calling for applause for him three times prior to an election of corporate officers. Plaintiff appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly and Brent Poirier, who took no action.

23. Defendant Trustees or their agents fraudulently rigged the election of Harry and Sondra Day, by introducing them and calling for applause moments before an election of corporate officers.

24. Trustees do not ensure secret balloting at the Annual Meeting Feast. The usual practice is not to use a ballot box, but for members to lay their ballots on a plate or in a basket in plain sight of the election tellers. Ms. Buchhorn appealed to Brent Poirier on at least one election. Mr. Poirier responded by handling the collection basket himself.

25. In the member newsletter and prior to the annual election and during the Annual Meeting Feast, Trustees have used scriptural quotes to draw attention to persons serving on certain committees.

Fraudulent and Oppressive Behavior Relating to the TV Show "Spiritual Reality"

26. Plaintiffs conceptualized and produced a TV show named "Spiritual Reality." After 100 showings, during which Defendant Trustees only complimented Plaintiffs, Defendant Trustees, fraudulently and with intent to oppress, mandated major changes in the show. Plaintiffs complied and appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly and Brent Poirier, who took no action.

27. Defendant Trustees, fraudulently and with intent to oppress, ordered Plaintiffs to "temporarily postpone" their television show, "Spiritual Reality." Plaintiff complied, and Defendants never specifically informed Plaintiffs what they had done to precipitate the arbitrary and capricious termination. The effect of this order, namely the termination of the TV show, violated the right of shareholders to communicate with other shareholders.

28. Trustees fraudulently and under false pretences stated that the reasons for termination would be fully discussed at a later meeting, at which meeting those reasons were never discussed. Defendant Trustee Kambiz Victory, employee of channel 41, knew or should have known that a television program cannot be "temporarily postponed." Plaintiffs appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly, who took no action.

29. Defendant Kambiz Victory, a Trustee, fraudulently and with intent to oppress, told named Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn in regards to her television show that "Your teaching can have no effect because you are not in unity with the Spiritual Assembly." Defendant knew that Ms. Buchhorn's television show brought in 15% of the information requests during an unrelated major regional advertising campaign by Defendants. Plaintiff appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly, who took no action.

30. Defendant Trustees fraudulently and under false pretences set-up Plaintiffs to a "confession" of their animosity towards Defendant Trustees. Named Plaintiff appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly, who took no action.

Other Oppression

31. As an act of individual initiative, named Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn organized a Bahá'í parade float for several years for the New Mexico State Fair Parade. In 2000, Defendant Trustees convened a task force to organize the parade float for that year. On August 22, 2000, approximately 19 days before the parade, Defendant Trustees, fraudulently and with intent to oppress, instructed Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn to terminate her parade float activities. A false reason for this termination was published in the membership newsletter by Defendant Trustees, causing Plaintiff embarrassment. Plaintiff complied, and Defendant never informed Plaintiff as to the reason for that termination. Plaintiff appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly and Brent Poirier, who took no action.

32. Defendant Trustees, fraudulently and with intent to oppress, ordered Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn to receive instruction on the Bahá'í Covenant. Plaintiff complied and attended that "instruction," which in fact consisted of three (3) hours of interrogation by Trustee Owen Creightney, and John and Ok-Sun McHenry. It became apparent at this meeting that Trustee Creightney had lied to the Trustees in order to oppress named Plaintiff. Plaintiff appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly and Brent Poirier, who took no action.

33. Defendant Trustees, fraudulently and with intent to oppress, ordered named Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn to resign from the Bahá'í gospel choir. Plaintiff complied, and Defendant never informed Plaintiff as to the reason for that termination. Plaintiff appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly and Brent Poirier, who took no action.

34. Defendant Trustees, fraudulently and with intent to oppress, undermined named Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn's Saturday Night Coffee House and in effect stopped her Coffee House. Defendant never informed Plaintiff as to these circumstances. Plaintiff appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly and Brent Poirier, who took no action.

35. Defendant Trustees, fraudulently and with intent to oppress, have ordered numerous Bahá'ís to shun Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn.

36. Defendant Trustee Kambiz Victory told a Plaintiff "I am the voice of God in this community."

Libel

37. Defendant Trustees knowingly published false and defamatory information about Plaintiffs in the Albuquerque Bahá'í newsletter, specifically relating to the parade banner.

Unlawful Prevention of Communication between Shareholders

38. Defendant National Spiritual Assembly has the policy that Local Spiritual Assemblies are responsible for reviewing pamphlets and newsletters and materials that mention the Faith such as songs, play scripts, souvenir items, and greeting cards, intended for publication or distribution within their communities, whereas the National Spiritual Assembly is responsible for review of those same materials intended for nationwide publication.

CAUSES OF ACTION

Count I

39. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
40. The Trustees of the Local Spiritual Assembly have repeatedly acted and continue to act fraudulently towards the Plaintiffs.
41. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

Count II

42. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
43. The Trustees of the Local Spiritual Assembly libeled the named Plaintiff.
44. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

Count III

45. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
46. The Trustees of the Local Spiritual Assembly have repeatedly failed to act and continue to fail to act in good faith, which failure constitutes fraud.
47. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

Count IV

48. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
49. The Trustees of the Local Spiritual Assembly have repeatedly failed to act and continue to fail to act with the care an ordinary prudent person in like position would exercise under similar circumstances, which failure constitute fraud.
50. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

Count V

51. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
52. The Trustees of the Local Spiritual Assembly have repeatedly failed to act and continue to fail to act in a manner they reasonably believe to be in the best interests of the corporation and its members, which failure constitutes fraud.
53. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

Count VI

54. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
55. The Trustees have repeatedly failed their duty to compose differences and disagreements with themselves and the members, in violation of their by-laws, which failure constitutes fraud.
56. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

Count VII

57. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
58. The National Spiritual Assembly has repeatedly failed their duty to hear appeals from Plaintiffs, in violation of their by-laws.

59. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

Count VIII

60. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
61. The literature review policies of the National and Local Spiritual Assemblies violate the rights of corporate members to communicate with other corporate members.
62. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

Count IX

63. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
64. The practice of the Local Spiritual Assembly to direct members not to speak about their dealings with the LSA with other corporate members violates the rights of corporate members to communicate with other corporate members.
65. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

JUDICIAL RELIEF

WHEREFORE, for these reasons, Plaintiffs request that this Court:

1. Declare that the Trustees acted fraudulently towards Plaintiffs;
2. Declare that Trustees libeled Plaintiffs;
3. Declare that the Trustees breached their corporate duties towards Plaintiffs;
4. Remove the Trustees from their positions and enjoin them from serving in official Bahá'ís capacities for nineteen (19) years;
5. Remove the LSA Directors who are also Trustees;
6. Declare that the Local Spiritual Assembly violated members' rights to inspect corporate books and records;
7. Compel Defendant LSA to retain an independent certified public accountant to audit the books for the last two years;
8. Declare that Defendant LSA violated their corporate by-laws by failing to compose differences and disagreements among members of the community;
6. Declare that the National Spiritual Assembly breached their duty of hearing Plaintiffs' appeals;
7. Declare that the literature review policies of the Bahá'ís violate United States common law as preventing corporate members from communicating with other corporate members;
8. Enjoin Defendants National Spiritual Assembly and Local Spiritual Assembly from enforcing their literature review policy;
9. Declare that the secrecy practices of the Local Spiritual Assembly violate United States common law as preventing corporate members from communicating with other corporate members;
10. Enjoin Defendant Local Spiritual Assembly from continuing their secrecy practices;
11. Award compensatory damages from Defendants to Plaintiffs;
12. Award attorney's fees and costs to Plaintiffs;
13. Any other relief this Court deems appropriate.

Respectfully submitted,

Yorgos D. Marinakis
Attorney for Plaintiffs
P.O. Box 45923
Rio Rancho, NM 87174
505-459-4664
877-430-9550 (fax)

Named Plaintiff's Verification

STATE OF NEW MEXICO)
) ss.
COUNTY OF BERNALILLO)

COMES NOW Deborah Buchhorn, and being duly sworn, states as follows:

1. I have read and understood the contents of this Complaint.
2. I have personal knowledge of the facts stated herein.
3. I attest to and verify their truth and accuracy.

DEBORAH BUCHHORN
SWORN TO AND SUBSCRIBED before me this ____ day of _____, 2001.

Notary Public

My Commission Expires:

Subj: Fwd: Meet Deborah Buchhorn
Date: 6/6/2001 3:58:41 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: LDRS LFST Mgr
To: Glaysht

Dear Glaysht:

The Baha'i community in the Spirituality forum is dedicated to interactions of a spiritual nature and postings concerning most offline events are inappropriate here. You may post them elsewhere instead.

Lifestyles Manager

Forwarded Message:

Subj: Re: Meet Deborah Buchhorn
Date: 6/6/2001 6:04:17 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Glaysht
To: TOSGeneral
CC: LDRS LFST Mgr, LDRS LFST Jerry

The baha'i community leader is harassing me trying to suppress all knowledge and discussion about the major lawsuit against the baha'i faith recently filed in New Mexico. Please ask him to desist.

FULL TEXT:

New Mexico LAWSUIT against baha'i institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001
https://members.nbci.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuit.htm
https://members.nbci.com/_XMCM/FG/NMLawsuitResponse.htm

--

FG

www.FG.com

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

https://members.nbci.com/_XMCM/FG/index.htm

Subj: Lawsuits against baha'i for FRAUD & LIBEL
Date: 6/5/2001 9:34:45 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: LDRS LFST Shahid
To: Glaysht
CC: LDRS LFST Mgr, LDRS LFST Jerry

Dear Mr. Glaysht,

Regarding your message posted at: Lifestyle>Spirituality>Baha'i Message Board>For Inquirers> 6/3/01 9:21 AM

To avoid further disruption to the message board, your post has been removed. Please review Keyword: TOS and the Spirituality Message Board Standards for more information. Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

Subject: Lawsuits against baha'i for FRAUD & LIBEL
Date: 6/3/01 9:21 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Glaysht
Message-id: <20010603092112.11850.00000412@ng-fo1.aol.com>

Are available on talk.religion.bahai and beliefnet.org under Challenge and Critique on the message boards for baha'i.

FG

Subj: Re: Meet Deborah Buchhorn
Date: 6/5/2001 9:24:05 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: LDRS LFST Shahid
To: Glayshf
CC: LDRS LFST Mgr, LDRS LFST Jerry

Dear Mr. Glaysher,

Regarding your message posted at: Lifestyle>Spirituality>Baha'i Message Board>Bahai-Cemter> 6/3/01 9:24 AM

To avoid further disruption to the message board, your post has been removed. Please review Keyword: TOS and the Spirituality Message Board Standards for more info. Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

Subject: Re: Meet Deborah Buchhorn
Date: 6/3/01 9:24 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Glayshf
Message-id: <20010603092408.11850.00000413@ng-fo1.aol.com>

See also her Response to Dismiss the lawsuit at
New Mexico LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001
<https://members.nbci.com/XMCM/FG/NMLawsuit.htm>
<https://members.nbci.com/XMCM/FG/NMLawsuitResponse.htm>

SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT
COUNTY OF BERNALILLO
STATE OF NEW MEXICO

DEBORAH BUCHHORN, for herself)
and for MINORITY) MEMBERS OF THE SPIRITUAL)
ASSEMBLY OF THE BAHÁ'Í'S OF) ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO,)
)

Plaintiffs,)

)
vs.) No. CV 2001-01978
)
)

TRUSTEES OF THE SPIRITUAL)
ASSEMBLY OF THE BAHÁ'Í S OF) ALBUQUERQUE, NEW MEXICO, and)
THE SPIRITUAL ASSEMBLY OF THE)
BAHÁ'Í'S OF ALBUQUERQUE,)
NEW MEXICO, a non-profit)
corporation, and the)
NATIONAL SPIRITUAL ASSEMBLY)
OF THE BAHÁ'Í'S OF THE) UNITED STATES,)
an Illinois Corporation,)
)

Defendants.)

VERIFIED COMPLAINT FOR FRAUD, LIBEL, BREACH OF CORPORATE DUTIES, AND DECLARATORY AND INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

COMES NOW Plaintiffs by and through their attorney of record, Yorgos D.
Marinakis, and for their Complaint states as follows:

INTRODUCTION

1. Plaintiffs file this shareholder or member derivative suit against:
- the Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá'ís of Albuquerque, New Mexico (Local Spiritual Assembly, or LSA),
- their Trustees, and
- the Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá'ís of the United States (National Spiritual Assembly, or NSA), with whom the Local Spiritual Assembly and its Trustees have privity.

2. Plaintiffs allege that Trustees breached their duties as corporate officers.

3. Plaintiffs allege that the National Spiritual Assembly breached their duty of deciding appeals owed to Plaintiffs.

4. Plaintiffs allege that the literature review policies of the Local Spiritual Assembly and the National Spiritual Assembly, which lie in privity, unlawfully prevent shareholders from their right to communicate with other shareholders.

5. Plaintiffs allege that Defendants failed to execute their duties under their corporate by-laws.

PARTIES

6. Named Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn was a shareholder or member of the Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá'ís of Albuquerque, New Mexico, at the time of the incidents stated in this Complaint, and she continues to be a member.

7. The Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá'ís of Albuquerque, New Mexico (Local Spiritual Assembly) is a New Mexico non-profit corporation.

Shareholder-members may appeal decisions by the Local Spiritual Assembly to the National Spiritual Assembly.

8. The Trustees of the Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá'ís of Albuquerque, New Mexico (Trustees) individually reside in Bernalillo County, New Mexico, as a condition of their Trusteeship. Trustees are Kambiz Victory, Ok-Sun and John McHenry, Manijeh Kavelin, Nelson Sapad, Harry and Sondra Day, Owen Creightney, and Carol Caldwell. Jenny Beery was a Trustee during the time of many of these incidents.

9. The Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá'ís of the United States (National Spiritual Assembly) is incorporated in and has its principal place of business in Illinois.

FACTS

10. The Bahá'í have no clergy. Instead, each community in the Bahá'í Faith annually elects nine Trustees or a "Local Spiritual Assembly," which acts as an agent or subsidiary of the National Spiritual Assembly. Each National Spiritual Assembly answers to the supreme Bahá'í body, The Universal House of Justice. The Universal House of Justice established the Continental Board of Counsellors (sic) to assist them, and the Countinental Board of Counsellors further has the Auxiliary Board to assist them.

11. In the particular situation between the Trustees of the Spiritual Assembly of Bahá'ís of Albuquerque, New Mexico, Defendants Trustees controlled what member activities Plaintiffs were able to engage in and what members they were able to talk to. They stopped them from interacting with friends at member events. They stopped Plaintiffs from serving on committees and stopped their individual activities for personal reasons. They made all the decisions relating to Plaintiffs' membership-related activities. They told named Plaintiff that opinions she may personally hold were bad and implicitly threatened to curtail her presence at member functions. They acted as if the abuse were no big deal, that it was Plaintiff's fault, and denied doing it. They failed to act when one member was physically threatened and shoved by another member.

12. Although Plaintiffs have consistently complied with Defendant Trustees' demands, they have also consistently filed complaints against them with the National and International Bahá'í authorities. This has enraged the Defendant Trustees.

13. Defendant Trustees have never made specific accusations or informed Plaintiffs of wrongdoing, other than vague statements such as "you have issues with the Spiritual Assembly."

14. Therefore, deep-seated animosities and distrust have arisen between Plaintiffs and the Trustees, which are incapable of resolution and thereby present an irreconcilable barrier to the ability of the corporation to function as is.

15. Plaintiffs' reasonable expectations that they would be able to participate in the management and activities of their corporation, as minority shareholders, have been thwarted since at least 1995.

16. Article IV of the LSA by-laws provides that the LSA shall compose differences and disagreements among members of the community. Article VII, section 9 of the NSA by-laws provides that any member of a Bahá'í community may appeal from a decision of his LSA to the NSA.

Failure to Allow Inspection of Books and Records

17. The books and records of the corporation have been maintained in an inaccurate and inequitable manner.

18. The year 2000 annual meeting showed a 10%, $10,000 discrepancy in the corporate books.

19. In a letter dated September 3, 2000, named Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn informed the Local Spiritual Assembly that she desired to inspect their financial books. Defendants refused.

20. Following mailing of the demand letter, the LSA offered to allow named Plaintiff to inspect the books and records, but under conditions that the Plaintiff deemed in bad faith.

Fraudulent Oppression and Prevention of Communications between Shareholders

21. On April 19, 1998, Defendant Trustees ordered named Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn to refrain from discussing her "issues" with anyone but Auxiliary Board member Brent Poirier and the Local Spiritual Assembly. Plaintiff complied and appealed to Brent Poirier and the National Spiritual Assembly, who took no action. Defendant LSA has wrapped many of their dealings with members in the cloak of secrecy in a like manner.

Electioneering

22. At the Annual Meeting Feast of 1999, Defendant Trustees fraudulently rigged the election of Trustee Nelson Sapad by calling for applause for him three times prior to an election of corporate officers. Plaintiff appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly and Brent Poirier, who took no action.

23. Defendant Trustees or their agents fraudulently rigged the election of Harry and Sondra Day, by introducing them and calling for applause moments before an election of corporate officers.

24. Trustees do not ensure secret balloting at the Annual Meeting Feast. The usual practice is not to use a ballot box, but for members to lay their ballots on a plate or in a basket in plain sight of the election tellers. Ms. Buchhorn appealed to Brent Poirier on at least one election. Mr. Poirier responded by handling the collection basket himself.

25. In the member newsletter and prior to the annual election and during the Annual Meeting Feast, Trustees have used scriptural quotes to draw attention to persons serving on certain committees.

Fraudulent and Oppressive Behavior Relating to the TV Show "Spiritual Reality"

26. Plaintiffs conceptualized and produced a TV show named "Spiritual Reality." After 100 showings, during which Defendant Trustees only complimented Plaintiffs, Defendant Trustees, fraudulently and with intent to oppress, mandated major changes in the show. Plaintiffs complied and appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly and Brent Poirier, who took no action.

27. Defendant Trustees, fraudulently and with intent to oppress, ordered Plaintiffs to "temporarily postpone" their television show, "Spiritual Reality." Plaintiff complied, and Defendants never specifically informed Plaintiffs what they had done to precipitate the arbitrary and capricious termination. The effect of this order, namely the termination of the TV show, violated the right of shareholders to communicate with other shareholders.

28. Trustees fraudulently and under false pretences stated that the reasons for termination would be fully discussed at a later meeting, at which meeting those reasons were never discussed. Defendant Trustee Kambiz Victory, employee of channel 41, knew or should have known that a television program cannot be "temporarily postponed." Plaintiffs appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly, who took no action.

29. Defendant Kambiz Victory, a Trustee, fraudulently and with intent to oppress, told named Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn in regards to her television show that "Your teaching can have no effect because you are not in unity with the Spiritual Assembly." Defendant knew that Ms. Buchhorn's television show brought in 15% of the information requests during an unrelated major regional advertising campaign by Defendants. Plaintiff appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly, who took no action.

30. Defendant Trustees fraudulently and under false pretences set-up Plaintiffs to a "confession" of their animosity towards Defendant Trustees. Named Plaintiff appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly, who took no action.

Other Oppression

31. As an act of individual initiative, named Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn organized a Bahá'í parade float for several years for the New Mexico State Fair Parade. In 2000, Defendant Trustees convened a task force to organize the parade float for that year. On August 22, 2000, approximately 19 days before the parade, Defendant Trustees, fraudulently and with intent to oppress, instructed Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn to terminate her parade float activities. A false reason for this termination was published in the membership newsletter by Defendant Trustees, causing Plaintiff embarrassment. Plaintiff complied, and Defendant never informed Plaintiff as to the reason for that termination. Plaintiff appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly and Brent Poirier, who took no action.

32. Defendant Trustees, fraudulently and with intent to oppress, ordered Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn to receive instruction on the Bahá'í Covenant. Plaintiff complied and attended that "instruction," which in fact consisted of three (3) hours of interrogation by Trustee Owen Creightney, and John and Ok-Sun McHenry. It became apparent at this meeting that Trustee Creightney had lied to the Trustees in order to oppress named Plaintiff. Plaintiff appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly and Brent Poirier, who took no action.

33. Defendant Trustees, fraudulently and with intent to oppress, ordered named Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn to resign from the Bahá'í gospel choir. Plaintiff complied, and Defendant never informed Plaintiff as to the reason for that termination. Plaintiff appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly and Brent Poirier, who took no action.

34. Defendant Trustees, fraudulently and with intent to oppress, undermined named Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn's Saturday Night Coffee House and in effect stopped her Coffee House. Defendant never informed Plaintiff as to these circumstances. Plaintiff appealed to the National Spiritual Assembly and Brent Poirier, who took no action.

35. Defendant Trustees, fraudulently and with intent to oppress, have ordered numerous Bahá'ís to shun Plaintiff Deborah Buchhorn.

36. Defendant Trustee Kambiz Victory told a Plaintiff "I am the voice of God in this community."

Libel

37. Defendant Trustees knowingly published false and defamatory information about Plaintiffs in the Albuquerque Bahá'í newsletter, specifically relating to the parade banner.

Unlawful Prevention of Communication between Shareholders

38. Defendant National Spiritual Assembly has the policy that Local Spiritual Assemblies are responsible for reviewing pamphlets and newsletters and materials that mention the Faith such as songs, play scripts, souvenir items, and greeting cards, intended for publication or distribution within their communities, whereas the National Spiritual Assembly is responsible for review of those same materials intended for nationwide publication.

CAUSES OF ACTION

Count I

39. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
40. The Trustees of the Local Spiritual Assembly have repeatedly acted and continue to act fraudulently towards the Plaintiffs.
41. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

Count II

42. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
43. The Trustees of the Local Spiritual Assembly libeled the named Plaintiff.
44. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

Count III

45. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
46. The Trustees of the Local Spiritual Assembly have repeatedly failed to act and continue to fail to act in good faith, which failure constitutes fraud.
47. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

Count IV

48. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporates all previous paragraphs.
49. The Trustees of the Local Spiritual Assembly have repeatedly failed to act and continue to fail to act with the care an ordinary prudent person in like position would exercise under similar circumstances, which failure constitute fraud.
50. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

Count V

51. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
52. The Trustees of the Local Spiritual Assembly have repeatedly failed to act and continue to fail to act in a manner they reasonably believe to be in the best interests of the corporation and its members, which failure constitutes fraud.
53. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

Count VI

54. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
55. The Trustees have repeatedly failed their duty to compose differences and disagreements with themselves and the members, in violation of their by-laws, which failure constitutes fraud.
56. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

Count VII

57. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
58. The National Spiritual Assembly has repeatedly failed their duty to hear appeals from Plaintiffs, in violation of their by-laws.
59. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

Count VIII

60. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
61. The literature review policies of the National and Local Spiritual Assemblies violate the rights of corporate members to communicate with other corporate members.
62. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

Count IX

63. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate all previous paragraphs.
64. The practice of the Local Spiritual Assembly to direct members not to speak about their dealings with the LSA with other corporate members violates the rights of corporate members to communicate with other corporate members.
65. Plaintiffs have suffered emotional damages thereby.

JUDICIAL RELIEF

WHEREFORE, for these reasons, Plaintiffs request that this Court:

1. Declare that the Trustees acted fraudulently towards Plaintiffs;
2. Declare that Trustees libeled Plaintiffs;
3. Declare that the Trustees breached their corporate duties towards Plaintiffs;
4. Remove the Trustees from their positions and enjoin them from serving in official Bahá'ís capacities for nineteen (19) years;
5. Remove the LSA Directors who are also Trustees;
6. Declare that the Local Spiritual Assembly violated members' rights to inspect corporate books and records;
7. Compel Defendant LSA to retain an independent certified public accountant to audit the books for the last two years;
8. Declare that Defendant LSA violated their corporate by-laws by failing to compose differences and disagreements among members of the community;

6. Declare that the National Spiritual Assembly breached their duty of hearing Plaintiffs' appeals;
7. Declare that the literature review policies of the Bahá'ís violate United States common law as preventing corporate members from communicating with other corporate members;
8. Enjoin Defendants National Spiritual Assembly and Local Spiritual Assembly from enforcing their literature review policy;
9. Declare that the secrecy practices of the Local Spiritual Assembly violate United States common law as preventing corporate members from communicating with other corporate members;
10. Enjoin Defendant Local Spiritual Assembly from continuing their secrecy practices;
11. Award compensatory damages from Defendants to Plaintiffs;
12. Award attorney's fees and costs to Plaintiffs;
13. Any other relief this Court deems appropriate.

Respectfully submitted,

Yorgos D. Marinakis
Attorney for Plaintiffs
P.O. Box 45923
Rio Rancho, NM 87174
505-459-4664
877-430-9550 (fax)

Named Plaintiff's Verification

STATE OF NEW MEXICO)
) ss.
COUNTY OF BERNALILLO)

COMES NOW Deborah Buchhorn, and being duly sworn, states as follows:

1. I have read and understood the contents of this Complaint.
2. I have personal knowledge of the facts stated herein.
3. I attest to and verify their truth and accuracy.

DEBORAH BUCHHORN
SWORN TO AND SUBSCRIBED before me this ____ day of _____, 2001.

Notary Public

My Commission Expires:

Subj: Re: LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001
Date: 6/5/2001 8:42:38 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: LDRS LFST Shahid
To: Glaysht
CC: LDRS LFST Mgr; LDRS LFST Jerry

Dear Mr. Glaysht,

Regarding your message posted at: Lifestyle>Spirituality>Baha'i Message Board>Announcements> 6/3/01 9:25 AM

To avoid further disruption to the message board, your post has been removed. Please review Keyword: TOS and the Spirituality Message Board Standards for more info. Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid

Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

Subject: Re: LAWSUIT against bahai institutions for FRAUD & LIBEL 3/2/2001
Date: 6/3/01 9:25 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Glayshf
Message-id: <20010603092546.11850.00000414@ng-fo1.aol.com>

Should also note it's best not to use AOL since the communication here is so often interfered with or suppressed:

To view the FULL TEXT, go to Keyword Newsgroups, Expert Add,
talk.religion.bahai

Or search the web for

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

FG

From: "FG" <FG@hotmail.com>
Subject: Re: AOL Censorship & Abuse of TOS rules by the fundamentalist Community "Leader"
Date: Wednesday, March 07, 2001 1:36 PM

Please note that my website does not attack the bahai faith but reveals the extent to which fundamentalists among our fellow bahais attack people who do not share their literal-minded mindset.

It will be evident to honest and decent people that you abuse your position and are merely attempting to finding other stratagemes to falsely TOS me.

--
FG
www.FG.com
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.nbc.com/FG/index.htm>

Subj: Signature Lines, etc.
Date: 3/6/2001 12:45:09 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: ldrslfstshahid@aol.com (LDRS LFST Shahid)
To: glaysherfj@aol.com

Dear friends,

Signature lines are permissible and even encouraged but these must comply with the Spirituality Message Board Standards and AOL's Terms of Service. The Spirituality message boards are dedicated to support and/or fellowship, therefore websites aimed at attacking the Baha'i Faith should not be posted here. Also, please avoid making short "I agree" statements on the board. They tend to clutter the boards. Also, try to avoid reposting entire messages in your responses.
LDRS LFST Shahid

Volunteer Message Board Leader

Baha'i Message Board

----- Headers -----
Return-Path: <ldrslfstshahid@aol.com>
Received: from rly-ye02.mx.aol.com (rly-ye02.mail.aol.com [172.18.151.199])
by air-ye04.mail.aol.com (v77_r1.21) with ESMTP; Tue, 06 Mar 2001
00:45:09 -0500
Received: from imo-m01.mx.aol.com (imo-m01.mx.aol.com [64.12.136.4]) by rly-ye02.mx.aol.com (v77_r1.21) with ESMTP; Tue, 06 Mar 2001 00:44:42 -0500
Received: from ladder05.news.aol.com (ladder05.news.aol.com [172.31.45.159])
by imo-m01.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.8/AOL-5.0.0)
with ESMTP id AAA13684 for <glaysherfj@aol.com>;
Tue, 6 Mar 2001 00:44:27 -0500 (EST)
From: ldrslfstshahid@aol.com (LDRS LFST Shahid)
To: glaysherfj@aol.com
Date: 06 Mar 2001 00:43:32 EST
References: <20010305075229.20363.00000958@ng-ch1.aol.com>
Organization: AOL <https://www.aol.com>
Subject: Signature Lines, etc.
Message-ID: <20010306004332.18966.00001323@ng-mi1.aol.com>

From: "FG" <FG@hotmail.com>
Subject: Re: AOL & Open Petition for a Bahai Reformation
Date: Wednesday, March 07, 2001 1:30 PM

FYI note Susan Maneck's link as signature file on AOL which the present "Community Leader" permitted while prohibiting mine.

Conclusion: as long as fellow fundamentalist fanatics are posting them, it's permissible....

--
FG
www.FG.com
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.nbc.com/FG/index.htm>

Subject: Baha'i Epochs
Date: 1/29/2001 2:46 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Smaneck
Message-id: <20010129024623.05802.00003149@ng-cg1.aol.com>

Dear friends,

Earlier someone had asked about the various Baha'i Epochs. I was able to locate the following article on this topic.

warmest, Susan

Epochs explained

(From Rodney Clarken's education list,
<https://www-instruct.nmu.edu/education/rclarken/>)

Since the House announced the Fifth Epoch of the Formative Age, I have had several people ask about what it means and for background on the epochs. Below is the best description I have come across and refers to references where the House has explained earlier epochs.

Forwarded by Riaz Khadem via Shahla.

A number of the friends have inquired into the meaning of the Universal House of Justice' announcement of the beginning of the Fifth Epoch of the Formative Age of the Faith. While the full meaning of this announcement will be revealed with time, it is instructive to read the description of the previous epochs of the formative age as described by the House of Justice itself in Messages from the Universal House of Justice, 1963-1986.

"Epoch" is a term used by the Beloved Guardian to describe progressive stages in the evolution of the organic Baha'i community and signal the maturation of its institutions, allowing the Faith to operate at new levels and to initiate new functions. Here is a description of the stages in the evolution of the Faith, using these epochs as demarcations of maturation:

The Epochs of the Apostolic & The Heroic Age of the Dispensations of the Bab and Baha'u'llah:

1844-1853: The Epoch of the Bab
1853-1892: The Epoch of Baha'u'llah
1892-1921: The Epoch of Abdul-Baha

The Epochs of the Formative Age of the Dispensation of Baha'u'llah:

1921-1944/6: The First Epoch
Birth and the primary stages in the erection of the framework of the Administrative Order of the Faith, with the formation of local and national institutions in all five continents. Began with naming of Shoghi Effendi as the Guardian of the Cause, his careful instruction of the community in the principles of Baha'i administration, and led to the inception of the First Seven Year Plan (1937-1944) of the North American Baha'i community, the first systematic teaching campaign in the history of the Faith, which inaugurated the execution of the Tablets of the Divine Plan.

1946-1963: The Second Epoch
Under the guidance of Shoghi Effendi, involved the formulation of a succession of national teaching plans designed to facilitate the development of the Faith beyond the confines of the Western Hemisphere and the continent of Europe. Marked by the inception of the second Seven Year Plan in America (1946-1953) and the worldwide Ten Year Crusade (1953-1963), involving twelve national plans, and achieved the appointment of the Hands of the Cause, the appointment of Auxiliary Boards, and the establishment of the International Baha'i Council, concluding in the election of the Universal House of Justice.

1963-1986: The Third Epoch

Led by the Universal House of Justice, witnessed the emergence of the Faith from obscurity, the initiation of activities designed to foster social and economic development, the creation of the institution of the Continental Boards of Counsellors and the International Teaching Centre, the appointment of assistants to Auxiliary Board Members, and the construction and occupation by the Universal House of Justice of its Seat on Mt. Carmel.

Launched three worldwide plans: the Nine Year Plan (1964-1973) the Five Year Plan (1974-1979) and the Seven Year Plan (1979-1986).

1986-2001: The Fourth Epoch

Witnessed the formulation of the specific goals for each national community through consultation of the National Spiritual Assemblies and the Continental Boards of Counsellors. Began with the Six Year Plan (1986-1992), and continued through the Holy Year (1992-1993) to the Three Year Plan (1993-1996), the Four Year Plan (1996-2000) and the Twelve Month Plan (2000-2001).

2001- : The Fifth Epoch

Via internalizing and integrating the lessons and experiences of systematization witnessed an unparalleled unity of thought in the institution of the Counsellors. Saw the completion of the Arc on Mt. Carmel, a change in the Baha'i culture due to the emergence of training institutes, and the synchronization of institutional collaboration with the external processes toward world unity.

*All the Epochs are described in length in Messages from the Universal House of Justice 1963-1986, Pgs 710 -716 Para 451.1 - 451.14

As we reflect upon the significance of this Fifth Epoch, we may wish to contemplate what marvels will mark this period as the Baha'i community extends to its grassroots-at the level of the Local Spiritual Assemblies and the Auxiliary Board Members and their assistants in a united, systematic process of growth-the collaboration between the institutions of the rulers and learned in the training institutes which have contributed to a dramatic change in the culture of the Baha'i community around the world.

warmest, Susan

<https://www.susanmaneck.com>

From: "FG" <FG@hotmail.com>
Subject: Re: AOL & Open Petition for a Bahai Reformation
Date: Wednesday, March 07, 2001 1:25 PM

The latest duplicities:

Subj: Signature Lines, etc.
Date: 3/6/2001 12:45:09 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: ldrslfstshahid@aol.com (LDRS LFST Shahid)
To: glayshefj@aol.com

Dear friends,

Signature lines are permissible and even encouraged but these must comply with the Spirituality Message Board Standards and AOL's Terms of Service. The Spirituality message boards are dedicated to support and/or fellowship, therefore websites aimed at attacking the Baha'i Faith should not be posted here. Also, please avoid making short "I agree" statements on the board. They tend to clutter the boards. Also, try to avoid reposting entire messages in your responses.
LDRS LFST Shahid

Volunteer Message Board Leader

Baha'i Message Board

----- Headers -----

Return-Path: <ldrslfstshahid@aol.com>
Received: from rly-ye02.mx.aol.com (rly-ye02.mail.aol.com [172.18.151.199])

by air-ye04.mail.aol.com (v77_r1.21) with ESMTP; Tue, 06 Mar 2001
00:45:09 -0500
Received: from imo-m01.mx.aol.com (imo-m01.mx.aol.com [64.12.136.4]) by rly-ye02.mx.aol.com (v77_r1.21) with ESMTP; Tue, 06 Mar 2001 00:44:42 -0500
Received: from ladder05.news.aol.com (ladder05.news.aol.com [172.31.45.159])
by imo-m01.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.8/AOL-5.0.0)
with ESMTP id AAA13684 for <glaysherfj@aol.com>;
Tue, 6 Mar 2001 00:44:27 -0500 (EST)
From: ldrslfstshahid@aol.com (LDRS LFST Shahid)
To: glaysherfj@aol.com
Date: 06 Mar 2001 00:43:32 EST
References: <20010305075229.20363.00000958@ng-ch1.aol.com>
Organization: AOL <https://www.aol.com>
Subject: Signature Lines, etc.
Message-ID: <20010306004332.18966.00001323@ng-mi1.aol.com>

"FG" <f_glaysher@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:ta1p8d80p8re6b@corp.supernews.com...

> FYI:
>
> Subj: Your Post on the Baha'i Message Board
> Date: 2/27/2001 1:42:17 AM Eastern Standard Time
> From: LDRS LFST Shahid
> To: GlaysherFJ
> CC: LDRS LFST Jerry, LDRS LFST Mgr
>
>
> Dear Mr. Fred Glaysher,
>
>
> Regarding your message posted at: Lifestyle>Spirituality>Baha'i Message > Board>Questions to the Community Leaders>2/26/01 7:36 AM
>
> To avoid further disruption to the message board, some of your posts have > been removed. Please review Keyword: TOS and the Spirituality Message Board
> Guidelines for more information on what is appropriate in our community.
>
> Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been > submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.
>
> Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot > respond to replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please
> send mail to TOSGeneral.
>
> Regards,
>
>
> LDRS LFST Shahid
> Volunteer Message Board Leader
> Baha'i Message Board
>
> Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....
> Date: 2/26/01 7:36 AM Eastern Standard Time
> From: GlaysherFJ
> Message-id: <20010226073616.04001.00000011@ng-mi1.aol.com>
>
>
> Dear Community Leader:
>
> Your comments are quite false and misleading, in my opinion.
>
> The uhj has become an intolerant fundamentalist institution, distorting
> Baha'u'llah's most basic Teachings regarding freedom of speech and > conscience. It uses tyrannical and deceitful definitions of what constitutes
> "loving consultation" to encourage the lowest elements among our fellow > Bahais to attack and malign others in the hope of driving them into silence
> and submission, indeed, even of driving OUT of the Bahai Faith.... Those > wishing to
> confirm these claims need only look at the threats currently being made > against my LIFE by a Bahai fundamentalist on talk.religion.bahai, easily > accessible from AOL by Keyword Newsgroups.
>
> Do you encourage and support threatening the very lives of your fellow > Bahais who do not share your intolerant fundamentalism?
>
> In such an atmosphere of fear and intimidation, many Bahais and ex-bahais, > even non-bahais, may very well find it wise to sign my Open Petition for a > Bahai Reformation with a pseudonym.
>
> --
> FG
> www.FG.com
> The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
> <https://members.nbci.com/FG/index.htm>
>

>
> "FG" <FG@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> news:97djkn$oitbb$1@ID-75545.news.dfncis.de...
> > FYI
> >
> > -----
> > Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....
> > Date: 2/26/2001 7:36 AM Eastern Standard Time
> > From: GlaysheFJ
> > Message-id: <20010226073616.04001.00000011@ng-mi1.aol.com>
> >
> >
> > Dear Community Leader:
> >
> > Your comments are quite false and misleading, in my opinion.
> >
> > The uhj has become an intolerant fundamentalist institution, distorting
> > Baha'u'llah's most basic Teachings regarding freedom of speech and > > conscience. It uses tyrannical and deceitful definitions of what > > constitutes
> > "loving consultation" to encourage the lowest elements among our fellow > > Bahais to attack and malign others in the hope of driving them into > > silence
> > and submission, indeed, even of driving OUT of the Bahai Faith....
> >
> > Those wishing to > > confirm these claims need only look at the threats currently being made > > against my LIFE by a Bahai fundamentalist on talk.religion.bahai, easily > > accessible from AOL by Keyword Newsgroups.
> >
> > Do you encourage and support threatening the very lives of your fellow > > Bahais who do not share your intolerant fundamentalism?
> >
> > In such an atmosphere of fear and intimidation, many Bahais and
ex-bahais,
> > even non-bahais, may very well find it wise to sign my Open Petition for
a > > Bahai Reformation with a pseudonym.
> >
> > --
> > FG
> > www.FG.com
> > The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
> > <https://members.nbci.com/FG/index.htm>
> >
> >
> >
> > >Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....
> > >Date: 2/20/2001 11:32 AM Eastern Standard Time
> > >From: LDRS LFST Shahid
> > >Message-id: <20010220113246.05728.00003460@ng-md1.aol.com>
> > >
> > >
> > >>Note in Announcements that I would allow you to use a pseudonym if > > >>you're too afraid of the intolerant fundamentalism of the universal > > >>house of "justice" to state your views in an open and candid manner....
> > >
> > >>Dear Mr. GlaysheFJ,
> > >
> > >>The Universal House of Justice, which is neither fundamentalist nor > > >>intolerant, is well aware of my views already. I do not hesitate to > > >>express
> > >>them to that body in a spirit of loving consultation instead of pressure
> > >>politicking. Therefore, I do not require either a pseudonym or your > > >>petitions
> > >>to do so.
> > >
> > >>Besides, signing a petition with a pseudonym renders it useless anyhow.
> > >
> > >
> > >>LDRS LFST Shahid
> > >>Volunteer Message Board Leader
> > >>Baha'i Message Board
> > >

From: "FG" <f_glaysheFJ@hotmail.com>
Subject: Re: AOL & Open Petition for a Bahai Reformation
Date: Saturday, March 03, 2001 7:37 AM

FYI:

Subj: Your Post on the Baha'i Message Board
Date: 2/27/2001 1:42:17 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: LDRS LFST Shahid
To: GlaysheFJ
CC: LDRS LFST Jerry, LDRS LFST Mgr

Dear Mr. Fred GlaysheFJ,

Regarding your message posted at: Lifestyle>Spirituality>Baha'i Message Board>Questions to the Community Leaders>2/26/01 7:36 AM

To avoid further disruption to the message board, some of your posts have been removed. Please review Keyword: TOS and the Spirituality Message Board Guidelines for more information on what is appropriate in our community.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....
Date: 2/26/01 7:36 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: GlaysheFJ
Message-id: <20010226073616.04001.00000011@ng-mi1.aol.com>

Dear Community Leader:

Your comments are quite false and misleading, in my opinion.

The uhj has become an intolerant fundamentalist institution, distorting Baha'u'llah's most basic Teachings regarding freedom of speech and conscience. It uses tyrannical and deceitful definitions of what constitutes "loving consultation" to encourage the lowest elements among our fellow Bahais to attack and malign others in the hope of driving them into silence and submission, indeed, even of driving OUT of the Bahai Faith.... Those wishing to confirm these claims need only look at the threats currently being made against my LIFE by a Bahai fundamentalist on talk.religion.bahai, easily accessible from AOL by Keyword Newsgroups.

Do you encourage and support threatening the very lives of your fellow Bahais who do not share your intolerant fundamentalism?

In such an atmosphere of fear and intimidation, many Bahais and ex-bahais, even non-bahais, may very well find it wise to sign my Open Petition for a Bahai Reformation with a pseudonym.

--
FG
www.FG.com
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.nbc.com/FG/index.htm>

"FG" <FG@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:97djkn$oitbb$1@ID-75545.news.dfncis.de...
> FYI
>
> -----
> Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....
> Date: 2/26/2001 7:36 AM Eastern Standard Time
> From: GlaysheFJ
> Message-id: <20010226073616.04001.00000011@ng-mi1.aol.com>
>
>
> Dear Community Leader:
>
> Your comments are quite false and misleading, in my opinion.
>
> The uhj has become an intolerant fundamentalist institution, distorting
> Baha'u'llah's most basic Teachings regarding freedom of speech and > conscience. It uses tyrannical and deceitful definitions of what > constitutes
> "loving consultation" to encourage the lowest elements among our fellow > Bahais to attack and malign others in the hope of driving them into > silence
> and submission, indeed, even of driving OUT of the Bahai Faith....
>
> Those wishing to
> confirm these claims need only look at the threats currently being made > against my LIFE by a Bahai fundamentalist on talk.religion.bahai, easily > accessible from AOL by Keyword Newsgroups.
>
> Do you encourage and support threatening the very lives of your fellow > Bahais who do not share your intolerant fundamentalism?
>

> In such an atmosphere of fear and intimidation, many Bahais and ex-bahais, > even non-bahais, may very well find it wise to sign my Open Petition for a > Bahai Reformation with a pseudonym.
>
> --
> FG
> www.FG.com
> The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
> <https://members.nbci.com/FG/index.htm>
>
>
>
> >Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....
> >Date: 2/20/2001 11:32 AM Eastern Standard Time
> >From: LDRS LFST Shahid
> >Message-id: <20010220113246.05728.00003460@ng-md1.aol.com>
> >
> >
> >>Note in Announcements that I would allow you to use a pseudonym if > >>you're too afraid of the intolerant fundamentalism of the universal > >>house of "justice" to state your views in an open and candid manner....
> >
> >Dear Mr. Glaysher,
> >
> >The Universal House of Justice, which is neither fundamentalist nor > >intolerant, is well aware of my views already. I do not hesitate to > express
> >them to that body in a spirit of loving consultation instead of pressure
> >politicking. Therefore, I do not require either a pseudonym or your > petitions
> >to do so.
> >
> >Besides, signing a petition with a pseudonym renders it useless anyhow.
> >
> >
> >LDRS LFST Shahid
> >Volunteer Message Board Leader
> >Baha'i Message Board
> >
> >

From: "FG" <f_glaysher@hotmail.com>
Subject: Re: AOL & Open Petition for a Bahai Reformation
Date: Saturday, March 03, 2001 7:35 AM

FYI:

Subj: Your Post on the Baha'i Message Board
Date: 2/27/2001 1:42:17 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: LDRS LFST Shahid
To: GlaysherFJ
CC: LDRS LFST Jerry, LDRS LFST Mgr

Dear Mr. Fred Glaysher,

Regarding your message posted at: Lifestyle>Spirituality>Baha'i Message
Board>Questions to the Community Leaders>2/26/01 7:36 AM

To avoid further disruption to the message board, some of your posts have been removed. Please review Keyword: TOS and the Spirituality Message Board Guidelines for more information on what is appropriate in our community.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....
Date: 2/26/01 7:36 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: GlaysherFJ
Message-id: <20010226073616.04001.00000011@ng-mi1.aol.com>

Dear Community Leader:

Your comments are quite false and misleading, in my opinion.

The uhj has become an intolerant fundamentalist institution, distorting Baha'u'llah's most basic Teachings regarding freedom of speech and conscience. It uses tyrannical and deceitful definitions of what constitutes "loving consultation" to encourage the lowest elements among our fellow Bahais to attack and malign others in the hope of driving them into silence and submission, indeed, even of driving OUT of the Bahai Faith.... Those wishing to confirm these claims need only look at the threats currently being made against my LIFE by a Bahai fundamentalist on talk.religion.bahai, easily accessible from AOL by Keyword Newsgroups.

Do you encourage and support threatening the very lives of your fellow Bahais who do not share your intolerant fundamentalism?

In such an atmosphere of fear and intimidation, many Bahais and ex-bahais, even non-bahais, may very well find it wise to sign my Open Petition for a Bahai Reformation with a pseudonym.

--

FG
www.FG.com
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.nbci.com/FG/index.htm>

"FG" <FG@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:97djknoitbb$1@ID-75545.news.dfncis.de...

> FYI

>

> -----

> Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....

> Date: 2/26/2001 7:36 AM Eastern Standard Time

> From: GlaysherFJ

> Message-id: <20010226073616.04001.00000011@ng-mi1.aol.com>

>

>

> Dear Community Leader:

>

> Your comments are quite false and misleading, in my opinion.

>

> The uhj has become an intolerant fundamentalist institution, distorting

> Baha'u'llah's most basic Teachings regarding freedom of speech and > conscience. It uses tyrannical and deceitful definitions of what

> constitutes

> "loving consultation" to encourage the lowest elements among our fellow

> Bahais to attack and malign others in the hope of driving them into

> silence

> and submission, indeed, even of driving OUT of the Bahai Faith....

>

> Those wishing to

> confirm these claims need only look at the threats currently being made

> against my LIFE by a Bahai fundamentalist on talk.religion.bahai, easily > accessible from AOL by Keyword Newsgroups.

>

> Do you encourage and support threatening the very lives of your fellow

> Bahais who do not share your intolerant fundamentalism?

>

> In such an atmosphere of fear and intimidation, many Bahais and ex-bahais,

> even non-bahais, may very well find it wise to sign my Open Petition for a

> Bahai Reformation with a pseudonym.

>

> --

> FG

> www.FG.com

> The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

> <https://members.nbci.com/FG/index.htm>

>

>

>

> >Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....

> >Date: 2/20/2001 11:32 AM Eastern Standard Time

> >From: LDRS LFST Shahid

> >Message-id: <20010220113246.05728.00003460@ng-md1.aol.com>

> >

> >

> >>Note in Announcements that I would allow you to use a pseudonym if

> >>you're too afraid of the intolerant fundamentalism of the universal > >>house of "justice" to state your views in an open and candid manner....

> >

> >Dear Mr. Glaysher,

> >

> >The Universal House of Justice, which is neither fundamentalist nor > >intolerant, is well aware of my views already. I do not hesitate to > >express

> >them to that body in a spirit of loving consultation instead of pressure

> >politicking. Therefore, I do not require either a pseudonym or your

> >petitions

> >to do so.

> >

> >

> >>Besides, signing a petition with a pseudonym renders it useless anyhow.

> >

> >
> >LDRS LFST Shahid
> >Volunteer Message Board Leader
> >Baha'i Message Board
> >

From: "FG" <FG@hotmail.com>
Subject: AOL & Open Petition for a Bahai Reformation
Date: Monday, February 26, 2001 7:55 AM

FYI

Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....
Date: 2/26/2001 7:36 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: GlaysheFJ
Message-id: <20010226073616.04001.00000011@ng-mi1.aol.com>

Dear Community Leader:

Your comments are quite false and misleading, in my opinion.

The uhj has become an intolerant fundamentalist institution, distorting Baha'u'llah's most basic Teachings regarding freedom of speech and conscience. It uses tyrannical and deceitful definitions of what constitutes "loving consultation" to encourage the lowest elements among our fellow Bahais to attack and malign others in the hope of driving them into silence and submission, indeed, even of driving OUT of the Bahai Faith....

Those wishing to confirm these claims need only look at the threats currently being made against my LIFE by a Bahai fundamentalist on talk.religion.bahai, easily accessible from AOL by Keyword Newsgroups.

Do you encourage and support threatening the very lives of your fellow Bahais who do not share your intolerant fundamentalism?

In such an atmosphere of fear and intimidation, many Bahais and ex-bahais, even non-bahais, may very well find it wise to sign my Open Petition for a Bahai Reformation with a pseudonym.

--
FG
www.FG.com
The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.nbci.com/FG/index.htm>

>Subject: Re: A Question to the Community Leaders....
>Date: 2/20/2001 11:32 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: LDRS LFST Shahid
>Message-id: <20010220113246.05728.00003460@ng-md1.aol.com>
>
>
>>Note in Announcements that I would allow you to use a pseudonym if >>you're too afraid of the intolerant fundamentalism of the universal >>house of "justice" to state your views in an open and candid manner....
>
>Dear Mr. GlaysheFJ,
>
>The Universal House of Justice, which is neither fundamentalist nor >intolerant, is well aware of my views already. I do not hesitate to express >them to that body in a spirit of loving consultation instead of pressure >politicking. Therefore, I do not require either a pseudonym or your >petitions
>to do so.
>
>Besides, signing a petition with a pseudonym renders it useless anyhow.
>
>
>LDRS LFST Shahid
>Volunteer Message Board Leader
>Baha'i Message Board
>
>

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

To understand how long of a problem the censorship has been, under the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais on AOL, please read a 1998 message by an AOL member.

Subj: Board Posting at Keyword: Spirituality
Date: 4/7/2002 3:06:24 AM Eastern Daylight Time
From: LDRS LFST Shahid
To: Fglaysh12002
CC: LDRS LFST Mgr

Dear Member,

Regarding your message posted at Keyword: Baha'i>General Discussion>Re:Disagreements with AOL guidelines

In order for all members to enjoy our message boards, our community has certain standards of conduct for members to follow. Please review Keyword: Message Board Product Guidelines and Keyword: Lifestyles Board Standards for information on what is appropriate in our community. Based on these standards and guidelines, your post was removed to avoid disruption to the message board discussion.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

We appreciate your taking the time to read this letter. Thank you. If you have any questions or comments, please forward them to LDRS LFST Mgr.

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
AOL Lifestyles Community

===== Copy of Your Message =====

Subject: Re: Disagreements with AOL guidelines
Date: 4/6/02 11:19 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Fglaysh12002
Message-id: <20020406111940.10643.00003266@mb-fo.aol.com>

The problem on these bahai messages boards is not with AOL guidelines but the unfair, unjust, and arbitrary manner in which they are abused by those in whom AOL has misplaced its trust.

FG

www.google.com Search Engine:
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: "Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com>
Subject: AOL Legal Department's Address
Date: Monday, April 01, 2002 9:35 AM

Those interested in justice may file their lawsuits with

AOL Legal Department 22000 AOL Way
Dulles, Virginia 20166

--

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

From: "Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com>
Subject: AOL - continuing bahai fundamentalist dishonesty and exploitation of AOL
Date: Friday, March 29, 2002 9:18 AM

Subject: Shahid: Non-elected Forum Leader who trashes our First Amendment rights

Date: 3/28/2002 2:14 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Ruletherod
Message-id: <20020328141440.08650.00000536@mb-cp.aol.com>

Shahid, forget AOL's un-Constitutional restrictions on our free speech long enough to answer me rationally, without any of your politically correct excuses or Baha'i spin:

Why did you remove my post?

In a message dated 3/27/2002 10:10:28 PM, LDRS LFST
Shahid writes:

Subj:Board Posting at Keyword: Baha'i
Date:3/27/2002 10:10:28 PM Mountain Standard Time
From:LDRS LFST Shahid
To:Ruletherod
CC:LDRS LFST Jerry, LDRS LFST Mgr

Dear Member,

Regarding your messages posted at Keyword:
Baha'i>Announcements> Fred: What
I learned in Baha'i detention>3/25/2002 6:05 AM
In order for all members to enjoy our message boards, our community has certain standards of conduct for members to follow. Please review Keyword:
Message Board Product Guidelines and Keyword: <link to your community's message board standards> for more information on what is appropriate in our community. Based on these standards and guidelines, your post was removed to avoid disruption to the message board discussion.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

We appreciate your taking the time to read this letter. Thank
you. If you have any questions or comments, please forward them to <contact screen name>.

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Host
Spirituality Forum

Subject: Fred: What I learned in Baha'i detention
Date: 3/25/02 3:31 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Ruletherod
Message-id: <20020325153116.18185.00000087@mb-
fd.aol.com>

Subject: Re: SHAHID RETURNS LIKE A POST-THIEF IN THE NIGHT!
Date: 3/25/2002 6:05 AM
From: Fglaysh12002

>removing every dastardly idea
>from this board

Well, in all seriousness, that is precisely the problem here on AOL's bahai message boards, which are regularly censored and manipulated by the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais.

--FG

Don't you feel patronized by this kind of censorship?

We have one adult (a religious peer) using AOL's ad hoc rules -- rules that generally suit the authoritarian mindset of the Baha'i administrative types -- to suppress the "improper"...or rather unpopular (politically incorrect)...expressions of malcontents.

We had no active forum leader here for a number of months in 1998, you'll recall. Nothing bad happened. The board was at its most active and diverse. It was completely democratic in that no one was given unfair advantage. AOL didn't care that we were taking advantage of our freedom. But insecure Baha'i conservative and fundamentalist camps gradually pushed behind the scenes until they got a religious thought-policeman on duty to watch over us like we're a bunch of juvenile delinquents ...as if "they" were/are somehow superior in taste and wisdom. The way I see it, it was a religious coup on the part of self-serving and bossy Baha'is, mostly females....people I thought I had escaped offline. The religious extremists want their special place in heaven while making this Earthly life a hell for the rest of us.

Each year, our public libraries produce lists of banned books -- books deemed too risky for reading by "good intentioned" religious folks -- reminding us how fragile our First Amendment freedoms are. The banned books represent both popular and classical fiction. But the government (so often blamed for everything) isn't banning them. Our fellow citizens are getting this stuff removed through loopholes in the law...or because they know that the squeaky wheel gets greased. In other words, if the righteous religious minority is out to censor our thoughts, they will succeed insofar as enough people do nothing to challenge them; to keep them in check. This is why I feel most Baha'is are probably unwitting accomplices in these First Amendment violations. Their excuse: "obedience" and "loyal servitude." ("It's the Covenant, STUPID!")

AOL is merely a global enterprise...a moneymaking business. It has no moral authority over us, but our Baha'i forum leader(s) wants us to believe they do somehow. It's just a convenient front for extending Baha'i censorship onto the global Net....a "place" that's a godsend so long as it remains free.

Censorship has no place but the home. Censorship goes hand-in-hand with religious fundamentalism or secular authoritarianism: tyranny and dictatorship (by whatever degree).

I wish that all of the American Baha'i fundamentalists could spend a decade living in Iran or Saudi Arabia under existing religious censorship codes to finally appreciate why our democratic freedoms are more sacred than the Kitab-i-Aqdas, the Bible or the Quran.

Without free expression, the Baha'i Faith would cease to exist. But the ONLY freedoms that authoritarian Baha'is are concerned with are their OWN: to worship, preach, dictate...and to control opposing viewpoints as much as possible.

Children under cussing-age don't lurk here. Children are not concerned with the issues we've been discussing here. Only young, middle and old adults visit here. And yet the "children" excuse is one (among others) that's used to remove posts. The only "children" here are the adults...because that's how we're treated by our forum leaders -- as children. We're continually being patronized as naughty boys and girls.

Let's make rules so we can censor the censors for a bleepin' change. That would be justice! Let's have a board mutiny! Let's invent four-letter words that no one has ever heard before!

--Rule Beard

From: "Mr Mahdi" <mrmahdi@aol.com>
Subject: Bahai extremism on AOL's bahai message board

Date: Saturday, April 06, 2002 2:24 AM

For years I have complained about the extremist elements from amongst the bahai faith who happen to take control as "forum leaders" and "moderators" of the bahai message board on AOL. When I mention that I know people that not only had their accounts terminated not once but two or three times due to bahai extremists' manipulation of AOL's TOS and deceiving AOL staff, many of them think I am lying or exaggeration. They think so because it would never cross the people's mind for a moment that a forum on an ISP will be playground for a ultra-extremist and intolerant agenda of a group of people trying to promote their world view and harrass those who do not agree or toe their line.

For years, people have lost their accounts, been harrassed and slandered by the ultra-fanatical elements from amongst the bahais on AOL. I have never witnessed in any other forum on AOL where two successive moderators/forum leaders with the SAME intolerant extremist agenda controlled it with an iron fist, censoring non bahais and bahais who are not dogmatic extremists. I have never heard on ANY AOL forum where many people who did not toe a certain line had their accounts terminated or at least suspended because the forum leaders and other bahais have reported them to AOL. Fred Glaysher's website shows us extensive evidence of years of bahai extremist manipulation and outright double-standards.

I am confused as to why AOL has allowed this to go on and on and on and on and on for so many years, despite the fact that several AOL members have complained and even documented the abuse of the bahai extremist forum leaders/moderators.

I would like for AOL to offer an explanation as to why they have allowed this to go on for so long. It is either they don't know or don't care. I hope that it is the former because if it is, we can inform them (once again) as to what goes on so they can take action.

From a concerned member of AOL,

Mahdi Muhammad

From: "Mr Mahdi" <mrmahdi@aol.com>

Subject: Re: Bahai extremism on AOL's bahai message board

Date: Saturday, April 06, 2002 2:27 PM

If anyone here doubts that there is an bahai extremist agenda on the AOL bahai message board, ask yourself how on earth did Mark Foster pass and give the forum leader role to Susan Maneck? Both are viewed by many bahais as religious fundamentalists who have a history of intolerance and clear-cut double standards.

I would like to receive an explanation from either AOL or someone familiar with their policies to explain the process of HOW a forum leader pass his position to someone else of his or her own choosing.

I would like to know if there is any process where AOL members can participate in choosing a forum leader. If there is, why wasn't the election process present on the AOL bahai message boards? If there isn't, why on earth not???

Mahdi Muhammad

From: "Mr Mahdi" <mrmahdi@aol.com>

Subject: Re: Bahai extremism on AOL's bahai message board

Date: Saturday, April 06, 2002 2:17 PM

Greetings Fred,

>Any chance you could share >this with people on AOL in General Discussion, AOL >Legal Department thread?

I would love to discuss this and other things of a similar nature in General Discussion on AOL. But I must admit, I have to be careful these days, because I do not want my account terminated or suspended due to the bahai extremists TOSing my relevant posts to AOL staff.

I would join in the current discussion on AOL, but I am not sure if I am going to post the last message I put on TRB. I just had enough with the ultra-fanatical censorship of Maneck/Shahid, so I am extremely cautious these days. But if you want to forward what I posted on TRB to AOL, please feel free to do so.

Peace,

Mahdi Muhammad

Subj: Board Postings at Keyword: Bahai
Date: 3/30/2002 1:47:02 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: LDRS LFST Shahid
To: Fglaysh12002
CC: LDRS LFST Mgr, LDRS LFST Jerry

Dear Member,

Regarding your messages posted at Keyword:
Baha'i>Announcements>
In order for all members to enjoy our message boards, our community has certain standards of conduct for members to follow. Please review Keyword: Message Board Product Guidelines and Keyword: <link to your community's message board standards> for more information on what is appropriate in our community. Based on these standards and guidelines, your post was removed to avoid disruption to the message board discussion.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

We appreciate your taking the time to read this letter. Thank you.
If you have any questions or comments, please forward them to <contact screen name>.

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Host
Spirituality Forum

Subject: Re: Baha'i Brown Shirts
Date: 3/29/02 8:17 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Fglaysh12002
Message-id: <20020329081707.02886.00000960@mb-ba.aol.com>

>Double-standards equal hypocrisy.
>
>Censorship is hypocrisy.
>
>This board has been hijacked
>by a Baha'i cleric.
>
>And Baha'i cowards will do nothing >about it.
>
>Seekers:
>This is a Baha'i Spin Zone.

Thank you for your courageous attempt to inform our fellow citizens of what is actually happening behind the facade.....

FG
Google Search Engine:
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Shahid: Non-elected Forum Leader who trashes our First Amendment rights
Date: 3/29/02 8:19 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Fglaysh12002
Message-id: <20020329081941.02886.00000961@mb-ba.aol.com>

Thanks again for speaking candidly about the distortions
and suppressions that are taking place here under the guise of "moderating."

FG
Google Search Engine:
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

From: "Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com> Subject: AOL - bahai fundamentalists suppress freedom of speech & conscience
Date: Friday, March 29, 2002 9:13 AM

FYI

Subj: Board Postings at Keyword: Bahai
Date: 3/28/2002 12:22:03 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: LDRS LFST Shahid
To: Fglaysh12002
CC: LDRS LFST Mgr, LDRS LFST Jerry

Dear Member,

Regarding your messages posted at Keyword: Baha'i.

In order for all members to enjoy our message boards, our community has certain standards of conduct for members to follow. Please review Keyword:
Message Board Product Guidelines and Keyword: Spirituality
Message Board
Standards for more information on what is appropriate in our community.
Based on these standards and guidelines, your posts were removed to avoid disruption to the message board discussion.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

We appreciate your taking the time to read this letter. Thank
you. If you have any questions or comments, please forward them to <LDRS LFST Mgr>.

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

Subject: Re: SHAHID RETURNS LIKE A POST-THIEF IN THE NIGHT!

Date: 3/25/02 8:05 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: Fglaysh12002

Message-id: <20020325080531.00535.00000004@mb-md.aol.com>

>Thanks for the removing every dastardly idea
>from this board

Well, in all seriousness, that is precisely the problem here on AOL's bahai message boards, which are regularly censored and manipulated by the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais.

The real question is when will AOL personnel demonstrate a sense of understanding and responsibility for what they are permitting to take place.

FG

Google Search Engine:

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Fred: What I learned in Baha'i detention

Date: 3/26/02 7:23 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: Fglaysh12002

Message-id: <20020326072317.00989.00000336@mb-cu.aol.com>

Rule,

I couldn't agree more with everything you say here....

Maybe AOL has to be sued before they wake up to what's going on around here on the bahai messages boards, the way the Muslims are now suing AOL....

FG

Google Search Engine:

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Maneck/Shahid's Duplicity

Date: 3/25/02 8:03 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: Fglaysh12002

Message-id: <20020325080325.00535.00000003@mb-md.aol.com>

ATTN - AOL Personnel

We're still waiting for an answer and justice here on these bahai message boards.

Please appoint someone who can be fair and honest.

Thank you.

FG

Google Search Engine:

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: ATTN - AOL Personnel

Date: 3/25/02 8:35 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: Fglaysh12002

Message-id: <20020325083530.02614.00000008@mb-dh.aol.com>

I highly recommend Karen Bacquet's article in the American Family Foundation's Cultic Studies Journal, to any AOL representative attempting to understand what is taking place here on these bahai message boards, as perhaps the best introduction:

"Enemies Within: Conflict and Control in the Baha'i Community"

may be found on her website:

<https://www.angelfire.com/ca3/bigquestions/enemies.html>

See note below from the AFF's website.

Again, I request that AOL intervene and appoint an impartial and fair-minded person as the community leader.

--

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

"AFF (American Family Foundation) is a nonprofit, tax-exempt research center and educational organization founded in 1979. AFF's mission is to study psychological manipulation and cultic groups, to educate the public and professionals, and to assist those who have been adversely affected by a cult-related experience. AFF consists of a professional staff and a growing network of more than 150 volunteer professionals in fields ranging from education, psychology, and religion to journalism, law enforcement, and business." Further details about AFF: https://www.csj.org/aff/aff_about.htm

FG

Google Search Engine:

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: "Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com>

Subject: FWD AOL - Re: Article in American Family

Foundation's Cultic Studies Journal by Karen Bacquet

Date: Tuesday, March 12, 2002 6:38 PM

FWD from AOL's bahai message boards, General Discussion:

In a very important message, Steven Scholl, author of Crisis of Faith, which enraged the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais, accuses Susan Maneck of lying and misrepresenting the incidents surrounding his decision to withdraw from the bahai faith.

--

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

----- Original Message ----- From: "Steve Scholl" <>

Newsgroups: talk.religion.bahai

Sent: Tuesday, March 12, 2002 12:55 PM

Subject: Re: Article in American Family Foundation's Cultic Studies Journal by Karen Bacquet

> Several people on this forum have fwd to me Susan Maneck's comments on > the inner workings of my mind. Susan has a history of telling the > world what I really mean and what my true motives were in relation to > events surrounding my exodus from the Baha'i community. At one point > she informed the world that it was my belief that the Baha'i covenant > went null and void in 1921 with the passing of Abdul-Baha,

which was > a rather outrageous lie on her part. She also claimed that she was > serving as my confidant and guide in the rocky days leading up to my > resignation of membership and that she was counseling me in some way.

> In short, she has lied and made misleading statements about me in the > past and this recent statement of hers is just another example of her > lack of honesty.

>

> She writes:

>

> > > The real reason that Steve Scholl was so concerned is that at the > > time he received this letter from a Counselor he had already planned to do > > this big expose in the press (the Rankin article.) Steve was well aware that > > such an attack on the Faith after having received such a warning from the > > Counsellor would assuredly result in his being declared a Covenant breaker.

> > If he had not been so determined to go forward with this, there > > would not have been a problem.

>

> Let me emphasize that Susan Maneck has never been privy to the real > reasons for my concerns and actions. That said, I am not even clear > what she is trying to say here. The statement of mine that Karen B.

> quotes in her excellent article was a simple look back at one aspect > of my thinking about the internal Baha'i culture wars a few years > after the fact. I think the statement indicates clearly that there was > no big concern on my part about possibly being declared a Baha'i > covenant breaker, that the problems associated with such a move > against me would land more on my family and friends than on me. At > that point I could have cared less what the UHJ or NSA did re: my > Baha'i rights since they had already trampled on them for years and

- > had acted duplicitously and in violation of their own stated
- > administrative principles in handling my "case".
- >
- > Furthermore, I had gone on record in my correspondence with the UHJ
- > and Counsl Birkland that I would not hesitate to discuss their actions
- > with "people of capacity" outside of the Baha'i community and with the
- > media, and I had already passed on information to several religion
- > writers for major newspapers about what was going on inside the Baha'i
- > community. This was not something I was trying to hide from them.
- >
- > I don't know what Maneck's last sentence is referring to. Couns.
- > Birkland's threatening letter to me made it clear that if I said or
- > did anything he or his handlers disapproved of then I would be
- > declared a CBer. The list of my Baha'i crimes included theological
- > deviations and not accepting EVERY WORD from the pen of Baha'u'llah
- > and Abdul-Baha as true. Birkland made it clear in his letter to me
- > that he did not think I was a Baha'i and that he would not hesitate to
- > recommend my removal from the community.
- >
- > What I understand Maneck to be saying here is that my big sin was to
- > talk with the media about internal Baha'i crackdowns on intellectuals
- > and scholars, and that if I had not planned to spill the beans to the
- > media "there would not have been a problem." If this is what she is
- > implying, then she is dead wrong. First, if I had not resigned, I
- > believe I would have been declared a CB because I had no intentions of
- > changing my beliefs based on the fundamentalist rants of the members
- > of the UHJ.
- >
- > But what is telling in this line of Maneckian cult thinking is what
- > she is really saying: The problem in her cult view of the world is
- > the "dissident act" of shining a light on internal Baha'i affairs so
- > that outsiders (and insiders) can learn about what really takes place

> in the Baha'i world. The great sin is ignoring the Baha'i taboo > against speaking out against internal injustices because to do so is > to tarnish the reputation of the Baha'i institutions. Good Baha'is are > expected to take their abuse in silence. If they speak out against > abuse, they are regarded as internal opposition and come under > investigation from the Baha'i Inquisition. They are villified and > threatened, even told that their status in the afterlife is threatened

> if they don't change their ways. And, yes, this was a key element the > little drama that played out between the Baha'i leadership and myself.

> What I told the UHJ and Birkland was something like this:

>

> I know you are all excited about emerging from obscurity and taking a > larger role on the world stage. Well, that means you are also going to > be examined more closely. Your financial misdeeds, your cover ups of > sexual exploitation by Baha'i leaders, your fundamentalist leanings, > your sexist views, your 1950s view on homosexuality, are all going to > be opened up for public scrutiny. Your days of a free ride in the > media are over.

>

> Susan can try to nip at Karen's heels and claim that Karen's article > is flawed this way and that. But such partisan harping is only > preaching to the fundamentalist Baha'i choir. Outsiders and many > insiders will read Karen's article as a clear and honest attempt to > discuss recent Baha'i events. Susan can try to attack Karen's lack of > "methodology" or that Karen's work is not serious scholarship. But > this is laughable when one looks at Dr. Maneck's publishing career.

> She has penned a few Baha'i articles of marginal value published by > internal Baha'i agencies. In short, she has one of the weakest > publishing histories I have ever seen in academics and her academic > profile is nearly nonexistent. Maneck has attempted (unsuccessfully) to > discredit the work of Juan Cole and now Karen with her Baha'i blather.

> Yet it is Juan and Karen who are publishing in refereed academic > journals, and Karen has done this as a freelance writer rather than as > a trained academic.
>
> Susan, if you think you really have something to say, write
it up and > submit it to a non-Baha'i publisher and see if they will accept YOUR > methodology and YOUR use of sources.
>
> Steve Scholl

From: "Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com>
Subject: AOL - What I learned in Baha'i detention - Ruletherod
Date: Tuesday, March 26, 2002 8:21 AM

Shahid is the fundamentalist "community leader" on AOL's bahai message boards:

Subject: Fred: What I learned in Baha'i detention
Date: 3/25/2002 3:31 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Ruletherod
Message-id: <20020325153116.18185.00000087@mb-
fd.aol.com>

Subject: Re: SHAHID RETURNS LIKE A POST-THIEF IN THE NIGHT!
Date: 3/25/2002 6:05 AM
From: Fglaysh12002

>removing every dastardly idea
>from this board

Well, in all seriousness, that is precisely the problem here on AOL's bahai message boards, which are regularly censored and manipulated by the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais.

--FG

Don't you feel patronized by this kind of censorship?

We have one adult (a religious peer) using AOL's ad hoc rules -- rules that generally suit the authoritarian mindset of the Baha'i administrative types -- to suppress the "improper"...or rather unpopular (politically incorrect)...expressions of malcontents.

We had no active forum leader here for a number of months in 1998, you'll recall. Nothing bad happened. The board was at its most active and diverse. It was completely democratic in that no one was given unfair advantage. AOL didn't care that we were taking advantage of our freedom. But insecure Baha'i conservative and fundamentalist camps gradually pushed behind the scenes until they got a religious thought-policeman on duty to watch over us like we're a bunch of juvenile delinquents ...as if "they" were/are somehow superior in taste and wisdom. The way I see it, it was a religious coup on the part of self-serving and bossy Baha'is, mostly females....people I thought I had escaped offline. The religious extremists want their special place in heaven while making this Earthly life a hell for the rest of us.

Each year, our public libraries produce lists of banned books -- books deemed too risky for reading by "good intentioned" religious folks -- reminding us how fragile our First Amendment freedoms are. The banned books represent both popular and classical fiction. But the government (so often blamed for everything) isn't banning them. Our fellow citizens are getting this stuff removed through loopholes in the law...or because they know that the squeaky wheel gets greased. In other words, if the righteous religious minority is out to censor our thoughts, they will succeed insofar as enough people do nothing to challenge them; to keep them in check. This is why I feel most Baha'is are probably unwitting accomplices in these First Amendment violations. Their excuse: "obedience" and "loyal servitude." ("It's the Covenant, STUPID!")

AOL is merely a global enterprise...a moneymaking business. It has no moral authority over us, but our Baha'i forum

leader(s)
wants us to believe they do somehow. It's just a convenient front for extending Baha'i censorship onto the global Net....a "place"
that's a godsend so long as it remains *free.

Censorship has no place but the home. Censorship goes hand-in-hand with religious fundamentalism or secular authoritarianism: tyranny and dictatorship (by whatever degree).

I wish that all of the American Baha'i fundamentalists could spent a decade living in Iran or Saudi Arabia under existing religious censorship codes to finally appreciate why our democratic freedoms are more sacred than the Kitab-i-Aqdas, the Bible or the Quran.

Without free expression, the Baha'i Faith would cease to exist. But the ONLY freedoms that authoritarian Baha'is are concerned with are their OWN: to worship, preach, dictate...and to control opposing viewpoints as much as possible.

Children under cussing-age don't lurk here. Children are not concerned with the issues we've been discussing here. Only young, middle and old adults visit here. And yet the "children" excuse is one (among others) that's used to remove posts. The only "children" here are the adults...because that's how we're treated by our forum leaders -- as children.
We're continually being patronized as naughty boys and girls.

Let's make rules so we can censor the censors for a bleepin' change. That would be justice! Let's have a board mutiny!
Let's
invent four-letter words that no one has ever heard before!

--Rule Beard

From: "Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com>
Subject: FWD AOL - Re: Article in American Family
Foundation's Cultic Studies Journal by Karen Bacquet
Date: Tuesday, March 12, 2002 6:38 PM

FWD from AOL's bahai message boards, General Discussion:

In a very important message, Steven Scholl, author of Crisis of Faith,
which enraged the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais, accuses

Susan Maneck of lying and misrepresenting the incidents surrounding his decision to withdraw from the bahai faith.

--

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

----- Original Message ----- From: "Steve Scholl" <>
Newsgroups: talk.religion.bahai
Sent: Tuesday, March 12, 2002 12:55 PM
Subject: Re: Article in American Family Foundation's Cultic Studies Journal
by Karen Bacquet

> Several people on this forum have fwd to me Susan Maneck's comments on > the inner workings of my mind. Susan has a history of telling the > world what I really mean and what my true motives were in relation to > events surrounding my exodus from the Baha'i community.
At one point
> she informed the world that it was my belief that the Baha'i covenant > went null and void in 1921 with the passing of Abdul-Baha,
which was > a rather outrageous lie on her part. She also claimed that she was > serving as my confidant and guide in the rocky days leading up to my > resignation of membership and that she was counseling me in some way.
> In short, she has lied and made misleading statements about me in the > past and this recent statement of hers is just another example of her > lack of honesty.
>
> She writes:
>
> > > The real reason that Steve Scholl was so concerned is that at the > > time he received this letter from a Counselor he had already planned to do > > this big expose in the press (the Rankin article.) Steve was well aware that > > such an attack on the Faith after having received such a warning from

the

> > Counsellor would assuredly result in his being declared a Covenant breaker.

> > If he had not been so determined to go forward with this, there > > would not have been a problem.

>

> Let me emphasize that Susan Maneck has never been privy to the real > reasons for my concerns and actions. That said, I am not even clear

> what she is trying to say here. The statement of mine that Karen B.

> quotes in her excellent article was a simple look back at one aspect > of my thinking about the internal Baha'i culture wars a few years > after the fact. I think the statement indicates clearly that there was > no big concern on my part about possibly being declared a Baha'i

> covenant breaker, that the problems associated with such a move > against me would land more on my family and friends than on me. At > that point I could have cared less what the UHJ or NSA did re: my

> Baha'i rights since they had already trampled on them for years and > had acted duplicitously and in violation of their own stated > administrative principles in handling my "case".

>

> Furthermore, I had gone on record in my correspondence with the UHJ

> and Counsl Birkland that I would not hesitate to discuss their actions

> with "people of capacity" outside of the Baha'i community and with the > media, and I had already passed on information to several religion

> writers for major newspapers about what was going on inside the Baha'i > community. This was not something I was trying to hide from them.

>

> I don't know what Maneck's last sentence is referring to.
Couns.

> Birkland's threatening letter to me made it clear that if I said or > did anything he or his handlers disapproved of then I would be > declared a CBer. The list of my Baha'i crimes included theological

> deviations and not accepting EVERY WORD from the pen of Baha'u'llah > and Abdul-Baha as true. Birkland made it clear in his letter to me > that he did not think I was a Baha'i and that he would not hesitate to > recommend my removal from the community.
>
> What I understand Maneck to be saying here is that my big sin was to > talk with the media about internal Baha'i crackdowns on intellectuals > and scholars, and that if I had not planned to spill the beans to the > media "there would not have been a problem." If this is what she is > implying, then she is dead wrong. First, if I had not resigned, I > believe I would have been declared a CB because I had no intentions of > changing my beliefs based on the fundamentalist rants of the members > of the UHJ.
>
> But what is telling in this line of Maneckian cult thinking is what > she is really saying: The problem in her cult view of the world is > the "dissident act" of shining a light on internal Baha'i affairs so > that outsiders (and insiders) can learn about what really takes place > in the Baha'i world. The great sin is ignoring the Baha'i taboo > against speaking out against internal injustices because to do so is > to tarnish the reputation of the Baha'i institutions. Good Baha'is are > expected to take their abuse in silence. If they speak out against > abuse, they are regarded as internal opposition and come under > investigation from the Baha'i Inquisition. They are villified and > threatened, even told that their status in the afterlife is threatened
> if they don't change their ways. And, yes, this was a key element the > little drama that played out between the Baha'i leadership and myself.
> What I told the UHJ and Birkland was something like this:
>
> I know you are all excited about emerging from obscurity and taking a > larger role on the world stage. Well, that means you are also going to > be examined more closely. Your financial misdeeds, your cover ups of > sexual exploitation by Baha'i leaders, your fundamentalist leanings, > your sexist views, your 1950s view on homosexuality, are all going to > be opened up for public scrutiny. Your days of a free ride in the > media are over.

>
> Susan can try to nip at Karen's heels and claim that Karen's article > is flawed this way and that. But such partisan harping is only > preaching to the fundamentalist Baha'i choir. Outsiders and many > insiders will read Karen's article as a clear and honest attempt to > discuss recent Baha'i events. Susan can try to attack Karen's lack of
> "methodology" or that Karen's work is not serious scholarship. But > this is laughable when one looks at Dr. Maneck's publishing career.
> She has penned a few Baha'i articles of marginal value published by > internal Baha'i agencies. In short, she has one of the weakest > publishing histories I have ever seen in academics and her academic > profile is nearly nonexistent. Maneck has attempted (unsuccessfully) to > discredit the work of Juan Cole and now Karen with her Baha'i blather.
> Yet it is Juan and Karen who are publishing in refereed
academic > journals, and Karen has done this as a freelance writer
rather than as > a trained academic.
>
> Susan, if you think you really have something to say, write
it up and
> submit it to a non-Baha'i publisher and see if they will accept YOUR > methodology and YOUR use of sources.
>
> Steve Scholl

From: "Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com>
Subject: Maneck seeking revenge AOL for my Letter to the Editor & Bacquet's Article

Date: Tuesday, March 12, 2002 6:26 PM

FYI

--

Subj: Board Posting at Keyword: Bahai

Date: 3/10/2002 3:36:30 PM Eastern Standard Time

From: LDRS LFST Shahid

To: Fglaysh12002

CC: LDRS LFST Mgr, LDRS LFST Jerry

Dear Member,

Regarding your messages posted at Keyword: Baha'i>General Discussion.

In order for all members to enjoy our message boards, our community has certain standards of conduct for members to follow. Please review Keyword: Message Board Product Guidelines and Keyword: Spirituality Message Board Standards for more information on what is appropriate in our community. Based on these standards and guidelines, your posts were removed to avoid disruption to the message board discussion.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

We appreciate your taking the time to read this letter. Thank you. If you have any questions or comments, please forward them to <LDRS LFST Mgr>.

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

Subject: Re: karen Bacquet's Article

Date: 3/10/2002 9:35 AM Central Standard Time

From: Fglaysh12002

Message-id: <20020310103546.05954.00001018@mb-fo.aol.com>

See Karen Bacquet's article published in the American Family Foundation's Cultic Studies Journal to understand what is really taking place now on AOL's message boards:
Enemies Within: Conflict and Control in the Baha'i Community"
may be found on her website:
<https://www.angelfire.com/ca3/bigquestions/enemies.html>

FG

Google Search Engine:
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Letter to the Editor - O&E Newspapers - 3/7/02
Date: 3/10/2002 9:38 AM Central Standard Time
From: Fglaysh12002
Message-id: <20020310103825.05954.00001022@mb-fo.aol.com>

Damage control by fundamentalists among my fellow bahais....

See Karen Bacquet's article published in the American Family Foundation's Cultic Studies Journal to understand what is really taking place now on AOL's message boards:
Enemies Within: Conflict and Control in the Baha'i Community"
may be found on her website:
<https://www.angelfire.com/ca3/bigquestions/enemies.html>

FG

Google Search Engine:
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Letter to the Editor - O&E Newspapers - 3/7/02
Date: 3/10/2002 9:39 AM Central Standard Time
From: Fglaysh12002
Message-id: <20020310103943.05954.00001023@mb-fo.aol.com>

>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

For newcomers to AOL bahai message boards, here is a link that will provide you with the full story that the fundamentalists among my fellow bahais do not want you to know about: See Karen Bacquet's article published in the American Family Foundation's Cultic Studies Journal to understand what is really taking place now on AOL's message boards:

Enemies Within: Conflict and Control in the Baha'i Community"
may be found on her website:
<https://www.angelfire.com/ca3/bigquestions/enemies.html>

FG

Google Search Engine:
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: American Family Foundation - Cultic SJ - Article
Date: 3/10/2002 9:43 AM Central Standard Time
From: Fglaysh12002
Message-id: <20020310104306.05954.00001027@mb-fo.aol.com>

You and other fundamentalists among my fellow bahais are not really fooling anyone but yourselves. Maneck regularly spams her URL and has with impunity for years now on AOL while she/Shahid or whoever the "community leader" is protects her while suppressing such links as mine and Bacquets which provide the unsuspecting with knowledge about the oppression that truly hides behind the facade that has supplanted
Baha'u'llah's Teachings:

See Karen Bacquet's article published in the American Family Foundation's Cultic Studies Journal to understand what is really taking place now on AOL's message boards:
Enemies Within: Conflict and Control in the Baha'i
Community"
may be found on her website:
<https://www.angelfire.com/ca3/bigquestions/enemies.html>

FG

Google Search Engine:
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Avoiding spam
Date: 3/8/2002 4:46 PM Central Standard Time
From: Fglaysh12002
Message-id: <20020308174645.11900.00000747@mb-dh.aol.com>

>Subject: Avoiding spam
>Date: 3/8/2002 12:27 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: LDRS LFST Shahid
>Message-id: <20020308122741.24729.00000289@mb-mv.aol.com>

>
>

>Dear Members,

>

>I would like to remind you that it is contrary to to community standards to >keep posting the same message over and over again. Tag lines should be >limited to three or four lines, otherwise the tag line becomes the message

>and when repeated constitutes spam.

>

>LDRS LFST Shahid

>AOL Lifestyles

Again, does that apply when you post as Susan Maneck, using your double standard to spam your URL all over these message boards?

FG

Google Search Engine:

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: American Family Foundation - Cultic SJ - Article

Date: 3/8/2002 6:44 AM Central Standard Time

From: Fglaysh12002

Message-id: <20020308074450.05994.00000534@mb-fo.aol.com>

False. The uhj is not interested in hearing and addressing the concerns of honest bahais, only fundamentalists. What it is interested in is squelching and suppressing all honest and open discussion about ANYTHING that disagrees with its own views....

Bacquet's article, in the American Family Foundation's Cultic Studies

Journal, presents the evidence:

"Enemies Within: Conflict and Control in the Baha'i Community"

may be found on her website:

<https://www.angelfire.com/ca3/bigquestions/enemies.html>

"AFF (American Family Foundation) is a nonprofit, tax-exempt research center and educational organization founded in 1979. AFF's mission is to study psychological manipulation and cultic groups, to educate the public and professionals, and to assist those who have been adversely affected by a cult-related experience. AFF consists of a professional staff and a growing network of more than 150 volunteer professionals in fields ranging from education, psychology, and religion to journalism, law enforcement, and business." Further details about AFF:

https://www.csj.org/aff/aff_about.htm

FG

Google Search Engine:
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Letter to the Editor - O&E Newspapers - 3/7/02
Date: 3/8/2002 6:41 AM Central Standard Time
From: Fglaysh12002
Message-id: <20020308074110.05994.00000532@mb-fo.aol.com>

>The Bahai's are offering solutions to a world that is engulfed in terrorism, >hatred, and fear. For you to discount this by attacking the Faith in the >paper saddens me. It makes your motives suspect as well.
>

False. The fundamentalists among my fellow bahais are not offering "solutions" to those problems but the very dynamics that create many of them as evidenced by the many lives that have been severely damaged within and without of the bahai faith by such practices. See Karen Bacquet's article for an excellent discussion of many such incidents, exactly what fundamentalists here on AOL do NOT want you to know about:

"Enemies Within: Conflict and Control in the Baha'i Community"
may be found on her website:
<https://www.angelfire.com/ca3/bigquestions/enemies.html>

"AFF (American Family Foundation) is a nonprofit, tax-exempt research center and educational organization founded in 1979. AFF's mission is to study psychological manipulation and cultic groups, to educate the public and professionals, and to assist those who have been adversely affected by a cult-related experience. AFF consists of a professional staff and a growing network of more than 150 volunteer professionals in fields ranging from education, psychology, and religion to journalism, law enforcement, and business." Further details about AFF:

https://www.csj.org/aff/aff_about.htm

FG

Google Search Engine:

Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: "Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com>

Subject: More of Maneck's Deleting of Messages on AOL.

Date: Wednesday, February 13, 2002 2:04 PM

Subj: Board postings at Keyword: BAHA'I

Date: 2/10/2002 10:01:37 PM Eastern Standard Time

From: LDRS LFST Shahid

To: Fglaysh12002

CC: LDRS LFST Jerry, LDRS LFST Mgr

Dear Fglaysh12002,

Regarding your messages posted at Lifestyle>Spirituality>Baha'i Message
Board>General Discussion

To avoid further disruption to the message board, your posts has been removed. Please review Keyword: TOS and the Spirituality Message Board
Standards for more information on what is appropriate in
our community.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Please address any questions or comments to LDRS LFST Mgr.

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

Subject: Re: Prof. Juan Cole - Cowardice of NSA
Date: 2/10/02 2:37 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Fglaysh12002
Message-id: <20020210143748.02080.00000733@mb-ch.aol.com>

A word of warning to the uninitiated: the community leader is a fundamentalist
bahai who has presented a distortion of prof Cole's views.

FG
Google Search Engine:
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Prof. Juan Cole - Cowardice of NSA
Date: 2/10/02 2:36 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Fglaysh12002
Message-id: <20020210143644.02080.00000732@mb-ch.aol.com>

The post in question has been censored by the community leader.

FG
Google Search Engine:
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Spirituality Forum Guidelines
Date: 2/10/02 2:39 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Fglaysh12002
Message-id: <20020210143950.02080.00000735@mb-ch.aol.com>

Censorship by any name remains censorship....

FG
Google Search Engine:
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Prof. Juan Cole - Cowardice of NSA
Date: 2/10/02 2:39 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Fglaysh12002
Message-id: <20020210143929.02080.00000734@mb-ch.aol.com>

>Thanks for the clarification on the background of all of this noise, Susan.

>

CAUTION - Non-bahais. Please read and decide for yourself on an uncensored forum: Keyword Newsgroups, Expert Add, talk.religion.bahai

FG

Google Search Engine:
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
Subject: Re: Spirituality Forum Guidelines
Date: 2/10/02 2:40 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Fglaysh12002
Message-id: <20020210144045.02080.00000736@mb-
ch.aol.com>

>I am very unclear on what was not appropriate. Could you explain please?

>Thanks

>

An opinion was expressed other than the fundamentalist one required by the bahai Taliban in Haifa, Israel....

FG

Google Search Engine:
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Spirituality Forum Guidelines
Date: 2/10/02 2:42 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Fglaysh12002
Message-id: <20020210144216.02080.00000738@mb-
ch.aol.com>

Censored, clear and simple....

FG

Google Search Engine:
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: "Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com>
Subject: Re: Maneck on Juan Cole on AOL
Date: Sunday, February 10, 2002 3:41 PM

FYI

Subj: Board posting at Keyword: BAHA'I
Date: 2/9/2002 11:24:05 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: LDRS LFST Shahid
To: Fglaysh12002

CC: LDRS LFST Jerry, LDRS LFST Mgr

Dear Fglaysh12002,

Regarding your messages posted at Lifestyle>Spirituality>Baha'i Message
Board>General Discussion>Prof. Cole on Kazemzadeh, Semple and al-Qaida>
2/8/02 3:15 PM

To avoid further disruption to the message board, your posts
has been removed. Please review Keyword: TOS and the Spirituality Message Board
Standards for more information on what is appropriate in
our community.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Please address any questions or comments to LDRS LFST
Mgr.

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Leader
Baha'i Message Board

Subject: Prof. Cole on Kazemzadeh, Semple and al-Qaida
Date: 2/8/02 3:15 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Fglaysh12002
Message-id: <20020208151544.08536.00000325@mb-fo.aol.com>

FYI

also on talk.religion.bahai

--

The Baha'i faith stands for universal love, for tolerance, and for a separation of religion and state. The need for religious leaders to let politicians do the ruling is a key value stated over and over again in Baha'i scripture.

Unfortunately, a weird Baha'i sub-cult has arisen. It structurally resembles al-Qaida, and differs from al-Qaida only with regard to methods, not ideals. It does not usually employ violence or terrorism (though persons with this mindset have beaten up friends of mind). And, most frighteningly of all, it has taken over and subverted the main institutions of the Baha'i faith.

1)

Al-Qaida believes in the destruction of secular, civil governments and replacing them with a fascist theocracy.

Baha'i theocrats believe in the destruction of secular, civil governments and replacing them with a fascist theocracy. Ian Semple, a member of the Baha'i Universal House of Justice, has for decades cast scorn on civil governments and spoken of his dream of a future when Baha'i Institutions will rule in their stead.

One pilgrim wrote,

"I recall being in Haifa in the '70s ('72 and '78) and hearing long talks about this from Ian Semple, on how the world was destined to be ruled by houses of justice and there will eventually be no distinction between church and state, with rather snide and smug comments about how at last the world will finally get it right and have God and Government fused through the power of the Baha'i covenant."

Note that this is the opposite of what `Abdul-Baha says in the Treatise on Leadership:

<https://www2.h-net.msu.edu/~bahai/trans/vol2/absiyasi.htm>

Semple also put out a letter from the Secretariat of the UHJ:

"As for the statement made by Shoghi Effendi in his letter of 21 March 1932, the well-established principles of the Faith concerning the relationship of the Baha'i institutions to those of the country in which the Baha'is reside make it unthinkable that they would ever purpose to violate a country's constitution or so to meddle in its political machinery as to attempt to take over the powers of government. This is an integral element of the Baha'i principle of abstention from involvement in politics. However, this does not by any means imply that the country itself may not, by constitutional means, decide to adopt Baha'i laws and practices and modify its constitution or method of government accordingly."

In this passage he basically argues for a Nazi-like tactic of getting elected democratically and then abolishing democracy. By the way, the Islamists (with al-Qaida links) tried this in Algeria, and the democrats and secularists fought back, embroiling the country in a civil war that has cost 100,000 lives. This is the sort of conflict between theocratic Baha'is and the rest of society that Semple is urging on the world. At that point would the Baha'i theocrats refrain from violence?

2) Al-Qaida wishes to reestablish the Islamic Caliphate as the One World Government.

Baha'i theocrats substitute the House of Justice for the Caliphate and envision it ruling the world.

3) Al-Qaida despises parliamentary democracy as corrupt, money-driven and unrepresentative. It wishes to overthrow parliaments and institute authoritarian religious rule instead.

Baha'i theocrats despise parliamentary democracy and wish to substitute their religious institutions, which are not freely elected, for civil government. Long-time Baha'i leader Firuz Kazemzadeh said in 1988:

"If somebody is dissatisfied with a local assembly, he is not prevented from appealing to the NSA . . . It is something else when whispering campaigns or petitions are sent around for signatures objecting to the activities of the institutions. That also may be something which is countenanced by American democracy but has nothing to do with the Baha'i Faith. We must always remember that our institutions are an unusual and unique combination of theocracy in the best sense of the term with democracy. The institutions of the Baha'i Faith have not been created by us, the institutions have been created by God.

Actually, Kazemzadeh's version of the Baha'i institutions has been created by Kazemzadeh.

4) Al-Qaida establishes cells throughout the world to work for theocracy, and recruits innocent Muslims at mosques.

Baha'i theocrats have secret cells within the Baha'i community, and recruit Baha'is at deepenings and other events into their twisted world-view. Many "Auxiliary Board Members" and Assistants are secret theocrats who play dirty tricks on ordinary Baha'is to force them out of the Faith.

The Ian Semple/Kazemzadeh theocratic ideology aims at destroying American democracy. It aims at gutting the Constitution and abolishing Congress in favor of Kazemzadeh's weird, secretive, authoritarian way of ruling.

5) Al-Qaida demands absolute obedience from its recruits, and no dissent is permitted.

Baha'i theocrats demand absolute obedience to "the Institutions" and tolerate no dissent. Kazemzadeh told a group of Baha'i intellectuals,

"the word dissent implies separating oneself from the activities of the group and putting oneself outside the mainstream of the community, and that is contrary to Baha'i practice."”

You can't disagree with the NSA.

The dangers to the pristine Baha'i faith, with its values of tolerance, allowing the expression of diverse points of view, and firm commitment to the separation of religion and state, of this theocratic cult that has taken control of the community cannot be overstated. Moreover, it is a threat to the whole world.

Now that we have seen where such authoritarian theocracy leads, on September 11, I call upon all Baha'is to step back, reread the scriptures, and adhere to the real values of our religion.

cheers Juan Cole

FG

Google Search Engine:
Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: "Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com>
Subject: Re: Maneck on Juan Cole on AOL
Date: Sunday, February 10, 2002 3:39 PM

FYI

Maneck has removed another message I posted to AOL from Cole as well.

Subject: Re: Spirituality Forum Guidelines
Date: 2/10/2002 11:07 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: LDRS LFST Shahid
Message-id: <20020210110739.23877.00001493@mb-fy.aol.com>

>

>I am very unclear on what was not appropriate. Could you explain please?

Dear Paul,

I try to avoid discussing individual posts and generally when I post messages like the one I did last night I cc it to the person directly involved so that there will be no doubt who I am intending. So if you didn't receive a private message you can be sure that it was not your post I had in mind, though as I mentioned some posts may be removed which are not in themselves violations of TOS rules if they are responses to a post which has been TOSed.

But what I was trying to say in my previous post is that the Message Boards exist for the support and/or fellowship of the religion to which it is dedicated. Posts which aim at attacking the religion in question are therefore inappropriate. Usually before I start removing such posts I will put up an educational message such as the one posted last night. However, in cases of chronic offenders I may TOS the message without warning.

LDRS LFST Shahid
AOL Lifestyles

Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com> wrote in message news:a46i7n$1ck674$1@ID-75545.news.dfncis.de...

> Subject: Re: Prof. Juan Cole - Cowardice of NSA
> Date: 2/9/2002 11:10 PM Eastern Standard Time
> From: Smaneck
> Message-id: <20020209231007.23060.00000356@mb-mb.aol.com>

>

>

> >Dear Pat Kohli:

> >

> >Since you have been out here backbiting me and using foul language and

> >treating me to a little auto-da-fe of your own in typical > >Inquisitorial fundamentalist-Baha'i Style,

>

> Dear friends,

>

> For the record let me state what Pat Kohli actually did.
Juan Cole had put > up a post on TRB to the effect that the NSA had forbidden

Baha'is from > saying the prayer for America following the 9-11 tragedy or from publishing

> the same in newspapers. Based on this slander, he accused the Baha'i

> community of treason. Pat Kohli repeatedly demanded that Cole post the > message from the NSA which Dr. Cole claimed to have seen. Now Freddy here, > in his usual

> spamming style would constantly repost Juan's false accusations on TRB.

And

> everytime he did so Pat repeated his demand for proof of this accusation.

> That apparently constitutes the inquisitorial Baha'i fundamentalism. I would > think it constitutes the independent investigation of truth.

So now Juan

> changes his tune. The NSA is cowardly, not treasonous.

And it is now accused > of refusing to blame any government (in accordance with the long establish > policies of Shoghi Effendi) rather than telling us we shouldn't even pray > for America.

>

> Juan writes:

>

> > appended to the message of a private individual below, the NSA urges

> > that Baha'is in the wake of September 11 avoid criticizing the Taliban

> > Government of Afghanistan.

>

> The statement that we should avoid assigning blame to any government is a > general one and could just as easily be interpreted as discouraging us

from > criticizing US policy.

>

> > Not only I but

> > the poster below, posting in the same period, had heard that it might.

> > I heard the same things, and was not unusual in giving them credence.

>

> Ahh, but the problem is that Juan didn't say he had heard we might do > this. This is what he actually said:

>

> "I have seen a directive from the US NSA instructing Baha'is not to say > the> "prayer for America" publicly in response to the horrid assault on our> > country of September 11."
>
> However, now Juan states:
>
> > I am glad to publicly acknowledge that the NSA does not appear, at > >least openly, to have banned the saying of the prayer.
>
> But is he prepared to admit he lied about having seen the directive himself?
>
> > What
> >instructions it has given its legion of Secret Police (Assistants & > >ABMs) behind the scenes we do not know.
>
> Right. Since the documentation demonstrates that Dr. Cole's former > accusations were complete fabrications we will move on to other delusions > which might have happened. But at least now Juan isn't claiming to have > seen the directives he imagines.
>
> >I got that detail wrong in the heat > >of the moment, and here it is. I got it wrong.
> Like Nixon, he just mispoke himself.
>
> > Unlike some people, I > >don't claim infallibility. I correct my errors.
>
> A correction would have consisted of saying "I'm sorry, I lied." All of this > is just venting at Pat for having caught him in a lie. But instead we get > more paranoid delusions and threats along these lines:
>
> >But if you keep bringing me up I > >will be coming after the cultists who have infiltrated and mutilated > >the Baha'i administration vocally, with good evidence, every day.
>
> There was, by the way, a directive asking Baha'is to observe caution in
the > way they present Baha'i prayers for America to the media.
The directive in > question stated the following:

>

> "While it is appropriate to submit a Bahá'í prayer to the newspaper, to > attribute it to the Bahá'í sacred writings, and to sign it from your > local Spiritual Assembly, attaching any additional message such as the

> 1-800-22-UNITENumber may not be appropriate and could create the impression > that Bahá'ís were exploiting this terrible tragedy as an opportunity to > promote our own interests or to proselytize. Our genuine expressions, in word > and deed,

> of shared grief, sympathy, and prayers for healing, unity, and love are > perhaps the best that we or anyone else can offer at this time."

>

> Note that is not saying don't say the prayer for America in public, it is > not even saying don't publish it. It is saying don't use such prayers for > proselytizing purposes. This is a far cry from the motivation which Juan > ascribes to the BNC namely, "this instruction derives from a fear that > Baha'is will be seen as pro-American."

>

> Indeed, elsewhere the External Affairs Committee makes it even more explicit > what their motivations are on this matter: "Bahá'ís should be extremely > cautious in their teaching activities not to exploit this or any other tragic > situation as an opportunity to promote the Faith. If we were not sincere in > our efforts when rendering service to others in our communities, it would not > only be counterproductive, but could actually be damaging to the Faith."

>

> I can only draw two possible conclusions from this, either Juan can't read a > text or he deliberately twisted the truth. In either case his credibility is > more than suspect.

>

> warmest, Susan

> warmest, Susan

>

> <https://www.susanmaneck.com>

From: "Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com>
Subject: Maneck on Juan Cole on AOL
Date: Sunday, February 10, 2002 3:36 PM

Subject: Re: Prof. Juan Cole - Cowardice of NSA
Date: 2/9/2002 11:10 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Smaneck
Message-id: <20020209231007.23060.00000356@mb-mb.aol.com>

>Dear Pat Kohli:
>

>Since you have been out here backbiting me and using foul language and >treating me to a little auto-da-fe of your own in typical >Inquisitorial fundamentalist-Baha'i Style,

Dear friends,

For the record let me state what Pat Kohli actually did. Juan Cole had put up a post on TRB to the effect that the NSA had forbidden Baha'is from saying the prayer for America following the 9-11 tragedy or from publishing the same in newspapers. Based on this slander, he accused the Baha'i community of treason. Pat Kohli repeatedly demanded that Cole post the message from the NSA which Dr. Cole claimed to have seen. Now Freddy here, in his usual spamming style would constantly repost Juan's false accusations on TRB. And everytime he did so Pat repeated his demand for proof of this accusation. That apparently constitutes the inquisitorial Baha'i fundamentalism. I would think it constitutes the independent investigation of truth. So now Juan changes his tune. The NSA is cowardly, not treasonous. And it is now accused of refusing to blame any government (in accordance with the long establish policies of Shoghi Effendi) rather than telling us we shouldn't even pray for America.

Juan writes:

>appended to the message of a private individual below, the NSA urges >that Baha'is in the wake of September 11 avoid criticizing the Taliban >Government of Afghanistan.

The statement that we should avoid assigning blame to any government is a general one and could just as easily be interpreted as discouraging us from criticizing US policy.

>Not only I but
>the poster below, posting in the same period, had heard that it might.
> I heard the same things, and was not unusual in giving them credence.

Ahh, but the problem is that Juan didn't say he had heard we might do this. This is what he actually said:

"I have seen a directive from the US NSA instructing Baha'is not to say the> "prayer for America" publicly in response to the horrid assault on our> country of September 11."

However, now Juan states:

> I am glad to publicly acknowledge that the NSA does not appear, at >least openly, to have banned the saying of the prayer.

But is he prepared to admit he lied about having seen the directive himself?

> What
>instructions it has given its legion of Secret Police (Assistants & >ABMs) behind the scenes we do not know.

Right. Since the documentation demonstrates that Dr. Cole's former accusations were complete fabrications we will move on to other delusions which might have happened. But at least now Juan isn't claiming to have seen the directives he imagines.

>I got that detail wrong in the heat
>of the moment, and here it is. I got it wrong.
Like Nixon, he just mispoke himself.

> Unlike some people, I > don't claim infallibility. I correct my errors.

A correction would have consisted of saying "I'm sorry, I lied." All of this is just venting at Pat for having caught him in a lie. But instead we get more paranoid delusions and threats along these lines:

> But if you keep bringing me up I > will be coming after the cultists who have infiltrated and mutilated
> the Baha'i administration vocally, with good evidence, every day.

There was, by the way, a directive asking Baha'is to observe caution in the way they present Baha'i prayers for America to the media.
The directive in
question stated the following:

"While it is appropriate to submit a Bahá'í prayer to the newspaper, to attribute it to the Bahá'í sacred writings, and to sign it from your local Spiritual Assembly, attaching any additional message such as the 1-800-22-UNIT number may not be appropriate and could create the impression that Bahá'ís were exploiting this terrible tragedy as an opportunity to promote our own interests or to proselytize. Our genuine expressions, in word
and deed,
of shared grief, sympathy, and prayers for healing, unity, and love are perhaps the best that we or anyone else can offer at this time."

Note that is not saying don't say the prayer for America in public, it is not even saying don't publish it. It is saying don't use such prayers for proselytizing purposes. This is a far cry from the motivation which Juan ascribes to the BNC namely, "this instruction derives from a fear that Baha'is will be seen as pro-American."

Indeed, elsewhere the External Affairs Committee makes it even more explicit what their motivations are on this matter: "Bahá'ís should be extremely cautious in their teaching activities not to exploit this or any other tragic situation as an opportunity to promote the Faith. If we were not sincere in our efforts when rendering service to others in our communities, it would not only be counterproductive, but could actually be damaging to

the Faith."

I can only draw two possible conclusions from this, either Juan can't read a text or he deliberately twisted the truth. In either case his credibility is more than suspect.

warmest, Susan
warmest, Susan

<https://www.susanmaneck.com>

From: "Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com>
Subject: More on Maneck's hikmat - Juan Cole
Date: Monday, February 04, 2002 8:12 AM

BASICALLY, hikmat as interpreted by Maneck means she may lie and deceive all she wants in "service" of the faith..... It's her modus operandi....
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Maneck1.htm>

For her "hikmat" or wisdom or dissimulation see Susan Maneck's : "Wisdom and Dissimulation: The Use and Meaning of Hikmat in the Baha'i Writings and History."

For a Muslim perspective on Bahai dissimulation, see Amir Butler on
""Taqaiya"

On H-Bahai: The Practice of Taqiyyah (Dissimulation) in the Babi and Bahai Religions by Sepehr Manuchehri

For Cole's comments back in January on Maneck's slandorous tactics, essentially "hikmat":
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Cole2001.htm>

Then click Edit, Find "Maneck" for message below and other comments:

JuanFrom: "Juan Cole" <jricole@my-deja.com>

Subject: Re: common ground

Date: Sunday, January 14, 2001 3:20 AM

I do not have the time or the inclination to spend a lot of time on usenet right now, but since I have been slandered (and not for the first time) by Susan Stiles Maneck in her recent posting, I am forced to reply (yet again) to these falsehoods.

But first, I would like to make my own mea culpas. I retract almost everything I said about the faith on email between May 4, 1996 and January 30, 1999. I was very depressed in the wake of the false charges that were launched against me, and as a result had temporarily lost my faith, which had been at the core of my being for 24 years. I am a very sensitive person, and this was a nightmare ordeal for me. I had the misfortune of being among the first persons in history to live through such a period of disorientation in the age of the Internet. Lots of rightwing Baha'is were eager to misrepresent themselves as my friends so as to get out of me my innermost thoughts, and these have been archived in Haifa, and Maneck posts private messages from me from that period occasionally in order to discredit me. Well, if it matters, I know I said a lot of things that were overdrawn or overly emotional, in my hurt, and I disavow them now.

I consider myself a follower of Baha'u'llah again, now (however much I am unwanted), and while I am empathetic with my unbelieving self, that is no longer me.

I am glad to admit I got lots of things wrong. Peter Khan's family was Muslim before becoming Baha'i. An Australian Baha'i misled me that they had at one point been Christian. I was wrong. The members of the House of Justice have all kinds of cars and not just Mercedes.

However, they do preside over a budget that runs to hundreds of millions of dollars, and their refusal to publish any budget breakdown does raise questions about the nature of finances in Haifa. However, if I got their car types wrong or imputed to them chauffeurs they don't have, I am glad to retract. Accuracy means a lot to me. Pilgrims had told me these things, and they were pilgrims I trust more than I trust Maneck, but where there is doubt one cannot claim certainty. Moreover, some of my motives in talking about the members' lifestyle were hurt at the enormous injustice they had done to me, which was an unworthy motive.

>And the hypocrisy of their actions became increasingly apparent. They >would complain of censorship and then tell me when I was moderator of >H-Bahai that I shouldn't allow somebody to post because they were >an "ultramontanist" and a "big Nixon supporter."

Let's talk a little bit about hypocrisy. From about August of 1997, when Maneck started secretly working for "counselor" Ghadirian, she began sending him regular spy reports of the confidential deliberations of its academic editors. She began attempting to disrupt the list and "muddy the waters" in accordance with her instructions. We have a rule that subscribers should have a master's degree or more in the humanities or social sciences, to ensure an academic tone to discussions. She suddenly announced that she was going to start enrolling persons without those credentials. One of the persons she proposed to enroll in this maverick way was a lawyer who is also an Auxiliary Board Member for Protection, and who is no academic. I said no. I said that, moreover, the person had kooky ideas about Nixon having been innocent & etc. I mentioned his thinking Dick Nixon was the innocent target of a smear campaign (!!!) as yet another piece of evidence that this person was not a bona fide academic; but lack of credentials was what was determinative.

Maneck's announcement that she would ignore the rules and do as she pleased; her frequent rejection of posts from Steve Scholl and other liberals on purely ideological grounds; her vicious insults directed at a prospective liberal moderator with the intent of scaring him away from helping the list; her constant spy reports to Ghadirian; her expression of delight that a subscriber had signed off that she viewed as a 'covenant breaker' because she intended to mount a campaign on the list to firm the academics up in the covenant; were all capped by a demand that I resign as editor. Ultimately she voluntarily resigned from her editorship in disgrace because she inadvertently supplied evidence, in the course of her persecution of me, that she was spying on the list for Ghadirian. She later publicly accused me on this very list of having fired her! While I would have if I could have, that was for the Editorial Board, and she did not give even them the opportunity. The fact is that she was misusing her position on an academic list to undermine its independence in favor of the imposition of some wacky fundamentalist orthodoxy, and she is still sore at having failed.

>When they tried to persuade me that the Faith had been > taken over by a secret cabal going back to Mason Remey and Horace >Holley, I really had to step back and ask myself just what had I gotten myself into?

If you knew anything about American Baha'i history you would know that both those individuals were deeply involved in creating a rightwing Baha'i culture. As for a cabal, I was upset when I said that.

But it isn't far-fetched that the rightwing Counsellors who have taken over the Faith have some sort of at least informal network that allows them to politick so successfully and to come to power and remain there. On the other hand, this phenomenon could be more haphazard. I frankly don't know. At the time, I was commiserating with someone I thought a friend. And people say I never admit having been wrong!

> Then I was sent a rough draft of the Panopticon article and saw it was filled > with distortions about matters where they author had to know better.

The Panopticon article is not filled with distortions. I believe every word of it to be true, and I believed so when I wrote it. And, I sent it to Maneck for her comments, virtually all of which I incorporated into the final draft. So, if it was 'filled with distortions' she had every chance to set me straight on all of them, and it is her own fault if she did not.

> Meanwhile, unfounded charges were being made saying things like the House had > ordered Abbas Amanat expelled from the Faith which I knew simply weren't true.

If that is what you thought was being said, no wonder you thought it wasn't true. What I said was that Derek Cockshut waged a brutal campaign to protest the Bahai Publishing Trust's carrying Abbas Amanat's Resurrection and Renewal in 1989 when it came out. And that the NSA took the issue to the House of Justice. And that the House of Justice wrote that it was all right to carry the book because Abbas Amanat "is not a Baha'i." Abbas, however, was and is an enrolled Baha'i in the US community, and he has never disavowed faith in Baha'u'llah. In the wake of the 1990 letter the NSA sent him several insulting letters demanding to know his conscience (I thought there was no confession in our religion?) He declined to reply, last I knew.

`Abdul-Baha in the Hizar Bayti said we don't have the Muslim custom of declaring believing Baha'is to be infidels because we don't like their views, and I found the arrogance of the 1990 letter breathtaking. It was my first clue that something was very rotten in Haifa, and it wasn't just Wilmette. If Maneck turned against me because of this statement, she really wronged me!

> Or I was told that the NSA of Canada had sold off a important collection within > their archives to prevent it from falling into the hands of academics, > something which proved to be utterly false.

First of all, I've said publicly a number of times that I was wrong about that. It seems to me a relatively minor little affair, anyway. I got the story's details wrong, and a more knowledgeable poster corrected them. However, I am unaware that the NSA of Canada has provided its INBA set (manuscript facsimiles of the Baha'i Writings) to any scholars, and I think Maneck knows that it is problematic whether they would do so.

> And something else would happen as well. I would start have arguments with > people on Talisman on basic issues like the existence of revelation and began > to realize that the people I was supporting didn't really believe in it in any > meaningful way.

In other words, we had to be basically fundamentalists or neo-Calvinists or something, or else Maneck would gleefully join in the auto-da-fe against anything we said. Her idea of "Revelation" isn't dogma that all Baha'is have to accept, and her problems with deism are her problems.

> But it was becoming increasingly apparent that if I went down, I > wasn't going down alone and began to realize that for the sake of > these Baha'is I needed to search for solutions rather than add to the > problems. So I began to behave much less recklessly.

If you had behaved less recklessly that would have been fine. You turned into a Stasi-like spy, a fifth columnist, and an Inquisitor. And you decided that only by waging a smear campaign against me could you hope to make Baha'i scholarship acceptable to the fundies. That, you didn't have to do. These actions warped your personality and made you a poor Baha'i.

> Right around this time there was a very lurid thread going on on Talisman
> discussing some prominent Baha'is' supposed sexual indiscretions.
Then Juan came > bursting on to Talisman saying, "I've been backbitten and so have you!" It was > in reference to a talk Counselor Gharian had made in London critical of the > Talisman list.

Ghadirian's talk in London wasn't critical just of the Talisman list. He libelled me and David Langness and did all but issue Anathemas against us just as though he were an ayatollah in a turban. (And I thought you weren't supposed to backbite; David was a particular victim in this). Ghadirian should be careful. In the U.K., libel is easy to prove. As for the other issue, that a high Baha'i official resigned in disgrace from his profession for sexual harassment and then was immediately appointed to a cushy Baha'i job in Geneva was of interest to talismanians like Linda Walbridge. She had been threatened with being declared a covenant breaker for advocating more rights for Baha'i women, including service on the House of Justice. And here was a man in the old buddy system of high Baha'i administration who was actually promoted despite a public scandal that was in the newspapers. It wasn't just a matter of gossiping about someone's private life. It was outrage that innocent liberals were persecuted out of the faith and calumniated, but if you had friends in high places you could get away with anything.

> Ghadirian. how his saintliness and love eventually overcame my fears and > suspicions.

Oh, yeah, all the saints I know call meetings in London to backbite people, and then have their agents spy on people and make reports about their confidential conversations. Why, the KGB was full of saints in its heyday!! Maneck can't see that the only reason she got love-bombed by this manipulative physician was precisely because of his hope of gaining a spy "asset" known to be in close contact with me. And I have to hand it to him, he did a world-class job of turning her into a mole.

>I began to realize that the House of Justice
> was not out to destroy academic scholarship on the Baha'i Faith as I >had mistakenly believed all those years,

It seems to be pretty arbitrary. Some people seem to be able to publish and not get in any particular trouble. Others are come down on like a ton of bricks, and it is not always clear why. I wonder if the unpredictability of it isn't intended to disrupt scholarship by making the academics nervous about saying anything at all about the faith.

Denis MacEoin told me the story of how House of Justice members Ian Semple and David Hoffman threatened him and chased him out, destroying his faith. And, of course, we all saw what happened to the academics who dared speak publicly on talisman-1.

>and that they did not eat scholars for breakfast

Mainly they seem to threaten them with some form of ostracization if they don't fall silent. But they do this to some and not to others. I have never been able to figure out why.

sincerely,
Juan Cole

From: "Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com>
Subject: Maneck's "white powder" slander on AOL.....
Date: Monday, February 04, 2002 8:10 AM

I believe AOL has left people who respect free speech and discussion no choice but to sue them. I suggest you call AOL and ask for their lawyer's email or telephone number. Tell them a number of regular users of the AOL bahai messages boards are fed up with their permitting Maneck and the other fundamentalists to suppress their rights to respond and post fairly. Remind the lawyers of the lawsuit against AOL filed by the Muslims in Washington, DC. Let them know this is AOL's last chance.

AOL: 800-827-6364.

Be sure to save copies of all emails or letters in order to document further in court the fact that every effort has been made to apprise AOL of the situation on the AOL bahai message boards.

I have contacted a lawyer along these lines....

--

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

"Mr Mahdi" <mrmahdi@aol.com> wrote in message news:20011228065452.11823.00002076@mb-fx.aol.com...
> >Mr. Mahdi and I had both expressed > >our displeasure with her double standard of posting her URL > >all over AOL while TOSing or deleting URLs to my site or others.

>
> Fred, the other day I got a TOS on my account after posting the URL
> "www.answeringbahauallah.com" in a bahai forum on AOL. Wendy and other bahai > extremist fanatics regularly post their URLs in chat room and message boards on > AOL without ever being TOSed.
>
> I would like to know how can we make AOL realize the double-standards in its > own forums? I mean, I tried calling and other means but to no avail.
There > must be some other means because if not, I might give up on all attempts to > notify AOL.
>
> Mahdi Muhammad

From: "Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com>
Subject: Re: Maneck's hikmat and deceptive slandering
Date: Monday, February 04, 2002 8:09 AM

ALSO, The non-bahai observer happening along here might want to consider this 2nd message from Professor Juan Cole's on Susan Maneck:

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Cole19.htm>

--

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

"BIGS - Bahai in Perfectly Good Standing"
<patrick_henry@liberty.com>
wrote in message news:a0hmrj$kuhfi$1@ID-75545.news.dfncis.de...

> The non-bahai observer happening along here might want to consider > Professor Juan Cole on Susan Maneck:
>

> I wish Susan Maneck well. We became friends in the early 1980s and I > supported her, speaking well of her in the Middle East and South Asia > fields where she was attempting to make a career. I have never harmed her > in any way, and have until now practiced a sin-covering eye in her regard.
> However, she has behaved toward me in an academic setting with dishonesty > and deceit in such a way as deprives her of the right to debate me > publicly. She spied on me and lied about it. She betrayed confidences in > such a way as to cause her academic colleagues to demand and get her > resignation from a position she had held.
> <https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Cole20.htm>
>
> --
> FG
> The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
> <https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>
>
>
> "BIGS - Bahai in Perfectly Good Standing"
<patrick_henry@liberty.com>
> wrote in message news:9vkso1$g6peh$1@ID-75545.news.dfncis.de...
> > Susan Maneck has a very long and complicated history of censorship and > > coercion on behalf of her fundamentalist interpretations of the bahai > > writings. Please see Professor Juan Cole's extensive comments below on her > > along with Paul Dodenhoff. Many other insights into her behavior may be > > found around this website written by many other people.
> >
> > For what Bahais call "hikmat" or wisdom or dissimulation, see Susan > Maneck's
> > : "Wisdom and Dissimulation: The Use and Meaning of Hikmat in the Baha'i > > Writings and History."
> >
> > <https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Maneck1.htm>
> >
> > --
> > FG
> > The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
> > <https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>
> >

From: "Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com>
Subject: Maneck's hikmat and deceptive slandering
Date: Monday, February 04, 2002 8:09 AM

The non-bahai observer happening along here might want to consider Professor Juan Cole on Susan Maneck:

I wish Susan Maneck well. We became friends in the early 1980s and I supported her, speaking well of her in the Middle East and South Asia fields where she was attempting to make a career. I have never harmed her in any way, and have until now practiced a sin-covering eye in her regard. However, she has behaved toward me in an academic setting with dishonesty and deceit in such a way as deprives her of the right to debate me publicly. She spied on me and lied about it. She betrayed confidences in such a way as to cause her academic colleagues to demand and get her resignation from a position she had held.
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Cole20.htm>

--

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

"BIGS - Bahai in Perfectly Good Standing"

<patrick_henry@liberty.com>

wrote in message news:9vkso1$g6peh$1@ID-75545.news.dfncis.de...

- > Susan Maneck has a very long and complicated history of censorship and
- > coercion on behalf of her fundamentalist interpretations of the bahai
- > writings. Please see Professor Juan Cole's extensive comments below on her
- > along with Paul Dodenhoff. Many other insights into her behavior may be
- > found around this website written by many other people.
- >
- > For what Bahais call "hikmat" or wisdom or dissimulation, see Susan Maneck's
- > : "Wisdom and Dissimulation: The Use and Meaning of Hikmat in the Baha'i
- > Writings and History."

>
> <https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Maneck1.htm>
>
> --
> FG
> The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
> <https://members.fortunecity.com/bahaicensorship>

From: "Bahai Faith" <BI*P*GS@liberty.com>
Subject: Further samples of Maneck's abuse of her AOL "position" LDRS LFST Shahid
Date: Monday, February 04, 2002 8:07 AM

Further samples of Maneck's abuse of her AOL "position"

Subj: Board Posting at Keyword: Baha'i
Date: 12/23/2001 3:30:51 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: LDRS LFST Shahid
To: Glaysh112001
CC: LDRS LFST Mgr, LDRS LFST Jerry

Dear Member,

Regarding your messages posted at: Baha'i Message Boards

To avoid further disruption to the message board, your posts have been removed. Please review Keyword: Message Board Product Guidelines and Keyword: Spirituality Message Board Standards for more information on what is appropriate in our community.

Depending on the severity of the disruption, a report may have been submitted to AOL's Community Action Team for further review.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, I cannot respond to replies. Please address any questions or comments to LDRS LFST Mgr.

Regards,

LDRS LFST Shahid
Volunteer Message Board Host
AOL Lifestyles

Subject: Re: How to Report Maneck to AOL
Date: 12/19/2001 7:56 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011219085618.01592.00000009@mb-ch.aol.com>

Keyword Notify AOL, Message Boards, Ask the Staff goes around Maneck as well.

I urge everyone to realize it's difficult to get AOL's attention but it can be done!!! Persist!

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
Subject: How to Report Maneck to AOL
Date: 12/10/2001 6:45 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011210074556.11242.00002825@mb-fi.aol.com>

Those tired of Maneck posting her URL should see the relevant thread at Question to Community Leaders. Or call and complain at 800-827-6364.

Also Keyword Notify AOL, Message Boards, and then Ask the Staff, works well too. It goes over Maneck's head, as I was told on the phone.

Incidentally, when you email the TOSGeneral it goes directly to Maneck, nobody else, which is again why you have to go around her now if you're tired of her manipulating TOS rules and employing her double standards on many fronts.

As a bahai for over 25 years, I'm very tired of her dishonest manipulation of AOL and wish AOL would replace her with an honest person who fairly allows all views to be heard.

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: When is it o.k. not to forgive some one. according to the writings?
Date: 12/13/2001 6:04 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011213070458.26004.00000008@mb-md.aol.com>

>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Spam....

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: How to Report Maneck to AOL
Date: 12/13/2001 6:06 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011213070646.26004.00000011@mb-md.aol.com>

>Gee, that's news to me.
>
>
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

That's what I was told by AOL.

Still spamming your URL.....

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Sharing Knowledge
Date: 12/15/2001 7:02 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011215080235.12941.00000208@mb-cu.aol.com>

>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

NOT fair....

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: How to Report Maneck to AOL
Date: 12/19/2001 7:56 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011219085618.01592.00000009@mb-ch.aol.com>

Keyword Notify AOL, Message Boards, Ask the Staff goes around Maneck as well.

I urge everyone to realize it's difficult to get AOL's attention but it can be done!!! Persist!

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: How to Report Maneck to AOL

Date: 12/19/2001 3:07 PM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011219160728.06255.00000146@mb-mq.aol.com>

We can also snail mail AOL with a complaint about Maneck's fundamentalist double standard or whatever. Here's the address:

AOL Customer Service
PO Box 10810
Herdon, VA 20170

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Sticks and stones...a few lizard tails...some gizzards...and dinner is ready!

Date: 12/10/2001 7:12 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011210081226.11242.00002830@mb-fi.aol.com>

>Gee, where can I get that clock?

>warmest, Susan

>

><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

>

Please stop spamming your URL to AOL.

Those tired of Maneck's double standard in this regard should see my note at Announcements.

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Sticks and stones...

Date: 12/10/2001 7:13 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011210081359.11242.00002831@mb-fi.aol.com>

>And even then, they must be doing this knowingly. As you know from your >participation on TRB, there are at least >three individuals lately that were engaging in the kind of activity I >mentioned. But they were not declared Covenant breakers, rather they were >removed from the rolls. Why? Because the Universal House of Justice >determined they did not really meet the criteria of membership and hence were >not wholly obligated to the provisions of the Covenant.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Now here's a sample of the way in which Maneck SLANDERS people on AOL....

Note too her double standard URL.....

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Why brainwashed Baha'is don't trust Prof. Juan Cole anymore

Date: 12/11/2001 6:46 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011211074644.12731.00001739@mb-cu.aol.com>

>The truth.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

The truth is you are violating TOS rules regularly by posting your fundamentalist website URL while TOSing liberal-minded bahais like myself who attempt to present the other side of various issues.

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Ahh---the Pain - the Pain

Date: 12/14/2001 11:30 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011214123002.29393.00000366@mb-ch.aol.com>

><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Double standard.

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: My URL

Date: 12/14/2001 11:35 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011214123526.29393.00000367@mb-ch.aol.com>

Anyone else tired of Shahid/Maneck's double standard?

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/>

Call AOL and complain or use Keyword Notify AOL, Message Boards, Ask the Staff.

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: My URL

Date: 12/15/2001 6:42 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011215074232.12941.00000199@mb-cu.aol.com>

>He does it so his post will be removed and then he can complain that he is >being censored -- denied his freedom of speech. He will also claim the >Baha'is are doing it to him -- he will not admit that he violated AOL TOS.
>

False. It's obvious to any honest person that Maneck is SPAMMING the message boards with her URL while TOSing me and others.

She is in violation of the TOS rules which anyone may corroborate by calling 800-827-6364 or Notify AOL, Message Boards, Ask the Staff.

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: My URL

Date: 12/15/2001 6:43 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011215074331.12941.00000200@mb-cu.aol.com>

><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

There's nothing cute about shameless violation of the TOS rules.

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Sticks and stones...

Date: 12/15/2001 7:01 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011215080123.12941.00000207@mb-cu.aol.com>

>ttention from her. ;-}

>warmest, Susan

>

><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

>

TOS violation # 3,452....

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Sticks and stones...

Date: 12/15/2001 7:01 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011215080123.12941.00000207@mb-cu.aol.com>

>ttention from her. ;-}

>warmest, Susan

>

><https://www.susanmaneck.com>

>

TOS violation # 3,452....

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Posting URLs
Date: 12/20/2001 7:12 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011220081221.01511.00000315@mb-ch.aol.com>

>I would like to ask if it is considered spam if a hyperlink for a url is part >of a signature line?
>

Not if it's her URL. Otherwise, it's definitely spam....

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Posting URLs
Date: 12/20/2001 7:14 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011220081456.01511.00000316@mb-ch.aol.com>

You're not citing AOL's policy on URLs. Attempting to justify spamming your own?

FG
Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Posting URLs
Date: 12/21/2001 7:07 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011221080725.20183.00000391@mb-ba.aol.com>

>"We encourage members to provide hyperlinks in their posts where applicable,
>but please keep in mind that those websites must not violate AOL's
Community
>Guidelines.

Post a link to that quotation. THAT is not what more than one AOL representative told me on the phone. Further, your fundamentalist interpretation of what is "appropriate" is not the same as AOL's but reveals your manipulation of the TOS rules in service of your fanatical views.

You've been violating the TOS rules with impunity for years....

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Posting URLs

Date: 12/21/2001 7:07 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011221080725.20183.00000391@mb-ba.aol.com>

>"We encourage members to provide hyperlinks in their posts where applicable, >but please keep in mind that those websites must not violate AOL's Community >Guidelines.

Post a link to that quotation. THAT is not what more than one AOL representative told me on the phone. Further, your fundamentalist interpretation of what is "appropriate" is not the same as AOL's but reveals your manipulation of the TOS rules in service of your fanatical views.

You've been violating the TOS rules with impunity for years....

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Proselytizing

Date: 12/13/2001 6:01 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011213070118.26004.00000007@mb-md.aol.com>

>that here.
>warmest, Susan
>
><https://www.susanmaneck.com>
>

Right. Still double-standard spamming your URL, I see....

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: URLs
Date: 12/16/2001 9:22 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011216102219.12878.00000468@mb-cu.aol.com>

Deleting my message doesn't conceal the fact that you continue to suppress URLs of a liberal disposition versus your fanatical opinions....

The "community leader" knows very well she is violating the TOS rules to her advantage while suppressing URLs to any more liberal-minded bahai sites such as mine. All I ask for is fairness from AOL and she is not capable of providing it and has not now for years. I'm tired of it and ask that she be treated accordingly or removed and replaced with someone who can be fair.

I've used Notify AOL, Message Boards, Ask the Staff many times to no avail. The community leader in question, Shahid/Susan Maneck knows she can rely on AOL not caring enough about an obscure religion board to do anything about it. Please prove her wrong....

Thank you for your help.

FG

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: ATTN - AOL - Result of Censorship by Maneck
Date: 12/17/2001 6:16 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011217071635.05612.00000905@mb-fo.aol.com>

For insight into what is the result of the incessant censorship imposed on the bahai message boards by Shahid/Maneck, see below:

>It may be Maneck and the fundamentalist bahais
>have a mole, in a sense, inside AOL who is protecting her/them, all the >more reason to go around her....

That is one of the reasons why I have yet to call AOL and report to them what goes on in the bahai message boards. I see calling them an exercise in futility and unfortunately that made me skeptical into thinking calling will do any change.

It is also unfortunate that AOL does not have a system where members of AOL can vote for people whom they want to see moderate their message boards and other forums. You, me, and many people for the past several years have been harrassed by the coward bahai extremists. Recently, one of my messages was removed by the fanatic Maneck using the anonymous handle "Shahid." "Shahid," aka Maneck refuses to use her real name when moderating posts, something that the busta Mark Foster wouldn't even do (he as you know made it clear he was the moderator).

May you Fred or someone else here can find a way to convince AOL to have a third party or a fair-minded person on AOL to investigate the matter and see the double-standard and outright hypocrisy of the bahai extremist domination of bahai forums on AOL. Because with taking this course, complaining to AOL will become something done in vain, unfortunately.

Mahdi Muhammad

Please do something to STOP the continual suppression of discussion here on AOL by Susan Maneck.

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: ATTN - AOL - Result of Censorship by Maneck

Date: 12/19/2001 7:47 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011219084739.01592.00000004@mb-ch.aol.com>

3rd message from Mahdi on what Maneck is doing on AOL:

>Forgive me for sound a bit pessimistic, but the I went through

"Forgive me for sounding a bit pessimistic, but the experience I went through..." (I got a bad habit of not proofreading my posts!)

At any rate, I would like to add that I know that the fanatical behavior of the "forum leaders" on AOL bahai message boards has led to not only people leaving, but having suspended and cancelled accounts over messages that do not contain profanity, slander, threats, spamming and so on. I have talked to people in chat rooms on AOL about members have their accounts terminated over posts that do not contain the above-mentioned things. Many of them thought I was lying or at least exaggerating because they thought it was too crazy to be true.

Thanks to the bahai extremist domination on AOL bahai message boards, even the unbelievable has become a reality!

Mahdi Muhammad

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: ATTN - AOL - Result of Censorship by Maneck

Date: 12/19/2001 7:47 AM Central Standard Time

From: Glaysh112001

Message-id: <20011219084700.01592.00000003@mb-ch.aol.com>

Another message reposted regarding Maneck's abuse of AOL:

>BASICALLY, hikmat as interpreted by Maneck means she may lie and deceive all >she wants in "service" of the faith..... It's her modus operandi....

Yes, her fanatical interpretation of "hikmat" has made her into a wolf in sheep's clothing. I that believe as a result, her and Mark Foster's bullying on the bahai message boards has led to people to leave the message boards in utter disgust of the double-standards and "good-ole' boy" system they got going on there where certain people have carte blanche while others (like me and you) do not.

You Fred have documented on your site instances of outright double-standards employed by Foster and Maneck. I would like to ask you kindly to post in a new message to newsgroups and elsewhere the quotes of AOL members as well as others who complained and documented the double-standard and hypocrisy of Foster and Maneck and their extremist supporters.

Forgive me for sound a bit pessimistic, but the I went through on the AOL bahai message boards have made me feel hopeless into thinking that fighting for rights on AOL will do any good. Maybe if we constantly remind AOL staff by either calling them or sending them emails about what goes on, then perhaps there will be a chance that justice will prevail.

Hopefully something will be done and AOL will be heedful of our complaints and warnings.

Mahdi Muhammad
FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: ATTN - AOL - Result of Censorship by Maneck
Date: 12/19/2001 2:57 PM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011219155747.06255.00000143@mb-mq.aol.com>

Maneck and you are the ones spewing out hatred, slander, and distortions.
Both honest people among my fellow Bahais and non-Bahais of discernment increasingly realize that fact.

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
Subject: Re: ATTN - AOL - Result of Censorship by Maneck
Date: 12/20/2001 7:02 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011220080242.01511.00000311@mb-ch.aol.com>

More smear and misrepresentations do not constitute addressing the issues of

YOUR spamming your URL here on AOL and elsewhere for that matter....

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
Subject: Re: ATTN - AOL - Result of Censorship by Maneck
Date: 12/20/2001 7:10 AM Central Standard Time
From: Glaysh112001
Message-id: <20011220081007.01511.00000314@mb-ch.aol.com>

>Mark Foster

Foster was almost as bad of a "leader" here as Maneck. AOL representatives should look at my website under AOL Censorship for extensive documentation of that fact....

FG

Website: Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

"BrentMReed" <brentmreed@aol.com> wrote in message news:20011227181358.03595.00001501@mb-cg.aol.com...
> Miss Maneck, I have sent you nothing directly to any of your emails. The only > contact you have had with me is indirect - through my posts to the AOL Message > Board.
>
> And yes, you me a message under your AOL screen name LFST HostShahid. And you > were very angry because I had reported you for censorship. As it turned out > though, you probably received the complaint that I sent to AOL . The > "malicious incurable virus" arrived with your name as sender immediately after > that. If I sent you an email directly, please produce it.
>

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: FG@aol.com <FG@aol.com>
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com <TOSGeneral@aol.com>
Cc: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Subject: TOS violation for what?
Date: Saturday, September 12, 1998 6:42 AM

I would appreciate it if you would state for what reason I've received a TOS. I've read the TOS info and do not believe I've committed anything listed there.

As I stated in my first response, copied below, Baha'is have opposed freedom of speech and conscience systematically now for more than a year and a half and there is a long record available to prove it if you'd look at my web site. Baha'is on the Message Board for Non-Bahais accused me of being what they term a "covenant breaker" or suggested as much. That's an attack according to your TOS and I shall be forward a number of complaints to you shortly so that you perceive both sides of the issue.

FG@aol.com

Subj: Fwd: Accusation of TOS at AOL
Date: 98-09-11 15:09:33 EDT
From: TOSGen2
To: FG

Dear Member,

We have reviewed your account, and our records do not support a removal of the warning at this time. The notation will drop off of your account six months after the date it was issued.

As stated in the Terms of Service, the master account holder is responsible for all activity that takes place on an account.

We encourage you to review the Terms of Service and the Community Guidelines (both available at keyword TOS or keyword NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH) with anyone who has access to your America Online account. You may also want to explore keyword PARENTAL CONTROLS for ways to limit a screen name's access to AOL and/or the Internet.

Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral, or you may call Member Services at 1-800-827-6364.

Regards,
Jim
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

* Have you heard about AOL's latest and easiest to use software version, 4.0? You can upgrade for free at keyword: Upgrade. With AOL 4.0, you can have fun by sending multiple files, changing screen names without signing off, customizing your toolbar, and much, much more.

Upgrade today!

Forwarded Message:

Subj: Fwd: Accusation of TOS at AOL
Date: 98-09-11 15:03:44 EDT
From: TOSGeneral
To: TOSGen2

[This Message (REGULAR) Has Been Forwarded By The Mail Spinner]

Forwarded Message:

Subj: Accusation of TOS at AOL
Date: 98-09-11 15:03:38 EDT
From: FG
To: TOSGeneral
CC: FG@hotmail.com

Please explain to me how my post is a TOS.

It appears to me that you fail to understand the context in which my message was posted. There has been a pervasive Bahai effort for more than a year and a half to censor and control all knowledge and information on the Bahai Faith. Extensive documentation to this effect, with statements and samples of suppressed messages from well over 30 people, can be found on my web site:

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
index.htm

Extensive discussion relevant to Bahai censorship can also be found on alt.religion.bahai

If AOL is not merely to be a pawn used by Bahais, unknown in this instance, hiding behind anonymity, it is essentially that you reveal my accuser's identity, something which is long recognized in common law. Note the so-called TOS below contains observations from four different people, one a Professor of History at the University of Michigan.

Further, to understand the nature of my comments, you would need to consider the posts that I was responding to, post which follow the "Bahai technique" remarked upon by myself and the other three people below.

I wish to draw to the attention of AOL that Bahais are apparently using your naivete regarding what Bahais call "covenant breaking" in this instance.

I am confident a fair and just investigation in regard to the so-called TOS will help AOL reach a balanced understanding of what is truly involved in the accusation.

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
index.htm See alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc, or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: WScott1995 <wscott1995@aol.com>
To: FG <FG@aol.com>
Subject: Re: The Baha'i Technique
Date: Thursday, September 03, 1998 2:37 PM

Fred,

You really are trying to destroy the reputation of the Baha'is in public, aren't you? How sad for you and for the Faith we are trying to promote. :(How does your posting of the rantings of malcontents who criticize everything in the Faith constitute having a sin-covering eye, which is what the Faith teaches we need? I wish you well. You are going to need it in the next world when you have to face God and He asks what you did to try to help the Cause. This is pitiful. And just when the boards were starting to have a nice positive tone and actually attract seekers after begin bombarded with Covenant-breakers. PLEASE consider what you're doing. Give it a really good look and decide for yourself if this is what 'Abdul-Baha would do. Listen to your own heart, not me. But you also might consider how incredibly sad and depressed you make any Baha'i who reads your posts. Is this really what you want to do? Does it give you a sense of power in a chaotic world? What is really in this for you? I can't imagine it brings you anything other than misery either. You'll never find the Baha'is perfect enough for you, because we aren't perfect. But to bring up our faults, and the malicious backbiting or criticism of others concerning our faults in public like this is a travesty. Again, please, please consider what you're doing, and whether or not at the end of your life you will be happy or miserable at the choices you made.

Love and peace, Wendy

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
To: bahai-faith @ makelist.com <bahai-faith@makelist.com>
Subject: [bahai-faith] Re: ARB more harm than good?
Date: Friday, September 11, 1998 3:27 PM

kate_mccolloch_bodi@my-dejanews.com wrote in message <6tafaq$g6b$1@nnrp1.dejanews.com>...
>I heard through this list that America On-line had a chat room for Baha'is
so
>I decided on evening to peer inside and have a look-see. I was not granted >the opportunity to lurk for a few moments to get the feel for the atmosphere,
>perhaps my screen name made them nervous...I asked those in the room very >politely a few simple honest questions. Although they seemed very nervous >they finally obliged...although several left when they asked me questions.
I
>was told there room was a place to for those interest in the faith to ask >that this was their purpose. I told them also that I went there because I >saw it mentioned here. Strange that they should warn me not to hang out here
>though because in their opinion...ARB does more harm than good.with >laughter and free speechkate
>

Given Bahais on AOL are now alleging a TOS against me, I urge you to reciprocate and contact the TOSGeneral@aol.com immediately.
If you can remember the Bahais involved and their addresses, you should pass that along to him or her too. One or all of them might very well be the same Bahais who are trying to blackball me on AOL!

FG....The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
index.htm AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

List Site: <https://www.findmail.com/list/bahai-faith/>
To unsubscribe, send to bahai-faith-unsubscribe@makelist.com

FREE group e-mail lists at <https://www.findmail.com>

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
To: baha-faith @ makelist.com <baha-faith@makelist.com>
Subject: [baha-faith] Re: Baha accusation of TOS on AOL
Date: Saturday, September 12, 1998 7:37 AM

RMckin6046 wrote in message
<1998091121465800.RAA00697@ladder03.news.aol.com>...
>Dear Friends:

>
>I posted a rather long reply to this topic earlier. And, this despite an >intention not to reply to Glayshe's constant harangues. I know that response
>to him goes no where.

For insight into what's really being said here read:
technique.htm

>
>Nevertheless... If you could not make it through the whole post, the nub of
the >issue is this: It is a violation of AOLs TOS (Terms of Service) for one to >post the same message to multiple folders on one of AOLs interest Forums.
On >more than one occasion, Glayshe posted the same message to almost every folder
>on AOLs Baha'i Faith Forum. It was pointed out to him that this was a >violation, but he continues to do it. I assume that any reported TOS violation
>centers on this issue.

It was not to every folder. There is no statement in the AOL TOS documents that posting a message to more than one board is a TOS. Regardless, that was a number of weeks ago in mid August. Notice the assumption here. AOL has not yet stated why or who alleged a TOS against me. Perhaps it was one of the Bahais below who posted these messages to the same message boards on AOL. Such tactics indeed follow to the
"I" if you will the Baha'i Technique of discrediting others:

Subject: Re: Literal-minded Bahai ignorance
Date: Tue, Sep 8, 1998 14:17 EDT
From: Ecominer
Message-id: <1998090818173900.OAA01117@ladder03.news.aol.com>

Thank-you...do you know, or can you discover who this guy's Auxillary Board
for Protection is? I think it is time to talk to that person about this situation
and put this very angry, hurt soul into the proper hands???

Subject: Re: Literal-minded Bahai ignorance
Date: Tue, Sep 8, 1998 16:05 EDT
From: Bennachti
Message-id: <1998090820050400.QAA11750@ladder03.news.aol.com>

Debbie, if you feel that is the right course of action, you can just forward the postings to your own Auxiliary Board Member and that person should be able to take it from there.

Love
Zaynab

No man shall attain the shores of the ocean of true understanding except he
be detached from all that is in heaven and on earth.

- Bahá'u'lláh -

My Bahá'í Faith website: Camphor Fountain

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subj: Accusation of TOS at AOL
Date: 98-09-11 15:03:38 EDT
From: FG
To: TOSGeneral
CC: FG@hotmail.com

Please explain to me how my post is a TOS.

It appears to me that you fail to understand the context in which my message was posted. There has been a pervasive Bahai effort for more than a year and a half to censor and control all knowledge and information on the Bahai Faith. Extensive documentation to this effect, with statements and samples of suppressed messages from well over 30 people, can be found on my web site:

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
index.htm

Extensive discussion relevant to Bahai censorship can also be found on alt.religion.bahai

If AOL is not merely to be a pawn used by Bahais, unknown in this instance, hiding behind anonymity, it is essentially that you reveal my accuser's identity, something which is long recognized in common law. Note the so-called TOS below contains observations from four different people, one a Professor of History at the University of Michigan.

Further, to understand the nature of my comments, you would need to consider the posts that I was responding to, post which follow the "Bahai technique" remarked upon by myself and the other three people below.

I wish to draw to the attention of AOL that Bahais are apparently using your naivete regarding what Bahais call "covenant breaking" in this instance.

I am confident a fair and just investigation in regard to the so-called TOS will help AOL reach a balanced understanding of what is truly involved in the accusation.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
index.htm See alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc, or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive:
<https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

Subj: Terms of Service
Date: 98-09-11 02:54:49 EDT
From: TOSBoards2
To: FG

Dear Member,

I need to let you know that America Online was notified of a post to one of our message boards which violates the Terms of Service. Here is the information I have placed on the account regarding this incident:

On 9/9/98 6:58 AM Eastern Daylight EST the FG screen name posted a message in Baha'i Message Boards, For Non Baha'is >>
Subject: Re:
Literal-minded Bahai ignorance. The following is an excerpt from the post:
" The typical response of Bahai fanatics....
FG:

"Some of the most striking methods demonstrated repeatedly by many Bahais during the last year and a half of discussion about

an unmoderated newsgroup is their refusal to listen and respond to the criticisms of those who are in favor of talk.religion.bahai,

ignoring their concerns, never responding analytically to their

messages and reasoning and logic and evidence, attacking them

through character assassination and ad hominem, ganging up

on individuals, and "circling the wagons" around every action

of the srb moderators or others who are opposed to

talk.religion.bahai.

"More than twenty different people on my web site have posted messages

explaining their experience with srb censorship yet many srb Bahais

NEVER address their concerns. Ignoring such charges will not make them go away. NO ONE has to "try" to link the trb interest poll with censorship on srb; the moderators themselves have done that by suppressing droves of people for years. There are many people who believe such suppression is part and parcel of the Bahai

community as it exists today. A YES vote need not necessarily support such a belief. There are other reasons Bahais might vote

YES."

Ron House:

"I know what you mean. I've found over the years that there is a technique used by traditional Baha'is and others to squash dissension: harry the dissenter so much he says something intemperate, then point out how 'loving' and 'compassionate' they are and how nasty the dissenter is. The trouble is that this technique works, so I've been making a conscious effort not to fall for it. Also, when they get the dissenter discouraged and miserable enough, he invariably makes a slip-up sooner or later that they can REALLY let loose the venom over. IMHO, they did this to you when you misread Sharon's intentions. At any other time, they would overlook faults, as Baha'u'llah says, but when they're in this mode they go for the jugular. Very sad."

House2.htm

Fran Baker:

"Just have to say that in my experience this is a common technique of manipulative people in general; it is especially effective with thoughtful people who are willing to see both sides of things, i.e., their own fault. I consider this brow-beating technique to be a form of abuse. The only way to deal with it is to call them on it every time and to refuse to let yourself be beat up, i.e., not to do your part of the "tango." This can be very hard to do, but it works. You can break this pattern in a personal relationship. I don't know whether it's possible when a group acts this way. Very scary."

Dr. Juan Cole:

"Let me ask you why in the world you think that I would risk my professional reputation by publicly stating falsehoods? ...The very technique of the more glaze-eyed among these people is to unbearably bully a Baha'i whom they don't like, use unjustified threats of declaring him or her a CB to silence the individual, and if the person will not be silenced, then to depend upon the gullibility of the Baha'is in refusing to listen to any victim's story because, of course, the Baha'i institutions are infallible and divinely guided and could never do anything wrong. It is a perfect racket.

"Of course, this technique of making liberals go away has been enormously successful, and ex-Baha'i liberals have no credibility with the remaining

Baha'is nor do most of them have any energy to continue to make a case, either to the Baha'is or the outside world, for the incredible abuses that go on inside this organization ostensibly committed to tolerance!"

Cole10.htm

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

index.htm See alt.religion.bahai,

talk.religion.misc, or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)

Subscription & archive:
<https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

baha'i

baha'i"

Our Terms of Service agreement, which was presented during the sign up process, allows America Online to be informative, entertaining and, above all, fun for all of our Members. You can review that agreement by using keyword TOS. This area also has information and tools you can use to help protect your account. Also, you may want to take a look at our PARENTAL CONTROLS. This will allow you, among other things, to limit and/or block specific screen names from various online activities.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,
Bill

Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

 Have you heard about AOL's latest and easiest to use software version, 4.0? You can upgrade for free at keyword: Upgrade. With AOL 4.0, you can have fun by sending multiple files, changing screen names without signing off, customizing your toolbar, and much, much more. Upgrade today!

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: fw Juan Cole Re: [bahai-faith] mutilation theology
Date: Wed, Sep 9, 1998 11:46 EDT
From: Holly7711
Message-id: <1998090915464300.LAA29616@ladder01.news.aol.com>

Friends,

This stuff is not only ugly in its outlook toward Baha'is, but now there is criticism of the Universal House of Justice and the beloved institutions of the Faith.

This is right on the edge... borderline.

Charlotte

Subject: Re: fw Juan Cole Re: [bahai-faith] mutilation theology
Date: Wed, Sep 9, 1998 11:59 EDT
From: Karndor
Message-id: <1998090915595200.LAA03894@ladder03.news.aol.com>

Charlotte,

before you read a post, look who wrote it, and if it is someone, that you might think is a CB, or will make you mad, don't read it, and go on to the next one. trust me it works.

Karen

Momie to

Forrest Febuary 17,1994

Terran October 23, 1996

** **
<A HREF="https://www.kidscom.com/orakc/Mousers/mouse.html">KidsCom:
Mousers

Subject: General Disclaimer
Date: Wed, Sep 9, 1998 14:00 EDT
From: WScott1995
Message-id: <1998090918003500.OAA11333@ladder01.news.aol.com>

For those visiting our Baha'i boards, anyone can post here and say they are a Baha'i. That doesn't necessarily make it so. Every religion has their wolves in sheeps clothing would would try to destroy the flock, and this forum makes this particularly easy since they can hide behind their computers and no one will know who they are. Baha'is need to deal with these people as both our writings and the Bible says:

"But shun profane and vain babblings: for they will increase unto more ungodliness. And their word will eat as doth a canker....and overthrow the faith of some." (2 Tim. 2:16-17)

"Guard what was committed to your trust, avoiding the profane and vain babblings and contradictions of what is falsely called knowledge —by professing it, some have strayed concerning the faith." (1 Tim 6:20-21)

A true Baha'i would abide by the teachings of Baha'u'llah, in every situation, to the best of his or her ability. And those teachings are:

"Should anyone wax angry with you, respond to him with gentleness; and should anyone upbraid you, forbear to upbraid him in return, but leave him to himself and put your trust in God, the omnipotent Avenger, the Lord of might and justice." (Bahá'u'lláh: The Kitáb-i-Aqdas, Page: 75)

Love and peace, Wendy-----<-@

Subject: Re: General Disclaimer
Date: Wed, Sep 9, 1998 15:05 EDT
From: Bennachti
Message-id: <1998090919050600.PAA17531@ladder01.news.aol.com>

I agree, Wendy. I am always reminded of this passage, when I meet people like that online:

"Erelong shall clamorous voices be raised in most lands.
Shun them, O My people, and follow not the iniquitous and evil-hearted."
Baha'u'llah, Kitab-i-Aqdas, pg. 32

I'm all in favor of Karen's suggestion too, to just skip over the names of people who seem to be filled with hatred. I hope that for their sake they learn that their anger only hurts them, not anyone else. They can stew in it, suffer from it, develop heart and liver diseases from it (and more) but it doesn't affect the rest of us at all. It is a most unfortunate malady, this anger and hatred. May God help all of us to recover from angers and resentments whensoever they may afflict us.

Love you all
Zaynab

No man shall attain the shores of the ocean of true understanding except he be detached from all that is in heaven and on earth.
- Bahá'u'lláh -

My Bahá'í Faith website: Camphor Fountain

Subject: Re: General Disclaimer
Date: Wed, Sep 9, 1998 15:14 EDT
From: Holly7711
Message-id: <1998090919140800.PAA18518@ladder01.news.aol.com>

Excellent advice, everyone!

Thanks particularly for those quotes from the writings.... always good spiritual food for just about any situation that comes up. :)

Love,
Charlotte

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subject: Re: Literal-minded Bahai ignorance
Date: Tue, Sep 8, 1998 14:17 EDT
From: Ecominer
Message-id:
<1998090818173900.OAA01117@ladder03.news.aol.com>

Thank-you...do you know, or can you discover who this guy's Auxillary Board for Protection is?
I think it is time to talk to that person about this situation and put this very angry, hurt soul into the proper hands????

Subject: Re: Literal-minded Bahai ignorance
Date: Tue, Sep 8, 1998 16:05 EDT
From: Bennachti
Message-id:
<1998090820050400.QAA11750@ladder03.news.aol.com>

Debbie, if you feel that is the right course of action, you can just forward the postings to your own Auxiliary Board Member and that person should be able to take it from there.

Love
Zaynab

No man shall attain the shores of the ocean of true understanding except he be detached from all that is in heaven and on earth.

- Bah 'u'll h -

My Bah 'i Faith website: Camphor Fountain

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Monday, January 04, 1999 8:39 AM

Subject: Re: Maneck's AOL slander of me, trb, Juan Cole, etc....

More than a year ago I asked Susan Maneck for a copy of her article "Wisdom and Dissimulation: The Use and Meaning of Hikmat in the Bahá'í Writings and History" after hearing of it on the mailing list talisman.

She immediately emailed me a copy, with kind words, which led to some fruitful discussion on talisman about Bahai "hikmat" or dissembling and deceiving non-Bahais when it's convenient to do so....

As a result of her sharing it with me, her then having been so cordial, most scholars wishing their work to receive wider circulation, it never occurred to me that she would have been opposed to my putting it on my web site, on the soc.religion.bahai censorship page, especially since I knew it was posted for all the world to read on Juan Cole's web site at

<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bhscholr.htm>

I will replace the article with the above link to it. It will be interesting to see whether the article, which reveals the extent of the calculation with which Bahais have deceived others, will soon "disappear" from there too....

Let me say for the non-Bahai, especially the news.groupie, that Susan Maneck herself has proven quite adept at employing "hikmat" in attacking talk.religion.bahai and personally me. I believe the present efforts by her and others is damage control in advance should her call for a NO vote prove effective. I ask you to consider carefully the observations of K. Paul Johnson in a message currently on alt.religion.bahai:

>It seems to me that part of what Fred calls "the Baha'i >technique" is in fact far broader. It's the technique of all >defenders of some religious orthodoxy or another in response to >criticism of their beliefs or organization. And you're engaging >in it here. Some principles by which it can be discerned:
>
>1. Show scornful contempt for all criticisms, and the individuals >making them. This has the advantage of furthering >group solidarity and encouraging believers to regard criticism as >contemptible. It also tells them "This will happen to you, too, >if you step out of line." Unfortunately, it has the >disadvantage of saying to observers, "We true believers are a >bunch of hostile, sarcastic nasties who don't care at all what >people in the outside world think of us, since we're too busy >bashing critics to worry about the impression our tone or >attitude makes." (See the Eckists or Scientologists or >fundamentalist Christians on Usenet for real virtuosity in >this regard.)
>
>2. Personalize, personalize, personalize. If you can >relentlessly focus attention on the individual(s) raising >difficult issues, you just might keep yourself and others >from facing the issues themselves. Not facing the crucial issues >is of utmost priority.

>

>3. Polarize at all possible opportunities. Never give an inch.
>Don't acknowledge even a single point that an "enemy" makes, or >modify your vigilant tone for an instant. Prove that you're a >"spiritual warrior" for the "true faith." Kindness is weakness, >forbearance is never appropriate when God's on your side.

Compare Mr. Johnson's observations with those of Dr. Juan Cole regarding Susan Maneck's "misrepresentations" and "bites on my back," attacks some of which she made on the AOL Message Boards, during early October of 1998, in a manner very similar to her present attacks:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Cole20.htm>

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Cole19.htm>

Let me urge those who wish to understand the complexity of the issues at stake over talk.religion.bahai to read the observations from several different people, which I will post in a revised version in a moment, called "Demagoguery - The Baha'i Technique." Her referring to my opinions and ideas as "garbage" and "slander" should be weighed carefully, especially the tone with which she's doing it....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

On alt.religion.bahai and AOL, Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Smaneck wrote in message <19990102213647.00849.00006194@ng-fi1.aol.com>...

>>Since Maneck's slander and misrepresentations have >>proven so difficult for some people to keep track of, I've >>created a web page dedicated to helping others understand >>what I believe are her misrepresentations

>

>. . . A web page which includes none of the statements I made giving specific >instances of Fred's slander. But most of those have been posted here >previously. However, let me give you a fresh example of one he recently posted >on AOL. Fred wrote:

>

>"Since I've been on AOL since mid-August, I've heard numerous excuses already >why nothing can be done, all of them quite false.... First, it was Mark Foster >was oh so busy with the return to his fall teaching schedule, then suddenly, >two months later, during discussion for talk.religion.bahai, the excuse became >he was ill and needed an operation..... The reality is his absence provides an >excuse for leaving the status quo right where it is . . . "

>

>Since Mark Foster's chronic illness is documentable and has effected his >ability to manage all of his numerous lists, this statement of Fred's which >categorically says this is not true, is clearly slander for which he could be >held liable in court.

>
>The "status quo" on AOL, incidently, is that posts are put up and stay up
with >no moderation whatsoever, even to the extent of insuring they abide by TOS
>rules. The libraries and websites are frozen with a large portion of the >material and sites being those of >Covenant-breaking groups. But Glaysher would have us believe this situation
>exists for purposes of censorship on behalf of Baha'i Institutions!
>
>I would also like to bring it to Mr. Glaysher's attention that the article of >mine on hikmat which he has posted on his website is copywrited.
Placing it
on >his website constitutes a violation of federal law. But we wouldn't want >anything to get in the way of "free speech"!
>
>warmest,
>
>Susan

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 12, 1999 9:13 AM
Subject: AOL Survey - 3 Issues - Folders

Many of you may have also received this survey from AOL.
I'd like to suggest it could be used to improve the service from AOL in the Bahai Forums. Please consider writing or taking the survey and expressing along with what your individual concerns might be the desire, as paying customers of AOL,
to see the 3 Issues and Folders rectified:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai added to Newsgroups
under Keyword search Bahai.

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored in any way by Bahais.

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

The Folders able to be changed as posters choose.

A new Forum Leader to replace Mark Foster, one open to freedom of expression and belief, unlike Susan Maneck who has thoroughly tainted herself during the discussion period for talk.religion.bahai, which has now passed. You might also request that when the newly formed talk.religion.bahai is properly formed it be available on AOL (it already is but technically as a bogus newsgroup).

You might also "cc" your response to SteveCase@aol.com
and ShawnaT@aol.com to be sure someone at AOL receives
as well as the outside surveying company.

Thanks for your cooperation in improving the Bahai Forums on AOL. And thanks to all of you who voted YES for talk.religion.bahai!

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>
On alt.religion.bahai and AOL, Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: AOL Customer Survey
Date: 1/12/1999 1:43:25 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: aol@esurvey.com
To: FG@aol.com

Dear AOL Member:

We are always exploring ways to understand your needs and to improve our services. Your name has been selected from a list of members who recently contacted AOL customer service, and we would really appreciate about 5 minutes of your time to let us know how we are doing. You can help us by responding to a survey by clicking on the Internet address below:

<https://www.esurvey.com/cgi-bin/perl/aolsurvey.pl?id=8946465>

If you have any questions regarding your AOL service, please go to keyword: HELP. Please DO NOT include any confidential account or financial data in your survey responses.

The survey will remain on-line for one week.

This survey is being conducted independently on behalf of AOL by Decisive Technology Corporation. For more information, please go to keyword: DECISIVE.

The email address above is being used to deploy these invitations to take the web-based survey. We (Decisive Technology) cannot answer questions about AOL-related issues or assist in resolving issues related to your AOL account. Please do not send any confidential account or financial data to this email address.

If you encounter any difficulties, please forward this e-mail along with a description of the problem to: DecisivTek@aol.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 12, 1999 9:25 AM
To: SteveCase@aol.com
Cc: ShawннаT@aol.com
Subject: Fw: AOL Survey - 3 Issues - Folders

-----Original Message-----
From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai
Date: Tuesday, January 12, 1999 8:13 AM
Subject: AOL Survey - 3 Issues - Folders

>Many of you may have also received this survey from AOL.
>I'd like to suggest it could be used to improve the service >from AOL in the Bahai Forums. Please consider writing or >taking the survey and expressing along with what your individual >concerns might be the desire, as paying customers of AOL,

>to see the 3 Issues and Folders rectified:
>
>alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai added to Newsgroups
>under Keyword search Bahai.
>
>Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and >uncensored in any way by Bahais.
>
>My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
>added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>
>
>The Folders able to be changed as posters choose.
>
>A new Forum Leader to replace Mark Foster, one open to >freedom of expression and belief, unlike Susan Maneck who >has thoroughly tainted herself during the discussion period >for talk.religion.bahai, which has now passed. You might >also request that when the newly formed talk.religion.bahai
>is properly formed it be available on AOL (it already is but >technically as a bogus newsgroup).
>
>You might also "cc" your response to SteveCase@aol.com
>and ShawnaT@aol.com to be sure someone at AOL receives >as well as the outside surveying company.
>
>Thanks for your cooperation in improving the Bahai Forums >on AOL. And thanks to all of you who voted YES for >talk.religion.bahai!
>
>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>
>On alt.religion.bahai and AOL, Keyword Bahai, Message Boards
>
>
>-----
>Subj: AOL Customer Survey
>Date: 1/12/1999 1:43:25 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: aol@esurvey.com
>To: FG@aol.com
>
>Dear AOL Member:
> We are always exploring ways to understand your needs and to >improve our services. Your name has been selected from a list of >members who recently contacted AOL customer service, and we would >really >appreciate about 5 minutes of your time to let us know how we are >doing. You can help us by responding to a survey by clicking on the >Internet address below:
>
><https://www.esurvey.com/cgi-bin/perl/aolsurvey.pl?id=8946465>
>
>If you have any questions regarding your AOL service, please go to >keyword: HELP. Please DO NOT include any confidential account or >financial data in your survey responses.
>
>The survey will remain on-line for one week.
>
>This survey is being conducted independently on behalf of AOL >by Decisive Technology Corporation. For more information, please >go to keyword: DECISIVE.
>

>The email address above is being used to deploy these invitations >to take the web-based survey. We (Decisive Technology) cannot answer >questions about AOL-related issues or assist in resolving issues >related to your AOL account. Please do not send any confidential >account or financial data to this email address.

>

>If you encounter any difficulties, please forward this e-mail along >with a description of the problem to: DecisivTek@aol.com

>

>

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Wednesday, January 13, 1999 7:17 PM

To: K. Paul Johnson

Subject: Maneck on AOL about YOU!

Subject: Re: WHAT IS GOING ON????

Date: 1/13/1999 6:03 PM Eastern Standard Time

From: Smaneck

Message-id: <19990113180318.09879.00000482@ng-fi1.aol.com>

Dear Adam:

Thank you for posting the Gnosis article. It's author, K. Paul Johnson, is a former Baha'i who has floated from one New Religious Movement to another, apparently finding each one too authoritarian for his tastes. Currently I believe he has found a home among the followers of Edgar Cayce.

This article stated:

>In October 1994 the electronic mail list Talisman was created by Indiana >University professor John Walbridge for scholarly discussion of Baha'i >history, doctrines, and current affairs.

The discussion of history and doctrine, generally was scholarly. The discussion of "current affairs" more resembled the National Enquirer. Rumors impinging on the integrity of members of the senior Institutions were presented as true based on the flimsiest of evidence, or no evidence at all.

>even mild dissent is regarded as treasonous.

Were this true they would have gotten rid of me a long time ago!

Mr. Johnson suggests that they were unfairly accused of being in opposition to the Covenant. While the participants of Talisman were not a monolithic group some of them take the position which True has argued here, namely that Cause became "mutilated" due to the absence of a living Guardian and hence the provisions of the Covenant do not really pertain. At least one individual tried to persuade me that the Covenant effectively ceased to function after 1921 because the Universal House of Justice and the Guardian never coexisted. Hence divine guidance cannot be assured for the entire period of the Guardianship and the Universal House of Justice. For most Baha'is such a position definitely has Covenantal implications.

Keep in mind that I am not suggesting that the Walbridge's themselves took this position, only that they came to be associated with those who did.

>David Langness had his rights to voting and attendance at major functions >removed by the American National Spiritual Assembly, which never specified >the charges against him

I have seen the documentation here and the charges were quite specific.
(I can provide you with this if you like, PL.) Mr. Langness' voting rights were removed for "slander" after he stated on Talisman that the Secretary-general of the National Spiritual Assembly had removed David's rights to pilgrimage a number of years earlier on his own initiative without authorization. Mr. Langness had a letter in his possession at the time which stated quite explicitly that this action had been taken with the knowledge and consent of the Universal House of Justice.

>Defending its actions, the Universal House of Justice wrote to a family member of one of the accused; the letter later appeared on the front page of the journal "The American Baha'i." It argues that Talisman was the continuation of a conspiracy born in the mid-1980s involving a liberal Baha'i journal, "Dialogue," which closed after Baha'i authorities accused it of being subversive.

The word "conspiracy" does not appear in that letter. Rather their activities are compared to the kind of partisan pressure politics common in Western democracies. I have posted this letter in the Universal House of Justice folder. You can access it here:

House on Criticism

The activities of the 1980s which this article refers to are the same one's which resulted in the removal of David Langness' right to pilgrimage. This occurred as a result of an article written by David Langness which critiqued current Baha'i administrative practices. I believe Mr. Glaysher posted that article here some time ago. It was entitled "A Modest Proposal" named after grimly ironic essay by the same name, written by Jonathan Swift which suggests that Ireland's overpopulation and dire economic conditions could be alleviated if the babies of poor Irish parents were sold as edible delicacies to be eaten by the rich. I have posted the explanation given by the Universal House of Justice for the actions of the Institutions in 1989 in the aforementioned folder which you may access here. Letter on the Dialogue Affair

warmest,

Susan Maneck

From: K. Paul Johnson[SMTP:pjohnson@vsla.edu]

Sent: Thursday, January 14, 1999 4:07 PM

To: FG

Cc: pjohnson@vsla.edu

Subject: Re: Maneck on AOL about YOU!

Dear Fred,

Please forward this reply for me:

Susan Maneck wrote:

> From: Smaneck

> Message-id: <19990113180318.09879.00000482@ng-fi1.aol.com>

>

> Dear Adam:

>

> Thank you for posting the Gnosis article. It's author, Its

K. Paul Johnson, is > a former Baha'i who has floated from one New Religious Movement to another,

who has only belonged to two new religious movements since leaving the Baha'i Faith at age 20 in 1974, after five years of membership: the Cayce-founded Association for Research and Enlightenment and the Theosophical movement, with both of which he affiliated over twenty years ago and with which he has been connected ever since, with varying levels of involvement but continuous interest,

> apparently finding each one too authoritarian for his tastes.

finding no problems with authoritarianism in either movement until publishing academic studies which certain Theosophical leaders found so unsettling as to bring out a kind of dogmatic condemnation no other author had received in this century.
This has done nothing to reduce his activity in the Theosophical movement, where he continues to be a regular speaker to the Theosophical Society in Maryland, as he has been for many years, and to the Charlotte NC Study Center.

Currently I > believe he has found a home among the followers of Edgar Cayce.

>

He was born into a family with connections to Cayce, participated in ARE Study Groups in the seventies, eighties and nineties, and never, even when a teenage Baha'i, lost interest in Cayce, about whom he has just published the first university press study, Edgar Cayce in Context: The Readings, Truth and Fiction.
Fortunately, the Cayce family and the ARE leadership are much more hospitable to scholarly inquiry than the Theosophists were.

>

> The discussion of history and doctrine, generally was scholarly. The > discussion of "current affairs" more resembled the National Enquirer.

What does your religion teach about backbiting, Susan?
I suggest that your reliability as a commentator on me is already pretty clear from the above corrections. I interviewed all the principals in the Talisman I crises except Stephen Birkland who refused my request for an interview. If you think the results are slanted in favor of the "out" faction, blame him. I reported what I observed and what I was told by the sources who would talk to me.

When you say "warmest," Susan, it doesn't mean anything pleasant, does it?

Paul

PS-- All the ins and outs of the Talisman situation should be discussed on talk.religion.bahai, where some of the principals are likely to be. I'm copying this to Juan Cole so he will know of your personal attack, and may comment himself.

From: K. Paul Johnson[SMTP:pjohnson@vsla.edu]
Sent: Thursday, January 14, 1999 7:14 PM
To: FG
Cc: crollins@webtv.com
Subject: Re: Maneck on AOL about YOU!

Dear Fred,

I've been thinking about the surprising message you forwarded. Although replying by correcting Susan's calumnies might have been satisfying to me, it probably didn't clearly enough address her misunderstandings for readers. The best metaphor I can come up with is that she has misperceived me as an oft-married, unstable serial monogamist in the spiritual realm. In fact, I've been a very stable polygamist.

As stated, I knew of Cayce and was fascinated by him well before encountering Baha'i. The ARE HQ is something of a spiritual axis mundi for alternative spirituality in Tidewater Virginia, and its library had the largest collections of Baha'i, Theosophical, Radhasoami, Spiritualist, etc. etc. books in the region and perhaps the state. As soon as I left Baha'i I reverted to interest in the constellation of ideas and practices that soon came to be known as "New Age." Joined ARE in late 1977 and became enamored of Theosophical books in their library, which led to joining the Theosophical Society in early 1978. Ever since then my continually-evolving belief system has incorporated elements from both sources, and my network of spiritual associations has included members of both organizations. I let my ARE membership expire after a year, but most Cayce disciples aren't ARE members. Think I'm the only one in my study group of 8 participants who belongs! Founded a Theosophical branch in Tidewater in 1980 which survived until I left the area in 1990 (and a bit beyond that) but there were always more ARE members participating than Theosophists. The frame of reference for any alternative spiritual group in that metro area has to include Cayce to some extent, and the Virginia Beach Baha'is were certainly enthusiastic about visiting ARE back when I was among them. I remember a fireside where a Baha'i gave a straight Caycean lecture on diet and health!

The year that I was most productive in the research and writing that led to my 3 books on Mme. Blavatsky, I was active in an ARE Study Group. It's always been an intertwined dharma. After exhausting my interests in Theosophical research, I proceeded on to Cayce, but he'd always been there as a major element in my worldview. Not until 1995 did I renew ARE membership and find a local study group here to join, and then start writing about Cayce. That must be why Susan came up with the idea that I was some kind of unstable dharma-hopper "bouncing." In fact, I've been about as stable as a person could be in terms of spiritual affiliations since leaving Baha'i, staying focused on the same two movements my entire adult life. Since each of those movements is eclectic and encourages exploration, this did not prevent me from taking side trips into Satchidananda satsangs, Fourth Way exercises, Radhasoami meditation techniques, etc.

In fact, my spiritual identity has remained strongly rooted/centered for more than 20 years in the same movements and interests, but has expanded rather steadily with the addition of new learnings from a wide variety of sources. I think this must be rather hard for Baha'is to understand, since their identification with a single organization and body of literature is vastly stronger than mine has ever been with any since 1974, and their tolerance for multiple affiliations and explorations far, far less.

Something I can't help noticing, and wondering about, is the consistent role of personal attacks in Baha'i discourse. Not only was Susan's characterization of me entirely inaccurate, it was also irrelevant. The article could and should have been evaluated without introduction of such considerations, IMO. Richard Schaut delivered 4 or 5 personal attacks (I lost count) against me on arb/trm in a single day yesterday. He could just as easily have tried to dissect my line of argument without ever once going off into diatribes about "Mr. Johnson." Oddly, Richard was subjected, on the very same day, to about as many personal attacks from Tim Mulligan, yet didn't make any such attacks on his attacker. Instead, I, who try to be scrupulously focused on the ideas and attitudes expressed rather than personalities, got bashed repeatedly. Scapegoating? Who knows? (Richard and Susan both managed to push me over my preferred limits into responding to their personally focused remarks on their level, which tells me I really need to work on ways to transcend rather than reciprocate their negative emotions-- "resist not evil" etc.)

Well, feel free to use this however you wish. Hope it clarifies things a bit for you and whomever reads it.

Cheers,

Paul

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 14, 1999 9:13 PM
To: K. Paul Johnson
Subject: Fw: Maneck on AOL about YOU!

It appears you cc-ed this to "crollins" not Juan Cole.

I've posted both to AOL.

News.groups is turning into a farce. I'm saying nothing until trb is up and running....

Fred

-----Original Message-----

From: K. Paul Johnson <pjohnson@vsla.edu>

To: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

Cc: crollins@webtv.com <crollins@webtv.com>

Date: Thursday, January 14, 1999 6:14 PM

Subject: Re: Maneck on AOL about YOU!

>Dear Fred,

>

>I've been thinking about the surprising message you forwarded.

>Although replying by correcting Susan's calumnies might have been >satisfying to me, it probably didn't clearly enough address her >misunderstandings for readers. The best metaphor I can come up with >is that she has misperceived me as an oft-married, unstable serial >monogamist in the spiritual realm. In fact, I've been a very stable >polygamist.

>

>As stated, I knew of Cayce and was fascinated by him well before >encountering Baha'i. The ARE HQ is something of a spiritual axis >mundi for alternative spirituality in Tidewater Virginia, and its >library had the largest collections of Baha'i, Theosophical, >Radhasoami, Spiritualist, etc. etc. books in the region and >perhaps the state. As soon as I left Baha'i I reverted to >interest in the constellation of ideas and practices that soon >came to be known as "New Age." Joined ARE in late 1977 and >became enamored of Theosophical books in their library, which led >to joining the Theosophical Society in early 1978. Ever since >then my continually-evolving belief system has incorporated >elements from both sources, and my network of spiritual >associations has included members of both organizations. I let >my ARE membership expire after a year, but most Cayce disciples >aren't ARE members. Think I'm the only one in my study group of >8 participants who belongs! Founded a Theosophical branch in

>Tidewater in 1980 which survived until I left the area in 1990

>(and a bit beyond that) but there were always more ARE members >participating than Theosophists. The frame of reference for any >alternative spiritual group in that metro area has to include

>Cayce to some extent, and the Virginia Beach Baha'is were >certainly enthusiastic about visiting ARE back when I was among >them. I remember a fireside where a Baha'i gave a straight Caycean >lecture on diet and health!

>

>The year that I was most productive in the research and writing >that led to my 3 books on Mme. Blavatsky, I was active in an ARE >Study Group. It's always been an intertwined dharma. After >exhausting my interests in Theosophical research, I proceeded on >to Cayce, but he'd always been there as a major element in my >worldview. Not until 1995 did I renew ARE membership and find a >local study group here to join, and then start writing about >Cayce. That must be why Susan came up with the idea that I was >some kind of unstable dharma-hopper "bouncing." In fact, I've >been about as stable as a person could be in terms of spiritual >affiliations since leaving Baha'i, staying focused on the same >two movements my entire adult life. Since each of those >movements is eclectic and encourages exploration, this did not >prevent me from taking side trips into Satchidananda satsangs,

>Fourth Way exercises, Radhasoami meditation techniques, etc.

>

>In fact, my spiritual identity has remained strongly rooted/centered >for more than 20 years in the same movements and interests, but >has expanded rather steadily with the addition of new learnings >from a wide variety of sources. I think this must be rather hard >for Baha'is to understand, since their identification with a >single organization and body of literature is vastly stronger than >mine has ever been with any since 1974, and their tolerance for multiple >affiliations and explorations far, far less.

>

>Something I can't help noticing, and wondering about, is the >consistent role of personal attacks in Baha'i discourse.

>Not only was Susan's characterization of me entirely inaccurate, it >was also irrelevant. The article could and should have been >evaluated without introduction of such considerations, IMO.

>Richard Schaut delivered 4 or 5 personal attacks (I lost count) >against me on arb/trm in a single day yesterday. He could just >as easily have tried to dissect my line of argument without ever >once going off into diatribes about "Mr. Johnson." Oddly, Richard was >subjected, on the very same day, to about as many personal >attacks from Tim Mulligan, yet didn't make any such attacks on >his attacker. Instead, I, who try to be scrupulously focused on >the ideas and attitudes expressed rather than personalities, got >bashed repeatedly. Scapegoating? Who knows? (Richard and Susan >both managed to push me over my preferred limits into responding to their >personally focused remarks on their level, which tells me I >really need to work on ways to transcend rather than >reciprocate their negative emotions-- "resist not evil" etc.)

>

>Well, feel free to use this however you wish. Hope it clarifies >things a bit for you and whomever reads it.

>

>Cheers,

>

>Paul

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 29, 1999 10:57 AM
To: FG
Subject: 3 Issues

3 Issues remain here on the Bahai Forum:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai added to Newsgroups
on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and
uncensored by Bahais.

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 02, 1999 7:00 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Terms of Service

Dear Jennifer:

Please explain in detail how my posting to the Bahai Message Boards is a TOS. I fail to see how it could possibly be construed as such and can't imagine many people would.

I must inform you that many Bahai fundamentalists vehemently hate me for being instrumental in supporting and passing the recently created unmoderated talk.religion.bahai on Usenet. You might want to take that into consideration regarding whoever has alleged the TOS against me. Also, for the more than decade long struggle that has been occurring in the Bahai Faith over freedom of conscience and speech, please see my web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

Please remove any TOS against my account and inform me in writing when you have done so.

Thank you.

FG
FG@aol.com

Subj: Terms of Service
Date: 2/1/1999 6:34:29 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: <A HREF="mailto:TOSBoards3">TOSBoards3
To: <A HREF="mailto:FG">FG

Dear Member,

I need to let you know that America Online was notified of a post to one of our message boards which violates the Terms of Service. Here is the information I have placed on the account regarding this incident:

On Mon, Feb 1, 1999 07:17 EST the FG screen name posted a message in Keyword Baha'i/Message Boards/For Non-Baha'is >> Subject: Call for Manuscripts

- - New . The following is an excerpt from the post: " Call for Manuscripts - - New Publisher , a new publishing company, seeks primarily manuscripts of poetry, fiction, and literary and social criticism.....All submissions must include a Self Addressed Stamped Envelope (SASE) or they will not be returned "

Our Terms of Service agreement, which was presented during the sign up process, allows America Online to be informative, entertaining and, above all, fun for all of our Members. You can review that agreement by using keyword <A HREF="aol://1391:41-4688">TOS. This area also has information and tools you can use to help protect your account. Also, you may want to take a look at our <A HREF="aol://1722:parentalcontrols">PARENTAL CONTROLS. This will allow you, among other things, to limit and/or block specific screen names from various online activities.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions

please
send mail to <A HREF="mailto: TOSGeneral">TOSGeneral>.

Regards,
Jennifer
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 02, 1999 6:52 AM
To: FG
Subject: TOS3 against

Subj: Terms of Service
Date: 2/1/1999 6:34:29 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: TOSBoards3
To: FG

Dear Member,

I need to let you know that America Online was notified of a post to one of our message boards which violates the Terms of Service. Here is the information I have placed on the account regarding this incident:

On Mon, Feb 1, 1999 07:17 EST the FG screen name posted a message in Keyword Baha'i/Message Boards/For Non-Baha'is >> Subject: Call for Manuscripts - - New . The following is an excerpt from the post: " Call for Manuscripts - - New Publisher , a new publishing company, seeks primarily manuscripts of poetry, fiction, and literary and social criticism.....All submissions must include a Self Addressed Stamped Envelope (SASE) or they will not be returned "

Our Terms of Service agreement, which was presented during the sign up process, allows America Online to be informative, entertaining and, above all, fun for all of our Members. You can review that agreement by using keyword TOS. This area also has information and tools you can use to help protect your account. Also, you may want to take a look at our PARENTAL CONTROLS. This will allow you, among other things, to limit and/or block specific screen names from various online activities.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,
Jennifer
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 04, 1999 8:34 AM
Subject: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

Mark Foster, the Forum Leader, after nearly a full year of absence, has surfaced suddenly on AOL, ignoring my resquests that he resign, and appears to be ready to reimpose Bahai control and manipulation of the various Bahai Forums on AOL.

Subject: Why RBCF Mark Foster should resign
Date: 2/4/1999 7:25 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204072511.13073.00000518@ng38.aol.com>

Since early August 1998, I have repeatedly asked the Forum Leader Mark Foster to improve 3 issues:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais.

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

The long record of appeals can be found on Questions for the Forum Leader, Announcements, and For Non-Bahais. During this entire time, and apparently for months even prior to August, he has abandoned his duties and responsibilities as Forum Leader. That is why I emailed him personally on at least two occasions months ago and have repeatedly asked for his resignation in public on the Bahai Forums.

I once again ask Mark Foster to RESIGN and allow someone else become the Forum Leader. I do not believe that Mark Foster, nor Susan Maneck, should be trusted with the position. Mr. Foster has thoroughly proven his inability and incompetence during the last year. Ms. Maneck has equally demonstrated her dishonesty and lack of respect for the principles that undergird AOL--freedom of speech and conscience by referring on these Message Boards and elsewhere to people's "garbage" opinions and ideas. Her demagogic NO vote campaign against talk.religion.bahai speaks poorly of her commitment to the principles that a Forum Leader should adhere to not to mention those that anyone truly worthy of being consider a scholar ought to uphold.

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

Bahais such as Foster and Maneck have abused the positions of authority when given them. They have and would run the AOL Forums in the same dictatorial way that soc.religion.bahai has and is run. I do not care to pay $21.95 per month for more Bahai censorship of the 3 Issues. People need to understand that the frozen status quo is better than nothing to Bahai like Foster and Maneck.

I request all those people who agree to speak up and say something and support the Petition I have posted in the past and will repost now.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 04, 1999 4:57 PM
To: RBCFMark@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: TOS violation

Please explain in detail how my two messages are TOS violations.

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 04, 1999 5:27 PM
To: SteveCase@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com; ShawwnaT@aol.com
Subject: Fwd: TOS violation

<<Message: TOS violation>>

Dear Mr. Case,

I'm forwarding you the message below from the Bahai Forum Leader who just showed back up yesterday after being gone at least since early August, 1998, and apparently even for months prior to that.

He's suddenly alleging TOSs against me and apparently threatening others with him. I've been asking for months for him to RESIGN and believe the best thing for AOL members is for him to do so. He's a highly dictatorial personality as I have experienced him on a mailing list, Bahai-Studies, and should not even be allowed to run AOL's Bahai Forums, which are definitely manipulated by fundamentalist Bahais intent on silencing and suppressing others who do not toe the party line....

Please, please do something NOW to help improve the Bahai Forums and prevent them from further abuse by Bahais. I suggest you search the Questions to Forum Leader and Annoucement Folders back to August to corroborate that I have repeatedly attempted to improve the manipulation of these Forums by Bahais.

Further, as a paying member, I ask you to fully investigate the motivations for placing these bogus TOSs on my account and remove them.

Subj: TOS violation
Date: 2/4/1999 12:51:46 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Another TOS violation. Both of these have been reported to AOL.

Mark Foster
Baha'i Forum Manager

Subject: Why RBCF Mark Foster should resign
Date: 2/4/99 06:25 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204072511.13073.00000518@ng38.aol.com>

Since early August 1998, I have repeatedly asked the Forum Leader Mark Foster to improve 3 issues:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais.

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

The long record of appeals can be found on Questions for the Forum Leader, Announcements, and For Non-Bahais. During this entire time, and apparently for months even prior to August, he has abandoned his duties and responsibilities as Forum Leader. That is why I emailed him personally on at least two occasions months ago and have repeatedly asked for his resignation in public on the Bahai Forums.

I once again ask Mark Foster to RESIGN and allow someone else become the Forum Leader. I do not believe that Mark Foster, nor Susan Maneck, should be trusted with the position. Mr. Foster has thoroughly proven his inability and incompetence during the last year. Ms. Maneck has equally demonstrated her dishonesty and lack of respect for the principles that undergird AOL--freedom of speech and conscience by referring on these Message Boards and elsewhere to people's "garbage" opinions and ideas. Her demagogic NO vote campaign against talk.religion.bahai speaks poorly of her commitment to the principles that a Forum Leader should adhere to not to mention those that anyone truly worthy of being consider a scholar ought to uphold.

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

Bahais such as Foster and Maneck have abused the positions of authority when given them. They have and would run the AOL Forums in the same dictatorial way that soc.religion.bahai has and is run. I do not care to pay $21.95 per month for more Bahai censorship of the 3 Issues. People need to understand that the frozen status quo is better than nothing to Bahai like Foster and Maneck.

I request all those people who agree to speak up and say something and support the Petition I have posted in the past and will repost now.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 4:03 PM
To: RBCFMark@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: TOS violation

Are you advising Maneck who has accused me of slander and referred to my ideas as "garbage" of your new policies?

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 4:18 PM
To: RBCFMark@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: (no subject)

You might want to notice the dates of the messages you're forwarding as instances of a TOS.

You're not a fair player, and you know it....

Please answer my Questions to Forum Leader in that folder.

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:46 AM
To: ShawwnaT@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com; HostMgr@aol.com
Subject: Re: Receipt for Fwd: TOS violation

I would like to state that this alleged TOS violation is completely bogus. The Bahai Forum Leader has failed to perform his duties in any way whatsoever for more than EIGHT months. My request that he resign was emailed to him more than two months ago, and I have repeatedly asked him to resign. My reason for doing so is he and other FUNDAMENTALIST BAHAIS on AOL are manipulating and using the Bahai Forums to suppress what information is available to AOL members.

I also believe this TOS is an act of revenge against me for recently creating talk.religion.bahai on Usenet, which fundamentalist Bahais have opposed for more than two years and may be corroborated by looking at my website which documents their opposition, including their fanaticism on AOL.

Please read especially "The Baha'i Technique" and AOL:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/AOL.htm>

What is taking place on the AOL Bahai Forums is exceedingly complex and will require serious efforts on the part of AOL personnel if you are to understand and make the right decisions.

I'm concerned primarily with 3 ISSUES:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais.

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

I am forwarding this message to the HostMGR in the hope that he can assist in removing Mark Foster as Bahai Forum Leader.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 9:08 AM
To: talisman
Subject: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

Posted to the AOL Bahai Forums Message Boards/ Question to Forum Leader

Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long absence.

I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais.

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list, I have little confidence in you.

Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 9:08 AM
Subject: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

Posted to the AOL Bahai Forums Message Boards/ Question to Forum Leader

Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long absence.

I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais.

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list, I have little confidence in you.

Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 9:30 AM
To: CRust60001@aol.com

Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:28 AM

Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>fyi

>

>Foster placed a TOS against me for my questioning him

>in the Non-Bahai forum. I've been warned by AOL once >more and I'm off for good. Really need your and others' help >now. Seems to me they're seeking revenge for talk.religion.bahai

>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

>Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc

>Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:08 AM

>Subject: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>

>

>>Posted to the AOL Bahai Forums Message Boards/ Question to

>>Forum Leader

>>

>>Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

>>

>>You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long

>>absence.

>>

>>I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

>>

>>alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to

>>Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

>>

>>Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and

>>uncensored by Bahais.

>>

>>My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

>>added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:

>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

>>

>>Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the

>>fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question

>>because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly

>>been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two >>years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just >>been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you >>may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent

>>here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored

>>people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list,

>>I have little confidence in you.

>>

>>Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.

>>

>>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

>>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>>

>>

>>

>>

>>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 9:31 AM
To: HANI72@aol.com
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

fyi

Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:30 AM
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:28 AM
>Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)
>

>

>

>>fyi

>>

>>Foster placed a TOS against me for my questioning him
>>in the Non-Bahai forum. I've been warned by AOL once >>more and I'm off for good. Really need your and others' help >>now. Seems to me they're seeking revenge for talk.religion.bahai
>>

>>-----Original Message-----

>>From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

>>Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc

>>Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:08 AM

>>Subject: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai >>censorship)

>>

>>

>>>Posted to the AOL Bahai Forums Message Boards/ Question to >>>Forum Leader

>>>

>>>Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

>>>

>>>You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long
>>>absence.

>>>

>>>I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

>>>

>>>alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to >>>Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

>>>

>>>Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and
>>>uncensored by Bahais.

>>>

>>>My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
>>>added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:

>>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

>>>

>>>Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the >>>fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question
>>>because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly
>>>been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two >>>years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just >>>been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you

>>>may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent
>>>here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored
>>>people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list,
>>>I have little confidence in you.
>>>
>>>Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.
>>>
>>>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
>>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>>>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 9:32 AM
To: Jimo3@aol.com
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:28 AM
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>fyi

>

>Foster placed a TOS against me for my questioning him
>in the Non-Bahai forum. I've been warned by AOL once >more and I'm off for good. Really need your and others' help >now. Seems to me they're seeking revenge for talk.religion.bahai

>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
>Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc
>Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:08 AM
>Subject: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>

>

>>Posted to the AOL Bahai Forums Message Boards/ Question to >>Forum Leader

>>

>>Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

>>

>>You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long
>>absence.

>>

>>I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

>>

>>alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to >>Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

>>

>>Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and
>>uncensored by Bahais.

>>

>>My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
>>added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>
>>
>>Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the >>fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question
>>because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly
>>been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two >>years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just >>been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you
>>may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent
>>here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored
>>people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list,
>>I have little confidence in you.
>>
>>Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.
>>
>>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 9:32 AM
To: KevinEco@aol.com
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:28 AM
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>fyi
>
>Foster placed a TOS against me for my questioning him
>in the Non-Bahai forum. I've been warned by AOL once >more and I'm off for good. Really need your and others' help >now. Seems to me they're seeking revenge for talk.religion.bahai
>
>-----Original Message-----
>From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
>Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc
>Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:08 AM
>Subject: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)
>
>
>>Posted to the AOL Bahai Forums Message Boards/ Question to >>Forum Leader
>>
>>Dear Mr. Mark Foster:
>>
>>You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long
>>absence.
>>
>>I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

>>
>>alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to >>Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu
>>
>>Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and
>>uncensored by Bahais.
>>
>>My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
>>added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>
>>
>>Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the >>fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question
>>because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly
>>been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two >>years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just >>been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you
>>may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent
>>here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored
>>people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list,
>>I have little confidence in you.
>>
>>Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.
>>
>>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 9:33 AM
To: Macho786@aol.com
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:28 AM
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>fyi
>
>Foster placed a TOS against me for my questioning him
>in the Non-Bahai forum. I've been warned by AOL once >more and I'm off for good. Really need your and others' help >now. Seems to me they're seeking revenge for talk.religion.bahai
>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
>Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc
>Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:08 AM
>Subject: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)
>

>

>

>>Posted to the AOL Bahai Forums Message Boards/ Question to >>Forum Leader

>>
>>Dear Mr. Mark Foster:
>>
>>You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long
>>absence.
>>
>>I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:
>>
>>alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to >>Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu
>>
>>Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and
>>uncensored by Bahais.
>>
>>My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
>>added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>
>>
>>Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the >>fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question
>>because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly
>>been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two >>years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just >>been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you
>>may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent
>>here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored
>>people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list,
>>I have little confidence in you.
>>
>>Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.
>>
>>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 9:34 AM
To: PParvin@aol.com
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:28 AM
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>fyi
>
>Foster placed a TOS against me for my questioning him
>in the Non-Bahai forum. I've been warned by AOL once >more and I'm off for good. Really need your and others' help >now. Seems to me they're seeking revenge for talk.religion.bahai
>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
>Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc

>Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:08 AM
>Subject: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai >censorship)

>

>

>>Posted to the AOL Bahai Forums Message Boards/ Question to >>Forum Leader

>>

>>Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

>>

>>You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long
>>absence.

>>

>>I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

>>

>>alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to >>Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

>>

>>Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and
>>uncensored by Bahais.

>>

>>My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
>>added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:

>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

>>

>>Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the
>>fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question
>>because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly
>>been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two >>years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just >>been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you
>>may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent
>>here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored
>>people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list,
>>I have little confidence in you.

>>

>>Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.

>>

>>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>>

>>

>>

>>

>>

>>

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 9:34 AM

To: RayHanania@aol.com

Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members &
Bahai censorship)

Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:28 AM

Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members &
Bahai
censorship)

>fyi

>

>Foster placed a TOS against me for my questioning him

>in the Non-Bahai forum. I've been warned by AOL once >more and I'm off for good. Really need your and others' help >now. Seems to me they're seeking revenge for talk.religion.bahai
>
>-----Original Message-----
>From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
>Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc
>Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:08 AM
>Subject: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai >censorship)
>

>>Posted to the AOL Bahai Forums Message Boards/ Question to >>Forum Leader

>>Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

>>You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long
>>absence.

>>I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

>>alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to >>Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

>>Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and
>>uncensored by Bahais.

>>My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
>>added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

>>Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the
>>fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question
>>because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly
>>been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two >>years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just >>been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you
>>may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent
>>here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored
>>people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list,
>>I have little confidence in you.

>>Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.

>>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 9:35 AM
To: RobertNik@aol.com
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:28 AM
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>fyi

>

>Foster placed a TOS against me for my questioning him
>in the Non-Bahai forum. I've been warned by AOL once >more and I'm off for good. Really need your and others' help >now. Seems to me they're seeking revenge for talk.religion.bahai

>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

>Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc

>Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:08 AM

>Subject: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>

>

>>Posted to the AOL Bahai Forums Message Boards/ Question to >>Forum Leader

>>

>>Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

>>

>>You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long
>>absence.

>>

>>I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

>>

>>alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to >>Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

>>

>>Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and
>>uncensored by Bahais.

>>

>>My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

>>added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:

>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

>>

>>Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the
>>fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question
>>because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly
>>been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two >>years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just >>been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you
>>may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent
>>here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored
>>people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list,
>>I have little confidence in you.

>>

>>Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.

>>

>>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

>>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>>

>>

>>

>>

>>

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 9:35 AM
To: SAMaso@aol.com
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:28 AM
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>fyi

>

>Foster placed a TOS against me for my questioning him
>in the Non-Bahai forum. I've been warned by AOL once >more and I'm off for good. Really need your and others' help >now. Seems to me they're seeking revenge for talk.religion.bahai

>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

>Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc

>Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:08 AM

>Subject: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>

>

>>Posted to the AOL Bahai Forums Message Boards/ Question to >>Forum Leader

>>

>>Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

>>

>>You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long
>>absence.

>>

>>I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

>>

>>alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to >>Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

>>

>>Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and
>>uncensored by Bahais.

>>

>>My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
>>added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:

>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

>>

>>Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the
>>fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question
>>because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly
>>been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two >>years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just >>been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you
>>may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent
>>here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored
>>people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list,
>>I have little confidence in you.

>>

>>Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.

>>

>>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 9:36 AM
To: Shaksway@aol.com
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:28 AM
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>fyi

>

>Foster placed a TOS against me for my questioning him
>in the Non-Bahai forum. I've been warned by AOL once >more and I'm off for good. Really need your and others' help >now. Seems to me they're seeking revenge for talk.religion.bahai

>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
>Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc
>Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:08 AM
>Subject: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>

>

>>Posted to the AOL Bahai Forums Message Boards/ Question to >>Forum Leader

>>

>>Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

>>

>>You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long
>>absence.

>>

>>I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

>>

>>alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to >>Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

>>

>>Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and
>>uncensored by Bahais.

>>

>>My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
>>added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

>>

>>Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the
>>fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question
>>because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly
>>been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two >>years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just >>been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you
>>may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent
>>here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored
>>people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list,

>>I have little confidence in you.

>>

>>Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.

>>

>>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

>>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>>

>>

>>

>>

>>

>>

>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 9:36 AM

To: Smastr@aol.com

Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:28 AM

Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>fyi

>

>Foster placed a TOS against me for my questioning him

>in the Non-Bahai forum. I've been warned by AOL once

>more and I'm off for good. Really need your and others' help

>now. Seems to me they're seeking revenge for talk.religion.bahai

>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

>Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc

>Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:08 AM

>Subject: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>

>

>>Posted to the AOL Bahai Forums Message Boards/ Question to

>>Forum Leader

>>

>>Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

>>

>>You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long

>>absence.

>>

>>I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

>>

>>alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to

>>Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

>>

>>Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and

>>uncensored by Bahais.

>>

>>My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

>>added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:

>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

>>

>>Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the

>>fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question

>>because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly
>>been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two >>years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just >>been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you
>>may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent
>>here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored
>>people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list,
>>I have little confidence in you.
>>
>>Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.
>>
>>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 1:00 PM
To: Ruletherod@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censors...

Rule,

Good luck, you're really going to need it....

It appears the fanatics have been successful in cutting me off from the Message Boards. I've just been notified to that effect.

I must say I'm disappointed in you....

Subj: Fwd: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censors...

Date: 2/5/1999 11:21:53 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Ruletherod
To: FG
CC: Ruletherod

Dear Fred,

Even, Susan, believe it or not, has admitted to me that you have a legitimate right to your self-expression (everything being relative)--if only in more politically appeasing terms to avoid the impatient retaliation by the general rank and file of orthodoxy.

It's time to come to the table and be a player, side-by-side with the rest of the crew. "We" need you with us for the same fight against the bigger dogs of tyranny gnawing at people's lives around the world--where basic human rights and democracy remain a joke. There are many causes fighting against the plague of tyranny.

The Baha'i faith is one too (however imperfect and hypocritical), even if it has some odd traits in achieving this objective. Alone, fighting off the "lions," we will only get defeated or devoured as martyrs to ourselves. But in numbers there is strength--the greater the numbers, the greater the strength for change.

To be a Baha'i is to serve the promise (potential) of the future order. If you can tactfully pursue your personal objectives, you may also be able to work in unison with the whole in achieving the greater end. As it is, both your personal goals and your Baha'i pledge to serve the promise of the existing Baha'i order are being compromised to little advantage. How you achieve this depends on the nature of your genius. We have to look around and ask ourselves: "Is this method really working? Is there a more fruitful approach for everyone concerned? What must I give up in order to be a player again--even if only for my own sake?"

No, I haven't sold out. These are the same things I've been telling myself lately.

"Some will shine in the second rank who are lost in the first." (Voltaire)

Why

not be a second-ranking officer where things get done the right way in the disguise of a conforming style?

Best wishes. Your friend, "Rule."

Forwarded Message:

Subj: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

Date: 2/5/1999 8:28:02 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: FG@hotmail.com (FG)

To: Ruletherod@aol.com

fyi

Foster placed a TOS against me for my questioning him in the Non-Bahai forum. I've been warned by AOL once more and I'm off for good. Really need your and others' help now. Seems to me they're seeking revenge for talk.religion.bahai

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc

Date: Friday, February 05, 1999 8:08 AM

Subject: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

>Posted to the AOL Bahai Forums Message Boards/ Question to

>Forum Leader

>

>Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

>

>You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long
>absence.

>

>I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

>

>alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to

>Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu
>
>Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and
>uncensored by Bahais.
>
>My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
>added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>
>
>Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the
>fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question
>because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly
>been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two >years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just >been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you >may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent
>here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored
>people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list,
>I have little confidence in you.
>
>Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.
>
>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards
>
>
>
>
>

----- Headers -----

Return-Path: <FG@hotmail.com>
Received: from rly-yd03.mx.aol.com (rly-yd03.mail.aol.com [172.18.150.3]) by air-yd05.mx.aol.com (v56.24) with SMTP; Fri, 05 Feb 1999 08:28:02 -0500 Received: from hotmail.com (hm2.hotmail.com [207.82.250.81])
by rly-yd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
with SMTP id IAA01697 for <Ruletherod@aol.com>;
Fri, 5 Feb 1999 08:28:02 -0500 (EST)
Received: (qmail 22518 invoked from network); 5 Feb 1999 13:28:00
-0000
Received: from 167-57-206.ipt.aol.com (HELO glaysher.Library) (152.167.57.206)
by hm2.hotmail.com with SMTP; 5 Feb 1999 13:28:00 -0000 Message-ID: <004801be510b$6d49dd40$ce39a798@glaysher.Library>
From: "FG" <FG@hotmail.com>
To: <Ruletherod@aol.com>
Subject: Fw: Bahai censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members &
Bahai
censorship)
Date: Fri, 5 Feb 1999 08:28:26 -0500
MIME-Version: 1.0
Content-Type: text/plain;
charset="iso-8859-1"
Content-Transfer-Encoding: 7bit
X-Priority: 3
X-MSMail-Priority: Normal
X-Mailer: Microsoft Outlook Express 4.72.3110.5
X-MimeOLE: Produced By Microsoft MimeOLE V4.72.3110.3

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 1:05 PM
Subject: Bahais on AOL (Re: Call for Manuscripts - - New Publisher)

Fran Baker wrote in message <79f5k7$2g1$1@chaos.crhc.uiuc.edu>...
>Matthew Cromer <matthew_cromer@iname.com> writes:

>
>>In article <79dj61$000$1@chaos.crhc.uiuc.edu> Fran Baker, >>fran@gershwin.dgii.com writes:
>>>The FDA doesn't claim to be infallible.
>>>
>>>--Fran
>
>>Baha'is don't use the power of the State to impose their views.
>
>Not now, but that is the hope and that is the plan.
>
>Also, "the power of the State" is not monolithic in the US, so >this is a bit of a straw man.

Baha fundamentalists are using what little power they have on AOL, where there are potentially 14+ million readers, to basically frame me at the moment and get me thrown off AOL. See my recent message on AOL for more info.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 1:10 PM
Subject: Bahai threats (Re: Call for Manuscripts - - New Publisher)

Smaneck wrote in message <19990204234252.25317.00000226@ng-cg1.aol.com>...

>
>Mr. Glaysher has made it quite clear that he does not wish to receive privat
>email. Furthermore he has made it even more clear that private email sent
to >him will not be kept private.

Non-Bahais should look at the following links to see what kind of messages are being sent to me and others by "loving" Bahais....

<https://ccwf.cc.utexas.edu/~saf/bahai/docs/hikmat.html>

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/AOL.htm>

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/hate.htm>

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 4:19 PM
To: FG
Subject: TOS

Subj: TOS
Date: 2/5/1999 2:56:49 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Again, forwarded to TOS. You need to refrain from personal indictments
and accusations.

Mark Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager

Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long
absence.

I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to Newsgroups
on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and
uncensored by Bahais.

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the
fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question
because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly
been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent
here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored
people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list,
I have little confidence in you.

Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: TOS
Date: 2/5/1999 2:39:38 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

And another one reported to TOS

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager

Subject: Re: 12/4/98 Message to Mark Foster
Date: 2/4/99 15:04 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204160430.27091.00000604@ng13.aol.com>

I certainly don't believe a word of it.

Is it now going to be your policy of placing bogus TOS violations against anyone with whom you or certain other Bahais disagree with?

Your claiming my other two messages as such is quite revealing, in my humble opinion....

Am I allowed to have one? Is anyone?

Please state why you have ignored my repeated appeals during the last SIX MONTHS....

Also, is it a violation to ask you to RESIGN for dereliction of duty? I for one hope you still will and have no confidence in you whatsoever. Will you allege a TOS against me for saying so?

Please state your policy regarding the 3 ISSUES....

Will you be manipulating them to the benefit of certain kinds of Bahais?

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: TOS
Date: 2/5/1999 2:37:41 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Again forwarded for possible action.

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager

Subject: rbcfmark IS NOT ACCEPTING MAIL FROM THIS SENDER

Date: 2/4/99 15:13 Central Standard Time

From: FG

Message-id: <19990204161327.27091.00000612@ng13.aol.com>

That was ingenious.... Please consider my questions below.

Have experienced your censorship of Bahai-studies, I am not at all please that you have returned to run AOL's Bahai Forums:

Subj: Returned mail: User unknown

Date: 2/4/1999 4:05:15 PM Eastern Standard Time

From: MAILER-DAEMON@aol.com (Mail Delivery Subsystem)

To: FG@aol.com

The original message was received at Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:28 -0500 (EST)

from ngeout01.news.aol.com [152.163.176.244]

 ATTENTION *****

Your e-mail is being returned to you because there was a problem with its delivery. The AOL address which was undeliverable is listed in the section labeled: "----- The following addresses had permanent fatal errors -----".

The reason your mail is being returned to you is listed in the section labeled: "----- Transcript of Session Follows -----".

The line beginning with "<<<" describes the specific reason your e-mail could not be delivered. The next line contains a second error message which is a general translation for other e-mail servers.

Please direct further questions regarding this message to your e-mail administrator.

--AOL Postmaster

----- The following addresses had permanent fatal errors ----- <rbcfmark@aol.com>

----- Transcript of session follows -----
... while talking to air-zd05.mail.aol.com.:
>>> RCPT To:<rbcfmark@aol.com>
<<< 550 rbcfmark IS NOT ACCEPTING MAIL FROM THIS SENDER
550 <rbcfmark@aol.com>... User unknown

----- Original message follows -----

Return-Path: <FG@aol.com>

Received: from ngeout01.news.aol.com (ngeout01.news.aol.com [152.163.176.244])

by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)

with SMTP id QAA03084 for <rbcfmark@aol.com>;

Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:28 -0500 (EST)

Received: from ladder03.news.aol.com (ladder03.news-fddi.aol.com [172.16.30.98]) by ngeout01.news.aol.com (8.6.12/8.6.12) with ESMTP id QAA29228 for <rbcfmark@aol.com>; Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:31 -0500

Date: 04 Feb 1999 16:04:30 EST
Newsgroups:
aol.boards.internal0.top-o-world.aol-department-level.associationsspecia.ba
hai.for-non-bahais1f6ff4
To: rbcfmark@aol.com
Organization: AOL <https://www.aol.com>
References: <19990204125012.00369.00001041@ng-ch1.aol.com>
From: FG@aol.com (FG)
Subject: Re: 12/4/98 Message to Mark Foster
Message-ID: <19990204160430.27091.00000603@ng13.aol.com>

I certainly don't believe a word of it.

Is it now going to be your policy of placing bogus TOS violations against anyone with whom you or certain other Bahais disagree with?

Your claiming my other two messages as such is quite revealing, in my humble opinion....

Am I allowed to have one? Is anyone?

Please state why you have ignored my repeated appeals during the last SIX MONTHS....

Also, is it a violation to ask you to RESIGN for dereliction of duty? I for one hope you still will and have no confidence in you whatsoever. Will you allege a TOS against me for saying so?

Please state your policy regarding the 3 ISSUES....

Will you be manipulating them to the benefit of certain kinds of Bahais?

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

----- Headers -----

Return-Path: <>
Received: from rly-yb04.mx.aol.com (rly-yb04.mail.aol.com [172.18.146.4])
by air-yb05.mail.aol.com (v56.24) with SMTP; Thu, 04 Feb 1999 16:05:15
-0500
Received: from aolmbr04.mail.aol.com (aolmbr04.mx.aol.com [198.81.17.132])
by rly-yb04.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
with ESMTP id QAA25221 for <FG@aol.com>;
Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:05:14 -0500 (EST)
Received: from rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (rly-zd03.mail.aol.com [172.31.33.227])
by aolmbr04.mail.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-2.0.0)
with ESMTP id QAA11049 for <FG@aol.com>;

Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:30 -0500 (EST)
Received: from localhost (localhost)
by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
with internal id QAA03090;
Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:34 -0500 (EST)
Date: Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:34 -0500 (EST)
From: Mail Delivery Subsystem <MAILER-DAEMON@aol.com>
Message-Id: <199902042104.QAA03090@rly-zd03.mx.aol.com>
To: <FG@aol.com>
Subject: Returned mail: User unknown
Auto-Submitted: auto-generated (failure)

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: (no subject)
Date: 2/5/1999 2:35:08 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

As in the two previous cases, I have reported your posting as a possible TOS violation. It is not my decision as to what is a TOS violation. Your postings are read and a decision is made (by them, not by me).

You again attack/criticize Susan Maneck and myself.

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Faith Forum Manager

Subject: To Steve Case
Date: 2/4/99 15:30 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204163020.27436.00000700@ng14.aol.com>

Dear Mr. Case,

I'm forwarding you the message below from the Bahai Forum Leader who just showed back up yesterday after being gone at least since early August, 1998, and apparently even for months prior to that.

He's suddenly alleging TOSs against me and apparently threatening others with them. I've been asking for months for him to RESIGN and believe the best thing for AOL members is for him to do so. He's a highly dictatorial personality as I have experienced him on a mailing list, Bahai-Studies, and should not even be allowed to run AOL's Bahai Forums, which are definitely manipulated by fundamentalist Bahais intent on silencing and suppressing others who do not toe the party line....

Please, please do something NOW to help improve the Bahai Forums and prevent them from further abuse by Bahais. I suggest you search the Questions to Forum Leader and Annoucement Folders back to August to corroborate that I have repeatedly attempted to improve the manipulation of these Forums by Bahais.

Further, as a paying member, I ask you to fully investigate the motivations for placing these bogus TOSs on my account and remove them.

FG
FG@aol.com

**-----
Subj: TOS violation
Date: 2/4/1999 12:51:46 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Another TOS violation. Both of these have been reported to AOL.

Mark Foster
Baha'i Forum Manager

Subject: Why RBCF Mark Foster should resign
Date: 2/4/99 06:25 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204072511.13073.00000518@ng38.aol.com>

Since early August 1998, I have repeatedly asked
the Forum Leader Mark Foster to improve 3 issues:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai added to Newsgroups
on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and
uncensored by Bahais.

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

The long record of appeals can be found on Questions for
the Forum Leader, Announcements, and For Non-Bahais.
During this entire time, and apparently for months even prior to August, he has abandoned his duties and responsibilities as Forum Leader. That is why I emailed him personally on at least two occasions months ago and have repeatedly asked for his resignation in public on the Bahai Forums.

I once again ask Mark Foster to RESIGN and allow someone else become the Forum Leader. I do not believe that Mark Foster, nor Susan Maneck, should be trusted with the position. Mr. Foster has thoroughly proven his inability and incompetence during the last year. Ms. Maneck has equally demonstrated her dishonesty and lack of respect for the principles that undergird AOL--freedom of speech and conscience by referring on these Message Boards and elsewhere to people's "garbage" opinions and ideas. Her demagogic NO vote campaign against talk.religion.bahai speaks poorly of her commitment to the principles that a Forum Leader should adhere to not to mention those that anyone truly worthy of being consider a scholar ought to uphold.

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

Bahais such as Foster and Maneck have abused the positions of authority when given them. They have and would run the AOL Forums in the same dictatorial way that soc.religion.bahai has and is run. I do not care to pay $21.95 per month for more Bahai censorship of the 3 Issues. People need to understand that the frozen status quo is better than nothing to Bahai like Foster and Maneck.

I request all those people who agree to speak up and say something and support the Petition I have posted in the past and will repost now.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 4:19 PM
To: FG
Subject: TOS

Subj: TOS
Date: 2/5/1999 2:56:49 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Again, forwarded to TOS. You need to refrain from personal indictments and accusations.

Mark Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager

Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long absence.

I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais.

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list, I have little confidence in you.

Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: TOS
Date: 2/5/1999 2:39:38 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

And another one reported to TOS

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager

Subject: Re: 12/4/98 Message to Mark Foster
Date: 2/4/99 15:04 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204160430.27091.00000604@ng13.aol.com>

I certainly don't believe a word of it.

Is it now going to be your policy of placing bogus TOS violations against anyone with whom you or certain other Bahais disagree with?

Your claiming my other two messages as such is quite revealing, in my humble opinion....

Am I allowed to have one? Is anyone?

Please state why you have ignored my repeated appeals during the last SIX MONTHS....

Also, is it a violation to ask you to RESIGN for dereliction of duty? I for one hope you still will and have no confidence in you whatsoever. Will you allege a TOS against me for saying so?

Please state your policy regarding the 3 ISSUES....

Will you be manipulating them to the benefit of certain kinds of Bahais?

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: TOS
Date: 2/5/1999 2:37:41 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Again forwarded for possible action.

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager

Subject: rbcfmark IS NOT ACCEPTING MAIL FROM THIS SENDER
Date: 2/4/99 15:13 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204161327.27091.00000612@ng13.aol.com>

That was ingenious.... Please consider my questions below.

Have experienced your censorship of Bahai-studies, I am not at all please that you have returned to run AOL's Bahai Forums:

Subj: Returned mail: User unknown
Date: 2/4/1999 4:05:15 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: MAILER-DAEMON@aol.com (Mail Delivery Subsystem)
To: FG@aol.com

The original message was received at Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:28 -0500
(EST)
from ngeout01.news.aol.com [152.163.176.244]

 ATTENTION *****

Your e-mail is being returned to you because there was a problem with its delivery. The AOL address which was undeliverable is listed in the section labeled: "----- The following addresses had permanent fatal errors -----".

The reason your mail is being returned to you is listed in the section labeled: "----- Transcript of Session Follows -----".

The line beginning with "<<<" describes the specific reason your e-mail could not be delivered. The next line contains a second error message which is a general translation for other e-mail servers.

Please direct further questions regarding this message to your e-mail administrator.

--AOL Postmaster

----- The following addresses had permanent fatal errors ----- <rbcfmark@aol.com>

----- Transcript of session follows -----
... while talking to air-zd05.mail.aol.com.:
>>> RCPT To:<rbcfmark@aol.com>
<<< 550 rbcfmark IS NOT ACCEPTING MAIL FROM THIS SENDER
550 <rbcfmark@aol.com>... User unknown

----- Original message follows -----

Return-Path: <FG@aol.com>
Received: from ngeout01.news.aol.com (ngeout01.news.aol.com [152.163.176.244])
by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
with SMTP id QAA03084 for <rbcfmark@aol.com>;
Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:28 -0500 (EST)
Received: from ladder03.news.aol.com (ladder03.news-fddi.aol.com [172.16.30.98]) by ngeout01.news.aol.com (8.6.12/8.6.12) with ESMTP id
QAA29228 for <rbcfmark@aol.com>; Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:31 -0500
Date: 04 Feb 1999 16:04:30 EST
Newsgroups:
aol.boards.internal0.top-o-world.aol-department-level.associations-
specia.ba
hai.for-non-bahais1f6ff4
To: rbcfmark@aol.com
Organization: AOL <https://www.aol.com>
References: <19990204125012.00369.00001041@ng-ch1.aol.com>
From: FG@aol.com (FG)
Subject: Re: 12/4/98 Message to Mark Foster
Message-ID: <19990204160430.27091.00000603@ng13.aol.com>

I certainly don't believe a word of it.

Is it now going to be your policy of placing bogus TOS violations against anyone with whom you or certain other Bahais disagree with?

Your claiming my other two messages as such is quite revealing, in my humble
opinion....

Am I allowed to have one? Is anyone?

Please state why you have ignored my repeated appeals during the last
SIX MONTHS....

Also, is it a violation to ask you to RESIGN
for dereliction of duty? I for one hope you still will and have no confidence in you whatsoever. Will you allege a TOS against me for saying so?

Please state your policy regarding the 3 ISSUES....

Will you be manipulating them to the benefit of certain kinds of Bahais?

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

----- Headers -----

Return-Path: <>
Received: from rly-yb04.mx.aol.com (rly-yb04.mail.aol.com [172.18.146.4])
by air-yb05.mail.aol.com (v56.24) with SMTP; Thu, 04 Feb 1999 16:05:15
-0500
Received: from aolmbr04.mail.aol.com (aolmbr04.mx.aol.com [198.81.17.132])
by rly-yb04.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
with ESMTP id QAA25221 for <FG@aol.com>;
Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:05:14 -0500 (EST)
Received: from rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (rly-zd03.mail.aol.com [172.31.33.227])
by aolmbr04.mail.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-2.0.0)
with ESMTP id QAA11049 for <FG@aol.com>;
Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:30 -0500 (EST)
Received: from localhost (localhost)
by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
with internal id QAA03090;
Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:34 -0500 (EST)
Date: Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:34 -0500 (EST)
From: Mail Delivery Subsystem <MAILER-DAEMON@aol.com>
Message-Id: <199902042104.QAA03090@rly-zd03.mx.aol.com>
To: <FG@aol.com>
Subject: Returned mail: User unknown
Auto-Submitted: auto-generated (failure)

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: (no subject)
Date: 2/5/1999 2:35:08 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

As in the two previous cases, I have reported your posting as a possible
TOS
violation. It is not my decision as to what is a TOS violation. Your postings are read and a decision is made (by them, not by me).

You again attack/criticize Susan Maneck and myself.

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Faith Forum Manager

Subject: To Steve Case
Date: 2/4/99 15:30 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204163020.27436.00000700@ng14.aol.com>

Dear Mr. Case,

I'm forwarding you the message below from the Bahai Forum Leader who just showed back up yesterday after being gone at least since early August, 1998, and apparently even for months prior to that.

He's suddenly alleging TOSs against me and apparently threatening others with them. I've been asking for months for him to RESIGN and believe the best thing for AOL members is for him to do so. He's a highly dictatorial personality as I have experienced him on a mailing list, Bahai-Studies, and should not even be allowed to run AOL's Bahai Forums, which are definitely manipulated by fundamentalist Bahais intent on silencing and suppressing others who do not toe the party line....

Please, please do something NOW to help improve the Bahai Forums and prevent them from further abuse by Bahais. I suggest you search the Questions to Forum Leader and Annoucement Folders back to August to corroborate that I have repeatedly attempted to improve the manipulation of these Forums by Bahais.

Further, as a paying member, I ask you to fully investigate the motivations for placing these bogus TOSs on my account and remove them.

FG
FG@aol.com

**-----
Subj: TOS violation
Date: 2/4/1999 12:51:46 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Another TOS violation. Both of these have been reported to AOL.

Mark Foster
Baha'i Forum Manager

Subject: Why RBCF Mark Foster should resign
Date: 2/4/99 06:25 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204072511.13073.00000518@ng38.aol.com>

Since early August 1998, I have repeatedly asked the Forum Leader Mark Foster to improve 3 issues:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais.

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

The long record of appeals can be found on Questions for the Forum Leader, Announcements, and For Non-Bahais. During this entire time, and apparently for months even prior to August, he has abandoned his duties and responsibilities as Forum Leader. That is why I emailed him personally on at least two occasions months ago and have repeatedly asked for his resignation in public on the Bahai Forums.

I once again ask Mark Foster to RESIGN and allow someone else become the Forum Leader. I do not believe that Mark Foster, nor Susan Maneck, should be trusted with the position. Mr. Foster has thoroughly proven his inability and incompetence during the last year. Ms. Maneck has equally demonstrated her dishonesty and lack of respect for the principles that undergird AOL--freedom of speech and conscience by referring on these Message Boards and elsewhere to people's "garbage" opinions and ideas. Her demagogic NO vote campaign against talk.religion.bahai speaks poorly of her commitment to the principles that a Forum Leader should adhere to not to mention those that anyone truly worthy of being consider a scholar ought to uphold.

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

Bahais such as Foster and Maneck have abused the positions of authority when given them. They have and would run the AOL Forums in the same dictatorial way that soc.religion.bahai has and is run. I do not care to pay $21.95 per month for more Bahai censorship of the 3 Issues. People need to understand that the frozen status quo is better than nothing to Bahai like Foster and Maneck.

I request all those people who agree to speak up and say something and support the Petition I have posted in the past and will repost now.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 5:58 PM
To: FG@hotmail.com

Subject: PL: Plural voices in the wilderness
Date: 2/5/1999 2:18 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Ruletherod
Message-id: <19990205141822.23348.00000014@ng142.aol.com>

>Fred,

>I have been here now for I think around three, maybe four weeks. I haven't seen anyone else raise the same issues at all. Are you a solitary voice crying out in the wilderness? I'm baffled by this. If there are others here who feel the same, why haven't they also raised their voice at least in the last month? --PL

PL,

Since last summer, I've often sung backup vocals for Fred's songs for freedom. I've always supported him in principle and still do. But the Baha'is think "I'm A Loser" when I do this because I can't hold a note like John Lennon. As Lennon said himself, "You wanna save humanity but it's people that you just can't stand."

Anyway, It's high time for a new beginning here for everyone, not just Fred. I'm sure you'll understand this, PL.

PS--Sunni, you can come back now, if you haven't already. No hard feelings, okay? We need unity in true diversity here.

"Talk does not cook rice."

--Chinese proverb

"Every cloud engenders not a storm." --William Shakespeare

"All things excellent are as difficult as they are rare."

--Benedict Spinoza

"Be ashamed to die until you have won some victory for mankind."

--Horace Mann

Get Your Private, Free Email at <https://www.hotmail.com>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 6:38 PM

Subject: Bahai Revenge on AOL (Re: Call for Manuscripts - - New Publisher)

The Bahai Forum "Leader" who has just shown up after EIGHT MONTHS of doing nothing has returned to post a couple of vague messages and then to proceed to frame and drive me off AOL....

No matter what I post he's alleging TOSs against me. See below.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: TOS

Date: 2/5/1999 2:56:49 PM Eastern Standard Time

From: RBCF Mark

To: FG

Again, forwarded to TOS. You need to refrain from personal indictments and accusations.

Mark Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager

Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long absence.

I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais.

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list, I have little confidence in you.

Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: TOS

Date: 2/5/1999 2:39:38 PM Eastern Standard Time

From: RBCF Mark

To: FG

And another one reported to TOS

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager

Subject: Re: 12/4/98 Message to Mark Foster

Date: 2/4/99 15:04 Central Standard Time

From: FG

Message-id: <19990204160430.27091.00000604@ng13.aol.com>

I certainly don't believe a word of it.

Is it now going to be your policy of placing bogus TOS violations against anyone with whom you or certain other Bahais disagree with?

Your claiming my other two messages as such is quite revealing, in my humble opinion....

Am I allowed to have one? Is anyone?

Please state why you have ignored my repeated appeals during the last SIX MONTHS....

Also, is it a violation to ask you to RESIGN for dereliction of duty? I for one hope you still will and have no confidence in you whatsoever. Will you allege a TOS against me for saying so?

Please state your policy regarding the 3 ISSUES....

Will you be manipulating them to the benefit of certain kinds of Bahais?

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: TOS
Date: 2/5/1999 2:37:41 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Again forwarded for possible action.

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager

Subject: rbcfmark IS NOT ACCEPTING MAIL FROM THIS SENDER
Date: 2/4/99 15:13 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204161327.27091.00000612@ng13.aol.com>

That was ingenious.... Please consider my questions below.

Have experienced your censorship of Bahai-studies, I am not at all please that you have returned to run AOL's Bahai Forums:

Subj: Returned mail: User unknown
Date: 2/4/1999 4:05:15 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: MAILER-DAEMON@aol.com (Mail Delivery Subsystem)
To: FG@aol.com

The original message was received at Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:28 -0500 (EST)
from ngeout01.news.aol.com [152.163.176.244]

 ATTENTION *****

Your e-mail is being returned to you because there was a problem with its delivery. The AOL address which was undeliverable is listed in the section labeled: "----- The following addresses had permanent fatal errors -----".

The reason your mail is being returned to you is listed in the section labeled: "----- Transcript of Session Follows -----".

The line beginning with "<<<" describes the specific reason your e-mail could not be delivered. The next line contains a second error message which is a general translation for other e-mail servers.

Please direct further questions regarding this message to your e-mail administrator.

--AOL Postmaster

----- The following addresses had permanent fatal errors ----- <rbcfmark@aol.com>

----- Transcript of session follows -----
... while talking to air-zd05.mail.aol.com.:
>>> RCPT To:<rbcfmark@aol.com>
<<< 550 rbcfmark IS NOT ACCEPTING MAIL FROM THIS SENDER
550 <rbcfmark@aol.com>... User unknown

----- Original message follows -----

Return-Path: <FG@aol.com>
Received: from ngeout01.news.aol.com (ngeout01.news.aol.com [152.163.176.244])
by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
with SMTP id QAA03084 for <rbcfmark@aol.com>;
Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:28 -0500 (EST)
Received: from ladder03.news.aol.com (ladder03.news-fddi.aol.com [172.16.30.98]) by ngeout01.news.aol.com (8.6.12/8.6.12) with ESMTP id
QAA29228 for <rbcfmark@aol.com>; Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:31 -0500
Date: 04 Feb 1999 16:04:30 EST
Newsgroups:
aol.boards.internal0.top-o-world.aol-department-level.associations-
specia.ba
hai.for-non-bahais1f6ff4
To: rbcfmark@aol.com
Organization: AOL <https://www.aol.com>
References: <19990204125012.00369.00001041@ng-ch1.aol.com>
From: FG@aol.com (FG)
Subject: Re: 12/4/98 Message to Mark Foster
Message-ID: <19990204160430.27091.00000603@ng13.aol.com>

I certainly don't believe a word of it.

Is it now going to be your policy of placing bogus TOS violations against anyone with whom you or certain other Bahais disagree with?

Your claiming my other two messages as such is quite revealing, in my humble opinion....

Am I allowed to have one? Is anyone?

Please state why you have ignored my repeated appeals during the last SIX MONTHS....

Also, is it a violation to ask you to RESIGN for dereliction of duty? I for one hope you still will and have no confidence in you whatsoever. Will you allege a TOS against me for saying so?

Please state your policy regarding the 3 ISSUES....

Will you be manipulating them to the benefit of certain kinds of Bahais?

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

----- Headers -----

Return-Path: <>
Received: from rly-yb04.mx.aol.com (rly-yb04.mail.aol.com [172.18.146.4])
by air-yb05.mail.aol.com (v56.24) with SMTP; Thu, 04 Feb 1999 16:05:15
-0500
Received: from aolmbr04.mail.aol.com (aolmbr04.mx.aol.com [198.81.17.132])
by rly-yb04.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
with ESMTP id QAA25221 for <FG@aol.com>;
Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:05:14 -0500 (EST)
Received: from rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (rly-zd03.mail.aol.com [172.31.33.227])
by aolmbr04.mail.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-2.0.0)
with ESMTP id QAA11049 for <FG@aol.com>;
Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:30 -0500 (EST)
Received: from localhost (localhost)
by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
with internal id QAA03090;
Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:34 -0500 (EST)
Date: Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:34 -0500 (EST)
From: Mail Delivery Subsystem <MAILER-DAEMON@aol.com>
Message-Id: <199902042104.QAA03090@rly-zd03.mx.aol.com>
To: <FG@aol.com>
Subject: Returned mail: User unknown
Auto-Submitted: auto-generated (failure)

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: (no subject)
Date: 2/5/1999 2:35:08 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

As in the two previous cases, I have reported your posting as a possible TOS violation. It is not my decision as to what is a TOS violation. Your postings are read and a decision is made (by them, not by me).

You again attack/criticize Susan Maneck and myself.

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Faith Forum Manager

Subject: To Steve Case
Date: 2/4/99 15:30 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204163020.27436.00000700@ng14.aol.com>

Dear Mr. Case,

I'm forwarding you the message below from the Bahai Forum Leader who just showed back up yesterday after being gone at least since early August, 1998, and apparently even for months prior to that.

He's suddenly alleging TOSs against me and apparently threatening others with them. I've been asking for months for him to RESIGN and believe the best thing for AOL members is for him to do so. He's a highly dictatorial personality as I have experienced him on a mailing list, Bahai-Studies, and should not even be allowed to run AOL's Bahai Forums, which are definitely manipulated by fundamentalist Bahais intent on silencing and suppressing others who do not toe the party line....

Please, please do something NOW to help improve the Bahai Forums and prevent them from further abuse by Bahais. I suggest you search the Questions to Forum Leader and Annoucement Folders back to August to corroborate that I have repeatedly attempted to improve the manipulation of these Forums by Bahais.

Further, as a paying member, I ask you to fully investigate the motivations for placing these bogus TOSs on my account and remove them.

FG
FG@aol.com

Subj: TOS violation
Date: 2/4/1999 12:51:46 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Another TOS violation. Both of these have been reported to AOL.

Mark Foster
Baha'i Forum Manager

Subject: Why RBCF Mark Foster should resign
Date: 2/4/99 06:25 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204072511.13073.00000518@ng38.aol.com>

Since early August 1998, I have repeatedly asked the Forum Leader Mark Foster to improve 3 issues:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais.

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

The long record of appeals can be found on Questions for the Forum Leader, Announcements, and For Non-Bahais. During this entire time, and apparently for months even prior to August, he has abandoned his duties and responsibilities as Forum Leader. That is why I emailed him personally on at least two occasions months ago and have repeatedly asked for his resignation in public on the Bahai Forums.

I once again ask Mark Foster to RESIGN and allow someone else become the Forum Leader. I do not believe that Mark Foster, nor Susan Maneck, should be trusted with the position. Mr. Foster has thoroughly proven his inability and incompetence during the last year. Ms. Maneck has equally demonstrated her dishonesty and lack of respect for the principles that undergird AOL--freedom of speech and conscience by referring on these Message Boards and elsewhere to people's "garbage" opinions and ideas. Her demagogic NO vote campaign against talk.religion.bahai speaks poorly of her commitment to the principles that a Forum Leader should adhere to not to mention those that anyone truly worthy of being consider a scholar ought to uphold.

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

Bahais such as Foster and Maneck have abused the positions of authority when given them. They have and would run the AOL Forums in the same dictatorial way that soc.religion.bahai has and is run. I do not care to pay $21.95 per month for more Bahai censorship of the 3 Issues. People need to understand that the frozen status quo is better than nothing to Bahai like Foster and Maneck.

I request all those people who agree to speak up and say something and support the Petition I have posted in the past and will repost now.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 6:40 PM

Subject: Re: Bahais on AOL (Re: Call for Manuscripts - - New Publisher)

A message of support from someone else on AOL and witness to Bahai tactics there:

Subject: PL: Plural voices in the wilderness

Date: 2/5/1999 2:18 PM Eastern Standard Time

From: Ruletherod

Message-id: <19990205141822.23348.00000014@ng142.aol.com>

>Fred,

>I have been here now for I think around three, maybe four weeks. I haven't seen anyone else raise the same issues at all. Are you a solitary voice crying out in the wilderness? I'm baffled by this. If there are others here who feel the same, why haven't they also raised their voice at least in the last month? --PL

PL,

Since last summer, I've often sung backup vocals for Fred's songs for freedom. I've always supported him in principle and still do. But the Baha'is think "I'm A Loser" when I do this because I can't hold a note like John Lennon. As Lennon said himself, "You wanna save humanity but it's people that you just can't stand."

Anyway, It's high time for a new beginning here for everyone, not just Fred.

I'm sure you'll understand this, PL.

PS--Sunni, you can come back now, if you haven't already. No hard feelings, okay? We need unity in true diversity here.

"Talk does not cook rice."

--Chinese proverb

"Every cloud engenders not a storm." --William Shakespeare

"All things excellent are as difficult as they are rare."

--Benedict Spinoza

"Be ashamed to die until you have won some victory for mankind."

--Horace Mann

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Friday, February 05, 1999 6:43 PM

Subject: Bahai revenge - censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship)

Meant to post this here on the first try. Sorry.

The Bahai Forum "Leader" who has just shown up after EIGHT MONTHS of doing nothing has returned to post a couple of vague messages and then to proceed to frame and drive me off AOL....

No matter what I post he's alleging TOSs against me. See below.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: TOS

Date: 2/5/1999 2:56:49 PM Eastern Standard Time

From: RBCF Mark

To: FG

Again, forwarded to TOS. You need to refrain from personal indictments and accusations.

Mark Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager

Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long absence.

I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais.

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list, I have little confidence in you.

Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: TOS
Date: 2/5/1999 2:39:38 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

And another one reported to TOS

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager

**-----
Subject: Re: 12/4/98 Message to Mark Foster
Date: 2/4/99 15:04 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204160430.27091.00000604@ng13.aol.com>

I certainly don't believe a word of it.

Is it now going to be your policy of placing bogus TOS violations against anyone with whom you or certain other Bahais disagree with?

Your claiming my other two messages as such is quite revealing, in my humble
opinion....

Am I allowed to have one? Is anyone?

Please state why you have ignored my repeated appeals during the last
SIX MONTHS....

Also, is it a violation to ask you to RESIGN
for dereliction of duty? I for one hope you still will and have no confidence in you whatsoever. Will you allege a TOS against me for saying so?

Please state your policy regarding the 3 ISSUES....

Will you be manipulating them to the benefit of certain kinds of Bahais?

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: TOS
Date: 2/5/1999 2:37:41 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Again forwarded for possible action.

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager

Subject: rbcfmark IS NOT ACCEPTING MAIL FROM THIS SENDER
Date: 2/4/99 15:13 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204161327.27091.00000612@ng13.aol.com>

That was ingenious.... Please consider my questions below.

Have experienced your censorship of Bahai-studies, I am not at all please that you have returned to run AOL's Bahai Forums:

Subj: Returned mail: User unknown
Date: 2/4/1999 4:05:15 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: MAILER-DAEMON@aol.com (Mail Delivery Subsystem)
To: FG@aol.com

The original message was received at Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:28 -0500 (EST)
from ngeout01.news.aol.com [152.163.176.244]

 ATTENTION *****

Your e-mail is being returned to you because there was a problem with its delivery. The AOL address which was undeliverable is listed in the section labeled: "----- The following addresses had permanent fatal errors -----".

The reason your mail is being returned to you is listed in the section labeled: "----- Transcript of Session Follows -----".

The line beginning with "<<<" describes the specific reason your e-mail could not be delivered. The next line contains a second error message which is a general translation for other e-mail servers.

Please direct further questions regarding this message to your e-mail administrator.

--AOL Postmaster

----- The following addresses had permanent fatal errors ----- <rbcfmark@aol.com>

----- Transcript of session follows -----
... while talking to air-zd05.mail.aol.com.:
>>> RCPT To:<rbcfmark@aol.com>
<<< 550 rbcfmark IS NOT ACCEPTING MAIL FROM THIS SENDER
550 <rbcfmark@aol.com>... User unknown

----- Original message follows -----

Return-Path: <FG@aol.com>
Received: from ngeout01.news.aol.com (ngeout01.news.aol.com [152.163.176.244])

by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)

with SMTP id QAA03084 for <rbcfmark@aol.com>;

Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:28 -0500 (EST)

Received: from ladder03.news.aol.com (ladder03.news-fddi.aol.com [172.16.30.98]) by ngeout01.news.aol.com (8.6.12/8.6.12) with ESMTP id
QAA29228 for <rbcfmark@aol.com>; Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:31 -0500

Date: 04 Feb 1999 16:04:30 EST

Newsgroups:

aol.boards.internal0.top-o-world.aol-department-level.associations-
specia.ba

hai.for-non-bahais1f6ff4

To: rbcfmark@aol.com

Organization: AOL <https://www.aol.com>

References: <19990204125012.00369.00001041@ng-ch1.aol.com>

From: FG@aol.com (FG)

Subject: Re: 12/4/98 Message to Mark Foster

Message-ID: <19990204160430.27091.00000603@ng13.aol.com>

I certainly don't believe a word of it.

Is it now going to be your policy of placing bogus TOS violations against anyone with whom you or certain other Bahais disagree with?

Your claiming my other two messages as such is quite revealing, in my humble
opinion....

Am I allowed to have one? Is anyone?

Please state why you have ignored my repeated appeals during the last SIX MONTHS....

Also, is it a violation to ask you to RESIGN
for dereliction of duty? I for one hope you still will and have no confidence in you whatsoever. Will you allege a TOS against me for saying so?

Please state your policy regarding the 3 ISSUES....

Will you be manipulating them to the benefit of certain kinds of Bahais?

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

----- Headers -----

Return-Path: <>

Received: from rly-yb04.mx.aol.com (rly-yb04.mail.aol.com [172.18.146.4])

by air-yb05.mail.aol.com (v56.24) with SMTP; Thu, 04 Feb 1999 16:05:15
-0500

Received: from aolmbr04.mail.aol.com (aolmbr04.mx.aol.com [198.81.17.132])

by rly-yb04.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
with ESMTP id QAA25221 for <FG@aol.com>;
Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:05:14 -0500 (EST)
Received: from rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (rly-zd03.mail.aol.com [172.31.33.227])
by aolmbr04.mail.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-2.0.0)
with ESMTP id QAA11049 for <FG@aol.com>;
Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:30 -0500 (EST)
Received: from localhost (localhost)
by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
with internal id QAA03090;
Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:34 -0500 (EST)
Date: Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:34 -0500 (EST)
From: Mail Delivery Subsystem <MAILER-DAEMON@aol.com>
Message-Id: <199902042104.QAA03090@rly-zd03.mx.aol.com>
To: <FG@aol.com>
Subject: Returned mail: User unknown
Auto-Submitted: auto-generated (failure)

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: (no subject)
Date: 2/5/1999 2:35:08 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

As in the two previous cases, I have reported your posting as a possible
TOS
violation. It is not my decision as to what is a TOS violation. Your postings are read and a decision is made (by them, not by me).

You again attack/criticize Susan Maneck and myself.

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Faith Forum Manager

Subject: To Steve Case
Date: 2/4/99 15:30 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204163020.27436.00000700@ng14.aol.com>

Dear Mr. Case,

I'm forwarding you the message below from the Bahai Forum Leader who just showed back up yesterday after being gone at least since early August, 1998, and apparently even for months prior to that.

He's suddenly alleging TOSs against me and apparently threatening others with them. I've been asking for months for him to RESIGN and believe the best thing for AOL members is for him to do so. He's a highly dictatorial personality as I have experienced him on a mailing list, Bahai-Studies, and should not even be allowed to run AOL's
Bahai Forums, which are definitely manipulated by fundamentalist
Bahais intent on silencing and suppressing others who do not toe
the party line....

Please, please do something NOW to help improve the Bahai Forums and prevent them from further abuse by Bahais. I suggest you search the Questions to Forum Leader and Annoucement Folders back to August to corroborate that I have repeatedly attempted to improve the manipulation of these Forums by Bahais.

Further, as a paying member, I ask you to fully investigate the motivations for placing these bogus TOSs on my account and remove them.

FG
FG@aol.com

**-----
Subj: TOS violation
Date: 2/4/1999 12:51:46 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Another TOS violation. Both of these have been reported to AOL.

Mark Foster
Baha'i Forum Manager

Subject: Why RBCF Mark Foster should resign
Date: 2/4/99 06:25 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990204072511.13073.00000518@ng38.aol.com>

Since early August 1998, I have repeatedly asked the Forum Leader Mark Foster to improve 3 issues:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais.

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

The long record of appeals can be found on Questions for the Forum Leader, Announcements, and For Non-Bahais. During this entire time, and apparently for months even prior to August, he has abandoned his duties and responsibilities as Forum Leader. That is why I emailed him personally on at least two occasions months ago and have repeatedly asked for his resignation in public on the Bahai Forums.

I once again ask Mark Foster to RESIGN and allow someone else become the Forum Leader. I do not believe that Mark Foster, nor Susan Maneck, should be trusted with the position. Mr. Foster has thoroughly proven his inability and incompetence during the last year. Ms. Maneck has equally demonstrated her dishonesty and lack of respect for the principles that undergird AOL--freedom of speech and conscience by referring on these Message Boards and elsewhere to people's "garbage" opinions and ideas. Her demagogic NO vote campaign against talk.religion.bahai speaks poorly of her commitment to the principles that a Forum Leader should adhere to not to mention those that anyone truly worthy of being consider a scholar ought to uphold.

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

Bahais such as Foster and Maneck have abused the positions of authority when given them. They have and would run the AOL Forums in the same dictatorial way that soc.religion.bahai has and is run. I do not care to pay $21.95 per month for more Bahai censorship of the 3 Issues. People need to understand that the frozen status quo is better than nothing to Bahai like Foster and Maneck.

I request all those people who agree to speak up and say something and support the Petition I have posted in the past and will repost now.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Saturday, February 06, 1999 7:28 AM
To: ShawnaT@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com; HostMgr@aol.com
Subject: Re: Receipt for Fwd: TOS violation

Dear ShawnaT

Sorry to have to bother you again. Please inform me to whom I should be writing. Be sure to include their email address so that I can reach them. The last message you told me more than a month ago you were forwarding to the proper person but no one has ever followed up on it which has forced me to write you again.

I'm cc the hostmgr in case he can help with my and other AOL members' concerns with the Bahai Forums.

Thank you for your patience and help.

FG
FG@aol.com

Subj: Bahai Forums - Why Susan Maneck should be made Message Board Manager
Date: 12/16/1998 7:12:29 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: FG
To: ShawnnaT
CC: FG

Shawnna T
Office of the Chairman

Dear Shawnna,

Thank you for acknowledging my message to Mr. Case. I appreciate your re-routing it to the appropriate person as AOL and I look forward to hearing from him or her.

Since my original message to you efforts by some Bahais to use the AOL forums to undermine the Usenet system of interest polling on talk.religion.bahai have only increased, especially by Susan Maneck. It's a very complicated situation with a long and tumultuous history on AOL.

I trust the person you're referring me to will have the patience and tenacity to help improve the Bahai Forums.

Respectfully,

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> Talk.religion.bahai voter ballot is on news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, alt.religion.bahai, or email the votetaker dave@dogwood.com requesting the "trb CFV."

Subj: Bahai Forums - Why Susan Maneck should be made Message Board Manager
Date: 12/15/1998 9:43:39 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Steve Case
To: FG

Dear FG,

I am responding to your letter on behalf of Steve Case. Thank you for taking the time to write to us.

We appreciate member feedback because it is the best way for us to know what we are doing right -- and what we could do better.

I have passed your comments to the appropriate person at America Online. Please feel free to write us again at any time.

Sincerely,

Shawnna T
Office of the Chairman

Dear Mr. Case:

The continuing serious negelect of the Bahai Forums would not be solved in the best interest of all AOL members by appointing Susan Maneck. My experience with her on a scholar mailing list h-bahai at the University of Michigan and her recent attacks on the creation of talk.religion.bahai on Usenet convince me that she would not be a fair arbiter. She has recently threatened to violate Usenet interest poll custom by calling for a NO vote against the proposed newsgroup talk.religion.bahai, which has been defeated in the past by a massive NO vote campaign mounted by other Bahais in a similar fashion: <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Towfiq.htm>

I hope you will help find a solution to prevent another such Bahai from having control over the free speech and conscience of AOL members.

Specifically she has continued to ignore my and others' concerns about 3 key areas. I've clipped them out of the REVISED PETITION:

alt.religion.bahai and any new future newsgroups on the Bahai Faith, such as talk.religion.bahai, should it pass, ought to be added to the list of available Newsgroups under Bahai

Libraries should finally function and accept all postings to them of any point of view uncensored by the Forum Leader.

Such web sites as FG's The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience should be added to Links <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> and any other link suggested by an AOL member ought to be automatically added to the list and not censored for religious reasons.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience: <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> Talk.religion.bahai voter ballot is on news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, alt.religion.bahai, or email the votetaker dave@dogwood.com requesting the "trb CFV."

-----Original Message-----

From: Fran Baker <fran@crhc.uiuc.edu>
To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>; fbaker@ncsa.uiuc.edu <fbaker@ncsa.uiuc.edu>; house@usq.edu.au <house@usq.edu.au>; johnwalker@ozemail.com.au <johnwalker@ozemail.com.au>; fran@amber.crhc.uiuc.edu <fran@amber.crhc.uiuc.edu>; smaneck@stetson.edu <smaneck@stetson.edu>; rdsteph@ibm.net <rdsteph@ibm.net>
Date: Monday, December 07, 1998 5:03 AM Subject: Re: [Fwd: talk.religion.bahai]

>Resending this to all due to a typo I made in Susan's email address.

>--Fran

>

>Fran Baker wrote:

>>

>> Sorry, Susan, but sometimes an appeal to courtesy is not appropriate.

>> I have to let my coproponents know what you are planning to do.

>> I can't believe you are letting a personality conflict resulting >> from a passionate disagreement color your judgment in what is >> essentially a human rights issue. You have crossed a line here.

>>

>> --Fran

>>

>> PS Who is rdsteph@ibm.net? Hi, whoever you are!
>>
>> -----
>>
>> Subject: talk.religion.bahai
>> Date: Mon, 7 Dec 1998 12:31:28 -0500
>> From: "Susan Maneck " <smaneck@stetson.edu>
>> To: rdsteph@ibm.net
>> CC: Fran Baker <fran@crhc.uiuc.edu>
>>
>> Dear Ron and Fran,
>>
>> I am seriously contemplating calling for a "no" vote on >> talk.religion.bahai. I wanted to contact you first and explain to you >> my rationale because I know this is something you have both >> worked hard for. In the past I have not participated in the votes at >> all. I wouldn't vote for it because I wanted nothing to do with a list >> promoted by Fred and I felt that there ought to be the requisite >> number of 150 truly interested individuals to form it. On the other >> hand, I would not vote now because I thought it wrong because I >> did not think that an unmoderated list should be opposed in >> principle. Now, however, I find the manner in which Fred is going >> about seeking to establish this list to be more than I can stomach >> and publicly calling for a "no" vote appears to be the only way to >> register the extent of our outrage against this kind of behaviour.
>> What I refer to specifically is the campaign of slander and calumny >> against not only the Institutions, but against myself and the Bahai >> Studies list. As you know, he accuses this list and me of >> censorship, which you yourself know is not true. He is also trying >> to prevent my managing the Baha'i Message Board of AOL for the >> same reason. He constantly spams that Board making any >> genuine discussions virtually impossible.
>>
>> I'm going to sit on this a couple of days and give myself a cooling >> off period before taking any action, but I've really had it "up to here" >> with this jerk.
>>
>> Please do me the courtesy of not forwarding this message to Fred >> (although you may convey my sentiments and my intentions). I do >> not care to see it up in his website tomorrow.
>>
>> warmest, Susan

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, February 06, 1999 9:32 AM
To: hostmgr@aol.com
Subject: Bahai revenge - LISTSERV attack (censorship on AOL (Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship))

Fanatic Bahais have subscribed me to several listservs, including yours, that are flooding my account with email. This is apparently being done by Bahais in conjunction with a simultaneously attempt to have me removed from AOL by Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster in retaliation for my role in helping to create an unmoderated forum on Usenet, talk.religion.bahai, which they opposed for more than two years.

If you are the listowner or can help, please remove my address from your list of subscribers.

FG@hotmail.com

owner-java-com@DISCUSS.MICROSOFT.COM
Java-COM@DISCUSS.MICROSOFT.COM

LINGUIST@LINGUIST.LDC.UPENN.EDU LISTSERV@LISTSERV.INDIANA.EDU
linguist@linguistlist.org

PENNSYLVANIA-ROOTS-L@LISTSERV.INDIANA.EDU owner-pennsylvania-roots-l@listserv.indiana.edu
DEEP-SOUTH-ROOTS-L@LISTSERV.INDIANA.EDU

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Monday, February 08, 1999 8:23 AM
To: RBCFMark@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com; HostMgr@aol.com
Subject: Re: reply

Subj: reply
Date: 2/7/1999 3:07:54 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

In a message dated 02/07/1999 08:23:55 Central Standard Time, FG writes:

> I do not believe it is a TOS. Bahais regularly on the AOL Forums accuse other Bahais of being covenant breakers or worse and treat non-Bahais in extremely negative ways. Are you calling those people to account? I highly doubt it.<

I haven't seen these things go on since I have been back. However, if it happens, I will have to consider whether I feel it falls under the guidelines.

Susan Maneck has referred to my beliefs and opinions as "garbage." Will you be supporting such denigrating, derisive statements on the Bahai Forums by Bahais you deem within the pale?

> I asked three questions. Your answers are quite ambiguous.
When will you recommend alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai be added to the main menu of the Bahai Forums?<

I make my report once a week. Next report that goes out.

Will you make your report public so that all people may see what you're actually submitting? As I have said, I have no confidence in you whatsoever and ask you to post all of your side of our correspondence in public on Questions to Forum Leader, where I originally posted mine.

> Your answer about the Libraries misses the point. They do not function now nor allow anyone to upload to them? When will they be corrected so that people of all opinions may post whatever they wish?<

Anyone can upload to the libraries. However, the forum manager must check all files for viruses and TOS violations before "releasing" them. I have never not released a file (at least not yet).

Are they presently working properly? The first and only message shown is dated January 1998. If there is a technical problem with the way I am uploading to them, please inform me so that I and other may immediately upload to them. Under what conditions would you refuse not to release a file? Will you be censoring the Libraries for content?

>You do not answer my third question: Will you add a link to my website the Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience to the Web Sites on the main Forum menu? Will you allow other people to add their links as well regardless of their views?<

I am not sure about that one. There are so many Baha'i websites. I have a few, and they are not listed either. Some decision needs to be made on how to handle it. For what it's worth, I would rather have a link to a central links page from which someone could access all sorts of Baha'i-focused sites.

I'm a paying member of AOL. I'm asking for MY link to be placed on the list of Web Sites. I oppose adding only "central links pages" as I believe that will be tantamount to another form of censorship whereby only literalists and party-liners will be added. I specifically asked you that ALL links be added regardless of their point of view on the Bahai Faith. Obviously, sites not related to the Bahai Faith would not be appropriate and it is reasonable to limit such links to the topic. Again, a "central page" would be off-site, i.e., off AOL and manipulated by Bahais. I once more ask that MY link be added to the list of Web Sites immediately.

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

> I asked you these questions in public under Question to Forum Leader. Please answer there in public so that others might know your policies as well.<

Feel free to post my responses to the forum, if you like.

I will post these exchanges there. In the future, please post them in the proper folder where I have posted and asked you the questions--Questions to Forum Leader. Please do not change to private email. I believe these are questions that broadly affect the Bahai Forums on AOL and should be discussed in public where other AOL members may contribute and follow along.

Mark Foster,
Baha'i Forum Manager

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 08, 1999 8:33 PM
Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

One of the problems with Bahais is their inability to recognize sarcasm when they read it.... Not to mention no sense of humor. My intent was to emphasize the absurdity of Mark Foster's axing people left and right.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Smaneck wrote in message <19990207124845.06674.00001304@ng-cg1.aol.com>...

>Fred has been forwarding Ruletherod's messages here in an attempt to suggest >that there are others on the AOL Message Board that share his obsessions.

With

>Rule's permission I thought I would forward his latest post here:

>

>Subject: Fred's request for TOS

>Date: 2/7/99 2:16 AM Eastern Standard Time

>From: Ruletherod

>Message-id: <19990207021602.29402.00000796@ng39.aol.com>

>

>>Both participants below, under the returned Forum Leader's approach, should be >charged with a TOS for OFF-TOPIC discussion. Nothing they say clearly relates >to "For Non-Baha'is" only or the Bahai Faith:

>

>Rule & Sunni

>

>

>--Fred Glaysher

>

>Thanks Fred. I would never have requested this about you, no matter what >might

>you have to say.

>

>Everything Sunni and I have said has to do with this folder--directly or >indirectly--even when we don't mention the words "non-Baha'i" or "Baha'i"

in >our postings. The fact that I'm even posting here with Baha'is in my >self-proclaimed status as a "non-Baha'i" gives me a ticket to ride.

>

>Anyway, that's what I think. You do still support my free speech rights, do

>you >not? If not, are you willing to give up yours also?

>

>Do you always cut off your friends once they put away their explosives? I told >you that I'm not keen on board politics. You are taking this personally.

>--Rule

>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

> Susan Stiles Maneck
> History, Stetson University

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 08, 1999 8:33 PM
To: ruletherod@aol.com
Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

One of the problems with Bahais is their inability to recognize sarcasm when they read it.... Not to mention no sense of humor. My intent was to emphasize the absurdity of Mark Foster's axing people left and right.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Smaneck wrote in message <19990207124845.06674.00001304@ng-cg1.aol.com>...
> Fred has been forwarding Ruletherod's messages here in an attempt to suggest > that there are others on the AOL Message Board that share his obsessions.
With
> Rule's permission I thought I would forward his latest post here:
>
> Subject: Fred's request for TOS
> Date: 2/7/99 2:16 AM Eastern Standard Time
> From: Ruletherod
> Message-id: <19990207021602.29402.00000796@ng39.aol.com>
>
>> Both participants below, under the returned Forum Leader's approach, should be > charged with a TOS for OFF-TOPIC discussion. Nothing they say clearly relates > to "For Non-Baha'is" only or the Bahai Faith:
>
> Rule & Sunni
>
>
> --Fred Glaysher
>
> Thanks Fred. I would never have requested this about you, no matter what might > you have to say.
>
> Everything Sunni and I have said has to do with this folder--directly or > indirectly--even when we don't mention the words "non-Baha'i" or

"Baha'i"

in

>our postings. The fact that I'm even posting here with Baha'is in my >self-proclaimed status as a "non-Baha'i" gives me a ticket to ride.

>

>Anyway, that's what I think. You do still support my free speech rights, do

you

>not? If not, are you willing to give up yours also?

>

>Do you always cut off your friends once they put away their explosives? I told

>you that I'm not keen on board politics. You are taking this personally.

>--Rule

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>Susan Stiles Maneck

>History, Stetson University

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Monday, February 08, 1999 9:41 PM

Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

The 3 Issues have become 2 since Mark Foster the Bahai Forum Leader has suddenly repaired the upload feature though he doesn't have the tools to do so and the Libraries have been out of commission since January
of 1998....

- 1. Add alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai to the list on the main menu with soc.religoin.bahai
- 2. Add my website link to the Web Sites along with any that anyone of any point of view wishes to place there.

Mark's a great guy. We owe him so much already. I guess there is a chance AOL might not have to kick him out as it did with the last Bahai who was "Forum Leader," someone named Vahid who was given to accusing people of being covenant breakers left and right.... Also, Mark has said he won't censor uploads on the basis of content. So I guess it's all sweetness and light now that my uploads from August 1998 have just appeared on AOL!

I wonder how long it will take for my uploads tonight to appear:
The Service of Women, A Modest Proposal, Crisis of Faith, and my exchanges with the BCCA pleading with them to restrain the fundamentalists on Bahai-Discuss during the 2nd interest poll for talk.religion.bahai.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: hmoghadd@bu.edu[SMTP:hmoghadd@bu.edu]
Sent: Tuesday, February 09, 1999 2:42 PM
To: FG
Subject: Re: Bahai Revenge on AOL (Re: Call for Manuscripts - - New Publisher)

In article <79frs$287o@news3.newsguy.com> you wrote:

: The Bahai Forum "Leader" who has just shown
: up after EIGHT MONTHS of doing nothing has : returned to post a couple of vague messages and
: then to proceed to frame and drive me off AOL....

: No matter what I post he's alleging TOSs against me.
: See below.

: FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
: <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
: alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

: Subj: TOS
: Date: 2/5/1999 2:56:49 PM Eastern Standard Time
: From: RBCF Mark
: To: FG

: Again, forwarded to TOS. You need to refrain from personal indictments
and
: accusations.

: Mark Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager
: -----

: Dear Mr. Mark Foster:

: You appear to have returned from your more than 8 MONTH long
: absence.

: I'm concerned with the correction of primarily 3 ISSUES:

: alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to Newsgroups
: on the main Bahai Forum Menu

: Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and
: uncensored by Bahais.

: My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
: added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
: <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

: Will you be helping to improve the AOL Bahai Forums for the
: fair and open use of all AOL members? I ask this question
: because of the Bahai FANATICISM that has overwhelmingly
: been demonstrated on soc.religion.bahai during the last two

: years of opposition to talk.religion.bahai, which has just
: been recently created on Usenet. I am concerned that you
: may actually represent a narrowly fundamentalist contingent
: here on AOL as well. Having witnessed the way you censored
: people a year and a half ago on your Bahai-Studies mailing list,
: I have little confidence in you.

: Please reassure all of us otherwise and state your policies.

: FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
: <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
: alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

: Subj: TOS
: Date: 2/5/1999 2:39:38 PM Eastern Standard Time
: From: RBCF Mark
: To: FG

: And another one reported to TOS

: Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager
: -----
: Subject: Re: 12/4/98 Message to Mark Foster
: Date: 2/4/99 15:04 Central Standard Time
: From: FG
: Message-id: <19990204160430.27091.00000604@ng13.aol.com>

: I certainly don't believe a word of it.

: Is it now going to be your policy of placing bogus TOS violations against
: anyone with whom you or certain other Bahais disagree with?

: Your claiming my other two messages as such is quite revealing, in my humble
: opinion....

: Am I allowed to have one? Is anyone?

: Please state why you have ignored my repeated appeals during the last
SIX
: MONTHS....

: Also, is it a violation to ask you to RESIGN
: for dereliction of duty? I for one hope you still will and have no
: confidence in you whatsoever. Will you allege a TOS against me for saying
: so?

: Please state your policy regarding the 3 ISSUES....

: Will you be manipulating them to the benefit of certain kinds of Bahais?

: FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
: <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
: alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

: Subj: TOS
: Date: 2/5/1999 2:37:41 PM Eastern Standard Time
: From: RBCF Mark
: To: FG

: Again forwarded for possible action.

: Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager
: -----
: Subject: rbcfmark IS NOT ACCEPTING MAIL FROM THIS SENDER
: Date: 2/4/99 15:13 Central Standard Time
: From: FG
: Message-id: <19990204161327.27091.00000612@ng13.aol.com>

: That was ingenious.... Please consider my questions below.

: Have experienced your censorship of Bahai-studies, I am not
: at all please that you have returned to run AOL's Bahai Forums:

: Subj: Returned mail: User unknown
: Date: 2/4/1999 4:05:15 PM Eastern Standard Time
: From: MAILER-DAEMON@aol.com (Mail Delivery Subsystem)
: To: FG@aol.com

: The original message was received at Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:28 -0500
(EST)
: from ngeout01.news.aol.com [152.163.176.244]

: * ATTENTION *****

: Your e-mail is being returned to you because there was a problem with its : delivery. The AOL address which was undeliverable is listed in the : section
: labeled: "----- The following addresses had permanent fatal errors -----".

: The reason your mail is being returned to you is listed in the section
: labeled: "----- Transcript of Session Follows -----".

: The line beginning with "<<<" describes the specific reason your e-mail
: could
: not be delivered. The next line contains a second error message which is
a
: general translation for other e-mail servers.

: Please direct further questions regarding this message to your e-mail
: administrator.

: --AOL Postmaster

: ----- The following addresses had permanent fatal errors -----
: <rbcfmark@aol.com>

: ----- Transcript of session follows -----
: ... while talking to air-zd05.mail.aol.com.:
: >>> RCPT To:<rbcfmark@aol.com>
: <<< 550 rbcfmark IS NOT ACCEPTING MAIL FROM THIS SENDER
: 550 <rbcfmark@aol.com>... User unknown

: ----- Original message follows -----

: Return-Path: <FG@aol.com>
: Received: from ngeout01.news.aol.com (ngeout01.news.aol.com
: [152.163.176.244])
: by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
: with SMTP id QAA03084 for <rbcfmark@aol.com>;
: Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:28 -0500 (EST)
: Received: from ladder03.news.aol.com (ladder03.news-fddi.aol.com
: [172.16.30.98]) by ngeout01.news.aol.com (8.6.12/8.6.12) with ESMTP
: id
: QAA29228 for <rbcfmark@aol.com>; Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:31 -0500
: Date: 04 Feb 1999 16:04:30 EST
: Newsgroups:
: aol.boards.internal0.top-o-world.aol-department-level.associations-
: specia.ba
: hai.for-non-bahais1f6ff4
: To: rbcfmark@aol.com
: Organization: AOL <https://www.aol.com>
: References: <19990204125012.00369.00001041@ng-ch1.aol.com>
: From: FG@aol.com (FG)
: Subject: Re: 12/4/98 Message to Mark Foster
: Message-ID: <19990204160430.27091.00000603@ng13.aol.com>

: I certainly don't believe a word of it.

: Is it now going to be your policy of placing bogus TOS violations against
: anyone with whom you or certain other Bahais disagree with?

: Your claiming my other two messages as such is quite revealing, in my : humble
: opinion....

: Am I allowed to have one? Is anyone?

: Please state why you have ignored my repeated appeals during the last
: SIX
: MONTHS....

: Also, is it a violation to ask you to RESIGN
: for dereliction of duty? I for one hope you still will and have no
: confidence in you whatsoever. Will you allege a TOS against me for : saying
: so?

: Please state your policy regarding the 3 ISSUES....

: Will you be manipulating them to the benefit of certain kinds of Bahais?

: FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
: <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

: alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

: ----- Headers -----

: Return-Path: <>
: Received: from rly-yb04.mx.aol.com (rly-yb04.mail.aol.com [172.18.146.4])
: by air-yb05.mail.aol.com (v56.24) with SMTP; Thu, 04 Feb 1999 16:05:15
-0500
: Received: from aolmbr04.mail.aol.com (aolmbr04.mx.aol.com [198.81.17.132])
: by rly-yb04.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
: with ESMTP id QAA25221 for <FG@aol.com>;
: Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:05:14 -0500 (EST)
: Received: from rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (rly-zd03.mail.aol.com [172.31.33.227])
: by aolmbr04.mail.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-2.0.0)
: with ESMTP id QAA11049 for <FG@aol.com>;
: Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:30 -0500 (EST)
: Received: from localhost (localhost)
: by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
: with internal id QAA03090;
: Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:34 -0500 (EST)
: Date: Thu, 4 Feb 1999 16:04:34 -0500 (EST)
: From: Mail Delivery Subsystem <MAILER-DAEMON@aol.com>
: Message-Id: <199902042104.QAA03090@rly-zd03.mx.aol.com>
: To: <FG@aol.com>
: Subject: Returned mail: User unknown
: Auto-Submitted: auto-generated (failure)

: FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
: <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
: alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

: Subj: (no subject)
: Date: 2/5/1999 2:35:08 PM Eastern Standard Time
: From: RBCF Mark
: To: FG

: As in the two previous cases, I have reported your posting as a possible
TOS
: violation. It is not my decision as to what is a TOS violation. Your
: postings are read and a decision is made (by them, not by me).

: You again attack/criticize Susan Maneck and myself.

: Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Faith Forum Manager
: -----
: Subject: To Steve Case
: Date: 2/4/99 15:30 Central Standard Time
: From: FG
: Message-id: <19990204163020.27436.00000700@ng14.aol.com>

: Dear Mr. Case,

: I'm forwarding you the message below from the Bahai Forum Leader
: who just showed back up yesterday after being gone at least since
: early August, 1998, and apparently even for months prior to that.

: He's suddenly alleging TOSs against me and apparently threatening
: others with them. I've been asking for months for him to RESIGN and
: believe the best thing for AOL members is for him to do so. He's a
: highly dictatorial personality as I have experienced him on a mailing
: list, Bahai-Studies, and should not even be allowed to run AOL's
: Bahai Forums, which are definitely manipulated by fundamentalist
: Bahais intent on silencing and suppressing others who do not toe
: the party line....

: Please, please do something NOW to help improve the Bahai Forums
: and prevent them from further abuse by Bahais. I suggest you search
: the Questions to Forum Leader and Annoucement Folders back to : August to corroborate that I have repeatedly attempted to improve the : manipulation of these Forums by Bahais.

: Further, as a paying member, I ask you to fully investigate the motivations
: for placing these bogus TOSs on my account and remove them.

: FG
: FG@aol.com

**: -----
: Subj: TOS violation
: Date: 2/4/1999 12:51:46 PM Eastern Standard Time
: From: RBCF Mark
: To: FG

: Another TOS violation. Both of these have been reported to AOL.

: Mark Foster
: Baha'i Forum Manager

: Subject: Why RBCF Mark Foster should resign
: Date: 2/4/99 06:25 Central Standard Time
: From: FG
: Message-id: <19990204072511.13073.00000518@ng38.aol.com>

: Since early August 1998, I have repeatedly asked
: the Forum Leader Mark Foster to improve 3 issues:

: alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai added to Newsgroups
: on the main Bahai Forum Menu

: Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and
: uncensored by Bahais.

: My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
: added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
: <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

: The long record of appeals can be found on Questions for
: the Forum Leader, Announcements, and For Non-Bahais.
: During this entire time, and apparently for months even
: prior to August, he has abandoned his duties and
: responsibilities as Forum Leader. That is why I emailed him
: personally on at least two occasions months ago and have

: repeatedly asked for his resignation in public on the Bahai
: Forums.

: I once again ask Mark Foster to RESIGN and allow
: someone else become the Forum Leader. I do not believe
: that Mark Foster, nor Susan Maneck, should be trusted
: with the position. Mr. Foster has thoroughly proven his
: inability and incompetence during the last year. Ms. Maneck
: has equally demonstrated her dishonesty and lack of respect
: for the principles that undergird AOL--freedom of speech and
: conscience by referring on these Message Boards and
: elsewhere to people's "garbage" opinions and ideas. Her
: demagogic NO vote campaign against talk.religion.bahai
: speaks poorly of her commitment to the principles that a
: Forum Leader should adhere to not to mention those that
: anyone truly worthy of being consider a scholar ought to
: uphold.

: <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

: Bahais such as Foster and Maneck have abused the : positions of authority when given them. They have and : would run the AOL Forums in the same dictatorial way
: that soc.religion.bahai has and is run. I do not care to : pay $21.95 per month for more Bahai censorship of the
: 3 Issues. People need to understand that the frozen
: status quo is better than nothing to Bahai like Foster and : Maneck.

: I request all those people who agree to speak up and say : something and support the Petition I have posted in the : past and will repost now.

: FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
: <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
: alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

: FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
: <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
: alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

--

Hajir Moghaddam
hmoghadd@acs.bu.edu
<https://acs.bu.edu:8001/~hmoghadd/>
&
check out the Boston University Baha'i Club Home Page <https://acs.bu.edu:8001/~bahai/>

**-----
From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Wednesday, February 10, 1999 10:25 AM
Subject: Re: An apology to Fred

Smaneck wrote in message <19990209140159.01038.00000263@ng-cg1.aol.com>...

>It appears I may owe Fred an apology.

I do not consider an apology from Ms. Maneck of any value.... She has repeatedly demonstrated she has no integrity and is readily willing to sink to slander and demagoguery to further her fundamentalist aims. She repeatedly betrayed the academic standards of discourse she purports to respect, when it suited her designs, by referring to my opinions as "garbage" and is now bent on concealing the evidence:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

All this deceit clearly flows, I suppose, from her interpretation of Bahai "hikmat."

<https://ccwf.cc.utexas.edu/~saf/bahai/docs/hikmat.html>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, February 12, 1999 9:16 AM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Libraries NOW FUNCTIONING

<HTML>What Wendy is not revealing here is her attempt to coerce and manipulate me through "private" email.... A common Bahai tactic.... This is what she's seeking to conceal....

Bahai censorship:

>Subject: Re: Libraries NOW FUNCTIONING
>Date: 2/10/1999 2:51 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: WScott1995
>Message-id: <19990210145141.04394.00000030@ng-fx1.aol.com>
>
>Mark,
>
>>>As to your site, I made a request of you that you provide evidence that >the people you quote from (some of whom have indicated on this forum that >they wish to be removed from your site) have given you their permission to be >quoted.
>
>I'm not sure who you're talking about here, but Fred put a private email of >mine on his website without my permission. Since there didn't seem to be >point in asking him to remove it since he probably wouldn't listen to me >anyway, I didn't. But I resent this action on his part and consider it >unethical in the extreme. I don't see why his site should be on the AOL list

>when there are Baha'i sites that are >much more productive of what the Faith is really about that aren't on the AOL
>list.

 $\succ$

>

 $\succ$

>

>

 ∇

✓

✓

✓

✓

✓✓

1

11

11

11

✓

✓

V

V

✓

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

 $\succ$ $\succ$ $\succ$ $\succ$

>

 ∇

✓

✓

✓

✓

✓

1

</HTML>

Subject: The Maneck Technique

Juan Cole, February 13, 1999:

"It is a very, very, very weird religion. And if anyone is reading Susan Maneck's absolutely bone-chilling screeds on the desirability of Heresy Trials and carefulness in Shunning, they are seeing what it is like at the core of the religion."

"I really am sorry for them and her, since they seem sort of filled with hate and quite paranoid, yet say they are preaching love, unity and tolerance. Susan will say, 'may your abdomen be split by lightning and your guts fall out you filthy heretic whom I wish I could just have shunned and buried', and then she'll sign herself "warmest" and slander a university by adding it to her sig line. As if what she is about has anything at all to do with universities!"

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 9:08 AM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>Date: 2/14/1999 1:02 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Smaneck
>Message-id: <19990214130206.20954.00002224@ng-fi1.aol.com>
>
>Christine asks:
>
>>Dearest Mr. Foster,
>>Who are you?
>>What is your authority?
>
>If I can answer for Dr. Foster. He is a professor of sociology at Johnson >City Community College. He is hired by the head of the spirituality forums
to >manage the Baha'i forum. Dr. Foster is a Baha'i. The leaders of each forum >typically belong to the religion in question since the forums are designed
to >support each religion.

He's paid MONEY for what he's doing!!!

**>
>>Isn't this a Non-Baha'i board? Shouldn't a Non-bahi be in charge?
>
>Christine, we've been through this before.

Her point should not be brushed aside. It's a valid question, one I support. Two previous Bahais have demonstrated they could not be fair Forum Leaders and were dismissed by AOL. Speaking as a Bahai, I believe Foster has already shown he is not playing fairly....

This is a non-Baha'i folder on the >Baha'i Board. It is not a non-Baha'i Board. As such it is still bound by >the TOS rules for spirituality forums which I placed up before. Folders do >not have separate people in charge. The description of the folder is >misleading and we have not been able to get that changed as yet. But >rules still apply regardless of how the folder is described.

TOS
>
>
>warmest,
>
>Susan Maneck

What is the name and address of the Spiritual ity Forum Leader who has hired Mark Foster?

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 9:17 AM
To: chrrrstine@aol.com; FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Christine - TOS problems

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Christine - TOS
problems
>Date: 2/15/1999 4:10 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Chrrrstine
>Message-id: <19990215041017.20966.00003093@ng-fi1.aol.com>
>
>Sunni, You Wrote,
>>Christine
>>
>>If you sincerely feel that Baha'is are violating AOL TOS then you should >>report them. AOL will make the decision if it is truly a violation or not.
>
>>
>>You don't have to sit back and wait for someone else to do it if you think
>it >>should be done. Just got to keyword: notify AOL and follow the >instructions.
>>
>>Sunni
>>
>Sunni, A lot of Baha'is know about the double standard. It happened on a >Crowded day. I Do not believe in TOSing people (Unless threatened) or >ignoring people. I am confident to stand on my ability to defend my beliefs.
>I wish only to be treated fairly by the online Baha'i community. Although >am slowly realizing that Fairness on this forum is impossible.
I
>Love,
>Christine

You're quite right.... Bahais are not playing fairly here and are abusing the TOS system.

You can write the hostmgr@aol.com and TOSBoards1@aol.com about this fact if you like. I urge others concerned about the manner in which Mark Foster is hitting people with false TOSs to make their views known to AOL.

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 9:42 AM
To: mrmahdi@aol.com; FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer
>Date: 2/15/1999 4:51 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Mr Mahdi
>Message-id: <19990215165123.11988.00002094@ng103.aol.com>
>
>Too bad you and Mark were the only ones that saw the post before yours truly >yanked them off the third time. 3 of my post were yanked off, and I am being >seriuos this time, I found my posts as one of most "mild" posts I writen.
>The post you just read was yanked because it didnt fit a post that belonged >to a "support" forum. Oh well, like your posts are supporting and praising >mines. I see the typical double-standard >going on here.
>Mahdi

AOL does provide for a system of TOS appeal. Write TOSBoards1@aol.com regarding the double standards that are now being used to drive people off these Boards. The hostmgr@aol.com should hear your views.

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 9:52 AM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the
slammer
>Date: 2/15/1999 6:38 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Mr Mahdi
>Message-id: <19990215183807.27160.00002246@ng35.aol.com>
>
>>It is not a double standard, Mahdi. It is a recognition that this is the >>Baha'i Forum. There is also an Islamic forum. If I went to that forum
and >>attempted to promote the Baha'i Faith or its Teachings as preferable, >better,
>>or (whatever term you choose), that would be TOSable, as well.
>
>This time I was responding to Susan calling me a joke and Wendy's use

of >racism in the chats to tick me off. I wasn't in this post unfortunately >trying to invite people to Islam. But it is very clear that you allow bahais >to talk about non bahais in a bad way like Mike talking about gays and Wendy >talking about indoor plumbing, but when I respond to these comments I get >blacklisted. I want you to repost the posts you yanked off and let the >people
>here decide if a transgressed the limits of "TOS."
>Mahdi

Mahdi makes a valid point here. Wendy and other people of opinions other than those that could be characterized as liberal are allowed to say and do what they wish.... There is a double standard.

</HTML>

<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]

Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 10:02 AM

To: FG@hotmail.com

Subject: Re: Regarding the Threads

<HTML>This is then the root of problem. There should be another Forum Leader or a second one to counterbalance this one.... It's obvious given AOL having to fire Vahid and Edmund that this structure does not work right for the Bahai Forums. Changing the personality makes no difference....

>Subject: Re: Regarding the Threads

>Date: 2/16/1999 6:47 AM Eastern Standard Time

>From: RBCF Mark

>Message-id: <19990216064731.29402.00001406@ng-ch1.aol.com>

>

>PL, the decision is made only by myself, as forum manager.

>

>Sincerely, Mark A. Foster

>Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager

><https://www.markfoster.net>

><https://markfoster.org>

><https://bahai.nu>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

</HTML>

<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 10:57 AM
To: Nadle@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?

He's been doing the same thing to me and several other people who don't share the fundamentalist mindset. I've spoken with an AOL person regarding the whole situation. We can appeal the false TOSs by writing the TOSBoard1@aol.com and hostmgr@aol.com.

I've just forwarded a dozen or more messages from various people complaining now in For Non-Bahais to the above addresses and suggest you write them as soon as you can so that they hear from someone else. You know the literalists have and will make me out to be a lone kook otherwise. I

Encourage others to do the same. AOL woke up in the past and got ride of Vahid and Edmund, former "Forum Leaders."

We can depend on them to do the right thing with Mark Foster too but have to be patient and make the extra effort to inform them what he's really doing now on AOL.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
Date: 2/18/1999 9:26:24 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)
To: FG@aol.com

Fred,

I'm getting really ticked off with Mark's censorship.

I was wrong and you, it turns out, have been right.

I wasnt to send a complaint to AOL about Mark. He's pulled several of my posts and forwarded them to TOS. TOS, however, have blown him off.

When I repost those deleted posts, he yanks them again, and forwards them - yet again - to TOS.

What do I do?

Thank you for the information.

Sincerely,
Larry Rhodes

----- Headers -----
Return-Path: <nadle@aol.com>
Received: from rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (rly-zd03.mail.aol.com [172.31.33.227]) by air-zd03.mail.aol.com (v56.26) with SMTP; Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:23

-0500

Received: from ngeout01.news.aol.com (ngeout01.news.aol.com [152.163.176.244])

by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)

with SMTP id JAA07001 for <FG@aol.com>;

Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:20 -0500 (EST)

Received: from ladder01.news.aol.com (ladder01.news-fddi.aol.com [172.16.30.168]) by ngeout01.news.aol.com (8.6.12/8.6.12) with ESMTP id

JAA29829 for <FG@aol.com>; Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:23 -0500

Date: 18 Feb 1999 09:26:22 EST

Newsgroups: aol.boards.internal0.top-o-world.aol-department-level.associations-specia.bahai.for-non-bahais1f6ff4

To: FG@aol.com

Organization: AOL <https://www.aol.com>

References: <19990218080242.27436.00000677@ng90.aol.com>

From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)

Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?

Message-ID: <19990218092622.27682.00003216@ng97.aol.com>

From: Smaneck[SMTP:smaneck@aol.com]

Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 3:17 PM

To: FG@hotmail.com

Subject: Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

Fred writes:

>I highly doubt the veracity of the >claim that he was so sick.

What do you need Fred, a doctors excuse?

>Regardless, I repeatedly emailed >directly to him and requested that he resign, a request he's >always ignored.

The nerve of Mark! When Fred issues a demand like that Mark should comply immediately.

>Ms. Maneck herself referred to my opinions on AOL a number >of times as "garbage."

And nobody else would ever characterize the litter you spam these lists
with in that manner.

Susan Stiles Maneck
History, Stetson University

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]

Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 4:23 PM

To: MrMahdi@aol.com

Cc: FG@hotmail.com

Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer

Sure. Send them to me and I'll post them to talk.religion.bahai too if it's okay with you.

I'm assuming you just received my post asking people to write to the hostmgr@aol.com and complain about Foster hitting everyone with false TOSs. It's possible to remove, and I for one believe it should be done....

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 9:12 AM
To: ccrawfeild@aol.com; FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Christine - TOS problems

<HTML>>Zaynab,
>Please do not refer to me as a enemy of the Baha'i. I have never said that.
>If you do so again, please state it as your opinion.

Why isn't Mark Foster hitting Zaynab with a TOS, if he's a fair player?

>2 As I stated in my censored post. I have not used profanity, on the chat >boards.(other than one letter followed by * after a two hour barrage of >accusations) I have never been TOSed for doing that. I have witnessed
Baha'i
>use The F-word and not get TOSed. I asked the many baha'i in the room if they >TOSed the comment and They did not reply. So maybe this is an assumption. But >in my opinion You should be more tolerant of differing views on this >board. It would make for more lively chat, and it would also show seekers
>that you could withstand the tough questions that the "world" religions (of >which you want to be considered) Have to face every single day all over
the >world.
>I feel this board and the people in the chat rooms are looking at every move
>I make with a micro- scope, just waiting for me to violate TOS and report me.
>I guess that is to be exeted, fine, you have the rules on your side, but if >you do not hold other people up to the same standards that you hold me up to, >then it seems obvious it is because I like to let seekers know that Woman
are >banned from the Universal House Of Justice. (personally, I think if >I didn't bring that up you would treat me a lot better) I hope every one who >has tried to TOS me will ask themselves "Would I have TOSed Christine If she >hadn't had said those comments against my faith?" If the answer is no, then I >would like an apology.
>
>Love,
>Christine.

Bahais are abusing AOL's TOS system to control and drive dissidents away-
-it's obvious....

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 9:18 AM
To: chrirstine@aol.com; FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Christine - TOS problems

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Christine - TOS
problems
>Date: 2/15/1999 4:17 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Chrirstine
>Message-id: <19990215041728.20966.00003094@ng-fi1.aol.com>
>
>Parbelly wrote,
>> I guess it depends on who people will believe right Christine?
>
>No, it matters what the truth is.
>When I sat TOSed I mean a Baha'i gloating he sent off a letter to AOL. Or
I >got a (no subject) letter from Mark Foster> AOL has only sent me one warning
>letter. I got that letter about 1/2 an hour after logging to the Beliefs >Baha'i chat room for the first time. I had a cuss word in My profile and I >Got TOSed for it.
>Love,
>Christine

Speaking as Bahai, this is all what is known as "Bahai love."

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 9:38 AM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Christine - TOS problems

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Christine - TOS
problems
>Date: 2/15/1999 6:28 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: RobJ95
>Message-id: <19990215062845.11647.00001368@ng-fy1.aol.com>
>
>Christine:
>
> Regardless of your feelings about the Baha'i Faith, or whether you agree
or >disagree with its goals or teachings, I can assure you that if you violate >TOS, I would unhesitatingly report you.

What's happening here is Bahais are abusing and often falsely accusing people of TOSs, often employing double standards in the process.

I've done so in the past with various >people, and I will continue to do so in the future.

I don't doubt it for a moment. I encourage others who have been the victims of this kind of abuse from Bahais to begin reporting them for every little slip or infraction now to the TOSGeneral.

I've even TOSed

- >individuals who have been positively inclined toward the Faith, but who
- >insist on behaving improperly in the Bahá'í chat rooms; I offer no apologies
- >for
- >this action; it is what every good online citizen should do, and what AOL
- >requests that we do.
- > Would I be more inclined to do so with you than with someone I'm on
- >friendlier terms with? I'd probably have to say yes, since you go out of
- >your way to be an irritant in the chat rooms; that's just human nature,
- >flawed as it is.

Quite revealing above about the approach Bahais have to the TOS system....

Just because we Bahá'ís try to lead loving and tolerant >lives doesn't mean we should allow ourselves to be treated like doormats.

Speaking as a Bahai of more than 22 years,
I believe Bahais are anything but tolerant....

- >Only God's patience is boundless.
- > In the final analysis, Christine, if you behave in an appropriate manner,
- no
- >one will have good reason to TOS you; if someone should TOS you
- without
- >cause, AOL will determine that such is the case; either way, you would
- have
- >nothing to worry about.
- > If I were you, I'd carefully and dispassionately examine why so many
- people
- >seem intent on TOSing you, and see if there wasn't something I could do
- to
- >change my behavior so as to avoid being TOSed in the first place.

I.e., you should submit to Bahai coercion....

Otherwise,

- >if you are so concerned and distressed about (the possibility of) getting
- >TOSed in the Bahá'í chat rooms and message boards, one sure remedy
- would be
- >for you to stay out of them altogether.

Exactly the goal Bahais have here and elsewhere--DRIVE out those who have the temerity to express any opinion other than their own. See

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

- > Ultimately, it is up to you. Be assured of my prayers in your behalf.
- >
- >Sincerely, Rob.

</HTML>

<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards
</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 9:39 AM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer

<HTML>Please read carefully The Baha'i Technique and reflect on how it's applicable here to the way the TOS system is being abused by Bahais:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer
>Date: 2/15/1999 1:46 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Smaneck
>Message-id: <19990215134627.19984.00002108@ng-cg1.aol.com>
>
>Mahdi writes:
>
>> I was expressing myself like I do always in these excellent posts.
>
>I think Mahdi should get the nomination for best joke of the day!
>
>> I mentioned my treatment by two very well known people here, let just say
>>Mrs. W and Mrs./PhD S.
>
>You mean li'l ole me, Mahdi? You must be referring to the fact that whenever >you insist on harrassing me with unwanted and unwelcome IMs I keep notifying
>AOL. I hope you have lots of credit cards, you'll need them!
>
>
>warmest,
>
>Susan Maneck
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

```
</HTML>
<HTML><FONT SIZE=3 PTSize=10><BR>
FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:<BR>
https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm On talk.religion.bahai.com,<BR> alt.religion.bahai.com, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards<BR>
</HTML>
```

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 9:44 AM

To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer

>Date: 2/15/1999 5:11 PM Eastern Standard Time

>From: RBCF Mark

>Message-id: <19990215171109.02876.00000852@ng-ch1.aol.com>

>

>It is not a double standard, Mahdi. It is a recognition that this is the >Baha'i Forum. There is also an Islamic forum. If I went to that forum and >attempted to promote the Baha'i Faith or its Teachings as preferable, better,
>or (whatever term you choose), that would be TOSable, as well.

There is a double standard in my opinion. Bahais don't want to hear anything from Muslims and really dispise them.

>

>Sincerely, Mark A. Foster

>Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager

><https://www.markfoster.net>

><https://markfoster.org>

><https://bahai.nu>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

</HTML>

<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]

Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 9:49 AM

To: FG@hotmail.com

Subject: Re: Please Read!!!

<HTML>>Subject: Please Read!!!

>Date: 2/15/1999 5:26 PM Eastern Standard Time

>From: RBCF Mark

>Message-id: <19990215172653.02876.00000868@ng-ch1.aol.com>

>

>Folks,

>

>I am honestly getting tired of sending so many posts along to CAT
(Community

>Action Team -- the folks who handle TOS reports). However, I am required to >do so, as a part of my volunteer position in this forum. But it is getting >old rather quickly.

>

>May I make a personal plea that we please treat each other with the human >dignity that each of us deserve?

What about Bahais, Mark? Are they going to respect others' opinions? After over 22 years in the Bahai Faith, I would find it to be a first....

It doesn't matter whether we agree with >someone. We can still address each person with basic human kindness. If we >would begin to do so, the majority of TOS reports (by myself and by others) >would end.

Sounds like a threat, none too veiled.... Unfortunately, I and others believe you are using a decidedly double standard in choosing who to report on to the TOSGeneral.... I don't believe there's any doubt that that is the case.

>
>Also, we need to bear in mind that proselytizing (meaning, trying to convert >someone to one's own religion) or attacking or belittling the religion of >that particular forum is a TOS violation, plain and simple. Translation:
>Members of another religions trying to convert Baha'is to their religion are >in violation of TOS regulations. And members of other religions attacking or >belittling the Baha'i Faith are in violation of TOS
>regulations.

What about Bahais harassing and attacking Bahais and non-Bahais on and off of AOL? I believe you're using a double standard here once again.

>
>People, I didn't make those rules up. They come from one of two places:
>Either from CAT itself or from the policy makers of the spirituality forums
>(of which the Baha'i Forum is a part).

You and other Bahais are interpreting and using them to further your own interpretations of what the Bahai Faith is or should be. AOL personnel are extremely naive and uninformed in this regard but some are not....

>
>Sincerely, Mark A. Foster
>Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager
><https://www.markfoster.net>
><https://markfoster.org>
><https://bahai.nu>

>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 9:54 AM
To: rbcfmark@aol.com; FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer

>Date: 2/15/1999 6:47 PM Eastern Standard Time

>From: RBCF Mark

>Message-id: <19990215184756.28946.00001207@ng-ch1.aol.com>

>

>Mahdi,

>

>The problems you refer to, as I see it, are primarily a result of your >promotion of Islam in the Baha'i Forum. It has caused considerable >frustration on the part of some of the Baha'i participants here.

>

>I am attempting, in this case, to deal with the causes, rather than the >effects. It seems more sensible to me to proceed that way.

>

>

>

>Sincerely, Mark A. Foster

>Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager

><https://www.markfoster.net>

><https://markfoster.org>

><https://bahai.nu>

I'm a member of the Bahai Faith, and I don't feel any frustration with Mahdi's opinions and beliefs. As a Muslim, he has every right to believe what he does and share his views on the Bahai Faith. Certain kinds of Bahais want to suppress his and other Muslims' views. As Forum Leader, you should not be assisting them in doing so.

</HTML>

<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 9:56 AM
To: mrmahdi@aol.com; FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer

>Date: 2/15/1999 7:19 PM Eastern Standard Time

>From: Mr Mahdi

>Message-id: <19990215191912.27161.00002133@ng35.aol.com>

>

>>Mahdi,

>>

>>The problems you refer to, as I see it, are primarily a result of your >>promotion of Islam in the Baha'i Forum. It has caused considerable >>frustration on the part of some of the Baha'i participants here.

>>

>>I am attempting, in this case, to deal with the causes, rather than the >>effects. It seems more sensible to me to proceed that way.

>

>So in other words, its ok for them and not me. I call it a double standard, >you call it fairness. What makes you think the attack on Islam here by >bahais like Susan and Wendy is not primarily a result of my considerable >frustration? You have shown great unfairness and bias, you should not say >its ok for them to show frustration but its not ok for me.

>Mahdi

Again, I believe Mahdi is quite right. There's a double standard being used against him and others by Bahais.

</HTML>

<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]

Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 9:58 AM

To: FG@hotmail.com

Subject: Re: Christine - TOS problems

<HTML>It seems to me certain kinds of Bahai here on the AOL forums are the ones going for the juggular....

>Subject: Re: Christine - TOS problems

>Date: 2/16/1999 1:53 AM Eastern Standard Time

>From: Hawkeye919

>Message-id: <19990216015313.24038.00001257@ng-cb1.aol.com>

>

>Christine:

>

> I find it interesting that you chide Bahá'ís by way of implying that we are >not being honest enough with you; yet, when we are honest about our feelings,

>thereby showing we are just as human as the next person, you jump on us for

>that too. There is no pleasing you.

> We have been more than tolerant with you for far too long; but you insist
on >making things difficult for everyone — yourself included. Try taking it easy

>on others and on yourself by showing consideration and respect for the >feelings and views of others, and you will be amazed how differently

people

>will behave toward you. However, if you insist on going for the juggular >every time, or playing little games in the rooms, you will only make things

>more difficult for everyone — most of all for yourself.

>

>Regards, Hawkeye.

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

</HTML>

<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 10:04 AM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer

<HTML>This is all merely an excuse to drive out Mahdi, in my opinion. I've seen many, many Bahais bring up Xianity, Islam, etc., in a similar manner when it suits their purposes.

>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer
>Date: 2/16/1999 6:51 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: RBCF Mark
>Message-id: <19990216065123.29402.00001410@ng-ch1.aol.com>
>
>Mahdi,
>
>Baha'is don't attack Islam. We accept it as a valid Revelation. Now, you, as >a Muslim may see it differently. However, this is a Baha'i Forum - not an >Islamic one.
>
>Sincerely, Mark A. Foster
>Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager
><https://www.markfoster.net>
><https://markfoster.org>
><https://bahai.nu>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 10:08 AM
To: chrrrstine@aol.com; FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: 3 strikes and Mahdi's not out

<HTML>This message is quite revealing about what many Bahais are actually up to with the TOS onslaught on AOL against people who don't toe the party line.... "We live in hope" obviously refers to getting people entirely kicked off AOL by constantly alleging TOS violations against them. To do so is in itself a violation of the TOS system and can lead to the person making such false allegations to lose his or her account. Again,
I urge anyone who believes they are being treated unfairly or with a double standard to write hostmgr@aol.com and TOSBoards1@aol.com

>Subject: Re: 3 strikes and Mahdi's not out
>Date: 2/16/1999 2:29 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Chrrrstine
>Message-id: <19990216142917.28946.00002097@ng-ch1.aol.com>
>
>>Joh:
>>
>> WAYYY more than three. We live in hope.
>>
>>Rob
>>
>>
>
>Ah. Truly, a beautiful thread. Please don't try to take MY AOL account >because you disagree with me. If you spend ANY time hoping differing points
>of view have their accounts revoked, may I respectfully suggest that you >better spend that time in prayer. IMO God would want it that way.
>Love,
>Christine
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 10:51 AM
To: hostmgr@aol.com; TOSBoards1@aol.com
Subject: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

I think the following messages on AOL's Bahai Forum Message Boards should make clear that I and a number of other Bahais and non-Bahais believe fundamentalist Bahais on AOL are abusing the TOS system in order to suppress the opinions and views of people with which they do not agree....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>Date: 2/14/1999 1:02 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Smaneck
>Message-id: <19990214130206.20954.00002224@ng-fi1.aol.com>
>
>Christine asks:
>
>>Dearest Mr. Foster,
>>Who are you?

>>What is your authority?

>

>If I can answer for Dr. Foster. He is a professor of sociology at Johnson >City Community College. He is hired by the head of the spirituality forums
to >manage the Baha'i forum. Dr. Foster is a Baha'i. The leaders of each forum

>typically belong to the religion in question since the forums are designed
to

>support each religion.

He's paid MONEY for what he's doing!!!

>

>>Isn't this a Non-Baha'i board? Shouldn't a Non-bahi be in charge?

>

>Christine, we've been through this before.

Her point should not be brushed aside. It's a valid question, one I support.
Two previous Bahais have demonstrated they could not be fair Forum
Leaders

and were dismissed by AOL. Speaking as a Bahai, I believe Foster has already shown he is not playing fairly....

This is a non-Baha'i folder on the

>Baha'i Board. It is not a non-Baha'i Board. As such it is still bound by >the TOS rules for spirituality forums which I placed up before. Folders do >not have separate people in charge. The description of the folder is >misleading and we have not been able to get that changed as yet. But >rules still apply regardless of how the folder is described.
TOS

>

>

>warmest,

>

>Susan Maneck

What is the name and address of the Spiritual ity Forum Leader who has hired Mark Foster?

</HTML>

<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Christine - TOS
problems

>Date: 2/15/1999 4:10 AM Eastern Standard Time

>From: Chrrrstine

>Message-id: <19990215041017.20966.00003093@ng-fi1.aol.com>

>

>Sunni, You Wrote,

>>Christine

>>

>>If you sincerely feel that Baha'is are violating AOL TOS then you should >>report them. AOL will make the decision if it is truly a violation or not.

>

>>
>>You don't have to sit back and wait for someone else to do it if you think
>it >>should be done. Just got to keyword: notify AOL and follow the >instructions.
>>
>>Sunni
>>
>Sunni, A lot of Baha'is know about the double standard. It happened on a >Crowded day. I Do not believe in TOSing people (Unless threatened) or >ignoring people. I am confident to stand on my ability to defend my beliefs.
>I wish only to be treated fairly by the online Baha'i community. Although I >am slowly realizing that Fairness on this forum is impossible.
>Love,
>Christine

You're quite right.... Bahais are not playing fairly here and are abusing the TOS system.

You can write the hostmgr@aol.com and TOSBoards1@aol.com about this fact if you like. I urge others concerned about the manner in which Mark Foster is hitting people with false TOSs to make their views known to AOL.

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer
>Date: 2/15/1999 4:51 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Mr Mahdi
>Message-id: <19990215165123.11988.00002094@ng103.aol.com>
>
>Too bad you and Mark were the only ones that saw the post before yours truly >yanked them off the third time. 3 of my post were yanked off, and I am being >seriuos this time, I found my posts as one of most "mild" posts I written.
>The post you just read was yanked because it didnt fit a post that belonged >to a "support" forum. Oh well, like your posts are supporting and praising >mines. I see the typical double-standard >going on here.
>Mahdi

AOL does provide for a system of TOS appeal. Write TOSBoards1@aol.com regarding the double standards that are now being used to drive people off these Boards. The hostmgr@aol.com should hear your views.

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer

>Date: 2/15/1999 6:38 PM Eastern Standard Time

>From: Mr Mahdi

>Message-id: <19990215183807.27160.00002246@ng35.aol.com>

>

>>It is not a double standard, Mahdi. It is a recognition that this is the >>Baha'i Forum. There is also an Islamic forum. If I went to that forum
and >>attempted to promote the Baha'i Faith or its Teachings as preferable, >better,

>>or (whatever term you choose), that would be TOSable, as well.

>

>This time I was responding to Susan calling me a joke and Wendy's use
of

>racism in the chats to tick me off. I wasn't in this post unfortunately >trying to invite people to Islam. But it is very clear that you allow bahais

>to talk about non bahais in a bad way like Mike talking about gays and Wendy

>talking about indoor plumbing, but when I respond to these comments I get >blacklisted. I want you to repost the posts you yanked off and let the >people

>here decide if a transgressed the limits of "TOS."

>Mahdi

Mahdi makes a valid point here. Wendy and other people of opinions other than those that could be characterized as liberal are allowed to say and do what they wish.... There is a double standard.

</HTML>

<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

<HTML>This is then the root of problem.

There should be another Forum Leader or a second one to counterbalance this one.... It's obvious given AOL having to fire Vahid and Edmund that this structure does not work right for the Bahai Forums. Changing the personality makes no difference....

>Subject: Re: Regarding the Threads

>Date: 2/16/1999 6:47 AM Eastern Standard Time

>From: RBCF Mark

>Message-id: <19990216064731.29402.00001406@ng-ch1.aol.com>

>

>PL, the decision is made only by myself, as forum manager.

>

>Sincerely, Mark A. Foster

>Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager

><https://www.markfoster.net>

><https://markfoster.org>

><https://bahai.nu>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>
>
>

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

<HTML>>Zaynab,
>Please do not refer to me as a enemy of the Baha'i. I have never said that.
>If you do so again, please state it as your opinion.

Why isn't Mark Foster hitting Zaynab with a TOS, if he's a fair player?

>2 As I stated in my censored post. I have not used profanity, on the chat >boards.(other than one letter followed by * after a two hour barrage
of >accusations) I have never been TOSed for doing that. I have witnessed
Baha'i
>use The F-word and not get TOSed. I asked the many baha'i in the room if they >TOSed the comment and They did not reply. So maybe this is an assumption.
But
>in my opinion You should be more tolerant of differing views on this >board. It would make for more lively chat, and it would also show seekers
>that you could withstand the tough questions that the "world" religions (of >which you want to be considered) Have to face every single day all over
the >world.
>I feel this board and the people in the chat rooms are looking at every move
>I make with a micro- scope, just waiting for me to violate TOS and report me.
>I guess that is to be exeted, fine, you have the rules on your side, but if >you do not hold other people up to the same standards that you hold me up
to,
>then it seems obvious it is because I like to let seekers know that Woman
are >banned from the Universal House Of Justice. (personally, I think if >I didn't bring that up you would treat me a lot better) I hope every one who >has tried to TOS me will ask themselves "Would I have TOSed Christine If she >hadn't had said those comments against my faith?" If the answer is no, then
I
>would like an apology.
>
>Love,
>Christine.

Bahais are abusing AOL's TOS system to control and drive dissidents away--it's obvious....

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Christine - TOS
problems
>Date: 2/15/1999 4:17 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Chrrrstine
>Message-id: <19990215041728.20966.00003094@ng-fi1.aol.com>
>
>Parbelly wrote,
>> I guess it depends on who people will believe right Christine?
>
>No, it matters what the truth is.
>When I sat TOSed I mean a Baha'i gloating he sent off a letter to AOL. Or
I >got a (no subject) letter from Mark Foster> AOL has only sent me one warning
>letter. I got that letter about 1/2 an hour after logging to the Beliefs >Baha'i chat room for the first time. I had a cuss word in My profile and I >Got TOSed for it.
>Love,
>Christine

Speaking as Bahai, this is all what is known as "Bahai love."

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Christine - TOS
problems
>Date: 2/15/1999 6:28 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: RobJ95
>Message-id: <19990215062845.11647.00001368@ng-fy1.aol.com>
>
>Christine:
>
> Regardless of your feelings about the Baha'i Faith, or whether you agree
or >disagree with its goals or teachings, I can assure you that if you violate >TOS, I would unhesitatingly report you.

What's happening here is Bahais are abusing and often falsely accusing people of TOSs, often employing double standards in the process.

I've done so in the past with various
>people, and I will continue to do so in the future.

I don't doubt it for a moment. I encourage others who have been the victims of this kind of abuse from Bahais to begin reporting them for every little slip or infraction now to the TOSGeneral.

I've even TOSed
>individuals who have been positively inclined toward the Faith, but who >insist on behaving improperly in the Bahá'í chat rooms; I offer no apologies

>for >this action; it is what every good online citizen should do, and what AOL >requests that we do.
> Would I be more inclined to do so with you than with someone I'm on >friendlier terms with? I'd probably have to say yes, since you go out of >your way to be an irritant in the chat rooms; that's just human nature, >flawed as it is.

Quite revealing above about the approach Bahais have to the TOS system....

Just because we Bahá'ís try to lead loving and tolerant >lives doesn't mean we should allow ourselves to be treated like doormats.

Speaking as a Bahai of more than 22 years,
I believe Bahais are anything but tolerant....

>Only God's patience is boundless.
> In the final analysis, Christine, if you behave in an appropriate manner, no
>one will have good reason to TOS you; if someone should TOS you without >cause, AOL will determine that such is the case; either way, you would have >nothing to worry about.
> If I were you, I'd carefully and dispassionately examine why so many people >seem intent on TOSing you, and see if there wasn't something I could do
to >change my behavior so as to avoid being TOSed in the first place.

I.e., you should submit to Bahai coercion....

Otherwise,
>if you are so concerned and distressed about (the possibility of) getting >TOSed in the Bahá'í chat rooms and message boards, one sure remedy
would be
>for you to stay out of them altogether.

Exactly the goal Bahais have here and elsewhere--DRIVE out those who have the temerity to express any opinion other than their own. See

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

> Ultimately, it is up to you. Be assured of my prayers in your behalf.
>
>Sincerely, Rob.

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

<HTML>Please read carefully The Baha'i Technique and reflect on how it's applicable here to the way the TOS system is being abused by Bahais:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer
>Date: 2/15/1999 1:46 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Smaneck
>Message-id: <19990215134627.19984.00002108@ng-cg1.aol.com>
>
>Mahdi writes:
>
>> I was expressing myself like I do always in these excellent posts.
>
>I think Mahdi should get the nomination for best joke of the day!
>
>> I mentioned my treatment by two very well known people here, let just say
>>Mrs. W and Mrs/PhD S.
>
>You mean li'l ole me, Mahdi? You must be referring to the fact that whenever >you insist on harrassing me with unwanted and unwelcome IMs I keep notifying
>AOL. I hope you have lots of credit cards, you'll need them!
>
>
>warmest,
>
>Susan Maneck
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

```
</HTML>
<HTML><FONT SIZE=3 PTSize=10><BR>
FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:<BR>
https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm On talk.religion.bahai,<BR> alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards<BR>
</HTML>
```

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the
slammer
>Date: 2/15/1999 5:11 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: RBCF Mark
>Message-id: <19990215171109.02876.00000852@ng-ch1.aol.com>
>
>It is not a double standard, Mahdi. It is a recognition that this is the >Baha'i Forum. There is also an Islamic forum. If I went to that forum and >attempted to promote the Baha'i Faith or its Teachings as preferable, >better,
>or (whatever term you choose), that would be TOSable, as well.

There is a double standard in my opinion. Bahais don't want to hear anything from Muslims and really dispise them.

>
>Sincerely, Mark A. Foster
>Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager
><https://www.markfoster.net>
><https://markfoster.org>
><https://bahai.nu>

>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

<HTML>>Subject: Please Read!!!
>Date: 2/15/1999 5:26 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: RBCF Mark
>Message-id: <19990215172653.02876.00000868@ng-ch1.aol.com>

>
>Folks,
>
>I am honestly getting tired of sending so many posts along to CAT
(Community >Action Team -- the folks who handle TOS reports). However, I am required to >do so, as a part of my volunteer position in this forum. But it is getting >old rather quickly.
>
>May I make a personal plea that we please treat each other with the human >dignity that each of us deserve?

What about Bahais, Mark? Are they going to respect others' opinions? After over 22 years in the Bahai Faith, I would find it to be a first....

It doesn't matter whether we agree with >someone. We can still address each person with basic human kindness. If we >would begin to do so, the majority of TOS reports (by myself and by others)
>would end.

Sounds like a threat, none too veiled.... Unfortunately, I and others believe you are using a decidedly double standard in choosing who to report on to the TOSGeneral.... I don't believe there's any doubt that that is the case.

>
>Also, we need to bear in mind that proselytizing (meaning, trying to convert >someone to one's own religion) or attacking or belittling the religion of >that particular forum is a TOS violation, plain and simple. Translation:
>Members of another religions trying to convert Baha'is to their religion
>are >in violation of TOS regulations. And members of other religions attacking
>or >belittling the Baha'i Faith are in violation of TOS
>regulations.

What about Bahais harassing and attacking Bahais and non-Bahais on and off of AOL? I believe you're using a double standard here once again.

>
>People, I didn't make those rules up. They come from one of two places:
>Either from CAT itself or from the policy makers of the spirituality forums
>(of which the Baha'i Forum is a part).

You and other Bahais are interpreting and using them to further your own interpretations of what the Bahai Faith is or should be. AOL personnel are extremely naive and uninformed in this regard but some are not....

>
>Sincerely, Mark A. Foster
>Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager
><https://www.markfoster.net>
><https://markfoster.org>
><https://bahai.nu>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the
slammer
>Date: 2/15/1999 6:47 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: RBCF Mark
>Message-id: <19990215184756.28946.00001207@ng-ch1.aol.com>
>
>Mahdi,
>
>The problems you refer to, as I see it, are primarily a result of your >promotion of Islam in the Baha'i Forum. It has caused considerable >frustration on the part of some of the Baha'i participants here.
>
>I am attempting, in this case, to deal with the causes, rather than the >effects. It seems more sensible to me to proceed that way.
>

>
>
>Sincerely, Mark A. Foster
>Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager
><https://www.markfoster.net>
><https://markfoster.org>
><https://bahai.nu>

I'm a member of the Bahai Faith, and I don't feel any frustration with Mahdi's opinions and beliefs. As a Muslim, he has every right to believe what he does and share his views on the Bahai Faith. Certain kinds of Bahais want to suppress his and other Muslims' views. As Forum Leader, you should not be assisting them in doing so.

</HTML>

<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

<HTML>>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer

>Date: 2/15/1999 7:19 PM Eastern Standard Time

>From: Mr Mahdi

>Message-id: <19990215191912.27161.00002133@ng35.aol.com>

>

>>Mahdi,

>>

>>The problems you refer to, as I see it, are primarily a result of your >>promotion of Islam in the Baha'i Forum. It has caused considerable >>frustration on the part of some of the Baha'i participants here.

>>

>>I am attempting, in this case, to deal with the causes, rather than the >>effects. It seems more sensible to me to proceed that way.

>

>So in other words, its ok for them and not me. I call it a double standard,

>you call it fairness. What makes you think the attack on Islam here by >bahais like Susan and Wendy is not primarily a result of my considerable >frustration? You have shown great unfairness and bias, you should not say >its ok for them to show frustration but its not ok for me.

>Mahdi

Again, I believe Mahdi is quite right. There's a double standard being used against him and others by Bahais.

</HTML>

<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

<HTML>It seems to me certain kinds of Bahai here on the AOL forums are the ones going for the juggular....

>Subject: Re: Christine - TOS problems

>Date: 2/16/1999 1:53 AM Eastern Standard Time

>From: Hawkeye919
>Message-id: <19990216015313.24038.00001257@ng-cb1.aol.com>
>
>Christine:
>
> I find it interesting that you chide Bahá'ís by way of implying that we
are >not being honest enough with you; yet, when we are honest about our feelings, >thereby showing we are just as human as the next person, you jump on
us for
>that too. There is no pleasing you.
> We have been more than tolerant with you for far too long; but you insist
on >making things difficult for everyone — yourself included. Try taking it easy
>on others and on yourself by showing consideration and respect for the >feelings and views of others, and you will be amazed how differently
people >will behave toward you. However, if you insist on going for the jugular >every time, or playing little games in the rooms, you will only make things
>more difficult for everyone — most of all for yourself.
>
>Regards, Hawkeye.
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

<HTML>This is all merely an excuse to drive out Mahdi, in my opinion. I've seen many, many Bahais bring up Xianity, Islam, etc., in a similar manner when it suits their purposes.

>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer
>Date: 2/16/1999 6:51 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: RBCF Mark
>Message-id: <19990216065123.29402.00001410@ng-ch1.aol.com>
>
>Mahdi,
>
>Baha'is don't attack Islam. We accept it as a valid Revelation. Now, you, as >a Muslim may see it differently. However, this is a Baha'i Forum - not an >Islamic one.
>
>Sincerely, Mark A. Foster
>Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager
><https://www.markfoster.net>
><https://markfoster.org>
><https://bahai.nu>
>

>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

</HTML>
<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

<HTML>This message is quite revealing about what many Bahais are actually up to with the TOS onslaught on AOL against people who don't toe the party line.... "We live in hope" obviously refers to getting people entirely kicked off AOL by constantly alleging TOS violations against them. To do so is in itself a violation of the TOS system and can lead to the person making such false allegations to lose his or her account.
Again,
I urge anyone who believes they are being treated unfairly or with a double standard to write hostmgr@aol.com and TOSBoards1@aol.com

>Subject: Re: 3 strikes and Mahdi's not out
>Date: 2/16/1999 2:29 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Chrrrstine
>Message-id: <19990216142917.28946.00002097@ng-ch1.aol.com>

>

>>Joh:

>>

>> WAYYY more than three. We live in hope.

>>

>>Rob

>>

>>

>

>Ah. Truly, a beautiful thread. Please don't try to take MY AOL account >because you disagree with me. If you spend ANY time hoping differing points
>of view have their accounts revoked, may I respectfully suggest that you >better spend that time in prayer. IMO God would want it that way.

>Love,

>Christine

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

</HTML>

<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 11:06 AM
To: hostmgr@aol.com; TOSBoards1@aol.com
Subject: fw nadle@aol.com Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

I ask Bahais and non-Bahais who are familiar with the methods fundamentalist Bahais use to suppress free speech and conscience to also write the hostmgr@aol.com and the TOSBoards1@aol.com to help encourage them to rectify the situation. It seems to me that basically the same dynamics that have played themselves out with the opposition to talk.religion.bahai is now taking place, has been really for a long time, at least since last August, on AOL....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

-----Original Message-----

From: FG@aol.com <FG@aol.com>
To: Nadle@aol.com <Nadle@aol.com>
Cc: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Thursday, February 18, 1999 1:58 AM
Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?

>He's been doing the same thing to me and several >other people who don't share the fundamentalist >mindset. I've spoken with an AOL person regarding the >whole situation. We can appeal the false TOSs by >writing the TOSBoard1@aol.com and hostmgr@aol.com.
>
>I've just forwarded a dozen or more messages from various >people complaining now in For Non-Bahais to the above >addresses and suggest you write them as soon as you can
>so that they hear from someone else. You know the literalists >have and will make me out to be a lone kook otherwise. I
>
>Encourage others to do the same. AOL woke up in the past >and got ride of Vahid and Edmund, former "Forum Leaders."
>
>We can depend on them to do the right thing with Mark Foster
>too but have to be patient and make the extra effort to inform >them what he's really doing now on AOL.
>
>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards
>
>
>
>
>Subj: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>Date: 2/18/1999 9:26:24 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)
>To: FG@aol.com
>

>Fred,
>
>I'm getting really ticked off with Mark's censorship.
>
>I was wrong and you, it turns out, have been right.
>
>I wasnt to send a complaint to AOL about Mark. He's pulled several of my >posts and forwarded them to TOS. TOS, however, have blown him off.
>
>When I repost those deleted posts, he yanks them again, and forwards them -
>yet again - to TOS.
>
>What do I do?
>
>Thank you for the information.
>
>Sincerely,
>Larry Rhodes
>
>
>----- Headers -----
>Return-Path: <nadle@aol.com>
>Received: from rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (rly-zd03.mail.aol.com [172.31.33.227])
by
>air-zd03.mail.aol.com (v56.26) with SMTP; Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:23 -0500
>Received: from ngeout01.news.aol.com (ngeout01.news.aol.com [152.163.176.244])
> by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
> with SMTP id JAA07001 for <FG@aol.com>;
> Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:20 -0500 (EST)
>Received: from ladder01.news.aol.com (ladder01.news-fddi.aol.com [172.16.30.168]) by ngeout01.news.aol.com (8.6.12/8.6.12) with ESMTP id
>JAA29829 for <FG@aol.com>; Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:23 -0500
>Date: 18 Feb 1999 09:26:22 EST
>Newsgroups: aol.boards.internal0.top-o-world.aol-department-level.associations-specia.bahai.for-non-bahais1f6ff4
>To: FG@aol.com
>Organization: AOL <https://www.aol.com>
>References: <19990218080242.27436.00000677@ng90.aol.com>
>From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)
>Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>Message-ID: <19990218092622.27682.00003216@ng97.aol.com>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 11:06 AM
Subject: fw nadle@aol.com Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

I ask Bahais and non-Bahais who are familiar with the methods fundamentalist Bahais use to suppress free speech and conscience to also write the hostmgr@aol.com and the TOSBoards1@aol.com to help encourage them to rectify the situation. It seems to me that basically the same dynamics that have played themselves out with the opposition to talk.religion.bahai is now taking place, has been really for a long time, at least since last August, on AOL....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

-----Original Message-----

From: FG@aol.com <FG@aol.com>
To: Nadle@aol.com <Nadle@aol.com>
Cc: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Thursday, February 18, 1999 1:58 AM
Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?

>He's been doing the same thing to me and several >other people who don't share the fundamentalist
>mindset. I've spoken with an AOL person regarding the >whole situation. We can appeal the false TOSs by >writing the TOSBoard1@aol.com and hostmgr@aol.com.
>
>I've just forwarded a dozen or more messages from various >people complaining now in For Non-Bahais to the above
>addresses and suggest you write them as soon as you can
>so that they hear from someone else. You know the literalists >have and will make me out to be a lone kook otherwise. I
>
>Encourage others to do the same. AOL woke up in the past >and got ride of Vahid and Edmund, former "Forum Leaders."
>
>We can depend on them to do the right thing with Mark Foster
>too but have to be patient and make the extra effort to inform >them what he's really doing now on AOL.
>
>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards
>
>
>
>
>Subj: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>Date: 2/18/1999 9:26:24 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)
>To: FG@aol.com
>
>Fred,
>
>I'm getting really ticked off with Mark's censorship.
>
>I was wrong and you, it turns out, have been right.
>
>I wasnt to send a complaint to AOL about Mark. He's pulled several of my >posts and forwarded them to TOS. TOS, however, have blown him off.
>
>When I repost those deleted posts, he yanks them again, and forwards them -
>yet again - to TOS.
>
>What do I do?
>

>Thank you for the information.

>

>Sincerely,

>Larry Rhodes

>

>

>----- Headers -----

>Return-Path: <nadle@aol.com>

>Received: from rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (rly-zd03.mail.aol.com [172.31.33.227])

by

>air-zd03.mail.aol.com (v56.26) with SMTP; Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:23
-0500

>Received: from ngeout01.news.aol.com (ngeout01.news.aol.com [152.163.176.244])

> by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)

> with SMTP id JAA07001 for <FG@aol.com>;

> Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:20 -0500 (EST)

>Received: from ladder01.news.aol.com (ladder01.news-fddi.aol.com [172.16.30.168]) by ngeout01.news.aol.com (8.6.12/8.6.12) with ESMT
id

>JAA29829 for <FG@aol.com>; Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:23 -0500

>Date: 18 Feb 1999 09:26:22 EST

>Newsgroups: aol.boards.internal0.top-o-world.aol-department-

>level.associations-specia.bahai.for-non-bahais1f6ff4

>To: FG@aol.com

>Organization: AOL <https://www.aol.com>

>References: <19990218080242.27436.00000677@ng90.aol.com>

>From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)

>Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?

>Message-ID: <19990218092622.27682.00003216@ng97.aol.com>

>

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]

Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 11:12 AM

To: TOSBoards1@aol.com

Cc: FG@hotmail.com

Subject: Fwd: Who is Mark Foster?

<<Message: Fwd: Who is Mark Foster?>>

See Bahai Forums/Message Boards/For Non-Bahais

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc

Date: Thursday, February 18, 1999 10:06 AM

Subject: fw nadle@aol.com Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

>I ask Bahais and non-Bahais who are familiar with >the methods fundamentalist Bahais use to suppress

>free speech and conscience to also write the hostmgr@aol.com

>and the TOSBoards1@aol.com to help encourage them >to rectify the situation. It seems to me that basically the same >dynamics that have played themselves out with the opposition >to talk.religion.bahai is now taking place, has been really for >a long time, at least since last August, on AOL....

>

>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>

>
>
>
>-----Original Message-----
>From: FG@aol.com <FG@aol.com>
>To: Nadle@aol.com <Nadle@aol.com>
>Cc: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
>Date: Thursday, February 18, 1999 1:58 AM
>Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>
>
>>He's been doing the same thing to me and several >>other people who don't share the fundamentalist
>>mindset. I've spoken with an AOL person regarding the >>whole situation. We can appeal the false TOSs by >>writing the TOSBoard1@aol.com and hostmgr@aol.com.
>>
>>I've just forwarded a dozen or more messages from various >>people complaining now in For Non-Bahais to the above
>>addresses and suggest you write them as soon as you can
>>so that they hear from someone else. You know the literalists >>have and will make me out to be a lone kook otherwise. I
>>
>>Encourage others to do the same. AOL woke up in the past >>and got ride of Vahid and Edmund, former "Forum Leaders."
>>
>>We can depend on them to do the right thing with Mark Foster
>>too but have to be patient and make the extra effort to inform >>them what he's really doing now on AOL.
>>
>>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>Subj: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>>Date: 2/18/1999 9:26:24 AM Eastern Standard Time
>>From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)
>>To: FG@aol.com
>>
>>Fred,
>>
>>I'm getting really ticked off with Mark's censorship.
>>
>>I was wrong and you, it turns out, have been right.
>>
>>I wasnt to send a complaint to AOL about Mark. He's pulled several of my >>posts and forwarded them to TOS. TOS, however, have blown him off.
>>
>>When I repost those deleted posts, he yanks them again, and forwards
>them -
>>yet again - to TOS.
>>
>>What do I do?
>>
>>Thank you for the information.
>>
>>Sincerely,
>>Larry Rhodes
>>
>>

>>----- Headers -----
>>Return-Path: <nadle@aol.com>
>>Received: from rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (rly-zd03.mail.aol.com [172.31.33.227])
>by >>air-zd03.mail.aol.com (v56.26) with SMTP; Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:23
-0500
>>Received: from ngeout01.news.aol.com (ngeout01.news.aol.com [152.163.176.244])
>> by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
>> with SMTP id JAA07001 for <FG@aol.com>;
>> Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:20 -0500 (EST)
>>Received: from ladder01.news.aol.com (ladder01.news-fddi.aol.com [172.16.30.168]) by ngeout01.news.aol.com (8.6.12/8.6.12) with ESMTP id
>>JAA29829 for <FG@aol.com>; Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:23 -0500
>>Date: 18 Feb 1999 09:26:22 EST
>>Newsgroups: aol.boards.internal0.top-o-world.aol-department-
>>level.associations-specia.bahai.for-non-bahais1f6ff4
>>To: FG@aol.com
>>Organization: AOL https://www.aol.com
>>References: <19990218080242.27436.00000677@ng90.aol.com>
>>From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)
>>Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>>Message-ID: <19990218092622.27682.00003216@ng97.aol.com>
>>
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 11:19 AM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer

<HTML>More evidence, really, of the concerted effort being made, by Bahais of a certain temperament, to suppress other views by narrowly interpreting, via a double standard, the TOS rules....

>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer
>Date: 2/18/1999 9:48 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Smaneck
>Message-id: <19990218094849.02876.00002811@ng-ch1.aol.com>
>
>Fred writes:
>
>>I'm a member of the Bahai Faith, and I don't feel any frustration with >>Mahdi's opinions and beliefs. As a Muslim, he has every right to believe >what >>he does and share his views on the Bahai Faith. Certain kinds of Bahais want >>to suppress his and other Muslims' views. As Forum Leader, you should not be >>assisting them in doing so.
>
>These are the TOS rules which Mark is beholden to abide by. Baha'is didn't >make them up.
>
>Concerning proselytizing:The Other Religions Boards are designed for those >belonging to or interested in the religions represented here. The folders

are >for support & not criticism of the listed religions. AOL has provided other >areas where you may >critize these or any other religions. Any proselytizing or advocacy for
the >members of any of these religions to abandon their faith or accept faiths >other than their own will be treated as disruption on our message boards
and >will be reported to TOS. Also, posts that are critical of the represented >religion will be deleted & forward to TOS for board disruption.

>

>

>warmest,

>

>Susan Maneck

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

</HTML>

<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 1:50 PM

To: TOSBoards1@aol.com; hostmgr@aol.com

Subject: Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

Smaneck wrote in message <19990218113538.04265.00000373@ng-ch1.aol.com>...

>Dear friends,

>

>After a long illness which forced Dr. Mark Foster to neglect the AOL
Baha'i

>message board allowing, he found himself in the difficult position of having to >enforce TOS rules in a situation where people had not been used to it.

This

>explains the suddent wave of protests.

Last August the excuse for his doing nothing to improve the censored areas of AOL was that he was busy with the beginning of his classes for the fall. Then nothing but silence for months. I highly doubt the veracity of the claim that he was so sick. Regardless, I repeatedly emailed directly to him and requested that he resign, a request he's always ignored. When he did return, he immediately went for the jugular vein, mine as well as others. He is not a fair and honest Forum Leader, and should resign.... Speaking as a Bahai, I believe he's clearly a puppet for the fanatics and fundamentalists in the Bahai administration. AOL is for all people, not merely the literal minded Bahais who have learned how to manipulate and abuse the system of TOSs on AOL.

>

>I'm posting below the AOL TOS rules that were being violated. Baha'is did not >make those up, AOL did.

The reality is that many fundamentalist Bahais have and are violating the TOS rules on AOL and Foster is not slapping them with TOSs. See the others messages I've posted as evidence of this double standard.

>

>Here are the guidelines from the Spirituality Forum:

>

> Posts may be deleted when messages violate AOL's Policy for Online Conduct, >the Terms of Service, Rules of the Road, or the policies established by the >Spirituality forum which are outlined in this text.

> Concerning proselytizing: The Other Religions Boards are designed for those >belonging to or interested in the religions represented here. The folders are >for support & not criticism of the listed religions. AOL has provided other >areas where you may criticize these or any other religions. Any

proselytizing

>or advocacy for the members of any of these religions to abandon their faith or >accept faiths other than their own will be treated as disruption on our message >boards and will be reported to TOS. Also, posts that are critical of the >represented religion will be deleted & forward to TOS for board disruption.

Ms. Maneck herself referred to my opinions on AOL a number of times as "garbage." Foster has done nothing about that whatsoever. Also fundamentalist Bahais regularly intimidate and threaten other Bahais like myself on AOL by suggesting we are "covenant breakers," not "firm in the covenant," creating "disunity," etc.... Many of these Bahai-style threats and insults violated the AOL TOS rules just as much or more but AOL people do understand what's being done by the fundamentalists and not enough people report the fundamentalists at the moment.

>

>Susan Stiles Maneck

>History, Stetson University

See the links below for further evidence or comments along these lines:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 1:50 PM
Subject: Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

Smaneck wrote in message <19990218113538.04265.00000373@ng-ch1.aol.com>...

>Dear friends,

>

>After a long illness which forced Dr. Mark Foster to neglect the AOL Baha'i >message board allowing, he found himself in the difficult position of having to >enforce TOS rules in a situation where people had not been used to it. This >explains the sudden wave of protests.

Last August the excuse for his doing nothing to improve the censored areas of AOL was that he was busy with the beginning of his classes for the fall. Then nothing but silence for months. I highly doubt the veracity of the claim that he was so sick. Regardless, I repeatedly emailed directly to him and requested that he resign, a request he's always ignored. When he did return, he immediately went for the jugular vein, mine as well as others. He is not a fair and honest Forum Leader, and should resign.... Speaking as a Bahai, I believe he's clearly a puppet for the fanatics and fundamentalists in the Bahai administration. AOL is for all people, not merely the literal minded Bahais who have learned how to manipulate and abuse the system of TOSs on AOL.

>

>I'm posting below the AOL TOS rules that were being violated. Baha'is did not >make those up, AOL did.

The reality is that many fundamentalist Bahais have and are violating the TOS rules on AOL and Foster is not slapping them with TOSs. See the others messages I've posted as evidence of this double standard.

>

>Here are the guidelines from the Spirituality Forum:

>

> Posts may be deleted when messages violate AOL's Policy for Online Conduct, >the Terms of Service, Rules of the Road, or the policies established by the >Spirituality forum which are outlined in this text.

> Concerning proselytizing: The Other Religions Boards are designed for those >belonging to or interested in the religions represented here. The folders are >for support & not criticism of the listed religions. AOL has provided other >areas where you may criticize these or any other religions. Any proselytizing

>or advocacy for the members of any of these religions to abandon their faith or >accept faiths other than their own will be treated as disruption on our message

>boards and will be reported to TOS. Also, posts that are critical of the

>represented religion will be deleted & forward to TOS for board disruption.

Ms. Maneck herself referred to my opinions on AOL a number of times as "garbage." Foster has done nothing about that whatsoever. Also fundamentalist Bahais regularly intimidate and threaten other Bahais like myself on AOL by suggesting we are "covenant breakers," not "firm in the covenant," creating "disunity," etc.... Many of these Bahai-style threats and insults violated the AOL TOS rules just as much or more but AOL people do understand what's being done by the fundamentalists and not enough people report the fundamentalists at the moment.

>

>Susan Stiles Maneck

>History, Stetson University

See the links below for further evidence or comments along these lines:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 4:04 PM

To: Jimo3#aol.com; HANI72#aol.com; CRust60001#aol.com; AAli929596#aol.com; ccrawfeild@aol.com; Mr Mahdi; Nadle; Ruletherod; Macho786#aol.com; Member1700#aol.com; PParvin#aol.com; RayHanania@aol.com; RobertNik#aol.com; SAMaso#aol.com; Shaksway@aol.com; Smastr@aol.com
Subject: The TOS game

Foster, Maneck, and the other fundamentalists are completely run amok. I just had my account suspended for the second time this week. I know a number of other people who are being attacked in the same way on the Bahai "Forums." I just had a long talk with an AOL person who assured me it is possible to have Mark Foster removed and that it has been done on other forums too.

Those of you who are concerned about this manipulation of the TOS rules to impose censorship on the Forums should consider writing the hostmgr@aol.com and the TOSBoards1@aol.com and explain your reasons.

A false TOS allegation is a violation of the TOS rules. I believe this is what Foster is doing, and, as I've said many times, he should be replaced, though certainly not with Maneck. If the above addresses hear from enough of us it will make a big difference. Please emphasize you are Bahais too if you are and that much of the disagreement is between fundamentalists and more liberal Bahais or non-Bahais both on and off AOL. You might mention the two year struggle to create talk.religion.bahai and my website has documenting censorship in the Bahai Faith. You might also add that Foster has been gone for more than 8 months only to return and behave like this.

It is important to highlight that Foster is selectively hitting people with TOSs, i.e., allowing people on his side to go scott free....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: Re: Who is Mark Foster?

>>Date: 2/18/1999 9:26:24 AM Eastern Standard Time

>>From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)

>>To: FG@aol.com

>>

>>Fred,

>>

>>I'm getting really ticked off with Mark's censorship.

>>

>>I was wrong and you, it turns out, have been right.

>>

>>I wasnt to send a complaint to AOL about Mark. He's pulled several of my >>posts and forwarded them to TOS. TOS, however, have blown him off.

>>

>>When I repost those deleted posts, he yanks them again, and forwards them -

>>yet again - to TOS.

>>

>>What do I do?

>>

>>Thank you for the information.

>>

>>Sincerely,

>>Larry Rhodes

>>

>>

>>----- Headers -----

>>Return-Path: <nadle@aol.com>

From: MrMahdi@aol.com[SMTP:MrMahdi@aol.com]

Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 4:05 PM

To: FG@hotmail.com

Subject: Re: The TOS game

Thank you Fred for giving me advice and support. I wonder would you like to see my posts that were immediately yanked off by Mark that were never seen by the rest of you all?

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 4:31 PM

To: Jimo3@aol.com; HANI72@aol.com; CRust60001@aol.com;

AAl929596@aol.com; ccrawfeild@aol.com; Mr Mahdi; Nadle; Ruletherod;

Macho786@aol.com; Member1700@aol.com; PParvin@aol.com;

RayHanania@aol.com; RobertNik#aol.com; SAMaso#aol.com;
Shaksway@aol.com; Smastr@aol.com

Subject: Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

Foster has repeatedly violated the TOS system on AOL
against me and several other individuals by alleging FALSE
TOSs and should be removed immediately from his position
as Forum Leader.

I am presently working on a message to the hostmgr@aol.com
and TOSBoards1@aol.com to this effect and encourage others who have been targeted by him and other Bahai fundamentalists on AOL to write also.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990218144900.02868.00007039@ngch1.aol.com>...

>Fred,

>

>I am not paid anything for what I do. Only the owners are paid. The forum

>managers, chat hosts, librarians, etc. are volunteers. Incidentally, I am all >three - a forum manager, a chat host, and a librarian. And ... I am a >volunteer. My only perk is that I don't pay for AOL (if you can call it that).

>

>The regulations are not made by the Baha'is. They are official AOL policies.

>All TOS (terms of service) decisions are made by the Community Action Team

on

>AOL, which has nothing to do with the Baha'i Faith Forum.

>

>Cordially, Mark Foster

**-----
From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 4:31 PM

Subject: Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

Foster has repeatedly violated the TOS system on AOL
against me and several other individuals by alleging FALSE
TOSs and should be removed immediately from his position
as Forum Leader.

I am presently working on a message to the hostmgr@aol.com
and TOSBoards1@aol.com to this effect and encourage others who have been targeted by him and other Bahai fundamentalists
on AOL to write also.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990218144900.02868.00007039@ng-ch1.aol.com>...

>Fred,

>

>I am not paid anything for what I do. Only the owners are paid. The forum >managers, chat hosts, librarians, etc. are volunteers. Incidentally, I am all >three - a forum manager, a chat host, and a librarian. And ... I am a >volunteer. My only perk is that I don't pay for AOL (if you can call it that).

>

>The regulations are not made by the Baha'is. They are official AOL policies.

>All TOS (terms of service) decisions are made by the Community Action Team

on

>AOL, which has nothing to do with the Baha'i Faith Forum.

>

>Cordially, Mark Foster

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 4:38 PM

To: Jimo3#aol.com; HANI72#aol.com; CRust60001#aol.com;

AAli929596#aol.com; ccrawfeild@aol.com; Mr Mahdi; Nadle; Ruletherod;

Macho786#aol.com; Member1700#aol.com; PParvin#aol.com;

RayHanania@aol.com; RobertNik#aol.com; SAMaso#aol.com;

Shaksway@aol.com; Smastr@aol.com

Subject: Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

Smaneck wrote in message <19990218141748.22335.00003790@ng-cg1.aol.com>...

>Fred writes:

>

>>I highly doubt the veracity of the >>claim that he was so sick.

>

>What do you need Fred, a doctors excuse?

Even if he was actually sick, which I doubt, it's obviously a bogus tactic to conceal what you and other fanatics are attempting to suppress on AOL.

>

>>Regardless, I repeatedly emailed

>>directly to him and requested that he resign, a request he's >>always ignored.

>

>The nerve of Mark! When Fred issues a demand like that Mark should comply >immediately.

As Forum Leader, he had obligations he ignored repeatedly and should have made arrangements to replace himself if he actually cared about the AOL Forums functioning properly which he certainly didn't... He, like other fundamentalists on AOL, preferred the dysfunctional state of all the Forums to truly open free speech....

>

>>Ms. Maneck herself referred to my opinions on AOL a number >>of times as "garbage."

>

>And nobody else would ever characterize the litter you spam these lists with
>in that manner.

Here we have another demonstration of Ms. Maneck's adherence to "scholarly" values and discourse.... I shall add it to my collection....

>

>

>Susan Stiles Maneck
>History, Stetson University

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 4:38 PM
Subject: Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

Smaneck wrote in message <19990218141748.22335.00003790@ng-cg1.aol.com>...

>Fred writes:

>

>>I highly doubt the veracity of the >>claim that he was so sick.

>

>What do you need Fred, a doctors excuse?

Even if he was actually sick, which I doubt, it's obviously a bogus tactic to conceal what you and other fanatics are attempting to suppress on AOL.

>

>>Regardless, I repeatedly emailed >>directly to him and requested that he resign, a request he's >>always ignored.

>

>The nerve of Mark! When Fred issues a demand like that Mark should comply >immediately.

As Forum Leader, he had obligations he ignored repeatedly and should have made arrangements to replace himself if he actually cared about the AOL Forums functioning properly which he certainly didn't... He, like other fundamentalists on AOL, preferred the dysfunctional state of all the Forums to truly open free speech....

>

>>Ms. Maneck herself referred to my opinions on AOL a number >>of times as "garbage."

>

>And nobody else would ever characterize the litter you spam these lists

with
>in that manner.

Here we have another demonstration of Ms. Maneck's adherence to "scholarly" values and discourse.... I shall add it to my collection....

>
>
>Susan Stiles Maneck
>History, Stetson University

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 4:53 PM
To: Jimo3#aol.com; HANI72#aol.com; CRust60001#aol.com;
AAl929596#aol.com; ccrawfeild@aol.com; Mr Mahdi; Nadle; Ruletherod;
Macho786#aol.com; Member1700#aol.com; PParvin#aol.com;
RayHanania@aol.com; RobertNik#aol.com; SAMaso#aol.com;
Shaksway@aol.com; Smastr@aol.com
Subject: Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

Mark Foster's been doing the same thing to me and several other people who don't share the fundamentalist mindset. I've spoken with an AOL person regarding the whole situation. We can appeal the false TOSs by writing the TOSBoard1@aol.com and hostmgr@aol.com.

I've just forwarded a dozen or more messages from various people complaining now in the For Non-Bahais folder to the above addresses and suggest you write them as soon as you can so that they hear from someone else. You know the literalists have and will make me out to be a lone kook otherwise.

Encourage others to do the same. AOL woke up in the past and got ride of Vahid and Edmund, former "Forum Leaders."

We can depend on them to do the right thing with Mark Foster too but have to be patient and make the extra effort to inform them what he's really doing now on AOL.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 4:53 PM
Subject: Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

Mark Foster's been doing the same thing to me and several other people who don't share the fundamentalist mindset. I've spoken with an AOL person regarding the whole situation. We can appeal the false TOSs by writing the TOSBoard1@aol.com and hostmgr@aol.com.

I've just forwarded a dozen or more messages from various people complaining now in the For Non-Bahais folder to the above addresses and suggest you write them as soon as you can so that they hear from someone else. You know the literalists have and will make me out to be a lone kook otherwise.

Encourage others to do the same. AOL woke up in the past and got ride of Vahid and Edmund, former "Forum Leaders."

We can depend on them to do the right thing with Mark Foster too but have to be patient and make the extra effort to inform them what he's really doing now on AOL.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 4:56 PM
To: Jimo3@aol.com; HANI72@aol.com; CRust60001@aol.com;
AAl929596@aol.com; ccrawfeild@aol.com; Mr Mahdi; Nadle; Ruletherod;
Macho786@aol.com; Member1700@aol.com; PParvin@aol.com;
RayHanania@aol.com; RobertNik@aol.com; SAMaso@aol.com;
Shaksway@aol.com; Smastr@aol.com
Subject: Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

This message is quite revealing about what many Bahais are actually up to with the TOS onslaught on AOL against people who don't toe the party line.... "We live in hope" obviously refers to getting people entirely kicked off AOL by constantly alleging TOS violations against them. To do so is in itself a violation of the TOS system and can lead to the person making such false allegations to lose his or her account. Again, I urge anyone who believes they are being treated unfairly or with a double standard to write hostmgr@aol.com and TOSBoards1@aol.com

>Subject: Re: 3 strikes and Mahdi's not out
>Date: 2/16/1999 2:29 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Chrrrstine
>Message-id: <19990216142917.28946.00002097@ng-ch1.aol.com>
>
>>Joh:
>>
>> WAYYY more than three. We live in hope.
>>
>>Rob
>>
>>
>
>Ah. Truly, a beautiful thread. Please don't try to take MY AOL account >because you disagree with me. If you spend ANY time hoping differing points >of view have their accounts revoked, may I respectfully suggest that you >better spend that time in prayer. IMO God would want it that way.
>Love,
>Christine
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 4:56 PM
Subject: Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

This message is quite revealing about what many Bahais are actually up to with the TOS onslaught on AOL against people who don't toe the party line.... "We live in hope" obviously refers to getting people entirely kicked off AOL by constantly alleging TOS violations against them. To do so is in itself a violation of the TOS system and can lead to the person making such false allegations to lose his or her account. Again, I urge anyone who believes they are being treated unfairly or with a double standard to write hostmgr@aol.com and TOSBoards1@aol.com

>Subject: Re: 3 strikes and Mahdi's not out
>Date: 2/16/1999 2:29 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Chrrrstine
>Message-id: <19990216142917.28946.00002097@ng-ch1.aol.com>
>
>>Joh:
>>
>> WAYYY more than three. We live in hope.
>>
>>Rob
>>
>>
>
>Ah. Truly, a beautiful thread. Please don't try to take MY AOL account >because you disagree with me. If you spend ANY time hoping differing points
>of view have their accounts revoked, may I respectfully suggest that you >better spend that time in prayer. IMO God would want it that way.
>Love,
>Christine
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 5:20 PM
To: FG
Subject: False TOSs by Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

Dear HostMGR & TOSBoards1:

I would like to state that the recent repeatedly alleged TOS violations against me and other members of the Bahai Forums are completely false. The Bahai Forum Leader, Mark Foster, has failed to perform his duties in any way whatsoever for more than EIGHT months. My request that he resign was emailed to him more than two months ago, and I have repeatedly asked him to resign. My reason for doing so is he and other fundamentalist Bahais on AOL are manipulating and using the Bahai Forums to suppress what information is available to AOL members. Let me mention that I myself have been a member of the Bahai Faith now for more than 23 years and have witnessed many similar episodes in which Bahais have suppressed the freedom of information and opinion.

I also believe these TOSs are acts of revenge against me for recently creating talk.religion.bahai on Usenet, which fundamentalist Bahais have opposed for more than two years and may be corroborated by looking at my website which documents their opposition, including their fanaticism on AOL.

Let me mention that TWO former Bahai Forums Leaders have had to be removed by AOL in the past. I'm afraid it is now painfully evident that this one too should be replaced by someone who does not play out his religious beliefs into vindictive actions against Bahais, non-Bahais, Muslims, whoever....

I should mention that Bahais of more conservative mindset regularly insult others by suggesting they're "covenant breakers" or "infirm in the covenant" and so on. These phrases are insulting to myself and others but Mark Foster has done absolutely nothing to bring a halt to such behavior. One Bahai, Susan Maneck, has gone so far as to repeatedly refer to my opinions as "garbage" and "slander" and has not been corrected by him in anyway. I am very tired of this double standard, as are other AOL members in the Bahai Forums.

Please read especially "The Baha'i Technique" and AOL:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/AOL.htm>

What is taking place on the AOL Bahai Forums is exceedingly complex and will require serious efforts on the part of AOL personnel if you are to understand and make the right decisions.

Other than a fair and unbiased Forum Leader, I have been concerned primarily with 3 ISSUES:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais (which appear now to have been fixed).

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm>

I am forwarding this message to the HostMGR@aol.com and the TOSBoards1@aol.com in the hope that one or the other can assist in finding a person to serve fairly and impartially as Bahai Forum Leader.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

**-----
From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 5:20 PM
To: FG
Subject: False TOSs by Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

Dear HostMGR & TOSBoards1:

I would like to state that the recent repeatedly alleged TOS violations against me and other members of the Bahai Forums are completely false. The Bahai Forum Leader, Mark Foster, has failed to perform his duties in any way whatsoever for more than EIGHT months. My request that he resign was emailed to him more than two months ago, and I have repeatedly asked him to resign. My reason for doing so is he and other fundamentalist Bahais on AOL are manipulating and using the Bahai Forums to suppress what information is available to AOL members. Let me mention that I myself have been a member of the Bahai Faith now for more than 23 years and have witnessed many similar episodes in which Bahais have suppressed the freedom of information and opinion.

I also believe these TOSs are acts of revenge against me for recently creating talk.religion.bahai on Usenet, which fundamentalist Bahais have opposed for more than two years and may be corroborated by looking at my website which documents their opposition, including their fanaticism on AOL.

Let me mention that TWO former Bahai Forums Leaders have had to be removed by AOL in the past. I'm afraid it is now painfully evident that this one too should be replaced by someone who does not play out his religious beliefs into vindictive actions against Bahais, non-Bahais, Muslims, whoever....

I should mention that Bahais of more conservative mindset regularly insult others by suggesting they're "covenant breakers" or "infirm in the covenant" and so on. These phrases are insulting to myself and others but Mark Foster has done absolutely nothing to bring a halt to such behavior. One Bahai, Susan Maneck, has gone so far as to repeatedly refer to my opinions as "garbage" and "slander" and has not been corrected by him in anyway. I am very tired of this double standard, as are other AOL members in the Bahai Forums.

Please read especially "The Baha'i Technique" and AOL:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/AOL.htm>

What is taking place on the AOL Bahai Forums is exceedingly complex and will require serious efforts on the part of AOL personnel if you are to understand and make the right decisions.

Other than a fair and unbiased Forum Leader, I have been concerned primarily with 3 ISSUES:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais (which appear now to have been fixed).

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm>

I am forwarding this message to the HostMGR@aol.com and the TOSBoards1@aol.com in the hope that one or the other can assist in finding a person to serve fairly and impartially as Bahai Forum Leader.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 5:25 PM
To: Jimo3@aol.com; HANI72@aol.com; CRust60001@aol.com;
AAl929596@aol.com; ccrawfeild@aol.com; Mr Mahdi; Nadle; Ruletherod;
Macho786@aol.com; Member1700@aol.com; PParvin@aol.com;
RayHanania@aol.com; RobertNik@aol.com; SAMaso@aol.com;
Shaksway@aol.com; Smastr@aol.com
Subject: HostMGR & TOSBoards1 (Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations)

Dear HostMGR & TOSBoards1:

I would like to state that the recent repeatedly alleged TOS violations against me and other members of the Bahai Forums are completely false. The Bahai Forum Leader, Mark Foster, has failed to perform his duties in any way whatsoever for more than EIGHT months. My request that he resign was emailed to him more than two months ago, and I have repeatedly asked him to resign. My reason for doing so is he and other fundamentalist Bahais on AOL are manipulating and using the Bahai Forums to suppress what information is available to AOL members. Let me mention that I myself have been a member of the Bahai Faith now for more than 23 years and have witnessed many similar episodes in which Bahais have suppressed the freedom of information and opinion.

I also believe these TOSs are acts of revenge against me for recently creating talk.religion.bahai on Usenet, which fundamentalist Bahais have opposed for more than two years and may be corroborated by looking at my website which documents their opposition, including their fanaticism on AOL.

Let me mention that TWO former Bahai Forums Leaders have had to be removed by AOL in the past. I'm afraid it is now painfully evident that this one too should be replaced by someone who does not play out his religious beliefs into vindictive actions against Bahais, non-Bahais, Muslims, whoever....

I should mention that Bahais of more conservative mindset regularly insult others by suggesting they're "covenant breakers" or "infirm in the covenant" and so on. These phrases are insulting to myself and others but Mark Foster has done absolutely nothing to bring a halt to such behavior. One Bahai, Susan Maneck, has gone so far as to repeatedly refer to my opinions as "garbage" and "slander" and has not been corrected by him in anyway. I am very tired of this double standard, as are other AOL members in the Bahai Forums.

Please read especially "The Baha'i Technique" and AOL:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/AOL.htm>

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

What is taking place on the AOL Bahai Forums is exceedingly complex and will require serious efforts on the part of AOL personnel if you are to understand and make the right decisions.

Other than a fair and unbiased Forum Leader, I have been concerned primarily with 3 ISSUES:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais (which appear now to have been fixed).

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm>

I am forwarding this message to the HostMGR@aol.com and the TOSBoards1@aol.com in the hope that one or the other can assist in finding a person to serve fairly and impartially as Bahai Forum Leader.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 5:25 PM
Subject: HostMGR & TOSBoards1 (Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations)

Dear HostMGR & TOSBoards1:

I would like to state that the recent repeatedly alleged TOS violations against me and other members of the Bahai Forums are completely false. The Bahai Forum Leader, Mark Foster, has failed to perform his duties in any way whatsoever for more than EIGHT months. My request that he resign was emailed to him more than two months ago, and I have repeatedly asked him to resign. My reason for doing so is he and other fundamentalist Bahais on AOL are manipulating and using the Bahai Forums to suppress what information is available to AOL members. Let me mention that I myself have been a member of the Bahai Faith now for more than 23 years and have witnessed many similar episodes in which Bahais have suppressed the freedom of information and opinion.

I also believe these TOSs are acts of revenge against me for recently creating talk.religion.bahai on Usenet, which fundamentalist Bahais have opposed for more than two years and may be corroborated by looking at my website which documents their opposition, including their fanaticism on AOL.

Let me mention that TWO former Bahai Forums Leaders have had to be removed by AOL in the past. I'm afraid it is now painfully evident that this one too should be replaced by someone who does not play out his religious beliefs into vindictive actions against Bahais, non-Bahais, Muslims, whoever....

I should mention that Bahais of more conservative mindset regularly insult others by suggesting they're "covenant breakers" or "infirm in the covenant" and so on. These phrases are insulting to myself and others but Mark Foster has done absolutely nothing to bring a halt to such behavior. One Bahai, Susan Maneck, has gone so far as to repeatedly refer to my opinions as "garbage" and "slander" and has not been corrected by him in anyway. I am very tired of this double standard, as are other AOL members in the Bahai Forums.

Please read especially "The Baha'i Technique" and AOL:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/AOL.htm>

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

What is taking place on the AOL Bahai Forums is exceedingly complex and will require serious efforts on the part of AOL personnel if you are to understand and make the right decisions.

Other than a fair and unbiased Forum Leader, I have been concerned primarily with 3 ISSUES:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais (which appear now to have been fixed).

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm>

I am forwarding this message to the HostMGR@aol.com and the TOSBoards1@aol.com in the hope that one or the other can assist in finding a person to serve fairly and impartially as Bahai Forum Leader.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 6:07 PM
To: Jimo3@aol.com; HANI72@aol.com; CRust60001@aol.com;
AAl929596@aol.com; ccrawfeild@aol.com; Mr Mahdi; Nadle; Ruletherod;
Macho786@aol.com; Member1700@aol.com; PParvin@aol.com;
RayHanania@aol.com; RobertNik@aol.com; SAMaso@aol.com;
Shaksway@aol.com; Smastr@aol.com
Subject: Re: HostMGR & TOSBoards1 (Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations)

I believe these TOSsed messages by Mark Foster reveal quite clearly what he and other fundamentalists on AOL are attempting to suppress....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: to TOS
Date: 2/18/1999 11:06:43 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Sent to TOS for attacks and spamming

Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
Date: 02/18/1999 07:08 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990218080819.27436.00000683@ng90.aol.com>

>Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>Date: 2/14/1999 1:02 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Smaneck
>Message-id: <19990214130206.20954.00002224@ng-fi1.aol.com>
>
>Christine asks:
>
>>Dearest Mr. Foster,
>>Who are you?
>>What is your authority?
>
>If I can answer for Dr. Foster. He is a professor of sociology at Johnson >City Community College. He is hired by the head of the spirituality forums
to >manage the Baha'i forum. Dr. Foster is a Baha'i. The leaders of each forum
>typically belong to the religion in question since the forums are designed
to >support each religion.

He's paid MONEY for what he's doing!!!

**>
>>Isn't this a Non-Baha'i board? Shouldn't a Non-bahi be in charge?
>
>Christine, we've been through this before.

Her point should not be brushed aside. It's a valid question, one I support.
Two previous Bahais have demonstrated they could not be fair Forum
Leaders
and were dismissed by AOL. Speaking as a Bahai, I believe Foster has already
shown he is not playing fairly....

This is a non-Baha'i folder on the >Baha'i Board. It is not a non-Baha'i Board. As such it is still bound by >the TOS rules for spirituality forums which I placed up before. Folders do >not have separate people in charge. The description of the folder is >misleading and we have not been able to get that changed as yet. But TOS
>rules still apply regardless of how the folder is described.
>
>
>warmest,

>
>Susan Maneck

What is the name and address of the Spiritual ity Forum Leader who has hired Mark Foster?

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: to TOS
Date: 2/18/1999 11:04:44 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Sent to TOS for spamming.

Subj: to TOS
Date: 2/18/1999 10:59:36 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Another one - same reason

Subject: Re: Christine - TOS problems
Date: 02/18/1999 07:17 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990218081720.27436.00000687@ng90.aol.com>

>Subject: Re: Christine - TOS problems
>Date: 2/15/1999 4:10 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Chrrrstine
>Message-id: <19990215041017.20966.00003093@ng-fi1.aol.com>
>
>Sunni, You Wrote,
>>Christine
>>
>>If you sincerely feel that Baha'is are violating AOL TOS then you should >>report them. AOL will make the decision if it is truly a violation or >>not.
>
>>
>>You don't have to sit back and wait for someone else to do it if you >>think
>>it >>should be done. Just got to keyword: notify AOL and follow the >>instructions.
>>
>>Sunni
>>
>Sunni, A lot of Baha'is know about the double standard. It happened on a >Crowded day. I Do not believe in TOSing people (Unless threatened) or >ignoring people. I am confident to stand on my ability to defend my beliefs.

>I wish only to be treated fairly by the online Baha'i community. Although I >am slowly realizing that Fairness on this forum is impossible.
>Love,
>Christine

You're quite right.... Bahais are not playing fairly here and are abusing the TOS system.

You can write the hostmgr@aol.com and TOSBoards1@aol.com about this fact if you like. I urge others concerned about the manner in which Mark Foster is hitting people with false TOSs to make their views known to AOL.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: to TOS
Date: 2/18/1999 10:50:13 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Sent to CAT for board disruption. You can't make these sorts of accusations.

Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer
Date: 02/18/1999 07:42 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990218084244.27436.00000703@ng90.aol.com>

>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer
>Date: 2/15/1999 4:51 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Mr Mahdi
>Message-id: <19990215165123.11988.00002094@ng103.aol.com>
>
>Too bad you and Mark were the only ones that saw the post before yours truly >yanked them off the third time. 3 of my post were yanked off, and I am being >seriuos this time, I found my posts as one of most "mild" posts I writen.
>The post you just read was yanked because it didnt fit a post that belonged >to a "support" forum. Oh well, like your posts are supporting and praising >mines. I see the typical double-standard >going on here.
>Mahdi

AOL does provide for a system of TOS appeal. Write TOSBoards1@aol.com regarding the double standards that are now being used to drive people off these Boards. The hostmgr@aol.com should hear your views.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: to TOS
Date: 2/18/1999 10:47:30 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Again, sent to TOS for board disruption.

Subject: Re: Please Read!!!
Date: 02/18/1999 07:49 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990218084955.27436.00000708@ng90.aol.com>

>Subject: Please Read!!!
>Date: 2/15/1999 5:26 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: RBCF Mark
>Message-id: <19990215172653.02876.00000868@ng-ch1.aol.com>
>
>Folks,
>
>I am honestly getting tired of sending so many posts along to CAT
>(Community >Action Team -- the folks who handle TOS reports). However, I am >required to >do so, as a part of my volunteer position in this forum. But it is getting >old rather quickly.
>
>May I make a personal plea that we please treat each other with the >human >dignity that each of us deserve?

What about Bahais, Mark? Are they going to respect others' opinions? After over 22 years in the Bahai Faith, I would find it to be a first....

It doesn't matter whether we agree with >someone. We can still address each person with basic human kindness. If we >would begin to do so, the majority of TOS reports (by myself and by others)
>would end.

Sounds like a threat, none too veiled.... Unfortunately, I and others believe you are using a decidedly double standard in choosing who to report on to the TOSGeneral.... I don't believe there's any doubt that that is the case.

>
>Also, we need to bear in mind that proselytizing (meaning, trying to convert

>someone to one's own religion) or attacking or belittling the religion of >that particular forum is a TOS violation, plain and simple. Translation:
>Members of another religions trying to convert Baha'is to their religion
are >in violation of TOS regulations. And members of other religions attacking
or >belittling the Baha'i Faith are in violation of TOS
>regulations.

What about Bahais harassing and attacking Bahais and non-Bahais on and off
of AOL? I believe you're using a double standard here once again.

>

>People, I didn't make those rules up. They come from one of two places:
>Either from CAT itself or from the policy makers of the spirituality forums
>(of which the Baha'i Forum is a part).

You and other Bahais are interpreting and using them to further your own interpretations of what the Bahai Faith is or should be. AOL personnel are extremely naive and uninformed in this regard but some are not....

>

>Sincerely, Mark A. Foster
>Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager
><https://www.markfoster.net>
><https://markfoster.org>
><https://bahai.nu>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: to TOS

Date: 2/18/1999 10:38:37 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: RBCF Mark

To: FG

Again, sent to TOS, for the same reason.

Subject: Other victims of false TOSs

Date: 02/18/1999 09:14 Central Standard Time

From: FG
Message-id: <19990218101450.27436.00000763@ng90.aol.com>

FYI

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc
Date: Thursday, February 18, 1999 10:06 AM
Subject: fw nadle@aol.com Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

>I ask Bahais and non-Bahais who are familiar with >the methods fundamentalist Bahais use to suppress
>free speech and conscience to also write the hostmgr@aol.com
>and the TOSBoards1@aol.com to help encourage them
>to rectify the situation. It seems to me that basically the same >dynamics that have played themselves out with the opposition >to talk.religion.bahai is now taking place, has been really for >a long time, at least since last August, on AOL....

>
>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>
>
>
>

-----Original Message-----

>From: FG@aol.com <FG@aol.com>
>To: Nadle@aol.com <Nadle@aol.com>
>Cc: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
>Date: Thursday, February 18, 1999 1:58 AM
>Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?

>
>

>>He's been doing the same thing to me and several >>other people who don't share the fundamentalist
>>mindset. I've spoken with an AOL person regarding the >>whole situation. We can appeal the false TOSs by >>writing the TOSBoard1@aol.com and hostmgr@aol.com.

>>
>>I've just forwarded a dozen or more messages from various >>people complaining now in For Non-Bahais to the above
>>addresses and suggest you write them as soon as you can
>>so that they hear from someone else. You know the literalists >>have and will make me out to be a lone kook otherwise. I

>>
>>Encourage others to do the same. AOL woke up in the past >>and got ride of Vahid and Edmund, former "Forum Leaders."

>>
>>We can depend on them to do the right thing with Mark Foster
>>too but have to be patient and make the extra effort to inform >>them what he's really doing now on AOL.

>>
>>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>>
>>
>>
>>

>>Subj: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>>Date: 2/18/1999 9:26:24 AM Eastern Standard Time

>>From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)
 >>To: FG@aol.com
 >>
 >>Fred,
 >>
 >>I'm getting really ticked off with Mark's censorship.
 >>
 >>I was wrong and you, it turns out, have been right.
 >>
 >>I wasnt to send a complaint to AOL about Mark. He's pulled several of my >>posts and forwarded them to TOS. TOS, however, have blown him off.
 >>
 >>When I repost those deleted posts, he yanks them again, and forwards
 >them -
 >>yet again - to TOS.
 >>
 >>What do I do?
 >>
 >>Thank you for the information.
 >>
 >>Sincerely,
 >>Larry Rhodes
 >>
 >>
 >>----- Headers -----
 >>Return-Path: <nadle@aol.com>
 >>Received: from rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (rly-zd03.mail.aol.com [172.31.33.227])
 >by >>air-zd03.mail.aol.com (v56.26) with SMTP; Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:23
 -0500
 >>Received: from ngeout01.news.aol.com (ngeout01.news.aol.com >[152.163.176.244])
 >> by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
 >> with SMTP id JAA07001 for <FG@aol.com>;
 >> Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:20 -0500 (EST)
 >>Received: from ladder01.news.aol.com (ladder01.news-fddi.aol.com >>[172.16.30.168]) by ngeout01.news.aol.com (8.6.12/8.6.12) with ESMTP id
 >>JAA29829 for <FG@aol.com>; Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:23 -0500
 >>Date: 18 Feb 1999 09:26:22 EST
 >>Newsgroups: aol.boards.internal0.top-o-world.aol-department-
 >>level.associations-specia.bahai.for-non-bahais1f6ff4
 >>To: FG@aol.com
 >>Organization: AOL <https://www.aol.com>
 >>References: <19990218080242.27436.00000677@ng90.aol.com>
 >>From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)
 >>Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
 >>Message-ID: <19990218092622.27682.00003216@ng97.aol.com>
 >>
 >
 >

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
 alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: To TOS
Date: 2/18/1999 10:35:33 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Subject: AOL Bahai censorship via false TOS allegations
Date: 02/18/1999 09:21 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990218102111.27436.00000768@ng90.aol.com>

I sent this to TOS for action. Of course, it is, as always, their decision, not mine.

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc
Date: Thursday, February 18, 1999 10:06 AM
Subject: fw nadle@aol.com Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

>I ask Bahais and non-Bahais who are familiar with >the methods fundamentalist Bahais use to suppress
>free speech and conscience to also write the hostmgr@aol.com
>and the TOSBoards1@aol.com to help encourage them
>to rectify the situation. It seems to me that basically the same >dynamics that have played themselves out with the opposition >to talk.religion.bahai is now taking place, has been really for >a long time, at least since last August, on AOL....

>

>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>

>

>

>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: FG@aol.com <FG@aol.com>
>To: Nadle@aol.com <Nadle@aol.com>
>Cc: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
>Date: Thursday, February 18, 1999 1:58 AM
>Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?

>

>

>>He's been doing the same thing to me and several >>other people who don't share the fundamentalist
>>mindset. I've spoken with an AOL person regarding the >>whole situation. We can appeal the false TOSs by >>writing the TOSBoard1@aol.com and hostmgr@aol.com.

>>

>>I've just forwarded a dozen or more messages from various
>>people complaining now in For Non-Bahais to the above
>>addresses and suggest you write them as soon as you can
>>so that they hear from someone else. You know the literalists >>have and will make me out to be a lone kook otherwise. I

>>

>>Encourage others to do the same. AOL woke up in the past >>and got ride of Vahid and Edmund, former "Forum Leaders."

>>

>>We can depend on them to do the right thing with Mark Foster
>>too but have to be patient and make the extra effort to inform

>>them what he's really doing now on AOL.
>>
>>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, >>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>Subj: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>>Date: 2/18/1999 9:26:24 AM Eastern Standard Time
>>From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)
>>To: FG@aol.com
>>
>>Fred,
>>
>>I'm getting really ticked off with Mark's censorship.
>>
>>I was wrong and you, it turns out, have been right.
>>
>>I wasnt to send a complaint to AOL about Mark. He's pulled several of my >>posts and forwarded them to TOS. TOS, however, have blown him off.
>>
>>When I repost those deleted posts, he yanks them again, and forwards
>them -
>>yet again - to TOS.
>>
>>What do I do?
>>
>>Thank you for the information.
>>
>>Sincerely,
>>Larry Rhodes
>>
>>
>>----- Headers -----
>>Return-Path: <nadle@aol.com>
>>Received: from rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (rly-zd03.mail.aol.com [172.31.33.227])
>by >>air-zd03.mail.aol.com (v56.26) with SMTP; Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:23
-0500
>>Received: from ngeout01.news.aol.com (ngeout01.news.aol.com [152.163.176.244])
>> by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
>> with SMTP id JAA07001 for <FG@aol.com>;
>> Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:20 -0500 (EST)
>>Received: from ladder01.news.aol.com (ladder01.news-fddi.aol.com [172.16.30.168]) by ngeout01.news.aol.com (8.6.12/8.6.12) with ESMTP id
>>JAA29829 for <FG@aol.com>; Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:23 -0500
>>Date: 18 Feb 1999 09:26:22 EST
>>Newsgroups: aol.boards.internal0.top-o-world.aol-department-
>>level.associations-specia.bahai.for-non-bahais1f6ff4
>>To: FG@aol.com
>>Organization: AOL <https://www.aol.com>
>>References: <19990218080242.27436.00000677@ng90.aol.com>
>>From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)
>>Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>>Message-ID: <19990218092622.27682.00003216@ng97.aol.com>
>>
>
>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 6:07 PM
Subject: Re: HostMGR & TOSBoards1 (Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations)

I believe these TOSsed messages by Mark Foster reveal quite clearly what he and other fundamentalists on AOL are attempting to suppress....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: to TOS
Date: 2/18/1999 11:06:43 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Sent to TOS for attacks and spamming

Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
Date: 02/18/1999 07:08 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990218080819.27436.00000683@ng90.aol.com>

>Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>Date: 2/14/1999 1:02 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Smaneck
>Message-id: <19990214130206.20954.00002224@ng-fi1.aol.com>
>
>Christine asks:
>
>>Dearest Mr. Foster,
>>Who are you?
>>What is your authority?
>
>If I can answer for Dr. Foster. He is a professor of sociology at Johnson >City Community College. He is hired by the head of the spirituality forums
to >manage the Baha'i forum. Dr. Foster is a Baha'i. The leaders of each forum
>typically belong to the religion in question since the forums are designed
to >support each religion.

He's paid MONEY for what he's doing!!!

>

>>Isn't this a Non-Baha'i board? Shouldn't a Non-bahi be in charge?

>

>Christine, we've been through this before.

Her point should not be brushed aside. It's a valid question, one I support. Two previous Bahais have demonstrated they could not be fair Forum Leaders and were dismissed by AOL. Speaking as a Bahai, I believe Foster has already shown he is not playing fairly....

This is a non-Baha'i folder on the >Baha'i Board. It is not a non-Baha'i Board. As such it is still bound by >the TOS rules for spirituality forums which I placed up before. Folders do >not have separate people in charge. The description of the folder is >misleading and we have not been able to get that changed as yet. But TOS >rules still apply regardless of how the folder is described.

>

>

>warmest,

>

>Susan Maneck

What is the name and address of the Spiritual ity Forum Leader who has hired Mark Foster?

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: to TOS

Date: 2/18/1999 11:04:44 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: RBCF Mark

To: FG

Sent to TOS for spamming.

Subj: to TOS

Date: 2/18/1999 10:59:36 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: RBCF Mark

To: FG

Another one - same reason

Subject: Re: Christine - TOS problems

Date: 02/18/1999 07:17 Central Standard Time

From: FG

Message-id: <19990218081720.27436.00000687@ng90.aol.com>

>Subject: Re: Christine - TOS problems

>Date: 2/15/1999 4:10 AM Eastern Standard Time

>From: Chrrrstine

>Message-id: <19990215041017.20966.00003093@ng-fi1.aol.com>

>

>Sunni, You Wrote,

>>Christine

>>

>>If you sincerely feel that Baha'is are violating AOL TOS then you should >>report them. AOL will make the decision if it is truly a violation or not.

>

>>

>>You don't have to sit back and wait for someone else to do it if you think

>it

>>should be done. Just got to keyword: notify AOL and follow the >instructions.

>>

>>Sunni

>>

>Sunni, A lot of Baha'is know about the double standard. It happened on a >Crowded day. I Do not believe in TOSing people (Unless threatened) or >ignoring people. I am confident to stand on my ability to defend my beliefs.

>I wish only to be treated fairly by the online Baha'i community. Although >am slowly realizing that Fairness on this forum is impossible.
I

>Love,

>Christine

You're quite right.... Bahais are not playing fairly here and are abusing the TOS system.

You can write the hostmgr@aol.com and TOSBoards1@aol.com about this fact if you like. I urge others concerned about the manner in which Mark Foster is hitting people with false TOSs to make their views known to AOL.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: to TOS

Date: 2/18/1999 10:50:13 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: RBCF Mark

To: FG

Sent to CAT for board disruption. You can't make these sorts of accusations.

Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer
Date: 02/18/1999 07:42 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990218084244.27436.00000703@ng90.aol.com>

>Subject: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer
>Date: 2/15/1999 4:51 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Mr Mahdi
>Message-id: <19990215165123.11988.00002094@ng103.aol.com>
>
>Too bad you and Mark were the only ones that saw the post before yours truly >yanked them off the third time. 3 of my post were yanked off, and I am being >seriuos this time, I found my posts as one of most "mild" posts I writen.
>The post you just read was yanked because it didnt fit a post that belonged >to a "support" forum. Oh well, like your posts are supporting and praising >mines. I see the typical double-standard >going on here.
>Mahdi

AOL does provide for a system of TOS appeal. Write TOSBoards1@aol.com regarding the double standards that are now being used to drive people off these Boards. The hostmgr@aol.com should hear your views.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: to TOS
Date: 2/18/1999 10:47:30 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Again, sent to TOS for board disruption.

Subject: Re: Please Read!!!
Date: 02/18/1999 07:49 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990218084955.27436.00000708@ng90.aol.com>

>Subject: Please Read!!!
>Date: 2/15/1999 5:26 PM Eastern Standard Time
>From: RBCF Mark
>Message-id: <19990215172653.02876.00000868@ng-ch1.aol.com>
>
>Folks,
>
>I am honestly getting tired of sending so many posts along to CAT (Community >Action Team -- the folks who handle TOS reports). However, I am required to >do so, as a part of my volunteer position in this forum. But it is getting >old rather quickly.

>

>May I make a personal plea that we please treat each other with the human

>dignity that each of us deserve?

What about Bahais, Mark? Are they going to respect others' opinions? After over 22 years in the Bahai Faith, I would find it to be a first....

It doesn't matter whether we agree with >someone. We can still address each person with basic human kindness. If we >would begin to do so, the majority of TOS reports (by myself and by others)

>would end.

Sounds like a threat, none too veiled.... Unfortunately, I and others believe you are using a decidedly double standard in choosing who to report

on to the TOSGeneral.... I don't believe there's any doubt that that is the case.

>

>Also, we need to bear in mind that proselytizing (meaning, trying to convert

>someone to one's own religion) or attacking or belittling the religion of >that particular forum is a TOS violation, plain and simple. Translation:

>Members of another religions trying to convert Baha'is to their religion
are >in violation of TOS regulations. And members of other religions attacking

or

>belittling the Baha'i Faith are in violation of TOS

>regulations.

What about Bahais harassing and attacking Bahais and non-Bahais on and off

of AOL? I believe you're using a double standard here once again.

>

>People, I didn't make those rules up. They come from one of two places:

>Either from CAT itself or from the policy makers of the spirituality forums

>(of which the Baha'i Forum is a part).

You and other Bahais are interpreting and using them to further your own interpretations of what the Bahai Faith is or should be. AOL personnel are extremely naive and uninformed in this regard but some are not....

>

>Sincerely, Mark A. Foster

>Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager

><https://www.markfoster.net>

><https://markfoster.org>

><https://bahai.nu>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: to TOS
Date: 2/18/1999 10:38:37 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Again, sent to TOS, for the same reason.

Subject: Other victims of false TOSs
Date: 02/18/1999 09:14 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990218101450.27436.00000763@ng90.aol.com>

FYI

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc
Date: Thursday, February 18, 1999 10:06 AM
Subject: fw nadle@aol.com Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

>I ask Bahais and non-Bahais who are familiar with >the methods fundamentalist Bahais use to suppress
>free speech and conscience to also write the hostmgr@aol.com
>and the TOSBoards1@aol.com to help encourage them
>to rectify the situation. It seems to me that basically the same >dynamics that have played themselves out with the opposition >to talk.religion.bahai is now taking place, has been really for >a long time, at least since last August, on AOL....

>

>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>

>

>

>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: FG@aol.com <FG@aol.com>
>To: Nadle@aol.com <Nadle@aol.com>
>Cc: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
>Date: Thursday, February 18, 1999 1:58 AM
>Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?

>

>

>>He's been doing the same thing to me and several >>other people who don't share the fundamentalist
>>mindset. I've spoken with an AOL person regarding the >>whole situation. We can appeal the false TOSs by >>writing the TOSBoard1@aol.com and hostmgr@aol.com.

>>
>>I've just forwarded a dozen or more messages from various >>people complaining now in For Non-Bahais to the above
>>addresses and suggest you write them as soon as you can
>>so that they hear from someone else. You know the literalists >>have and will make me out to be a lone kook otherwise. I
>>
>>Encourage others to do the same. AOL woke up in the past >>and got ride of Vahid and Edmund, former "Forum Leaders."
>>
>>We can depend on them to do the right thing with Mark Foster
>>too but have to be patient and make the extra effort to inform >>them what he's really doing now on AOL.
>>
>>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>Subj: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>>Date: 2/18/1999 9:26:24 AM Eastern Standard Time
>>From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)
>>To: FG@aol.com
>>
>>Fred,
>>
>>I'm getting really ticked off with Mark's censorship.
>>
>>I was wrong and you, it turns out, have been right.
>>
>>I wasnt to send a complaint to AOL about Mark. He's pulled several of my >>posts and forwarded them to TOS. TOS, however, have blown him off.
>>
>>When I repost those deleted posts, he yanks them again, and forwards
>them -
>>yet again - to TOS.
>>
>>What do I do?
>>
>>Thank you for the information.
>>
>>Sincerely,
>>Larry Rhodes
>>
>>
>>----- Headers -----
>>Return-Path: <nadle@aol.com>
>>Received: from rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (rly-zd03.mail.aol.com [172.31.33.227])
>by >>air-zd03.mail.aol.com (v56.26) with SMTP; Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:23
-0500
>>Received: from ngeout01.news.aol.com (ngeout01.news.aol.com [152.163.176.244])
>> by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
>> with SMTP id JAA07001 for <FG@aol.com>;
>> Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:20 -0500 (EST)
>>Received: from ladder01.news.aol.com (ladder01.news-fddi.aol.com [172.16.30.168]) by ngeout01.news.aol.com (8.6.12/8.6.12) with

ESMTP id

>>JAA29829 for <FG@aol.com>; Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:23 -0500
>>Date: 18 Feb 1999 09:26:22 EST
>>Newsgroups: aol.boards.internal0.top-o-world.aol-department-
>>level.associations-specia.bahai.for-non-bahais1f6ff4
>>To: FG@aol.com
>>Organization: AOL <https://www.aol.com>
>>References: <19990218080242.27436.00000677@ng90.aol.com>
>>From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)
>>Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>>Message-ID: <19990218092622.27682.00003216@ng97.aol.com>
>>
>
>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: To TOS
Date: 2/18/1999 10:35:33 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Subject: AOL Bahai censorship via false TOS allegations
Date: 02/18/1999 09:21 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990218102111.27436.00000768@ng90.aol.com>

I sent this to TOS for action. Of course, it is, as always, their decision, not mine.

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc
Date: Thursday, February 18, 1999 10:06 AM
Subject: fw nadle@aol.com Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

>I ask Bahais and non-Bahais who are familiar with >the methods fundamentalist Bahais use to suppress
>free speech and conscience to also write the hostmgr@aol.com
>and the TOSBoards1@aol.com to help encourage them
>to rectify the situation. It seems to me that basically the same >dynamics that have played themselves out with the opposition >to talk.religion.bahai is now taking place, has been really for >a long time, at least since last August, on AOL....

>

>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>

>

>

>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: FG@aol.com <FG@aol.com>

>To: Nadle@aol.com <Nadle@aol.com>
>Cc: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
>Date: Thursday, February 18, 1999 1:58 AM
>Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>
>
>>He's been doing the same thing to me and several >>other people who don't share the fundamentalist
>>mindset. I've spoken with an AOL person regarding the >>whole situation. We can appeal the false TOSs by >>writing the TOSBoard1@aol.com and hostmgr@aol.com.
>>
>>I've just forwarded a dozen or more messages from various >>people complaining now in For Non-Bahais to the above
>>addresses and suggest you write them as soon as you can
>>so that they hear from someone else. You know the literalists >>have and will make me out to be a lone kook otherwise. I
>>
>>Encourage others to do the same. AOL woke up in the past >>and got ride of Vahid and Edmund, former "Forum Leaders."
>>
>>We can depend on them to do the right thing with Mark Foster
>>too but have to be patient and make the extra effort to inform >>them what he's really doing now on AOL.
>>
>>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>Subj: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>>Date: 2/18/1999 9:26:24 AM Eastern Standard Time
>>From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)
>>To: FG@aol.com
>>
>>Fred,
>>
>>I'm getting really ticked off with Mark's censorship.
>>
>>I was wrong and you, it turns out, have been right.
>>
>>I wasnt to send a complaint to AOL about Mark. He's pulled several of my >>posts and forwarded them to TOS. TOS, however, have blown him off.
>>
>>When I repost those deleted posts, he yanks them again, and forwards
>them -
>>yet again - to TOS.
>>
>>What do I do?
>>
>>Thank you for the information.
>>
>>Sincerely,
>>Larry Rhodes
>>
>>
>>----- Headers -----
>>Return-Path: <nadle@aol.com>
>>Received: from rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (rly-zd03.mail.aol.com [172.31.33.227])
>by

>>air-zd03.mail.aol.com (v56.26) with SMTP; Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:23 -0500
>>Received: from ngeout01.news.aol.com (ngeout01.news.aol.com >[152.163.176.244])
>> by rly-zd03.mx.aol.com (8.8.8/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)
>> with SMTP id JAA07001 for <FG@aol.com>;
>> Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:20 -0500 (EST)
>>Received: from ladder01.news.aol.com (ladder01.news-fddi.aol.com >>[172.16.30.168]) by ngeout01.news.aol.com (8.6.12/8.6.12) with ESMTP id
>>JAA29829 for <FG@aol.com>; Thu, 18 Feb 1999 09:26:23 -0500
>>Date: 18 Feb 1999 09:26:22 EST
>>Newsgroups: aol.boards.internal0.top-o-world.aol-department-
>>level.associations-specia.bahai.for-non-bahais1f6ff4
>>To: FG@aol.com
>>Organization: AOL <https://www.aol.com>
>>References: <19990218080242.27436.00000677@ng90.aol.com>
>>From: nadle@aol.com (Nadle)
>>Subject: Re: Who is Mark Foster?
>>Message-ID: <19990218092622.27682.00003216@ng97.aol.com>
>>
>
>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 6:11 PM
To: Jimo3#aol.com; HANI72#aol.com; CRust60001#aol.com;
AAl929596#aol.com; ccrawfeild@aol.com; Mr Mahdi; Nadle; Ruletherod;
Macho786#aol.com; Member1700#aol.com; PParvin#aol.com;
RayHanania@aol.com; RobertNik#aol.com; SAMaso#aol.com;
Shaksway@aol.com; Smastr@aol.com
Subject: fw Mr Mahdi Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

Subj: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer
Date: 2/18/1999 5:05:16 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Mr Mahdi
To: FG

These are the posts that were yanked off by Mark (you can post these on
you
site if you wish):

Subj: sent to TOS
Date: 2/15/99 1:12:27 PM Central Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: Mr Mahdi

I sent this one to TOS for the same reason as the last one. The Baha'i Faith Forum is a support forum.

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Faith Forum Manager

Subject: Getting TOSSed in the slammer

Date: 2/15/99 12:36 Central Standard Time

From: Mr Mahdi

Message-id: <19990215133644.04250.00002113@ng43.aol.com>

I would like everybody to know that two of my posts were yanked off by the fair and open-minded Mark. I was expressing myself like I do always in these excellent posts. I wrote about the oppressive and suppressive way "some" bahais treat people with critical views of the bahai faith. I mentioned my treatment by two very well known people here, let just say Mrs.

W and Mrs/PhD S. Mark obviously felt that I was prostelyzing Islam here so he yanked my post off and sent me an e-mail telling he reported me twice to TOS. I felt this was and is unfair, and it is proof of the silence of dissenters and sincere and open minded thinkers by certain extremist elements. I would want Mark to post my posts that were yanked off so people can see for themselves. I had it from the law, the system, and now the bahais here at AOL. I just cant get out of trouble for some reason, even when I swear I didnt do anything wrong.

Mahdi

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 6:11 PM

Subject: fw Mr Mahdi Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

Subj: Re: Getting TOSSed in the slammer

Date: 2/18/1999 5:05:16 PM Eastern Standard Time

From: Mr Mahdi

To: FG

These are the posts that were yanked off by Mark (you can post these on you site if you wish):

Subj: sent to TOS

Date: 2/15/99 1:12:27 PM Central Standard Time

From: RBCF Mark

To: Mr Mahdi

I sent this one to TOS for the same reason as the last one. The Baha'i Faith Forum is a support forum.

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Faith Forum Manager

Subject: Getting TOSSed in the slammer

Date: 2/15/99 12:36 Central Standard Time

From: Mr Mahdi

Message-id: <19990215133644.04250.00002113@ng43.aol.com>

I would like everybody to know that two of my posts were yanked off by the fair and open-minded Mark. I was expressing myself like I do always in these excellent posts. I wrote about the oppressive and suppressive way

"some" bahais treat people with critical views of the bahai faith. I mentioned my treatment by two very well known people here, let just say Mrs.

W and Mrs/PhD S. Mark obviously felt that I was prostelyzing Islam here so he yanked my post off and sent me an e-mail telling he reported me twice to TOS. I felt this was and is unfair, and it is proof of the silence of dissenters and sincere and open minded thinkers by certain extremist elements. I would want Mark to post my posts that were yanked off so people can see for themselves. I had it from the law, the system, and now the bahais here at AOL. I just cant get out of trouble for some reason, even when I swear I didnt do anything wrong.
Mahdi

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 6:18 PM
Subject: fw Mr Mahdi Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

FYI

Subj: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer
Date: 2/18/1999 5:11:16 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Mr Mahdi
To: FG

Subj: sent to TOS
Date: 2/17/99 3:54:26 AM Central Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: Mr Mahdi

Mahdi,

This is the Baha'i Forum. Referring to Baha'i activities, of any sort, as "BS" is, IMO, inappropriate. I have forwarded this message to TOS with a recommendation that you not be allowed to post messages on this forum.

Subject: The Blind Faith For Dummies Book
Date: 02/16/1999 23:09 Central Standard Time
From: Mr Mahdi
Message-id: <19990217000921.16804.00001419@ng111.aol.com>

>On this issue of science, the bahai faith compromises its beliefs in order to >gain converts from the scientific world. The catchy slogan of unity of >religion and science has a price to pay when it comes to Creation Vs.
>materialistic evolution. Bahais believe that Adam and Eve story in the bible >and Quran is an allegory. God teaches us that Adam and Eve had no parents, >but the bahai believes in evolution. This is a clear contradiction. How I >respond to atheists is that I prove that materialistic evolution is a >perception of how creation came to be, and when I do that I put the >materialist in a corner and on the run, not the other way around. God can be >proven intellectually, and I hope the cynics out there who believe God can >only be proven in faith realize this.
>Mahdi

Yes, I am quoting myself. I like to remind people here on the curse of blind faith and the curse of determining God based on whether or not it agrees with your desires. I hope people realize how stupid and unintellectual they sound if they believe in something that they themselves can't prove except thru beating around the bush apologetic BS.
Mahdi

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 6:19 PM
Subject: fw Mr Mahdi 2 Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

FYI

Subj: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer
Date: 2/18/1999 5:13:33 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Mr Mahdi
To: FG

Subj: sent to TOS
Date: 2/17/99 4:03:21 AM Central Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: Mr Mahdi

Mahdi,

This is not the Islamic Forum. It is the Baha'i Forum. Your statement that the Baha'i Faith compromises its beliefs is, IMO, improper.

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager

Subject: Re: Susan: Homosexuality is wrong
Date: 02/16/1999 21:29 Central Standard Time
From: Mr Mahdi
Message-id: <19990216222922.00753.00002917@ng14.aol.com>

A PhD proves that you can get it without being an intellectual. PL asked why is red wine not forbidden while its has proven I guess that it is beneficial to one's health. Susan didnt respond in my opinion good enough.

I would of responded by saying that God never told us why he forbade wine except that it cause you to be mad and dizzy. God never said alcohol was not good or bad for your health, God forbade it without giving us a reason other than the two above. Also with swine, God never said he forbade swine because it can cause heart attacks, He forbade and we shouldnt speculate why God does this or that, because God's Minds is beyond human comprehension.

On this issue of science, the bahai faith compromises its beliefs in order to gain converts from the scientific world. The catchy slogan of unity of religion and science has a price to pay when it comes to Creation Vs.

materialistic evolution. Bahais believe that Adam and Eve story in the bible and Quran is an allegory. God teaches us that Adam and Eve had no parents, but the bahai believes in evolution. This is a clear contradiction. How I respond to atheists is that I prove that materialistic evolution is a perception of how creation came to be, and when I do that I put the materialist in a corner and on the run, not the other way around. God can be proven intellectually, and I hope the cynics out there who believe God can only be proven in faith realize this.
Mahdi

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 6:21 PM
Subject: fw Mr Mahdi 3 Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations)

FYI

Subj: Re: Getting TOSsed in the slammer
Date: 2/18/1999 5:14:29 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Mr Mahdi
To: FG

Subj: sent to TOS
Date: 2/17/99 4:35:29 AM Central Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: Mr Mahdi

Sent to TOS for calling people idiots.

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager

Subject: Wendy saw my intellectual skills!
Date: 02/16/1999 20:46 Central Standard Time
From: Mr Mahdi
Message-id: <19990216214630.15962.00003212@ng38.aol.com>

Tonight in the bahai chat Wendy was confronted by an atheist. She was asked about God. The atheist asked for proof that a God exist and later on after Wendy gave the "faith" response, the atheist had a chance to go toe and toe with yours truly. I ask the atheist one simple question, with Wendy paying close attention. The atheist was speechless, he got stumped, he was reaching for anything in the air, all form a simple question. This is proof that God can be proven intellectually, and the "idiots" who keep saying its "faith" that proves God's existence make it bad on all those who believe in God. Remember, God isnt a version or some vague concept of one's imagination, and the notion "of beleiving in a God that does this doesnt do that" is a waste of space. I see people who preach this type of message as the biggest reason why secularism is taking over in mainly Judeo-Christian societies. Intellectuals see truth as facts not just "beliefs" and see faith as either blind or intellectual. Unfortunately, when people who believe in God according to their whims and desires is confronted by a sincere thinker, the thinker is turned off by the nonsense of blind faith and apologetic responses. I see this as very sad, because like I said many times in the past, I cant stand "people of religion" because they leave intellectuality at the door and start ranting and raving about God is faith or my version of God must be this or that.

Mahdi

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 18, 1999 6:29 PM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: (no subject)

I am trying to communicate with a human being at AOL, not an autoresponder. The "forum's staff or supervisor" is the problem, and so I am appealing to you, the Hostmgr, and the TOSBoards1, as directed by someone on your 888-265-3733 number.

FG
FG@aol.com

Subj: Fwd: False TOSs allegations by Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster
Date: 2/18/1999 5:23:36 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: TOSGen2
To: FG

Dear Member,

Questions or comments regarding activities in a particular forum need to be addressed to the forum's staff or supervisor. Most forums have a "Feedback" or "Meet the Staff" button on their main screen; this is the best way to contact staff members.

If you are unable to locate the screen name of a staff member, you may want to go to keyword QUESTIONS or SUGGESTIONS. Your letter will be forwarded from there to the proper person.

Thank you for writing.

Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,
Donna
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

Forwarded Message:
Subj: Fwd: False TOSs allegations by Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster
Date: 2/18/1999 4:24:53 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: TOSGeneral
To: TOSGen2

[This Message (REGULAR) Has Been Forwarded By The Mail Spinner]

Forwarded Message:

Subj: Fwd: False TOSs allegations by Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster
Date: 2/18/1999 4:24:38 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: TOSBoards3
To: TOSGeneral

Forwarded Message:

Subj: Fwd: False TOSs allegations by Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster
Date: 2/18/1999 4:22:07 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: TOSBoards1
To: TOSBoards3

[This Message (REGULAR) Has Been Forwarded By The Mail Spinner]

Forwarded Message:

Subj: False TOSs allegations by Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster
Date: 2/18/1999 4:21:59 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: FG
To: Host Mgr
CC: TOSBoards1

Dear HostMGR & TOSBoards1:

I would like to state that the recent repeatedly alleged TOS violations against me and other members of the Bahai Forums are completely false. The Bahai Forum Leader, Mark Foster, has failed to perform his duties in any way whatsoever for more than EIGHT months. My request that he resign was emailed to him more than two months ago, and I have repeatedly asked him to resign. My reason for doing so is he and other fundamentalist Bahais on AOL are manipulating and using the Bahai Forums to suppress what information is available to AOL members. Let me mention that I myself have been a member of the Bahai Faith now for more than 23 years and have witnessed many similar episodes in which Bahais have suppressed the freedom of information and opinion.

I also believe these TOSs are acts of revenge against me for recently creating talk.religion.bahai on Usenet, which fundamentalist Bahais have opposed for more than two years and may be corroborated by looking at my website which documents their opposition, including their fanaticism on AOL.

Let me mention that TWO former Bahai Forums Leaders have had to be removed by AOL in the past. I'm afraid it is now painfully evident that this one too should be replaced by someone who does not play out his religious beliefs into vindictive actions against Bahais, non-Bahais, Muslims, whoever....

I should mention that Bahais of more conservative mindset regularly insult others by suggesting they're "covenant breakers" or "infirm in the covenant" and so on. These phrases are insulting to myself and others but Mark Foster has done absolutely nothing to bring a halt to such behavior. One Bahai, Susan Maneck, has gone so far as to repeatedly refer to my opinions as "garbage" and "slander" and has not been corrected by him in anyway. I am very tired of this double standard, as are other AOL members in the Bahai Forums.

Please read especially "The Baha'i Technique" and AOL:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/AOL.htm>

What is taking place on the AOL Bahai Forums is exceedingly complex and will require serious efforts on the part of AOL personnel if you are to understand and make the right decisions.

Other than a fair and unbiased Forum Leader, I have been concerned primarily with 3 ISSUES:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais (which appear now to have been fixed).

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm>

I am forwarding this message to the HostMGR@aol.com and the TOSBoards1@aol.com in the hope that one or the other can assist in finding a person to serve fairly and impartially as Bahai Forum Leader.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: Nadle@aol.com[SMTP:Nadle@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, February 19, 1999 10:56 AM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: The TOS game

Fred,

When you send e-mail to me a several other people simultaneously, please use BBCs for all of us.

Thanks,
Lars

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 19, 1999 8:39 AM
Subject: Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

Ron House wrote in message <36CCF76F.680B64F0@usq.edu.au>...
>FG wrote:

>

>> Foster has repeatedly violated the TOS system on AOL
>> against me and several other individuals by alleging FALSE
>> TOSs and should be removed immediately from his position
>> as Forum Leader.

>

>> I am presently working on a message to the hostmgr@aol.com
>> and TOSBoards1@aol.com to this effect and encourage others >> who have been targeted by him and other Bahai fundamentalists
>> on AOL to write also.

>

>Discussions about AOL or the actions of individuals there are OFF TOPIC >for this newsgroup. I respectfully ask everyone posting to either relate >their comments to the Baha'i Faith or to cease.

As an extension of the same censorship and tyranny that opposed the creation of talk.religion.bahai for the past TWO YEARS, this topic is hardly irrelevant....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 19, 1999 8:42 AM
To: Mr Mahdi
Subject: Re: fw Mr Mahdi Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

Smaneck wrote in message <19990218234225.26429.00003514@ng-cg1.aol.com>...

>Fred quotes Mahdi as saying:

>

>> I

>>mentioned my treatment by two very well known people here, let just say

Mrs.

>>W and Mrs/PhD S.

><snip> >I swear I didnt do anything wrong.

>

>What Mahdi is referring to here is the fact that after he publicly posted an >Instant Message between himself and "W" I refused to communicate with him

via

>IMs any longer. When I refused and blocked his messages he began to invent

new >screen names to get past my blocks and continue to harrass me. .

Naturally

I

>reported these incidents to AOL and that is why Mahdi believes he is being >persecuted.

I don't know if the incident is true or not, but I do know that Bahais have harassed me in exactly the same way with Instant Messages, a kind of chat connection for AOL members. I finally had to block ALL of them....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 19, 1999 8:42 AM
Subject: Re: fw Mr Mahdi Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

Smaneck wrote in message <19990218234225.26429.00003514@ng-cg1.aol.com>...
>Fred quotes Mahdi as saying:
>
>> I
>>mentioned my treatment by two very well known people here, let just say Mrs.
>>W and Mrs/PhD S.
><snip> >I swear I didnt do anything wrong.
>
>What Mahdi is referring to here is the fact that after he publicly posted an >Instant Message between himself and "W" I refused to communicate with him
via >IMs any longer. When I refused and blocked his messages he began to invent new >screen names to get past my blocks and continue to harrass me. .
Naturally
I
>reported these incidents to AOL and that is why Mahdi believes he is being >persecuted.

I don't know if the incident is true or not, but I do know that Bahais have harassed me in exactly the same way with Instant Messages, a kind of chat connection for AOL members. I finally had to block ALL of them....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 19, 1999 8:48 AM
Subject: Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

Milissa Boyer Kafes wrote in message <7aibcp$brj$1@nnrp1.dejanews.com>...
>
>Please take this as the constructive criticism it is intended to be. Thanks

You're free to think and post what you want Milissa, and so am I....

Since the creation of talk.religion.bahai, a MAJOR campaign has begun by the fundamentalists on AOL to kick me and others off. It is related to the same tyranny and oppression that have manifested themselves on soc.religion.bahai and elsewhere during the last decade or so.... In my opinion, the whole topic BELONGS on talk.religion.bahai, the only widely accessible and free forum on the Bahai Faith.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 19, 1999 10:05 AM
To: Smastr@aol.com
Subject: Re: The TOS game

Sorry. I'll remove you from it.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Saturday, February 20, 1999 9:51 AM
To: HostMgr@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com; TOSBoards1@aol.com
Subject: Re: False TOSs allegations by Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

Dear HostMGR,

Please inform me of who does work with the Bahai Forum.

An AOL person at the 888-265-3733 number advised me to write to you to appeal the false TOSs the present Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster is hitting me and many other people with.

I was assured by writing to you I would be communicating with a human being instead of the autoresponders I get at the other addresses.

I appreciate your help and time and look forward to hearing from you.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: Re: False TOSs allegations by Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster
Date: 2/20/1999 7:31:55 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Host Mgr
To: FG

Please take me off these mailings.

I don't work with this forum.

Thanks,
Host MGR

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Saturday, February 20, 1999 2:20 PM
To: RBCFMark@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: files

Who is she? Susan Maneck?

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: files
Date: 2/20/1999 11:51:17 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Fred,

Since there are so many of them, I am going wait until our new librarian comes on board (which should be shortly). She will be able to look at your uploads, check them for TOS, etc.

I will send her a note to that effect.

Mark A. Foster

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Saturday, February 20, 1999 2:38 PM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: RBCFMark@aol.com; FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Off-topic

The message below is off topic in the For Non-Bahais folder.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subject: Qur'anic Search Engines
Date: 2/20/1999 11:46 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
Message-id: <19990220114655.01377.00000650@ng13.aol.com>

Folks,

I just uploaded an MS-DOS qur'anic search program to the Bahá'í library. However, it works fine under Windows 98 (and, presumably, under earlier versions of Windows).

I also created a new links page specifically for the Qur'án and qur'anic search engines. It is located here.

Sincerely, Mark A. Foster
Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager

https://www.markfoster.net
https://markfoster.org
https://bahai.nu

From: RBCFMark@aol.com[SMTP:RBCFMark@aol.com]
Sent: Saturday, February 20, 1999 3:58 PM
To: FG@aol.com; TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Off-topic

Fred,

It is not off-topic. It was posted as a response to a question.

We have Muslims visiting the "For Non-Baha'is" folder. They use the Qur'an.

And this message deals with a qur'anic search engine.

Mark A. Foster

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 21, 1999 9:21 PM
To: HostMgr@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: False TOSs allegations by Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

Thanks, Lauren, I appreciate your extra effort. It's been frustrating for months receiving back only autoresponder messages.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

In a message dated 2/21/1999 3:46:06 PM Eastern Standard Time, Host Mgr writes:

> Subj: Re: False TOSs allegations by Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster
> Date: 2/21/1999 3:46:06 PM Eastern Standard Time
> From: Host Mgr
> To: FG
>
> Hi, Frederick --
>

> Unfortunately, your first point of contact would be Mark as the Forum Leader.
>
>
> Let me see if I can find out if there's anyone above him that might be able > to assist you.
>
> Thanks,
> Lauren

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 21, 1999 9:20 AM
To: TOSBoards1@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: (no subject)

The Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster is exploiting the TOS rules as a form of censorship and in particular in using them to have my account permanently suspended. On Saturday I uploaded a number of files to the Bahai Libraries which he has now stated he has found ways of suppressing and alleging TOSs against. Please read his messages below as further evidence of his pattern to citing people with TOSs in order to control the information available to people on AOL.

Incidentally, the messages he falsely accuses me of "spamming" were in separate folders, Bahai Forums/ message boards/For Non-Bahais and Bahai Forums/ Message Boards/Announcements. The messages are different in content and definitely not spam. By making such bogus charges Mark Foster has found that usually AOL TOSs can be used to drive people out of the Forums for ideological reasons.

I ask you to please, as the very least, cite him with a TOS for this harassment. I believe he should actually be removed as Forum Leader because he will never be a fair and impartial person in his conduct towards people who do not share his fundamentalist Bahai views. Let me add I myself am a Bahai.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: files
Date: 2/20/1999 11:51:17 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Fred,

Since there are so many of them, I am going wait until our new librarian comes on board (which should be shortly). She will be able to look at your uploads, check them for TOS, etc.

I will send her a note to that effect.

Mark A. Foster

THE MESSAGE BELOW WAS POSTED IN A FOLDER TITLED "Announcements":

Subj: to TOS
Date: 2/20/1999 2:34:41 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Fred,

I have TOSed the below message (and the other one, which I am sending to you separately) for spamming.

After checking into it, I have determined that your files which include transcripts of conversations on newsgroups, listservs, etc. are not permitted
according to AOL TOS regulations. I have also deleted your other library files which include the same.

Sorry for any inconvenience.

Subject: 15+ megabytes of files uploaded to Libraries
Date: 02/20/1999 12:35 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990220133543.17520.00000155@ng139.aol.com>

I've uploaded more than 15 megabytes of files to the AOL Libraries today. They range from the earliest discussions on soc.religion.bahai about talk.religion.bahai during late 1996 to as recently as October 1998.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

MY MESSAGE WAS POSTED IN A FOLDER TITLED FOR NON-BAHAIS:

Subj: the other one sent to TOS for spamming
Date: 2/20/1999 2:37:05 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Here is the other one,

Mark A. Foster,
Baha'i Faith Forum Manager

Subject: For Non-Bahais
Date: 02/20/1999 12:42 Central Standard Time

From: FG
Message-id: <19990220134259.17520.00000160@ng139.aol.com>

Non-Bahais may like to know that I've uploaded more than 15 megabytes of files today to the AOL Libraries documenting the discussion for talk.religion.bahai from late 1996 through late 1998.

They are also available on my website under the talk.religion.bahai Archive.

I would like to invite the comments of the non-Bahais present on these files and related issues.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 21, 1999 9:29 AM
Subject: Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

On Saturday I had uploaded 15+ megabytes of my talk.religion.bahai archive to AOL. This is the response of the Bahai Forum Leader.
Sent to TOSBoards1@aol.com

The Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster is exploiting the TOS rules as a form of censorship and in particular in using them to have my account permanently suspended. On Saturday I uploaded a number of files to the Bahai Libraries which he has now stated he has found ways of suppressing and alleging TOSs against. Please read his messages below as further evidence of his pattern to citing people with TOSs in order to control the information available to people on AOL.

Incidentally, the messages he falsely accuses me of "spamming" were in separate folders, Bahai Forums/ message boards/For Non-Bahais and Bahai Forums/ Message Boards/Announcements. The messages are different in content and definitely not spam. By making such bogus charges Mark Foster has found that usually AOL TOSs can be used to drive people out of the Forums for ideological reasons.

I ask you to please, as the very least, cite him with a TOS for this harassment. I believe he should actually be removed as Forum Leader because he will never be a fair and impartial person in his conduct towards people who do not share his fundamentalist Bahai views. Let me add I myself am a Bahai.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: files
Date: 2/20/1999 11:51:17 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: <[A HREF="mailto:RBCF Mark">RBCF Mark](mailto:RBCF Mark)>
To: <A HREF="mailto:FG">FG>

Fred,

Since there are so many of them, I am going wait until our new librarian comes on board (which should be shortly). She will be able to look at your uploads, check them for TOS, etc.

I will send her a note to that effect.

Mark A. Foster

THE MESSAGE BELOW WAS POSTED IN A FOLDER TITLED "Announcements":

Subj: to TOS
Date: 2/20/1999 2:34:41 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: <[A HREF="mailto:RBCF Mark">RBCF Mark](mailto:RBCF Mark)>
To: <A HREF="mailto:FG">FG>

Fred,

I have TOSed the below message (and the other one, which I am sending to you separately) for spamming.

After checking into it, I have determined that your files which include transcripts of conversations on newsgroups, listservs, etc. are not permitted according to AOL TOS regulations. I have also deleted your other library files which include the same.

Sorry for any inconvenience.

Subject: 15+ megabytes of files uploaded to Libraries
Date: 02/20/1999 12:35 Central Standard Time
From: <A HREF="aol://3548:FG">FG>
Message-id: <19990220133543.17520.00000155@ng139.aol.com>

I've uploaded more than 15 megabytes of files to the AOL Libraries today. They range from the earliest discussions on soc.religion.bahai about talk.religion.bahai during late 1996 to as recently as October 1998.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

MY MESSAGE WAS POSTED IN A FOLDER TITLED
FOR NON-BAHAIS:

Subj: the other one sent to TOS for spamming
Date: 2/20/1999 2:37:05 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Here is the other one,

Mark A. Foster,
Baha'i Faith Forum Manager

Subject: For Non-Bahais
Date: 02/20/1999 12:42 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990220134259.17520.00000160@ng139.aol.com>

Non-Bahais may like to know that I've uploaded more than 15 megabytes of files today to the AOL Libraries documenting the discussion for talk.religion.bahai from late 1996 through late 1998.

They are also available on my website under the talk.religion.bahai Archive.

I would like to invite the comments of the non-Bahais present on these files and related issues.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 21, 1999 9:40 AM
To: FG
Subject: TOS rules

Subj: Re: Off-topic
Date: 2/20/1999 2:47:07 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: TOSGen1
To: FG

Dear Member,

The Community Action Team has established the following methods of reporting violations in order to maintain consistency and accuracy in reports. Please reference the following guidelines when reporting Terms of Service violations.

CHAT VIOLATIONS

To ensure consistency in the reporting and investigation of chat violations, they must be reported in one of the following ways:

- 1) Click the "Notify AOL" button on the chat room screen.
- 2) Go to keyword Notify AOL, then click "Chat".
- 3) Go to keyword NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH, click the "Notify AOL" button at the bottom, then click "Chat".
- 4) Go to keyword TOS, click "Notify AOL", then click "Chat".

All of these methods will bring a "Notify AOL" report form onto your screen.
Please make sure that the form is filled out in its entirety before sending.

You can ignore chat from another member in a chat room by double clicking on the screen name in the room list, then clicking "Ignore".

INSTANT MESSAGE VIOLATIONS

If you see a "Notify AOL" button at the bottom of the Instant Message window, click on that button. Follow the directions for filling out the pop-up form that appears on your screen, then click on "Send Report."

If there is not a "Notify AOL" button at the bottom of the Instant Message screen, please use the options below:

- 1) Go to keyword Notify AOL, click on "Instant Message Notes™," then click on the blue hyperlink to report an offensive statement.
- 2) Go to keyword NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH, click the "Notify AOL" button at the bottom, then click on "Instant Message Notes™."
- 3) Go to keyword TOS, click on "Notify AOL," then click on "Instant Message Notes™."

To block Instant Messages from specific members, please go to keyword BUDDY, click on "Privacy Preferences," and customize your IM needs using the options available.

EMAIL VIOLATIONS

Email that violates the Terms of Service MUST be forwarded in order to confirm accuracy of the mail. Simply click the "forward" icon and forward the mail to the appropriate screen name:

- 1) Mail from AOL members (without an attached file) goes to TOSEmail1. Include any relevant details with the forwarded mail.
- 2) "Spam" or "junk" mail from the Internet should be forwarded to the screen name TOSSpam.
- 3) Email with attachments should be forwarded to the screen name TOSFiles.

If you wish to block email from a particular member, you can do so by signing on with the master screen name, then going to keyword MAIL CONTROLS.

OTHER VIOLATIONS

To report a violation on a message board, web page, or an inappropriate screen name, please go to keyword NOTIFY AOL, then click the appropriate icon.

To report an inappropriate profile, simply click on the "Notify AOL" button on the bottom of the profile.

Newsgroup violations can be reported to the screen name "TOSUsenet."

Please take the time to explore these areas and familiarize yourself with them. They can be invaluable tools in your experience online. I hope this information helps you.

Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please go to Keyword: TOS Questions.

Regards,
Jason
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 21, 1999 9:40 AM
To: FG
Subject: TOS rules

Subj: Re: Off-topic
Date: 2/20/1999 2:47:07 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: TOSGen1
To: FG

Dear Member,

The Community Action Team has established the following methods of reporting violations in order to maintain consistency and accuracy in reports. Please reference the following guidelines when reporting Terms of Service violations.

CHAT VIOLATIONS

To ensure consistency in the reporting and investigation of chat violations, they must be reported in one of the following ways:

- 1) Click the "Notify AOL" button on the chat room screen.
- 2) Go to keyword Notify AOL, then click "Chat".
- 3) Go to keyword NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH, click the "Notify AOL" button at the bottom, then click "Chat".
- 4) Go to keyword TOS, click "Notify AOL", then click "Chat".

All of these methods will bring a "Notify AOL" report form onto your screen.

Please make sure that the form is filled out in its entirety before sending.

You can ignore chat from another member in a chat room by double clicking on the screen name in the room list, then clicking "Ignore".

INSTANT MESSAGE VIOLATIONS

If you see a "Notify AOL" button at the bottom of the Instant Message window, click on that button. Follow the directions for filling out the pop-up form that appears on your screen, then click on "Send Report."

If there is not a "Notify AOL" button at the bottom of the Instant Message screen, please use the options below:

- 1) Go to keyword Notify AOL, click on "Instant Message Notes™," then click on the blue hyperlink to report an offensive statement.
- 2) Go to keyword NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH, click the "Notify AOL" button at the bottom, then click on "Instant Message Notes™."
- 3) Go to keyword TOS, click on "Notify AOL," then click on "Instant Message Notes™."

To block Instant Messages from specific members, please go to keyword BUDDY, click on "Privacy Preferences," and customize your IM needs using the options available.

EMAIL VIOLATIONS

Email that violates the Terms of Service MUST be forwarded in order to confirm accuracy of the mail. Simply click the "forward" icon and forward the mail to the appropriate screen name:

1) Mail from AOL members (without an attached file) goes to TOSEmail1. Include any relevant details with the forwarded mail.

2) "Spam" or "junk" mail from the Internet should be forwarded to the screen name TOSSpam.

3) Email with attachments should be forwarded to the screen name TOSFiles.

If you wish to block email from a particular member, you can do so by signing on with the master screen name, then going to keyword MAIL CONTROLS.

OTHER VIOLATIONS

To report a violation on a message board, web page, or an inappropriate screen name, please go to keyword NOTIFY AOL, then click the appropriate icon.

To report an inappropriate profile, simply click on the "Notify AOL" button on the bottom of the profile.

Newsgroup violations can be reported to the screen name "TOSUsenet."

Please take the time to explore these areas and familiarize yourself with them. They can be invaluable tools in your experience online. I hope this information helps you.

Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please go to Keyword: TOS Questions.

Regards,
Jason
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

**-----
From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 21, 1999 10:14 AM
To: FG
Subject: Folder Suggestion - Bahai Censorship

Foster is making a concerted effort to kick me and others off AOL through alleging false TOSs at every turn. I suggest all those who care about freedom of speech start fighting back by hitting all of the fundamentalists with TOSs whenever possible, including Foster whom I've sent one in on. Both sides can play the game if that's what it takes....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subject: Folder Suggestion - Bahai Censorship
Date: 2/21/1999 8:44 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990221084459.12611.00001034@ng150.aol.com>

Since this folder, Question to Forum Leader, is where we ask questions of our Forum Leader, I would like to ask for a folder to be created titled Bahai Censorship so that this important topic and how it relates to the Bahai Faith today may be discussed by AOL members.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 21, 1999 10:14 AM
To: FG
Subject: Folder Suggestion - Bahai Censorship

Foster is making a concerted effort to kick me and others off AOL through alleging false TOSs at every turn. I suggest all those who care about freedom of speech start fighting back by hitting all of the fundamentalists with TOSs whenever possible, including Foster whom I've sent one in on. Both sides can play the game if that's what it takes....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subject: Folder Suggestion - Bahai Censorship
Date: 2/21/1999 8:44 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990221084459.12611.00001034@ng150.aol.com>

Since this folder, Question to Forum Leader, is where we ask questions of our Forum Leader, I would like to ask for a folder to be created titled Bahai Censorship so that this important topic and how it relates to the Bahai Faith today may be discussed by AOL members.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 21, 1999 9:19 PM
To: FG
Subject: Host Mgr Re: False TOSs allegations by Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

Subj: Re: False TOSs allegations by Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster
Date: 2/21/1999 3:46:06 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Host Mgr
To: FG

Hi, Frederick --

Unfortunately, your first point of contact would be Mark as the Forum Leader.

Let me see if I can find out if there's anyone above him that might be able to assist you.

Thanks,
Lauren

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 21, 1999 9:19 PM
To: FG
Subject: Host Mgr Re: False TOSs allegations by Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

Subj: Re: False TOSs allegations by Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster
Date: 2/21/1999 3:46:06 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Host Mgr
To: FG

Hi, Frederick --

Unfortunately, your first point of contact would be Mark as the Forum Leader.

Let me see if I can find out if there's anyone above him that might be able to assist you.

Thanks,
Lauren

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 21, 1999 9:25 PM
To: Barthaman
Subject: Fw: Folder Suggestion - Bahai Censorship

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
To: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Sunday, February 21, 1999 9:14 AM
Subject: Folder Suggestion - Bahai Censorship

>Foster is making a concerted effort to kick me >and others off AOL through alleging false TOSs >at every turn. I suggest all those who care about >freedom of speech start fighting back by hitting >all of the fundamentalists with TOSs whenever >possible, including Foster whom I've sent one in >on. Both sides can play the game if that's what it >takes....

>

>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>

>

>

>

>Subject: Folder Suggestion - Bahai Censorship

>Date: 2/21/1999 8:44 AM Eastern Standard Time

>From: FG

>Message-id: <19990221084459.12611.00001034@ng150.aol.com>

>

>Since this folder, Question to Forum Leader, is >where we ask questions of our Forum Leader,

>I would like to ask for a folder to be created titled

>Bahai Censorship so that this important topic >and how it relates to the Bahai Faith today may >be discussed by AOL members.

>

>

>

>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Sunday, February 21, 1999 9:51 PM

Subject: Re: AOL censorship via TOS allegations

I'm not sure I posted this message earlier in which Mark Foster admits TOSing so many people he was flagging a bit.... He seems to have recovered of late....

<HTML>>Subject: Please Read!!!

>Date: 2/15/1999 5:26 PM Eastern Standard Time

>From: RBCF Mark

>Message-id: <19990215172653.02876.00000868@ng-ch1.aol.com>

>

>Folks,

>

>I am honestly getting tired of sending so many posts along to CAT
(Community

>Action Team -- the folks who handle TOS reports). However, I am

required to >do so, as a part of my volunteer position in this forum. But it is getting >old rather quickly.

>

>May I make a personal plea that we please treat each other with the human >dignity that each of us deserve?

What about Bahais, Mark? Are they going to respect others' opinions? After over 22 years in the Bahai Faith, I would find it to be a first....

It doesn't matter whether we agree with >someone. We can still address each person with basic human kindness. If we >would begin to do so, the majority of TOS reports (by myself and by others)

>would end.

Sounds like a threat, none too veiled.... Unfortunately, I and others believe you are using a decidedly double standard in choosing who to report on to the TOSGeneral.... I don't believe there's any doubt that that is the case.

>

>Also, we need to bear in mind that proselytizing (meaning, trying to convert >someone to one's own religion) or attacking or belittling the religion of >that particular forum is a TOS violation, plain and simple. Translation:

>Members of another religions trying to convert Baha'is to their religion are >in violation of TOS regulations. And members of other religions attacking or >belittling the Baha'i Faith are in violation of TOS

>regulations.

What about Bahais harassing and attacking Bahais and non-Bahais on and off of AOL? I believe you're using a double standard here once again.

>

>People, I didn't make those rules up. They come from one of two places:

>Either from CAT itself or from the policy makers of the spirituality forums

>(of which the Baha'i Forum is a part).

You and other Bahais are interpreting and using them to further your own interpretations of what the Bahai Faith is or should be. AOL personnel are extremely naive and uninformed in this regard but some are not....

>

>Sincerely, Mark A. Foster

>Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager

><https://www.markfoster.net>

><https://markfoster.org>

><https://bahai.nu>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>

>
>

</HTML>

<HTML>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,

alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

</HTML>

From: MrMahdi@aol.com[SMTP:MrMahdi@aol.com]

Sent: Monday, February 22, 1999 4:34 PM

To: FG@hotmail.com

Subject: Re: Folder Suggestion - Bahai Censorship

Subj: Sent to TOS

Date: 2/22/99 1:25:27 PM Central Standard Time

From: RBCF Mark

To: Mr Mahdi

This message is proselytizing on the Baha'i Faith Forum. The religion forums exist for the support of a particular religion - not for debate with those of other religions. That is AOL and area policy.

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Faith Forum Manager

Subject: Re: Muhammad's Farewell Sermon

Date: 2/22/99 13:11 Central Standard Time

From: Mr Mahdi

Message-id: <19990222141128.09505.00001042@ng143.aol.com>

> There is nowhere in the writings of Muhammad where He gave this farewell >address. This is a total fabrication by Islamic groups, and there is not one >iota of these writings that is either correct or true.

Just a reminder, if you still insist that this sermon is not found in

"Muhammad's writing," you can ask Susan to verify that it does exist in

"Muhammad's writings" and even in biographies of Muhammad (saw) written by

Muslims and non-Muslims. This is one of the most famous speeches of Muhammad

(saw), how on earth can you say Islamic groups fabricated and this sermon cant be found in Islamic writings? You havent read hadith or Seera to even say what is in Islam or not, so dont speak to me without knowledge. It seems when a hadith agrees with your religion, you accept it, but when it disagrees with your religion, you guys say it a fake hadith. This hadith is not only rated as "saheeh," meaning authentic, but it is rated "mutawatir" or a hadith

narrated by a large number of people in every generation that it is literal impossible that they can narrate or agree in text on a false hadith. If you are a "muhaddith," or a scholar of hadith, you will know its chain of reporters and text is absolutely authentic.

>Mahdi, it is really sad to see that you and your bretheren have to resort to >>falsehoods to support a religion whose time has come and gone. You can >continue to sink with

>it.

Bahais claim that they have nothing but respect for Islam, that they dont attack Islam. The above statement is a pure attack on Islam, because Allah said in 5:3 that He perfected, completed, and chosen for us Islam. Allah said in 3:85 that if you choose a religion other than al-Islam then that religion will never be accepted and in the hereafter you will be a loser. But the statement you made is in clear contradiction to Allah's statements, making it a clear attack on Islam. Islam hasnt come and gone, and Allah like He promised in 5:3 made Islam complete, perfect, and the Chosen system of life for all of mankind till that very last human breathes his last breath.
Mahdi

From: MrMahdi@aol.com[SMTP:MrMahdi@aol.com]
Sent: Monday, February 22, 1999 6:39 PM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Folder Suggestion - Bahai Censorship

Unfortunately I have complained to Host Manager and TOSboards but they havent did anything. They have said either we don't see it as our problem or they have referred me to another and told me I must talk to the Forum Leader. Mark is going out of control, and I hope we with our efforts can help make this fundamentalist tyrant and internet bully lose his position.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 22, 1999 6:34 PM
To: MrMahdi@aol.com
Subject: Re: Folder Suggestion - Bahai Censorship

You see, Foster's just out to kick you, me, and anyone else off the Bahai Forums that he and other fundamentalist Bahais disagree with.

Complain to hostmgr@aol.com and TOSBoards1@aol.com and encourage others to complain too.

Only if they hear from a lot of us will it begin to make a difference. It is possible to get Foster replaced....

Fred

-----Original Message-----

From: MrMahdi@aol.com <MrMahdi@aol.com>
To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Monday, February 22, 1999 7:40 AM
Subject: Re: Folder Suggestion - Bahai Censorship

>Subj: Sent to TOS
>Date: 2/22/99 1:25:27 PM Central Standard Time
>From: RBCF Mark
>To: Mr Mahdi
>

>This message is proselytizing on the Baha'i Faith Forum. The religion forums >exist for the support of a particular religion - not for debate with those of >other religions. That is AOL and area policy.
>
>Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Faith Forum Manager
>
>Subject: Re: Muhammad's Farewell Sermon
>Date: 2/22/99 13:11 Central Standard Time
>From: Mr Mahdi
>Message-id: <19990222141128.09505.00001042@ng143.aol.com>
>
>> There is nowhere in the writings of Muhammad where He gave this farewell >>address. This is a total fabrication by Islamic groups, and there is not one >>iota of these writings that is either correct or true.
>
>Just a reminder, if you still insist that this sermon is not found in
>"Muhammad's writing," you can ask Susan to verify that it does exist in
>"Muhammad's writings" and even in biographies of Muhammad (saw) written by >Muslims and non-Muslims. This is one of the most famous speeches of Muhammad >(saw), how on earth can you say Islamic groups fabricated and this sermon cant >be found in Islamic writings? You havent read hadith or Seera to even say >what >is in Islam or not, so dont speak to me without knowledge. It seems when a >hadith agrees with your religion, you accept it, but when it disagrees with >your religion, you guys say it a fake hadith. This hadith is not only rated >as "saheeh," meaning authentic, but it is rated "mutawatir" or a hadith
>narrated by a large number of people in every generation that it is literal >impossible that they can narrate or agree in text on a false hadith. If you >are a "muhaddith," or a scholar of hadith, you will know its chain of >reporters and text is absolutely authentic.
>
>>Mahdi, it is really sad to see that you and your bretheren have to resort to >>>falsehoods to support a religion whose time has come and gone. You can >>continue to sink with
>>it.
>
>Bahais claim that they have nothing but respect for Islam, that they dont >attack Islam. The above statement is a pure attack on Islam, because Allah >said in 5:3 that He perfected, completed, and chosen for us Islam. Allah said >in 3:85 that if you choose a religion other than al-Islam then that religion >will never be accepted and in the hereafter you will be a loser. But the >statement you made is in clear contradiction to Allah's >statements, making it a clear attack on Islam. Islam hasnt come and gone,
and >Allah like He promised in 5:3 made Islam complete, perfect, and the Chosen >system of life for all of mankind till that very last human breathes his last >breath.

>Mahdi

From: MrMahdi@aol.com[SMTP:MrMahdi@aol.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 10:57 PM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Mark Foster's double standard

To see how the fundamentalist extremist Mark Foster treats people whom he like and agree with his views, look at the following post. The post I responded
to contained remarks by a person whom Mark likes that if I were to say it would get be a TOS referral and my post yanked by Mark.

Subject: Re: Muhammad's Sermon Aftermath
Date: 2/23/99 6:53 PM Central Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
Message-id: <19990223195351.21527.00000572@ng-cg1.aol.com>

>Why when the person who >said Islam was gone and >past its time and accused >me of trying of using a >fabricated document didnt >get his post yanked or >TOSsed?

Mahdi,

Since this is a Baha'i board, and he was expressing his understanding of
the
Baha'i Teachings, his posting did not seem out of line to me.

Mark A. Foster, Ph.D.

Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager
https://www.markfoster.net
https://markfoster.org
https://bahai.nu

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 7:24 AM
To: MrMahdi@aol.com
Subject: Re: Folder Suggestion - Bahai Censorship

Just be persistent in asking the hostmgr and TOSBoards1 to provide you with the name and email address of the person above Foster who can make a decision. I haven't gotten it yet but someone has told me he's working on finding it out.

Fred

-----Original Message-----

From: MrMahdi@aol.com <MrMahdi@aol.com>

To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>

Date: Monday, February 22, 1999 9:42 AM

Subject: Re: Folder Suggestion - Bahai Censorship

>Unfortunately I have complained to Host Manager and TOSboards but they haven't >did anything. They have said either we don't see it as our problem or they >have referred me to another and told me I must talk to the Forum Leader. Mark >is going out of control, and I hope we with our efforts can help make this >fundamentalist tyrant and internet bully lose his position.
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 8:47 AM

Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990222150930.07555.00002176@ng-ch1.aol.com>...

>>My intent was to emphasize the >>absurdity of Mark Foster's axing

>>people left and right.

>

>I am axing people left and right? Fred, I am merely doing my job. You are the >only person I have regularly been "axing." (Though I do throw my axe on some

>others from time to time.)

>If you would familiarize yourself with AOL TOS (terms of service) regulations >and those of the Spirituality Forums, I would axe you no longer.

>

>Mark A. Foster

Liar. You've been TOSing for similarly specious reasons many people. They've been emailing me about it.

You're on the way out fella.... Just like Vahid and Edmund.

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 9:50 AM

To: Barthaman; Shaksway@aol.com; RobertNik@aol.com;

RayHanania@aol.com; PParvin@aol.com; Member1700@aol.com;

Macho786@aol.com; Ruletherod; Nadle; Mr Mahdi; ccrawfeild@aol.com;

AAli929596@aol.com; CRust60001@aol.com; HANI72@aol.com;

TOSBoards1@aol.com

Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

I should add that Mark Foster has established a clear pattern of abusing his position as Forum Leader by targetting me and forwarding as TOSs nearly every post on any subject in whatever folder I post to for at least three or four weeks now.

This is obviously a calculated campaign to get me kicked off AOL and constitutes yet another facet of the overall general opposition of Bahais to freedom of speech and conscience. By narrowly and legalistically interpreting AOL's TOS rules and then applying them disproportionately to smear me with AOL officials, Mark Foster and other Bahai fundamentalists imagine they're going to be able to silence me along the traditional lines of the Baha'i Technique....

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

I put my trust in the fairness and impartiality of the AOL TOSBoards and personnel to perceive what is truly taking place in the Bahai "Forums."

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>RBCF Mark wrote in message
<19990222150930.07555.00002176@ng-ch1.aol.com>...
>>>My intent was to emphasize the >>>absurdity of Mark Foster's axing
>>>people left and right.
>>
>>I am axing people left and right? Fred, I am merely doing my job. You are
>the >>only person I have regularly been "axing." (Though I do throw my axe on >some
>>others from time to time.)
>>If you would familiarize yourself with AOL TOS (terms of service)
>regulations
>>and those of the Spirituality Forums, I would axe you no longer.
>>
>>Mark A. Foster

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 9:50 AM

Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

I should add that Mark Foster has established a clear pattern of abusing his position as Forum Leader by targetting me and forwarding as TOSs nearly every post on any subject in whatever folder I post to for at least three or four weeks now.

This is obviously a calculated campaign to get me kicked off AOL and constitutes yet another facet of the overall general opposition of Bahais to freedom of speech and conscience. By narrowly and legalistically interpreting AOL's TOS rules and then applying them disproportionately to smear me with AOL officials, Mark Foster and other Bahai fundamentalists imagine they're going to be able to silence me along the traditional lines of the Baha'i Technique....

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

I put my trust in the fairness and impartiality of the AOL TOSBoards and personnel to perceive what is truly taking place in the Bahai "Forums."

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>RBCF Mark wrote in message
<19990222150930.07555.00002176@ng-ch1.aol.com>...
>>>My intent was to emphasize the >>>absurdity of Mark Foster's axing
>>>people left and right.
>>
>>I am axing people left and right? Fred, I am merely doing my job. You are
>the >>only person I have regularly been "axing." (Though I do throw my axe on >some
>>others from time to time.)
>>If you would familiarize yourself with AOL TOS (terms of service)
>regulations
>>and those of the Spirituality Forums, I would axe you no longer.
>>
>>Mark A. Foster

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 9:55 AM
To: TOSBoards1; Barthaman; Shaksway@aol.com; RobertNik@aol.com; RayHanania@aol.com; PParvin@aol.com; Member1700@aol.com; Macho786@aol.com; Ruletherod; Nadle; Mr Mahdi; ccrawfeild@aol.com; AAli929596@aol.com; CRust60001@aol.com; HANI72@aol.com
Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

TWO more alleged TOSs from Mark Foster which clearly show he has a vendetta against me.... In both messages I'm asking others to discuss the same subject in another folder, Questions to Forum Leader, that they themselves are discussing. My message in either one is not "spam."

Subj: Sent to TOS
Date: 2/23/1999 8:38:18 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

This message was sent to TOS for spamming (repeated requests made at the same time for a folder devoted to censorship). The other TOS reports to follow will be the other messages I am referring to.

Subject: Re: Rob: Christine - TOS problems
Date: 02/23/1999 07:17 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990223081713.05493.00001750@ng105.aol.com>

I believe this message shows once again the need for a folder dedicated to the topic of "Bahai Censorship."

>Subject: Re: Rob: Christine - TOS problems
>Date: 2/23/1999 5:31 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Hawkeye919
>Message-id: <19990223053108.01143.00001898@ng-cb1.aol.com>
>
><<Sincere free speech >is only respected as long as it agrees with >authoritative statements.>>
>
>
> In fact, free speech is respected so long as it doesn't violate the spirit >of the Covenant which Bahá'u'lláh gave us.
>
><<You want to have it both ways, Rob: Join the Baha'i religion through
the
>"independent investigation of truth" >(when the seeker still doesn't know enough to ask the real questions)
but >abandon this principle once you've become a member -- it gets less confusing
>this way. And why confuse people with the facts?>>
>
>
> There are no "both ways." The facts are: Bahá'ís must never abandon >independent investigation of truth. But there is a vast difference between >investigation, of unfettered inquiry on the one hand, and holding onto one's >own views to the exclusion of all else, on the other. This latter attitude >is a violation of the very spirit of Bahá'í consultation, which is: Once
you >have presented your idea to the group/Assembly, etc., it is no longer yours,
>and one must submit to the will of the majority, regardless of whether or not >one agrees with the decision, for the sake of unity; if the decision is >wrong, the error will soon prove apparent, and the erroneous decision can be >rectified. To do otherwise undermines the spirit of unity which the Faith >inculcates, and which is its fundamental purpose; and to carry one's >opposition to the point of attacking the very institutions which Bahá'u'lláh
>and >'Abdu'l-Bahá prescribed in the Sacred Texts is nothing short of breaking
the

>Covenant of Bahá'u'lláh; breaking the Covenant strikes at the very heart of >God's plan; it mangles the instrument which protects His Cause from the >eviscerating forces of disunity.
 > One other point: At the heart of all this contention and conflict is the >issue of personal liberty and freedom of expression. As important as these >rights are, they, like any right, are not limitless; they must be tempered >with wisdom and restraint; and along with any right go responsibilities.
 In
 >any system, there must be rules of conduct, without which every individual >would insist on his/her own way, and, thus cause the system to degenerate >into chaos. Consider what Bahá'u'lláh has written re: the subject of >liberty:
 >
 > "Consider the pettiness of men's minds. They ask for that which injureth >them, and cast away the thing that profiteth them. They are, indeed, of >those that are far astray. Such men are in the depths of ignorance.
 > "Liberty must, in the end, lead to sedition, whose flames none can quench.
 >... Know ye that the embodiment of liberty and its symbol is the animal.
 >That which becometh man is submission unto such restraints as will protect >him from his own ignorance, and guard him against the harm of the >mischiefmaker. Liberty causeth man to overstep the bounds of propriety, and >to infringe on the dignity of his station. It debaseth him to the level of >extreme >depravity and wickedness.
 > ... We approve of liberty in certain circumstances, and refuse to sanction
 >it in others. We, verily, are the All-Knowing.
 > "Say: True liberty consisteth in man's submission unto My commandments, >little as ye know it. Were men to observe that which We have sent Down unto >them from the Heaven of Revelation, they would, of a certainty, attain unto >perfect liberty. ... Say: The liberty that profiteth you is to be found >nowhere except in complete servitude unto God, the Eternal Truth.
 Whoso
 hath >tasted of its sweetness will refuse to barter it for all the dominion of >earth and heaven." [Gleanings from the Writings of Bahá'u'lláh, pp. 335-36 >(#159)]
 >
 > And, regarding freedom of speech, consider some of Bahá'u'lláh's words re:
 >the true seeker:
 >
 > "That seeker must, at all times, put his trust in God, must renounce the >peoples of the earth, must detach himself from the world of dust, and cleave >unto Him Who is the Lord of Lords. He must never seek to exalt himself above >any one, must wash away from the tablet of his heart every trace of pride and >vain-glory, must cling unto patience and resignation, observe silence and >refrain from idle talk. For the tongue is a smoldering fire, and excess >of speech a deadly poison. Material fire consumeth the body, whereas the >fire of the tongue devoureth both heart and soul. The force of the former >lasteth but for a time, whilst the effects of the latter endureth a century."

 >[Gleanings from the Writings of Bahá'u'lláh, pp. 264-65 (#125)]
 >
 > When we allow ego to be our guide, we do so at our peril. We Bahá'ís are >not perfect, whether we serve on the institutions of our Faith or not; many >mistakes have been made by those who sit in the council chambers, and many >more will be made in the future. The individuals who serve on the Assemblies >are fallible, but the Assemblies, as God-given institutions, are infallible
 >as long as they are conducted in that rarified atmosphere of detachment >and service to all humanity for the sake of God and His Chosen Ones. It is >an ideal for which we must diligently strive; one which, I firmly believe, is >attainable.
 > May we all be delivered from the shackles of our own short comings, and may >each of us be enabled to rise to the wonderous potential with which our >loving Father has endowed us.
 >
 >Peace and love, Rob.
 >
 >
 >
 >
 >
 >

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: Sent to TOS
Date: 2/23/1999 8:40:16 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Here is another one:

Subject: Re: Rob: Christine - TOS problems
Date: 02/23/1999 07:17 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990223081713.05493.00001750@ng105.aol.com>

I believe this message shows once again the need for a folder dedicated to the topic of "Bahai Censorship."

>Subject: Re: Rob: Christine - TOS problems
 >Date: 2/23/1999 5:31 AM Eastern Standard Time
 >From: Hawkeye919
 >Message-id: <19990223053108.01143.00001898@ng-cb1.aol.com>
 >
 ><<Sincere free speech
 >is only respected as long as it agrees with >authoritative statements.>>

>
>
> In fact, free speech is respected so long as it doesn't violate the spirit >of the Covenant which Bahá'u'lláh gave us.
>
><<You want to have it both ways, Rob: Join the Baha'i religion through
the
>"independent investigation of truth" >(when the seeker still doesn't know enough to ask the real questions)
but >abandon this principle once you've become a member -- it gets less confusing
>this way. And why confuse people with the facts?>>
>
>
> There are no "both ways." The facts are: Bahá'ís must never abandon >independent investigation of truth. But there is a vast difference between >investigation, of unfettered inquiry on the one hand, and holding onto one's >own views to the exclusion of all else, on the other. This latter attitude >is a violation of the very spirit of Bahá'í consultation, which is: Once
you >have presented your idea to the group/Assembly, etc., it is no longer
yours,
>and one must submit to the will of the majority, regardless of whether or not
>one agrees with the decision, for the sake of unity; if the decision is >wrong, the error will soon prove apparent, and the erroneous decision can
be >rectified. To do otherwise undermines the spirit of unity which the Faith >inculcates, and which is its fundamental purpose; and to carry one's >opposition to the point of attacking the very institutions which Bahá'u'lláh
>and >'Abdu'l-Bahá prescribed in the Sacred Texts is nothing short of breaking
the >Covenant of Bahá'u'lláh; breaking the Covenant strikes at the very heart
of >God's plan; it mangles the instrument which protects His Cause from the >eviscerating forces of disunity.
> One other point: At the heart of all this contention and conflict is the >issue of personal liberty and freedom of expression. As important as these >rights are, they, like any right, are not limitless; they must be tempered >with wisdom and restraint; and along with any right go responsibilities.
In >any system, there must be rules of conduct, without which every individual >would insist on his/her own way, and, thus cause the system to degenerate >into chaos. Consider what Bahá'u'lláh has written re: the subject of >liberty:
>
> "Consider the pettiness of men's minds. They ask for that which injureth >them, and cast away the thing that profiteth them. They are, indeed, of >those that are far astray. Such men are in the depths of ignorance.
> "Liberty must, in the end, lead to sedition, whose flames none can quench.
>... Know ye that the embodiment of liberty and its symbol is the animal.
>That which becometh man is submission unto such restraints as will protect >him from his own ignorance, and guard him against the harm of the >mischiefmaker. Liberty causeth man to overstep the bounds of propriety,

 and >to infringe on the dignity of his station. It debaseth him to the level of >extreme
 >depravity and wickedness.
 > ... We approve of liberty in certain circumstances, and refuse to sanction
 >it in others. We, verily, are the All-Knowing.
 > "Say: True liberty consisteth in man's submission unto My commandments, >little as ye know it. Were men to observe that which We have sent Down unto >them from the Heaven of Revelation, they would, of a certainty, attain unto >perfect liberty. ... Say: The liberty that profiteth you is to be found >nowhere except in complete servitude unto God, the Eternal Truth.
 Whoso
 hath >tasted of its sweetness will refuse to barter it for all the dominion of >earth and heaven." [Gleanings from the Writings of Bahá'u'lláh, pp. 335-36
 >(#159)]
 >
 > And, regarding freedom of speech, consider some of Bahá'u'lláh's words re:
 >the true seeker:
 >
 > "That seeker must, at all times, put his trust in God, must renounce the >peoples of the earth, must detach himself from the world of dust, and cleave >unto Him Who is the Lord of Lords. He must never seek to exalt himself above
 >any one, must wash away from the tablet of his heart every trace of pride
 and
 >vain-glory, must cling unto patience and resignation, observe silence and >refrain from idle talk. For the tongue is a smoldering fire, and excess >of speech a deadly poison. Material fire consumeth the body, whereas
 the >fire of the tongue devoureth both heart and soul. The force of the former >lasteth but for a time, whilst the effects of the latter endureth a century."
 >[Gleanings from the Writings of Bahá'u'lláh, pp. 264-65 (#125)]
 >
 > When we allow ego to be our guide, we do so at our peril. We Bahá'ís
 are >not perfect, whether we serve on the institutions of our Faith or not;
 many >mistakes have been made by those who sit in the council chambers, and many >more will be made in the future. The individuals who serve on the Assemblies
 >are fallible, but the Assemblies, as God-given institutions, are infallible
 >as long as they are conducted in that rarified atmosphere of detachment >and service to all humanity for the sake of God and His Chosen Ones. It is >an ideal for which we must diligently strive; one which, I firmly believe,
 is >attainable.
 > May we all be delivered from the shackles of our own short comings, and may >each of us be enabled to rise to the wondrous potential with which our >loving Father has endowed us.
 >
 >Peace and love, Rob.
 >

>
>
>
>
>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 9:55 AM
Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

TWO more alleged TOSs from Mark Foster which clearly show he has a vendetta against me.... In both messages I'm asking others to discuss the same subject in another folder, Questions to Forum Leader, that they themselves are discussing. My message in either one is not "spam."

Subj: Sent to TOS
Date: 2/23/1999 8:38:18 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

This message was sent to TOS for spamming (repeated requests made at the same time for a folder devoted to censorship). The other TOS reports to follow will be the other messages I am referring to.

Subject: Re: Rob: Christine - TOS problems
Date: 02/23/1999 07:17 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990223081713.05493.00001750@ng105.aol.com>

I believe this message shows once again the need for a folder dedicated to the topic of "Bahai Censorship."

>Subject: Re: Rob: Christine - TOS problems
>Date: 2/23/1999 5:31 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Hawkeye919
>Message-id: <19990223053108.01143.00001898@ng-cb1.aol.com>
>

><<Sincere free speech
>is only respected as long as it agrees with >authoritative statements.>>
>
>
> In fact, free speech is respected so long as it doesn't violate the spirit >of the Covenant which Bahá'u'lláh gave us.
>
><<You want to have it both ways, Rob: Join the Baha'i religion through
the
>"independent investigation of truth" >(when the seeker still doesn't know enough to ask the real questions)
but >abandon this principle once you've become a member -- it gets less confusing
>this way. And why confuse people with the facts?>>
>
>
> There are no "both ways." The facts are: Bahá'ís must never abandon >independent investigation of truth. But there is a vast difference between >investigation, of unfettered inquiry on the one hand, and holding onto one's >own views to the exclusion of all else, on the other. This latter attitude >is a violation of the very spirit of Bahá'í consultation, which is: Once
you >have presented your idea to the group/Assembly, etc., it is no longer
yours,
>and one must submit to the will of the majority, regardless of whether or not
>one agrees with the decision, for the sake of unity; if the decision is >wrong, the error will soon prove apparent, and the erroneous decision can
be >rectified. To do otherwise undermines the spirit of unity which the Faith >inculcates, and which is its fundamental purpose; and to carry one's >opposition to the point of attacking the very institutions which Bahá'u'lláh
>and >'Abdu'l-Bahá prescribed in the Sacred Texts is nothing short of breaking
the >Covenant of Bahá'u'lláh; breaking the Covenant strikes at the very heart
of >God's plan; it mangles the instrument which protects His Cause from the >eviscerating forces of disunity.
> One other point: At the heart of all this contention and conflict is the >issue of personal liberty and freedom of expression. As important as these >rights are, they, like any right, are not limitless; they must be tempered >with wisdom and restraint; and along with any right go responsibilities.
In
>any system, there must be rules of conduct, without which every individual >would insist on his/her own way, and, thus cause the system to degenerate >into chaos. Consider what Bahá'u'lláh has written re: the subject of >liberty:
>
> "Consider the pettiness of men's minds. They ask for that which injureth >them, and cast away the thing that profiteth them. They are, indeed, of >those that are far astray. Such men are in the depths of ignorance.
> "Liberty must, in the end, lead to sedition, whose flames none can quench.
>... Know ye that the embodiment of liberty and its symbol is the animal.

>That which beseemeth man is submission unto such restraints as will protect >him from his own ignorance, and guard him against the harm of the >mischiefmaker. Liberty causeth man to overstep the bounds of propriety, and >to infringe on the dignity of his station. It debaseth him to the level of >extreme
 >depravity and wickedness.
 > ... We approve of liberty in certain circumstances, and refuse to sanction
 >it in others. We, verily, are the All-Knowing.
 > "Say: True liberty consisteth in man's submission unto My commandments, >little as ye know it. Were men to observe that which We have sent Down unto >them from the Heaven of Revelation, they would, of a certainty, attain unto >perfect liberty. ... Say: The liberty that profiteth you is to be found >nowhere except in complete servitude unto God, the Eternal Truth.
 Whoso
 hath >tasted of its sweetness will refuse to barter it for all the dominion of >earth and heaven." [Gleanings from the Writings of Bahá'u'lláh, pp. 335-36 >(#159)]
 >
 > And, regarding freedom of speech, consider some of Bahá'u'lláh's words re:
 >the true seeker:
 >
 > "That seeker must, at all times, put his trust in God, must renounce the >peoples of the earth, must detach himself from the world of dust, and cleave >unto Him Who is the Lord of Lords. He must never seek to exalt himself above >any one, must wash away from the tablet of his heart every trace of pride and >vain-glory, must cling unto patience and resignation, observe silence and >refrain from idle talk. For the tongue is a smoldering fire, and excess >of speech a deadly poison. Material fire consumeth the body, whereas the >fire of the tongue devoureth both heart and soul. The force of the former >lasteth but for a time, whilst the effects of the latter endureth a century."
 >[Gleanings from the Writings of Bahá'u'lláh, pp. 264-65 (#125)]
 >
 > When we allow ego to be our guide, we do so at our peril. We Bahá'ís are >not perfect, whether we serve on the institutions of our Faith or not;
 >many >mistakes have been made by those who sit in the council chambers, and >many >more will be made in the future. The individuals who serve on the Assemblies >are fallible, but the Assemblies, as God-given institutions, are infallible
 >as long as they are conducted in that rarified atmosphere of detachment >and service to all humanity for the sake of God and His Chosen Ones. It is >an ideal for which we must diligently strive; one which, I firmly believe, is >attainable.
 > May we all be delivered from the shackles of our own short comings, and may >each of us be enabled to rise to the wonderous potential with which our >loving Father has endowed us.

>
>Peace and love, Rob.
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: Sent to TOS
Date: 2/23/1999 8:40:16 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Here is another one:

Subject: Re: Rob: Christine - TOS problems
Date: 02/23/1999 07:17 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990223081713.05493.00001750@ng105.aol.com>

I believe this message shows once again the need for a folder dedicated to the topic of "Bahai Censorship."

>Subject: Re: Rob: Christine - TOS problems
>Date: 2/23/1999 5:31 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Hawkeye919
>Message-id: <19990223053108.01143.00001898@ng-cb1.aol.com>
>
><<Sincere free speech
>is only respected as long as it agrees with >authoritative statements.>>
>
>
>In fact, free speech is respected so long as it doesn't violate the spirit >of the Covenant which Bahá'u'lláh gave us.
>
><<You want to have it both ways, Rob: Join the Baha'i religion through
>the
>"independent investigation of truth"
>(when the seeker still doesn't know enough to ask the real questions)
>but >abandon this principle once you've become a member -- it gets less
>confusing
>this way. And why confuse people with the facts?>>
>
>
>There are no "both ways." The facts are: Bahá'ís must never abandon >independent investigation of truth. But there is a vast difference >between >investigation, of unfettered inquiry on the one hand, and holding onto >one's >own views to the exclusion of all else, on the other. This latter attitude >is a violation of the very spirit of Bahá'í consultation, which is: Once
>you

>have presented your idea to the group/Assembly, etc., it is no longer yours, >and one must submit to the will of the majority, regardless of whether or not >one agrees with the decision, for the sake of unity; if the decision is >wrong, the error will soon prove apparent, and the erroneous decision can be >rectified. To do otherwise undermines the spirit of unity which the Faith >inculcates, and which is its fundamental purpose; and to carry one's >opposition to the point of attacking the very institutions which Bahá'u'lláh
 >and >'Abdu'l-Bahá prescribed in the Sacred Texts is nothing short of breaking the >Covenant of Bahá'u'lláh; breaking the Covenant strikes at the very heart of >God's plan; it mangles the instrument which protects His Cause from the >eviscerating forces of disunity.
 > One other point: At the heart of all this contention and conflict is the >issue of personal liberty and freedom of expression. As important as these >rights are, they, like any right, are not limitless; they must be tempered >with wisdom and restraint; and along with any right go responsibilities.
 In
 >any system, there must be rules of conduct, without which every individual >would insist on his/her own way, and, thus cause the system to degenerate >into chaos. Consider what Bahá'u'lláh has written re: the subject of >liberty:
 >
 > "Consider the pettiness of men's minds. They ask for that which injureth >them, and cast away the thing that profiteth them. They are, indeed, of >those that are far astray. Such men are in the depths of ignorance.
 > "Liberty must, in the end, lead to sedition, whose flames none can quench.
 >... Know ye that the embodiment of liberty and its symbol is the animal.
 >That which becometh man is submission unto such restraints as will protect >him from his own ignorance, and guard him against the harm of the >mischiefmaker. Liberty causeth man to overstep the bounds of propriety, and >to infringe on the dignity of his station. It debaseth him to the level of >extreme
 >depravity and wickedness.
 > ... We approve of liberty in certain circumstances, and refuse to sanction
 >it in others. We, verily, are the All-Knowing.
 > "Say: True liberty consisteth in man's submission unto My commandments, >little as ye know it. Were men to observe that which We have sent Down unto >them from the Heaven of Revelation, they would, of a certainty, attain unto >perfect liberty. ... Say: The liberty that profiteth you is to be found >nowhere except in complete servitude unto God, the Eternal Truth.
 Whoso
 hath >tasted of its sweetness will refuse to barter it for all the dominion of >earth and heaven." [Gleanings from the Writings of Bahá'u'lláh, pp. 335-36 >(#159)]
 >
 > And, regarding freedom of speech, consider some of Bahá'u'lláh's words

re:

>the true seeker:

>

> "That seeker must, at all times, put his trust in God, must renounce the >peoples of the earth, must detach himself from the world of dust, and cleave
>unto Him Who is the Lord of Lords. He must never seek to exalt himself above
>any one, must wash away from the tablet of his heart every trace of pride
and
>vain-glory, must cling unto patience and resignation, observe silence and >refrain from idle talk. For the tongue is a smoldering fire, and excess >of speech a deadly poison. Material fire consumeth the body, whereas
the >fire of the tongue devoureth both heart and soul. The force of the former >lasteth but for a time, whilst the effects of the latter endureth a century."

>[Gleanings from the Writings of Bahá'u'lláh, pp. 264-65 (#125)]

>

> When we allow ego to be our guide, we do so at our peril. We Bahá'ís
are >not perfect, whether we serve on the institutions of our Faith or not;

many >mistakes have been made by those who sit in the council chambers, and many >more will be made in the future. The individuals who serve on the Assemblies

>are fallible, but the Assemblies, as God-given institutions, are infallible
>as long as they are conducted in that rarified atmosphere of detachment >and service to all humanity for the sake of God and His Chosen Ones. It is >an ideal for which we must diligently strive; one which, I firmly believe,

is >attainable.

> May we all be delivered from the shackles of our own short comings, and may

>each of us be enabled to rise to the wondrous potential with which our >loving Father has endowed us.

>

>Peace and love, Rob.

>

>

>

>

>

>

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 9:59 AM
To: TOSBoards1; Barthaman; Shaksway@aol.com; RobertNik#aol.com;
RayHanania@aol.com; PParvin#aol.com; Member1700#aol.com;
Macho786#aol.com; Ruletherod; Nadle; Mr Mahdi; ccrawfeild@aol.com;
AAl929596#aol.com; CRust60001#aol.com; HANI72#aol.com
Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

Three more false TOSs alleged by Mark Foster.

Subj: TOS Report
Date: 2/23/1999 8:42:53 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Here is another one (board disruption/spamming)

Subject: Re: Becky: "Bahai Censorship" folder
Date: 02/23/1999 07:05 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990223080513.05493.00001741@ng105.aol.com>

>subject: Becky: "Bahai Censorship" folder
>Date: 2/22/1999 1:41 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Ruletherod
>Message-id: <19990222014148.28090.00001614@ng05.aol.com>
>
>>I think this is an excellent folder suggestion, as I would love to see >postings on this topic confined to one folder instead of the current >situation, where the same thing is posted over and over and over again in all >the other folders.
>>Becky
>
>You have to realize that there are no fast rules in this, Becky. If anyone >who's critical over censorship posts there and everyone else just ignores
the >folder -- like the father sending his kid to his room "to get over it" -- >you'll >see an "immigration" to the high traffic folders again. People will always go >where they think they'll be "heard" most.

Rule may be right about this but I would still like to see such a folder created by our Forum Leader Mark Foster. It would, as with any other topic,
help those interested in it find on AOL a place to discuss it without being accused of TOSs for mentioning such realities elsewhere in the Bahai Forums
as is now happening....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boar

Subj: TOS
Date: 2/23/1999 8:44:14 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

And here is another one:

Subject: Re: "Bahai Censorship"

Date: 02/23/1999 07:03 Central Standard Time

From: FG

Message-id: <19990223080303.05493.00001738@ng105.aol.com>

>Subject: Re: "Bahai Censorship"

>Date: 2/22/1999 1:31 AM Eastern Standard Time

>From: Ruletherod

>Message-id: <19990222013107.28090.00001612@ng05.aol.com>

>

>>I would like to ask for a folder to be created titled Bahai Censorship so >that this important topic and how it relates to the Bahai Faith today may >be discussed by AOL members.

>--Fred

>

>Although this isn't a pleasant topic for Baha'is who haven't yet experienced

>censorship (or who might live in a state of perpetual denial), it is a >seriously important topic in the broader scheme of things. Just including >this kind of folder would lend more credibility to the Baha'is "openness
with >the truth."

Rule,

I'm glad you agree. There may be others too who agree now and wish to discuss this important topic and how it relates to the Bahai Faith.

I ask again our Bahai Forum Leader, Mr. Foster, will you add a folder titled
"Bahai Censorship"?

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

ds

Subj: TOS

Date: 2/23/1999 8:47:45 AM Eastern Standard Time

From: RBCF Mark

To: FG

And another one:

Subject: "Bahai Censorship" folder now being discussed

Date: 02/23/1999 07:10 Central Standard Time

From: FG
Message-id: <19990223081042.05493.00001745@ng105.aol.com>

I am announcing that the creation of a new folder titled "Bahai Censorship" is now being discussed in Questions to Forum Leader. Those interested in the topic or the creation of the folder might want to contribute to the discussion.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 9:59 AM
Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

Three more false TOSs alleged by Mark Foster.

Subj: TOS Report
Date: 2/23/1999 8:42:53 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

Here is another one (board disruption/spamming)

Subject: Re: Becky: "Bahai Censorship" folder
Date: 02/23/1999 07:05 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990223080513.05493.00001741@ng105.aol.com>

>subject: Becky: "Bahai Censorship" folder
>Date: 2/22/1999 1:41 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Ruletherod
>Message-id: <19990222014148.28090.00001614@ng05.aol.com>
>
>>I think this is an excellent folder suggestion, as I would love to see >postings on this topic confined to one folder instead of the current >situation, where the same thing is posted over and over and over again in all
>the other folders.
>>Becky
>
>You have to realize that there are no fast rules in this, Becky. If anyone >who's critical over censorship posts there and everyone else just ignores the >folder -- like the father sending his kid to his room "to get over it" --

>you'll >see an "immigration" to the high traffic folders again. People will always go
>where they think they'll be "heard" most.

Rule may be right about this but I would still like to see such a folder created by our Forum Leader Mark Foster. It would, as with any other topic,
help those interested in it find on AOL a place to discuss it without being accused of TOSs for mentioning such realities elsewhere in the Bahai Forums
as is now happening....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boar

Subj: TOS
Date: 2/23/1999 8:44:14 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

And here is another one:

Subject: Re: "Bahai Censorship"
Date: 02/23/1999 07:03 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990223080303.05493.00001738@ng105.aol.com>

>Subject: Re: "Bahai Censorship"
>Date: 2/22/1999 1:31 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Ruletherod
>Message-id: <19990222013107.28090.00001612@ng05.aol.com>
>
>>I would like to ask for a folder to be created titled Bahai Censorship so >that this important topic and how it relates to the Bahai Faith today may >be discussed by AOL members.
>--Fred
>
>Although this isn't a pleasant topic for Baha'is who haven't yet experienced >censorship (or who might live in a state of perpetual denial), it is a >seriously important topic in the broader scheme of things. Just including >this kind of folder would lend more credibility to the Baha'is "openness
with >the truth."

Rule,

I'm glad you agree. There may be others too who agree now and wish to discuss this important topic and how it relates to the Bahai Faith.

I ask again our Bahai Forum Leader, Mr. Foster, will you add a folder titled
"Bahai Censorship"?

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

ds

Subj: TOS
Date: 2/23/1999 8:47:45 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

And another one:

Subject: "Bahai Censorship" folder now being discussed
Date: 02/23/1999 07:10 Central Standard Time
From: FG
Message-id: <19990223081042.05493.00001745@ng105.aol.com>

I am announcing that the creation of a new folder titled "Bahai Censorship" is now being discussed in Questions to Forum Leader. Those interested in the topic or the creation of the folder might want to contribute to the discussion.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 4:15 PM
Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990223131557.01160.00003140@ng-fi1.aol.com>...

>Fred,

>

>You wrote:

>>Liar. You've been TOSing for >>similarly specious reasons many >>people

>

>I am not lying. If you go back and read what I wrote, I said that you are

the >only person that I have REGULARLY been "axing," using your term. I never said
>that I have not dealt with other TOS problems, as they have arisen.

Sophistry, clear and simple. A number of people have emailed me about what you've been doing to them too. We're not going to take it and have and are appealing to AOL to protect freedom of speech and conscience in the Bahai Forums FROM you. Further, YOU are creating the problems through your intolerance and fanaticism. Ever since you showed up out of nowhere three or four weeks ago you've been running nothing but a fundamentalist purge of the Bahai Forums.

>As an AOL community leader (forum manager), I am obliged to enforce that >company's message board guidelines. For whatever reason, you are the only >person who REGULARLY violates them.

False. I'm the only person who has enough guts to stand up to you and other Bahai fanatics who have no respect or tolerance for others' opinions. AOL people on the TOSBoards1@aol.com can confirm this by reading the record in talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai. My website also documents the TWO YEAR long opposition to free speech on Usenet. Mark Foster and his cohorts are exploiting the lack of familiarity among most AOL personnel to their advantage by attempting to blackball me and other AOL members who refuse to accept their literal interpretations of the BAhai Faith. I am incidentally a Bahai myself.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>
>Mark A. Foster

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 4:15 PM
To: TOSBoards1; Barthaman; Shaksway@aol.com; RobertNik@aol.com; RayHanania@aol.com; PParvin@aol.com; Member1700@aol.com; Macho786@aol.com; Ruletherod; Nadle; Mr Mahdi; ccrawfeild@aol.com; AAl929596@aol.com; CRust60001@aol.com; HANI72@aol.com
Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990223131557.01160.00003140@ng-fi1.aol.com>...
>Fred,
>
>You wrote:
>>Liar. You've been TOSing for >>similarly specious reasons many >>people

>
>I am not lying. If you go back and read what I wrote, I said that you are the >only person that I have REGULARLY been "axing," using your term. I never said
>that I have not dealt with other TOS problems, as they have arisen.

Sophistry, clear and simple. A number of people have emailed me about what you've been doing to them too. We're not going to take it and have and are appealing to AOL to protect freedom of speech and conscience in the Bahai Forums FROM you. Further, YOU are creating the problems through your intolerance and fanaticism. Ever since you showed up out of nowhere three or four weeks ago you've been running nothing but a fundamentalist purge of the Bahai Forums.

>As an AOL community leader (forum manager), I am obliged to enforce that >company's message board guidelines. For whatever reason, you are the only >person who REGULARLY violates them.

False. I'm the only person who has enough guts to stand up to you and other Bahai fanatics who have no respect or tolerance for others' opinions. AOL people on the TOSBoards1@aol.com can confirm this by reading the record in talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai. My website also documents the TWO YEAR long opposition to free speech on Usenet. Mark Foster and his cohorts are exploiting the lack of familiarity among most AOL personnel to their advantage by attempting to blackball me and other AOL members who refuse to accept their literal interpretations of the BAhai Faith. I am incidentally a Bahai myself.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>
>Mark A. Foster

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 4:22 PM
To: TOSBoards1; Barthaman; Shaksway@aol.com; RobertNik@aol.com; RayHanania@aol.com; PParvin@aol.com; Member1700@aol.com; Macho786@aol.com; Ruletherod; Nadle; Mr Mahdi; ccrawfeild@aol.com; AAli929596@aol.com; CRust60001@aol.com; HANI72@aol.com
Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990223132219.01160.00003147@ng-fi1.aol.com>...

>Fred,
>
>They were not false reports. You requested a folder dealing with

censorship
in

>five separate messages in a one-hour time period. That is spamming.

Your reporting me for TOSs was false and you should be removed from the position of Forum Leader because of it. My message were all different in nature, touching on different aspects of the necessity for a folder titled Bahai Censorship, which you and other fundamentalist Bahais oppose.

A number of other AOL members in the Bahai Forums agreed they would like such a folder created and I merely directed them to Questions to the Forum Leader where further discussion could take place. It should be noted Foster is not TOSing those who share his interpretation of what the Bahai Faith should be. Incidentally, I myself am a Bahai.

I pay $21.95 a month, and I don't pay it for deceit and tyranny.

>

>You left off my message in which I gave a detailed explanation for my actions.

I don't believe that I did. It was not my intention. If somehow it was not copied, repost it here.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>

>Mark A. Foster

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 4:22 PM

Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990223132219.01160.00003147@ng-fi1.aol.com>...

>Fred,

>

>They were not false reports. You requested a folder dealing with censorship

in

>five separate messages in a one-hour time period. That is spamming.

Your reporting me for TOSs was false and you should be removed from the position of Forum Leader because of it. My message were all different in nature, touching on different aspects of the necessity for a folder titled Bahai Censorship, which you and other fundamentalist Bahais oppose.

A number of other AOL members in the Bahai Forums agreed they would like such a folder created and I merely directed them to Questions to the Forum Leader where further discussion could take place. It should be noted Foster is not TOSing those who share his interpretation of what the Bahai Faith should be. Incidentally, I myself am a Bahai.

I pay $21.95 a month, and I don't pay it for deceit and tyranny.

>

>You left off my message in which I gave a detailed explanation for my actions.

I don't believe that I did. It was not my intention. If somehow it was not copied, repost it here.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>

>Mark A. Foster

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 4:29 PM

To: TOSBoards1; Barthaman; Shaksway@aol.com; RobertNik@aol.com;

RayHanania@aol.com; PParvin@aol.com; Member1700@aol.com;

Macho786@aol.com; Ruletherod; Nadle; Mr Mahdi; ccrawfeild@aol.com;

AAl929596@aol.com; CRust60001@aol.com; HANI72@aol.com

Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990223131933.01160.00003143@ng-fi1.aol.com>...

>Fred,

>

>You wrote:

>>I should add that Mark Foster

>>has established a clear pattern

>>of abusing his position as Forum

>>Leader by targetting me and

>>forwarding as TOSs nearly every

>>post on any subject in whatever >>folder I post

>

>That is not true. I only send your TOSable posts to the Community Action Team.

>I would estimate that, in your case, that would be around 3/4 of them.

False again. Your opinion only. You have thoroughly abused your privileges as Forum Leader, and should be removed, as they were removed, by AOL in the past, from two other Bahai fanatics who tyrannized others: Vahid and Edmund.

I hope AOL this time will either find someone who can be fair to all points of view or appoint two or three people who can work together counterbalancing each other since is manifestly clear that most Bahais end up censoring other AOL members for specious, doctrinal reasons.

>

>There is no campaign to get you kicked off of AOL. The intention is for forum

>participants to comply with AOL regulations.

False. You've made it your sole purpose since you returned after abandoning your responsibilities for more than EIGHT MONTHS. AOL personnel may verify that fact by reading the folders Announcements, Questions to Forum Leader, and For NOn-Bahais, where I have been asking you to make several improvements since early August.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>

>Mark A. Foster

>

>Mark A. Foster

>>to for at least three or four weeks now.

>

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 4:29 PM

Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990223131933.01160.00003143@ng-fi1.aol.com>...

>Fred,

>

>You wrote:

>>I should add that Mark Foster

>>has established a clear pattern

>>of abusing his position as Forum

>>Leader by targetting me and

>>forwarding as TOSs nearly every

>>post on any subject in whatever

>>folder I post

>

>That is not true. I only send your TOSable posts to the Community Action Team.

>I would estimate that, in your case, that would be around 3/4 of them.

False again. Your opinion only. You have thoroughly abused your privileges as Forum Leader, and should be removed, as they were removed, by AOL in the past, from two other Bahai fanatics who tyrannized others: Vahid and Edmund.

I hope AOL this time will either find someone who can be fair to all points of view or appoint two or three people who can work together counterbalancing each other since is manifestly clear that most Bahais end up censoring other AOL members for specious, doctrinal reasons.

>

>There is no campaign to get you kicked off of AOL. The intention is for forum

>participants to comply with AOL regulations.

False. You've made it your sole purpose since you returned after abandoning your responsibilities for more than EIGHT MONTHS. AOL personnel may verify that fact by reading the folders Announcements, Questions to Forum Leader, and For NOn-Bahais, where I have been asking you to make several improvements since early August.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>

>Mark A. Foster

>

>Mark A. Foster

>>to for at least three or four weeks now.

>

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 5:24 PM

To: Mr Mahdi

Subject: Fw: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

Foster's clearly on the run and worried he's going to get the boot from AOL. Write TOSBoards1@aol.com and hostmgr@aol.com as soon as you can if you would. It would help for them to hear from someone other than myself on this.

Fred

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai

Date: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 3:15 PM

Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

>RBCF Mark wrote in message

<19990223131557.01160.00003140@ng-fi1.aol.com>...

>>Fred,

>>

>>You wrote:

>>>Liar. You've been TOSing for

>>>similarly specious reasons many

>>>people

>>

>>I am not lying. If you go back and read what I wrote, I said that you are >the >>only person that I have REGULARLY been "axing," using your term. I never >said

>>that I have not dealt with other TOS problems, as they have arisen.
>
>Sophistry, clear and simple. A number of >people have emailed me about what you've been >doing to them too. We're not going to take it and >have and are appealing to AOL to protect freedom >of speech and conscience in the Bahai Forums FROM >you. Further, YOU are creating the problems through >your intolerance and fanaticism. Ever since you showed >up out of nowhere three or four weeks ago you've been >running nothing but a fundamentalist purge of the Bahai >Forums.
>
>>As an AOL community leader (forum manager), I am obliged to enforce
that >>company's message board guidelines. For whatever reason, you are the only >>person who REGULARLY violates them.
>
>False. I'm the only person who has enough guts >to stand up to you and other Bahai fanatics who have >no respect or tolerance for others' opinions. AOL people >on the TOSBoards1@aol.com can confirm this by reading
>the record in talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai. My >website also documents the TWO YEAR long opposition >to free speech on Usenet. Mark Foster and his cohorts >are exploiting the lack of familiarity among most AOL
>personnel to their advantage by attempting to blackball
>me and other AOL members who refuse to accept their >literal interpretations of the BAhai Faith. I am incidentally >a Bahai myself.
>
>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards
>
>
>
>
>>
>>Mark A. Foster
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 5:25 PM
To: Ruletherod
Subject: Fw: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

Foster's clearly on the run and worried he's going to get the boot from AOL. Write TOSBoards1@aol.com and hostmgr@aol.com as soon as you can if you would. It would help for them to hear from someone other than myself on this.

Fred

-----Original Message-----
From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.bahai
Date: Tuesday, February 23, 1999 3:15 PM
Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

>RBCF Mark wrote in message
<19990223131557.01160.00003140@ng-fi1.aol.com>...
>>Fred,
>>
>>You wrote:
>>>Liar. You've been TOSing for >>>similarly specious reasons many >>>people
>>
>>I am not lying. If you go back and read what I wrote, I said that you are
>the >>only person that I have REGULARLY been "axing," using your term. I never >said
>>that I have not dealt with other TOS problems, as they have arisen.
>
>Sophistry, clear and simple. A number of >people have emailed me about what you've been >doing to them too. We're not going to take it and >have and are appealing to AOL to protect freedom
>of speech and conscience in the Bahai Forums FROM >you. Further, YOU are creating the problems through >your intolerance and fanaticism. Ever since you showed >up out of nowhere three or four weeks ago you've been >running nothing but a fundamentalist purge of the Bahai >Forums.
>
>>As an AOL community leader (forum manager), I am obliged to enforce
that >>company's message board guidelines. For whatever reason, you are the only >>person who REGULARLY violates them.
>
>False. I'm the only person who has enough guts >to stand up to you and other Bahai fanatics who have >no respect or tolerance for others' opinions. AOL people >on the TOSBoards1@aol.com can confirm this by reading
>the record in talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai. My >website also documents the TWO YEAR long opposition
>to free speech on Usenet. Mark Foster and his cohorts >are exploiting the lack of familiarity among most AOL
>personnel to their advantage by attempting to blackball
>me and other AOL members who refuse to accept their >literal interpretations of the BAHai Faith. I am incidentally >a Bahai myself.
>
>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
>alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards
>
>
>
>
>>
>>Mark A. Foster
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 24, 1999 9:08 AM
To: TOSBoards1; HANI72@aol.com; CRust60001@aol.com;
AAli929596@aol.com; ccrawfeild@aol.com; Mr Mahdi; Nadle; Ruletherod;
Macho786@aol.com; Member1700@aol.com; PParvin@aol.com;
RayHanania@aol.com; RobertNik@aol.com; Shaksway@aol.com; Barthaman
Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

False allegation of a TOS. Foster here deletes my message which was a legitimate answer to this one
and not a TOS.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: to TOS
Date: 2/24/1999 8:01:56 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

This one was sent to TOS for name-calling. (You will notice, Fred, that I have not sent your other message to TOS.)

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Faith Forum Manager

>(Most likely Mark will TOS this post for >"getting personal" with someone.)

Nadle, I am not sure about that one. Since you are focusing on the "remark"
(not the person), it seems okay to me. But, honestly, I am not sure on this
one. ;-)

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 24, 1999 9:08 AM
Subject: Re: 14+ million AOL members & Bahai censorship

False allegation of a TOS. Foster here deletes my message which was a legitimate answer to this one
and not a TOS.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Subj: to TOS
Date: 2/24/1999 8:01:56 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: FG

This one was sent to TOS for name-calling. (You will notice, Fred, that I have not sent your other message to TOS.)

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Faith Forum Manager

>(Most likely Mark will TOS this post for >"getting personal" with someone.)

Nadle, I am not sure about that one. Since you are focusing on the "remark"
(not the person), it seems okay to me. But, honestly, I am not sure on this
one. ;-)

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 25, 1999 7:59 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: TOS on Bahai Forums/Message Boards/For Non-Bahais

This isn't cute to me. This is an insult, and the kind of thing that the so-called Forum Leader Mark Foster regularly allows to take place with his double standard.
This woman has been allowed by him to refer to my opinions as "garbage" for instance.

Subject: Re: Rob: Welcome to what's left of this board
Date: 2/23/1999 8:57 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Smaneck
Message-id: <19990223085712.01159.00002811@ng-fi1.aol.com>

Rule writes:

> Baha'u'llah -- as Wendy readily points out -- uses the word "Satan"
>to conjure up the sentiments Baha'is should have toward their "enemies."

This is not fair Rule. You're bashing Wendy when Fred isn't around for me
to bash! At any rate, Baha'u'llah mostly uses "Satan" to refer the evil that lies within our own souls, not our external enemies.

warmest,

Susan Maneck

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 25, 1999 8:04 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com

Cc: FG@hotmail.com; TOSBoards1@aol.com
Subject: TOS on Bahai Forums/Message Boards/For Non-Bahais

This is an open insult from the purported Forum Leader who has indeed been attempting to censor me and other people on the Bahai Forums by alleging many, many false TOSs. He knows quite well he's insulting and mocking me and I believe he should be cited for this as well as removed from his position as Forum Leader.

Subject: Re: Mahdi: Ken's humble opinion
Date: 2/24/1999 7:59 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
Message-id: <19990224075915.07558.00003249@ng-ch1.aol.com>

>What's notable here is that the >Forum Leader has become a >censor and obviously is >attempting to scare people into >silence, as is so often by >Bahais.

Well, Fred, if that is true (and it's not), I obviously haven't been very successful in your case. :-)

Sincerely, RBCF Mark, a.k.a. Mark
A. Foster, Ph.D.
Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager
https://www.markfoster.net
https://markfoster.org
https://bahai.nu

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 25, 1999 8:14 AM
To: FG
Subject: Fw: TOS on Bahai Forums/Message Boards/For Non-Bahais

I'd appreciate it if you would report this as a TOS too. I think it's typical of the kind of double standard we see so often on the Message Boards.

Fred

-----Original Message-----
From: FG@aol.com <FG@aol.com>
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com <TOSGeneral@aol.com>
Cc: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Thursday, February 25, 1999 6:59 AM
Subject: TOS on Bahai Forums/Message Boards/For Non-Bahais

>regularly allows to take place with his double standard.
>This woman has been allowed by him to refer to my >opinions as "garbage" for instance.
>
>
>
>
>Subject: Re: Rob: Welcome to what's left of this board
>Date: 2/23/1999 8:57 AM Eastern Standard Time
>From: Smaneck
>Message-id: <19990223085712.01159.00002811@ng-fi1.aol.com>
>
>Rule writes:
>
>> Baha'u'llah -- as Wendy readily points out -- uses the word "Satan"
>>to conjure up the sentiments Baha'is should have toward their "enemies."
>
>This is not fair Rule. You're bashing Wendy when Fred isn't around for me
to >bash! At any rate, Baha'u'llah mostly uses "Satan" to refer the evil that lies >within our own souls, not our external enemies.
>
>
>warmest,
>
>Susan Maneck
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 25, 1999 8:15 AM
To: FG
Subject: Fw: TOS on Bahai Forums/Message Boards/For Non-Bahais

Especially this one too from Foster himself.....

-----Original Message-----
From: FG@aol.com <FG@aol.com>
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com <TOSGeneral@aol.com>
Cc: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>; TOSBoards1@aol.com
 <TOSBoards1@aol.com>
Date: Thursday, February 25, 1999 7:04 AM
Subject: TOS on Bahai Forums/Message Boards/For Non-Bahais

This is an open insult from the purported Forum Leader who has indeed been attempting to censor me and other people on the Bahai Forums by alleging many, many false TOSs. He knows quite well he's insulting and mocking me and I believe he should be cited for this as well as removed from his position as Forum Leader.

Subject: Re: Mahdi: Ken's humble opinion
Date: 2/24/1999 7:59 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
Message-id: <19990224075915.07558.00003249@ng-ch1.aol.com>

>What's notable here is that the >Forum Leader has become a >censor and obviously is >attempting to scare people into >silence, as is so often by >Bahais.

Well, Fred, if that is true (and it's not), I obviously haven't been very successful in your case. :-)

Sincerely, RBCF Mark, a.k.a. Mark
A. Foster, Ph.D.
Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager
https://www.markfoster.net
https://markfoster.org
https://bahai.nu

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 25, 1999 8:15 AM
To: FG
Subject: Fw: TOS on Bahai Forums/Message Boards/For Non-Bahais

Especially this one too from Foster himself.....

-----Original Message-----
From: FG@aol.com <FG@aol.com>
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com <TOSGeneral@aol.com>
Cc: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>; TOSBoards1@aol.com <TOSBoards1@aol.com>
Date: Thursday, February 25, 1999 7:04 AM
Subject: TOS on Bahai Forums/Message Boards/For Non-Bahais

This is an open insult from the purported Forum Leader who has indeed been attempting to censor me and other people on the Bahai Forums by alleging many, many false TOSs. He knows quite well he's insulting and mocking me and I believe he should be cited for this as well as removed from his position as Forum Leader.

Subject: Re: Mahdi: Ken's humble opinion
Date: 2/24/1999 7:59 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
Message-id: <19990224075915.07558.00003249@ng-ch1.aol.com>

>What's notable here is that the >Forum Leader has become a >censor and obviously is >attempting to scare people into >silence, as is so often by >Bahais.

Well, Fred, if that is true (and it's not), I obviously haven't been very successful in your case. :-)

Sincerely, RBCF Mark, a.k.a. Mark
A. Foster, Ph.D.
Bahá'í Faith Forum Manager
https://www.markfoster.net
https://markfoster.org
https://bahai.nu

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 25, 1999 8:18 AM
To: TOSBoards1@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: (no subject)

Here's a perfect example of what's wrong with the TOS system. I attempt to submit a instance of violating the TOS rules to TOSGeneral and receive back and autoresponder that refers me back to the Bahai Forum Leader who is responsible for the TOSs taking place against me by this person, himself, and others....

Subj: Fwd: TOS on Bahai Forums/Message Boards/For Non-Bahais
Date: 2/25/1999 7:14:54 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: TOSGen1
To: FG

Dear Member,

Questions or comments regarding activities in a particular forum need to be addressed to the forum's staff or supervisor. Most forums have a "Feedback" or "Meet the Staff" button on their main screen; this is the best way to contact staff members.

If you are unable to locate the screen name of a staff member, you may want to go to keyword QUESTIONS or SUGGESTIONS. Your letter will be forwarded from there to the proper person.

Thank you for writing.

Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,
Jenny
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

**-----
Forwarded Message:

Subj: Fwd: TOS on Bahai Forums/Message Boards/For Non-Bahais
Date: 2/25/1999 6:59:59 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: TOSGeneral
To: TOSGen1

[This Message (REGULAR) Has Been Forwarded By The Mail Spinner]

**-----
Forwarded Message:

Subj: TOS on Bahai Forums/Message Boards/For Non-Bahais
Date: 2/25/1999 6:59:40 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: FG
To: TOSGeneral
CC: FG@hotmail.com

This isn't cute to me. This is an insult, and the kind of thing that the so-called Forum Leader Mark Foster regularly allows to take place with his double standard. This woman has been allowed by him to refer to my opinions as "garbage" for instance.

Subject: Re: Rob: Welcome to what's left of this board
Date: 2/23/1999 8:57 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Smaneck
Message-id: <19990223085712.01159.00002811@ng-fi1.aol.com>

Rule writes:

> Baha'u'llah -- as Wendy readily points out -- uses the word "Satan"
>to conjure up the sentiments Baha'is should have toward their "enemies."

This is not fair Rule. You're bashing Wendy when Fred isn't around for me to bash! At any rate, Baha'u'llah mostly uses "Satan" to refer the evil that lies within our own souls, not our external enemies.

warmest,

Susan Maneck

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 25, 1999 2:52 PM
To: MrMahdi@aol.com
Cc: TOSBoards1@aol.com; FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Folder Suggestion - Bahai Censorship

It shows how absurdly he's interpreting the TOS so-called rules. How are you supposed to discuss the Bahai teachings and your views on Islam if he can brand any response as "proslytizing."

As a Bahai, I find the Forum Leader doing this to Mr Mahdi an outrage.

FG@aol.com

Subj: Re: Folder Suggestion - Bahai Censorship
Date: 2/25/1999 11:58:51 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Mr Mahdi
To: FG

Mark, the fundamentalist tyrant has TOSsed me again. The the list of my posts being yanked by Mark have almost reached a dozen, while only one of them AOL has commented on:

Subj: sent to TOS
Date: 2/25/99 8:50:51 AM Central Standard Time
From: RBCF Mark
To: Mr Mahdi

I sent this one to TOS for board disruption (proselytizing). Please refrain from promoting Islam or trying to convince Baha'is that their beliefs are incorrect.

Mark A. Foster, Baha'i Forum Manager

Subject: Re: Muhammad's Farewell Sermon
Date: 02/24/1999 22:32 Central Standard Time
From: Mr Mahdi
Message-id: <19990224233255.01127.00002436@ng-fp1.aol.com>

>Muhummad is the Seal of the Prophets, indeed; but sealing something doesn't >make it the last of its kind. If "Seal" meant there would be no new >Revelation, why should the world expect the coming of the Mahdi/Qá'im and the >Qayyúm?

The Mahdi is not a prophet or messenger, he is the leader of the Muslims. Mahdi will not bring a new message but he will implement Islam. The Qa'im and Qayyum are from shi'a not Islam.

>To say that God cannot reveal another Prophet after Muhammad is tantamount to >the Jews saying that God's hand is chained up, that after Moses there would >be no new Revelation from God. How vain are such imaginings. It is in God's >hands, not ours.

God said in the Quran in 3:85 that if you choose a religion other than islam, it will not be accepted and you will be in the Hereafter a loser. God also said in 5:3 that He perfected, completed, and chosen Islam for us. If seems that the concept of "progressive revelation" contradicts the concepts in 5:3 and 3:85. God is capable of anything, including giving us a message that is beyond the limitations of time and place. Allah didnt make Islam a victim of time or place, because Islam agrees with human nature and human nature hasnt changed since Adam and Eve. The Quran was revealed to Muhammad, and Muhammad never said God told him that Heaven and Hell are "spiritual conditions," that Adam and Eve are allegories, that Satan is not a being but our egos. When Muhammad was described by his wife, she said he was the Quran walking. He gave us the explanation of the Quran. He knew more about the Quran than bab or bahauallah. SO how can they explain something better than Muhammad who never explained those things in that way?

> we must strive to learn by the errors of past generations by not relying >strictly on literal interpretation,

The same people who deny clear-cut statements are the same ones that say David Koresh and Moon are Jesus. What is the purpose of describing and giving detail to something if it is not meant to be taken literally? I can say if God said left He really meant right if I were to accept your logic. God doesnt decieve, He gave us brains to think. If the Mahdi will rule a caliphate for 7 years, be from the tribe of Quraish, have parents named Aamina and Abdullah, then I see that bab didnt fit not even one of those descriptions, as a thinking being I cant accept clear cut contradictions and inconsistencies. Mahdi

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, February 26, 1999 8:51 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: TOSBoards1@aol.com; FG@hotmail.com
Subject: TOS - personal insult - Maneck

This person is consistently insulting me on the Bahai Forums while the Forum Leader permits it, though charging me with TOSs for all kinds of innocuous statements.

FG@aol.com

Subject: Re: alt.religion.bahai & talk.religion.bahai
Date: 2/25/1999 11:22 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Smaneck
Message-id: <19990225112245.13529.00000211@ng-ch1.aol.com>

Charlotte writes:

>So.... I will ask Mark to NOT add these newsgroups if you will not agree to >immediately remove those items placed there without permission and agree to >stop the practice of putting them there in the future.

Dear Charlotte,

While your annoyance to Fred doing this is well taken and he is certainly violating standard netiquette and perhaps copyright laws in forwarding other's posts, I don't think we can oppose the addition of newsgroups because of the unconscionable behavior of one of its members.

I think it is sufficient reason to refuse to add Mr. Glaysher's own website, however since he has total control of its contents. Besides, it is not like he doesn't "provide" us with that website address on a regular basis.

Hey Fred, do you have long pink ears?

warmest,

Susan Maneck

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, February 26, 1999 9:12 AM
To: TOSBoards1@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Fwd: TOS - personal insult - Maneck

<<Message: Fwd: TOS - personal insult - Maneck>>

I would like to point out that the ineffective system of autoresponders is why I'm forwarding messages to the TOSBoards1. For me to be insulted in this manner, while this and other Bahai fundamentalists constantly allege FALSE TOSs against me, resulting even in my account being suspended, is an outrage.

I'd like to communicate with someone at AOL about this and have repeatedly asked to to so now for months.

FG@aol.com

In a message dated 2/26/1999 8:08:31 AM Eastern Standard Time, TOSGen1 writes:

> Subj: Fwd: TOS - personal insult - Maneck
> Date: 2/26/1999 8:08:31 AM Eastern Standard Time
> From: TOSGen1
> To: FG
>
> Dear Member,
>
> Questions or comments regarding activities in a particular forum need
to > be addressed to the forum's staff or supervisor. Most forums have a " > Feedback" or "Meet the Staff" button on their main screen; this is > the best way to contact staff members.
>
> If you are unable to locate the screen name of a staff member, you may want > to go to keyword QUESTIONS or SUGGESTIONS. Your letter will be forwarded
> from there to the proper person.
>
> Thank you for writing.
>
> Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have > any comments or questions please send mail to <A HREF="mailto:
TOSGeneral">
TOSGeneral.
>
> Regards,
> Michael
> Community Action Team
> America Online, Inc.
> -----
> Forwarded Message:
> Subj: Fwd: TOS - personal insult - Maneck
> Date: 2/26/1999 7:52:04 AM Eastern Standard Time
> From: TOSGeneral
> To: TOSGen1
>
> [This Message (REGULAR) Has Been Forwarded By The Mail Spinner]
> -----
> Forwarded Message:
> Subj: TOS - personal insult - Maneck
> Date: 2/26/1999 7:51:56 AM Eastern Standard Time
> From: FG
> To: TOSGeneral
> CC: TOSBoards1,
FG@hotmail.com
>
> This person is consistently insulting me on the > Bahai Forums while the Forum Leader permits it, > though charging me with TOSs for all kinds of > innocuous statements.
>
> FG@aol.com
>
>
> Subject: Re: alt.religion.bahai & talk.religion.bahai
> Date: 2/25/1999 11:22 AM Eastern Standard Time

Who are your supervisors at AOL for the Bahai Forums and what is their email address? I've asked you this at least once before. You certainly don't have my confidence nor that of many people on AOL who participate in the Bahai Forums and are familiar with the way you imposed your biases and false TOSs.

FG@aol.com

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 26, 1999 7:51 AM
Subject: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990226015058.11952.00000740@ng-cg1.aol.com>...

>Sorry, that was my mistake. I accidentally pasted the wrong posting into the >email message I sent to you. However, it was correct in the report.

I certainly am not about to believe that coming from you.

FG@aol.com

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 26, 1999 7:58 AM
To: TOSBoards1; HANI72@aol.com; CRust60001@aol.com;
AAl929596@aol.com; ccrawfeild@aol.com; Mr Mahdi; Nadle; Ruletherod;
Macho786@aol.com; Member1700@aol.com; PParvin@aol.com;
RayHanania@aol.com; RobertNik@aol.com; Shaksway@aol.com; Barthaman
Subject: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990225105858.11959.00000098@ng-cg1.aol.com>...

>Fred wrote:
>> Mark Foster and his cohorts >>are exploiting the lack of >>familiarity among most AOL >>personnel to their advantage >>by attempting to blackball
>>me and other AOL members >>who refuse to accept their >>literal interpretations of the

>>BAhai Faith.

>

>How do you know I have a literal view of the Baha'i Faith? If you read my >postings when I was on your email list (mirroring alt.religion.bahai), you know
>that is not the case.

False. Changing the subject as well. The issue is your constant alleging of specious TOSs against me
and others on AOL. For anyone with any knowledge or experience of the Bahai Faith, it's obvious that you're supporting the Bahai fundamentalists there and attempting to target and ultimately have AOL suspend the accounts of anyone who doesn't share your and their views. You and other intolerant Bahais know you can depend on the lack of familiarity on the part of AOL personnel with the Bahai Faith to work to your advantage.

AOL removed Vahid once it understood what was really taking place. I'm confident when AOL has finished it's consideration of Foster's false TOSs allegations they will do likewise.

FG@aol.com

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Friday, February 26, 1999 7:58 AM

Subject: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990225105858.11959.00000098@ng-cg1.aol.com>...

>Fred wrote:

>> Mark Foster and his cohorts
>>are exploiting the lack of >>familiarity among most AOL
>>personnel to their advantage
>>by attempting to blackball
>>me and other AOL members
>>who refuse to accept their >>literal interpretations of the >>BAhai Faith.

>

>How do you know I have a literal view of the Baha'i Faith? If you read my >postings when I was on your email list (mirroring alt.religion.bahai), you know
>that is not the case.

False. Changing the subject as well. The issue is your constant alleging of specious TOSs against me
and others on AOL. For anyone with any knowledge or experience of the Bahai Faith, it's obvious that you're supporting the Bahai fundamentalists there and attempting to target and ultimately have AOL suspend the accounts of anyone who doesn't share your and their views. You and other intolerant Bahais know you can depend on the lack of familiarity on the part of AOL personnel with the Bahai Faith to work to your advantage.

AOL removed Vahid once it understood what was really taking place. I'm confident when AOL has finished it's consideration of Foster's false TOSs allegations they will do likewise.

FG@aol.com

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 26, 1999 8:30 AM
To: TOSBoards1; HANI72@aol.com; CRust60001@aol.com;
AAl929596@aol.com; ccrawfeild@aol.com; Mr Mahdi; Nadle; Ruletherod;
Macho786@aol.com; Member1700@aol.com; PParvin@aol.com;
RayHanania@aol.com; RobertNik@aol.com; Shaksway@aol.com; Barthaman
Subject: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

FG wrote in message <7b61nv$1qs3@news1.newsguy.com>...

>RBCF Mark wrote in message

<19990225105528.11959.00000096@ng-cg1.aol.com>...

>

>FG@aol.com wrote

>>>I hope AOL this time will either

>>>find someone who can be fair to >>>all points of view

>>

>>I enjoy the full confidence of my supervisors on AOL.

>>

>>Mark A. Foster, Ph.D.

>

>Who are your supervisors at AOL for the Bahai Forums

>and what is their email address? I've asked you this >at least once before. You certainly don't have my >confidence nor that of many people on AOL who >participate in the Bahai Forums and are familiar with >the way you imposed your biases and false TOSs.

>

>FG@aol.com

I should add for the AOL TOSBoards1 that this conversation has had to be moved to Usenet because Mark Foster has prevented an open and honest discussion from taking place on AOL.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 26, 1999 8:30 AM
Subject: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

FG wrote in message <7b61nv$1qs3@news1.newsguy.com>...
>RBCF Mark wrote in message
<19990225105528.11959.00000096@ng-cg1.aol.com>...
>
>FG@aol.com wrote
>>>I hope AOL this time will either >>>find someone who can be fair to >>>all points of view
>>
>>I enjoy the full confidence of my supervisors on AOL.
>>
>>Mark A. Foster, Ph.D.
>
>Who are your supervisors at AOL for the Bahai Forums
>and what is their email address? I've asked you this >at least once before. You certainly don't have my >confidence nor that of many people on AOL who >participate in the Bahai Forums and are familiar with >the way you imposed your biases and false TOSs.
>
>FG@aol.com

I should add for the AOL TOSBoards1 that this conversation has had to be moved to Usenet because Mark Foster has prevented an open and honest discussion from taking place on AOL.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, February 26, 1999 8:57 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Cc: TOSBoards1@aol.com; FG@hotmail.com
Subject: TOS - false allegation of slander - Maneck

This person is constantly allowed by the Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster to accuse me of "slander" with impunity. I maintain that no such thing is true. For her references to my opinions as "garbage," for which the Forum Leader also looked the other way, see

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

Subject: Re: Folder changes being discussed
Date: 2/25/1999 11:27 PM Eastern Standard Time

From: Smaneck

Message-id: <19990225232704.15438.00000711@ng-fi1.aol.com>

Becky writes:

>Now, boys, let's be nice!

Dear Becky,

It is hard to be nice to someone who pretends he wants to open up the consultation when all the time he is slandering our Forum Leader on other lists for enforcing AOL TOS rules.

warmest,

Susan Maneck

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Friday, February 26, 1999 9:08 AM

Subject: AOL - The new fundamentalist Front (Re: Greatest Spiritual Teacher?)

McKenny Michael wrote in message <7b62p6$3kn@freenet-news.carleton.ca>...

> The new factor here is that the Internet has begun to break the rigid > censorship imposed by the Universal House of Justice. People can now start > to learn what really has been going on, and what had been a tightly > controlled system in the hands of individuals less concerned with living > according to the principles of the religion is opening up.

Since the fundamentalists among my fellow Bahais have lost their battle to suppress the creation of talk.religion.bahai, they have moved back their front to AOL and preventing in further opening up of that ISP for free speech regarding the Bahai Faith.

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]

Sent: Friday, February 26, 1999 9:13 AM

To: TOSBoards1@aol.com

Cc: FG@hotmail.com

Subject: AOL - autoresponders & FALSE TOSs

All of the below applies to this second autoresponder as well:

I would like to point out that the ineffective system of autoresponders is why I'm forwarding messages to the TOSBoards1. For me to be insulted in this manner, while this and other Bahai fundamentalists constantly allege FALSE TOSs against me, resulting even in my account being suspended, is an outrage.

I'd like to communicate with someone at AOL about this and have repeatedly asked to do so now for months.

FG@aol.com

Subj: Re: TOS - false allegation of slander - Maneck
Date: 2/26/1999 8:11:40 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: TOSGen1
To: FG

Dear Member,

The Community Action Team has established the following methods of reporting violations in order to maintain consistency and accuracy in reports. Please reference the following guidelines when reporting Terms of Service violations.

CHAT VIOLATIONS

To ensure consistency in the reporting and investigation of chat violations, they must be reported in one of the following ways:

- 1) Click the "Notify AOL" button on the chat room screen.
- 2) Go to keyword Notify AOL, then click "Chat".
- 3) Go to keyword NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH, click the "Notify AOL" button at the bottom, then click "Chat".
- 4) Go to keyword TOS, click "Notify AOL", then click "Chat".

All of these methods will bring a "Notify AOL" report form onto your screen. Please make sure that the form is filled out in its entirety before sending.

You can ignore chat from another member in a chat room by double clicking on the screen name in the room list, then clicking "Ignore".

INSTANT MESSAGE VIOLATIONS

If you see a "Notify AOL" button at the bottom of the Instant Message window, click on that button. Follow the directions for filling out the pop-up form that appears on your screen, then click on "Send Report."

If there is not a "Notify AOL" button at the bottom of the Instant Message screen, please use the options below:

- 1) Go to keyword Notify AOL, click on

"Instant Message Notes™," then click on the blue hyperlink to report an offensive statement.

2) Go to keyword NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH, click the "Notify AOL" button at the bottom, then click on "Instant Message Notes™."

3) Go to keyword TOS, click on "Notify AOL," then click on "Instant Message Notes™."

To block Instant Messages from specific members, please go to keyword BUDDY, click on "Privacy Preferences," and customize your IM needs using the options available.

EMAIL VIOLATIONS

Email that violates the Terms of Service MUST be forwarded in order to confirm accuracy of the mail. Simply click the "forward" icon and forward the mail to the appropriate screen name:

1) Mail from AOL members (without an attached file) goes to TOSEmail1. Include any relevant details with the forwarded mail.

2) "Spam" or "junk" mail from the Internet should be forwarded to the screen name TOSSpam.

3) Email with attachments should be forwarded to the screen name TOSFiles.

If you wish to block email from a particular member, you can do so by signing on with the master screen name, then going to keyword MAIL CONTROLS.

OTHER VIOLATIONS

To report a violation on a message board, web page, or an inappropriate screen name, please go to keyword NOTIFY AOL, then click the appropriate icon.

To report an inappropriate profile, simply click on the "Notify AOL" button on the bottom of the profile.

Newsgroup violations can be reported to the screen name "TOSUsernet."

Please take the time to explore these areas and familiarize yourself with them. They can be invaluable tools in your experience online. I hope this information helps you.

Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please go to Keyword: TOS Questions.

Regards,
Michael
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 26, 1999 9:21 AM
To: TOSBoards1; HANI72@aol.com; CRust60001@aol.com;
AAl929596@aol.com; ccrawfeild@aol.com; Mr Mahdi; Nadle; Ruletherod;
Macho786@aol.com; Member1700@aol.com; PParvin@aol.com;
RayHanania@aol.com; RobertNik@aol.com; Shaksway@aol.com; Barthaman
Subject: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

Posted to AOL Bahai Forums/Message Boards/Annoucements
and /Question to Forum Leader

This person is constantly allowed by the Bahai
Forum Leader Mark Foster to accuse me of "slander"
with impunity. I maintain that no such thing is true.
For her references to my opinions as "garbage,"
for which the Forum Leader also looked the other way,
see

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

Subject: Re: Folder changes being discussed
Date: 2/25/1999 11:27 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Smaneck
Message-id: <19990225232704.15438.00000711@ng-fi1.aol.com>

Becky writes:

>Now, boys, let's be nice!

Dear Becky,

It is hard to be nice to someone who pretends he wants to open up the consultation when all the time he is slandering our Forum Leader on other lists for enforcing AOL TOS rules.
warmest,

Susan Maneck

This person is consistently insulting me on the Bahai Forums while the Forum Leader permits it,
though charging me with TOSs for all kinds of innocuous statements.

FG@aol.com

Subject: Re: alt.religion.bahai & talk.religion.bahai
Date: 2/25/1999 11:22 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Smaneck
Message-id: <19990225112245.13529.00000211@ng-ch1.aol.com>

Charlotte writes:

>So.... I will ask Mark to NOT add these newsgroups if you will not agree to >immediately remove those items placed there without permission and agree to >stop the practice of putting them there in the future.

Dear Charlotte,

While your annoyance to Fred doing this is well taken and he is certainly violating standard netiquette and perhaps copyright laws in forwarding other's posts, I don't think we can oppose the addition of newsgroups because of the unconscionable behavior of one of its members.

I think it is sufficient reason to refuse to add Mr. Glaysher's own website, however since he has total control of its contents. Besides, it is not like he doesn't "provide" us with that website address on a regular basis.

Hey Fred, do you have long pink ears?

warmest,

Susan Maneck

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 26, 1999 9:21 AM
Subject: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

Posted to AOL Bahai Forums/Message Boards/Annoucements and /Question to Forum Leader

This person is constantly allowed by the Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster to accuse me of "slander" with impunity. I maintain that no such thing is true. For her references to my opinions as "garbage," for which the Forum Leader also looked the other way, see

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

Subject: Re: Folder changes being discussed
Date: 2/25/1999 11:27 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Smaneck
Message-id: <19990225232704.15438.00000711@ng-fi1.aol.com>

Becky writes:

>Now, boys, let's be nice!

Dear Becky,

It is hard to be nice to someone who pretends he wants to open up the consultation when all the time he is slandering our Forum Leader on other lists for enforcing AOL TOS rules.
warmest,

Susan Maneck

This person is consistently insulting me on the Bahai Forums while the Forum Leader permits it, though charging me with TOSs for all kinds of innocuous statements.

FG@aol.com

Subject: Re: alt.religion.bahai & talk.religion.bahai
Date: 2/25/1999 11:22 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Smaneck
Message-id: <19990225112245.13529.00000211@ng-ch1.aol.com>

Charlotte writes:

>So.... I will ask Mark to NOT add these newsgroups if you will not agree to >immediately remove those items placed there without permission and agree to >stop the practice of putting them there in the future.

Dear Charlotte,

While your annoyance to Fred doing this is well taken and he is certainly violating standard netiquette and perhaps copyright laws in forwarding other's posts, I don't think we can oppose the addition of newsgroups because of the unconscionable behavior of one of its members.

I think it is sufficient reason to refuse to add Mr. Glaysher's own website, however since he has total control of its contents. Besides, it is not like he doesn't "provide" us with that website address on a regular basis.

Hey Fred, do you have long pink ears?

warmest,

Susan Maneck

From: TOSBoards2@aol.com[SMTP:TOSBoards2@aol.com]

Sent: Friday, February 26, 1999 9:32 AM

To: FG

Subject: Fwd: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

<<Message: Fwd: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum...>>

Dear Member,

Thank you for reporting this violation of the Terms of Service. Unfortunately, we cannot warn a member without having the complete path and the entire post to review.

A "complete path" is the step-by-step trail which leads to the post on America Online. This includes the keyword or channel, all icons or text clicked on, and folder name. An example of a path would be: keyword MHM / Message Board / AOL Hints and Tips.

An "entire post" is the cut and paste of the complete text of the post, including the subject title, date and time posted and "Posted By" information.

Please forward this mail to TOSBoards1, using the forward icon, and include this information. This is necessary for accurate documentation of this incident.

Thanks again for alerting us to this situation, and for making America Online a safer place to visit.

Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,
Jenny
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

From: TOSBoards2@aol.com[SMTP:TOSBoards2@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, February 26, 1999 9:37 AM
To: FG
Subject: Fwd: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

<<Message: Fwd: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum...>>
Dear Member,

Thank you for reporting this violation of the Terms of Service.
Unfortunately, we cannot warn a member without having the complete path and the entire post to review.

A "complete path" is the step-by-step trail which leads to the post on America Online. This includes the keyword or channel, all icons or text clicked on, and folder name. An example of a path would be: keyword MHM / Message Board / AOL Hints and Tips.

An "entire post" is the cut and paste of the complete text of the post, including the subject title, date and time posted and "Posted By" information.

Please forward this mail to TOSBoards1, using the forward icon, and include this information. This is necessary for accurate documentation of this incident.

Thanks again for alerting us to this situation, and for making America Online a safer place to visit.

Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,
Jenny
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 28, 1999 8:23 AM
To: RBCFAdmin@aol.com
Cc: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Bahai Forums - False TOSs by Mark Foster, Forum Leader

Jerry White
Forums Administrator
Spirituality Forums

Dear Mr. White,

During the last several months I've tried repeatedly to bring to your and AOL's attention that the Bahai Forums are being manipulated in order to censor the available information or discussion there for AOL members. As a Bahai for over 23 years, I understand and perceive the subtleties of what is taking place on AOL and am distressed that AOL's TOS system is being abused by fundamentalist Bahais to their advantage.

I included here a message I wrote to the Hostmgr and the TOSBoards1 to help you further understand the situation.

I would appreciate hearing back from you and knowing you are making an attempt to address the problems in the Bahai Forums.

FG@aol.com

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Dear HostMGR & TOSBoards1:

I would like to state that the recent repeatedly alleged TOS violations against me and other members of the Bahai Forums are completely false. The Bahai Forum Leader, Mark Foster, has failed to perform his duties in any way whatsoever for more than EIGHT months. My request that he resign was emailed to him more than two months ago, and I have repeatedly asked him to resign. My reason for doing so is he and other fundamentalist Bahais on AOL are manipulating and using the Bahai Forums to suppress what information is available to AOL members. Let me mention that I myself have been a member of the Bahai Faith now for more than 23 years and have witnessed many similar episodes in which Bahais have suppressed the freedom of information and opinion.

I also believe these TOSs are acts of revenge against me for recently creating talk.religion.bahai on Usenet, which fundamentalist Bahais have opposed for more than two years and may be corroborated by looking at my website which documents their opposition, including their fanaticism on AOL.

Let me mention that TWO former Bahai Forums Leaders have had to be removed by AOL in the past. I'm afraid it is now painfully evident that this one too should be replaced by someone who does not play out his religious beliefs into vindictive actions against Bahais, non-Bahais, Muslims, whoever....

I should mention that Bahais of more conservative mindset regularly insult others by suggesting they're "covenant breakers" or "infirm in the covenant" and so on. These phrases are insulting to myself and others but Mark Foster has done absolutely nothing to bring a halt to such behavior. One Bahai, Susan Maneck, has gone so far as to repeatedly refer to my opinions as "garbage" and "slander" and has not been corrected by him in anyway. I am very tired of this double standard, as are other AOL members in the Bahai Forums.

Please read especially "The Baha'i Technique" and AOL:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/AOL.htm>

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

What is taking place on the AOL Bahai Forums is exceedingly complex and will require serious efforts on the part of AOL personnel if you are to understand and make the right decisions.

Other than a fair and unbiased Forum Leader, I have been concerned primarily with 3 ISSUES:

alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai should be added to Newsgroups on the main Bahai Forum Menu

Libraries functioning and accepting all postings to them and uncensored by Bahais (which appear now to have been fixed).

My web site The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience added to Web Sites and all others freely accepted as well:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm>

I am forwarding this message to the HostMGR@aol.com and the TOSBoards1@aol.com in the hope that one or the other can assist in finding a person to serve fairly and impartially as Bahai Forum Leader.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: TOSBoards2@aol.com[SMTP:TOSBoards2@aol.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 28, 1999 9:52 AM
To: FG
Subject: Re: Terms of Service

<<Message: Fwd: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai F...>>
Dear Member,

Thank you for reporting this information to us. Please be assured that I have looked into this report carefully and taken appropriate action. Because we respect the privacy of every member of America Online, we cannot disclose specific information regarding any action we have taken against another account.

Along with your help, and the help of many other members like yourself, the Community Action Team works to keep America Online informative, entertaining and, above all, fun for all our members. For helpful information from the Community Action Team, please use keyword TOS.

Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please go to Keyword:
TOS Questions.

Regards,
Gayla

Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 28, 1999 9:11 AM
Subject: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990226142614.13523.00000933@ng-ch1.aol.com>...

>Fred,

>

>I have not prevented open and honest discussions. However, I do submit reports >to TOS when they get personal, e.g., ad hominem.

False. You certainly do not. You're manipulating your position as AOL Forum Leader in favor of Bahai fanatics.

Susan Maneck has recently posted two insulting messages attacking me and I highly doubt you reported either one. Further, I find some of your own messages insulting and have reported them myself to the TOSGeneral.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 28, 1999 9:12 AM
Subject: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990226142451.13523.00000932@ng-ch1.aol.com>...

>Fred,

>

>I am not sure what you mean. You have written my AOL supervisors numerous >times. I have seen copies of the letters you have sent to them.

Who are your AOL supervisors and what are their AOL addresses?

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Sunday, February 28, 1999 9:13 AM
Subject: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990226142326.13523.00000930@ng-ch1.aol.com>...

>>I certainly am not about to >>believe that coming from you.

>

>Coming from me? Am I not your Baha'i brother?

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 28, 1999 9:15 AM
Subject: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990226142228.13523.00000929@ng-ch1.aol.com>...

>Fred,

>

>That is not slander. The individual concerned is not attacking you. She is >reporting on your activities on TRB and ARB.

False. It certainly is slanderous of me and an excellent example of your deceit and dishonesty as a so-called Forum Leader.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

Posted to AOL Bahai Forums/Message Boards/Annoucements
and /Question to Forum Leader

This person is constantly allowed by the Bahai
Forum Leader Mark Foster to accuse me of "slander"
with impunity. I maintain that no such thing is true.
For her references to my opinions as "garbage,"
for which the Forum Leader also looked the other way,
see

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Maneck1.htm>

Subject: Re: Folder changes being discussed
Date: 2/25/1999 11:27 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: Smaneck
Message-id: <19990225232704.15438.00000711@ng-fi1.aol.com>

Becky writes:

>Now, boys, let's be nice!

Dear Becky,

It is hard to be nice to someone who pretends he wants to open up the consultation when all the time he is slandering our Forum Leader on other lists for enforcing AOL TOS rules.
warmest,

Susan Maneck

This person is consistently insulting me on the Bahai Forums while the Forum Leader permits it, though charging me with TOSs for all kinds of innocuous statements.

FG@aol.com

Subject: Re: alt.religion.bahai & talk.religion.bahai
Date: 2/25/1999 11:22 AM Eastern Standard Time
From: Smaneck
Message-id: <19990225112245.13529.00000211@ng-ch1.aol.com>

Charlotte writes:

>So.... I will ask Mark to NOT add these newsgroups if you will not agree to >immediately remove those items placed there without permission and agree to >stop the practice of putting them there in the future.

Dear Charlotte,

While your annoyance to Fred doing this is well taken and he is certainly violating standard netiquette and perhaps copyright laws in forwarding other's posts, I don't think we can oppose the addition of newsgroups because of the unconscionable behavior of one of its members.

I think it is sufficient reason to refuse to add Mr. Glaysher's own website, however since he has total control of its contents. Besides, it is not like he doesn't "provide" us with that website address on a regular basis.

Hey Fred, do you have long pink ears?

warmest,

Susan Maneck

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 28, 1999 9:19 AM
Subject: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

Milissa Boyer Kafes wrote in message <7b9clk$od6$1@nnrp1.dejanews.com>...

Of course, in his defense, others don't play >nice to him all the time either. As an observer, it has been no fun to watch!

Thank you for acknowledging the lying, deceitful dishonesty of the fundamentalist Bahais. Let me assure you they are using the same dirty tricks you've witnessed during the discussion and voting for talk.religion.bahai on AOL....

Mark Foster, the so-called Forum Leader, and Susan Maneck have proven themselves very adept at sophistry, backbiting, and intrigue....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 28, 1999 9:22 AM
To: HANI72@aol.com; CRust60001@aol.com; AAli929596@aol.com;
ccrawfeild@aol.com; Mr Mahdi; Nadle; Ruletherod; Macho786@aol.com;
Member1700@aol.com; PParvin@aol.com; RayHanania@aol.com;
RobertNik@aol.com; Shaksway@aol.com; Barthaman
Subject: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990226142052.13523.00000928@ngch1.aol.com>...

>Fred,
>
>My TOS reports are not false.

You're a liar and you know it....

They are in keeping with the training I received >to become a forum manager. Now, it is true, that some of it is subjective.

>However, although you may not believe it, I actually try to give people, >including you, the benefit of the doubt when I feel I can.

You're a liar....

>
>Actually, I send reports to TOS a lot less than do some of my fellow forum >managers. Yet, we all receive complaints from people that we are being unfair
>and discriminatory. It goes with the job. We are taught to expect it.

You're trying to hide and conceal what you're actually doing on AOL for your Bahai fundamentalist views....

>
>I have no idea what you are referring to regarding the "consideration of"
my >allegedly "false TOSs" and my imminent dismissal. There is no such >consideration, and there never has been.

The only thing you deserve on AOL is dismissal.... as AOL
did with Vahid before you....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 28, 1999 9:22 AM
Subject: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

RBCF Mark wrote in message <19990226142052.13523.00000928@ngch1.aol.com>...

>Fred,
>
>My TOS reports are not false.

You're a liar and you know it....

They are in keeping with the training I received
>to become a forum manager. Now, it is true, that some of it is subjective.
>However, although you may not believe it, I actually try to give people, >including you, the benefit of the doubt when I feel I can.

You're a liar....

>
>Actually, I send reports to TOS a lot less than do some of my fellow forum >managers. Yet, we all receive complaints from people that we are being unfair
>and discriminatory. It goes with the job. We are taught to expect it.

You're trying to hide and conceal what you're actually doing on AOL for your Bahai fundamentalist views....

>
>I have no idea what you are referring to regarding the "consideration of"
my >allegedly "false TOSs" and my imminent dismissal. There is no such >consideration, and there never has been.

The only thing you deserve on AOL is dismissal.... as AOL
did with Vahid before you....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 28, 1999 9:32 AM
Subject: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

Deana Marie Holmes wrote in message
<36d76d94.82356802@enews.newsguy.com>...
>On 26 Feb 1999 19:20:52 GMT, rbcfmark@aol.com (RBCF Mark) wrote:
>
>Mark Foster goes on about TOSes and the Baha'i forum...
>
>There was an article a month or so ago in the NYTimes about various >fora being shut down because of the inability of the hosts to handle >the discussion. The example they used was that of Ireland.

There have been other Forum Leaders too who abused their power as Mark Foster has on the Bahai Forums and were removed.... In the long run, I believe AOL will wake up to what he's doing too for the Bahai fundamentalists....

>
>I personally know that there was a long time where the Church <spit> >of Scientology had TOSes entered against "critics" and people who >simply questioned on their discussion group. Sermoner1@aol.com would >regularly TOS these people. It wasn't until a woman with connections >to people higher up in AOL showed up and took an interest in what >appeared to be very blatant and partisan TOSes against those who were >critics of Scientology. She was able to get most of them reversed.
>Finally, it got to the point where a person was TOSsed for having a >derogatory screen name or some such nonsense...the screen name in >question was "Xenu", who happens to be the (secret) Scientology satan, >Pretty much as a result, the Scientology area in Other Religions just >disappeared down the tubes. It had gotten out of hand and the Powers >that Be, a lot higher up than your TOS people, decreed that it be >GONE.

Scientology is an excellent example of fanaticism run amok on the Internet, Usenet, AOL, whatever, and distorting the discussion through various forms of pressure and control.
During my more than two years of "Bahai Wars" over talk.religion.bahai I've witnessed and experienced incredible opposition to free speech and conscience among my fellow Bahais.... The battle front has now been shifted by them to AOL....

>
>This, Mr. Foster, could happen to you. If you can't play nice, you >might find that you're locked out of the playground. (Same goes to >you, Fred, but based on my experience with Scientology and TOS I am >inclined to lean more towards Fred's side of things than Mark's.)

The AOL Bahai Forums really won't function properly or fairly as long as he's the Forum Leader. The only solution I see is for all AOL members in favor of free speech and discussion to complain to the hostmgr@aol.com the TOSBoards1@aol.com and RBCFAdmin@aol.com Jerry White, Forums Administrator, Spirituality Forums.

Then things might begin to improve there as they have on Usenet now with the creation of talk.religion.bahai.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>
>Just an observation...
>
>Deana Marie Holmes / member of the "Gang of Three" (Rod Keller)
>The Few, The Proud, The Banned (2x + 1 ISP on Scientology ban list)
>$cientology: Sponsor Windows84: "Where CAN'T you go today?"
>mirele@xmission.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 28, 1999 9:43 AM
Subject: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

Deana Marie Holmes wrote in message
<36d76d94.82356802@enews.newsguy.com>...
>On 26 Feb 1999 19:20:52 GMT, rbcfmark@aol.com (RBCF Mark) wrote:
>
>Mark Foster goes on about TOSes and the Baha'i forum...
>
>There was an article a month or so ago in the NYTimes about various
>fora being shut down because of the inability of the hosts to handle
>the discussion. The example they used was that of Ireland.

There have been other Forum Leaders too who abused their power as Mark Foster has on the Bahai Forums and were removed.... In the long run, I believe AOL will wake up to what he's doing too for the Bahai fundamentalists....

>
>I personally know that there was a long time where the Church <spit> >of $cientology had TOSes entered against "critics" and people who >simply questioned on their discussion group. Sermoner1@aol.com would >regularly TOS these people. It wasn't until a woman with connections >to people higher up in AOL showed up and took an interest in what >appeared to be very blatant and partisan TOSes against those who were >critics of Scientology. She was able to get most of them reversed.
>Finally, it got to the point where a person was TOSsed for having a >derogatory screen name or some such nonsense...the screen name in >question was "Xenu", who happens to be the (secret) Scientology satan, >Pretty much as a result, the Scientology area in Other Religions just >disappeared down the tubes. It had gotten out of hand and the Powers >that Be, a lot higher up than your TOS people, decreed that it be >GONE.

Scientology is an excellent example of fanaticism run amok on the Internet, Usenet, AOL, whatever, and distorting the discussion through various forms of pressure and control. During my more than two years of "Bahai Wars" over talk.religion.bahai I've witnessed and experience incredible opposition to free speech and conscience among my fellow Bahais.... The battle front has now been shifted by them to AOL....

>
>This, Mr. Foster, could happen to you. If you can't play nice, you >might find that you're locked out of the playground. (Same goes to >you, Fred, but based on my experience with Scientology and TOS I am >inclined to lean more towards Fred's side of things than Mark's.)

The AOL Bahai Forums really won't function properly or fairly as long as he's the Forum Leader. The only solution I see is for all AOL members in favor of free speech and discussion to complain to the hostmgr@aol.com the TOSBoards1@aol.com and RBCFAdmin@aol.com Jerry White, Forums Administrator, Spirituality Forums.

Then things might begin to improve there as they have on Usenet now with the creation of talk.religion.bahai.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>
>Just an observation...
>
>Deana Marie Holmes / member of the "Gang of Three" (Rod Keller)
>The Few, The Proud, The Banned (2x + 1 ISP on Scientology ban list) >$cientology: Sponsor Windows84: "Where CAN'T you go today?
>mirele@xmission.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 28, 1999 9:47 AM
Subject: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

Deana Marie Holmes wrote in message
<36d8117f.40853891@enews.newsguy.com>...

>My AOL connection has been rather busy of late, and she might find >Baha'i rather impenetrable, but I will admit that news of censorship >in religious fora tends to annoy the living daylights out of me, and I >might take it upon myself to enlighten Patricia to the situation...
>

>What are people so afraid of? The truth, maybe? If so, I'd be very >disappointed.

Fundamentalist Bahais are afraid of losing their stranglehold over other people's minds.... They believe they themselves have the only valid understanding of the Bahai Faith and writings and any other opinions should be silenced or driven out of the religion, whether at a Bahai meeting, on Usenet, or, now, AOL....

That's it in a nutshell....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 28, 1999 9:51 AM
To: TOSBoards1; HANI72#aol.com; CRust60001#aol.com;
AAl929596#aol.com; ccrawfeild@aol.com; Mr Mahdi; Nadle; Ruletherod;
Macho786#aol.com; Member1700#aol.com; PParvin#aol.com;
RayHanania@aol.com; RobertNik#aol.com; Shaksway@aol.com; Barthaman
Subject: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

Deana Marie Holmes wrote in message
<36dc6e99.64691791@enews.newsguy.com>...
>On Sat, 27 Feb 1999 20:32:47 GMT, rlittle33@my-dejanews.com wrote:

>I pointed out what people who know about AOL have known for a long >time: when a forum gets out of hand, it gets shut down. This was >noted in the NYTimes wrt the Irish fora. I also pointed out the long >experience critics of Scientology had with the AOL system. I opined >that if Mr. Foster didn't watch his step, the AOL Baha'i forum could >go the way of the AOL Scientology forum. That is NOT defamation.

I'd be in favor of the Bahai Forums on AOL being shut down too
if AOL personnel can't make the effort to understand what's really going on and fundamentalist Bahais can support Mark Foster resigning and finding a fair and honest person to serve as Forum Leader.

>
>I'd also like you to note, Mr. Little, that I am not a Baha'i, and >that I have had quite a bit of experience being harassed by pros, both >legally and extralegally. If you think that just because you can >sling the word "defamed" around that I'll go away, you've got another >thing coming. I would only note that Scientology thought I'd stop >picketing their local org if they picketed my home. They were wrong.

Mr. Little is one of the worst literal-minded Bahai fanatics on Usenet today. He's been a constant opponent of free speech and conscience regarding the creation of talk.religion.bahai for the past two years.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>

>

>Deana Marie Holmes / member of the "Gang of Three" (Rod Keller)
>The Few, The Proud, The Banned (2x + 1 ISP on Scientology ban list)
>$cientology: Sponsor Windows84: "Where CAN'T you go today?"
>mirele@xmission.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Sunday, February 28, 1999 9:51 AM

Subject: Re: False TOSs on AOL - Bahai Forum Leader Mark Foster

Deana Marie Holmes wrote in message

<36dc6e99.64691791@enews.newsguy.com>...

>On Sat, 27 Feb 1999 20:32:47 GMT, rlittle33@my-dejanews.com wrote:

>I pointed out what people who know about AOL have known for a long >time: when a forum gets out of hand, it gets shut down. This was >noted in the NYTimes wrt the Irish fora. I also pointed out the long >experience critics of Scientology had with the AOL system. I opined >that if Mr. Foster didn't watch his step, the AOL Baha'i forum could >go the way of the AOL Scientology forum. That is NOT defamation.

I'd be in favor of the Bahai Forums on AOL being shut down too
if AOL personnel can't make the effort to understand what's really going on and fundamentalist Bahais can support Mark Foster resigning and finding a fair and honest person to serve as Forum Leader.

>

>I'd also like you to note, Mr. Little, that I am not a Baha'i, and >that I have had quite a bit of experience being harassed by pros, both >legally and extralegally. If you think that just because you can >sling the word "defamed" around that I'll go away, you've got another >thing coming. I would only note that Scientology thought I'd stop >picketing their local org if they picketed my home. They were wrong.

Mr. Little is one of the worst literal-minded Bahai fanatics on Usenet today. He's been a constant opponent of free speech and conscience regarding the creation of talk.religion.bahai
for the past two years.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

>

>

>Deana Marie Holmes / member of the "Gang of Three" (Rod Keller)
>The Few, The Proud, The Banned (2x + 1 ISP on Scientology ban list)
>$cientology: Sponsor Windows84: "Where CAN'T you go today?"

>mirele@xmission.com

From: FG@aol.com[SMTP:FG@aol.com]

Sent: Sunday, February 28, 1999 10:39 AM

To: RBCFAdmin@aol.com

Cc: FG@hotmail.com

Subject: Re: Bahai Forums - False TOSs by Mark Foster, Forum Leader

Jerry White,

I think you could choose any message that Mark Foster has forwarded to the TOSGeneral of mine during the last four or five weeks since he has suddenly shown back up after more than an eight month absence. Foster and other Bahai fundamentalists have been constantly alleging FALSE TOSs against me, resulting even in my account being suspended.

Below is a message from a Bahai fundamentalist which were allowed with impunity by Foster in the Announcements and Question to Forum Leader folders. It is insulting and excellent example of the kind of thing he permits fanatics to get away with while TOSsing more liberal Bahais like me.

Fundamentalist Bahais are attempting to suppress information from appearing in the Libraries, as they have the links for alt.religion.bahai and now talk.religion.bahai from the Web Sites on the main menu. I request you investigate whether the latter two links have appeared in Foster's report to AOL of about 3 to 4 weeks ago and when they will be added to the menu. Alt.religion.bahai, incidentally, was created nearly two years ago and has yet to appear there while the fundamentalist newsgroup soc.religion.bahai alone is offered.

I believe it would help you understand what is really going on to read what several people, including a tenured professor at the University of Michigan, have observed on Bahais and free speech:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

If a fair and honest Forum Leader can not be appointed to the Baha Forums, I, as a Bahai of over 23 years, would be in favor of the entire Bahai Forums being removed from AOL as was done with Scientology.

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> On talk.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, and AOL: Keyword Bahai, Message Boards

> Subject: Re: alt.religion.bahai & talk.religion.bahai

> Date: 2/25/1999 11:22 AM Eastern Standard Time

> From: Smaneck

> Message-id: <19990225112245.13529.00000211@ng-ch1.aol.com>

>

> Charlotte writes:

>

> >So.... I will ask Mark to NOT add these newsgroups if you will not agree to

to > >immediately remove those items placed there without permission and agree to > >stop the practice of putting them there in the future.

>
> Dear Charlotte,
>
> While your annoyance to Fred doing this is well taken and he is certainly > violating standard netiquette and perhaps copyright laws in forwarding other' > s posts, I don't think we can oppose the addition of newsgroups because of > the unconscionable behavior of one of its members.
>
> I think it is sufficient reason to refuse to add Mr. Glaysher's own website, > however since he has total control of its contents. Besides, it is not like > he doesn't "provide" us with that website address on a regular basis.
>
> Hey Fred, do you have long pink ears?
>
>
> warmest,
>
> Susan Maneck

In a message dated 2/28/1999 9:04:39 AM Eastern Standard Time, RBCF Admin writes:

> Subj: Re: Bahai Forums - False TOSs by Mark Foster, Forum Leader
> Date: 2/28/1999 9:04:39 AM Eastern Standard Time
> From: RBCF Admin
> To: FG
>
> In a message dated 2/28/99 7:23:21 AM Eastern Standard Time, FG writes:
>
> > I would appreciate hearing back from you and knowing you > > are making an attempt to address the problems in the Bahai > > Forums.
>
> Dear FG;
> First, I need to mention that HostMgr, is not affiliated with any of the > Spirituality forums and has absolutely no authority to make or cause to > happen, any changes. HostMgr's authority is limited to the People connection > hosts & writing to that screen name only adds a burdon on an already > overloaded mailbox.
>
> Can you please be a bit more specific regarding your concerns. Can you > send copies of posts you've had removed? This would help tremendously.
>
> I do know that you were concerned that your uploads of the newsgroup > transcripts were not released. This was in keeping with forum guidelines.
> First, there are copyright concerns & secondly, we really see no reason to > use resources for this purpose when the information is readily available

- > elsewhere.
- >
- > Jerry White
- > Forums Administrator
- > Spirituality

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

BAHAI CENSORSHIP ON AOL:

In August of 1998 I took out an account on AOL. It quickly became apparent that my fellow Bahais were using AOL in such a way as to further withhold knowledge and information from AOL's more than 14 million members.

It appeared to me that there were four main issues.

Alt.religion.bahai, which had been created in April of 1997 and which had had more than 20,000 messages posted to it, was not even offered in the list of AOL newsgroups. AOL personnel with which I spoke over the phone were very puzzled why it wasn't and even implied that some action would have had to have been taken to keep it from automatically being picked up and added to their newsgroups. It took more than a month of strenuous effort to get AOL to add alt.religion.bahai.

On the AOL Bahai Forums it became apparent that Bahais were manipulating and controlling information by NOT making it available, by essentially preserving the frozen, non-functioning state of affairs or the status quo:

- 1. The Libraries were not accepting new uploads for others then to download and read.
- 2. The list of Newsgroups on the Main Menu for Bahai offered only soc.religion.bahai with no mention of alt.religion.bahai, or talk.religion.bahai once it was created in January of 1999. Coupled with soc.religion.bahai's suppression of all mention of alt.religion.bahai or talk.religion.bahai, this prevents people from even hearing of their existence.
- 3. The available links for Web Sites on the Main Menu for Bahai did not offered my website The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience, though it has to be one of the most visited sites on the Bahai Faith with more than 7,000 hits since May 1998.

As the months went by, my repeated attempts to improve these deficiencies met with greater and greater opposition from the Bahai fundamentalists on AOL. Similiarly, my requests, beginning in August of 1998, that the Forum Leader, Mark Foster, who no one had seen for months, resign, for derilection of duty, were increasingly opposed while various excuses were offered for his absence. Not until talk.religion.bahai was passed five months later in January 1999 did he suddenly reappear only to begin immediately reporting absolutely EVERY message I posted to AOL as a TOS. It quickly became clear to me that he was back in order to target and build a case against me to have me suspended from AOL. My account was then temporarily suspended on three different occasions and finally terminated March 6, 1999.

Of the four issues, only two have partially been remedied.

1. Alt.religion.bahai and now talk.religion.bahai are available under AOL's Keyword Newsgroups, Expert Add.

2. The Libraries are accepting some uploads, though Foster banned the 15+ megabytes I uploaded in late February of my entire archive of discussion for talk.religion.bahai and which is at least available on my website. It's obvious Foster is finding pretexts for suppressing further uploads.

While Foster has claimed since mid-January that alt.religion.bahai and talk.religion.bahai would be added to the Main Menu under Newsgroups, he continued to make excuses for it not happening.

As of March 9, 1999 they were not yet listed under Newsgroups along with soc.religion.bahai.

All of these factors, coupled with Mark Foster's abuse of his position as Forum Leader and his harassing and targetting of dissenting voices, not only mine, leaves no doubt that he and other Bahais, including some among the Bahai Administration, are involved in manipulating and censoring discourse on AOL.

For an instance of "back-channel" email coercion on AOL see AOL.htm

For an instance of Foster's double standard handling fundamentalist Bahais see Susan Maneck's accusations on AOL against me of "slander" and references to my views as

"garbage" and "litter":

Maneck1.htm

The immediate pretext for terminating my account, according to the AOL official with whom I spoke on the phone, was that I had pointed out in a newly created Folder called Censorship that I and other AOL members had requested a Folder entitled Bahai Censorship and thereby undermined the authority of the Forum Leader....

In closing let me add that AOL personnel are extremely uninformed about the Bahai Faith, especially its practice of censorship, and its ability to exploit the TOS system....

Half a megabyte of messages documenting Bahai censorship on AOL may be found at AOL.htm

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

NOTICE 10-6-03

Susan Maneck and other fundamentalists here on AOL, among my fellow bahais, we're attempting in late 2002 and early 2003 to get the AOL bahai message boards to expire by NOT posting to them. Having DRIVEN most people out or off the boards, there were few people left to notice what they were up to. Despite the claims made previously in this thread, I would not rule out the possibility that in some way they eventually acheived their goal of marginalizing these boards--if you can't control them completely, get rid of them.... or as much as possible.

FG

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/>

Message 1 of 67

Subject: Baha'i Message Board-AOL

Date: 8/18/2003 9:15 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Jsc071356

MsgId: <20030818211505.16607.00025189@mbs-m12.aol.com>

I have not visited the AOL Baha'i board in quite a while and now can not access it. My favorites listing produces a message that tells me "I am not allowed in this area." ?? Is it still there? The last time I visited, there were very few folders left....just wondering!

Message 2 of 67

Subject: Re: Baha'i Message Board-AOL

Date: 8/18/2003 9:23 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Smaneck

MsgId: <20030818212356.25970.00022964@mbs-m03.aol.com>

>

>I have not visited the AOL Baha'i board in quite a while and now can not >access it. My favorites listing produces a message that tells me "I am not >allowed in this area." ?? Is it still there? The last time I visited, >there were very few folders left....just wondering!

I'm afraid you arrived a day too late. The Board has disappeared and we are now relegated to this one folder.

warmest, Susan

warmest, Susan

<https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Message 8 of 67

Subject: thank goodness I had Susan's email address

Date: 8/20/2003 12:34 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: MK5364

MsgId: <20030820003444.25970.00027148@mbs-m03.aol.com>

Hi everyone,

It's been awhile since I vistied. Susan, thank you for the kind words.

It's funny, I decided to post either yesterday or the day before and the next time I checked back I got that mean message that I was "denied access." I felt terrible and quickly emailed Susan and found out what was going on.

I'm sorry the board disappeared but at least there is this folder; many of you have been here for years and it would be a shame to just lose it so suddenly.

My original message just mentioned that I now have a DSL line; AOL doesn't accomodate my cute outdated iMac on Broadband so I don't use dial-up very often to sign on to AOL. I'm nuts, because now I pay for two services (one for my son who likes the DSL, and one for me to keep AOL because I'm use to the email addresses.) Anyway...

I hope everyone is doing well and I hope to drop by every once in a while to say hello.
I never found out what happened to Rule...

Ken

Message 9 of 67

Subject: Re: thank goodness I had Susan's email address

Date: 8/20/2003 1:55 AM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Smaneck

MsgId: <20030820014911.25970.00027322@mbs-m03.aol.com>

>I never found out what happened to Rule...

Dear Ken,

It is a long story. But briefly when anti-Arab and anti-Islamic threads were declared off topic, Rule left in a huff.

warmest, Susan

warmest, Susan

<https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Message 20 of 67

Subject: Re: Baha'i Message Board-AOL

Date: 8/19/2003 9:50 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: WScott1995

MsgId: <20030819215046.02283.00023238@mbs-m07.aol.com>

Hello Rob,

In reference to your comment:

v Now the question is: What the hell is going on with v AOL? It's bad enough that the Bahv'v Message Boards
v are relegated to the "other" folder while Paganism gets v its own, but now those interested in visiting and v contributing to the former v even if only occasionally
v v are treated as non-citizens. We pay our AOL
v access bills too; we should have equal consideration.

I agree. It's pretty pathetic. But then I think a lot of Baha'is were chased away by all the negativity from before. Perhaps if we manage to keep a nice friendly board here, people will come and fill it with posts. Then AOL will notice and give us more to work with. We can always hope anyway. :)

Love, Wendy

Message 21 of 67

Subject: Re: Baha'i Message Board-AOL

Date: 8/19/2003 11:48 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Smaneck

MsgId: <20030819234819.25970.00027037@mbsm03.aol.com>

>But then I think a lot of Baha'is were chased away by all the negativity from >before.

Dear Wendy,

The Board languished after the 'negative' folks left.
The sad truth is that controversy feeds the internet and without controversy the Board died.

warmest, Susan

warmest, Susan

<https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Message 31 of 67

Subject: Re: Baha'i Message Board-AOL
Date: 8/19/2003 11:46 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: Smaneck
MsgId: <20030819234602.25970.00027034@mbs-m03.aol.com>

>
> Maybe it's just me, but this just seems like our "current political >order's" disregard for civil liberties is seeping into everything, including >AOL's policies.

Dear Rob,

I really think we have no one but ourselves to blame.
We let the Message Board languish and this is what happened.

warmest, Susan

warmest, Susan

<https://www.susanmaneck.com>

Message 62 of 67
Subject: Re: Baha'i Message Board-AOL
Date: 8/24/2003 2:11 PM Eastern Daylight Time
From: WScott1995
MsgId: <20030824141059.02283.00040432@mbs-m07.aol.com>

Friends,

I tried to ignore old Fred and his anti-Baha'i rantings, but when I checked the next messages, they still showed up on my screen. Doesn't this work?

Loving Bahá'í R greetings, Wendy

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Subj: Fwd: TOS violation for what?
Date: 98-09-12 06:52:07 EDT
From: TOSGen2
To: FG

Dear Member,

Thank you for writing regarding the Terms of Service notation on your account.

We have reviewed your account history, and in light of the circumstances that you described, removed the notation.

You may want to visit keyword NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH and review the guidelines available there with all users of this account.

Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,
Larry
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

* Have you heard about AOL's latest and easiest to use software version, 4.0? You can upgrade for free at keyword: Upgrade. With AOL 4.0, you can have fun by sending multiple files, changing screen names without signing off, customizing your toolbar, and much, much more. Upgrade today!

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

A Response to Takfir(as published)

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/apostates.htm>

My Response to Takfir (original)

https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/apostates_takfir.htm

Published in "Challenging apostasy: Responses to Moojan Momen's 'Marginality and Apostasy in the Baha'i Community.'" Pages 384-393. This Response in PDF version. Original available online: Religion 38 No 4 2008. Challenging apostasy: Responses to Moojan Momen's 'Marginality and Apostasy in the Baha'i Community' Original Online at Religion.

My response appears here to help the reader understand the Iranian Shiite fanaticism that the Baha'i Faith has often come to represent behind the granite facade of peace and love. It cannot be overemphasized that the allegations against each "apostate" constitute a screed of falsehood and misrepresentation.

From this server: Full text: "Marginality and Apostasy in the Baha'i Community." by Momen Moojan

From this server: Full text: "Challenging apostasy: Responses to Momen".pdf

Full original article also on Scribd: "Marginality and Apostasy in the Baha'i Community." by Moojan Momen.

Full original also on Scribd: "Challenging apostasy: Responses to Momen.pdf.

FG:

Moojan Momen's paragraph about me in his article 'Marginality and Apostasy in the Baha'i Community' (Religion 37 [2007] 187-209, p. 198), under the guise of scholarly content and factual statement, is a litany of falsehoods and distortions about who I am.

Holding two degrees from the University of Michigan, I studied there with the poet Robert Hayden, who was a Baha'i, and edited both Hayden's Collected Prose (University of Michigan Press, 1984) and his Collected Poems (Liveright, 1985). A man of formidable intellectual integrity, Robert Hayden loathed fundamentalist Baha'is. Sharing his assessment, I discuss Hayden's actual views on the Baha'i Faith at length in my essay about him in my recently published The Grove of the Eumenides: Essays on Literature, Criticism, and Culture (2007). I have also published three other books of poetry and prose, have a forthcoming volume in Spring 2008, and have been a Fulbright-Hays scholar to China and an NEH scholar on India; but since I'm supposed to be a 'marginal' Baha'i 'apostate,' Momen, like all zealous Baha'i apologists, can only treat people with caricature and slander, as has been done by fundamentalists for over a decade on talk.religion.bahai and elsewhere online.

Implicitly deriding my four years of community college teaching, Momen conveniently leaves out that I taught English literature and rhetoric for seven years at Gunma University (Japan), Illinois State University, and Oakland University.

Momen claims that I had 'personal clashes with Iranian Baha'is' (p. 198). Apparently someone thought so and reported something to someone. What is the accusation and who is my accuser? In Western law, the accused have the right to know and confront the accuser, in order to protect the innocent from libel.

Haifan Baha'is have often denied the existence of other Bahai denominations. Following that pattern, Momen implies that the Reform Bahai Faith does not exist. The Reform Bahai Faith began August 19, 2004, although its roots go back to Ruth White, Mirza Ahmad Sohrab, Julie Chanler, and other early Baha'is who were similarly maligned for not accepting the fundamentalist interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Teachings, based on the purported will and testament of Abdu'l-Baha, written by the family of Shoghi Effendi, and pronounced a fraud in 1930 by Dr. C. Ainsworth Mitchell of the British Museum:

https://www.reformbahai.org/CAMitchell_Report.html

The Reform Bahai Faith is already much larger than any other Bahai denomination, including the three combined that the NSA of Wilmette is currently suing in the US District Court of Northern Illinois. See

https://trueseeker.typepad.com/true_seeker/court_case.html

My website 'The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience' may be the most comprehensive effort made to document the fanaticism that has taken over the largest Baha'i denomination. See <https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship>

For further details see my original Response to Takfir

Professor Juan Cole on Baha'i Takfir

https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Juan_Cole_On_Bahai_Takfir.html

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

My Response to Takfir (original)

https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/apostates_takfir.htm

See also A Response to Takfir (as published)

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/apostates.htm>

See the abbreviated published version, "Challenging apostasy: Responses to Moojan Momen's 'Marginality and Apostasy in the Baha'i Community.'" Pages 384-393 Religion 38 No 4 2008.

Challenging apostasy: Responses to Moojan Momen's 'Marginality and Apostasy in the Baha'i Community' Original Online at Religion.

It appears here to help the reader understand the Iranian Shiite fanaticism that the Baha'i Faith really has come to represent behind the granite facade of peace and love. It cannot be sufficiently overemphasized that in each case it constitutes one falsehood and distortion after another about each person named as a so-called "apostate."

From this server: Full text of Momen's libel of 15 people: "Marginality and Apostasy in the Baha'i Community."

From this server: Challenging apostasy Responses to Momen.pdf

Full original article also on Scribd: "Marginality and Apostasy in the Baha'i Community." by Moojan Momen. Full PDF text from Religion on Scribd:

Full Text of All Responses from the several people slandered in Momen's article.

Also see US District Court of Northern Illinois rules against Haifan Baha'is - April 23, 2008

Amici curiae, Reform Bahai Faith

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/USDistrictCourt07.htm>

FG - A Response to Moojan Momen's Takfir & Slandorous Vilification:
"Marginality and apostasy in the Baha'i community." Religion. Volume 37, Issue
3, September 2007, Pages 187-209.
<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/apostates.htm>

"While in all past religious books and epistles, the world of humanity has been divided into two parts; one called the people of the Book, or the Pure Tree, and the other, the Evil Tree. One half of the people of the world were looked upon as belonging to the faithful, and the other as belonging to the irreligious and the infidel; one half of the people were consigned to the mercy of the Creator, and the other half were considered as objects of the wrath of their Maker. But Baha'u'llah proclaimed the Oneness of the World of humanity--He submerged all mankind in the Sea of Divine Generosity." --Abdul-Baha

Moojan Momen's attempt to label people as "apostates" entirely misses what is truly the issue: The corruption and decline of the Baha'i Faith under an oppressive administration founded upon the spurious, fraudulent will and testament of Abdu'l-Baha. A denomination based upon an act of forgery cannot but produce the many evils that have manifested themselves increasingly over the last decade in the Baha'i Faith. The much flaunted "administrative order" constitutes the real cadre of apostates, not the fictitious "group" he's concocted.

Moojan Momen and the Haifan Baha'i administration, while publicly hiding behind a facade of liberalism, are essentially practicing Islamic "takfir," labeling people "kafir" or infidels, and issuing fatwas, denying the very existence of other Bahais and denominations, all indicative of the worst in the Shiite Islamic heritage of the Bahai Faith—practices Baha'u'llah specifically repudiated, teaching tolerance of different religious views, largely congruent with modern Western custom. Nothing could be more diametrically opposed to the modern democracy of Western civic and legal order than the jihad the Haifan Baha'is are conducting.

Momen's paragraph about me, a litany of hate, derision, and slander, under the guise of "scholarly content" and "factual statements," is so thick with lies and misrepresentations that I am sure the rest of the "article" must be just as biased, deceitful, and hypocritical. My response to his various distortions follow below.

Holding two degrees from the University of Michigan, I studied there with Robert Hayden, the only American poet of any real ability who thus far has happened to be a Bahai, an African-American, and appointed Consultant in Poetry to the Library of Congress. I edited both his Collected Prose (University of Michigan Press) and his Collected Poems (Liveright). A man of formidable intellectual integrity, Hayden loathed fundamentalist Baha'is. It's important to understand that Baha'i fanatics have attempted, since Hayden's death in 1980, to distort and co-opt his reputation for their propaganda and that I stand in their way, as with other issues. Sharing his assessment, I discuss Hayden's actual views on the Baha'i Faith at length in my essay about him in my recently published The Grove of the Eumenides: Essays on Literature, Criticism, and Culture (2007). I've also published three other books of poetry and prose, have a forthcoming volume in Spring 2008, been a Fulbright-Hays scholar to China, and an NEH scholar on India, but since I'm supposed to be a "marginal" Baha'i "apostate," Momen, like all zealous Baha'i apologists, can only treat people with caricature and slander, as has been done by fundamentalists for over a decade on talk.religion.bahai and elsewhere online.

Deriding my four years of community college teaching, Momen conveniently leaves out that I taught English literature and rhetoric for several years at Gunma University (Japan), Illinois State University, and Oakland University.

I've been a Bahai for 31 years, since 1976, not 25. I was very active in the Michigan Bahai community, travel taught in the state in youth groups, attended firesides, summer school, conventions, served on a number of assemblies and committees, regularly contributed to the Funds, and I pioneered to Japan and on the Colorado River Indian Reservation in Arizona (3 ½ years). I published an essay on the poet Robert Hayden and a review in World Order in the early 1980s. <https://fglaysher.com/Recentering.htm>

"Personal clashes with Iranian Baha'is." Apparently they thought so and reported something to someone. What is the accusation and who is my accuser? This type of libel is characteristic of fascist states and organizations.

Similar to the many Bahais whose messages were censored, my posts to soc.religion.bahai were also censored, by fundamentalist apparatchiks who opposed the creation of an unmoderated news group, talk.religion.bahai for over two years, organizing and massively voting against a free and open forum they couldn't manipulate. It took three rounds of voting to pass. Even after a decade, talk.religion.bahai remains quite possibly THE ONLY Bahai FORUM that cannot be censored by anyone, fundamentalist or liberal, and I am definitely proud of that fact. Talk.religion.bahai > Menu:

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/trbmenu.htm> At times, as stormy as the British Parliament, say what one will, it's a free and open forum, where all voices may be heard, more than one can find in the Shiite-like world order the ao would impose, imitating the anti-Western prejudices of that decadent, depraved, and backward excuse for a culture and civilization, and unlike the Teachings of Baha'u'llah, who loathed the tyranny of His homeland. Online now for over a decade, talk.religion.bahai participants soon began to realize there was a "Bahai Technique" to fundamentalist behavior, based primarily on slander, character assassination, and such reprehensible tactics. That Momen has practiced such "techniques" in the pages of a reputable academic journal should give intelligent minds reason for pause and concern: <https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/technique.htm>

"Withdrawn from active participation" on talk.religion.bahai: completely false, as is the spam allegation. I withdrew from allowing myself to be pummeled by bullies and fanatics who refuse to engage and discuss people's legitimate concerns. I've found ways to reveal how utterly corrupt the ao is. The ao actually spams the group with the same ignorant party line, year after year, never discussing anything that doesn't align with it. That's not discussion nor an exchange of ideas, even though they pretend otherwise. A free society and free speech require give and take. They're only interested in takfir and branding people as kafir. I regularly exchange posts on talk.religion.bahai with people capable of decent courtesy, listening, and respect for other people's opinions and religious convictions, including Bahais who are members of other Bahai denominations, whose views may differ from mine, but whom I respect as human beings. Momen, like all fundamentalists and bullies, is incapable of respecting people who don't echo back to him his own opinions. A public school teacher once observed that most bullying occurs in 6th through 8th grade. That tells us something important about the administrative order and the people it uses to do its dirty work, like Momen and Susan Maneck. My interest on talk.religion.bahai is in reaching those Bahais and people who are uninformed and naive as a result of the distortion and suppression of information and the deceit of Baha'i propaganda. The reactionary attack and tactics of Momen and others demonstrate that I have been successful in informing my fellow Bahais and citizens, in the USA and around the world, of the despicable fanaticism that purports to represent Baha'u'llah's Teachings. The allegations and howling over "spam" is all out of proportion to reality, revealing their disreputable motives.

The Bahai "institutions" are not above criticism; no one is in this world, especially any putative institution that purports to be "infallible." They merit little else than criticism given their disgusting conduct and lack of ethics.

Not at all acerbic. Here's the proof: "Please remove my name and address from your mailing list." Details at <https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/nsa1996.htm> That's it. That's all I asked for, and I got insult and fanaticism in return. I've never been officially notified, if I was dropped from the "rolls," only online slander claiming it. Some people have sued the ao, Deborah Buchhorn for fraud and slander, which they wiggled out of, not at all a proof of their innocence: <https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/NMLawsuit.htm>

"Fact and fantasy": Momen and the ao are so sunk in fantasy that only fanatics like themselves fail to see it. They share that with Al-Qaeda, along with many other traits.

The Reform Bahai Faith began August 19, 2004, though its roots go back to Ruth White, Mirza Ahmad Sohrab, Julie Chanler, and other early Bahais who were similarly maligned for not accepting the fundamentalist Shiite interpretation of Baha'u'llah's Teachings, based on the fraudulent will and testament of Abdu'l-Baha, written by the family of Shoghi Effendi, and pronounced a fraud in 1930 by Dr. C. Ainsworth Mitchell of the British Museum: https://www.reformbahai.org/CAMitchell_Report.htm

The Reform Bahai Faith is already much larger than any other Bahai denomination, including the three combined that the NSA of Wilmette is currently suing in the US District Court of Northern Illinois. https://trueseeker.typepad.com/true_seeker/court_case.html

Why would members of the Reform Bahai Faith want to identify themselves on the Internet to be abused and harassed by Shiite Baha'is, especially given the way fundamentalists have caricatured and slandered me and other independent minds? Some hardy souls have posted and participated in the safe forum of Yahoo Group - ReformBahai, where fundamentalists may not libel people with impunity:

<https://groups.yahoo.com/group/ReformBahai>

My website "The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience" may be the most comprehensive effort made to document the fanaticism that has taken over the largest Bahai denomination. <https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship>

Blitzkriegs: Ad hominem, slander, and takfir are not an answer to the profound questions raised by Shoghi Effendi's corrupting Baha'u'llah's Teachings and taking His Faith back into the middle ages. Momen's defamation has a very long Baha'i history, early instances of which were noted by Mirza Ahmad Sohrab in his book Broken Silence: The Story of Today's Struggle for Religious Freedom. New York: Universal Publishing, 1942. "The writer of the article in Bahai News reaches the height of his slanderous vilification when he likens Mr. and Mrs. Chanler and their Bahai friends to those enemies that preceded them: Subhi-Ezel, Mohamet Ali, Kheirella and their like" (138).

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/SohrabEx.htm> Click "Dangerous Doctrine."

Out-of-context allegations of "conspiracy theories" and misrepresentations about the murders of Daniel Jordan and David Kelley do not address the real issues, nor do they successfully dodge them, to a thoughtful and critical mind capable of detecting a blatant attempt to discredit. A call for further investigation is not tantamount to a conspiracy theory but a highly logical and prudent precaution given the actual conduct, over so many decades, of such a reprehensible organization, which at times pretends to be a mere corporation when it serves its designs, as in its several lawsuits against other Bahai denominations.

Far from "obsessive hatred" of the Bahai Faith, the people Momen attempts to label "apostates" have valiantly sought to defend the values of honesty and decency requisite for any civilization worthy of the name and to protect themselves and their fellow citizens from religious tyranny and exploitation.

Bullies, liars, and fanatics are not scholars worthy of the title, even when they deceive editors of reputable academic journals into publishing their screed.

Bahai regards,

FG

www.FG.com

Compare Professor Juan Cole on Baha'i Takfir

https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Juan_Cole_On_Bahai_Takfir.html

"The Bahai Technique":

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/technique.htm>

Shunning & Slander > Menu

<https://fglaysher.com/bahaicensorship/Shunning.htm>

Sen McGlinn, Church and State. Leiden, 2005. Reviewed by FG

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Jonathan Grobe, a non-Bahai, created alt.religion.bahai on April 3, 1997 after first noting sufficient interest.

Grobe notes sufficient interest for alt.religion.bahai 3/29/97

Goldberg proposes alt.religion.bahai 3/30/97

Grobe creates alt.religion.bahai 4/3/97

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

Email: jgoldberg@megsinet.net

Date: 1997/03/30

Forums: alt.config

This is a proposal for alt.religion.bahai

The purpose of the group is to freely discuss all issues related to the Baha'i Faith.

There is currently a moderated newsgroup soc.religion.bahai but the moderators exercise censorship of ideas that may be repugnant to the general mainstream of Baha'is. 157 persons voted in favor of talk.religion.bahai as an unmoderated forum but they were voted down by an overwhelming number of Baha'is who fear the creation of an uncensored forum for discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

arb1198-22898

From: r_wagner@foma.wsc.mass.edu[SMTP:r_wagner@foma.wsc.mass.edu]
Sent: Thursday, January 01, 1998 9:18 PM
To: bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us
Subject: Oppositionist literature

The Baha'i Studies List

A search of the New York Public Library catalog returns the following titles under the heading Baha'i Faith -- Controversial literature (a subject heading meaning hostile literature).

- 1.Adwa ala al-Bahaiyah : al-fikr wa-al-aqidah : [hiwar bayna Muslim wa-Baha(1985)
- 2.Adwa wa-haqaiq ala al-Babiyah, al-Bahaiyah, al-Qadiyaniyah / Aminah Muham(1984)
- 3.Bahai / Francis Beckwith.(1985)
- 4.al-Bahaiyah : wasail wa-ghayat / Taha al-Dusuqi.(1985)
- 5.Haqiqat al-Bahaiyah / Mustafa Mahmud.(1985)
- 6.Khatamiyat va pasukh bih sakhtahha-yi Bahaiyat / ba mulhaqqat va zamayim-i tazah(1978)
- 7.Maa zaim al-Bahaiyah : istidrajuhu wa-kashf khitatihi wa-fadh amrih / Mahmud.(1987)
- 8.Miftah Bab al-abwab. Persian. 1980([198-?])
- 9.al-Nihlah al-laqitah : al-Babiyah wa-al-Bahaiyah : tarikh wa-wathaiq / Abd al-Mu(1989)
- 10.al-Qadiyaniyah wa-al-Bahaiyah / li-Muhammad al-Khidr Husayn ; jamaahu wa-haqqaqah(1975)
- 11.Qiraah fi wathaiq al-Bahaiyah / Aishah Abd al-Rahman (Bint al-Shati).(1986)
- 12.al-Radd ala al-Bahaiyin fi daw al-manhaj al-lughawi / talif Muhammad Abd(1986)

Observations: 9 titles in Arabic, 2 in Persian, and only 1 in English! It occurred to me that we in the West are aware of Islamic attacks on the Baha'i Faith, but quite unfamiliar with the specifics of their arguments.

Over to you:

Can someone provide translations of the Arabic and Persian titles?

Is anyone familiar with the arguments presented in these books?

Ralph Wagner

-
To switch to the digested list, send the following commands to major@johnco.cc.ks.us in the message body
-
unsubscribe bahai-st
subscribe bahai-st-digest

From: Snoop81485[SMTP:snoop81485@aol.com]
Sent: Friday, January 02, 1998 12:09 AM
To: FG
Subject: Re: Re:RFD:talk.religion.bahai

I'm writing using my own screen name now. But I was the one posting the message about talk.religion.bahai and about how a forum including both mainstream Baha'is and Covenant-breakers would be helpful to the general Internet public. Unfortunately, I forgot what I wrote you using the screen name MusMan1@aol.com! Was it the same as what I posted to news.groups?
Robin Peters
Snoop81485@aol.com
tx200@juno.com (my preferred email address)
Rosewell197@juno.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 03, 1998 7:19 AM
To: Ron House; Chris Manvell
Subject: Re: 3rd RFD: talk.religion.bahai

Henrietta Thomas wrote in message <34ac83a2.4107456@news.wwa.com>...
>
>Now comes the hard part.....
>
>>>In keeping with long-standing Usenet tradition for all religious groups, >>>the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of the >>>Baha'i faith.
>>>[Or you could say, "In keeping with long-standing Usenet tradition >>>for all religious groups, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup should not >>>be considered an official organ of the Baha'i faith."]
>>
>>Other religious groups are not official organs of the Bahai Faith >>or any other faith....
>>
>>I suggest:
>>
>>In keeping with long-standing Usenet tradition for all religious >>groups, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup should not be >>considered an official organ of any religious organization, >>including the Bahai Faith.
>>
>>NOTE: soc.religion.bahai has no such disclaimer in >>its charter.... I still believe there is no legitimate reason >>trb should have one....
>
>[snip]....
>
>>Another acceptable reading to me, even preferable,
>>would be:
>>
>>As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular
>>religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai >>newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional >>religion.
>>
>>For clarity, I would consider the above an acceptable >>compromise and would delete the whipping post >>reference for this.
>
>I think you are getting much closer to a real compromise on this.
>That is good. Try different combinations of the above ideas until >you and your co-proponents come up with something you can all >agree on.

I'm willing to compromise.... I don't see any reason to be inflexible on this passage or any other....

>
>[snip].... no argument with your other points.
>
>Henrietta

Thanks again!

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 03, 1998 7:19 AM
Subject: Re: 3rd RFD: talk.religion.bahai

Henrietta Thomas wrote in message <34ac83a2.4107456@news.wwa.com>...
>
>Now comes the hard part.....
>
>>>In keeping with long-standing Usenet tradition for all religious groups,
>>>the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of the >>>Baha'i faith.
>>>[Or you could say, "In keeping with long-standing Usenet tradition >>>for all religious groups, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup should not >>>be considered an official organ of the Baha'i faith."]
>>
>>Other religious groups are not official organs of the Bahai Faith >>or any other faith....
>>
>>I suggest:
>>
>>In keeping with long-standing Usenet tradition for all religious >>groups, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup should not be >>considered an official organ of any religious organization, >>including the Bahai Faith.
>>

>>NOTE: soc.religion.bahai has no such disclaimer in >>its charter.... I still believe there is no legitimate reason >>trb should have one....
>
>[snip].....
>
>>Another acceptable reading to me, even preferable,
>>would be:
>>
>>As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular
>>religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai
>>newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional
>>religion.
>>
>>For clarity, I would consider the above an acceptable >>compromise and would delete the whipping post >>reference for this.
>
>I think you are getting much closer to a real compromise on this.
>That is good. Try different combinations of the above ideas until >you and your co-proponents come up with something you can all >agree on.

I'm willing to compromise.... I don't see any reason to be inflexible on this passage or any other....

>
>[snip].... no argument with your other points.
>
>Henrietta

Thanks again!

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 03, 1998 7:28 AM
Subject: Re: RFD: soc.religion.zoroastrian

Poster wrote in message <683r1q$j0n$1@ha2.rdc1.nj.home.com>...

>
> The reason I proposed an "unmoderated" newsgroup was because :
>
> 1) I do not believe in censorship.
> 2) I for one do not have the time to moderate it.

How about changing the hierarchy to TALK.religion.zoroastrian?

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 03, 1998 7:57 AM
Subject: Re: 3rd RFD: talk.religion.bahai

>In article <349f2243.4158591@news.wwa.com>, Henrietta Thomas wrote:

>>After the defeat of the first proposal for talk.religion.bahai, the >>proponent created alt.religion.bahai to demonstrate the need >>for an unmoderated group.

Jonathan Grobe wrote...
>The proponent did not create alt.religion.bahai; I did (based on the >significant number of Yes votes it was clear to me that there was >enough interest to support a group).

Let me just mention the last vote was 157 YES to 691 NO and express again my thanks to Jonathan Grobe for creating alt.religion.bahai which gave people a place to talk about their concerns and interests from April 1, 1997 to October '97.

Since April 1st, more than 5,000 messages have now been posted to alt.religion.bahai....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, January 04, 1998 11:42 AM
To: musman1@aol.com
Subject: Fw: 3rd RFD sent to David Lawrence

Here's your message to me. I never saw it posted to news.groups so I suppose it was strictly private email. I think it would help a lot for others, Bahais and non-Bahais, to hear your views.... Too often I'm the lone voice with only an occasional person sharing their experiences with the Bahai Faith.....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----Original Message-----

From: MusMan1 <musman1@aol.com>
Newsgroups: news.groups
To: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Saturday, December 27, 1997 12:41 PM
Subject: Re: 3rd RFD sent to David Lawrence

>Thanks for putting an RFD for talk.religion.bahai in.
>I think you're to be commended for your persistence in the face of consistent >censorship.
>One of the reasons why I left the faith is that there was consistent peer >pressure to do as we were told. I can understand being told outright to do >something; once it's out in the open, I can accept or reject that without >feeling like an immature baby. People understand that perhaps obeying open >orders might violate one's conscience. But subtle peer pressure to conform - >when you don't even know you're being pressured to do so - is what gives me the >willies. I am afraid that mainstream Baha'is might be subtly coerced to violate >their consciences (not to mention unwritten Internet policy, which is actually >written explicitly in many Internet books for newbies) and "stack the deck" or >"vote Chicago style - early and often" against talk.religion.bahai.
>Thanks again.
>Robin Peters
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, January 04, 1998 11:59 AM
To: Dale Grider
Subject: Re: Fireside/ Christian perspective considered

Since I'm reading your first installment, incidentally, it occurs to me, have you mentioned your site on talk.religion.misc? I would think many people over there might find it interesting.... Bahais have been posting there for a long time, on and off, myself for much of 1997.... As a largely Christian readership, trm might provide a lot of perceptive and sympathetic readers.

Best wishes,

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----Original Message-----

From: Dale Grider <howdybud@bellsouth.net>
To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Tuesday, December 23, 1997 11:07 AM
Subject: Fireside/ Christian perspective considered

>Dear Baha'i brother,
> The Fireside Letters is a website of vital importance to the Baha'i >mandate to "independently investigate" for truth. In its present "book" >type format it will admittedly involve the patience of a true seeker >willing to spend the time to read it. I am certainly open for >suggestions that might improve the palatability of the very important >information that is there. But I suppose I have expected that Baha'is, >more than most, should be expected to be hungry to absorb and digest any >information that helps clarify their perspective. This seems a vital part >of Baha'i belief. Thoroughly legitimate study in any investigation that >is genuine, actually rests more critically upon full consideration of >opposing viewpoints and perspectives than it does confirming ideas. One >must be able to consider how opposing concepts might, or might not, >genuinely bear upon one's present level of understanding and belief.

>Then one can honestly grow in understanding from a genuinely informed >vantage point. The old saying is that one can "miss the forest for the >trees". One can be too close and involved in what one assumes to be true >making one's willingness to step back and see ideas in a larger context >absolutely critical.
> I would think, at any rate, that the introduction at the beginning of >volume 1 would be enough of a "teaser" to get the spiritual seeker >interested. For myself, the reading takes off if one can just get >started (that is, if one has a genuine interest in the considerations >and issues that face the Baha'i adherent as he or she confronts the >Christian perspective.) But how could a Baha'i be anything less than >anxiously interested in such consideration? As the bedrock dogma exists >within Baha'i theology that all major religions are really the same at >their root level and differences are either only trivial or illusory >("seeming" as Baha'i writers allege), then the Fireside Letters exist as >an imperative consideration, whether in a passively "easy" format, or >one that takes some work and reading.
> Perhaps the person visiting the site could be advised to copy and paste >volumes into their Word Processing application to be printed out or read >at leisure off line? I have often done this in many instances with >lengthy Baha'i writings like Some Answered Questions, and Gleanings from >the Writings of Baha'u'llah. The library I have built in my own "search" >for truth consists as much or more of opposing viewpoints that I have >worked through as affirming ones. Through facing and investigating such >considerations comes true growth. Another cliché that comes to mind >says something about the wasted energy of "preaching to the choir" >(those already of like mind who will not provide the opportunity for you >to test your ideas).
> Please reconsider spending some time reading through the volumes. I >know that you will discover some considerations that have never occurred >to you (and didn't to me either until the engaging discussion that is >the Fireside Letters transpired).
> In another vein I am interested in further critical input from Baha'is >and have every expectation that editing and growth toward clarity of the >Baha'i perspective can come from input from folks like yourself. In that >sense my invitation is one that provides the Baha'i community a chance >to shape to some extent just what the Fireside Letters consists of. My >search for truth is certainly still evolving.
> Please refer others to the site and invite them as well to offer >critical feedback which will be taken in a spirit of peace and the quest >for truth.
>
>The URL for the Fireside Letters is;
>
><https://personal.sdf.bellsouth.net/sdf/h/o/howdybud/FS%20website/index%20.html>
>
>Thanks,
>Dale:)
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, January 04, 1998 12:11 PM
To: Ron House; Chris Manvell
Subject: 4th RFD: talk.religion.bahai?

It seems there has to be a 4th RFD to clarify the "disclaimer" passage and a few other minor details....

I'd like to finish discussion of the 4th RFD in a week or so,
post it to news.announce.newgroups, and then after, I believe, the required 7 days, is it, send in the Questionnaire. Since it may take the UVV two or three weeks to assign a Vote Taker, interest polling on trb might very well not start until late January or early February even under the best of conditions....

Any suggestions for the 4th RFD? Please make them as soon as possible, or forever hold your peace, as they say....

Can anyone confirm that only 7 days are required for a waiting period on a 4th RFD before sending in a Questionnaire?

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, January 04, 1998 12:11 PM
Subject: 4th RFD: talk.religion.bahai?

It seems there has to be a 4th RFD to clarify the "disclaimer" passage and a few other minor details....

I'd like to finish discussion of the 4th RFD in a week or so, post it to news.announce.newgroups, and then after, I believe, the required 7 days, is it, send in the Questionnaire. Since it may take the UVV two or three weeks to assign a Vote Taker, interest polling on trb might very well not start until late January or early February even under the best of conditions....

Any suggestions for the 4th RFD? Please make them as soon as possible, or forever hold your peace, as they say....

Can anyone confirm that only 7 days are required for a waiting period on a 4th RFD before sending in a Questionnaire?

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: Ron House[SMTP:house@usq.edu.au]
Sent: Monday, January 05, 1998 1:03 AM
To: FG
Cc: Chris Manvell
Subject: Re: 3rd RFD: talk.religion.bahai

FG wrote:
>
> NOTE: soc.religion.bahai has no such disclaimer in > its charter.... I still believe there is no legitimate reason
> trb should have one....

If I were you I would not agree to include this disclaimer. This seems to me a point of principle, that Usenet groups are ALWAYS public property, and to hint otherwise is to infer that there is some doubt, even if the clause is there to deny the doubt. I accept that the Baha'i Faith is full of nervous willies who can't boil a pot of tea without saying "It's only _my_ opinion that tea tastes good, it's not a teaching of the Faith", but there IS a limit to how much fing about the rest of us should be expected to do to keep them happy. Usenet groups are public property, paid for by an assortment of public and commercial benefactors, and to imply that _any_ Usenet group even might be private property is beyond the pale.

However, Fred, whatever you decide is OK by me.

--
Ron House
house@usq.edu.au
An age is called Dark not because the light fails to shine, but because people refuse to see it. -- James Michener, "Space"

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 05, 1998 7:47 AM
To: Chris Manvell
Subject: Re: TRB participants only - Change of address

Is your new address working? Let me know for sure...

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>
-----Original Message-----

From: Chris <Chris@breacais.demon.co.NO_UCEuk>
Newsgroups: news.groups,alt.religion.bahai
Date: Monday, December 22, 1997 3:32 PM
Subject: TRB participants only - Change of address

>Dear friends,
>
>Just a short note (posted blind) to say that my e-mail address has >changed and is now <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk>. Mail sent to my old >address is currently not being received but is being stored by my IAP >pending my getting multiple access sorted out on my system. If anyone >has sent me anything in the last 6 hours (it is now 2030GMT) please can >you retransmit it to the new address.
>
>Best wishes,
>

>Chris Manvell, Isle of Skye, Scotland. Tel.:+44+(0)1471-822317
>Co-proponent of talk.religion.bahai
>--
>NEWSGROUP READERS: Please remove SPAMGUARD from address before e-mailing.
>Go to <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>> to read the REVISED RFD for >talk.religion.bahai. Discussion itself may be found on news.groups.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 05, 1998 7:53 AM
To: Robin M Peters
Subject: Re: third RFD on talk.religion.bahai

Post this to news.groups and alt.religion.bahai, if you have access to the alt.* hierarchy....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----Original Message-----
From: Robin M Peters <tx200@juno.com>
To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Monday, January 05, 1998 1:10 AM
Subject: Re: third RFD on talk.religion.bahai

>I'm replying to your recent email to MusMan1@aol.com, using my Juno >account for a change (just because I feel like it).
>You have a point; although many Baha'is are sincere in their beliefs, I >find the vast majority of my former Baha'i compadres to be somewhat >easily led by the NSA and worry about them for that reason. I mean, the >NSA could tell them that the moon is made of green cheese, and they'd >believe it. I don't mean to backbite - I'm sorry if it comes off that way >(I don't like to spread rumors any more than the next person, any more >than I like being the subject of false rumors) - but it seems to me >almost a fact of the universe that many Baha'is give up their critical >thinking skills when it comes time to examine the holy writings of their >faith or the dictates of their relevant NSA. That's why I think >talk.religion.bahai is so valuable. And that's why I decided to say what >I did about bringing out the vote, Chicago style (believe me, I am a >native of suburban Chicago - a lifelong native at that - and I feel I >know whereof I speak!).
>Robin Peters
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 05, 1998 8:01 AM
To: Ron House
Cc: Chris Manvell
Subject: Re: 3rd RFD: talk.religion.bahai

Ron,

I entirely agree with you in principle but the worry has been that many Bahais will vote NO if a disclaimer isn't in the RFD. Many have said so on bahai-discuss and on news.groups. Most news groupies have thought the passage is meaningless and harmless enough that it should be included if it "buys" some votes. I've cynically, I suppose, adopted that attitude, perhaps to my discredit.... Why don't you mention this online on news.groups to test the waters and see what the present attitudes are?

Also, it seems to me the disclaimer is becoming so general that I even worry about less and less.... I'm increasingly of the mind to stick it in and forget it and get the vote rolling....

Ron, you've got a full veto around here and if you really feel strongly about this you can use it. Do so online though so that everyone hears it straight from you....

Chris, where are you at these days on this one?

-----Original Message-----
From: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
To: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Cc: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk>
Date: Sunday, January 04, 1998 11:59 PM
Subject: Re: 3rd RFD: talk.religion.bahai

>FG wrote:
>>
>> NOTE: soc.religion.bahai has no such disclaimer in >> its charter.... I still believe there is no legitimate reason >> trb should have one....
>
>If I were you I would not agree to include this disclaimer.
>This seems to me a point of principle, that Usenet groups >are ALWAYS public property, and to hint otherwise is to >infer that there is some doubt, even if the clause is there >to deny the doubt. I accept that the Baha'i Faith is full >of nervous willies who can't boil a pot of tea without >saying "It's only _my_ opinion that tea tastes good, it's >not a teaching of the Faith", but there IS a limit to how >much fing about the rest of us should be expected to do >to keep them happy. Usenet groups are public property, >paid for by an assortment of public and commercial >benefactors, and to imply that _any_ Usenet group even >might be private property is beyond the pale.

>
>However, Fred, whatever you decide is OK by me.
>
>
>--
>Ron House
> house@usq.edu.au
>An age is called Dark not because the light fails to shine, but >because people refuse to see it. -- James Michener, "Space"
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 06, 1998 7:23 AM
To: Snoop81485
Subject: Re: Access to alt.religion.bahai

Thanks for mentioning AOL. During the last year nearly a dozen people have told me they were unable to access arb through it. With its huge number of subscribers, AOL really should be offering it. I hope you're successful!

Incidentally, if you post to news.groups, with a crosspost to arb, your message will appear on both....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----Original Message-----
From: Snoop81485 <Snoop81485@aol.com>
To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Monday, January 05, 1998 1:18 PM
Subject: Access to alt.religion.bahai

>AOL allows me access to the alt.* heirarchy; I am subscribed, for example, to >alt.tv.x-files.
>The problem I am having is that AOL does not consider alt.religion.bahai to be >a valid newsgroup; I understand that this is a common problem among Internet >servers - each ISP allows only limited access to newsgroups, and it is not >unusual to be denied access to a valid newsgroup solely because the ISP does >not consider it valid. I have made AOL aware of the problem, and I hope to be >allowed to access alt.religion.bahai soon.
>Hope this helps!
>Robin Peters
>

From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 06, 1998 8:08 AM
To: talisman
Cc: UHJ
Subject: Re: To UHJ #9 (Re Response from UHJ)

-----Original Message-----
From: Cheryl & Wade Schuette <schuette@s.imap.itd.umich.edu>
To: talisman@umich.edu <talisman@umich.edu>
Date: Wednesday, December 24, 1997 7:13 AM
Subject: Re: To UHJ #9 (Re Response from UHJ)

>Fred Glaysher wrote:
>
>>> I'm not so sure. It seems quite doubtful even. It appears to me that >>> it must have been too busy to attend to the details of Bernstein's >>> piece or whoever handled it in the secretariat failed to pass on to >>> them the subtleties of the issues involved in interest polling and >>> made it appear a normal type of election voting.
>
>Don C commented:
>>And perhaps they believe they have more important topics to consult on.
>
>And I'll add:
>

>In any case, Fred's request is not internally consistent. The UHJ has >taken a hands-off, let everyone decide for themselves what to do position, >which seems exactly what Fred wanted. What MORE does he want, now?

I don't believe the UHJ has taken a "hands-off" position. The entire notion of conscience is inappropriate to an interest poll. They entered the discussion and have now affected it, for some, if not many, and I would think it only reasonable to ascertain whether or not they truly understand what they are doing.... I don't believe so.... It appears to me they must have been misinformed. Their counsel of "conscience" is actually tantamount to supporting voter fraud, in, let's say, a national election in Canada or the United States.... I don't believe the UHJ would or should do such a thing. Ergo, I assume someone in the Secretariat failed them or they received flawed advice on the nature of Usenet interest polling--notice, not "voting."

>
>If the UHJ took a position FOR the newsgroup, wouldn't that be precisely
>the sort of "politically" motivated and centrally-sponsored group voting >that he's been criticizing so vehemently for months as inappropriate or >criminal?

I am not advocating that the UHJ should take a position FOR talk.religion.bahai. Rather, that they not take a position AGAINST trb, which they have, I hope, inadvertently done.... Their "conscience" is, by the way, against the consciences of many others, Bahai and non-Bahai.... If one fully understands interest polling, it is reminiscent of the hatred and passion that often animates old world politics and religious intrigues.... 100+ people cannot honestly and fairly be denied their right to form a newsgroup within which to express their consciences. Baha'u'llah's injunction against the "destruction of books" fits this context quite well.... To suppress trb would be tantamount to a violation of his stricture in the Kitab-i-Aqdas.... If the UHJ knowingly chooses to do that, fine, it may.... But I hope for better....

>
>Call the vote, already. If it loses, wait 6 months, prove TRB has value >with a longer track record, and call another vote. I just can't believe >that all this endless jockeying around is accomplishing anything useful.

Why would it lose? On what basis? Political and religious passion and opposition are illegitimate reasons for voting NO. Over 5,000 postings to alt.religion.bahai is more than sufficient proof that 100+ people are interested in creating a newsgroup on the subject, as are the over 1,200 different threads and over 513 different individuals who posted up to October 1997. I can't believe all the endless opposition to free speech and conscience that many Bahais have displayed.... If the UHJ opposes trb, it should come out in the open and say so, not pretend it's neutral by employing stratagems to justify and excuse the NO votes of fundamentalist Bahais.... Again, I hope for better and will cc this message to the UHJ to help them understand the nature of Usenet interest polling....

>Wade

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 06, 1998 8:17 AM
To: talisman
Cc: hart@lycosemail.com
Subject: Re: Catch-22 in Faith

-----Original Message-----
From: hart@lycosemail.com <hart@lycosemail.com>
To: Talisman <talisman@umich.edu>
Date: Monday, December 22, 1997 5:18 PM
Subject: Catch-22 in Faith

Scott S. Hart wrote:

> During my time as a Baha'i, I saw potential converts lied to by Baha'is regarding the >membership of the Faith. The Baha'is, especially the Baha'i leadership, have always >grossly inflated the 'official' numbers in order to present an inaccurate picture to the >world (as well as to individuals considering conversion) and to make the Faith seem >much more successful and influential than it really is. The Faith is really a 'footnote' >religion, in my view, and all the peace/race unity statements and p. r. in the world will >not change this.

You cite the figure of 30,000 to 80,000. How or why do you estimate the true figures are this low? If they've been inflated, how does that help the Bahai Faith?

>
> I do not know how to solve the above problem, except to be completely honest and >open to the public and to people who may be interested in the Faith. It does little >good to 'hide' things regarding the Faith that may be unpleasant or misunderstood, >intending to reveal these things later when the new Baha'i has been in the Faith for a >few years. If people feel that they've had the wool pulled over their eyes, they will >leave or become disenchanted. Believe me, I observed this phenomenon over and >over during my years as a Baha'i.

Can you share a few examples?

>
> These are just some friendly observations from someone who is familiar with Baha'i matters. Wishing everyone the best. Shalom. Scott

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 06, 1998 8:45 AM
To: talisman; Chris Manvell; Ron House
Subject: talk.religion.bahai

It's getting hard to remember who wrote and revised:

>>As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular
>>religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai
>>newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

I'd like to use this passage for the "disclaimer."
Any objections or comments? If Bahais don't really care about this statement any more, we could just drop it, as Ron House, a co-proponent, has suggested to me in email.... If you care about this, please speak up and make your views known....

--

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 06, 1998 8:45 AM
Subject: talk.religion.bahai

It's getting hard to remember who wrote and revised:

>>As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular
>>religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai
>>newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

I'd like to use this passage for the "disclaimer."
Any objections or comments? If Bahais don't really care about this statement any more, we could just drop it, as Ron House, a co-proponent, has suggested to me in email.... If you care about this, please speak up and make your views known....

--

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 07, 1998 7:43 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Rick Schaut wrote in message <68ulei$hoa@news.microsoft.com>...

>What I care about is that this newsgroup will significantly increase the >exposure of Baha'is to material that is potentially extremely harmful to >their spiritual well-being. Covenant-breakers had become almost an extinct >species, and, because of this, people who've become Baha'is over the past 25 >years have almost no knowledge of the issues that the handful of remaining >Covenant-breakers raise.

>
>Ultimately, it's up to the proponents to decide how they will attempt to >address this concern. I think I've about given up on the hope that this >concern will receive the kind of open and respectful consultation that it >deserves, so I will simply decide how to vote after careful consideration >of all the issues involved including how well I think this concern has been >addressed by the proponents.

Short of requiring everyone to check their souls at the door, your request "to do" something about covenant breakers is not realistic.... What is it you expect people on an unmoderated forum to do? Should Bahai participants interrogate them? Drive them away? Curse them? On alt.religion.bahai, they would post what they want and Bahais would simply ignore them and they would go away eventually.... I don't see talk.religion.bahai as working much differently.... Talk to whom you want to.... Or you can have the thought police, as at soc.religion.bahai, reject everyone who doesn't pass their tests....

Let's be fair, many people have tried to explain this to you for months....

>

>

>Warmest Regards,
>Rick Schaut

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 07, 1998 7:56 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Annie wrote in message <01bd1b24$805a0e00$8eb360cf@baha>...

>>Frederick: If being an "official organ of any institutional faith" implies >censure, a moderator, or anything to do with telling me what i should >think, how i should think it, and so on, then, give me the opposite!

Your opposite is what talk.religion.bahai would be! Unmoderated....

>A newsgroup should be left open, i believe, to a free exchange of ideas. If >any religion or sect wanted their own newsgroup, why don't they just create >one and post their rules for the participants to follow? So, if this is not >what you want, but you want a group that encourages a healthy exchange of >profound and worthy ideals between posters, then, why don't you get on with >it and get the group rolling? What's all this World Wide Waiting thing all >about?

The Bahai Faith has soc.religion.bahai, which many feel is highly censored and the de facto official mouthpiece, though often denied.... Because the perception of censorship is so pervasive, many Bahais and non-Bahais have and do support the creation of an unmoderated newsgroup, talk.religion.bahai.... I'm trying to get on with it. Everyone took the holidays off, myself included, and I've just posted in the last few days messages about getting the vote rolling within a week or two. I've got to give people a chance to get in their last comments on the "disclaimer" clause, which has created a lot of discussion, or else appear to be ramming something through....

Part of the waiting, though, has been to give time for Bahais to understand the nature of interest polling versus voting. Many claim Bahais voted NO last spring because they failed to understand. Well, they've had all fall, a full year now to come to grips with the Usenet system.... The vote last spring was 157 YES: 691 NO.... Such an excuse this time will be extremely untenable given the 6 months of discussion since August now.... Some Bahais seem to feel that the highest Bahai authority, the Universal House of Justice, secretly supports a NO vote by stating that they should vote their "conscience." The reality is that such a vote would deprive 157 people, or whatever this time, of the rights of THEIR consciences.... This too has taken time....

Sorry.... I hope we can post the 4th RFD within a week or two and then the CFV....

>

>

>Annie

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Wednesday, January 07, 1998 8:01 AM
Subject: Re: T.R.B. needed

whateverman wrote in message <34B2DF47.6A41@tacks.stupidity>...
>I'm a Baha'i who lost touch with the his faith. I recently tried to >find some kind of forum in which to discuss "Baha'i issues", but was >intimidated by s.r.b; there seemed to be a level of knowledge needed to >even offer opinion.
>
>In my opinion, t.r.b, or the continued existence of a.r.b is needed as >I'd like to participate without feeling as if I weren't compitent to >participate...

The problem with alt.religion.bahai is that very few people who voted YES last spring have access to it. The entire alt.* hierarchy is not widely available. AOL, for instance, does not even offer it.

I hope that talk.religion.bahai would be a more open forum to your liking....

>
>--
> Whateverman
>
><https://www.erols.com/whateverman/Home.htm>
>
>"The sage embraces things. Ordinary men discriminate among them and >parade those discriminations before others."
>--Taoist philosopher Chuang Tzu

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 07, 1998 8:09 AM
Subject: Re: Baha'i, Christain, Hindu, Jewish, Moslem

grayfeather@centralva.net wrote in message <884042587.363659267@dejanews.com>...
>As a longtime member of the Baha'i faith I have seen changes yet there is >not a recognition of Native American religion. yet Abdul-Baha stated >that when the American Indian becomes ignited with the fire of the Baha'i >Faith then the whole world will become Baha'i.Is it not time that we >forget about these dead old world religions?

I think you're right that the emphasis is on the old "mainline" Western religions.... As someone who has lived and pioneered on the Colorado River Indian Tribes Reservation in Arizona for two years, I know a little about the traditional native religions and respect them.... There is a deeply spiritual understanding of the transcendence of human experience in the Native American religions that Bahais and others would do well to consider much more seriously. Sad to say too, that many Indians, like all peoples in the modern world, have forgotten the richness of such experience....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 07, 1998 8:43 AM
To: talisman@umich.edu
Cc: house@usq.edu.au; Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk
Subject: Re: re: Re: To UHJ #9 (Re Response from UHJ)

SOME KIND OF WEIRD CODE THING IS FAILING TO PUT IN THE ">" FOR THE ORIGINAL MESSAGE. SORRY TO HAVE TO USE CAPS.

-----Original Message-----
From: Eric D. Pierce <PIERCEED@sswdserver.sswd.csus.edu>
To: fglaysh@hotmail.com <fglaysh@hotmail.com>; talisman@umich.edu <talisman@umich.edu>
Cc: Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk>;
house@usq.edu.au <house@usq.edu.au>
Date: Tuesday, January 06, 1998 4:12 PM
Subject: re: Re: To UHJ #9 (Re Response from UHJ)

Mr. Glaysher,

This is really becoming rather tedious in its repetition. I find your opinions about the communications from the BWC to be so wildly speculative as to be of very little value, and they continue to make it difficult to stomach the possibility of supporting t.r.b.

SORRY YOU FEEL THAT WAY....

For anyone that saw the original "pro-t.r.b." question that was put to the Universal House of Justice, it was obvious that the reply from the BWC neither supported nor opposed t.r.b., and they had no intent to send a coded "anti-t.r.b." message. Given the fact that the tone of the question was "pro-t.r.b.", the fact that the BWC declined to warn the questioner away from a "pro-t.r.b." opinion could easily be seen as implicit support of the legitimacy some "pro-t.r.b." views.

NOT SO OBVIOUS AT ALL, IN MY OPINION.... IT SEEMS TO ME THAT MANY BAHAIS, ON BAHAI-DISCUSS AND ELSEWHERE, HAVE TAKEN THE UHJ'S MESSAGE AS A CODED NOD TO ATTACK WITH ANOTHER MASSIVE NO VOTE....

Your attempts to over-interpret the message from the BWC in order to drum up support for a forum that will allow you to gain a wider audience for your frequently abusive and paranoid excesses and fanaticisms is discouraging.

I AM REACTING TO THE MANNER IN WHICH MANY BAHAIS HAVE INTERPRETED THE UHJ'S MESSAGE. I HAVE TRIED NOT TO INTERPRET IT. IT APPEARS TO ME THAT YOU YOURSELF INTERPRET IN EXTENSIVELY IN THIS MESSAGE. I DON'T BELIEVE SUCH CHARACTERIZATIONS OF MY POSTINGS ARE FAIR.... INCIDENTALLY, I DO NOT WANT AN UNMODERATED FORUM FOR MYSELF ALONE, THOUGH MANY HAVE TRIED TO MAKE IT APPEAR AS SUCH. RATHER, FOR ALL BAHAIS AND NON-BAHAIS, AS MADE CLEAR IN THE RFD....

As far as I know, you have provided NO coherent supporting analysis from any scholars in Baha'i studies (or other sources, etc.) as to the legitimacy of the use of the "book burning" comparison. I get the impression that you have discovered an emotionally laden issue that you have decided to use to flog your real or supposed opponents in the Baha'i community with (rather than explore consultatively).

IT IS MY OPINION THAT THE BOOK BURNING ANALOGY IS A LOGICAL EXTENSION OF ONE OF THE TEACHINGS TO COVER A MODERN, TECHNOLOGICAL DEVELOPMENT THAT DID NOT EXIST AT THE TIME OF REVELATION.... NO FLOGGING INTENDED.... RATHER, AN APT COMPARISON FOR THE REALITY OF THE RESULTS OF THE LAST MASSIVE NO VOTE (691 REMEMBER) THAT DEPRIVED BAHAIS AND NON-BAHAIS THE CHANCE TO CREATE AND READ TALK.RELIGION.BAHAI.....

I am also confused by the manner in which you consider the Usenet system to be analogous to some near-sacred social institution or democratic governmental entity. The nuances and minutiae of the interest polling mechanism for newsgroup creation is something that you should hardly expect Baha'i institutions to gloriously advocate or become immersed in, especially given the loose "enforcement" of a voluntary set of ideas in such a chaotic and decentralized environment.

BAHA'U'LLAH TEACHES WE SHOULD RESPECT THE LAWS OF ESTABLISHED SYSTEMS OF GOVERNING.... DO YOU ADVOCATE OTHERWISE? MANY, MANY INTERENT MANUALS HAVE PUBLISHED THE USENET CONSENSUS ON INTEREST POLLING AND MAKE IT CLEAR THAT NO VOTES ARE AN ABUSE OF THE SYSTEM. AS A BAHAI, WHY ARE YOU NOT CONCERNED ABOUT BAHAI ABUSE OF INTEREST POLLING? USENET VOTING IS NOT THE CHAOS YOU MAKE IT OUT TO BE. RUSS ALLBERY'S PASSAGE IN THE RFD MAKES THAT QUITE CLEAR. HE IS INCIDENTALLY A MEMBER OF THE USENET VOLUNTARY VOTETAKERS (UVV).

IF BAHAIS WERE DESTROYING AND ATTACKING THE NEXT NATIONAL ELECTION FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, SHOULD THE INSTITUTIONS BE CONCERNED? I HUMBLBY THINK SO....

While some of the consensus-driven aspects of the Usenet system are probably laudible in their democratic underpinnings, there are many other aspects of Usenet that are hardly compatible with Baha'i ideals of enlightened social/ethical systems.

SO IS THAT A JUSTIFICATION TO UNDERMINE IT? BY ANALOGY, SHOULD BAHAIS BOMB AND DESTROY OTHER SOCIAL STRUCTURES THEY DISAGREE WITH OR THINK INCOMPATIBLE WITH BAHAI IDEALS? LOGICALLY EXTENDED, SUCH THINKING AMONG BAHAIS WORRIES ME A GREAT DEAL....

I hope I have been as clear as possible that the problems I have identified above seem counter-productive to a balanced "pro-t.r.b." agenda, and are obstacles to bringing about a positive acceptance of the legitimacy of an unmoderated usenet Baha'i forum.

ARE YOU ADVOCATING VOTING NO? SUCH A VOTE
WOULD BE ANOTHER DISGRACE FOR THE BAHAI FAITH AND WOULD DO MORE TO HARM ITS REPUTATION, AS RUSS ALLBERRY POINTS OUT IN THE RFD, THAN ANYTHING THAT COULD EVER BE SAID ON TRB....

Feel free to further distribute or post responses elsewhere, but if doing so, please remove Mr. Shuette's name/address (unless he has instructed otherwise).

Eric D. Pierce
(home email: EPierce@ns.net)
Sacramento, California - USA

cc: talisman@umich.edu,
"Chris Manvell" <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk>,
"Ron House" <house@usq.edu.au>

On 6 Jan 98 at 7:08, FG wrote:

> From: "FG" <fglaysh@hotmail.com>
> To: "talisman" <talisman@umich.edu>
> Copies to: "UHJ" <secretariat@bwc.org>
> Subject: Re: To UHJ #9 (Re Response from UHJ)
> Date sent: Tue, 6 Jan 1998 07:08:06 -0500

> -----Original Message-----

> From: Cheryl & Wade Schuette <schuette@s.imap.itd.umich.edu>
> To: talisman@umich.edu <talisman@umich.edu>
> Date: Wednesday, December 24, 1997 7:13 AM
> Subject: Re: To UHJ #9 (Re Response from UHJ)

>
>
> >Fred Glaysheer wrote:
> >
> >>> I'm not so sure. It seems quite doubtful even. It appears to me that > >>> it must have been too busy to attend to the details of Bernstein's > >>> piece or whoever handled it in the secretariat failed to pass on to > >>> them the subtleties of the issues involved in interest polling and > >>> made it appear a normal type of election voting.
> >
> >Don C commented:
> >>And perhaps they believe they have more important topics to consult on.

[WS:]
> >And I'll add:
> >
> >In any case, Fred's request is not internally consistent. The UHJ has > >taken a hands-off, let everyone decide for themselves what to do position,
> >which seems exactly what Fred wanted. What MORE does he want, now?

[FG:]
> I don't believe the UHJ has taken a "hands-off" position. The entire > notion of conscience is inappropriate to an interest poll. They entered > the discussion and have now affected it, for some, if not many, and > I would think it only reasonable to ascertain whether or not they truly > understand what they are doing.... I don't believe so.... It appears to > me they must have been misinformed. Their counsel of "conscience" > is actually tantamount to supporting voter fraud, in, let's say, a > national election in Canada or the United States.... I don't believe > the UHJ would or should do such a thing. Ergo, I assume someone > in the Secretariat failed them or they received flawed advice on > the nature of Usenet interest polling--notice, not "voting."

[WS:]
> >If the UHJ took a position FOR the newsgroup, wouldn't that be precisely
> >the sort of "politically" motivated and centrally-sponsored group voting > >that he's been criticizing so vehemently for months as inappropriate or > >criminal?

[FG:]
> I am not advocating that the UHJ should take a position FOR > talk.religion.bahai. Rather, that they not take a position AGAINST > trb, which they have, I hope, inadvertently done.... Their "conscience" > is, by the way, against the consciences of many others, Bahai and > non-Bahai.... If one fully understands interest polling, it is reminiscent > of the hatred and passion that often animates old world politics and > religious intrigues.... 100+ people cannot honestly and fairly be > denied their right to form a newsgroup within which to express their > consciences. Baha'u'llah's injunction against the "destruction of > books" fits this context quite well.... To suppress trb would be > tantamount to a violation of his stricture in the Kitab-i-Aqdas....
> If the UHJ knowingly chooses to do that, fine, it may.... But I hope > for better....

[WS:]
> >Call the vote, already. If it loses, wait 6 months, prove TRB has value > >with a longer track record, and call another vote. I just can't believe > >that all this endless jockeying around is accomplishing anything useful.

[FG:]
> Why would it lose? On what basis? Political and religious passion > and opposition are illegitimate reasons for voting NO. Over 5,000 > postings to alt.religion.bahai is more than sufficient proof that > 100+ people are interested in creating a newsgroup on the subject, > as are the over 1,200 different threads and over 513 different > individuals who posted up to October 1997. I can't believe all the > endless opposition to free speech and conscience that many > Bahais have displayed.... If the UHJ opposes trb, it should come > out in the open and say so, not pretend it's neutral by employing > stratagems to justify and excuse the NO votes of fundamentalist > Bahais.... Again, I hope for better and will cc this message to > the UHJ to help them understand the nature of Usenet interest > polling....
>
>
> >Wade
>
> FG
> UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
> The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
> news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

Eric D. Pierce
Information Technology Consultant
Client-Server Database/PC Network Server Student Services
Lassen Hall 1008
California State University, Sacramento
Sacramento, CA 95819 - USA desk phone (916) 278-7586 internet email: PierceED@csus.edu la casa (home): EPierce@ns.net

From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 07, 1998 6:25 PM
To: talisman
Cc: UHJ; Chris; Ron House
Subject: Re: To UHJ #9 (Re Response from UHJ)

-----Original Message-----
From: David Bikman <dbikman@bwc.org>
To: FG <fglaysh@hotmail.com>
Cc: talisman@umich.edu <talisman@umich.edu>; house@usq.edu.au <house@usq.edu.au>; Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk>
Date: Wednesday, January 07, 1998 8:00 AM
Subject: Re: To UHJ #9 (Re Response from UHJ)

>Mr. Glaysheer wrote,
>
>> NOT SO OBVIOUS AT ALL, IN MY OPINION.... IT SEEMS TO >> ME THAT MANY BAHAIS, ON BAHAI-DISCUSS AND ELSEWHERE, >> HAVE TAKEN THE UHJ'S MESSAGE AS A CODED NOD TO >> ATTACK WITH ANOTHER MASSIVE NO VOTE....
>
>
>This statement indicates a fundamental misunderstanding as to how the >Universal House of Justice operates. They do not "code" their messages.
>They do not assume hidden knowledge. If the happened to feel that the >proper response of the Baha'i community was to vote "no" they would say
>"Please vote no." They would not take it as a given that the Baha'i >community knows this, and just give a slight nod in its general >direction. They have not told us to vote "no," thus the only logical >conclusion to for us to read the message at face value.

I did not say the UHJ codes it's messages.... I said many Bahais seem to have taken it as such.... A significant difference.... I have said and still maintain the message evinces no understanding of the nature of Usenet interest polling but conceives of it as though it were a conventional vote, which it is not....

>
>The Universal House of Justice does not say any more or less than what >they feel is needed to sufficiently address the issue at hand.

I believe they have not properly addressed the issue at hand.... If they have, they're then undermining an established system of governing public forums on the Internet, tantamount to the fatwa against Salman Rushdie or a similar fanatical attack on the West.... It may be the BCCA is complicitous in this or erroneously advising the UHJ....

The
>evidence for this is replete in every message they've ever sent. The >House of Justice is not in the business of creating precedent, they are >in the business of dealing with the issues at hand, one at a time. If a >problem is facing the Baha'i community, and the House of Justice knows >what to do in order to solve it, would they leave the solution up to >chance by dropping vague allusions and subtle hints? How could the >Trustees of God deliberately withhold their guidance?

Their message suggests, I believe, that they did not understand the nature of the polling. NO votes are illegitimate votes, except for technical reasons, and none exist.... Many PUBLISHED Internet manuals, published in huge numbers, on Usenet, state it straightout....

>
>Regards,
>David Bikman

Since Juan Cole and others have suggested there are people passing on messages to the UHJ, I'll forward this one myself to them so that they don't miss it.

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 07, 1998 6:47 PM
To: Ron House; Chris Manvell
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Dick Detweiler wrote in message <34B28890.62C6@boi.hp.com>...
>FG wrote:
>> >>As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular
>> >>religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai
>> >>newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

See Ron House's comments on the disclaimer in another thread....

>I think this wording is fine. I personally don't need the >disclaimer. I am, however, very familiar with how many people >mistook S.R.B. as some kind of official arm of the Faith so the >possibility for misconstruing is high and I know many others >have raised these concerns. So, if I were the proponent I would leave >it in there as its inclusion should buy you votes as has been >indicated by other interested parties, so why not? Practically >speaking, I think its a no-brainer to keep it in.

I'm not at all opposed anymore to including a disclaimer, as worded above, broad and open and obvious.... If it helps, as Mr. Detweiler suggests, I see no harm in compromising a little.... The most important reason for now including it in the 4th RFD, to my mind, is so that if anyone does vote NO they will no longer be able to say the lack of a disclaimer was the basis for doing so.... Discussion over a disclaimer extends back at least to early October and a solution or response should be made to those people worried about this issue.

If this wording is acceptable to Mr. Detweiler, I then urge everyone to support it as probably acceptable to most Bahais. Let's put the issue behind us and get the 4th RFD in so that the interest poll can get rolling.

>
>Dick D.

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 07, 1998 6:47 PM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Dick Detweiler wrote in message <34B28890.62C6@boi.hp.com>...
>FG wrote:
>> >>As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular
>> >>religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai
>> >>newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

See Ron House's comments on the disclaimer in another thread....

>I think this wording is fine. I personally don't need the >disclaimer. I am, however, very familiar with how many people >mistook S.R.B. as some kind of official arm of the Faith so the >possibility for misconstruing is high and I know many others >have raised these concerns. So, if I were the proponent I would leave >it in there as its inclusion should buy you votes as has been >indicated by other interested parties, so why not? Practically >speaking, I think its a no-brainer to keep it in.

I'm not at all opposed anymore to including a disclaimer, as worded above, broad and open and obvious.... If it helps, as Mr. Detweiler suggests, I see no harm in compromising a little.... The most important reason for now including it in the 4th RFD, to my mind, is so that if anyone does vote NO they will no longer be able to say the lack of a disclaimer was the basis for doing so.... Discussion over a disclaimer extends back at least to early October and a solution or response should be made to those people worried about this issue.

If this wording is acceptable to Mr. Detweiler, I then urge everyone to support it as probably acceptable to most Bahais. Let's put the issue behind us and get the 4th RFD in so that the interest poll can get rolling.

>
>Dick D.

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 07, 1998 6:52 PM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Roger Reini wrote in message <34B3778B.60F6@SPAMBLOCKford.com>...

>The discussion had really slackened over the last month, due in part to >the holiday, but I think also due to the fact that the main issues have, >for the most part, been discussed. The last couple of RFD's have been, >IMHO, tweaks to the wording which don't substantially affect the >proposal. I'd say we should hold the vote soon.

If we can agree on using the disclaimer as Detweiler approved it, which is fine with me, I'd be happy to submit the 4th RFD on Friday or Saturday. I'd include in it the minor revisions that Henrietta Thomas mentioned a few days ago....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 07, 1998 7:00 PM
To: Ron House
Subject: the disclaimer....

Ron,

Your mentioning you're opposed to the disclaimer has helped a lot, perhaps driving Detweiler into saying it's acceptable at least, better than nothing from his point of view.... See my response to him in which I try to answer your concerns too.

I really think the passage is so watered down it would now be best to include it so that no one has an excuse to vote NO....

Would you consider begrudgingly accepting it so that things can get rolling? It's a meaningless passage. If anyone ever brings it up after the vote, there's plenty of material to throw back in their faces, such as the "whipping post" passage in the 3rd RFD....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 08, 1998 7:59 AM
To: Spam; Chris; Ron House
Subject: Re: Baha'i Faith spam

Guy Macon wrote in message <691incl$ohg$3@news01.deltanet.com>...

>

>Looks like someone has decided to spam an ad for a bahai newsgroup.

Please do not spam anything related to the interest poll for
talk.religion.bahai!!!!

I had nothing to do with this and emphatically denounced it. And I hope no one involved on either side of the discussion is responsible for it.

Lest anyone misunderstand, I am not secretly hoping someone goes ahead and does something like this. The interest poll has to be fair for it to have any meaning. As someone said a couple of months ago, in order to know whether Bahais have learnt anything from the now 6 months of discussion, a year really, the interest poll has to be above board all the way through....

I'm sending a cc of this message to the spammer and others might also email him directly to inform him of the seriousness of what he's doing and that it shouldn't be done.

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

>I believe that, in the name of preserving the good reputation
>Bahais have on the Internet, someone should try to stop this person >from using "Bulk E-Mail Software" and "news posting software".
>Such software has only one use; to fill up newsgroups and email >mailboxes with unwanted messages. Leave that sort of behavior >to the 1-900 phone sex advertisers. Bahais should have nothing >to do with net abuse.

>

>Here is a copy of the offending usenet post:

>

>Path: news.deltanet.com!news.he.net!news.iquest.net!not-for-mail

>From: rlking@iquest.net

>Newsgroups: soc.religion.quaker

>Subject: Baha'i Faith

>Date: Wed, 7 Jan 1998 10:57:58

>Organization: IQuest Internet, Inc.

>Lines: 10

>Message-ID: <6908sd$7sd$12@news.iquest.net>

>NNTP-Posting-Host: tht-0000-27.iquest.net

>Xref: news.deltanet.com soc.religion.quaker:9080

>

>here is a cool religion link.

>

>

><https://www.bahai.org>

>

>happy reading!

>

>

>This message was posted using E-Mail Magnet

>The World's Leading Bulk E-Mail Software

>Get our FREE news posting software, News Blaster(tm), at:

><https://www.emailmagnet.com>

>

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 08, 1998 7:59 AM
Subject: Re: Baha'i Faith spam

Guy Macon wrote in message <691incl$ohg$3@news01.deltanet.com>...

>

>Looks like someone has decided to spam an ad for a bahai newsgroup.

Please do not spam anything related to the interest poll for
talk.religion.bahai!!!!

I had nothing to do with this and emphatically denounced it. And I hope no one involved on either side of the discussion is responsible for it.

Lest anyone misunderstand, I am not secretly hoping someone goes ahead and does something like this. The interest poll has to be fair for it to have any meaning. As someone said a couple of months ago, in order to know whether Bahais have learnt anything from the now

6 months of discussion, a year really, the interest poll has to be above board all the way through...

I'm sending a cc of this message to the spammer and others might also email him directly to inform him of the seriousness of what he's doing and that it shouldn't be done.

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

>I believe that, in the name of preserving the good reputation
>Bahais have on the Internet, someone should try to stop this person >from using "Bulk E-Mail Software" and "news posting software".
>Such software has only one use; to fill up newsgroups and email
>mailboxes with unwanted messages. Leave that sort of behavior >to the 1-900 phone sex advertisers. Bahais should have nothing >to do with net abuse.

>

>Here is a copy of the offending usenet post:

>

>Path: news.deltanet.com!news.he.net!news.iquest.net!not-for-mail

>From: rlking@iquest.net

>Newsgroups: soc.religion.quaker

>Subject: Baha'i Faith

>Date: Wed, 7 Jan 1998 10:57:58

>Organization: IQuest Internet, Inc.

>Lines: 10

>Message-ID: <6908sd$7sd$12@news.iquest.net>

>NNTP-Posting-Host: tht-0000-27.iquest.net

>Xref: news.deltanet.com soc.religion.quaker:9080

>

>here is a cool religion link.

>

>

><https://www.bahai.org>

>

>happy reading!

>

>

>This message was posted using E-Mail Magnet

>The World's Leading Bulk E-Mail Software

>Get our FREE news posting software, News Blaster(tm), at:

><https://www.emailmagnet.com>

>

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Thursday, January 08, 1998 8:09 AM

Subject: Re: T.R.B. needed

whateverman wrote in message <34B3A407.75BC@tacks.stupidity>...

>Perhaps I should instead mention that a moderated forum is more >intimidating than an unmoderated one. I would like to see a forum free >of "Well, is this really a valid topic?"

Basically, this is what talk.religion.bahai would provide Bahais and non-Bahais interested in discussing the Bahai Faith and is its primary rationale....

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Thursday, January 08, 1998 8:17 AM

Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

--

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

Annie wrote in message <01bd1be4$de69a1c0$92b360cf@baha>...

>FG <FG@hotmail.com> wrote in article

><68vqha$n9o@news1.zippo.com>...

>> Annie wrote in message <01bd1b24$805a0e00$8eb360cf@baha>...

>>

>snip and clip....

>

>> The Bahai Faith has soc.religion.bahai, which many feel is highly >> censored and the de facto official mouthpiece, though often denied....

>> Because the perception of censorship is so pervasive, many Bahais >> and non-Bahais have and do support the creation of an unmoderated >> newsgroup, talk.religion.bahai.... I'm trying to get on with it....
>
>-----
>
>What i don't understand, Frederick, is why you need the word "bahai" at all >in this proposed newsgroup of yours.
>
>I understand from what you write that the "bahas," it was surmised, voted >against the idea last year. So, there you have it. If these people don't >support you (and i am assuming you are in the same religion as they) then, >you shouldn't go ahead with the project. But if you do go ahead with the >project despite the NO of your co-religionists, then you're getting >yourself into trouble. On the other hand, it is true to say that most >breakthroughs have seen the light despite their non-popularity.

And talk.religion.bahai would indeed be a breakthrough perhaps for Bahais.... Incidentally, I'm not the only Bahai who would like to see its realization.... The newsgroup has been discussed now for an entire year this month on the 17th!!!!

>I have always believed that a good idea should be carried through. Only >after its realization, and sometime later, can we know if it should be >continued or stopped. If it's good, good and well. If it isn't, well, stop >it!
>
>
>Annie

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 08, 1998 8:23 AM
Subject: Re: 3rd RFD: talk.religion.bahai

whateverman wrote in message <34B4C118.2643@tacks.stupidity>...

>Why not say that the group is merely an unmoderated form of s.r.b., such >that it would allow non-Baha'is to freely participate?

This may be the gist of it but we're trying to find a way of saying it that is as diplomatic as possible....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: Zutetflute[SMTP:Zutetflute@aol.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 08, 1998 10:06 PM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: TRB

Hello Fred

Thanks to one of your posts I was able to finally access alt.religion.bahai again via dejanews (I had switched to AOL because the provider I had was really bad).

And I found that the discussion for talk.religion.bahai continues even after all these months. But I must wonder why--the newsgroup exists. Hardly anyone ever posts to it, and right now it has mostly ads in it. Are people unaware of its existence?

Andree

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 09, 1998 7:02 AM
To: Zutetflute
Subject: Re: TRB

Everyone's energy has been going into discussing talk.religion.bahai on news.groups since early October. It should be going to a vote again this month. Look in on news.groups. It needs every vote it can get!

I'm afraid even after an entire year many people do not know of the existence of alt.religion.bahai because of its propagation problems.

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----Original Message-----
From: Zutetflute <Zutetflute@aol.com>

To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Thursday, January 08, 1998 9:06 PM
Subject: TRB

>Hello Fred
>
>Thanks to one of your posts I was able to finally access alt.religion.bahai
>again via dejanews (I had switched to AOL because the provider I had was >really bad).
>And I found that the discussion for talk.religion.bahai continues even after >all these months. But I must wonder why--the newsgroup exists. Hardly anyone >ever posts to it, and right now it has mostly ads in it. Are people unaware >of its existence?
>
>
>Andree
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 09, 1998 7:19 AM
Subject: Re: 3rd RFD: talk.religion.bahai

whateverman wrote in message <34B513A3.736B@tacks.stupidity>...

>
>Sorry if this has been rehashed, but can you post previous ideas for >this disclaimer?
>

There have been more versions than I or probably anyone else can remember! I think we've finally found a form most people can agree on so I'll post the 4th RFD tomorrow morning unless there are substantive suggestions for other changes. The interest polling should begin now as soon as possible.

Incidentally, I recommend everyone read "1997 Newsgroup Votes in Review," if you haven't already.... I think the numbers speak for themselves....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 09, 1998 7:38 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Scott P. Duncan wrote in message <34B4E8B4.4E55@mindspring.com>...
>> And talk.religion.bahai would indeed be a breakthrough perhaps >> for Bahais.... Incidentally, I'm not the only Bahai who would like >> to see its realization.... The newsgroup has been discussed now >> for an entire year this month on the 17th!!!
>

>I must admit that I have not been following the history >of the proposal of TRB for a long time. But as to its >perceived need, I do have a few questions, since I am >neither pro or con about it in any strong way.
>

>While there may be a number of people who want to see TRB >get formed and it has been noted in other posts that >5000 >messages have been posted on this (ARB) newsgroup, most >of the posts I have seen have been by one person and/or about >the TRB formation. This may be quite fair and, as noted in >another post, many may not be able to get this newsgroup who >would otherwise post here.

513 different people posted on over 1,200 different threads on alt.religion.bahai from April 1, 1997 to early October. Many more people than I myself are interested in trb and have posted about it. Search www.dejanews.com for the above dates or to today and you'll see over 5,000 have indeed posted to it with many different substantive conversations on things other than formation of trb.

>
>However, if ARB is a sample of what TRB might contain once >stripped of discussing of newsgroup formation and past con>cerns over voting, there has not been a whole heck of a lot >of interesting stuff posted here. For me, the most interesting >was actually some discussion about what Islam is/is not.

Ultimately, trb is not bound by what has or has not taken place on alt.religion.bahai. 157 people voted for trb last spring and then most of them were unable to access the alt.* hierarchy.

I just received a message from one of them who was shocked to have just discovered arb has been going on all this time and trb is heading for the 2nd vote!

>
>To a great extent, most posts could easily have been elsewhere >(at least talk.religion.misc if other groups did not find them >relevant either).

You've got to be joking....

>
>What are the actual topics people really expect to get discussed >in TRB that would not make it on to SRB or just as easily belong >in some other group?

We've discussed this for 6 months now, at least 4 on news.groups.
Search dejanews for back discussion you have apparently missed.

>
>My willingness to participate in a vote about TRB is affected >greatly by the lack of examples of what would be really be >discussed. What an RFD hypothetically says could/should be >is, especially for an unmoderated group, only vaguely indicative >of what will happen. What has been going on in ARB seems to be >more illustrative of what people currently care about, isn't
>it?

Not at all. What's going on presently is that most people are exhausted from the long drawn out battle for free speech and religious conscience.... Trb is not contingent on arb....

>
>Should I ignore the content of ARB as an example of what to >expect in TRB? If so, what else is there? If not, then I >think there seems to be little reason to have TRB based on >the past year of postings which I have browsed through.

You should ignore much of the present content, I would say, not the massive NO vote prevented the full 157 YES voters from participating. Nonetheless, significant conversation did and has occurred on arb. I don't believe your analysis of the content of arb is accurate.... Much worthwhile discussion has taken place....

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 09, 1998 7:43 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

>One technical question, Frederick: I was wondering why so many of your >postings go to a.r.b. & news.groups, but follow-ups are set to n.g only?
>Is this an oversight or a technical glitch?
>
>DZO

As I understand it, all followup discussion should take place on news.groups. It's stated in the RFD.

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 09, 1998 10:28 AM
Subject: Please read "1997 Newsgroup Votes in Review"

I recommend everyone interested in the proposal for trb read
"1997 Newsgroup Votes in Review," if you haven't already.... I think the numbers should give everyone pause as we approach the present interest poll on talk.religion.bahai.

With extremely few exceptions, all the NO votes are in the 10 to 20 to maybe 50 range. The 691 NO votes cast against talk.religion.bahai stand out starkly....

Since Bahais have had an entire year now to come to an understanding of Usenet interest polling, I do not expect similar RESULTS. The soc.religion.bahai RESULTS in 1992 were 236 YES to 48 NO. Bahais seemed to understand the Usenet system quite well then....

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 09, 1998 10:33 AM
To: Spam
Subject: Re: Baha'i Faith spam

Roger Reini wrote in message <34b8c6a5.62541305@news.zippo.com>...
>Did you contact this individual yourself? I don't recognize the ID as >one that's active in the online Baha'i discussion community.
>
>I agree -- we Baha'is should not engage in spamming.

Roger, you're asking me that? Yes, I did cc him with my first response. I'll cc this message too just to be sure he understands more than one person would prefer he not spam "on behalf" of the Bahai Faith.

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

>
>
>>From: rlking@iquest.net
>>Newsgroups: soc.religion.quaker
>>Subject: Baha'i Faith
>>Date: Wed, 7 Jan 1998 10:57:58
>>Organization: IQuest Internet, Inc.
>>Lines: 10
>>Message-ID: <6908sd$7sd$12@news.iquest.net>
>>NNTP-Posting-Host: tht-0000-27.iquest.net
>>Xref: news.deltanet.com soc.religion.quaker:9080
>>
>>here is a cool religion link.
>>
>>
>><https://www.bahai.org>
>>
>>happy reading!
>>
>>
>>This message was posted using E-Mail Magnet
>>The World's Leading Bulk E-Mail Software
>>Get our FREE news posting software, News Blaster(tm), at:
>><https://www.emailmagnet.com>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 09, 1998 10:33 AM
Subject: Re: Baha'i Faith spam

Roger Reini wrote in message <34b8c6a5.62541305@news.zippo.com>...
>Did you contact this individual yourself? I don't recognize the ID as >one that's active in the online Baha'i discussion community.
>
>I agree -- we Baha'is should not engage in spamming.

Roger, you're asking me that? Yes, I did cc him with my first response. I'll cc this message too just to be sure he understands more than one person would prefer he not spam "on behalf" of the Bahai Faith.

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

>
>
>>From: rlking@iquest.net
>>Newsgroups: soc.religion.quaker
>>Subject: Baha'i Faith
>>Date: Wed, 7 Jan 1998 10:57:58
>>Organization: IQuest Internet, Inc.
>>Lines: 10
>>Message-ID: <6908sd$7sd$12@news.iquest.net>
>>NNTP-Posting-Host: tht-0000-27.iquest.net
>>Xref: news.deltanet.com soc.religion.quaker:9080
>>

>>here is a cool religion link.
>>
>>
>><https://www.bahai.org>
>>
>>happy reading!
>>
>>
>>This message was posted using E-Mail Magnet
>>The World's Leading Bulk E-Mail Software
>>Get our FREE news posting software, News Blaster(tm), at:
>><https://www.emailmagnet.com>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 09, 1998 10:35 AM
To: zutetflute@aol.com
Subject: Re: Baha'i, Christain, Hindu, Jewish, Moslem

If you haven't noticed your message didn't make through to
alt.religion.bahai.
Try it again. Thanks for your note....

--
FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

zutetflute@aol.com wrote in message <884239715.1616707587@dejanews.com>...

>In article <884042587.363659267@dejanews.com>, > grayfeather@centralva.net wrote:

>>
>> As a longtime member of the Baha'i faith I have seen changes yet there is >> not a recognition of Native American religion. yet Abdul-Baha stated >> that when the American Indian becomes ignited with the fire of the Baha'i >> Faith then the whole world will become Baha'i.Is it not time that we >> forget about these dead old world religions?

>>
>> ----- Posted via Deja News -----
>> <https://www.dejanews.com/> Search, Read, Post to Usenet
>>

>----- Posted via Deja News -----
> <https://www.dejanews.com/> Search, Read, Post to Usenet

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 09, 1998 10:35 AM
Subject: Re: Baha'i, Christain, Hindu, Jewish, Moslem

If you haven't noticed your message didn't make through to
alt.religion.bahai.
Try it again. Thanks for your note....

--
FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

zutetflute@aol.com wrote in message <884239715.1616707587@dejanews.com>...

>In article <884042587.363659267@dejanews.com>,
> grayfeather@centralva.net wrote:

>>
>> As a longtime member of the Baha'i faith I have seen changes yet there is >> not a recognition of Native American religion. yet Abdul-Baha stated >> that when the American Indian becomes ignited with the fire of the Baha'i >> Faith then the whole world will become Baha'i.Is it not time that we >> forget about these dead old world religions?

>>
>> ----- Posted via Deja News -----
>> <https://www.dejanews.com/> Search, Read, Post to Usenet
>>

>----- Posted via Deja News -----
> <https://www.dejanews.com/> Search, Read, Post to Usenet

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 10, 1998 9:43 AM
To: FG
Subject: Fw: 3rd RFD: talk.religion.bahai

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>
-----Original Message-----
From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,news.groups
Date: Wednesday, December 31, 1997 9:45 AM
Subject: Re: 3rd RFD: talk.religion.bahai

>
>Henrietta Thomas wrote in message <349f2243.4158591@news.wwa.com>...
>>OK, here comes the line-by-line I've been wanting to do. It may or may >>not agree with what other people are saying, but I think the final >>decision
>>on all points should be made by the proponents themselves.
>
>Thanks for taking the time...
>
>>In news.groups on Mon, 15 Dec 1997 08:56:51 GMT, "FG" >><FG@hotmail.com> wrote:
>>
>>>REQUEST FOR DISCUSSION (RFD)
>>>unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai
>>
>>>[snip]..... no problem with introduction
>>
>>>RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai
>>
>>>Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists >>>specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A >>>need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup >>>would meet that need.
>>
>>>[Delete unnecessary paragraph and substitute the following]
>
>A whole lot of discussion went into that paragraph during >August and September on alt.religion.bahai. I'd hate to throw >all that away, for historical reasons if nothing else. The breakdown >of figures I think further help to document how extensive >the interest in trb really is.... Personally, I'd like to keep all this.
>
>>
>>>After the defeat of the first proposal for talk.religion.bahai, the >>>proponent created alt.religion.bahai to demonstrate the need >>>for an unmoderated group. From April 1 to September 27, 1997, >>>over 2,863 messages were posted to alt.religion.bahai by people >>>with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith. This works >>>out to about 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages >>>per month for six months. During this time period, approximately >>>513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.
>>
>>>[I've deleted the reference to talk.religion.bahai in the paragraph >>>below]
>
>Jonathan Grobe points out it was he who created alt.religion.bahai.
>I did not ask him to do so but am very grateful that he did. This >morning, December 31, 1997, there are 4,975 messages on >dejanews posted to arb since April 1, 1997. More than a little >interest there, by anyone's fair-minded estimate, I would think....
>
>>
>>>These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com >>>for alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time period. Please note that >>>despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy, the high rate of >>>posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the formation >>>of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith in the talk.*
>>>hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility >>>of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by >>>interested people.
>>
>>>[No change in this paragraph]
>>
>>>The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, >>>rather than supplant, the existing moderated group >>>soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to >>>alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the >>>opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted >>>YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on >>>alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is >>>anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users >>>see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative >>>unmoderated newsgroup.
>>
>>>CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai
>>
>>>All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, >>>teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for

```

>>>discussion.
>>
>>[rearranging paragraphs; word changes underlined]
>>
>>>The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith >>>is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, >>>large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam,
>>>and any postings of a purely commercial nature.
>>
>>>Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers >>>are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive >>>crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been >>>rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to >>>this charter.
>>^^^^^^^^^
>
>Sure, "this charter" reads better. Move the paragraph makes >sense.
>
>>
>>>Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and >>>not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead >>>on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.
>>
>>>In keeping with long-standing Usenet tradition for all religious groups,
>>>the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of the >>>Baha'i faith.
>>[Or you could say, "In keeping with long-standing Usenet tradition >>for all religious groups, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup should not >>be considered an official organ of the Baha'i faith."]
>
>Other religious groups are not official organs of the Bahai Faith >or any other faith...
>
>I suggest:
>
>In keeping with long-standing Usenet tradition for all religious >groups, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup should not be >considered an official organ of any religious organization, >including the Bahai Faith.
>
>NOTE: soc.religion.bahai has no such disclaimer in >its charter.... I still believe there is no legitimate reason >trb should have one....
>
>>>Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting >>>procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.
>>
>>[I left out the "whipping post" paragraph because I don't think it >>adds anything to the charter, but would not be upset if the proponents >>decide to put it back in]
>
>Well, as long as there is a subordinate clause or language >that clarifies the situation sufficiently, I'm willing to drop the >whipping post passage though I believe it's only a fair >compromise.... No one else seems willing to compromise.
>
>Another acceptable reading to me, even preferable,
>would be:
>
>As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular
>religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai >newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional
>religion.
>
>For clarity, I would consider the above an acceptable >compromise and would delete the whipping post >reference for this.
>
>>
>>>END CHARTER.
>>>
>>>PROCEDURE:
>>>
>>>The process of creating newsgroups is twofold. First is the RFD >>>stage, when someone writes a Request for Discussion (RFD) outlining >>>the purpose of the proposed group. The RFD appears in >>>news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, and other relevant discussion >>>groups. Anyone may publicly comment on the RFD in news.groups for a >>>three-week period. During the discussion phase, proponents may modify >>>the RFD in response to suggestions from posters on news.groups.
>>>
>>>The second stage is the Call for Votes (CFV) stage. The proposal must >>>pass a Usenet-wide vote with a 2/3 supermajority -- and at least 100 >>>more votes in favor than against -- to be created. Anyone with an >>>e-mail address may cast a ballot. A neutral votetaker from the Usenet >>>Volunteer Votetakers (UVV) conducts all CFV's.
>>

```

```

>>[Add paragraph]
>>
>>The CFV is usually posted twice over a 21-day period, and then the >>votetaker tallies up the votes and the RESULT is posted to news.
>>announce.newgroups and news.groups. If after a 5-day waiting period, >>there are no challenges to the RESULT, the group will be created if >>the proposal passed. But if the proposal failed, then the proponent(s) >>must wait six months before they try again.
>
>Soc.religion.bahai's interest poll was 236 YES: 48 NO. That's the >usual ratio, roughly.... 30, 40, maybe 50 NO votes.... Anything >beyond that, I'm certainly going to challenge and believe everyone >interested in fairness and the preservation of Usenet as a system >should....
>
>The last sentence I would delete....
>
>>
>>[I have mixed emotions about the Allbery quote. It seems kind of >>long to me, and I wonder if it will backfire and just make people >>angry. But I will leave that decision to the proponents here.]
>
>It's a lucid statement on interest polling that I believe should >remain in so that Bahais reading the RFD understand what >is involved.... Many claim they didn't understand the nature >of interest polling last time. This passage helps educate >them and ought to remain. If that is a basis for voting NO, >David Lawrence and every techie on news.groups ought >just give up right now....and create some other way of forming >new groups....
>
>>>An instructive passage by Russ Allbery might fruitfully be >>>considered by all:
>>>
>>>"There is no official "list of acceptable reasons for voting"; Nothing >>>of the sort is enforced. There's no way of knowing why people vote >>>the way they do. There is, however, a general consensus that >>>certain patterns of voting constitute abuse of the system. Block >>>voting on religious, cultural, ethnic, or political grounds is one of >>>the things that is frowned upon. It is unlikely that even extreme block >>>voting would cause a result to be overturned, but it's practically >>>assured that block voting will earn an extremely bad reputation for >>>the group doing the block voting. In other words, yes, the Baha'i >>>could vote down the newsgroup en masse and be successful.
>>>This would, however, also earn the Faith a reputation (fairly or no) >>>amongst those people who followed the proposal as a religion that >>>advocates censorship. I think it's in the best interest of Baha'is and >>>the Baha'i Faith to avoid that."
>>>(Message-ID: <m3pvo9ggjh@windlord.Stanford.EDU>)
>>>
>>>This RFD attempts to comply with the Usenet newsgroup creation >>>guidelines outlined in "How to Create a New Usenet Newsgroup" and >>>"Writing an RFD." Please refer to these documents if you have further >>>^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^ "How to Write a Good Newsgroup Proposal" >>>questions about the process.
>>>
>>>DISTRIBUTION:
>>>
>>>[No problem with the distribution or listing of proponents]
>
>Okay. Thanks a lot, Henrietta, for going to all this trouble of >considering this 3rd RFD. I appreciate it. All your suggestions >are taken to heart here. I'm willing to incorporate the changes >I've commented on. What do others think? Chris? Ron?
>Anyone else back yet?
>
>Hope you all had a wonderful Christmas!
>And even a more Happy New Year!
>
>FG
>UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
>The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
>news.announce.newgroups, or at <https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>
>
>
-----
From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 10, 1998 9:49 AM
Subject: Re: 3rd RFD: talk.religion.bahai

Roger Reini wrote in message <34B65DAF.5C80@SPAMBLOCKford.com>...
>
>The moderator on duty must have felt that this message was not >sufficiently on-topic for soc.religion.bahai. Usually, the note of >rejection states the reason for the rejection.
>
>This would appear to be a case of moderator's discretion. The primary >subject of the article is net abuse. The Faith was involved only >because of the subject of the original, off-topic post.

```

>
>I understand that the original poster is a very new Baha'i. Perhaps he >posted out of ignorance, in which case a private note to him would >likely be sufficient. Now if he kept on doing it, you'd have grounds >for further action.

How do you know the poster is "a very new Bahai"? What difference would that make anyway in terms of discussing the reputation of the Faith as a result of his actions? Bahais have stated often that they want to protect the Faith from one thing or another on talk.religion.bahai, why are they not concerned about protecting it from such incidents as this spammer?

>I think it should be possible for a discussion of netiquette to take >place on s.r.b, if it's tied in tightly with the principles and >teachings of the Baha'i Faith. To be honest, I think such a discussion >would be easier to conduct on either alt.religion.bahai or (if it >passes) talk.religion.bahai, since the lack of moderation might allow >the discussion to proceed more smoothly.
>
>Roger (rreini@wwnet.net)

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 10, 1998 10:05 AM
To: talisman
Subject: Re: Just Government

-----Original Message-----
>From: T.ALBERT-ISHMAEL ANDERSON <talishman@usa.net>
>To: talisman@umich.edu <talisman@umich.edu>
>Date: Friday, January 09, 1998 5:01 PM
>Subject: Just Government

>Shoghi Effendi, regarding `Abdul-Baha's commands to Baha'is to >obey the just government(s), says:

>"What the Master's statement really means is obedience to a duly >constituted government, whatever that government may be in form.
>We are not the ones, as individual Bahá'ís, to judge our government >as just or unjust--for each believer would be sure to hold a different >viewpoint, and within our own Bahá'í...."
>-Directives from The Guardian, Page 56

Many people have argued, myself included, that the Usenet system of interest polling is a form of a "duly constituted government." It provides the rules and rationale for forming and regulating the newsgroup social order, if you will.... Yet Bahais have shown no lack of alacrity to judge it and violate its most basic tenets of interest polling....

How do you explain or justify such blatant dismissal of the Guardian's guidance?

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 10, 1998 10:15 AM
Subject: Re: Please read "1997 Newsgroup Votes in Review"

Jeff Davey wrote:

Yes, there are some >people who will be voting their own agenda. I have read some people will vote
>NO on it, and they think that this action is still within their rights and
in >accordance with the guidelines. I have read (not firsthand, but secondhand)
>that some people will vote NO because they have something against Fred >personally. I have also read some people threaten to vote YES just to offset
>what they consider unjustified NO votes.

Can you tell us WHERE you have read these things?

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 10, 1998 11:22 AM
To: FG; Ron House; Chris Manvell
Subject: 4th RFD: talk.religion.bahai

REQUEST FOR DISCUSSION (RFD)
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

This is a formal Request for Discussion (RFD) to create an unmoderated worldwide discussion group called talk.religion.bahai. This is not a Call for Votes (CFV); you cannot vote at this time. Procedural details appear below. All followup discussion should be crossposted to news.groups,alt.religion.bahai.

CHANGES from previous RFD:

The only major change on this 4th RFD is the "disclaimer" passage under the Charter. A few other minor changes have been made.

Newsgroup line: talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

From January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, until March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

From April 1, 1997, to September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months. Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

PROCEDURE:

An instructive passage by Russ Allbery might fruitfully be considered by all:

"There is no official 'list of acceptable reasons for voting'; Nothing of the sort is enforced. There's no way of knowing why people vote the way they do. There is, however, a general consensus that certain patterns of voting constitute abuse of the system. Block voting on religious, cultural, ethnic, or political grounds is one of the things that is frowned upon. It is unlikely that even extreme block voting would cause a result to be overturned, but it's practically assured that block voting will earn an extremely bad reputation for the group doing the block voting. In other words, yes, the Baha'i could vote down the newsgroup en masse and be successful. This would, however, also earn the Faith a reputation (fairly or no) amongst those people who followed the proposal as a religion that advocates censorship. I think it's in the best interest of Baha'is and the Baha'i Faith to avoid that."

(Message-ID: <m3pvo9ggjh@windlord.Stanford.EDU>)

The process of creating newsgroups is twofold. First is the RFD stage, when someone writes a Request for Discussion (RFD) outlining the purpose of the proposed group. The RFD appears in news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, and other relevant discussion groups. Anyone may publicly comment on the RFD in news.groups for a three-week period. During the discussion phase, proponents may modify the RFD in response to suggestions from posters on news.groups.

The second stage is the Call for Votes (CFV) stage. The proposal must pass a Usenet-wide vote with a 2/3 supermajority -- and at least 100 more votes in favor than against -- to be created. Anyone with an e-mail address may cast a ballot. A neutral votetaker from the Usenet Volunteer Votetakers (UVV) conducts all CFV's.

This RFD attempts to comply with the Usenet newsgroup creation guidelines outlined in "How to Create a New Usenet Newsgroup" and "Writing an RFD." Please refer to these documents if you have further questions about the process.

DISTRIBUTION:

This RFD has been posted to the following newsgroups:
news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, soc.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, talk.religion.misc, soc.rights.human,
soc.culture.israel

and the following three mailing lists:

Talisman <Talisman@umich.edu>
Subscribe via: jsgreen@umich.edu

Bahai Studies <Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us>
Subscribe via: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

h-Bahai h-Bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Subscribe smaneck@BERRY.EDU or jrcole@umich.edu

Pointers will appear in the following newsgroups:

soc.religion.unitarian-univ, soc.religion.eastern,
soc.religion.gnosis, soc.religion.hindu,
soc.religion.paganism, soc.religion.quaker,
soc.religion.sikhism, soc.religion.vaishnava,
talk.religion.buddhism, talk.religion.newage,
alt.religion.islam, alt.religion, a.bsu.religion,
uk.religion.misc, uk.religion.interfaith,
uk.religion.other-faiths, news.admin.censorship

And to the following seven Bahai-only listservs:

Subscribe via bahai-request@bccca.org

Baha'i Campus Forum (BCF)

Baha'i Discuss (Discuss)

Baha'i Singles (Singles)

Baha'i Teachers (Teachers)

Baha'i Women Converse (Women)

Baha'i Youth (Youth - aimed at the 12-18 age group)

Baha'i Announce (Announce)

Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>

Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

Proponent: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk >

Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au.uk>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 10, 1998 11:22 AM
Subject: 4th RFD: talk.religion.bahai

REQUEST FOR DISCUSSION (RFD)
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

This is a formal Request for Discussion (RFD) to create an unmoderated worldwide discussion group called talk.religion.bahai. This is not a Call for Votes (CFV); you cannot vote at this time. Procedural details appear below. All followup discussion should be crossposted to news.groups.alt.religion.bahai.

CHANGES from previous RFD:

The only major change on this 4th RFD is the "disclaimer" passage under the Charter. A few other minor changes have been made.

News group line: talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 hierarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

From January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, until March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

From April 1, 1997, to September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months. Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

PROCEDURE:

An instructive passage by Russ Allbery might fruitfully be considered by all:

"There is no official 'list of acceptable reasons for voting'; Nothing of the sort is enforced. There's no way of knowing why people vote the way they do. There is, however, a general consensus that certain patterns of voting constitute abuse of the system. Block voting on religious, cultural, ethnic, or political grounds is one of the things that is frowned upon. It is unlikely that even extreme block voting would cause a result to be overturned, but it's practically assured that block voting will earn an extremely bad reputation for the group doing the block voting. In other words, yes, the Baha'i could vote down the newsgroup en masse and be successful. This would, however, also earn the Faith a reputation (fairly or no) amongst those people who followed the proposal as a religion that advocates censorship. I think it's in the best interest of Baha'is and the Baha'i Faith to avoid that."

(Message-ID: <m3pvo9ggjh@windlord.Stanford.EDU>)

The process of creating newsgroups is twofold. First is the RFD stage, when someone writes a Request for Discussion (RFD) outlining the purpose of the proposed group. The RFD appears in news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, and other relevant discussion groups. Anyone may publicly comment on the RFD in news.groups for a three-week period. During the discussion phase, proponents may modify the RFD in response to suggestions from posters on news.groups.

The second stage is the Call for Votes (CFV) stage. The proposal must pass a Usenet-wide vote with a 2/3 supermajority -- and at least 100 more votes in favor than against -- to be created. Anyone with an e-mail address may cast a ballot. A neutral votetaker from the Usenet Volunteer Votetakers (UVV) conducts all CFV's.

This RFD attempts to comply with the Usenet newsgroup creation guidelines outlined in "How to Create a New Usenet Newsgroup" and "Writing an RFD." Please refer to these documents if you have further questions about the process.

DISTRIBUTION:

This RFD has been posted to the following newsgroups:
news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, soc.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, talk.religion.misc, soc.rights.human,
soc.culture.israel

and the following three mailing lists:

Talisman <Talisman@umich.edu>
Subscribe via: jsgreen@umich.edu

Bahai Studies <Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us>
Subscribe via: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

h-Bahai h-Bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Subscribe smaneck@BERRY.EDU or jrcole@umich.edu

Pointers will appear in the following newsgroups:

soc.religion.unitarian-univ, soc.religion.eastern,
soc.religion.gnosis, soc.religion.hindu,
soc.religion.paganism, soc.religion.quaker,
soc.religion.sikhism, soc.religion.vaishnava,
talk.religion.buddhism, talk.religion.newage,
alt.religion.islam, alt.religion, a.bsu.religion,
uk.religion.misc, uk.religion.interfaith,
uk.religion.other-faiths, news.admin.censorship

And to the following seven Bahai-only listservs:

Subscribe via bahai-request@bccca.org

Baha'i Campus Forum (BCF)

Baha'i Discuss (Discuss)

Baha'i Singles (Singles)

Baha'i Teachers (Teachers)

Baha'i Women Converse (Women)

Baha'i Youth (Youth - aimed at the 12-18 age group)

Baha'i Announce (Announce)

Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>

Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

Proponent: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk >

Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au.uk>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 10, 1998 11:22 AM
To: FG; Ron House; Chris Manvell
Subject: 4th RFD: talk.religion.bahai

REQUEST FOR DISCUSSION (RFD)
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

This is a formal Request for Discussion (RFD) to create an unmoderated worldwide discussion group called talk.religion.bahai. This is not a Call for Votes (CFV); you cannot vote at this time. Procedural details appear below. All followup discussion should be crossposted to news.groups.alt.religion.bahai.

CHANGES from previous RFD:

The only major change on this 4th RFD is the "disclaimer" passage under the Charter. A few other minor changes have been made.

Newsgroup line: talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

From January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, until March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

From April 1, 1997, to September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months. Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

PROCEDURE:

An instructive passage by Russ Allbery might fruitfully be considered by all:

"There is no official 'list of acceptable reasons for voting'; Nothing of the sort is enforced. There's no way of knowing why people vote the way they do. There is, however, a general consensus that certain patterns of voting constitute abuse of the system. Block voting on religious, cultural, ethnic, or political grounds is one of the things that is frowned upon. It is unlikely that even extreme block voting would cause a result to be overturned, but it's practically assured that block voting will earn an extremely bad reputation for the group doing the block voting. In other words, yes, the Baha'i could vote down the newsgroup en masse and be successful. This would, however, also earn the Faith a reputation (fairly or no) amongst those people who followed the proposal as a religion that advocates censorship. I think it's in the best interest of Baha'is and the Baha'i Faith to avoid that."
(Message-ID: <m3pvo9ggjh@windlord.Stanford.EDU>)

The process of creating newsgroups is twofold. First is the RFD stage, when someone writes a Request for Discussion (RFD) outlining the purpose of the proposed group. The RFD appears in news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, and other relevant discussion groups. Anyone may publicly comment on the RFD in news.groups for a three-week period. During the discussion phase, proponents may modify the RFD in response to suggestions from posters on news.groups.

The second stage is the Call for Votes (CFV) stage. The proposal must pass a Usenet-wide vote with a 2/3 supermajority -- and at least 100 more votes in favor than against -- to be created. Anyone with an e-mail address may cast a ballot. A neutral votetaker from the Usenet Volunteer Votetakers (UVV) conducts all CFV's.

This RFD attempts to comply with the Usenet newsgroup creation guidelines outlined in "How to Create a New Usenet Newsgroup" and "Writing an RFD." Please refer to these documents if you have further questions about the process.

DISTRIBUTION:

This RFD has been posted to the following newsgroups:
news.announce.newgroups,news.groups,soc.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc,soc.rights.human,
soc.culture.israel

and the following three mailing lists:

Talisman <Talisman@umich.edu>
Subscribe via: jsgreen@umich.edu

Bahai Studies <Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us>
Subscribe via: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

h-Bahai h-Bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Subscribe smaneck@BERRY.EDU or jrcole@umich.edu

Pointers will appear in the following newsgroups:

soc.religion.unitarian-univ,soc.religion.eastern,
soc.religion.gnosis,soc.religion.hindu,
soc.religion.paganism,soc.religion.quaker,
soc.religion.sikhism,soc.religion.vaishnava,
talk.religion.buddhism,talk.religion.newage,
alt.religion.islam,alt.religion,a.bsu.religion,
uk.religion.misc,uk.religion.interfaith,
uk.religion.other-faiths,news.admin.censorship

And to the following seven Bahai-only listservs:

Subscribe via bahai-request@bccca.org

Baha'i Campus Forum (BCF)

Baha'i Discuss (Discuss)

Baha'i Singles (Singles)

Baha'i Teachers (Teachers)

Baha'i Women Converse (Women)

Baha'i Youth (Youth - aimed at the 12-18 age group)

Baha'i Announce (Announce)

Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>

Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

Proponent: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk >

Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au.uk>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 10, 1998 11:45 AM
Subject: Re: Universal Acceptance of the Faith

Robert Pascoe wrote in message <"EB5UjD.A.nYD.xuTs0"@bounty>...

Paraphrasing Baha'u'llah:

Later they would realize that man cannot live >without religion. Then they would study the teachings of >all religions to see which of the religions conformed to the prevailing >conditions of the time. It is then that the Cause of god would become >universal.*

Some Bahais might find Vaclav Havel's comments in the Fall 1997 issue of New Perspective Quarterly interesting in this regard:

"How this existential revolution takes place is the central question of our time."

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, January 11, 1998 10:37 AM
To: Michael McKenny Subject: 4th RFD in....

The 4th and final RFD has just gone into news.announce.newgroups.
Voting should start again in about a week or two if a vote taker can be assigned quickly.

Haven't heard from you in a long time.... Everything okay?

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: Ron House[SMTP:house@usq.edu.au]
Sent: Monday, January 12, 1998 1:45 AM
To: FG
Cc: talisman; Chris Manvell
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

FG wrote:

>
> It's getting hard to remember who wrote and revised:
>
> >>As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular
> >>religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai > >>newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.
>
> I'd like to use this passage for the "disclaimer."
> Any objections or comments? If Bahais don't really care about > this statement any more, we could just drop it, as Ron House, > a co-proponent, has suggested to me in email.... If you care > about this, please speak up and make your views known....

I posted a suggested disclaimer to n.g just a few minutes ago. Mine is wordier, but includes the reason, as well as not actually naming s.r.b, which is, I think, better because I think we should not define this ng in negative terms by comparison with anything else, but in positive terms by stating what we expect it to be. I suspect a more compact form of what I posted could be devised.

--
Ron House
house@usq.edu.au
An age is called Dark not because the light fails to shine, but because people refuse to see it. -- James Michener, "Space"

From: Ron House[SMTP:house@usq.edu.au]
Sent: Monday, January 12, 1998 1:52 AM
To: FG
Subject: Re: the disclaimer....

FG wrote:

>
> Ron,
>
> Your mentioning you're opposed to the disclaimer has helped > a lot, perhaps driving Detweiler into saying it's acceptable at > least, better than nothing from his point of view.... See my > response to him in which I try to answer your concerns too.
>
> I really think the passage is so watered down it would now > be best to include it so that no one has an excuse to vote NO....

See my immediately preceding e-pistle mentioning the disclaimer I wrote before I saw this. Whatever you decide after reading my comments will be fine by me.

--
Ron House
house@usq.edu.au
An age is called Dark not because the light fails to shine, but because people refuse to see it. -- James Michener, "Space"

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 12, 1998 9:24 AM
To: Ron House
Subject: Re: the disclaimer....

>> I really think the passage is so watered down it would now >> be best to include it so that no one has an excuse to vote NO....
>
>See my immediately preceding e-pistle mentioning the >disclaimer I wrote before I saw this. Whatever you >decide after reading my comments will be fine by me.

I emailed you two or three days ago and didn't hear from you so when most people agreed finally to something I wanted to seize the opportunity to put this disclaimer business behind us and get the vote going. I posted the 4th RFD to David Lawrence on Saturday morning. He should posted it any time now. Hope you don't mind. The disclaimer doesn't really matter anymore, I believe....

I hope the voting can start in 7 to 10 days....

>
>--
>Ron House
> house@usq.edu.au
>An age is called Dark not because the light fails to shine, but >because people refuse to see it. -- James Michener, "Space"
>

From: David C Lawrence[SMTP:newgroups-request@isc.org]
Sent: Monday, January 12, 1998 10:58 AM
To: FG
Subject: posted "4th RFD: talk.religion.bahai"

[This is an automated message; no reply is necessary.]

On 12 Jan 1998 (Mon), at 14:58:39 GMT, your proposal was posted to the following groups. This list might be different from what was originally requested if the Newsgroups header was over 200 characters long, some of the groups were bogus (ie, superseded Big 8 groups) or not carried by my news server (like defunct alt groups), or other relevant groups were noted and added.

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
talk.religion.misc
soc.rights.human
soc.culture.israel

It was also sent separately to the following group, for which another moderator must approve it:

soc.religion.bahai

It was also sent separately to the following lists:

Talisman@umich.edu
Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us
h-Bahai@h-net.msu.edu

David Lawrence, moderator, news.announce.newgroups

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 12, 1998 10:58 AM
To: Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us
Subject: 4th RFD: talk.religion.bahai

The Baha'i Studies List

REQUEST FOR DISCUSSION (RFD)
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

This is a formal Request for Discussion (RFD) to create an unmoderated worldwide discussion group called talk.religion.bahai. This is not a Call for Votes (CFV); you cannot vote at this time. Procedural details appear below. All followup discussion should be crossposted to news.groups.alt.religion.bahai.

CHANGES from previous RFD:

The only major change on this 4th RFD is the "disclaimer" passage under the Charter. A few other minor changes have been made.

Newsgroup line:
talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

>From January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, until March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

>From April 1, 1997, to September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months. Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

PROCEDURE:

An instructive passage by Russ Allbery might fruitfully be considered by all:

"There is no official 'list of acceptable reasons for voting'; Nothing of the sort is enforced. There's no way of knowing why people vote the way they do. There is, however, a general consensus that certain patterns of voting constitute abuse of the system. Block voting on religious, cultural, ethnic, or political grounds is one of the things that is frowned upon. It is unlikely that even extreme block voting would cause a result to be overturned, but it's practically assured that block voting will earn an extremely bad reputation for the group doing the block voting. In other words, yes, the Baha'i could vote down the newsgroup en masse and be successful. This would, however, also earn the Faith a reputation (fairly or no) amongst those people who followed the proposal as a religion that advocates censorship. I think it's in the best interest of Baha'is and the Baha'i Faith to avoid that."
(Message-ID: <m3pvo9ggjh@windlord.Stanford.EDU>)

The process of creating newsgroups is twofold. First is the RFD stage, when someone writes a Request for Discussion (RFD) outlining the purpose of the proposed group. The RFD appears in news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, and other relevant discussion groups. Anyone may publicly comment on the RFD in news.groups for a three-week period. During the discussion phase, proponents may modify the RFD in response to suggestions from posters on news.groups.

The second stage is the Call for Votes (CFV) stage. The proposal must pass a Usenet-wide vote with a 2/3 supermajority -- and at least 100 more votes in favor than against -- to be created. Anyone with an e-mail address may cast a ballot. A neutral votetaker from the Usenet Volunteer Votetakers (UVV) conducts all CFV's.

This RFD attempts to comply with the Usenet newsgroup creation guidelines outlined in "How to Create a New Usenet Newsgroup" and "Writing an RFD." Please refer to these documents if you have further questions about the process.

DISTRIBUTION:

This RFD has been posted to the following newsgroups:
news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, soc.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai, talk.religion.misc, soc.rights.human,
soc.culture.israel

and the following three mailing lists:

Talisman <Talisman@umich.edu>
Subscribe via: jsgreen@umich.edu

Bahai Studies <Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us>
Subscribe via: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

h-Bahai h-Bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Subscribe smaneck@BERRY.EDU or jrcole@umich.edu

Pointers will appear in the following newsgroups:

soc.religion.unitarian-univ, soc.religion.eastern,
soc.religion.gnosis, soc.religion.hindu,
soc.religion.paganism, soc.religion.quaker,
soc.religion.sikhism, soc.religion.vaishnava,
talk.religion.buddhism, talk.religion.newage,
alt.religion.islam, alt.religion, a.bsu.religion,
uk.religion.misc, uk.religion.interfaith,
uk.religion.other-faiths, news.admin.censorship

And to the following seven Bahai-only listservs:

Subscribe via bahai-request@bccca.org

Baha'i Campus Forum (BCF)
Baha'i Discuss (Discuss)
Baha'i Singles (Singles)
Baha'i Teachers (Teachers)
Baha'i Women Converse (Women)
Baha'i Youth (Youth - aimed at the 12-18 age group)
Baha'i Announce (Announce)

Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>
Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Proponent: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk>
Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>

-
To switch to the digested list, send the following commands to major@johnco.cc.ks.us in the message body
-
unsubscribe bahai-st
subscribe bahai-st-digest

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 12, 1998 10:58 AM
To: Talisman@umich.edu
Subject: 4th RFD: talk.religion.bahai

REQUEST FOR DISCUSSION (RFD)
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

This is a formal Request for Discussion (RFD) to create an unmoderated worldwide discussion group called talk.religion.bahai. This is not a Call for Votes (CFV); you cannot vote at this time. Procedural details appear below. All followup discussion should be crossposted to news.groups,alt.religion.bahai.

CHANGES from previous RFD:

The only major change on this 4th RFD is the "disclaimer" passage under the Charter. A few other minor changes have been made.

Newsgroup line:
talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

>From January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, until March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

>From April 1, 1997, to September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months. Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

PROCEDURE:

An instructive passage by Russ Allbery might fruitfully be considered by all:

"There is no official 'list of acceptable reasons for voting'; Nothing of the sort is enforced. There's no way of knowing why people vote the way they do. There is, however, a general consensus that certain patterns of voting constitute abuse of the system. Block voting on religious, cultural, ethnic, or political grounds is one of the things that is frowned upon. It is unlikely that even extreme block voting would cause a result to be overturned, but it's practically assured that block voting will earn an extremely bad reputation for the group doing the block voting. In other words, yes, the Baha'i could vote down the newsgroup en masse and be successful. This would, however, also earn the Faith a reputation (fairly or no) amongst those people who followed the proposal as a religion that advocates censorship. I think it's in the best interest of Baha'is and the Baha'i Faith to avoid that."
(Message-ID: <m3pvo9ggjh@windlord.Stanford.EDU>)

The process of creating newsgroups is twofold. First is the RFD stage, when someone writes a Request for Discussion (RFD) outlining the purpose of the proposed group. The RFD appears in news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, and other relevant discussion groups. Anyone may publicly comment on the RFD in news.groups for a three-week period. During the discussion phase, proponents may modify the RFD in response to suggestions from posters on news.groups.

The second stage is the Call for Votes (CFV) stage. The proposal must pass a Usenet-wide vote with a 2/3 supermajority -- and at least 100 more votes in favor than against -- to be created. Anyone with an e-mail address may cast a ballot. A neutral votetaker from the Usenet Volunteer Votetakers (UVV) conducts all CFV's.

This RFD attempts to comply with the Usenet newsgroup creation guidelines outlined in "How to Create a New Usenet Newsgroup" and "Writing an RFD." Please refer to these documents if you have further questions about the process.

DISTRIBUTION:

This RFD has been posted to the following newsgroups:
news.announce.newgroups,news.groups,soc.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc,soc.rights.human,
soc.culture.israel

and the following three mailing lists:

Talisman <Talisman@umich.edu>
Subscribe via: jsgreen@umich.edu

Bahai Studies <Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us>
Subscribe via: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

h-Bahai h-Bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Subscribe smaneck@BERRY.EDU or jrcole@umich.edu

Pointers will appear in the following newsgroups:

soc.religion.unitarian-univ,soc.religion.eastern,
soc.religion.gnosis,soc.religion.hindu,
soc.religion.paganism,soc.religion.quaker,
soc.religion.sikhism,soc.religion.vaishnava,
talk.religion.buddhism,talk.religion.newage,
alt.religion.islam,alt.religion,a.bsu.religion,
uk.religion.misc,uk.religion.interfaith,
uk.religion.other-faiths,news.admin.censorship

And to the following seven Bahai-only listservs:

Subscribe via bahai-request@bccca.org
Baha'i Campus Forum (BCF)
Baha'i Discuss (Discuss)
Baha'i Singles (Singles)
Baha'i Teachers (Teachers)
Baha'i Women Converse (Women)

Baha'i Youth (Youth - aimed at the 12-18 age group)
Baha'i Announce (Announce)

Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>
Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Proponent: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk>
Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au.uk>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 12, 1998 2:16 PM
Subject: 4th RFD posted

David Lawrence has emailed me that the 4th RFD has been posted to news.announce.newgroups.

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: Negar Mottahedeh[SMTP:motta003@MAROON.TC.UMN.EDU]
Sent: Monday, January 12, 1998 3:32 PM
To: Multiple recipients of list H-BAHAI
Subject: 4th RFD: talk.religion.bahai

Date: Mon, 12 Jan 1998 09:58:44 -0500 (EST)
From: "FG" <FG@hotmail.com>
Subject: 4th RFD: talk.religion.bahai

REQUEST FOR DISCUSSION (RFD)
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

This is a formal Request for Discussion (RFD) to create an unmoderated worldwide discussion group called talk.religion.bahai. This is not a Call for Votes (CFV); you cannot vote at this time. Procedural details appear below. All followup discussion should be crossposted to news.groups,alt.religion.bahai.

CHANGES from previous RFD:

The only major change on this 4th RFD is the "disclaimer" passage under the Charter. A few other minor changes have been made.

Newsgroup line:
talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

>From January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, until March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

>From April 1, 1997, to September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months. Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

PROCEDURE:

An instructive passage by Russ Allbery might fruitfully be considered by all:

"There is no official 'list of acceptable reasons for voting'; Nothing of the sort is enforced. There's no way of knowing why people vote the way they do. There is, however, a general consensus that certain patterns of voting constitute abuse of the system. Block voting on religious, cultural, ethnic, or political grounds is one of the things that is frowned upon. It is unlikely that even extreme block voting would cause a result to be overturned, but it's practically assured that block voting will earn an extremely bad reputation for the group doing the block voting. In other words, yes, the Baha'i could vote down the newsgroup en masse and be successful. This would, however, also earn the Faith a reputation (fairly or no) amongst those people who followed the proposal as a religion that advocates censorship. I think it's in the best interest of Baha'is and the Baha'i Faith to avoid that."

(Message-ID: <m3pvo9ggjh@windlord.Stanford.EDU>)

The process of creating newsgroups is twofold. First is the RFD stage, when someone writes a Request for Discussion (RFD) outlining the purpose of the proposed group. The RFD appears in news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, and other relevant discussion groups. Anyone may publicly comment on the RFD in news.groups for a three-week period. During the discussion phase, proponents may modify the RFD in response to suggestions from posters on news.groups.

The second stage is the Call for Votes (CFV) stage. The proposal must pass a Usenet-wide vote with a 2/3 supermajority -- and at least 100 more votes in favor than against -- to be created. Anyone with an e-mail address may cast a ballot. A neutral votetaker from the Usenet Volunteer Votetakers (UVV) conducts all CFV's.

This RFD attempts to comply with the Usenet newsgroup creation guidelines outlined in "How to Create a New Usenet Newsgroup" and "Writing an RFD." Please refer to these documents if you have further questions about the process.

DISTRIBUTION:

This RFD has been posted to the following newsgroups: news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, soc.religion.bahai, alt.religion.bahai, talk.religion.misc, soc.rights.human, soc.culture.israel

and the following three mailing lists:

Talisman <Talisman@umich.edu>
Subscribe via: jsgreen@umich.edu

Bahai Studies <Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us> Subscribe via: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

h-Bahai h-Bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Subscribe smaneck@BERRY.EDU or jrcole@umich.edu

Pointers will appear in the following newsgroups:

soc.religion.unitarian-univ, soc.religion.eastern,
soc.religion.gnosis, soc.religion.hindu,
soc.religion.paganism, soc.religion.quaker,
soc.religion.sikhism, soc.religion.vaishnava,
talk.religion.buddhism, talk.religion.newage,
alt.religion.islam, alt.religion, a.bsu.religion,
uk.religion.misc, uk.religion.interfaith,
uk.religion.other-faiths, news.admin.censorship

And to the following seven Bahai-only listservs:

Subscribe via bahai-request@bccca.org
Baha'i Campus Forum (BCF)
Baha'i Discuss (Discuss)
Baha'i Singles (Singles)
Baha'i Teachers (Teachers)
Baha'i Women Converse (Women)
Baha'i Youth (Youth - aimed at the 12-18 age group) Baha'i Announce (Announce)

Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu> Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com> Proponent: Chris Manvell
<Chris@breacaais.demon.co.uk> Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 13, 1998 7:08 AM
Subject: Re: 4th RFD: talk.religion.bahai

Roger Reini wrote in message <34BA3A35.2452@SPAMBLOCKford.com>...

>I have no objections to the proposal as it now stands.

I'd like to send in the Questionnaire to the Usenet Voluntary Votetakers (UVV) as soon as possible. Does anyone know how soon that might be? I'm under the impression that it can be submitted after 7 days, not 10. Is that correct?

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 14, 1998 7:44 AM
Subject: Re: 3rd RFD: talk.religion.bahai

Guy Macon wrote in message <69houm\$a83\$4@news01.deltanet.com>...

>The Usenet community as >a whole is very wary of any religion, after the scientologists tried to >shut down usenet. Bahais (and Quakers!) need to be squeaky clean, with >absolutely no trace of net abuse. To do this, you need to police your >own members. To do that you have to be able to post on the subject.
>This is why I brought this up in news.groups; soc.religion.bahai not >allowing discussion about net-abuse by bahais is a reason for voting >yes on an unmoderated bahai newsgroup.

First, we are all speculating on why soc.religion.bahai rejected your post.... My speculation is that they approve of such spamming.
After all, it's spreading the Word.... Further, it would cast Bahais in a bad light to reveal it on soc.religion.bahai. Better merely to suppress the whole thing, which usually works, always has in the past, and let it continue, since a few souls may come to the Truth, as a result, anyway....

>You have some zealous bahais who really do love their faith and want to >spread it everywhere. You also have idiots advertising services that >will email several hundred thousand addresses or post to tens of >thousands of newsgroups for a modest fee. Put the two together, and you >have a black mark against bahaism. Oh, sure, I could talk about this >in news.admin.net-abuse.*, but I know what they will say. They don't >like spamming over there. They have very effective measures to stop >it. I would rather see any net-abuse by bahais stopped by a little >social pressure before it comes to that.

You're thinking like a non-Bahai.... The guy's on OUR side.... The black mark would only result if the information appeared on soc.religion.bahai and other innocent Bahais were to learn of it. THAT would be negative.... What non-Bahais think is of no consequence....
Bahais must be protected, for their own good, from such negative charges against their fellow Bahais....

I too believe it's another good reason to vote YES.... It typifies what I and others have been saying for nearly a year has been our experience with soc.religion.bahai....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 14, 1998 8:07 AM
Subject: Working on Questionnaire for CFV

The UVV's CFV Questions states:

"A CFV for a proposal cannot be advanced until at least 21 days from the date of the first RFD, or 10 days from any subsequent RFD, whichever is later. "

I'm assuming the 7 days mentioned by someone a month or so ago is in error. Anyway, I'm working on the Questionnaire and will send it in to the UVV by Friday, which shouldn't conflict with their 5 to 7 days before the end of a discussion period.

Incidentally, pointers to the CFV may be posted to all of the newsgroups on the RFD, right?

--
FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 14, 1998 8:13 AM
To: Chris Stone
Cc: Ron House; Chris Manvell
Subject: Fw: Working on Questionnaire for CFV

Just want to let you know how things are going....

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,news.groups
Date: Wednesday, January 14, 1998 7:07 AM
Subject: Working on Questionnaire for CFV

>The UVV's CFV Questions states:

>

>"A CFV for a proposal cannot be advanced until at least >21 days from the date of the first RFD, or 10 days from any >subsequent RFD, whichever is later. "

>

>I'm assuming the 7 days mentioned by someone a month or >so ago is in error. Anyway, I'm working on the Questionnaire >and will send it in to the UVV by Friday, which shouldn't >conflict with their 5 to 7 days before the end of a discussion >period.

>

>Incidentally, pointers to the CFV may be posted to all of the >newsgroups on the RFD, right?

>

>--

>FG

>UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
>The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
>news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 14, 1998 8:29 AM
Subject: Bahai Spammer/ Bahai Fireside / Christian perspective considered

Given the type of thing shown by soc.religion.bahai with the Bahai spammer, people might want to reflect on the web site created by a former Bahai who has returned to Christianity....

I think it shows quite well the frustration many feel with the lack of open and free discussion within and about the Bahai Faith....

>The URL for the Fireside Letters is;

>
><https://personal.sdf.bellsouth.net/sdf/h/o/howdybud/FS%20website/index%20.htm>
1

>Thanks,
>Dale:)

--
FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 14, 1998 10:02 AM
To: FG

Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

>
>Richard C. Detweiler wrote in message <69ggsh$2hj@nntp02.primenet.com>...
>>In article <69gfu2$5pb@news.microsoft.com>,
>>Rick Schaut <richs@microsoft.NOSPAMcom> wrote:

>>In any event, I guess I'd like to >>ask you if you are comfortable with a few people taking this on and >>working it through while the vote goes ahead? If you aren't comfortable >>and you'd like to see more discussion on this before the vote, I hope the >>proponents can accomodate this and give the discussion a few days.

Discussion of the proposal has been taken place officially since October 20th, 1997, though it began in earnest in early August....
That's been sufficient time to discuss anything, including covenant breakers.... A quick search of dejanews shows 91 hits on the subject. It's time for the vote to proceed....

>
>To be perfectly honest, I don't know. I'm not trying to lay down any form >of ultimatum regarding my vote. There is no clear-cut right or wrong, here.
>There is only our conscientious decision. We each have our own conscience >to satisfy, and it would be abundantly arrogant of me to even imply that my >own conscience is superior to that of others.

The Universal House of Justice has said:

"In general, the House of Justice has no objection to Baha'is'
participating in public, unmoderated discussions about the Faith, whether those discussions take place in person or through some form of electronic communication."

It is not the responsibility, therefore, of the proponents to answer this problem. The Auxiliary Counsellors for protection of the Bahai Faith have that responsibility, as does the UHJ. Write them for advice.... Too much time has gone by on this proposal.... I'm sure many people feel this way and wish the interest polling would just get going....

>
>I do see a responsibility that rests squarely on the shoulders of Baha'is >who have actively worked to bring this newsgroup into existence. The >proponents do not have to answer to me, but they do have to answer to a much >higher Authority. To that end, I think the proponents of this newsgroup >should think long and hard about what answer they might give to that >Authority if even one person ends up severing themselves from the Universal
>House of Justice because they ran into Covenant-breaker material in t.r.b >and didn't have sufficient knowledge of the issues that Covenant-breakers >raise.

Again, write the UHJ and Counsellors. If they're so concerned about the messages from covenant breakers, why haven't they ever answered them themselves? At this stage, this issue is only clouding the waters....

>
>
>Regards,
>Rick Schaut
>The opinions expressed in this message are my own personal views >and do not reflect the official views of the Microsoft Corporation.
>

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 15, 1998 8:44 AM
To: Ron House; Chris Manvell
Subject: Re: 4th RFD: talk.religion.bahai

Henrietta Thomas wrote in message <34bda2e1.10464201@news.wwa.com>...

>I _do_ want to bring up the disclaimer one last time. Ron >House has written an article suggesting different wording, >and nobody has responded as yet. I think you and Chris >Manvell should get together with Ron and make some >sort of compromise on this. Ron is one of the proponents, >so his point of view should carry some weight here. And >if you have to do a 5th RFD just to change the disclaimer, >so be it. I do not think his proposal should be ignored.

Ron and I have kept in touch with email all along, by and large, while he's been on vacation for the past month. We have discussed the disclaimer and his last note to me said he'd agree to leave it as is if it seemed best to do so. I'd rather not rehashed it. Richard Detweiler and Roger Reini, often in the past two people very much opposed to trb, have said they find it acceptable and I think most Bahais should. The disclaimer really doesn't say anything beyond the standard disclaimer in many books and magazines today and I don't see any reason to go to a 5th RFD just over it. Too much time has already been wasted on it.

Another perspective: With it, the loop hole is closed; there's no excuse for voting NO...

I'll forward this to Chris and Ron, as I usually do.

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 15, 1998 8:44 AM
Subject: Re: 4th RFD: talk.religion.bahai

Henrietta Thomas wrote in message <34bda2e1.10464201@news.wwa.com>...

>I _do_ want to bring up the disclaimer one last time. Ron >House has written an article suggesting different wording,
>and nobody has responded as yet. I think you and Chris >Manvell should get together with Ron and make some >sort of compromise on this. Ron is one of the proponents, >so his point of view should carry some weight here. And >if you have to do a 5th RFD just to change the disclaimer,
>so be it. I do not think his proposal should be ignored.

Ron and I have kept in touch with email all along, by and large, while he's been on vacation for the past month. We have discussed the disclaimer and his last note to me said he'd agree to leave it as is if it seemed best to do so. I'd rather not rehashed it. Richard Detweiler and Roger Reini, often in the past two people very much opposed to trb, have said they find it acceptable and I think most Bahais should. The disclaimer really doesn't say anything beyond the standard disclaimer in many books and magazines today and I don't see any reason to go to a 5th RFD just over it. Too much time has already been wasted on it.

Another perspective: With it, the loop hole is closed; there's no excuse for voting NO...

I'll forward this to Chris and Ron, as I usually do.

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 15, 1998 8:56 AM
Subject: Re: Working on Questionnaire for CFV

Thanks to everyone who responded on this thread.
I appreciate your confirming or adding to my understanding of the CFV procedure. I'll post the CFV and pointers only to those newsgroups already listed on the 4th and last RFD.

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 15, 1998 9:07 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

>
>Richard C. Detweiler wrote in message <69ggsh$2hj@nntp02.primenet.com>...

>>In article <69gfu2$5pb@news.microsoft.com>,
>>Rick Schaut <richs@microsoft.NOSPAMcom> wrote:

>>In any event, I guess I'd like to >>ask you if you are comfortable with a few people taking this on and >>working it through while the vote goes ahead? If you aren't comfortable >>and you'd like to see more discussion on this before the vote, I hope the >>proponents can accomodate this and give the discussion a few days.

Discussion of the proposal has been taken place officially since October 20th, 1997, though it began in earnest in early August....
That's been sufficient time to discuss anything, including covenant breakers.... A quick search of dejanews shows 91 hits on the subject. It's time for the vote to proceed.... There should be many more.

>To be perfectly honest, I don't know. I'm not trying to lay down any form >of ultimatum regarding my vote. There is no clear-cut right or wrong,here.
>There is only our conscientious decision. We each have our own conscience >to satisfy, and it would be abundantly arrogant of me to even imply that my >own conscience is superior to that of others.

The Universal House of Justice has said:

"In general, the House of Justice has no objection to Baha'is'
participating in public, unmoderated discussions about the Faith, whether those discussions take place in person or
through some form of electronic communication."

It is not the responsibility, therefore, of the proponents to answer this problem. The Auxiliary Counsellors for protection of the Bahai Faith have that responsibility, as does the UHJ. Write them for advice.... Too much time has gone by on this proposal.... I'm sure many people feel this way and wish the interest polling would just get going....

>I do see a responsibility that rests squarely on the shoulders of Baha'is >who have actively worked to bring this newsgroup into existence. The >proponents do not have to answer to me, but they do have to answer to a >much >higher Authority. To that end, I think the proponents of this newsgroup >should think long and hard about what answer they might give to that >Authority if even one person ends up severing themselves from the Universal
>House of Justice because they ran into Covenant-breaker material in t.r.b >and didn't have sufficient knowledge of the issues that Covenant-breakers >raise.

Again, write the UHJ and Counsellors. If they're so concerned about the messages from covenant breakers, why haven't they ever answered them themselves? At this stage, this issue is only clouding the waters....

>
>Regards,
>Rick Schaut
>The opinions expressed in this message are my own personal views >and do not reflect the official views of the Microsoft Corporation.

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 15, 1998 9:14 AM
To: Chris Manvell
Subject: "I will try to get the latest RFD on my site this weekend": Thanks.

The 4th RFD on your web site would help.... Appreciate it.

The Questionnaire for the CFV goes in this weekend. I hope the poll starts quickly thereafter.

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,

From: Neil Crellin[SMTP:neilc@wallaby.stanford.edu]
Sent: Thursday, January 15, 1998 12:18 PM
To: FG
Subject: Re: Working on Questionnaire for CFV

"FG" <FG@hotmail.com> writes:
> Thanks to everyone who responded on this thread.
> I appreciate your confirming or adding to my > understanding of the CFV procedure. I'll post the

> CFV and pointers only to those newsgroups already > listed on the 4th and last RFD.

No, you won't. You'll submit the questionnaire to the UVV as directed by the Guidelines, the UVV will assign a votetaker, and the votetaker will post the CFV based on the responses to the PQ you've submitted.

If you do it your way, it won't work anyway.

-Neil Crellin
Usenet Volunteer Votetakers

From: Bill Aten[SMTP:bill@netagw.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 15, 1998 2:28 PM
To: FG
Subject: UVV CFV Proponent Questionnaire (PQ)

This is an automated reply to your request for a copy of the CFV Proponent Questionnaire (PQ).

Attached to this message are a copy of your original message and a copy of the PQ template.

Please follow the questionnaire instructions closely to ensure that you properly complete the form, and then e-mail the completed form only to:

<contact@uvv.org>

If you have any questions regarding the CFV procedures, please address them to the UVV at <contact@uvv.org>.

-- Bill Aten <bill@netagw.com>
Member, UseNet Volunteer Votetakers

UseNet Volunteer Votetakers WWW page:
<URL:https://www.uvv.org/>

--Copy of Your Mail-----
>From warren@smtp.Syra.NET Thu Jan 15 12:12:07 1998 >Received: by netagw.com with UUCP > id MAA18481; for bill
> Thu, 15 Jan 1998 12:12:06 -0500 (EST)
>Return-Path: warren@smtp.Syra.NET
>Received: from smtp.Syra.NET by relay6.UU.NET with ESMTP > (peer crosschecked as: shell.syra.net [204.75.204.3]) > id QQdyla10695; Thu, 15 Jan 1998 08:35:26 -0500 (EST)
>Received: from hotmail.com (hm1.hotmail.com [207.82.250.80])
> by smtp.Syra.NET (8.8.8/8.8.5) with SMTP id IAA08106 > for <contact@uvv.org>; Thu, 15 Jan 1998 08:34:50 -0500 (EST) >Received: (qmail 7040 invoked from network); 15 Jan 1998 13:33:58 -0000 >Received: from modem23.rh.metronet.lib.mi.us (HELO glaysher.Library) (199.179.42.123) > by hm1.hotmail.com with SMTP; 15 Jan 1998 13:33:58 -0000
>From: "FG" <FG@hotmail.com>
>To: <contact@uvv.org>
>Subject: Ascii CFV Questionnaire
>Date: Thu, 15 Jan 1998 08:34:08 -0500
>Message-ID: <01bd21ba$41ce1360$7b2ab3c7@glaysher.Library>
>MIME-Version: 1.0
>Content-Type: text/plain;
> charset="iso-8859-1"
>Content-Transfer-Encoding: 7bit
>X-Priority: 3
>X-MSMail-Priority: Normal
>X-Mailer: Microsoft Outlook Express 4.71.1712.3
>X-MimeOLE: Produced By Microsoft MimeOLE V4.71.1712.3
>
>Could someone there find a moment to email me an ascii >CFV Questionnaire? I'm under the impression the html >form on your web page shouldn't be used for format reasons.
>
>Thanks.
>
>FG
>UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
>The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
>news.announce.newgroups, or at <https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>

--Copy of the CFV Questionnaire-----

UVV Pre-CFV Proponent Questionnaire (PQ) for Newsgroup Proposals

Note: This document is for proponents of newsgroups which have completed the required initial 21-day discussion period and are ready for a vote. If you are looking for information about a new proposal, you need to start with a Request for Discussion (RFD).
The Usenet group mentor program can help with this process; see <URL:https://www.uvv.org/uvv/group-mentors.html>.

A CFV for a proposal cannot be advanced until at least 21 days from the date of the first RFD, or 10 days from any subsequent RFD, whichever is later. If more than 60 days have passed since the most recent RFD on the proposal, then another RFD is required before it can go to vote. The UVV must have time to process your questionnaire and submit the CFV before the 60 day limit, so plan to give us at least 10 days to prepare and submit the CFV. Do not wait until the last minute to provide your answers.

Please -- DO NOT return the completed questionnaire any sooner than 5 to 7 days prior to the end of the mandatory RFD discussion period. The answers you provide must reflect the discussion generated by your RFD(s). If you send it in too soon, we will simply return it to you and ask you to resubmit it at a later date when the RFD discussions are more or less complete.

Last updated: January 10, 1998

The UseNet Volunteer Votetakers (UVV) coordinate all the details of the newsgroup VOTING process, including two postings of the CFV and a final RESULT. Your vote will be given to a neutral member of an experienced cadre of votetakers. In order for this to work, we need the information requested in this questionnaire.

All groups must have appeared in an official RFD under the same group names that you are requesting in the CFV. If you are still in the RFD process, please wait before filling out this form so that changes based upon the discussion can be incorporated. Proponents are expected to react to issues raised during the RFD process and incorporate changes based upon this process; if there are substantial changes from the last RFD, then you need to submit another RFD, not this questionnaire. Review Question #1 (in the "before you start" section below) to ensure that you're in compliance with this requirement.

A few days prior to the end of the mandatory RFD discussion period is ideal timing for submitting this form since it takes at least a few days to assign the vote to a volunteer, and then several more days for the votetaker to prepare and submit the CFV. If you don't send us this information, it will be assumed that you decided not to go through with the vote (it often happens).

We will take the answers you provide in this questionnaire and add the voting instructions, dates, etc. to create the actual CFV. Preparation and submission of the CFV is our responsibility not yours. All we need from you is an accurate and properly completed questionnaire.

Please fill in the requested information and return JUST YOUR ANSWERS in plain text (ie. no BINHEX, BASE64, HTML, MIME, PGP, miscellaneous attachments, etc.), 80 columns wide maximum, to <contact@uvv.org>.

Format Instructions
=====

WARNING -- Your completed PQ will be processed into a CFV usable format via automated scripts. If you don't adhere to the specified formatting instructions, your PQ will be rejected with instructions to reformat it and resubmit it. This will result in extra work for you and a further delay in the submission of your CFV.

Please provide your response to each of the following questions in the appropriate area immediately following the question. The area designated for your response is delimited by two hash-lines (one marked _BEGIN_ and one marked _END_) and contains a "key" word that indicates the contents the response section. Do not edit or remove either of the hash-lines or the "key" word, and make sure that one (and only one) blank line follows the "key" word and one (and only one) blank line precedes the ending hash-line.

If a section is not applicable to your proposal (eg. MODERATOR INFO: for an unmoderated proposal), leave the section in your reply but remove all information between the two hash-lines leaving only the "key" word with one blank line between the "key" word and the ending hash-line. DO NOT leave any bracketed comments ([]) in the section.

The specific location for your response is identified by a bracketed comment. Begin your response in the column that contains the opening bracket ([), but delete the bracket and its contents from your response. If you are using your mailer to "reply" to this PQ, make sure that you do not include any "reply prefixes" (eg. "> ") in the area between the two lines of hash marks.

DO NOT allow any portion of your response to extend beyond column 78, start a new line instead. One Exception: The "Newsgroup descriptions" section has a different formatting requirement which is explained in that paragraph.

The following is an example response:

Assuming that you are using your mailer to reply to this PQ, the example response format template might look like the following:

```
>
> #####_BEGIN_####
> EXAMPLE: [news.group.name_goes_here]
>
> [enter_your_response_here]
>
> #####_END_####
>
```

Properly completed, your response should look like the following:

```
#####_BEGIN_####
EXAMPLE: misc.proposed.group
```

This group is needed to blah, blah, blah, etc.

```
#####_END_####
```

Note how the mailer reply prefixes ("> ") have been deleted, and the responses began in the same column as the beginning bracket ([) of the enclosed comment. Also note that there is exactly one (1) blank line after the "EXAMPLE:" "key" word, and exactly one (1) blank line before ending hash-line.

Pre-CFV Questions

=====

1. Summary of the RFD Discussion.

Please confirm that you participated in the required RFD discussion. In order to show compliance with the discussion phase of the newsgroup creation process, please give a brief description of the input that was given to you in response to the RFD, and what changes were made as a result of them. You do not have to implement every suggestion, but you must have answered them. Also indicate what your answers were if any serious suggestions were not implemented.

For simple non-controversial proposals, it is acceptable to say, "All input was positive.", but only if that's true.

NOTE: If, based on the input you've received, it appears that changes to the name(s) (including typos), charter(s), or moderator information of any of the proposed newsgroup(s) are necessary, you must make those changes and issue another RFD and allow discussion of the new RFD before submitting this form.

```
#####_BEGIN_#### SUMMARY:
```

```
[enter_your_response_here]
```

```
#####_END_####
```

2. Proposed newsgroup names.

List the proposed newsgroup name(s) in alphabetical order, indicate whether each group is unmoderated or moderated, and add any applicable comments. DO NOT put the words "moderated" or "unmoderated" in parentheses.

Repeat this once per proposed newsgroup. For example:

```
comp.foo.bar.announce    moderated
comp.foo.bar.misc        unmoderated (renames comp.foo.bar)
comp.foo.bar.test        unmoderated
```

```
#####_BEGIN_####
PROPOSED NAMES:
```

```
[enter_your_response_here]
```

```
#####_END_####
```

3. Newsgroup descriptions.

Please provide a one-line description of each newsgroup, listed in alphabetical order. Avoid phrases like "Discussion of..." since we already know that. This is normally the same description contained in the latest RFD.

Enter the group name, then a tab (you must tab past column 24). You now have until the end of an 80-character line to enter a description for the system newsgroups files (which you must end with a period). If applicable, there is only ONE space between the period (.) and "(Moderated)". The "(Moderated)" phrase does not count in the 80 character limit.

Repeat this once per proposed newsgroup. For example:

```
comp.foo.bar.announce   Announcements about the foo bar system. (Moderated)
comp.foo.bar.misc       The foo bar system in general.
comp.foo.bar.test       Testing the foo bar system.
( you MUST tab to here ^ [minimum] using a tabstop of 8 )
```

```
#####_BEGIN_####
NEWSGROUP DESCRIPTIONS:
```

```
[enter_your_response_here]
```

```
#####_END_####
```

4. Proponent/Mentor name and address.

List the proponent's name and email address for this vote (usually you). If there is more than one proponent, list them on separate lines in the same format with the "primary" proponent listed first. If you are working with a Group Mentor, please include that person's name and email address also. If you do not have a Mentor, please delete that entire line in your response. Please use the form "name <account@host.domain>". For example:

```
Proponent: John Foo <foo@bar.com>
Proponent: Dave Smith <smith@bar.com>
Mentor: Jane Doe <jdoe@bar.com>
```

```
#####_BEGIN_#### PROPONENT:
```

```
Proponent: [enter_your_response_here]
Mentor: [enter_your_response_here__DELETE_this_entire_line_if_no_mentor]
```

```
#####_END_####
```

5. Newsgroup rationale.

A rationale is a short paragraph or two explaining why you think this group creation/reorganization/whatever should pass. This paragraph will be used for the "Rationale" section of the CFV. This is not optional and is quite important in convincing potential voters to cast a positive vote. Multi-group proposals must have a rationale section for each group. This information is usually taken directly from the most recent RFD.

Please provide a rationale for each newsgroup. Duplicate this section (ie. everything starting with the beginning hash-line, up to and including the ending hash-line) as necessary for multi-newsgroup proposals. DO NOT add an "END RATIONALE." comment at the end of your rationale.

```
#####_BEGIN_####
RATIONALE: [news.group.name_goes_here]
```

```
[enter_your_response_here]
```

```
#####_END_####
```

6. Newsgroup charter.

What is/are the charter(s) for the newsgroup(s)? This includes the name of the newsgroup(s), what is acceptable and unacceptable on the newsgroup(s), and what exactly is going on if this is a reorganization. For moderated newsgroup(s), any moderation policy must be included in this section. All of this information can usually be taken directly from the most recent RFD. If the information has changed substantially since the last RFD, then a new RFD should be prepared instead of proceeding with a CFV. A new RFD is mandatory if any changes to a newsgroup name are made (no matter how minor).

Please provide a charter for each newsgroup. Duplicate this section (ie. everything starting with the beginning hash-line, up to and including the ending hash-line) as necessary for multi-newsgroup proposals. DO NOT add an "END CHARTER." comment at the end of your charter.

#####_BEGIN_####
CHARTER: [news.group.name_goes_here]

[enter_your_response_here]

#####_END_####

7. Moderator information.

If any of the groups are moderated, give the names of their moderators, their mail addresses, and the addresses they will be using to moderate the group. If there is more than one moderator, then EACH moderator's name and address info line must begin with the "Moderator:" header.

NOTE 1: You MUST use quotes (") if there is a period (.) in the moderator's listed name and you elect to use the 1st address format listed in the example below.

NOTE 2: DO NOT enclose the contact or submission addresses in brackets (<>).

NOTE 3: Failure to provide at least one moderator and both "contact" and "submission" addresses will cause your PQ submission to be rejected.

For example:

Moderator: "R. Frobs" <rfrobs@host.domain> <-- quotes required
Moderator: jdoe@host.domain (J. Doe) <-- do not use quotes
Administrative contact address: chess-request@host.domain
Article submission address: chess@host.domain

Please provide the moderator info for every moderated newsgroup. Duplicate this section (ie. everything starting with the beginning hash-line, up to and including the ending hash-line) as necessary for multi-newsgroup proposals. DO NOT add an "END MODERATOR INFO." comment at the end of your moderator info.

NOTE: Do NOT include any moderation policy in this section. Moderation policy information must be provided in the Charter section above.

#####_BEGIN_####
MODERATOR INFO: [news.group.name_goes_here]

Moderator: [enter_your_response_here__ADD_additional_entries_if_required]
Administrative contact address: [enter_your_response_here]
Article submission address: [enter_your_response_here]

#####_END_####

8. Newsgroups gatewayed to mailing lists.

If any groups are going to be gatewayed with a mailing list, give the name and address of the mailing list.

Duplicate this section (ie. everything starting with the beginning hash-line, up to and including the ending hash-line) as necessary for multi-newsgroup proposals.

#####_BEGIN_####
GATEWAYS: [news.group.name_goes_here]

Gateway mailing list name: [enter_your_response_here]
Submission address: [enter_your_response_here]
Request address: [enter_your_response_here_(this_entry_line_is_optional)]

#####_END_####

9. CFV newsgroup distribution.

These are usually the same newsgroups where you posted the RFD because you don't want the vote to come as a surprise to any unsuspecting newsgroups. There needs to be a good reason to add newsgroups to the CFV distribution.

NOTE: The CFV will normally only be posted to the Big 8 (comp, humanities, misc, news, rec, sci, soc, talk) and ALT newsgroups. Other requested newsgroup hierarchies may be deleted by the news.announce.newsgroup moderator before the CFV is actually posted.

IMPORTANT! CFVs are always crossposted to news.announce.newsgroups and news.groups. If these, plus the Newsgroups: header name, your other newsgroups, and the commas (",") that separate each newsgroup name, total more than 200 characters, there are several Usenet sites which will not be able to handle the CFV and will discard it. Even though 200 characters are available, shorter newsgroup lists and less crossposting are generally a good idea.

We will NOT accept a Newsgroups: header that exceeds 200 characters because the "news.announce.newsgroups" moderator's posting scripts will simply reject it. When you are doing your math to determine the length of the Newsgroups: header line, don't forget that the header name and the commas that separate the newsgroup names, must be counted as part of the allowed 200 characters.

Since "Newsgroups: news.announce.newgroups,news.groups," is 48 characters in length, that leaves you with 152 characters for your desired newsgroup names and the required separating commas.

When you enter your newsgroups below, please enter the newsgroups in alphabetical order, only put one newsgroup on each line, and use as many lines as necessary (without exceeding the max character count). When you count the characters in your entry, don't include any spaces after the commas. When we reformat your submission, the newsgroup names will be joined into one long header line with no spaces after the commas.

#####_BEGIN_####
NEWSGROUPS:

Newsgroups: news.announce.newgroups,news.groups,
[enter_your_1st_newsgroup_here],
[enter_your_next_newsgroup_here],
[enter_your_next_newsgroup_here],
[enter_your_last_newsgroup_here]

#####_END_####

10. New crosspostings.

There needs to be a good reason for adding newsgroups to the CFV distribution.

Which, if any, newsgroups listed in the previous response were not crossposted to in the RFD(s) (if none, say "none")?.

Please provide a good reason for adding each newsgroup that you list.

Duplicate this section (ie. everything starting with the beginning hash-line, up to and including the ending hash-line) as necessary for multiple entries.

#####_BEGIN_####
NEW CROSSPOSTS:

New Newsgroup: [enter_your_response_here]
Reason: [enter_your_response_here]

#####_END_####

11. Moderated crossposted newsgroups.

In addition to "news.announce.newgroups", which (if any) of the newsgroups in your requested distribution listing are moderated (if none, say "none")?. If more than one newsgroup is moderated, list each one on a separate line.

#####_BEGIN_####
MODERATED NEWSGROUPS:

[enter_your_response_here]

#####_END_####

12. Pointer messages to newsgroups.

If you plan to post "pointers" to the CFV in additional newsgroups, list the intended newsgroups here (if none, say "none"). If you plan to post "pointers" to more than one newsgroup, list each one on a separate line.

#####_BEGIN_####
POINTER MESSAGES:

[enter_your_response_here]

#####_END_####

13. CFV submission to mailing lists.

Do you want us to send the CFV to any mailing lists? Although allowed, the use of mailing lists is strongly discouraged due to the numerous voting problems that continually arise during the CFVs that use them. If you feel that mailing lists are essential, please keep the number of lists requested to an absolute minimum. More lists mean more potential problems, and it becomes more difficult to find a volunteer votetaker to run your proposal.

These mailing lists have to be named up front, so please give their names and submission addresses so that this information can be included in the CFV. You may wish to include the request address as well as the posting address, so anyone who is interested and wants to join won't send messages to the mailing list itself.

IMPORTANT! For each mailing list you name, we need to know whether or not the list honors Reply-To: headers in messages sent to it, and whether or not non-members can directly post messages to the list. CFVs can only be posted to mailing lists that allow the votetaker to directly post messages, so if the list is closed to non-members, the actual CFV will not be posted to that list (unless the votetaker happens to also be a member of the closed list). For closed lists, your only option is for you to post a "pointer" message to the list to advise the members that a CFV is in progress and to tell them where they can find a copy of the actual CFV. The intent to use "pointer" messages in mailing lists does not need to be listed in the CFV.

Please provide the following information and answer the questions for each mailing list you name. The CFV will not be sent to any mailing lists missing this information, or to closed mailing lists (unless the votetaker happens to be a member).

Duplicate this section (ie. everything starting with the beginning hash-line, up to and including the ending hash-line) as necessary if you're requesting more than one mailing list submission.

#####_BEGIN_####
MAILING LISTS:

Mailing list name: [enter_your_response_here]
Submission address: [enter_your_response_here]
Request address (optional): [enter_your_response_here]
List honors Reply-To: headers (yes/no)? : [enter_yes_or_no_response_here]
List allows non-members to post messages (yes/no)? : [enter_yes_or_no_here]

#####_END_####

Do not modify or delete this final entry.

#####_BEGIN_####

PQ Date Stamp: 980110

#####_END_####

Thanks,
UVV Coordinators
<contact@uvv.org>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 16, 1998 7:11 AM
To: Neil Crellin
Subject: Re: Working on Questionnaire for CFV

I'm aware that the vote taker posts the CFV and the proponent only the pointers. Sorry to mistype and imply otherwise.

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----Original Message-----

From: Neil Crellin <neilc@wallaby.stanford.edu>
Newsgroups: news.groups
To: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Thursday, January 15, 1998 11:18 AM
Subject: Re: Working on Questionnaire for CFV

>"FG" <FG@hotmail.com> writes:
>> Thanks to everyone who responded on this thread.
>> I appreciate your confirming or adding to my >> understanding of the CFV procedure. I'll post the >> CFV and pointers only to those newsgroups already >> listed on the 4th and last RFD.
>
>No, you won't. You'll submit the questionnaire to the UVV as directed >by the Guidelines, the UVV will assign a votetaker, and the votetaker >will post the CFV based on the responses to the PQ you've submitted.
>
>If you do it your way, it won't work anyway.
>
>-Neil Crellin
>Usenet Volunteer Votetakers
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 16, 1998 7:19 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai disclaimer

D E Siegel wrote in message
<19980115121300.HAA02410@ladder02.news.aol.com>...
>>
>>"It should be remembered that NO Usenet newsgroup can >>legitimately be considered an official organ of any >>private religious or other body
>
>I believe that this is incorrect, and that some (moderated) groups do in fact >serve as official or near official organs for particular private groups.
>Comp.org.acm is one such group. I admit that I am not aware of any examples in >soc.religion.*

I believe soc.religion.bahai is considered an "official or near official" organ of the Bahai Faith by many Bahais. There are many reasons why this is that have been discussed in the past.

>
>
>
> -David E. Siegel
> Siegel@ACM.ORG

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 16, 1998 7:22 AM
Subject: Re: Working on Questionnaire for CFV

I'm aware that the votetaker posts the CFV
and the proponent only the pointers. Sorry to mistype and imply otherwise.

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

Neil Crellin wrote in message ...
>"FG" <FG@hotmail.com> writes:
>> Thanks to everyone who responded on this thread.
>> I appreciate your confirming or adding to my >> understanding of the CFV procedure. I'll post the >> CFV and pointers only to those newsgroups already >> listed on the 4th and last RFD.
>
>No, you won't. You'll submit the questionnaire to the UVV as directed >by the Guidelines, the UVV will assign a votetaker, and the votetaker >will post the CFV based on the responses to the PQ you've submitted.
>
>If you do it your way, it won't work anyway.
>
>-Neil Crellin
>Usenet Volunteer Votetakers

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 16, 1998 9:23 AM
To: UVV
Subject: Votetaker: talk.religion.bahai

I should soon be sending in the Questionnaire for talk.religion.bahai.

May I request that the previous votetaker, Jim Davis, be assigned, if he's willing to serve again? He has had the experience of handling the first interest poll for talk.religion.bahai.

While I now entirely trust the UVV's choice in this matter, last time, I was initially worried about the impartiality of Mr. Davis merely because of my experience with Bahais opposed to the newsgroup and for no reasons whatsoever pertaining to him or the UVV.

I came to realize those fears were improper and unnecessary and take this opportunity to apologize again to him and the UVV.

Thank you for all your efforts on behalf of Usenet.

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 16, 1998 10:52 AM
To: UVV
Subject: UVV CFV Proponent Questionnaire (PQ): talk.religion.bahai

>UVV Pre-CFV Proponent Questionnaire (PQ) for Newsgroup Proposals
>**

>
>Note: This document is for proponents of newsgroups which have >completed the required initial 21-day discussion period and are >ready for a vote. If you are looking for information about a new >proposal, you need to start with a Request for Discussion (RFD).
>The Usenet group mentor program can help with this process; see ><URL:https://www.uvv.org/uvv/group-mentors.html>.

>
>**
>A CFV for a proposal cannot be advanced until at least 21 days >from the date of the first RFD, or 10 days from any subsequent >RFD, whichever is later. If more than 60 days have passed since >the most recent RFD on the proposal, then another RFD is required >before it can go to vote. The UVV must have time to process your >questionnaire and submit the CFV before the 60 day limit, so plan >to give us at least 10 days to prepare and submit the CFV. Do not >wait until the last minute to provide your answers.

>
>Please -- DO NOT return the completed questionnaire any sooner >than 5 to 7 days prior to the end of the mandatory RFD discussion >period. The answers you provide must reflect the discussion >generated by your RFD(s). If you send it in too soon, we will >simply return it to you and ask you to resubmit it at a later >date when the RFD discussions are more or less complete.

>**
>
>Last updated: January 10, 1998

>
>
>The UseNet Volunteer Votetakers (UVV) coordinate all the details >of the newsgroup VOTING process, including two postings of the >CFV and a final RESULT. Your vote will be given to a neutral >member of an experienced cadre of votetakers. In order for this >to work, we need the information requested in this questionnaire.

>
>All groups must have appeared in an official RFD under the same >group names that you are requesting in the CFV. If you are still >in the RFD process, please wait before filling out this form so >that changes based upon the discussion can be incorporated.
>Proponents are expected to react to issues raised during the RFD >process and incorporate changes based upon this process; if there >are substantial changes from the last RFD, then you need to >submit another RFD, not this questionnaire. Review Question #1 >(in the "before you start" section below) to ensure that you're >in compliance with this requirement.

>
>A few days prior to the end of the mandatory RFD discussion period >is ideal timing for submitting this form since it takes at least a >few days to assign the vote to a volunteer, and then several more >days for the votetaker to prepare and submit the CFV. If you don't >send us this information, it will be assumed that you decided not >to go through with the vote (it often happens).

>
>We will take the answers you provide in this questionnaire and >add the voting instructions, dates, etc. to create the actual >CFV. Preparation and submission of the CFV is our responsibility >not yours. All we need from you is an accurate and properly >completed questionnaire.

>
>Please fill in the requested information and return JUST YOUR >ANSWERS in plain text (ie. no BINHEX, BASE64, HTML, MIME, PGP, >miscellaneous attachments, etc.), 80 columns wide maximum, to ><contact@uvv.org>.

>
>
>Format Instructions
>=====

>
>**
>WARNING -- Your completed PQ will be processed into a CFV usable >format via automated scripts. If you don't adhere to the >specified formatting instructions, your PQ will be rejected with >instructions to reformat it and resubmit it. This will result in >extra work for you and a further delay in the submission of your >CFV.

```

>**
>
>Please provide your response to each of the following questions >in the appropriate area immediately following the question. The >area designated for your response is delimited by two hash-lines >(one marked _BEGIN_ and one marked _END_) and contains a "key" >word that indicates the contents the response section. Do not >edit or remove either of the hash-lines or the "key" word, and >make sure that one (and only one) blank line follows the "key" >word and one (and only one) blank line precedes the ending >hash-line.
>
>If a section is not applicable to your proposal (eg. MODERATOR >INFO: for an unmoderated proposal), leave the section in your >reply but remove all information between the two hash-lines >leaving only the "key" word with one blank line between the >"key" word and the ending hash-line. DO NOT leave any bracketed >comments ([]) in the section.
>
>The specific location for your response is identified by a >bracketed comment. Begin your response in the column that >contains the opening bracket ([), but delete the bracket and its >contents from your response. If you are using your mailer to >"reply" to this PQ, make sure that you do not include any "reply >prefixes" (eg. "> ") in the area between the two lines of hash >marks.
>
>DO NOT allow any portion of your response to extend beyond column >78, start a new line instead. One Exception: The "Newsgroup >descriptions" section has a different formatting requirement >which is explained in that paragraph.
>
>The following is an example response:
>
>Assuming that you are using your mailer to reply to this PQ, the >example response format template might look like the following:
>>
>> #####_BEGIN_####
>> EXAMPLE: [news.group.name_goes_here]
>>
>> [enter_your_response_here]
>>
>> #####_END_####
>>
>
>Properly completed, your response should look like the following:
>#####_BEGIN_####
>EXAMPLE: misc.proposed.group
>
>This group is needed to blah, blah, blah, etc.
>
>#####_END_####
>
>Note how the mailer reply prefixes ("> ") have been deleted, and >the responses began in the same column as the beginning bracket >([) of the enclosed comment. Also note that there is exactly one
>(1) blank line after the "EXAMPLE:" "key" word, and exactly one
>(1) blank line before ending hash-line.
>
>-----
>-----
>
>Pre-CFV Questions
>=====
>
>
>1. Summary of the RFD Discussion.
>
>Please confirm that you participated in the required RFD >discussion. In order to show compliance with the discussion >phase of the newsgroup creation process, please give a brief >description of the input that was given to you in response to >the RFD, and what changes were made as a result of them. You >do not have to implement every suggestion, but you must have >answered them. Also indicate what your answers were if any >serious suggestions were not implemented.
>
>For simple non-controversial proposals, it is acceptable to >say, "All input was positive.", but only if that's true.
>
>NOTE: If, based on the input you've received, it appears that >changes to the name(s) (including typos), charter(s), or >moderator information of any of the proposed newsgroup(s) are >necessary, you must make those changes and issue another RFD and >allow discussion of the new RFD before submitting this form.
>
>#####_BEGIN_####
SUMMARY: talk.religion.bahai

```

It's extremely difficult to summarize the discussion for talk.religion.bahai. The first RFD was posted on October 20, 1997, with three subsequent RFDs. I did participate in the discussion which ranged over a large number of issues. Several issues perhaps have dominated the discussion: covenant breaking (a kind of Bahai heresy), a statement regarding standards of Bahai conduct, censorship, and a "disclaimer" that talk.religion.bahai would not be an official organ of any religion. The response was often made that an unmoderated newsgroup cannot properly prevent people declared by Bahai institutions as covenant breakers from posting to trb. The responsibility for responding to these people lies with the Bahai institutions themselves, not the proponents. "Standards of Bahai conduct" were roughly equated with netiquette, including proper observance of Usenet voting procedure. The censorship that many Bahais and non-Bahais have felt exists on soc.religion.bahai was the impetus behind the first interest poll on talk.religion.bahai as well as this one. Many people stated censorship there continues to be a problem and trb is needed very much as an alternative newsgroup. Many incidents during the discussion period corroborated this perception further for various participants. The "disclaimer" was immediately seen as an attempt by some Bahais to discredit and undermine talk.religion.bahai in its very Charter by undermining its credibility from the beginning and establishing soc.religion.bahai as the de facto "official" and orthodox newsgroup. A general enough statement was eventually found to satisfy most people.

```
>
>#####_END_####
>
>
>2. Proposed newsgroup names.
>
>List the proposed newsgroup name(s) in alphabetical order, >indicate whether each group is unmoderated or moderated, and >add any applicable comments. DO NOT put the words "moderated" >or "unmoderated" in parentheses.
>
>Repeat this once per proposed newsgroup. For example:
>
>comp.foo.bar.announce moderated
>comp.foo.bar.misc unmoderated (renames comp.foo.bar)
>comp.foo.bar.test unmoderated
>
>#####_BEGIN_#### PROPOSED NAMES:

talk.religion.bahai

>#####_END_####
>
>
>3. Newsgroup descriptions.
>
>Please provide a one-line description of each newsgroup, listed >in alphabetical order. Avoid phrases like "Discussion of..."
>since we already know that. This is normally the same description >contained in the latest RFD.
>
>Enter the group name, then a tab (you must tab past column 24).
>You now have until the end of an 80-character line to enter a >description for the system newsgroups files (which you must end >with a period). If applicable, there is only ONE space between >the period (.) and "(Moderated)". The "(Moderated)" phrase does >not count in the 80 character limit.
>
>Repeat this once per proposed newsgroup. For example:
>
>comp.foo.bar.announce Announcements about the foo bar system. (Moderated)
>comp.foo.bar.misc The foo bar system in general.
>comp.foo.bar.test Testing the foo bar system.
> ( you MUST tab to here ^ [minimum] using a tabstop of 8 )
>
>#####_BEGIN_#### NEWSGROUP DESCRIPTIONS:

talk.religion.bahai      Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

>#####_END_####
>
>
>4. Proponent/Mentor name and address.
>
>List the proponent's name and email address for this vote >(usually you). If there is more than one proponent, list them on >separate lines in the same format with the "primary" proponent >listed first. If you are working with a Group Mentor, please >include that person's name and email address also. If you do not >have a Mentor, please delete that entire line in your response.
```

>Please use the form "name <account@host.domain>". For example:
>
>Proponent: John Foo <foo@bar.com>
>Proponent: Dave Smith <smith@bar.com>
>Mentor: Jane Doe <jdoe@bar.com>
>
>#####_BEGIN_####

Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Proponent: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk >
Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au.uk>
Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>

>#####_END_####
>
>
>5. Newsgroup rationale.
>
>A rationale is a short paragraph or two explaining why you think >this group creation/reorganization/whatever should pass. This >paragraph will be used for the "Rationale" section of the CFV.
>This is not optional and is quite important in convincing >potential voters to cast a positive vote. Multi-group proposals >must have a rationale section for each group. This information >is usually taken directly from the most recent RFD.
>
>Please provide a rationale for each newsgroup. Duplicate this >section (ie. everything starting with the beginning hash-line, up >to and including the ending hash-line) as necessary for >multi-newsgroup proposals. DO NOT add an "END RATIONALE." >comment at the end of your rationale.
>
>#####_BEGIN_####
RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

From January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, until March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

From April 1, 1997, to September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months.

Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

>#####_END_####
>
>
>6. Newsgroup charter.
>
>What is/are the charter(s) for the newsgroup(s)? This includes >the name of the newsgroup(s), what is acceptable and unacceptable >on the newsgroup(s), and what exactly is going on if this is a >reorganization. For moderated newsgroup(s), any moderation policy >must be included in this section. All of this information can >usually be taken directly from the most recent RFD. If the >information has changed substantially since the last RFD, then a >new RFD should be prepared instead of proceeding with a CFV. A new

```
>RFD is mandatory if any changes to a newsgroup name are made (no >matter how minor).
>
>Please provide a charter for each newsgroup. Duplicate this >section (ie. everything starting with the beginning hash-line, up >to and including the ending hash-line) as necessary for >multi-newsgroup proposals. DO NOT add an "END CHARTER." comment >at the end of your charter.
>
>#####_BEGIN_####

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for
discussion.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers
are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular
religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai
newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

>#####_END_####
>
>
>7. Moderator information.
>
>If any of the groups are moderated, give the names of their >moderators, their mail addresses, and the addresses they will be >using to moderate the group. If there is more than one >moderator, then EACH moderator's name and address info line must >begin with the "Moderator:" header.
>
>NOTE 1: You MUST use quotes (") if there is a period (.) in the >moderator's listed name and you elect to use the 1st >address format listed in the example below.
>NOTE 2: DO NOT enclose the contact or submission addresses in >brackets (<>).
>NOTE 3: Failure to provide at least one moderator and both
>"contact" and "submission" addresses will cause your PQ
>submission to be rejected.
>
>For example:
>
>Moderator: "R. Frobs" <rfrobs@host.domain> <-- quotes required
>Moderator: jdoe@host.domain (J. Doe) <-- do not use quotes
>Administrative contact address: chess-request@host.domain
>Article submission address: chess@host.domain
>
>Please provide the moderator info for every moderated newsgroup.
>Duplicate this section (ie. everything starting with the >beginning hash-line, up to and including the ending hash-line) as >necessary for multi-newsgroup proposals. DO NOT add an "END >MODERATOR INFO." comment at the end of your moderator info.
>
>NOTE: Do NOT include any moderation policy in this section. Moderation >policy information must be provided in the Charter section above.
>
>#####_BEGIN_####
>MODERATOR INFO: [news.group.name_goes_here]
>
>Moderator: [enter_your_response_here__ADD_additional_entries_if_required]
>Administrative contact address: [enter_your_response_here]
>Article submission address: [enter_your_response_here]
>
>#####_END_####
>
>
>8. Newsgroups gatewayed to mailing lists.
>
>If any groups are going to be gatewayed with a mailing list, give >the name and address of the mailing list.
```

```

>
>Duplicate this section (ie. everything starting with the >beginning hash-line, up to and including the ending hash-line) as >necessary for multi-newsgroup proposals.
>
>#####_BEGIN_####
>GATEWAYS: [news.group.name_goes_here]
>
>Gateway mailing list name: [enter_your_response_here]
>Submission address: [enter_your_response_here]
>Request address: [enter_your_response_here_(this_entry_line_is_optional)]
>
>#####_END_####
>
>
>9. CFV newsgroup distribution.
>
>These are usually the same newsgroups where you posted the RFD >because you don't want the vote to come as a surprise to any >unsuspecting newsgroups. There needs to be a good reason to add >newsgroups to the CFV distribution.
>
>NOTE: The CFV will normally only be posted to the Big 8 (comp, >      humanities, misc, news, rec, sci, soc, talk) and ALT >      newsgroups. Other requested newsgroup hierarchies may be >      deleted by the news.announce.newsgroup moderator before >      the CFV is actually posted.
>
>IMPORTANT! CFVs are always crossposted to news.announce.newsgroups >and news.groups. If these, plus the Newsgroups: header name, >your other newsgroups, and the commas (",") that separate each >newsgroup name, total more than 200 characters, there are several >Usenet sites which will not be able to handle the CFV and will >discard it. Even though 200 characters are available, shorter >newsgroup lists and less crossposting are generally a good idea.
>
>We will NOT accept a Newsgroups: header that exceeds 200 >characters because the "news.announce.newsgroups" moderator's >posting scripts will simply reject it. When you are doing your >math to determine the length of the Newsgroups: header line, >don't forget that the header name and the commas that separate >the newsgroup names, must be counted as part of the allowed 200 >characters.
>
>Since "Newsgroups: news.announce.newsgroups,news.groups," is 48 >characters in length, that leaves you with 152 characters for >your desired newsgroup names and the required separating commas.
>
>When you enter your newsgroups below, please enter the newsgroups >in alphabetical order, only put one newsgroup on each line, and >use as many lines as necessary (without exceeding the max >character count). When you count the characters in your entry, >don't include any spaces after the commas. When we reformat your >submission, the newsgroup names will be joined into one long >header line with no spaces after the commas.
>
>#####_BEGIN_####
NEWSGROUPS:

Newsgroups: news.announce.newsgroups,news.groups,
alt.religion.bahai,
soc.culture.israel,
soc.religion.bahai,
soc.rights.human,
talk.religion.misc

>#####_END_####
>
>
>10. New crosspostings.
>
>There needs to be a good reason for adding newsgroups to the CFV >distribution.
>
>Which, if any, newsgroups listed in the previous response were >not crossposted to in the RFD(s) (if none, say "none")?.
>
>Please provide a good reason for adding each newsgroup that you >list.
>
>Duplicate this section (ie. everything starting with the >beginning hash-line, up to and including the ending hash-line) as >necessary for multiple entries.
>
>#####_BEGIN_#### NEW CROSSPOSTS:

none

```

```
>#####_END_####
>
>
>11. Moderated crossposted newsgroups.
>
>In addition to "news.announce.newgroups", which (if any) of the >newsgroups in your requested distribution listing are moderated >(if none, say "none")?. If more than one newsgroup is moderated, >list each one on a separate line.
>
>#####_BEGIN_#### MODERATED NEWSGROUPS:

soc.religion.bahai

>#####_END_####
>
>
>12. Pointer messages to newsgroups.
>
>If you plan to post "pointers" to the CFV in additional >newsgroups, list the intended newsgroups here (if none, say >"none"). If you plan to post "pointers" to more than one >newsgroup, list each one on a separate line.
>
>#####_BEGIN_#### POINTER MESSAGES:

a.bsu.religion,
alt.religion,
alt.religion.islam,
news.admin.censorship,
soc.religion.eastern,
  soc.religion.gnosis,
soc.religion.hindu,
  soc.religion.paganism,
soc.religion.quaker,
  soc.religion.sikhism,
soc.religion.unitarian-univ,
soc.religion.vaishnava,
talk.religion.buddhism,
talk.religion.newage,

uk.religion.interfaith,
uk.religion.misc,
  uk.religion.other-faiths

>#####_END_####
>
>
>13. CFV submission to mailing lists.
>
>Do you want us to send the CFV to any mailing lists? Although >allowed, the use of mailing lists is strongly discouraged due to >the numerous voting problems that continually arise during the >CFVs that use them. If you feel that mailing lists are >essential, please keep the number of lists requested to an >absolute minimum. More lists mean more potential problems, and >it becomes more difficult to find a volunteer votetaker to run >your proposal.
>
>These mailing lists have to be named up front, so please give >their names and submission addresses so that this information can >be included in the CFV. You may wish to include the request >address as well as the posting address, so anyone who is >interested and wants to join won't send messages to the mailing >list itself.
>
>IMPORTANT! For each mailing list you name, we need to know >whether or not the list honors Reply-To: headers in messages >sent to it, and whether or not non-members can directly post >messages to the list. CFVs can only be posted to mailing lists >that allow the votetaker to directly post messages, so if the >list is closed to non-members, the actual CFV will not be >posted to that list (unless the votetaker happens to also be a >member of the closed list). For closed lists, your only option >is for you to post a "pointer" message to the list to advise the >members that a CFV is in progress and to tell them where they can >find a copy of the actual CFV. The intent to use "pointer" >messages in mailing lists does not need to be listed in the CFV.
>
>Please provide the following information and answer the questions >for each mailing list you name. The CFV will not be sent to any >mailing lists missing this information, or to closed mailing lists >(unless the votetaker happens to be a member).
>
>Duplicate this section (ie. everything starting with the >beginning hash-line, up to and including the ending hash-line) as
```

```

>necessary if you're requesting more than one mailing list >submission.
>
>#####_BEGIN_####
MAILING LISTS:

Mailing list name: Baha'i Studies
Submission address: Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us
Request address (optional): major@johnco.cc.ks.us
List honors Reply-To: headers (yes/no)?: yes
List allows non-members to post messages (yes/no)?: yes

Mailing list name: h-bahai
Submission address: h-bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Request address (optional): smaneck@berry.edu or jrcole@umich.edu
List honors Reply-To: headers (yes/no)?: yes
List allows non-members to post messages (yes/no)?: yes

Mailing list name: Talisman
Submission address: talisman@umich.edu
Request address (optional): jsgreen@umich.edu
List honors Reply-To: headers (yes/no)?: yes
List allows non-members to post messages (yes/no)?: yes

>
>#####_END_####
>
>
>Do not modify or delete this final entry.
>#####_BEGIN_####
>PQ Date Stamp: 980110
>#####_END_####
>
>Thanks,
>UVV Coordinators
><contact@uvv.org>
>-----
>
>
-----
From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 16, 1998 3:28 PM
Subject: Re: 4th RFD: talk.religion.bahai

My mistake and apologies....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>

-----
From: Bill Aten[SMTP:bill@netagw.com]
Sent: Friday, January 16, 1998 3:13 PM
To: FG
Cc: UVV Admin List
Subject: Questionnaire received: talk.religion.bahai

Ref: talk.religion.bahai

Your questionnaire was received and is on file.

Please be patient while we locate a votetaker for your proposal. This may take anywhere from a couple of days to a couple of weeks depending on the number of current votes in progress. As the active CFVs conclude, a votetaker will eventually become available to handle your proposal.

You can monitor the UVV Daily Status report in "news.groups" to see when and who is assigned as the votetaker for your proposal.

-- Bill Aten <bill@netagw.com>
Member, UseNet Volunteer Votetakers

UseNet Volunteer Votetakers WWW page:
<URL:https://www.uvv.org/>

-----
From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 17, 1998 10:53 AM
To: Ron House; Chris Manvell
Subject: Talk.religion.bahai Questionnaire sent in & acknowledged....

Okay, I've sent in the Questionnaire and Bill Aten has acknowledged receipt of it for the UVV.... Talk.religion.bahai now has to wait it's turn for a voluntary votetaker to become available and be assigned. When one is assigned, it should appear in the UVV Daily status reports for CFVs.

```

Coincidentally, today, January 17th, marks one full year since the posting of the first RFD for talk.religion.bahai....

Dejanews shows 5,374 postings to alt.religion.bahai....

--
FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 17, 1998 10:53 AM
Subject: Talk.religion.bahai Questionnaire sent in & acknowledged....

Okay, I've sent in the Questionnaire and Bill Aten has acknowledged receipt of it for the UVV.... Talk.religion.bahai now has to wait it's turn for a voluntary votetaker to become available and be assigned. When one is assigned, it should appear in the UVV Daily status reports for CFVs.

Coincidentally, today, January 17th, marks one full year since the posting of the first RFD for talk.religion.bahai....

Dejanews shows 5,374 postings to alt.religion.bahai....

--
FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 20, 1998 7:57 AM
To: Ron House
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Thanks, Ron, for speaking up on this issue. This person is just seeking an excuse for voting NO in my opinion. There's been a lot of discussion about all of this for months and months. Many people, techies and otherwise, have pointed out to him there's nothing anyone can do to control the postings to trb. The irony now is the BCCA kicked me off all of the private Bahai mailings lists back in November when things were looking too good for trb....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----Original Message-----
From: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
Newsgroups: news.groups
Date: Tuesday, January 20, 1998 12:04 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

>Rick Schaut wrote:
>>
>> Ron House wrote in message <34C2D9CE.4DAB50A2@usq.edu.au>...
>
>> >"Given up hope"? Did you see my reply to your earlier >> >query on this matter? If so, why are you implying your >> >questions have not been answered, if not, then please >> >ask any questions you like based on my earlier answer >> >(which I reproduce below) and I'll do my best to answer >> >them.
>>
>> I saw your earlier post. Its thesis was, primarily, that if I think there's >> some problem to address than I, Rick Schaut acting as an individual, should >> do something about it. Asside from the fact that any such action on my part >> would relieve the proponents of this newsgroup of any responsibility they >> have to work to address this issue, I still won't act on my own. I would if >> I thought this was an issue that could be adequately addressed via an >> individual's action, I'd do so.
>
>Quite frankly, I think this is a cop out. You want us >to do something (what?) yet you won't discuss your >concerns. NO, I won't discuss this on Baha'i email >lists; this is a Usenet proposal and I will discuss >it on Usenet. I am not a member of any closed Baha'i >email lists and I have no intention of becoming so, >probably only to find you won't tell us your concerns >there either.

>
>Once again: the proposal is for a forum for DISCUSSION
>OF THE BAHAI FAITH. It is NOT a proposal for a pro->Baha'i publicity channel. I couldn't care less if >the articles posted to the NG end up supporting or >refuting the Faith. All I want is a FREE, OPEN place >where anyone can discuss the topic. It is therefore no >responsibility of mine to make sure that the NG >works the way YOU would like it to, least of all >if you won't tell me what your concerns are.
>
>So, Risk, put up or shut up. Tell us your worries >so we can discuss them or stop whinging.
>
>--
>Ron House
> house@usq.edu.au
>An age is called Dark not because the light fails to shine, but >because people refuse to see it. -- James Michener, "Space"

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 20, 1998 8:22 AM
To: Ron House; Chris Manvell
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Guy Macon wrote:

>If he won't tell you what his concern is in this newsgroup or in >private mail, then ignore him. He has decided to not express his >concern in the appropriate venue. Reasons why a Bahai might want >to vote yes or no on talk.religion.bahai IS on=topic in news.groups.

The issues he says he is concerned about have been extensively discussed on news.groups since trb began to be addressed there again.... Dejanews shows 117 messages from August 1 to the present on a search of the word "covenant".... Earlier, deja showed 91 on "covenant breaker." As a proponent, I believe every attempt has been made to discuss this issue on news.groups,
in so much as it is relevant to the interest poll on talk.religion.bahai.

Discussing it elsewhere, at this late date, in controlled environments that are part of the impetus for the creation of trb, would not conform to commonly acceptable Usenet procedure. The proposal, after all,
was first posted on October 20, 1997....

>Besides, do you really want your Quaker buddy excluded from the >discussion? Have I not been helpful in this discussion so far?

I definitely don't. Nor anyone else, since trb would be a newsgroup for non-Bahais as well as Bahais....

Guy, you've been one of the fairest people throughout this proposal, even when you've occasionally reprimanded me
for my own good....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 20, 1998 8:22 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Guy Macon wrote:

>If he won't tell you what his concern is in this newsgroup or in >private mail, then ignore him. He has decided to not express his >concern in the appropriate venue. Reasons why a Bahai might want >to vote yes or no on talk.religion.bahai IS on=topic in news.groups.

The issues he says he is concerned about have been extensively discussed on news.groups since trb began to be addressed there again.... Dejanews shows 117 messages from August 1 to the present on a search of the word "covenant".... Earlier, deja showed 91 on "covenant breaker." As a proponent, I believe every attempt has been made to discuss this issue on news.groups,
in so much as it is relevant to the interest poll on talk.religion.bahai.

Discussing it elsewhere, at this late date, in controlled environments
that are part of the impetus for the creation of trb, would not conform to commonly acceptable Usenet procedure. The proposal, after all,
was first posted on October 20, 1997....

>Besides, do you really want your Quaker buddy excluded from the >discussion? Have I not been helpful in this discussion so far?

I definitely don't. Nor anyone else, since trb would be a newsgroup for non-Bahais as well as Bahais....

Guy, you've been one of the fairest people throughout this proposal, even when you've occasionally reprimanded me
for my own good....

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 20, 1998 8:31 AM
To: softqual@mindspring.com
Subject: Re: Talk.religion.bahai Questionnaire sent in & acknowledged....

Use the Advanced Search menu and date your search from apr 1 97 to the present. I get them all when I do it this way. Good luck!

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----Original Message-----
From: Scott P. Duncan <softqual@mindspring.com>
To: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Saturday, January 17, 1998 11:28 AM
Subject: Re: Talk.religion.bahai Questionnaire sent in & acknowledged....

>> Dejanews shows 5,374 postings to alt.religion.bahai...
>
>Perhaps you can help me use www.dejanews.com properly. I >have not used it before. When I go to Browse Groups and >type in alt.religion.bahai, I get a page back that says >only 1219 messages are available for reading. So I assume >there is some other way to use dejanews to find out about >the others. Can you let me know how to get access to the >much larger number you note?
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 21, 1998 8:11 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai disclaimer

T. Spade wrote in message <69u3d5$9t6@drn.zippo.com>...
>In article <885085051.39321608@dejanews.com>, zutetflute@aol.com says...
>>
>>Okay, T. Spade, here is a quote taken directly out of a letter written to >>me by the moderator of soc.religion.bahai. If it is not an official or >>quasi-official organ of the Baha'i organization, then why do the >>counsellors tell the moderator what to post? And why is my faith >>questioned? The quote, taken out of the letter addressed to me, is below.
>> I posted the whole text on talk.religion.bahai a few weeks ago.
>>
>>"From: boatright@cjnetworks.com (Rick Boatright)
>> Reply-to: boatright@cjnetworks.com
>> To: zutetflute@aol.com (Zutetflute)
>>
>> Dear Andree,
>>
>> Are you a Baha'i? The counsellors and the protection board are >> asking the moderators to be very very careful on this subject. "

Does this constitute Bahai interference in the interest poll for talk.religion.bahai? At the least, if the above is true, and it's written by a Mr. Boatright who's a moderator at soc.religion.bahai, it does add credibility to the claim that srb, and apparently individuals in the Bahai administration, conceive of it as THE "official" newsgroup on the Bahai Faith....

>>
>>-----==== Posted via Deja News =====
>> <https://www.dejanews.com/> Search, Read, Post to Usenet
>

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 21, 1998 8:41 AM
Subject: Re: U.S. Baha'is to Iran's Pres. Khatami re Baha'is in Iran (a letter)

>Are the Baha'is of Iran -- your nation's largest religious minority -- >included in these aspirations?

In my opinion, complete and unmitigated hypocrisy....

[clip]

> Respectfully yours,
>
> THE BAHA'IS OF THE UNITED STATES
>
> Robert Calvin Henderson
> Secretary
>
>NATIONAL SPIRITUAL ASSEMBLY OF THE BAHA'IS OF THE UNITED STATES
>
>
>SOURCE: National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of the United States

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 21, 1998 8:42 AM
To: H-NET List for Bahai Studies
Subject: Re: A Response to the Public Message of President Khatami

>Are the Baha'is of Iran -- your nation's largest religious minority -- >included in these aspirations?

In my opinion, complete and unmitigated hypocrisy....

[clip]

> Respectfully yours,
>
> THE BAHA'IS OF THE UNITED STATES
>
> Robert Calvin Henderson
> Secretary
>
>NATIONAL SPIRITUAL ASSEMBLY OF THE BAHA'IS OF THE UNITED STATES
>
>
>SOURCE: National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of the United States

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 21, 1998 8:54 AM
Subject: No sense of irony or shame....

In my opinion, complete and unmitigated hypocrisy....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----quoted message begins:

A RESPONSE TO THE PUBLIC MESSAGE OF PRESIDENT KHATAMI TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

January 13, 1998

His Excellency President Mohammad Khatami
Islamic Republic of Iran
Tehran, Iran

Your Excellency,

We, the American Baha'is, residing in more than seven thousand cities and towns across the United States and representing all races, cultures and ethnic origins in our nation, have listened with great interest to your words addressed to the American people, of which we are an organic part.

Your message prompts us to address you directly, because of your expressed dedication to the principles of freedom, justice and the rule of law - principles which, as you noted, are cherished by the American people.

We who enjoy such freedoms hope that our co-religionists in Iran, who have been deprived of them, will be granted their full rights as law-abiding citizens of your nation.

We are particularly encouraged by your assertion "that religion and liberty are consistent and compatible." As you said, "Human experience has taught us that prosperous life should hinge on three pillars: religiosity, liberty and justice." These, you concluded, "are the assets and aspirations of the Islamic Revolution as it enters the twenty-first century."

Are the Baha'is of Iran - your nation's largest religious minority - included in these aspirations?

Your explicitly stated determination to fulfill the provisions of the Iranian Constitution and to establish the rule of law gives us hope that the freedom of the Baha'i community in Iran openly to practice its religion will be guaranteed.

May we not expect, in the light of your commitment to human dignity and freedom, that the United Nations General Assembly Resolution (A/RES/52/142), which calls for the emancipation of the Baha'i community of Iran, will now be implemented?

Respectfully yours,

THE BAHAI'S OF THE UNITED STATES
Robert Calvin Henderson
Secretary

NATIONAL SPIRITUAL ASSEMBLY OF THE BAHAI'S OF THE UNITED STATES
1320 NINETEENTH ST., N.W., SUITE 701 . WASHINGTON, D.C. 20036 . 202.833.8990

From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 21, 1998 6:01 PM
To: talisman
Subject: Khatami & NSA's open letter....

In the NSA's open letter to the Iranian government, Mr. Henderson asked President Khatami:

>Are the Baha'is of Iran -- your nation's largest religious minority -- >included in these aspirations?

I would in turn like to ask Mr. Henderson if all Baha'is of all points of view have really been included in the NSA's aspirations during the past few years? And if not, isn't his plea to Mr. Khatami somewhat hypocritical?

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 22, 1998 7:44 AM
To: Juan R. I. Cole
Subject: Re: A Response to the Public Message of President Khatami

Sigh....

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 22, 1998 8:28 AM
To: talisman
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Thanks, Emma. As background information, I'll quote a few things that seem relevant to the discussion for talk.religion.bahai and might help set it in a fuller historical context here on news.groups....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

Quoted material begins from <https://www.religioustolerance.org/bahai.htm>

Freedom of Expression within the Baha'i Faith

Although Baha'is have been very active in the promotion of freedom of expression around the world, there are significant restrictions on freedoms of individual members. These are enforced through shunning or expelling non-conforming adherents. Some examples are:

[clip]

The Baha'i authorities impose prepublication censorship on all material written by members about the Faith. All such material must first be scanned by a review committee of the Baha'i National Spiritual Assembly of the country in which the text is to be published. This was a temporary policy introduced many decades ago, which is still in force.

The authorities closed down the "Talisman" mailing list. This was created by a professor at Indiana University, John Walbridge, in 1994-OCT. The list had 175 subscribers. In early 1996, the Baha'i World Center in Haifa, Israel ordered the first of a series of investigations.

One sensitive topic debated on "Talisman" was the exclusion of women from the Universal House of Justice which some subscribers felt was incompatible with the importance given to the equality of the sexes within the Baha'i Faith. Some postings argued that the body be opened up to women; they based their beliefs on their interpretation of Baha'u'llah's writings. "Talisman" was closed on 1996-MAY. Juan Cole, now an ex-Baha'i, opened a new Talisman list the following month. Its e-mail address is talisman@umich.edu.

[clip]

Michael McKenny, a fantasy writer from Canada was expelled because of his views expressed in Emails.

Internet References and Mailing Lists

Jonah Winters' Baha'i Academics Resource Area is at:
<https://www.interlog.com/~winters/>

[clip]

Material on freedom of expression within the Baha'i Faith is available at:
<https://www.interlog.com/~winters/newspapers/gnosis.talisman.html> and at
<https://www.interlog.com/~winters/newspapers/chafe.html>

An official response from the US National Spiritual Assembly to the latter item is available at: <https://www.interlog.com/~winters/uhj/attacks.html>

Paul Johnson authored an article on the Talisman discussion group in 1997-Winter edition of Gnosis Magazine.

Emma Pease wrote in message ...

```
>Emma
>
>Possible interesting website written from a somewhat neutral point of >view
>
>https://www.religioustolerance.org/bahai.htm
>
>ps. Some of the Baha'i sites are extremely difficult to navigate with >lynx (or for that matter monochrome netscape) and don't seem to be >coded right. https://www.bahai.org/ is a case in point.
>--
>\----
>|* | Emma Pease           Net Spinster
>|_\/ emma@csl.stanford.edu   Die Luft der Freiheit weht
```

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 22, 1998 8:28 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Thanks, Emma. As background information, I'll quote a few things that seem relevant to the discussion for talk.religion.bahai and might help set it in a fuller historical context here on news.groups....

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>

Quoted material begins from <https://www.religioustolerance.org/bahai.htm>

Freedom of Expression within the Baha'i Faith

Although Baha'is have been very active in the promotion of freedom of expression around the world, there are significant restrictions on freedoms of individual members. These are enforced through shunning or expelling non-conforming adherents. Some examples are:

[clip]

The Baha'i authorities impose prepublication censorship on all material written by members about the Faith. All such material must first be scanned by a review committee of the Baha'i National Spiritual Assembly of the country in which the text is to be published. This was a temporary policy introduced many decades ago, which is still in force.

The authorities closed down the "Talisman" mailing list. This was created by a professor at Indiana University, John Walbridge, in 1994-OCT. The list had 175 subscribers. In early 1996, the Baha'i World Center in Haifa, Israel ordered the first of a series of investigations.

One sensitive topic debated on "Talisman" was the exclusion of women from the Universal House of Justice which some subscribers felt was incompatible with the importance given to the equality of the sexes within the Baha'i Faith. Some postings argued that the body be opened up to women; they based their beliefs on their interpretation of Baha'u'llah's writings. "Talisman" was closed on 1996-MAY. Juan Cole, now an ex-Baha'i, opened a new Talisman list the following month. Its e-mail address is talisman@umich.edu.

[clip]

Michael McKenny, a fantasy writer from Canada was expelled because of his views expressed in Emails.

Internet References and Mailing Lists

Jonah Winters' Baha'i Academics Resource Area is at:
<https://www.interlog.com/~winters/>

[clip]

Material on freedom of expression within the Baha'i Faith is available at:
<https://www.interlog.com/~winters/newspapers/gnosis.talisman.html> and at
<https://www.interlog.com/~winters/newspapers/chafe.html>

An official response from the US National Spiritual Assembly to the latter item is available at: <https://www.interlog.com/~winters/uhj/attacks.html>

Paul Johnson authored an article on the Talisman discussion group in 1997-Winter edition of Gnosis Magazine.

Emma Pease wrote in message ...

>Emma
>
>Possible interesting website written from a somewhat neutral point of >view
>
><https://www.religioustolerance.org/bahai.htm>
>
>ps. Some of the Baha'i sites are extremely difficult to navigate with >lynx (or for that matter monochrome netscape) and don't seem to be >coded right. <https://www.bahai.org/> is a case in point.
>--
>\-----
>|* | Emma Pease Net Spinster
>|_\/ emma@csl.stanford.edu Die Luft der Freiheit weht

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 22, 1998 8:56 AM
To: talisman
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

>Chris wrote:
>> As the original proponent is not able to access the Baha'is only lists,
>> that would exclude him from any participation.

"Not able" is an understatement. I have been denied access to Bahai-Discuss and all other similar private Bahai email lists by a peremptory act of the BCCA.... I have appealed to the Universal House of Justice several weeks ago, asking them to investigate the motives of the BCCA, but have still not heard anything from them.

Ron House wrote:
>This is a good point. Not only does it explain why
>Fred won't discuss the issue on lists, it also points

>up the danger of censored channels, as there is >ultimately no way to bring the administrators of >these channels to account for unjust or otherwise >faulty decisions.

Since I never posted anything to justify such an action on Bahai-Discuss itself, indeed, I was attacked and threatened there by two individuals whom the BCCA protected and may have encouraged, it certainly does highlight this lack of accountability on Bahai mailing lists....

I believe it further argues for the need for an unmoderated newsgroup anyone interested in the Bahai Faith could post to with confidence....

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 22, 1998 8:56 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

>Chris wrote:

>> As the original proponent is not able to access the Baha'ai only lists,
>> that would exclude him from any participation.

"Not able" is an understatement. I have been denied access to Bahai-Discuss and all other similar private Bahai email lists by a peremptory act of the BCCA.... I have appealed to the Universal House of Justice several weeks ago, asking them to investigate the motives of the BCCA, but have still not heard anything from them.

Ron House wrote:

>This is a good point. Not only does it explain why
>Fred won't discuss the issue on lists, it also points
>up the danger of censored channels, as there is >ultimately no way to bring the administrators of >these channels to account for unjust or otherwise
>faulty decisions.

Since I never posted anything to justify such an action
on Bahai-Discuss itself, indeed, I was attacked and threatened there by two individuals whom the BCCA
protected and may have encouraged, it certainly does highlight this lack of accountability on Bahai mailing lists....

I believe it further argues for the need for an unmoderated
newsgroup anyone interested in the Bahai Faith could post to with confidence....

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 22, 1998 9:31 AM
To: talisman
Subject: "Bahai Leaders Vexed by On-Line Critics"

Excerpts relevant to the issues concerning talk.religion.bahai....

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----Quoted material begins:
Gnosis Magazine, Winter 1997

"Baha'i Leaders Vexed by On-Line Critics"

[clip]

Generally regarded as a peaceful, liberal, and forward-looking movement, Baha'i proclaims itself to be devoted to "independent investigation of Truth." But it has become the only major religious group to launch an inquisition against prominent members for their opinions expressed on an Internet discussion group.

[clip]

In October 1994 the electronic mail list Talisman was created by Indiana University professor John Walbridge for scholarly discussion of Baha'i history, doctrines, and current affairs. Walbridge is a specialist in Islamic philosophy, and his wife Linda, an active participant in the list, is an anthropologist specializing in contemporary Islam in the United States; she also teaches at Indiana University.

Talisman's initial core group of participants with scholarly and literary backgrounds included Juan R. I. Cole, then-director of the Center for Middle Eastern and North African Studies at the University of Michigan and now professor of history there. Two participants were publishers: Anthony Lee of Kalimat Press, a Baha'i publishing house; and Steven Scholl of White Cloud Press, publisher of the annual "Common Era: Best New Writings in Religion" and other interfaith-oriented titles.

Beginning with a dozen or so subscribers, Talisman grew in the first year to more than a hundred, most of whom were not academicians. After eighteen months of existence, Talisman became the focus of a series of investigations ordered by authorities at the Baha'i World Center in Haifa, Israel.

[clip]

Another frequent bone of contention was the policy of literature review, which requires that any Baha'i who writes about the faith for any publisher submit the work for prior censorship by a "review committee" composed of the Baha'i National Spiritual Assembly in the country of publication. Scholars were particularly emphatic about wanting to abolish this policy - which had been deemed "temporary" when introduced early in this century - on the grounds that it compromises scholarly independence and integrity.

[clip]

Although the questions and criticisms expressed by the scholars in Talisman were generally respectful of Baha'i authorities, many of the newer members of the list became irate that such matters were discussed at all. The worldwide Baha'i community has rigid controls for discourse on internal matters, with all publications controlled or censored by the administration; even mild dissent is regarded as treasonous.

Complaints may be made through the process of "consultation" with various levels of administrators, but may not be expressed outside that context and especially never in public. Thus Talisman offered participants the first chance to discuss flaws in the Baha'i community outside administrative channels, and many were shocked by the debate that ensued. Soon it became common for more conservative Baha'is to insinuate that the scholars and their sympathizers were "Covenant-breakers," which is the greatest of sins in Baha'i theology.

[clip]

None of the Talisman scholars challenged the legitimacy of the governing body, nor did they show sympathy for past "Covenant-breakers," a few thousand of whom continue in various small sects. Nevertheless the Talisman discussions were viewed with alarm by authorities at national Baha'i headquarters in Wilmette, Illinois, and in Haifa. This generated an investigation by Stephen Birkland, a member of the Continental Board of Counselors for North America, acting under direction of the Haifa authorities.

Birkland personally interrogated Langness, Lee, Cole, and John Walbridge. Scholl agreed to meet with Birkland only on condition that the meeting be recorded for accuracy, a condition that was deemed unacceptable. Cole and Walbridge refused a second meeting requested by Birkland. David Langness had his rights to voting and attendance at major functions removed by the American National Spiritual Assembly, which never specified the charges against him but implied that it was punishing him for a posting he made on Talisman.

Cole, upon being told he was being investigated for "statements contrary to the Covenant," resigned his membership, as did Linda Walbridge after similar remarks. Birkland had chosen to confront Cole and the Walbridges in late-night telephone calls. The ultimate fate of Langness, who appealed his punishment to the Universal House of Justice, and John Walbridge, who has not resigned, remains to be determined. When contacted by e-mail, Birkland declined to comment on the controversy.

Defending its actions, the Universal House of Justice wrote to a family member of one of the accused; the letter later appeared on the front page of the journal "The American Baha'i." It argues that Talisman was the continuation of a conspiracy born in the mid-1980s involving a liberal Baha'i journal, "Dialogue," which closed after Baha'i authorities accused it of being subversive.

The letter goes on to describe the Talisman scholars as a "dissident group of Baha'is who are attempting to arouse widespread dissatisfaction in the community and thereby to bring about changes in the structure and principles of Baha'i administration, making it accord more closely with their personal notions." It accuses them of "publicly and privily assailing the institutions of the Cause" and "generalizing specific accusations of injustice to such an extent as to accuse the entire system of corruption, not only in practice, but also in form and theory."

John Walbridge closed Talisman in May of 1996. Juan Cole, now an ex-Baha'i, opened a new Talisman list the following month. Its e-mail address is talisman@umich.edu.

[clip]

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 22, 1998 9:31 AM
To: talisman
Subject: "Bahai Leaders Vexed by On-Line Critics"

Excerpts relevant to the issues concerning talk.religion.bahai....

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----Quoted material begins:
Gnosis Magazine, Winter 1997

"Baha'i Leaders Vexed by On-Line Critics"

[clip]

Generally regarded as a peaceful, liberal, and forward-looking movement, Baha'i proclaims itself to be devoted to "independent investigation of Truth." But it has become the only major religious group to launch an inquisition against prominent members for their opinions expressed on an Internet discussion group.

[clip]

In October 1994 the electronic mail list Talisman was created by Indiana University professor John Walbridge for scholarly discussion of Baha'i history, doctrines, and current affairs. Walbridge is a specialist in Islamic philosophy, and his wife Linda, an active participant in the list, is an anthropologist specializing in contemporary Islam in the United States; she also teaches at Indiana University.

Talisman's initial core group of participants with scholarly and literary backgrounds included Juan R. I. Cole, then-director of the Center for Middle Eastern and North African Studies at the University of Michigan and now professor of history there. Two participants were publishers: Anthony Lee of Kalimat Press, a Baha'i publishing house; and Steven Scholl of White Cloud Press, publisher of the annual "Common Era: Best New Writings in Religion" and other interfaith-oriented titles.

Beginning with a dozen or so subscribers, Talisman grew in the first year to more than a hundred, most of whom were not academicians. After eighteen months of existence, Talisman became the focus of a series of investigations ordered by authorities at the Baha'i World Center in Haifa, Israel.

[clip]

Another frequent bone of contention was the policy of literature review, which requires that any Baha'i who writes about the faith for any publisher submit the work for prior censorship by a "review committee" composed of the Baha'i National Spiritual Assembly in the country of publication. Scholars were particularly emphatic about wanting to abolish this policy - which had been deemed "temporary" when introduced early in this century - on the grounds that it compromises scholarly independence and integrity.

[clip]

Although the questions and criticisms expressed by the scholars in Talisman were generally respectful of Baha'i authorities, many of the newer members of the list became irate that such matters were discussed at all. The worldwide Baha'i community has rigid controls for discourse on internal matters, with all publications controlled or censored by the administration; even mild dissent is regarded as treasonous.

Complaints may be made through the process of "consultation" with various levels of administrators, but may not be expressed outside that context and especially never in public. Thus Talisman offered participants the first chance to discuss flaws in the Baha'i community outside administrative channels, and many were shocked by the debate that ensued. Soon it became common for more conservative Baha'is to insinuate that the scholars and their sympathizers were "Covenant-breakers," which is the greatest of sins in Baha'i theology.

[clip]

None of the Talisman scholars challenged the legitimacy of the governing body, nor did they show sympathy for past "Covenant-breakers," a few thousand of whom continue in various small sects. Nevertheless the Talisman discussions were viewed with alarm by authorities at national Baha'i headquarters in Wilmette, Illinois, and in Haifa. This generated an investigation by Stephen Birkland, a member of the Continental Board of Counselors for North America, acting under direction of the Haifa authorities.

Birkland personally interrogated Langness, Lee, Cole, and John Walbridge. Scholl agreed to meet with Birkland only on condition that the meeting be recorded for accuracy, a condition that was deemed unacceptable. Cole and Walbridge refused a second meeting requested by Birkland. David Langness had his rights to voting and attendance at major functions removed by the American National Spiritual Assembly, which never specified the charges against him but implied that it was punishing him for a posting he made on Talisman.

Cole, upon being told he was being investigated for "statements contrary to the Covenant," resigned his membership, as did Linda Walbridge after similar remarks. Birkland had chosen to confront Cole and the Walbridges in late-night telephone calls. The ultimate fate of Langness, who appealed his punishment to the Universal House of Justice, and John Walbridge, who has not resigned, remains to be determined. When contacted by e-mail, Birkland declined to comment on the controversy.

Defending its actions, the Universal House of Justice wrote to a family member of one of the accused; the letter later appeared on the front page of the journal "The American Baha'i." It argues that Talisman was the continuation of a conspiracy born in the mid-1980s involving a liberal Baha'i journal, "Dialogue," which closed after Baha'i authorities accused it of being subversive.

The letter goes on to describe the Talisman scholars as a "dissident group of Baha'is who are attempting to arouse widespread dissatisfaction in the community and thereby to bring about changes in the structure and principles of Baha'i administration, making it accord more closely with their personal notions." It accuses them of "publicly and privily assailing the institutions of the Cause" and "generalizing specific accusations of injustice to such an extent as to accuse the entire system of corruption, not only in practice, but also in form and theory."

John Walbridge closed Talisman in May of 1996. Juan Cole, now an ex-Baha'i, opened a new Talisman list the following month. Its e-mail address is talisman@umich.edu.

[clip]

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 22, 1998 9:31 AM
Subject: "Bahai Leaders Vexed by On-Line Critics"

Excerpts relevant to the issues concerning talk.religion.bahai....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----Quoted material begins:
Gnosis Magazine, Winter 1997

"Baha'i Leaders Vexed by On-Line Critics"

[clip]

Generally regarded as a peaceful, liberal, and forward-looking movement, Baha'i proclaims itself to be devoted to "independent investigation of Truth." But it has become the only major religious group to launch an inquisition against prominent members for their opinions expressed on an Internet discussion group.

[clip]

In October 1994 the electronic mail list Talisman was created by Indiana University professor John Walbridge for scholarly discussion of Baha'i history, doctrines, and current affairs. Walbridge is a specialist in Islamic philosophy, and his wife Linda, an active participant in the list, is an anthropologist specializing in contemporary Islam in the United States; she also teaches at Indiana University.

Talisman's initial core group of participants with scholarly and literary backgrounds included Juan R. I. Cole, then-director of the Center for Middle Eastern and North African Studies at the University of Michigan and now professor of history there. Two participants were publishers: Anthony Lee of Kalimat Press, a Baha'i publishing house; and Steven Scholl of White Cloud Press, publisher of the annual "Common Era: Best New Writings in Religion" and other interfaith-oriented titles.

Beginning with a dozen or so subscribers, Talisman grew in the first year to more than a hundred, most of whom were not academicians. After eighteen months of existence, Talisman became the focus of a series of investigations ordered by authorities at the Baha'i World Center in Haifa, Israel.

[clip]

Another frequent bone of contention was the policy of literature review, which requires that any Baha'i who writes about the faith for any publisher submit the work for prior censorship by a "review committee" composed of the Baha'i National Spiritual Assembly in the country of publication. Scholars were particularly emphatic about wanting to abolish this policy - which had been deemed "temporary" when introduced early in this century - on the grounds that it compromises scholarly independence and integrity.

[clip]

Although the questions and criticisms expressed by the scholars in Talisman were generally respectful of Baha'i authorities, many of the newer members of the list became irate that such matters were discussed at all. The worldwide Baha'i community has rigid controls for discourse on internal matters, with all publications controlled or censored by the administration; even mild dissent is regarded as treasonous.

Complaints may be made through the process of "consultation" with various levels of administrators, but may not be expressed outside that context and especially never in public. Thus Talisman offered participants the first chance to discuss flaws in the Baha'i community outside administrative channels, and many were shocked by the debate that ensued. Soon it became common for more conservative Baha'is to insinuate that the scholars and their sympathizers were "Covenant-breakers," which is the greatest of sins in Baha'i theology.

[clip]

None of the Talisman scholars challenged the legitimacy of the governing body, nor did they show sympathy for past "Covenant-breakers," a few thousand of whom continue in various small sects. Nevertheless the Talisman discussions were viewed with alarm by authorities at national Baha'i headquarters in Wilmette, Illinois, and in Haifa. This generated an investigation by Stephen Birkland, a member of the Continental Board of Counselors for North America, acting under direction of the Haifa authorities.

Birkland personally interrogated Langness, Lee, Cole, and John Walbridge. Scholl agreed to meet with Birkland only on condition that the meeting be recorded for accuracy, a condition that was deemed unacceptable. Cole and Walbridge refused a second meeting requested by Birkland. David Langness had his rights to voting and attendance at major functions removed by the American National Spiritual Assembly, which never specified the charges against him but implied that it was punishing him for a posting he made on Talisman.

Cole, upon being told he was being investigated for "statements contrary to the Covenant," resigned his membership, as did Linda Walbridge after similar remarks. Birkland had chosen to confront Cole and the Walbridges in late-night telephone calls. The ultimate fate of Langness, who appealed his punishment to the Universal House of Justice, and John Walbridge, who has not resigned, remains to be determined. When contacted by e-mail, Birkland declined to comment on the controversy.

Defending its actions, the Universal House of Justice wrote to a family member of one of the accused; the letter later appeared on the front page of the journal "The American Baha'i." It argues that Talisman was the continuation of a conspiracy born in the mid-1980s involving a liberal Baha'i journal, "Dialogue," which closed after Baha'i authorities accused it of being subversive.

The letter goes on to describe the Talisman scholars as a "dissident group of Baha'is who are attempting to arouse widespread dissatisfaction in the community and thereby to bring about changes in the structure and principles of Baha'i administration, making it accord more closely with their personal notions." It accuses them of "publicly and privily assailing the institutions of the Cause" and "generalizing specific accusations of injustice to such an extent as to accuse the entire system of corruption, not only in practice, but also in form and theory."

John Walbridge closed Talisman in May of 1996. Juan Cole, now an ex-Baha'i, opened a new Talisman list the following month. Its e-mail address is talisman@umich.edu.

[clip]

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 22, 1998 9:47 AM
To: talisman
Subject: "BAHA'I MOVEMENT TARGETS DISSENTERS"

An excerpt from Religion Watch, January 1997 issue, that may further help illuminate the discussion for talk.religion.bahai....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----quoted material begins:

BAHA'I MOVEMENT TARGETS DISSENTERS

The Baha'i movement is experiencing growing conflicts and dissent over its members involvement in computer forums, reports Gnosis, (Winter), a magazine on esoteric spirituality. While regarded as a liberal and nondogmatic religion, the worldwide Baha'i community has enforced "rigid controls for discourse on internal matters, with all publications controlled or censored by the administration; even mild dissent is regarded as treasonous," writes K. Paul Johnson.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 22, 1998 9:47 AM
Subject: "BAHA'I MOVEMENT TARGETS DISSENTERS"

An excerpt from Religion Watch, January 1997 issue, that may further help illuminate the discussion for talk.religion.bahai....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----quoted material begins:

BAHA'I MOVEMENT TARGETS DISSENTERS

The Baha'i movement is experiencing growing conflicts and dissent over its members involvement in computer forums, reports Gnosis, (Winter), a magazine on esoteric spirituality. While regarded as a liberal and nondogmatic religion, the worldwide Baha'i community has enforced "rigid controls for discourse on internal matters, with all publications controlled or censored by the administration; even mild dissent is regarded as treasonous," writes K. Paul Johnson.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 22, 1998 9:47 AM
To: talisman
Subject: "BAHA'I MOVEMENT TARGETS DISSENTERS"

An excerpt from Religion Watch, January 1997 issue, that may further help illuminate the discussion for talk.religion.bahai....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----quoted material begins:

BAHA'I MOVEMENT TARGETS DISSENTERS

The Baha'i movement is experiencing growing conflicts and dissent over its members involvement in computer forums, reports Gnosis, (Winter), a magazine on esoteric spirituality. While regarded as a liberal and nondogmatic religion, the worldwide Baha'i community has enforced "rigid controls for discourse on internal matters, with all publications controlled or censored by the administration; even mild dissent is regarded as treasonous," writes K. Paul Johnson.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 23, 1998 7:50 AM
To: Juan R. I. Cole
Subject: Re: A Response to the Public Message of President Khatami

Nevertheless, please don't rewrite my messages and then post them without my consent....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 23, 1998 7:57 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Neil Crellin wrote in message ...
>"FG" <FG@hotmail.com> writes:
>> Quoted material begins from <https://www.religioustolerance.org/bahai.htm>
>> Material on freedom of expression within the Baha'i Faith is available at:
>> <https://www.interlog.com/~winters/newspapers/gnosis.talisman.html> and at >> <https://www.interlog.com/~winters/newspapers/chafe.html>
>>
>> An official response from the US National Spiritual Assembly to the latter
>> item is available at: <https://www.interlog.com/~winters/uhj/attacks.html>

Yeah, I just checked it too. Sorry, I don't what happened to it. I suggest emailing Jonah Winters at his website at www.interlog.com if you're interested in locating it.

>
>This latter response appears to no longer be on the server, and the >link to it on the previous reference dangles. Is there another >reference?
>
>-Neil Crellin <neilc@stanford.edu>

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 23, 1998 8:16 AM
Subject: Re: "Bahai Leaders Vexed by On-Line Critics"

I'd be happy to answer such questions, as I have in the past, after you explain the following, reposted from
soc.religion.bahai:

>Will the person who has been posting as annie@aol.com please contact >the moderators with a working mail address for private email?
>-- the moderators

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

Annie wrote in message <01bd27b1$92d26ac0$75b360cf@baha>...
>FG <FG@hotmail.com> wrote in article
><6a7hn4$krb@news1.zippo.com>...

>> Excerpts relevant to the issues concerning talk.religion.bahai...
>
>
>I wish to know, Frederick, the following:
>
>1. Are YOU a Baha'i?
>2. Are YOU a Baha'i in "good" standing?
>3. Are you obedient to your leaders?
>4. Are you faithful to your Faith?
>
>Thanks
>
>
>Annie

From: Burl Barer[SMTP:burlb@bmi.net]
Sent: Saturday, January 24, 1998 5:15 AM
To: FG; talisman
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Fred said:
>The authorities closed down the "Talisman" mailing list. This was >created by a professor at Indiana University, John Walbridge, in >1994-OCT. The list had 175 subscribers. In early 1996, the Baha'i >World Center in Haifa, Israel ordered the first of a series of >investigations....etc.

This is an oft repeated falsehood that does not become true by repetition.
Once AGAIN, let's read the words of Prof. John Walbridge quoted in my message to him posted on Talisman1:

To: jwalbrid <jwalbrid@indiana.edu>
From: burlb@bmi.net (Burl Barer)
Subject: Re: The End of Talisman
Cc: talisman@indiana.edu
Sender: owner-talisman@indiana.edu

>Dear friends:
>
>The time has come for me to close Talisman.

Please note the operative word: me.
Not the NSA, UHJ, ITC, AFL, CIO, ABC, CNN or USDA. The decision is John's, and he is entitled to do as he pleases in this regard....

NO ONE closed down Talisman except Prof. Walbridge, and Talisman was never really "closed down" at all -- it just changed servers from indiana.edu to umich.edu and the equally stimulating Irfan and the other "super-secret" lists just keep on going. And this "investigation" nonsense!
Good heavens! What's to investigate with an email list that any subscriber can read? No one at Natl or World Centre had to "investigate" Talisman -- folks at the World Centre subscribed to it and got it everyday, as did/do folks at the Natl Center. In fact, I seem to recall Continental Counsellors being Talisman subscribers! C'mon, Fred. Don't promulgate falsehoods.
If you want to perpetuate mis-information, please pass along that everyone who supports Talk.religion.bahai gets a free Chevy Camero, paid for by FG. I'll take a blue one.

Love
BB

From: Rebecca G. McQuitty[SMTP:mcq@wco.com]
Sent: Sunday, January 25, 1998 1:06 AM
To: Chris@breacaais.demon.co.uk; FG@hotmail.com; house@usq.edu.au.uk
Cc: cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu
Subject: talk.religion.bahai vote

I'm writing to let you know that I will be handling the vote for the proposed group talk.religion.bahai. There are a few things I need to tell you before the vote starts:

- * Do not distribute the CFV; don't mail it, post it, or put it on the web. I'll be happy to mail it to anyone who wants it. Even more importantly, do not distribute edited or partial copies of the CFV or voting instructions; this will result in invalidation of your ballot and all the ballots resulting from your distribution, or in the cancellation of the entire vote.

- * Under no circumstances can I make information on the progress of the vote available before the RESULT post appears. If this information were to get out, it would be grounds for cancelling the vote.

* Since I can't comment on the substance of the proposal, I'll refer any voters with questions or comments about it to you. I will be answering any questions people have about voting procedures; feel free to refer these questions to me.

* As much as possible, please refrain from campaigning during the voting period and let real levels of interest drive voters. Be aware that proponent campaigning can cause a voter backlash and produce the opposite result of that intended. If you do campaign, make sure to do it properly: Place pointers to the CFV in groups where you can be reasonably sure people will be interested in the topic.

My next message to you will contain a draft CFV. Please check it carefully and let me know if you see any errors you'd like me to fix. I need for you to confirm that the information about the proposal is correct before I can submit the CFV for publication.

Let me know if you have any questions; I'll be happy to pass on any information I have about the CFV process.

Rebecca G. McQuitty
Member, Usenet Volunteer Votetakers

From: Rebecca G. McQuitty[SMTP:mcq@wco.com]
Sent: Sunday, January 25, 1998 1:09 AM
To: Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk; FG@hotmail.com; house@usq.edu.au.uk
Cc: cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu
Subject: DRAFT CFV: talk.religion.bahai

Please confirm that the information about the proposed group is correct, or let me know of any errors you find.

Some parts of the CFV cannot be filled in until just before posting; they are marked with the string "!!!". Don't worry about these.

Thanks,
Rebecca G. McQuitty
Member, Usenet Volunteer Votetakers

From: mcq@wco.com (Rebecca McQuitty)
Newsgroups: news.announce.newgroups,news.groups,alt.religion.bahai,soc.culture.israel,soc.religion.bahai,soc.rights.human,talk.religion.misc
Subject: CFV: talk.religion.bahai
Followup-To: poster
Organization: Usenet Volunteer Votetakers
Expires: !!! 00:00:00 GMT

FIRST CALL FOR VOTES (of 2)
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

Usenet readers may now vote on the proposed worldwide newsgroup talk.religion.bahai. This CFV contains information about both the voting process and the proposed group; please read the entire CFV before voting.

Only the votetaker is authorized to distribute this CFV. Do not post it to any newsgroup, mail it to any person or mailing list, or place it on the World Wide Web. Ballots or CFVs provided by anyone except the votetaker will be invalid.

Newsgroups line:
talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

Votes must be received by 23:59:59 UTC, !!!.

A neutral, third-party volunteer is conducting this vote. Direct questions about the vote to the votetaker, and questions about the proposed group to the proponents.

Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Proponent: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk >
Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au.uk>
Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>
Votetaker: Rebecca McQuitty <mcq@wco.com>

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

Between January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, and March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

Between April 1, 1997 and September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months.

Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Baha'i Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

IMPORTANT VOTING INFORMATION:

The purpose of a Usenet vote is to determine the genuine interest in reading the proposed group, and soliciting votes from uninterested parties defeats this purpose. Do not distribute this CFV; instead, direct people to the official CFV posted to news.announce.newgroups. Distributing pre-marked, incomplete, or otherwise edited copies of this CFV is considered vote fraud.

At most one vote is allowed per person or per account. Duplicate votes will be resolved in favor of the most recent valid vote. Addresses and votes of all voters will be listed in the final RESULT post.

Voters must mail their ballots directly to the votetaker. Anonymous, forwarded, or proxy votes are not valid. Votes mailed by WWW/HTML/CGI forms are considered anonymous, as are votes from any "munged" addresses the votetaker cannot decipher.

Please direct any questions to the votetaker at <mcq@wco.com>.

HOW TO VOTE:

Extract the ballot from the CFV by deleting everything before the "BEGINNING OF BALLOT" and after the "END OF BALLOT" lines. Please do not send the entire CFV back to me! Don't worry about the spacing of the columns or any quote characters (>) that your software inserts.

Provide your real name on the line that asks for it, and indicate your vote in the brackets beside the group name. Valid votes are YES, NO,

ABSTAIN, and CANCEL. Examples of how to properly indicate your vote (do not vote here):

```
[ YES      ] example.vote.yes
[ NO       ] example.vote.no
[ ABSTAIN  ] example.abstention
[ CANCEL   ] example.cancellation
```

Do not modify or delete any other information in this ballot. Votetaking is automated, and any other changes to the ballot may prevent your vote from being counted.

When you're finished, mail the ballot to <!!! address !!!>. Replying to this message should work, but check the "To:" line. If you ordinarily use a spam block, please delete it and use a valid address to vote.

If you do not receive an acknowledgment of your vote within three days, contact the votetaker about the problem. You are responsible for reading your ack and making sure your vote is registered correctly.

<!!! ballot !!!>

DISTRIBUTION

This CFV has been posted to the following newsgroups:

```
news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.religion.bahai
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
```

The CFV and the eventual RESULT posts will be mailed to these mailing lists:

```
Mailing list name: Baha'i Studies
Submission address: Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us
Request address: major@johnco.cc.ks.us
```

```
Mailing list name: h-bahai
Submission address: h-bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Request address: smaneck@berry.edu or jrcole@umich.edu
```

```
Mailing list name: Talisman
Submission address: talisman@umich.edu
Request address: jsgreen@umich.edu
```

Pointers directing readers to this CFV will be posted in these groups:

```
a.bsu.religion
alt.religion
alt.religion.islam
news.admin.censorship
soc.religion.eastern
soc.religion.gnosis
soc.religion.hindu
soc.religion.paganism
soc.religion.quaker
soc.religion.sikhism
soc.religion.unitarian-univ
soc.religion.vaishnava
talk.religion.buddhism
talk.religion.newage
uk.religion.interfaith
uk.religion.misc
uk.religion.other-faiths
```

The CFV is also available by e-mail from the votetaker.

--
Rebecca Graham McQuitty

```
-----
From: Rebecca G. McQuitty[SMTP:mcq@wco.com]
Sent: Sunday, January 25, 1998 8:52 PM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: address for Ron House?
```

Hi,

My mail to Ron House at <house@usq.edu.au.uk> has bounced. Could you please give me a valid address for him?

Thanks,
Rebecca G. McQuitty

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 26, 1998 7:03 AM
To: Rebecca G. McQuitty
Subject: Re: address for Ron House?

You have "UK" somehow at the end. He lives in Australia.
You may have confused his address with Chris Manvell in the UK unless I mistakenly got it on to the RFD!

house@usq.edu.au

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>
-----Original Message-----
From: Rebecca G. McQuitty <mcq@wco.com>
To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Sunday, January 25, 1998 7:52 PM
Subject: address for Ron House?

>Hi,
>
>My mail to Ron House at <house@usq.edu.au.uk> has bounced. Could >you please give me a valid address for him?
>
>Thanks,
>Rebecca G. McQuitty
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 26, 1998 7:20 AM
To: Rebecca G. McQuitty
Subject: Re: DRAFT CFV: talk.religion.bahai

My same UK error is in Ron House's address. Sorry.
Everything else looks all right. Thanks. And thanks for taking this one on. I hope the interest poll proceeds without trouble of any kind...

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----Original Message-----
From: Rebecca G. McQuitty <mcq@wco.com>
To: Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk>;
FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>; house@usq.edu.au.uk <house@usq.edu.au.uk>
Cc: cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>
Date: Sunday, January 25, 1998 12:09 AM
Subject: DRAFT CFV: talk.religion.bahai

>Please confirm that the information about the proposed group is correct, >or let me know of any errors you find.

>
>Some parts of the CFV cannot be filled in until just before posting; >they are marked with the string "!!!". Don't worry about these.

>
>Thanks,
>Rebecca G. McQuitty
>Member, Usenet Volunteer Votetakers

>-----
>
>From: mcq@wco.com (Rebecca McQuitty)
>Newsgroups:
news.announce.newgroups,news.groups,alt.religion.bahai,soc.culture.israel,so
c.religion.bahai,soc.rights.human,talk.religion.misc
>Subject: CFV: talk.religion.bahai
>Followup-To: poster
>Organization: Usenet Volunteer Votetakers
>Expires: !!! 00:00:00 GMT

>
>
>FIRST CALL FOR VOTES (of 2)
>unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

>
>Usenet readers may now vote on the proposed worldwide newsgroup >talk.religion.bahai. This CFV contains information about both the >voting process and the proposed group; please read the entire CFV >before voting.

>
>Only the votetaker is authorized to distribute this CFV. Do not post
>it to any newsgroup, mail it to any person or mailing list, or place >it on the World Wide Web. Ballots or CFVs provided by anyone except >the votetaker will be invalid.

>
>Newsgroups line:
>talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.
>
>Votes must be received by 23:59:59 UTC, !!!.
>
>A neutral, third-party volunteer is conducting this vote. Direct >questions about the vote to the votetaker, and questions about the >proposed group to the proponents.
>
>Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
>Proponent: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk >
>Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au.uk>

Should be:
>Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>

>Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>
>Votetaker: Rebecca McQuitty <mcq@wco.com>
>
>RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai
>
>Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists >specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need >exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would >meet that need.
>
>Between January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, and >March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning >talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.
>
>Between April 1, 1997 and September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have >been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying >points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day >for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months.
>
>Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional >conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost >from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different >individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.
>
>These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for >talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time >periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.*
>hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, >justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith >on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the >easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher >rates of posting by interested people.
>
>The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather >than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and >will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less >well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, >especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were >unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the >hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along >as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an >alternative unmoderated newsgroup.
>
>CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai
>
>All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history,
>teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for >discussion.
>
>Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure >in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.
>
>Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to >start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on >articles and threads written in more moderate terms.
>
>The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith >is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large >ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and >any postings of a purely commercial nature.
>
>Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are >encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting.
>Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from >soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.
>
>As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular
>religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai >newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.
>
>END CHARTER.

>
>IMPORTANT VOTING INFORMATION:
>
>The purpose of a Usenet vote is to determine the genuine interest in >reading the proposed group, and soliciting votes from uninterested >parties defeats this purpose. Do not distribute this CFV; instead, >direct people to the official CFV posted to news.announce.newgroups.
>Distributing pre-marked, incomplete, or otherwise edited copies of >this CFV is considered vote fraud.
>
>At most one vote is allowed per person or per account. Duplicate >votes will be resolved in favor of the most recent valid vote.
>Addresses and votes of all voters will be listed in the final RESULT >post.
>
>Voters must mail their ballots directly to the votetaker. Anonymous, >forwarded, or proxy votes are not valid. Votes mailed by WWW/HTML/CGI >forms are considered anonymous, as are votes from any "munged" >addresses the votetaker cannot decipher.
>
>Please direct any questions to the votetaker at <mcq@wco.com>.
>
>HOW TO VOTE:
>
>Extract the ballot from the CFV by deleting everything before the
>"BEGINNING OF BALLOT" and after the "END OF BALLOT" lines. Please do >not send the entire CFV back to me! Don't worry about the spacing >of the columns or any quote characters (">") that your software >inserts.
>
>Provide your real name on the line that asks for it, and indicate your >vote in the brackets beside the group name. Valid votes are YES, NO, >ABSTAIN, and CANCEL. Examples of how to properly indicate your vote >(do not vote here):
>
> [YES] example.vote.yes
> [NO] example.vote.no
> [ABSTAIN] example.abstention
> [CANCEL] example.cancellation
>
>Do not modify or delete any other information in this ballot.
>Votetaking is automated, and any other changes to the ballot may >prevent your vote from being counted.
>
>When you're finished, mail the ballot to <!!! address !!!>.
>Replying to this message should work, but check the "To:" line. If >you ordinarily use a spam block, please delete it and use a valid >address to vote.
>
>If you do not receive an acknowledgment of your vote within three >days, contact the votetaker about the problem. You are responsible >for reading your ack and making sure your vote is registered >correctly.
>
><!!! ballot !!!>
>
>DISTRIBUTION
>
>This CFV has been posted to the following newsgroups:
>
> news.announce.newgroups
> news.groups
> alt.religion.bahai
> soc.culture.israel
> soc.religion.bahai
> soc.rights.human
> talk.religion.misc
>
>The CFV and the eventual RESULT posts will be mailed to these mailing >lists:
>
> Mailing list name: Baha'i Studies
> Submission address: Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us
> Request address: major@johnco.cc.ks.us
>
> Mailing list name: h-bahai
> Submission address: h-bahai@h-net.msu.edu
> Request address: smaneck@berry.edu or jrcole@umich.edu
>
> Mailing list name: Talisman
> Submission address: talisman@umich.edu
> Request address: jsgreen@umich.edu
>
>Pointers directing readers to this CFV will be posted in these groups:
>
> a.bsu.religion
> alt.religion
> alt.religion.islam

> news.admin.censorship
> soc.religion.eastern
> soc.religion.gnosis
> soc.religion.hindu
> soc.religion.paganism
> soc.religion.quaker
> soc.religion.sikhism
> soc.religion.unitarian-univ
> soc.religion.vaishnava
> talk.religion.buddhism
> talk.religion.newage
> uk.religion.interfaith
> uk.religion.misc
> uk.religion.other-faiths
>

>The CFV is also available by e-mail from the votetaker.

>
>--
>Rebecca Graham McQuitty
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 26, 1998 7:24 AM
To: Rebecca G. McQuitty
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai vote

I think I'm ready for it.... Let's go! Sorry I've been away for a few days and am just now getting this and your other messages. I appreciate all of the advice below too....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>
-----Original Message-----

From: Rebecca G. McQuitty <mcq@wco.com>
To: Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk>; FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>; house@usq.edu.au.uk <house@usq.edu.au.uk>
Cc: cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>
Date: Sunday, January 25, 1998 12:06 AM
Subject: talk.religion.bahai vote

>I'm writing to let you know that I will be handling the vote for the >proposed group talk.religion.bahai. There are a few things I need to >tell you before the vote starts:

>
> * Do not distribute the CFV; don't mail it, post it, or put it on > the web. I'll be happy to mail it to anyone who wants it. Even > more importantly, do not distribute edited or partial copies of > the CFV or voting instructions; this will result in invalidation
> of your ballot and all the ballots resulting from your > distribution, or in the cancellation of the entire vote.
>
> * Under no circumstances can I make information on the progress of > the vote available before the RESULT post appears. If this > information were to get out, it would be grounds for cancelling > the vote.
>
> * Since I can't comment on the substance of the proposal, I'll refer > any voters with questions or comments about it to you. I will be > answering any questions people have about voting procedures; feel > free to refer these questions to me.
>
> * As much as possible, please refrain from campaigning during the > voting period and let real levels of interest drive voters. Be > aware that proponent campaigning can cause a voter backlash and > produce the opposite result of that intended. If you do campaign, > make sure to do it properly: Place pointers to the CFV in > groups where you can be reasonably sure people will be interested > in the topic.
>

>My next message to you will contain a draft CFV. Please check it >carefully and let me know if you see any errors you'd like me to fix.
>I need for you to confirm that the information about the proposal is >correct before I can submit the CFV for publication.

>
>Let me know if you have any questions; I'll be happy to pass on any >information I have about the CFV process.

>
>Rebecca G. McQuitty
>Member, Usenet Volunteer Votetakers
>

From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 26, 1998 7:27 AM

To: pierceed@csus.edu
Subject: Re: Vote for a TRUE Baha'i / Re: talk.religion.bahai

-----Original Message-----

From: Eric D. Pierce <PIERCEED@sswdserver.sswd.csus.edu>
To: talisman@umich.edu <talisman@umich.edu>
Date: Saturday, January 24, 1998 9:07 PM
Subject: Vote for a TRUE Baha'i / Re: talk.religion.bahai

On 24 Jan 98 at 1:15, Burl Barer wrote:

> Date sent: Sat, 24 Jan 1998 01:15:42 -0800
> To: "FG" <FG@hotmail.com>,
> "talisman" <talisman@umich.edu>
> From: Burl Barer <burlb@bmi.net>
> Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

> Fred said:
> >The authorities closed down the "Talisman" mailing list. This was > >created by a professor at Indiana University, John Walbridge, in > >1994-OCT. The list had 175 subscribers. In early 1996, the Baha'i > >World Center in Haifa, Israel ordered the first of a series of > >investigations....etc.

For the record, I did not write the above but quoted it....

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 26, 1998 8:18 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahia disclaimer

>To me, s.r.b is obviously not an official or quasi-official organ of the >Baha'i administration.

The official Bahai Computer and Communication Association (BCCA) lists soc.religion.bahai as one of its "services" at

<https://www.bcca.org/services/srb/>

Other sources that seem to imply the same may be found at https://www.yahoo.com/Society_and_Culture/Religion/Faiths_and_Practices/Bah___Faith/

>
>T. Spade

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 26, 1998 8:31 AM
To: Ron House; Chris Manvell
Subject: CFV Rough Draft sent back....

I've returned the rough draft for the CFV and surmise it probably will be posted any time now. It might be beneficial to consult on the advice that the votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, has sent all the proponents. It offers some worthwhile advice and guidance to those new and old to the interest polling process.

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----begin quoted material:

I'm writing to let you know that I will be handling the vote for the proposed group talk.religion.bahai. There are a few things I need to tell you before the vote starts:

* Do not distribute the CFV; don't mail it, post it, or put it on the web. I'll be happy to mail it to anyone who wants it. Even more importantly, do not distribute edited or partial copies of the CFV or voting instructions; this will result in invalidation
of your ballot and all the ballots resulting from your distribution, or in the cancellation of the entire vote.

* Under no circumstances can I make information on the progress of the vote available before the RESULT post appears. If this information were to get out, it would be grounds for cancelling the vote.

* Since I can't comment on the substance of the proposal, I'll refer any voters with questions or comments about it to you. I will be answering any questions people have about voting procedures; feel free to refer these questions to me.

* As much as possible, please refrain from campaigning during the voting period and let real levels of interest drive voters. Be aware that proponent campaigning can cause a voter backlash and produce the opposite result of that intended. If you do campaign, make sure to do it properly: Place pointers to the CFV in groups where you can be reasonably sure people will be interested in the topic.

My next message to you will contain a draft CFV. Please check it carefully and let me know if you see any errors you'd like me to fix. I need for you to confirm that the information about the proposal is correct before I can submit the CFV for publication.

Let me know if you have any questions; I'll be happy to pass on any information I have about the CFV process.

Rebecca G. McQuitty
Member, Usenet Volunteer Votetakers

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 26, 1998 8:31 AM
Subject: CFV Rough Draft sent back....

I've returned the rough draft for the CFV and surmise it probably will be posted any time now. It might be beneficial to consult on the advice that the votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, has sent all the proponents. It offers some worthwhile advice and guidance to those new and old to the interest polling process.

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----begin quoted material:

I'm writing to let you know that I will be handling the vote for the proposed group talk.religion.bahai. There are a few things I need to tell you before the vote starts:

* Do not distribute the CFV; don't mail it, post it, or put it on the web. I'll be happy to mail it to anyone who wants it. Even more importantly, do not distribute edited or partial copies of the CFV or voting instructions; this will result in invalidation of your ballot and all the ballots resulting from your distribution, or in the cancellation of the entire vote.

* Under no circumstances can I make information on the progress of the vote available before the RESULT post appears. If this information were to get out, it would be grounds for cancelling the vote.

* Since I can't comment on the substance of the proposal, I'll refer any voters with questions or comments about it to you. I will be answering any questions people have about voting procedures; feel free to refer these questions to me.

* As much as possible, please refrain from campaigning during the voting period and let real levels of interest drive voters. Be aware that proponent campaigning can cause a voter backlash and produce the opposite result of that intended. If you do campaign, make sure to do it properly: Place pointers to the CFV in groups where you can be reasonably sure people will be interested in the topic.

My next message to you will contain a draft CFV. Please check it carefully and let me know if you see any errors you'd like me to fix. I need for you to confirm that the information about the proposal is correct before I can submit the CFV for publication.

Let me know if you have any questions; I'll be happy to pass on any information I have about the CFV process.

Rebecca G. McQuitty
Member, Usenet Volunteer Votetakers

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Monday, January 26, 1998 8:43 AM
Subject: Christian/Bahai apologetics

Some might find the Christian/Bahai website interesting.

--
FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----forwarded message:

Dear Baha'i brothers and sisters,

I wanted to invite you to the Fireside Letters website which focuses on controversial Christian/Baha'i issues from a Christian perspective. The redesigned site. is topical and condensed. Although some of the text files are perhaps larger than average, it is much reduced now to essentials that follow Christian/Baha'i apologetic concepts on both sides of through some point/counterpoint discussion that goes beyond the typical initial "difference of outlook" on given issues and really tries to follow issues through to a more substantial concluding point.

Topics include Comparing World religions, Man's nature, Baha'u'llah's station, Christ's station, Science and religion, Baha'is and the "New Age", Aa look at four Baha'i analogies, Bible "errors", The Resurrection and Pentecost, and Sin, Satan and Relative truth.

I hope you will find the site more accesible, and interesting, even if from the point of view of "agreeing to disagree". Certainly one can tell from the topic headings that critical issues between Christian and Baha'i are considered at length. Thus it should be at least visited and considered seriously along the path of "independent investigation".

Please refer others to the site and invite them as well to offer critical feedback which will be taken in a spirit of peace and the quest for truth.

Feedback welcomed,

God bless,

Dale:)

The Fireside Letters,

<https://personal.sdf.bellsouth.net/sdf/h/o/howdybud/FS%20website/index%20.htm>
1

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 26, 1998 9:10 AM
To: Ron House; Chris Manvell
Subject: talk.religion.bahai discussed on soc.religion.bahai

During the last week, soc.religion.bahai has finally permitted mention of talk.religion.bahai for the first time in about 4 or 5 months....

Any ideas why?

--
FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 26, 1998 9:10 AM
Subject: talk.religion.bahai discussed on soc.religion.bahai

During the last week, soc.religion.bahai has finally permitted mention of talk.religion.bahai for the first time in about 4 or 5 months....

Any ideas why?

--
FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, January 26, 1998 9:21 AM
Subject: Re: No sense of irony or shame....

Soc.religion.bahai has recently allowed this heading and message of mine to be reposted on it along with a number of messages responding to it or criticizing it or related issues....

FG wrote in message <6a4r5a$831@news1.zippo.com>...

>In my opinion, complete and unmitigated hypocrisy....

>

>FG

>UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

>The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,

>news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

>

>-----quoted message begins:

>

>A RESPONSE TO THE PUBLIC MESSAGE OF PRESIDENT KHATAMI TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

>

>January 13, 1998

>

>His Excellency President Mohammad Khatami

>Islamic Republic of Iran

>Tehran, Iran

>

>Your Excellency,

>

>We, the American Baha'is, residing in more than seven thousand cities and >towns across the United States and representing all races, cultures and >ethnic origins in our nation, have listened with great interest to your >words addressed to the American people, of which we are an organic part.

>

>Your message prompts us to address you directly, because of your expressed >dedication to the principles of freedom, justice and the rule of law - >principles which, as you noted, are cherished by the American people.

>

>We who enjoy such freedoms hope that our co-religionists in Iran, who have >been deprived of them, will be granted their full rights as law-abiding >citizens of your nation.

>

>We are particularly encouraged by your assertion "that religion and liberty >are consistent and compatible." As you said, "Human experience has taught >us that prosperous life should hinge on three pillars: religiosity, >liberty and justice." These, you concluded, "are the assets and >aspirations of the Islamic Revolution as it enters the twenty-first >century."

>

>Are the Baha'is of Iran - your nation's largest religious >minority - included in these aspirations?

>

>Your explicitly stated determination to fulfill the provisions of the >Iranian Constitution and to establish the rule of law gives us hope that >the freedom of the Baha'i community in Iran openly to practice its religion >will be guaranteed.

>

>May we not expect, in the light of your commitment to human dignity and >freedom, that the United Nations General Assembly Resolution

>(A/RES/52/142), which calls for the emancipation of the Baha'i community of >Iran, will now be implemented?

>

>Respectfully yours,

>

>THE BAHA'IS OF THE UNITED STATES

>Robert Calvin Henderson

>Secretary

>

>NATIONAL SPIRITUAL ASSEMBLY OF THE BAHA'IS OF THE UNITED STATES

>1320 NINETEENTH ST., N.W., SUITE 701 . WASHINGTON, D.C. 20036 .

>202.833.8990

>

>

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Monday, January 26, 1998 9:32 AM

To: Bruce D Limber

Subject: Re: U.S. Baha'is to Iran's Pres. Khatami re Baha'is in Iran (a letter)

Please do not email me directly. Post your opinions on news.groups or other relevant news groups.

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,

news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

-----Original Message-----

From: Bruce D Limber <bruce.limber@juno.com>

To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Friday, January 23, 1998 8:53 AM
Subject: Re: U.S. Baha'is to Iran's Pres. Khatami re Baha'is in Iran (a letter)

>
>>In my opinion, complete and unmitigated hypocrisy....
>
>A fact is not hypocrisy. It is a fact.
>
>It's truly a pity that you still haven't learned the well-known >concept that if you have nothing good to say, you should >SAY NOTHING.
>
>It's really very simple.
>
>I refer you to the "I will not dwell on the unpleasant things >of life" prayer for details.
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 27, 1998 8:01 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

This all strikes me as a good summation before the interest poll gets under way here shortly....

Ron House wrote in message <34CD6CED.4ED50ED9@usq.edu.au>...

>The rules of this forum are that good citizenship, >but not the letter of the law, requires that a no >vote only be cast for technical reasons.
>
>If you want me to:
>
>(A) convince you to not vote no:
>
>then I respond that Baha'is are expected to be good >'citizens', and therefore, as neither you nor anyone >else has suggested any plausible technical arguments, >a no vote just isn't acceptable for a 'good' Baha'i.
>
>But if you want me to:
>
>(B) convince you to vote yes:
>
>then I simply point out to you that there are many people >in the world whose chief attraction to the Baha'i >faith is its adherence to Baha'u'llah's principle >of _INDEPENDENT_ search for truth, and that many >of these people simply won't consider any kind of >moderated forum to be free enough for their search >purposes. Quite a few people have independently >volunteered such a view during this discussion, and >I would suggest to you that not much purpose is >served by denying the fact. What you do with it >is up to you.
>
>If I convince you of (A) but not of (B), then abstain.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 27, 1998 8:24 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

FYI

More than 5,512 messages have been posted to alt.religion.bahai as of this morning since April 1, 1997....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 27, 1998 6:45 PM
To: pjohnson@leo.vsla.edu; pjohnson@leo.vsla.edu
Subject: talk.religion.bahai

You might find it interesting to know that recently you've been the subject of discussion on soc.religion.bahai, news.groups, and alt.religion.bahai....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: Rebecca G. McQuitty[SMTP:mcq@wco.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 27, 1998 11:29 PM
To: Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us
Subject: CFV: talk.religion.bahai

The Baha'i Studies List

FIRST CALL FOR VOTES (of 2)
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

Usenet readers may now vote on the proposed worldwide newsgroup talk.religion.bahai. This CFV contains information about both the voting process and the proposed group; please read the entire CFV
before voting.

Only the votetaker is authorized to distribute this CFV. Do not post
it to any newsgroup, mail it to any person or mailing list, or place it on the World Wide Web. Ballots or CFVs provided by anyone except the votetaker will be invalid.

Newsgroups line:
talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

Votes must be received by 23:59:59 UTC, 18 Feb 1998.

A neutral, third-party volunteer is conducting this vote. Direct questions about the vote to the votetaker, and questions about the proposed group to the proponents.

Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Proponent: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk >
Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>
Votetaker: Rebecca McQuitty <mcq@wco.com>

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

Between January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, and March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning
talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

Between April 1, 1997 and September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months.

Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.*
hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for
discussion.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure
in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

IMPORTANT VOTING INFORMATION:

The purpose of a Usenet vote is to determine the genuine interest in reading the proposed group, and soliciting votes from uninterested parties defeats this purpose. Do not distribute this CFV; instead, direct people to the official CFV posted to news.announce.newgroups. Distributing pre-marked, incomplete, or otherwise edited copies of this CFV is considered vote fraud.

At most one vote is allowed per person or per account. Duplicate votes will be resolved in favor of the most recent valid vote. Addresses and votes of all voters will be listed in the final RESULT post.

Voters must mail their ballots directly to the votetaker. Anonymous, forwarded, or proxy votes are not valid. Votes mailed by WWW/HTML/CGI forms are considered anonymous, as are votes from any "munged" addresses the votetaker cannot decipher.

Please direct any questions to the votetaker at <mcq@wco.com>.

HOW TO VOTE:

Extract the ballot from the CFV by deleting everything before the "BEGINNING OF BALLOT" and after the "END OF BALLOT" lines. Please do not send the entire CFV back to me! Don't worry about the spacing of the columns or any quote characters (">") that your software inserts.

Provide your real name on the line that asks for it, and indicate your vote in the brackets beside the group name. Valid votes are YES, NO, ABSTAIN, and CANCEL. Examples of how to properly indicate your vote (do not vote here):

```
[ YES      ] example.vote.yes
[ NO       ] example.vote.no
[ ABSTAIN  ] example.abstention
[ CANCEL   ] example.cancellation
```

Do not modify or delete any other information in this ballot. Votetaking is automated, and any other changes to the ballot may prevent your vote from being counted.

When you're finished, mail the ballot to <mcq@wco.com>. Replying to this message should work, but check the "To:" line. If you ordinarily use a spam block, please delete it and use a valid address to vote.

If you do not receive an acknowledgment of your vote within three days, contact the votetaker about the problem. You are responsible for reading your ack and making sure your vote is registered correctly.

-----BEGINNING OF BALLOT: Delete Everything Before This Line-----

Usenet Ballot: talk.religion.bahai

Valid ballots are distributed blank in a Call for		Leave this
Votes posted to news.announce.newgroups or mailed		marker here:
by the votetaker. Other ballots may be rejected.		<TRB-0005>

Give your real name on the next line (do not give your email address).
Your name -->

[Your Vote] Group (Place your vote in the empty brackets below.)

[] talk.religion.bahai

-----END OF BALLOT: Delete Everything After This Line-----

DISTRIBUTION

This CFV has been posted to the following newsgroups:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai (posted separately)

The CFV and the eventual RESULT posts will be mailed to these mailing lists:

Mailing list name: Baha'i Studies
Submission address: Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us
Request address: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

Mailing list name: h-bahai
Submission address: h-bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Request address: smaneck@berry.edu or jrcole@umich.edu

Mailing list name: Talisman
Submission address: talisman@umich.edu
Request address: jsgreen@umich.edu

Pointers directing readers to this CFV will be posted in these groups:

a.bsu.religion
alt.religion
alt.religion.islam
news.admin.censorship
soc.religion.eastern
soc.religion.gnosis
soc.religion.hindu
soc.religion.paganism
soc.religion.quaker
soc.religion.sikhism
soc.religion.unitarian-univ
soc.religion.vaishnava
talk.religion.buddhism
talk.religion.newage
uk.religion.interfaith
uk.religion.misc
uk.religion.other-faiths

The CFV is also available by e-mail from the votetaker.

--
Rebecca Graham McQuitty
-
To switch to the digested list, send the following commands to major@johnco.cc.ks.us in the message body
-
unsubscribe bahai-st
subscribe bahai-st-digest

From: Rebecca G. McQuitty[SMTP:mcq@wco.com]
Sent: Tuesday, January 27, 1998 11:32 PM
To: talisman@umich.edu
Subject: CFV: talk.religion.bahai

FIRST CALL FOR VOTES (of 2)
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

Usenet readers may now vote on the proposed worldwide newsgroup talk.religion.bahai. This CFV contains information about both the voting process and the proposed group; please read the entire CFV before voting.

Only the votetaker is authorized to distribute this CFV. Do not post it to any newsgroup, mail it to any person or mailing list, or place it on the World Wide Web. Ballots or CFVs provided by anyone except the votetaker will be invalid.

Newsgroups line:
talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

Votes must be received by 23:59:59 UTC, 18 Feb 1998.

A neutral, third-party volunteer is conducting this vote. Direct questions about the vote to the votetaker, and questions about the proposed group to the proponents.

Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Proponent: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk >
Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>
Votetaker: Rebecca McQuitty <mcq@wco.com>

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

Between January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, and March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

Between April 1, 1997 and September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months.

Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

IMPORTANT VOTING INFORMATION:

The purpose of a Usenet vote is to determine the genuine interest in reading the proposed group, and soliciting votes from uninterested parties defeats this purpose. Do not distribute this CFV; instead, direct people to the official CFV posted to news.announce.newgroups. Distributing pre-marked, incomplete, or otherwise edited copies of this CFV is considered vote fraud.

At most one vote is allowed per person or per account. Duplicate votes will be resolved in favor of the most recent valid vote. Addresses and votes of all voters will be listed in the final RESULT post.

Voters must mail their ballots directly to the votetaker. Anonymous, forwarded, or proxy votes are not valid. Votes mailed by WWW/HTML/CGI forms are considered anonymous, as are votes from any "munged" addresses the votetaker cannot decipher.

Please direct any questions to the votetaker at <mcq@wco.com>.

HOW TO VOTE:

Extract the ballot from the CFV by deleting everything before the "BEGINNING OF BALLOT" and after the "END OF BALLOT" lines. Please do not send the entire CFV back to me! Don't worry about the spacing of the columns or any quote characters (">") that your software inserts.

Provide your real name on the line that asks for it, and indicate your vote in the brackets beside the group name. Valid votes are YES, NO, ABSTAIN, and CANCEL. Examples of how to properly indicate your vote (do not vote here):

```
[ YES      ] example.vote.yes
[ NO       ] example.vote.no
[ ABSTAIN  ] example.abstention
[ CANCEL   ] example.cancellation
```

Do not modify or delete any other information in this ballot. Votetaking is automated, and any other changes to the ballot may prevent your vote from being counted.

When you're finished, mail the ballot to <mcq@wco.com>. Replying to this message should work, but check the "To:" line. If you ordinarily use a spam block, please delete it and use a valid address to vote.

If you do not receive an acknowledgment of your vote within three days, contact the votetaker about the problem. You are responsible for reading your ack and making sure your vote is registered correctly.

-----BEGINNING OF BALLOT: Delete Everything Before This Line-----

Usenet Ballot: talk.religion.bahai

Valid ballots are distributed blank in a Call for		Leave this
Votes posted to news.announce.newgroups or mailed		marker here:
by the votetaker. Other ballots may be rejected.		<TRB-0009>

Give your real name on the next line (do not give your email address).
Your name -->

[Your Vote] Group (Place your vote in the empty brackets below.)

[] talk.religion.bahai

-----END OF BALLOT: Delete Everything After This Line-----

DISTRIBUTION

This CFV has been posted to the following newsgroups:

```
news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai (posted separately)
```

The CFV and the eventual RESULT posts will be mailed to these mailing lists:

Mailing list name: Baha'i Studies
Submission address: Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us
Request address: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

Mailing list name: h-bahai
Submission address: h-bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Request address: smaneck@berry.edu or jrcole@umich.edu

Mailing list name: Talisman
Submission address: talisman@umich.edu
Request address: jsgreen@umich.edu

Pointers directing readers to this CFV will be posted in these groups:

```
a.bsu.religion
alt.religion
alt.religion.islam
news.admin.censorship
soc.religion.eastern
soc.religion.gnosis
soc.religion.hindu
soc.religion.paganism
soc.religion.quaker
soc.religion.sikhism
soc.religion.unitarian-univ
soc.religion.vaishnava
talk.religion.buddhism
talk.religion.newage
uk.religion.interfaith
```

uk.religion.misc
uk.religion.other-faiths

The CFV is also available by e-mail from the votetaker.

--
Rebecca Graham McQuitty

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 28, 1998 6:57 AM
To: Bruce D Limber
Subject: Re: U.S. Baha'is to Iran's Pres. Khatami re Baha'is in Iran (a letter)

As far as I'm concerned, you represent, like so many Bahais, the epitome of your accusations against me.... I will be deleting anything else from you in my mailbox without reading it....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>
-----Original Message-----
From: Bruce D Limber <bruce.limber@juno.com>
To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Tuesday, January 27, 1998 7:30 PM
Subject: Re: U.S. Baha'is to Iran's Pres. Khatami re Baha'is in Iran (a letter)

>
>>Please do not email me directly.
>
>When you cease trying to engender division and negativity, I >will cease replying.
>
>Until then, I reserve the right to object to bigotry and hate->mongering.
>
>And I stand by the statements in my previous post.
>
>

>You don't need to buy Internet access to use free Internet e-mail.
>Get completely free e-mail from Juno at <https://www.juno.com>
>Or call Juno at (800) 654-JUNO [654-5866]
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 28, 1998 7:32 AM
Subject: Re: CFV Rough Draft sent back....

Rebecca McQuitty wrote in message <6amm2n\$okp\$1@news.ncal.verio.com>...
><x@x.x> wrote:

>
>[about pointers to the CFV]
>
>> May we assume that the votetaker will post these, or should the >> proponents do so?
>
>Proponents are responsible for posting the pointers listed in the CFV;
>the optional step of checking them out with the votetaker before posting >can help prevent problems.

I'll post them as soon as I hear back from you okaying a rough draft
I'll send you in a minute.

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups, news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 28, 1998 7:41 AM
To: Rebecca G. McQuitty
Subject: Rough draft for pointer: talk.religion.bahai

Rebecca, is this all right for a pointer?

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to all of the newsgroups and listservs specified in the RFD. You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email:

mcq@wco.com

--

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Wednesday, January 28, 1998 7:59 AM

To: Ron House; Chris Manvell

Subject: Fw: CFV talk.religion.bahai posted

FYI

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted.

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the votetaker,

Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

-----Original Message-----

From: Rebecca McQuitty <mcq@wco.com>

Newsgroups:

news.announce.newgroups,news.groups,alt.religion.bahai,soc.culture.israel,so
c.rights.human,talk.religion.misc

Date: Tuesday, January 27, 1998 9:25 PM

Subject: CFV: talk.religion.bahai

> FIRST CALL FOR VOTES (of 2)

> unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

>

>Usenet readers may now vote on the proposed worldwide newsgroup >talk.religion.bahai. This CFV contains information about both the >voting process and the proposed group; please read the entire CFV >before voting.

>

>Only the votetaker is authorized to distribute this CFV. Do not post

>it to any newsgroup, mail it to any person or mailing list, or place

>it on the World Wide Web. Ballots or CFVs provided by anyone except >the votetaker will be invalid.

>

>Newsgroups line:

>talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

>

>Votes must be received by 23:59:59 UTC, 18 Feb 1998.

>

>A neutral, third-party volunteer is conducting this vote. Direct >questions about the vote to the votetaker, and questions about the >proposed group to the proponents.

>

>Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

>Proponent: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk >

>Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>

>Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>

>Votetaker: Rebecca McQuitty <mcq@wco.com>

>

>RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

>

>Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists

>specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need >exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would >meet that need.

>

>Between January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, and

>March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning

>talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

>

>Between April 1, 1997 and September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have >been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying

>points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day >for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months.

>

>Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional >conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost

>from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different >individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

>

>These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for

>talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time

>periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.*

>hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest,

>justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith

>on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the >easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher >rates of posting by interested people.

>
>The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather >than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and >will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less >well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, >especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were >unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the >hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along >as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an >alternative unmoderated newsgroup.
>
>CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai
>
>All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history,
>teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for >discussion.
>
>Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure >in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.
>
>Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to >start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on >articles and threads written in more moderate terms.
>
>The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith >is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large >ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and >any postings of a purely commercial nature.
>
>Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are >encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting.
>Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from >soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.
>
>As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular
>religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai >newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.
>
>END CHARTER.
>
>IMPORTANT VOTING INFORMATION:
>
>The purpose of a Usenet vote is to determine the genuine interest in >reading the proposed group, and soliciting votes from uninterested >parties defeats this purpose. Do not distribute this CFV; instead, >direct people to the official CFV posted to news.announce.newgroups.
>Distributing pre-marked, incomplete, or otherwise edited copies of >this CFV is considered vote fraud.
>
>At most one vote is allowed per person or per account. Duplicate >votes will be resolved in favor of the most recent valid vote.
>Addresses and votes of all voters will be listed in the final RESULT >post.
>
>Voters must mail their ballots directly to the votetaker. Anonymous, >forwarded, or proxy votes are not valid. Votes mailed by WWW/HTML/CGI >forms are considered anonymous, as are votes from any "munged"
>addresses the votetaker cannot decipher.
>
>Please direct any questions to the votetaker at <mcq@wco.com>.
>
>HOW TO VOTE:
>
>Extract the ballot from the CFV by deleting everything before the
>"BEGINNING OF BALLOT" and after the "END OF BALLOT" lines. Please do >not send the entire CFV back to me! Don't worry about the spacing >of the columns or any quote characters (">") that your software >inserts.
>
>Provide your real name on the line that asks for it, and indicate your >vote in the brackets beside the group name. Valid votes are YES, NO, >ABSTAIN, and CANCEL. Examples of how to properly indicate your vote >(do not vote here):
>
> [YES] example.vote.yes
> [NO] example.vote.no
> [ABSTAIN] example.abstention
> [CANCEL] example.cancellation
>
>Do not modify or delete any other information in this ballot.
>Votetaking is automated, and any other changes to the ballot may >prevent your vote from being counted.
>
>When you're finished, mail the ballot to <mcq@wco.com>. Replying to >this message should work, but check the "To:" line. If you ordinarily >use a spam block, please delete it and use a valid address to vote.

```

>
>If you do not receive an acknowledgment of your vote within three >days, contact the votetaker about the problem. You are responsible >for reading your ack and making sure your vote is registered >correctly.
>
>-----BEGINNING OF BALLOT: Delete Everything Before This Line-----
>-----
>                Usenet Ballot: talk.religion.bahai
>-----
>
>Valid ballots are distributed blank in a Call for      |   Leave this
>Votes posted to news.announce.newgroups or mailed    |   marker here:
>by the votetaker. Other ballots may be rejected.     |   <TRB-0001>
>
>Give your real name on the next line (do not give your email address).
>Your name -->
>[Your Vote]   Group      (Place your vote in the empty brackets below.)
>-----
>[           ]   talk.religion.bahai
>-----
>-----END OF BALLOT: Delete Everything After This Line-----
>
>DISTRIBUTION
>
>This CFV has been posted to the following newsgroups:
>
>  news.announce.newgroups
>  news.groups
>  alt.religion.bahai
>  soc.culture.israel
>  soc.rights.human
>  talk.religion.misc
>  soc.religion.bahai (posted separately)
>
>The CFV and the eventual RESULT posts will be mailed to these mailing >lists:
>
>  Mailing list name: Baha'i Studies
>  Submission address: Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us
>  Request address: major@johnco.cc.ks.us
>
>  Mailing list name: h-bahai
>  Submission address: h-bahai@h-net.msu.edu
>  Request address: smaneck@berry.edu or jrcole@umich.edu
>
>  Mailing list name: Talisman
>  Submission address: talisman@umich.edu
>  Request address: jsgreen@umich.edu
>
>Pointers directing readers to this CFV will be posted in these groups:
>
>  a.bsu.religion
>  alt.religion
>  alt.religion.islam
>  news.admin.censorship
>  soc.religion.eastern
>  soc.religion.gnosis
>  soc.religion.hindu
>  soc.religion.paganism
>  soc.religion.quaker
>  soc.religion.sikhism
>  soc.religion.unitarian-univ
>  soc.religion.vaishnava
>  talk.religion.buddhism
>  talk.religion.newage
>  uk.religion.interfaith
>  uk.religion.misc
>  uk.religion.other-faiths
>
>The CFV is also available by e-mail from the votetaker.
>
>--
>Rebecca Graham McQuitty
>
>-----
From:   Chris Manvell[SMTP:Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk]
Sent:   Wednesday, January 28, 1998 1:07 PM
To:     FG
Cc:     Ron House
Subject: Re: Fw: CFV talk.religion.bahai posted
>
In message <01bd2be4$3b9b1900$762ab3c7@glaysher.Library>, FG <FG@hotmail.com> writes
>FG
>UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
>
>The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>
>
>The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted.

```

Saw it and voted!

BTW, we are not the only people being hammered by Rick Schaut. I see he is in the fray elsewhere on various subjects!

All the best,

Chris Manvell, Isle of Skye, Scotland. Tel.:+44+(0)1471-822317
Co-proponent of talk.religion.bahai who really must get a new keyboard!

--
NEWSGROUP READERS: Please remove "NO_UCE" from address before e-mailing.
Go to <<https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>> to read the REVISED RFD for talk.religion.bahai. Discussion itself may be found on news.groups.

From: Rebecca G. McQuitty[SMTP:mcq@wco.com]
Sent: Wednesday, January 28, 1998 3:33 PM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Rough draft for pointer: talk.religion.bahai

On Wed, 28 Jan 1998, rederick Glaysher wrote:

> Rebecca, is this all right for a pointer?

I'd suggest listing the newsgroups where the CFV is posted instead of referring back to the RFD. Other than that, it's fine.

Cheers,
Rebecca G. McQuitty

> of the newsgroups and listservs specified in the RFD. You may now > vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.
>
> The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, > Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email:
>
> mcq@wco.com

From: George Demas[SMTP:gjdemas@ap.net]
Sent: Wednesday, January 28, 1998 8:45 PM
To: FG
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Get a life.

Nobody is obligated to be a Baha'i. If you want to be one, you must live by the rules set down by God.

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,news.groups
Date: Thursday, January 22, 1998 4:28 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

>Thanks, Emma. As background information, I'll >quote a few things that seem relevant to the discussion >for talk.religion.bahai and might help set it in a fuller >historical context here on news.groups....

>
>FG
>UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
>The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
>news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>
>

>-----
>Quoted material begins from <https://www.religioustolerance.org/bahai.htm>

>
>
>Freedom of Expression within the Baha'i Faith

>
>Although Baha'is have been very active in the promotion of freedom of >expression around the world, there are significant restrictions on >freedoms of individual members. These are enforced through >shunning or expelling non-conforming adherents. Some examples are:

>
>[clip]

>
>The Baha'i authorities impose prepublication censorship on all material >written by members about the Faith. All such material must first be >scanned by a review committee of the Baha'i National Spiritual >Assembly of the country in which the text is to be published. This was >a temporary policy introduced many decades ago, which is still in force.

>
>The authorities closed down the "Talisman" mailing list. This was >created by a professor at Indiana University, John Walbridge, in >1994-OCT. The list had 175 subscribers. In early 1996, the Baha'i >World Center in Haifa, Israel ordered the first of a series of >investigations.

>One sensitive topic debated on "Talisman" was the exclusion of women >from the Universal House of Justice which some subscribers felt was i >ncompatible with the importance given to the equality of the sexes >within the Baha'i Faith. Some postings argued that the body be opened >up to women; they based their beliefs on their interpretation of >Baha'u'llah's writings. "Talisman" was closed on 1996-MAY. Juan Cole, >now an ex-Baha'i, opened a new Talisman list the following month. Its >e-mail address is talisman@umich.edu.

>
>[clip]
>

>Michael McKenny, a fantasy writer from Canada was expelled because >of his views expressed in Emails.

>
>-----
>-
>-----
>Internet References and Mailing Lists
>
>Jonah Winters' Baha'i Academics Resource Area is at:
><https://www.interlog.com/~winters/>
>
>[clip]
>

>Material on freedom of expression within the Baha'i Faith is available at:
><https://www.interlog.com/~winters/newspapers/gnosis.talisman.html> and at ><https://www.interlog.com/~winters/newspapers/chafe.html>
>
>An official response from the US National Spiritual Assembly to the latter >item is available at: <https://www.interlog.com/~winters/uhj/attacks.html>
>
>Paul Johnson authored an article on the Talisman discussion group in >1997-Winter edition of Gnosis Magazine.

>
>-----
>Emma Pease wrote in message ...
>
>>Emma
>>
>>Possible interesting website written from a somewhat neutral point of >>view
>>
>><https://www.religioustolerance.org/bahai.htm>
>>
>>ps. Some of the Baha'i sites are extremely difficult to navigate with >>lynx (or for that matter monochrome netscape) and don't seem to be >>coded right. <https://www.bahai.org/> is a case in point.

>>--
>>\-----
>>| * | Emma Pease Net Spinster
>>|_ \ / emma@csl.i.stanford.edu Die Luft der Freiheit weht
>
>

From: James[SMTP:bookstor@pandore.qc.ca]
Sent: Thursday, January 29, 1998 4:45 AM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Are you or are you not?

Hello Frederick:

Well, are you or are you not a Baha'i?

James

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 29, 1998 8:32 AM
To: talisman
Subject: Harassing, vilifying hate mail....

I've received several pieces of abusive and vilifying hate mail from Bahais during the last three or four days. Although I've asked one person not to email me at least twice in the past, he continues to insist on his "right" to harass me. I'd appreciate if other Bahais would generally appeal to such persons either to post what they think in public view or not to contact me in any way....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted.
You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.
The CFV is also available directly from the votetaker,

Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 29, 1998 8:32 AM
Subject: Harassing, vilifying hate mail....

I've received several pieces of abusive and vilifying hate mail from Bahais during the last three or four days. Although I've asked one person not to email me at least twice in the past, he continues to insist on his "right" to harass me. I'd appreciate if other Bahais would generally appeal to such persons either to post what they think in public view or not to contact me in any way....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted. You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th. The CFV is also available directly from the votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 29, 1998 9:40 AM
To: Ron House; Chris Manvell
Subject: Re: CFV Rough Draft sent back....

The pointers to the CFV have now been posted....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 29, 1998 9:40 AM
Subject: Re: CFV Rough Draft sent back....

The pointers to the CFV have now been posted....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 29, 1998 9:52 AM
To: Juan R. I. Cole
Subject: Fw: CFV: talk.religion.bahai

Has someone decided not to post the CFV to h-bahai? I haven't seen it yet. It was posted elsewhere two days ago....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

-----Original Message-----

From: Rebecca G. McQuitty <mcq@wco.com>
To: Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us <Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us>
Date: Tuesday, January 27, 1998 10:30 PM
Subject: CFV: talk.religion.bahai

>The Baha'i Studies List*

>
> FIRST CALL FOR VOTES (of 2)
> unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai
>

>Usenet readers may now vote on the proposed worldwide newsgroup >talk.religion.bahai. This CFV contains information about both the >voting process and the proposed group; please read the entire CFV >before voting.

>
>Only the votetaker is authorized to distribute this CFV. Do not post
>it to any newsgroup, mail it to any person or mailing list, or place
>it on the World Wide Web. Ballots or CFVs provided by anyone except >the votetaker will be invalid.

>
>Newsgroups line:
>talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

>
>Votes must be received by 23:59:59 UTC, 18 Feb 1998.

>
>A neutral, third-party volunteer is conducting this vote. Direct >questions about the vote to the votetaker, and questions about the >proposed group to the proponents.

>
>Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
>Proponent: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk>
>Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
>Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>
>Votetaker: Rebecca McQuitty <mcq@wco.com>

>
>RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

>
>Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists >specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need >exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would >meet that need.

>
>Between January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, and >March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning >talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

>
>Between April 1, 1997 and September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have >been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying >points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day >for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months.

>
>Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional >conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost >from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different >individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

>

>These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for >talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time >periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.*
>hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, >justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith >on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the >easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher >rates of posting by interested people.
>
>The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather >than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and >will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less >well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, >especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were >unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the >hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along >as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an >alternative unmoderated newsgroup.
>
>CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai
>
>All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history,
>teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for >discussion.
>
>Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure >in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.
>
>Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to >start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on >articles and threads written in more moderate terms.
>
>The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith >is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large >ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and >any postings of a purely commercial nature.
>
>Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are >encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting.
>Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from >soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.
>
>As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular
>religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai >newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.
>
>END CHARTER.
>
>IMPORTANT VOTING INFORMATION:
>
>The purpose of a Usenet vote is to determine the genuine interest in >reading the proposed group, and soliciting votes from uninterested >parties defeats this purpose. Do not distribute this CFV; instead, >direct people to the official CFV posted to news.announce.newgroups.
>Distributing pre-marked, incomplete, or otherwise edited copies of >this CFV is considered vote fraud.
>
>At most one vote is allowed per person or per account. Duplicate >votes will be resolved in favor of the most recent valid vote.
>Addresses and votes of all voters will be listed in the final RESULT >post.
>
>Voters must mail their ballots directly to the votetaker. Anonymous, >forwarded, or proxy votes are not valid. Votes mailed by WWW/HTML/CGI >forms are considered anonymous, as are votes from any "munged"
>addresses the votetaker cannot decipher.
>
>Please direct any questions to the votetaker at <mcq@wco.com>.
>
>HOW TO VOTE:
>
>Extract the ballot from the CFV by deleting everything before the
>"BEGINNING OF BALLOT" and after the "END OF BALLOT" lines. Please do >not send the entire CFV back to me! Don't worry about the spacing >of the columns or any quote characters (">") that your software >inserts.
>
>Provide your real name on the line that asks for it, and indicate your >vote in the brackets beside the group name. Valid votes are YES, NO, >ABSTAIN, and CANCEL. Examples of how to properly indicate your vote >(do not vote here):
>
> [YES] example.vote.yes
> [NO] example.vote.no
> [ABSTAIN] example.abstention
> [CANCEL] example.cancellation
>
>Do not modify or delete any other information in this ballot.

```
>Votetaking is automated, and any other changes to the ballot may >prevent your vote from being counted.
>
>When you're finished, mail the ballot to <mcq@wco.com>. Replying to >this message should work, but check the "To:" line. If you ordinarily >use a spam block, please delete it and use a valid address to vote.
>
>If you do not receive an acknowledgment of your vote within three >days, contact the votetaker about the problem. You are responsible >for reading your ack and making sure your vote is registered >correctly.
>
>-----BEGINNING OF BALLOT: Delete Everything Before This Line-----
>-----
>                Usenet Ballot: talk.religion.bahai
>-----
>Valid ballots are distributed blank in a Call for      | Leave this
>Votes posted to news.announce.newgroups or mailed    | marker here:
>by the votetaker. Other ballots may be rejected.      | <TRB-0005>
>-----
>Give your real name on the next line (do not give your email address).
>Your name -->
>[Your Vote] Group      (Place your vote in the empty brackets below.)
>-----
>[      ] talk.religion.bahai
>-----
>-----END OF BALLOT: Delete Everything After This Line-----
>-----
>DISTRIBUTION
>
>This CFV has been posted to the following newsgroups:
>
>  news.announce.newgroups
>  news.groups
>  alt.religion.bahai
>  soc.culture.israel
>  soc.rights.human
>  talk.religion.misc
>  soc.religion.bahai (posted separately)
>
>The CFV and the eventual RESULT posts will be mailed to these mailing >lists:
>
>  Mailing list name: Baha'i Studies
>  Submission address: Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us
>  Request address: major@johnco.cc.ks.us
>
>  Mailing list name: h-bahai
>  Submission address: h-bahai@h-net.msu.edu
>  Request address: smaneck@berry.edu or jrcole@umich.edu
>
>  Mailing list name: Talisman
>  Submission address: talisman@umich.edu
>  Request address: jsgreen@umich.edu
>
>Pointers directing readers to this CFV will be posted in these groups:
>
>  a.bsu.religion
>  alt.religion
>  alt.religion.islam
>  news.admin.censorship
>  soc.religion.eastern
>  soc.religion.gnosis
>  soc.religion.hindu
>  soc.religion.paganism
>  soc.religion.quaker
>  soc.religion.sikhism
>  soc.religion.unitarian-univ
>  soc.religion.vaishnava
>  talk.religion.buddhism
>  talk.religion.newage
>  uk.religion.interfaith
>  uk.religion.misc
>  uk.religion.other-faiths
>
>The CFV is also available by e-mail from the votetaker.
>
>--
>Rebecca Graham McQuitty
>
>To switch to the digested list, >send the following commands to major@johnco.cc.ks.us in the message body
>
>-
>unsubscribe bahai-st
>subscribe bahai-st-digest
>
```

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 29, 1998 5:26 PM
To: Juan R. I. Cole
Subject: Re: Fw: CFV: talk.religion.bahai

Ah, yes, now I do recall....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: Emma Pease[SMTP:emma@csl.stanford.edu]
Sent: Thursday, January 29, 1998 5:38 PM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Re: Harassing, vilifying hate mail....

[email only]

In <6apsrg$njd@news1.newsguy.com> "FG" <FG@hotmail.com> writes:

>I've received several pieces of abusive and vilifying hate mail >from Bahais during the last three or four days. Although I've asked >one person not to email me at least twice in the past, he continues >to insist on his "right" to harass me. I'd appreciate if other Bahais >would generally appeal to such persons either to post what they >think in public view or not to contact me in any way....

I would suggest writing the harasser a note asking him to cease sending you any email and that any communications he wishes to have with you should be in the newsgroup. In the same message state that you don't intend to ever send him another email (and hold by that no matter what the provocation [ideally by setting up a filter that bounces any mail sent from him back to him]). CC this message to his postmaster and to your postmaster (this is important, it means someone with authority to force him to cease has been made aware of the problem; your postmaster may also be able to help with filters and now knows that a problem is going on [especially if, as sometimes happens, he accuses you of being the harasser]). If he evades the filter, send an example message to his postmaster and note that you have asked him to cease sending you email and that the postmaster should have your original 'please cease' message in his files.

Note that it is important that you cease sending any email to him after the formal cease message. If you send him even one email after that message, it will seriously undermine any support you will get from his ISP's postmaster and your ISP's postmaster.

Emma

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, January 29, 1998 5:42 PM
Subject: Re: Pointer to CFV: talk.religion.bahai

Dave Ratcliffe wrote in message <34d3dd3a.103392177@news.microserve.net>...
>On Thu, 29 Jan 1998 07:54:54 -0500, in news.admin.censorship, "Frederick >Glaysher" <FG@hotmail.com> wrote:
>>The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to all >>of the newsgroups and listservs specified in the CFV:

>
>[deletia]

>
>You posted this in news.admin.censorship?

Yes.

>
>Whatever for, Fred?

I and other people have stated that we have been censored on soc.religion.bahai repeatedly and to such an extent that it clearly demonstrates a pattern of concern that at least partially has played a role in the desire for an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith. Since news.admin.censorship focusses on censorship, I have posted there in the past to inform people who care about the issue of what at least I and some other people believe has or is taking place on Usenet in regard to our attempts to form talk.religion.bahai.

>
>--
>Dave Ratcliffe
>dave@frackit.com

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 30, 1998 7:43 AM
Subject: Re: Harassing, vilifying hate mail....

Chris Manvell wrote:

>BTW, Fred, the web address you are posting is wrong and should be:
><<https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>. The page has been updated >with a pointer to the CFV.

Oops! I knew that but stared right at it without seeing it.....

Thanks.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 30, 1998 7:47 AM
Subject: Re: Harassing, vilifying hate mail....

Robert A. Little wrote in message <6argk5$1ck$1@nnrp2.snfc21.pbi.net>...
>'Abdul-Baha' is quoted in the Stars of the West as saying (approximately) >that the enemies outside of the Faith can do no harm, but those within the >Faith, those who call themselves the "friends" and who break the laws of >love and of unity can do great harm in this day (1919).

What's this supposed to mean?

>Realizing that this is an unmoderated group, I appeal to Baha'is to observe >the tenets of this divinely ordained Faith, and to show restraint in the >face of provocation.

Now let me get your reason right.... An unmoderated group equals provocation?

>Ask yourselves: what would 'Abdul-Baha' do?

I assume you're suggesting he wouldn't send hate mail or vote to suppress the human rights of others....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel

soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 30, 1998 8:00 AM
Subject: Re: Harassing, vilifying hate mail....

Roger Reini wrote in message <34D0A510.2411@SPAMBLOCKford.com>...

>FG wrote:

>

>If this is true, then it is most unfortunate. It is even more so if it >is coming from followers of Baha'u'llah.

Although someone has suggested I post them to talisman and news.groups, and it is my inclination to reveal such things to the light of day, I would then be blamed and attacked for doing so....

>If anyone has a disagreement with an individual, they should work it out >in a calm and collected manner. They should not resort to harassment, >making threats, or anything that is undignified. Such behavior is not >worthy of anyone, especially those who consider themselves Baha'i.

>

>Fred: if you've explicitly told someone to stop e-mailing you, yet they >persist in doing so, you have grounds for complaining to the other >person's ISP.

Someone else has suggested I contact his and my ISP. A lot of work.
I've decided to put his address in a hotmail filter for deletion and to send you, Mr. Reini, copies of his and a few other messages I've recently received. May I ask you to kindly contact them? You have a long historical memory.... Might find them interesting.... And I trust you to do and say discreetly the right thing.... You or someone else might post something to bahai-discuss and soc.religion.bahai, if they'll let you.... I've often seen him posting to them in the past....

>IMHO, the person who is doing this should respect Fred's wishes and >refrain from sending him any more e-mail.

>

>Let us not allow incidents such as this to taint the voting now taking >place for talk.religion.bahai.

This is my wish too....

>

>Roger (rreini@wwnet.net)
><https://fp-www.wwnet.net/~rreini/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 30, 1998 8:09 AM
To: Roger Reini
Subject: hate mail

Roger,

I hope you don't mind my asking you to take care of these.... I just think you can handle them fairly and the one individual at least will probably listen to you....

#1:

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
To: Bruce D Limber <bruce.limber@juno.com>
Date: Monday, January 26, 1998 8:32 AM
Subject: Re: U.S. Baha'is to Iran's Pres. Khatami re Baha'is in Iran (a letter)

>Please do not email me directly. Post your opinions on news.groups >or other relevant news groups.

>

>FG

>UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

>The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
>news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: Bruce D Limber <bruce.limber@juno.com>
>To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
>Date: Friday, January 23, 1998 8:53 AM

>Subject: Re: U.S. Baha'is to Iran's Pres. Khatami re Baha'is in Iran (a >letter)
>
>
>>
>>>In my opinion, complete and unmitigated hypocrisy....
>>
>>A fact is not hypocrisy. It is a fact.
>>
>>It's truly a pity that you still haven't learned the well-known >>concept that if you have nothing good to say, you should >>SAY NOTHING.
>>
>>It's really very simple.
>>
>>I refer you to the "I will not dwell on the unpleasant things >>of life" prayer for details.
>>
>

#2:

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

To: Bruce D Limber <bruce.limber@juno.com>

Date: Wednesday, January 28, 1998 5:57 AM

Subject: Re: U.S. Baha'is to Iran's Pres. Khatami re Baha'is in Iran (a letter)

>As far as I'm concerned, you represent, like so many Bahais, the epitome of >your accusations against me.... I will be deleting anything else from you
in >my mailbox without reading it....
>

>FG

>UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

>The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
>news.announce.newgroups, or at <<https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: Bruce D Limber <bruce.limber@juno.com>

>To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>

>Date: Tuesday, January 27, 1998 7:30 PM

>Subject: Re: U.S. Baha'is to Iran's Pres. Khatami re Baha'is in Iran (a >letter)

>

>

>>

>>>Please do not email me directly.

>>

>>When you cease trying to engender division and negativity, I >>will cease replying.

>>

>>Until then, I reserve the right to object to bigotry and hate->>mongering.

>>

>>And I stand by the statements in my previous post.

>>

>>

>>You don't need to buy Internet access to use free Internet e-mail.

>>Get completely free e-mail from Juno at <https://www.juno.com>

>>Or call Juno at (800) 654-JUNO [654-5866]

>>

>>

>

#3

-----Original Message-----

From: George Demas <gjdemas@ap.net>

To: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

Date: Wednesday, January 28, 1998 7:46 PM

Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

>Get a life.

>

>Nobody is obligated to be a Baha'i. If you want to be one, you must live
by >the rules set down by God.

>-----Original Message-----

>From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

>Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,news.groups

>Date: Thursday, January 22, 1998 4:28 AM

>Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

>

>

>>Thanks, Emma. As background information, I'll

>>quote a few things that seem relevant to the discussion

>>for talk.religion.bahai and might help set it in a fuller >>historical context here on news.groups....

>>

```

>>FG
>>UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
>>The RFD for talk.religion.bahai can be found on news.groups,
>>news.announce.newgroups, or at <https://www.baha.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>
>>
>>-----
>>Quoted material begins from https://www.religioustolerance.org/bahai.htm
>>
>>
>>Freedom of Expression within the Baha'i Faith
>>
>>Although Baha'is have been very active in the promotion of freedom of >>expression around the world, there are significant restrictions on >>freedoms of individual members. These are enforced through >>shunning or expelling non-conforming adherents. Some examples are:
>>
>>[clip]
>>
>>The Baha'i authorities impose prepublication censorship on all material >>written by members about the Faith. All such material must first be >>scanned by a review committee of the Baha'i National Spiritual >>Assembly of the country in which the text is to be published. This was >>a temporary policy introduced many decades ago, which is still in force.
>>
>>The authorities closed down the "Talisman" mailing list. This was >>created by a professor at Indiana University, John Walbridge, in >>1994-OCT. The list had 175 subscribers. In early 1996, the Baha'i >>World Center in Haifa, Israel ordered the first of a series of >>investigations.
>>One sensitive topic debated on "Talisman" was the exclusion of women >>from the Universal House of Justice which some subscribers felt was i >>ncompatible with the importance given to the equality of the sexes >>within the Baha'i Faith. Some postings argued that the body be opened >>up to women; they based their beliefs on their interpretation of >>Baha'u'llah's writings. "Talisman" was closed on 1996-MAY. Juan Cole, >>now an ex-Baha'i, opened a new Talisman list the following month. Its >>e-mail address is talisman@umich.edu.
>>
>>[clip]
>>
>>Michael McKenny, a fantasy writer from Canada was expelled because >>of his views expressed in Emails.
>>
>>-----
>>-
>>-
>>-----
>>Internet References and Mailing Lists
>>
>>Jonah Winters' Baha'i Academics Resource Area is at:
>>https://www.interlog.com/~winters/
>>
>>[clip]
>>
>>Material on freedom of expression within the Baha'i Faith is available at:
>>https://www.interlog.com/~winters/newspapers/gnosis.talisman.html and at
>>https://www.interlog.com/~winters/newspapers/chafe.html
>>
>>An official response from the US National Spiritual Assembly to the latter >>item is available at: https://www.interlog.com/~winters/uhj/attacks.html
>>
>>Paul Johnson authored an article on the Talisman discussion group in >>1997-Winter edition of Gnosis Magazine.
>>
>>-----
>>Emma Pease wrote in message ...
>>
>>>Emma
>>>
>>>Possible interesting website written from a somewhat neutral point of >>>view
>>>
>>>https://www.religioustolerance.org/bahai.htm
>>>
>>>ps. Some of the Baha'i sites are extremely difficult to navigate with >>>lynx (or for that matter monochrome netscape) and don't seem to be >>>coded right. https://www.bahai.org/ is a case in point.
>>>-
>>>----
>>>|* | Emma Pease Net Spinster
>>>|_\/ emma@csl.stanford.edu Die Luft der Freiheit weht
>>>
>>>
>>>

```

```

#4
-----Original Message-----
From: James <bookstor@pandore.qc.ca>

```

To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Thursday, January 29, 1998 3:44 AM
Subject: Are you or are you not?

>Hello Frederick:

>

>Well, are you or are you not a Baha'i?

>

>

>James

>

>

--

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups

news.groups

alt.religion.bahai

soc.culture.israel

soc.rights.human

talk.religion.misc

soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 30, 1998 8:13 AM
To: Emma Pease
Subject: Re: Harassing, vilifying hate mail....

Thanks, Emma.

I've put the person's email address in a hotmail filter for deletion and have asked another Bahai to discreetly contact him. I'm hoping he'll listen to him and this won't blow up into a big hullabaloo or excuse for voting NO....

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 30, 1998 8:23 AM
To: talisman
Subject: Re: Harassing, vilifying hate mail....

-----Original Message-----

From: T.ALBERT-ISHMAEL ANDERSON <talishman@usa.net>
To: talisman@umich.edu <talishman@umich.edu>
Cc: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Thursday, January 29, 1998 6:24 PM
Subject: Re: Harassing, vilifying hate mail....

>I recommend that Fred notify Baha'i institutions and ABM's with the specific names and forward the hate mail to Baha'i institutions and ask for them to intervene on his behalf.

I've forwarded copies to Mr. Roger Reini and asked him to contact the people involved and handle them discreetly.... I've also put their email addresses in hotmail filters for deletion.

--

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups

news.groups

alt.religion.bahai

soc.culture.israel

soc.rights.human

talk.religion.misc

soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, January 30, 1998 9:05 AM
Subject: Re: "Bahai Leaders Vexed by On-Line Critics"

K. Paul Johnson wrote in message <34d10c2f.0@vllinsvr>...

>So-- it might best be said that I was in the mid-90s an ex-Baha'i >who had pretty much ignored Baha'i matters until a book on >something else led me back to the subject of Baha'i and into >association with Baha'i scholars who were helpful and generous to >me. Talisman was a wonderful resource for my book, which was >dedicated to it along with some other newsgroups that helped.
>The shock of how those scholars were treated by their fellow >Baha'is and ultimately the leaders of the Faith led me to write >about it at the time. But at present I'm not interested enough >in the Faith to be considered a critic of it at all.

>
>Second-- Mr. Manvell simply throws out the insulting accusation >of my using "half truths to attack the Faith" without citing a >single such misrepresentation out of the scores of purely factual >statements in the article. At the time it appeared, some people >on Talisman II dismissed it as erroneous, biased, etc.-- but >others challenged them to find a single misrepresentation of >facts therein, and not one was ever pointed out. My >"accusations" are based entirely on the "experience of the Faith" >of those I interviewed, and if Mr. Manvell's experience was >different it was undoubtedly because he was not in the same >position they were, of trying to reconcile their freedom and >objectivity as scholars with the restrictions on discourse >imposed by their coreligionists.

>
>Third-- it was stated that there was "no substantive evidence >that anyone tried to suppress the free exchange of information."
>This is preposterous, as the archives of Talisman I contain >hundreds of examples of conservative Baha'is trying to shout down >those of a more liberal view, insisting that their positions and >commentary were simply unacceptable. Accusations of heresy were >a constant on the list. Correspondence by such >persons with the institutions is what led to the various >sanctions and character assassinations that followed.

For those who wish to read and decide for themselves, talisman archives are available at:

<https://www-personal.umich.edu/~jrcole/bahai.htm>

>
>Fourth-- it is entirely disingenuous for people who have many >years of their lives and their whole identities tied up in a >religion to dismiss someone else for not being a "disinterested >outside observer." I'm much closer to being one than any of my >Baha'i critics are; are they willing to say that anything a true >believer Baha'i writes about the faith can be dismissed since >they are not "disinterested outside observers?" Come now.
>In fact, Ira Rifkin of Religion News Service is precisely a >disinterested outside observer, yet his article was attacked much >more vigorously by Baha'is than mine has been. No matter how >biased I might be, the facts in the piece, which consists >overwhelmingly of facts, can be confirmed by others who don't >share my attitudes.

I'm unfamiliar with the article. Is it online somewhere or can you give a full citation with a date for it?

>Fifth-- "the story is much more complex than it appears in the >article." Well, of course. Reducing thousands of pages of >Internet conversation over 18 months to a single page is >certainly not going to convey the full complexity of the >situation, but was the best I could do in the circumstances.

>
>Now, then: I have no more interest in this subject and ask that >my name be left out of further discussions. Would never have >known I was being discussed if someone hadn't emailed me about >>this.

Dare I say it was another Bahai and proponent who doesn't necessarily entirely disagree with your article? Thank you for stating your views and sharing a little about your Bahai past....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: Emma Pease[SMTP:emma@csl.stanford.edu]
Sent: Friday, January 30, 1998 12:50 PM
To: FG
Subject: Re: Harassing, vilifying hate mail....

> I've put the person's email address in a hotmail filter for deletion > and have asked another Bahai to discreetly contact him. I'm > hoping he'll listen to him and this won't blow up into a big hullabaloo > or excuse for voting NO....

Frederick,

Just keep calm and give the political no voters no excuse for claiming that your behaviour caused all the negative votes. Let the votetaker or the other proponents deal with any misconduct.

Emma

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 31, 1998 8:36 AM
To: Roger Reini
Subject: Re: hate mail

-----Original Message-----

From: Roger Reini <rreini@ford.com>
To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Friday, January 30, 1998 1:20 PM
Subject: hate mail

> Reply to note of 01/30/98 07:03
>THIS IS A CORPORATE DOCUMENT - FOLLOW RECORDS MANAGEMENT POLICY
>
>After reading these notes, I have come to the opinion that they are not what I >would call "hate mail." They are frank. They are blunt. They contain strong >opinions. But do they promote hate? To me, no they don't.

Harassment and vilification both in my opinion.... That takes in hate too....

>
>Having said that, I'll say this: Someone has suggested you set up kill filters >to block your seeing their messages. I concur with this. Indeed, I thought
I >saw a note of yours which said you had.

I've told Bruce Limber at least on two previous occasions not to email me....

>
>I might suggest a stronger warning for individuals you absolutely do not want >to receive e-mail from -- something like "Please do not e-mail me again. If >you do, I will consider it harassment and will complain to your ISP."
>
>Hopefully, this problem will pass.

>
>Regards,
>Roger Reini -- EESE - Elect. Distrib.(rreini@ford.com)
>MD5034, #5 (cube 2D015), Dearborn
>39-04358 FAX 39-00650 <https://ees868.pd8.ford.com/u/rreini/>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 31, 1998 9:10 AM
To: P K Johnson
Subject: Fw: Re(4): "Bahai Leaders Vexed by On-Line Critics"

FYI

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

-----Original Message-----

From: Donald Zhang Osborn <osborndo@pilot.msuNOSPAM.edu>
Newsgroups: news.groups,alt.religion.bahai
Cc: osborndo <osborndo>
Date: Friday, January 30, 1998 8:41 PM
Subject: Re(4): "Bahai Leaders Vexed by On-Line Critics"

>Paul, Greetings! Here are some hastily composed replies to the points >you raise. Sorry that you became the subject of discussion, which you >are correct, is inappropriate.

>
>K. Paul Johnson wrote:

>[snip]
>>First off, it is an oversimplification to call me a "critic of >>the Baha'i Faith." I was a Baha'i for five teenage years, now >[snip]

>
>Sorry if the description offends you. This (and the phrase was mine) >has been my impression from seeing your postings on Talisman and >Usenet. What sealed this impression for me was the hyperbola you once >used >about "the terrorized state of the U.S. Baha'i community" (9/4/97; I had >meant to respond to it but at the time was too busy). This was so far >removed from my experience and those of people I know, that I concluded, >rightly or wrongly, that you simply took an antagonistic stance towards >the Faith. That said, let me again offer my apologies if I have >purveyed an inaccurate image of you by injudicious use of the term >"critic" (though there is much you have posted that could easily give >one that impression).

>
>>about my basically friendly attitude to the Baha'is. My article >>in Gnosis was not an attack on the Faith at all, but a factual >>report of the short life of the Talisman I discussion list.

>
>I am not in the position to judge on the purported facts (mainly because >I know I don't have access to all of them), only to note that you (a) >seem to report on one side of the issues (an incomplete perspective on >the "facts"? -- not said as a criticism, necessarily, but an >observation); (b) leave out at least one significant matter (admittedly >an uncomfortable one) that raised serious questions about whether a >group of participants might indeed have been pursuing an agenda hostile >to the (elected) administrative bodies of the Faith; (c) use loaded >terms like "inquisition" that unavoidably give the article a critical >tone; and (d) neglect to mention that there are many scholars within the >Baha'i community who certainly had different perspectives on the issues >brought up by some of the Baha'i scholars on Talisman. So the picture >wasn't the Baha'i authorities coming down on Baha'i scholars, but some >Baha'i scholars with concerns and complaints, a bunch of stuff happening >on Talisman (in which one cannot put white hats on some and black hats >on others), and Baha'i institutions trying to deal with what were >apparently some serious issues raised in the course of discussions.

>
>>The doctrines of the Faith are barely touched in the piece.
>>Since writing that article I have lost interest in the Faith, >>and won't be writing about it again. By the way, I had earlier >>written a piece for Gnosis, reporting on the publication of the >>Aqdas. No one has ever accused this of being an attack either, >>so something like 90% of the total verbiage I've published on >>Baha'i has not been remotely the work of a "critic of the Faith" >>in the sense Baha'is mean the term.

>[snip]
>
>Thanks for bringing this to our attention.

>
>>Second-- Mr. Manvell simply throws out the insulting accusation >>of my using "half truths to attack the Faith" without citing a >>single such misrepresentation out of the scores of purely factual >>statements in the article. At the time it appeared, some people >>on Talisman II dismissed it as erroneous, biased, etc.-- but >>others challenged them to find a single misrepresentation of >>facts therein, and not one was ever pointed out. My

>>"accusations" are based entirely on the "experience of the Faith"
>>of those I interviewed, and if Mr. Manvell's experience was >>different it was undoubtedly because he was not in the same >>position they were, of trying to reconcile their freedom and >>objectivity as scholars with the restrictions on discourse >>imposed by their coreligionists.

>

>I can't speak for Chris, though I'm sure none of us are out to insult >you. It is also not fair for me or anyone to make personal >characterizations based solely on their impressions. On the other hand,
>I don't think it is fair to minimize Chris's experience because of his >different position ... in fact, any "factual" resume of the Talisman >story really should take account of such perspectives.

>

>As far as the issues of concern to members of the Baha'i community, >there are mechanisms within the community for addressing those. Often >(and I can't say if it was also the case for the scholars you refer to >in the article), one finds that people who take their complaints to an >electronic forum have not explored these avenues. Really, prayer and >use of the mechanisms for consultation in the Faith are much surer ways >for reaching appropriate change in the context of a community evolving >under the guidance of the Revelation of God than is going outside that >route in ways that unfortunately create divisiveness and raise >opposition (especially in electronic media). It is also a way in which >the sharpness of ego in the search for what one feels is just ("I'm >right!") can be replaced by the strength of detachment and faith ("If my >view is right, then it will prevail, if not, what is right will >prevail.") The latter, IMHO, is no less loving of justice than the >former, but is much more conducive to building unity and fellowship and >promoting peace.

>

>>Third-- it was stated that there was "no substantive evidence >that anyone tried to suppress the free exchange of information."
>>This is preposterous, as the archives of Talisman I contain >>hundreds of examples of conservative Baha'is trying to shout down
>>those of a more liberal view, insisting that their positions and >>commentary were simply unacceptable. Accusations of heresy were >>a constant on the list. Correspondence by such >>persons with the institutions is what led to the various >>sanctions and character assassinations that followed.

>

>Again this seems to be an oversimplification. First of all, trying to >divide the Baha'i community, or even the participants in Talisman, into >"conservative" & "liberal" disregards the complexity of experience and >opinion in the community. That said, I would have to agree that there >was a lack of observance of Baha'i standards of courtesy and use of >language in much of the discussion on Talisman. I didn't keep "score" >(not being able to identify "sides" anyway) but I'm sure that those with >diverse opinions exceeded the bounds of moderation. In fact, the then >list owner ignored my repeated suggestions that a passage(s) from the >Writings concerning scholars and language be included in the list's >welcome message as a possible way of setting the tone for interaction on >the list.

>

>As far as "suppress[ing] the free exchange of information," shouting >down, to the extent that may have happened, does not equal suppression >(it only contributes to a cycle of degrading discussion). And if one >wanted to treat this subject fully, one would have to mention the >unwillingness of some to discuss (without reference to personalities, of >course!) an inadvertent posting that caused a lot of concern among some >participants. In short, despite some positive aspects of Talisman, >there was a lot that left one shaking one's head sadly (and I regret to >whatever extent I may have contributed to the latter).

>

>As for people writing the Baha'i administrative institutions, I don't >see that that brought down "sanctions" let alone "character >assassinations." I think the Baha'i institutions are well capable of >seeing through spurious charges (if that's all there are) and >identifying legitimate concerns (if there are any) regardless of who >writes saying what. In any event, such writing is a good thing, if done >in a prayerful spirit -- much better than taking matters into one's own >hands and making divisive charges. Perhaps, in addition to greater >efforts to observe Baha'i standards of discourse (and by saying this I >should hasten to note that I in no way consider myself an exemplar in >this!), concerned individuals should have written sooner ...

>

>>Fourth-- it is entirely disingenuous for people who have many >>years of their lives and their whole identities tied up in a >>religion to dismiss someone else for not being a "disinterested >>outside observer." I'm much closer to being one than any of my >>Baha'i critics are; are they willing to say that anything a true >>believer Baha'i writes about the faith can be dismissed since >>they are not "disinterested outside observers?" Come now.

>

>And now "true believer" Baha'i?? I'm not sure what this is supposed to >mean, unless as a Baha'i one truly believes in the Revelation of >Baha'u'llah (Eric Hoffer notwithstanding), but again suggest that such >classifications or divisions of Baha'is do not hold up to any scrutiny.
>Also, I think it is unfair to imply that Baha'is cannot see the complex >diversity among the Friends, diverse needs, experiences, ideas. I'm not >sure it is appropriate to claim to be more objective than those among >them who may identify what appears to be bias in at least some of your >writing -- that may or may not be the case, but no one has the means to >verify such a claim. In any event, one must evaluate what is said, not >who said it.

>
>>In fact, Ira Rifkin of Religion News Service is precisely a >>disinterested outside observer, yet his article was attacked much >>more vigorously by Baha'is than mine has been. No matter how >>biased I might be, the facts in the piece, which consists >>overwhelmingly of facts, can be confirmed by others who don't >>share my attitudes.

>
>I haven't seen Rifkin's article. Still, if it has the same shortcomings >mentioned above, then it is subject to similar criticism.

>
>>Fifth-- "the story is much more complex than it appears in the >>article." Well, of course. Reducing thousands of pages of >>Internet conversation over 18 months to a single page is >>certainly not going to convey the full complexity of the >>situation, but was the best I could do in the circumstances.

>
>One cannot fault you for doing you best, and indeed it is difficult to >summarize a lot of material. On the other hand, if the summary seems to >be somewhat selective (whether or not that was the intent, which is >another matter, and I'm not suggesting that you set out with such >intent) then it's important to point that out.

>
>>Now, then: I have no more interest in this subject and ask that >>my name be left out of further discussions. Would never have >>known I was being discussed if someone hadn't emailed me about >>this.

>
>Again, sorry that my mentioning your name made you the focus of >discussion. In any event, I figured that word would eventually get to >you. I'll respect your request, of course. Thank you for your reply.

>
>DZO

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 31, 1998 9:25 AM
To: Chris Manvell
Subject: two errors on CFV

Chris,

The CFV was actually posted on the 27th. I don't know immediately if that's what's on the Daily status report for CFVs on news.groups but McQuitty's CFV was definitely posted first on the 27th. It could cause someone to miss the vote by one day.

>NOTE: The CALL FOR VOTES for talk.religion.bahai was posted on news.groups and >news.announce.newgroups on 28/Jan/1998.

Also, I messed up cutting and pasting and got "UK" attached to Ron's address!!! You could change that too if you can find the time. McQuitty caught it and emailed me on it so it's minor and okay to change....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the
newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 31, 1998 9:37 AM

To: bn872@freenet.carleton.ca
Subject: Re: CFV Rough Draft sent back....

-----Original Message-----

From: McKenny Michael <bn872@freenet.carleton.ca>
To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Friday, January 30, 1998 8:47 AM
Subject: Re: CFV Rough Draft sent back....

>Greetings, Frederick.
> If you are well, it is well.
> It is probably only my low tech level. Later today I'll contact >you to confirm nothings going on, or that it is.
> On another front, I'm getting some votes for trb, all legal, >and if there is a massive no vote, then I may provide a lot of help >in round three.

On further reflection:

Let me mention that I still expect a massive NO vote.... Too many dirty tricks have been pulled all along by the BCCA and others for them not to be the will of the administration.... They've had free use of bahai-discuss since kicking me off in October, and I can't imagine they've failed to put the unobserved nature of that to anything but good use since, from their point of view....

> May you be surprised by how beneficial the future is.

Michael,

A month before they booted you out you sent me an optimistic message about how you looked forward to things opening up.... Remember that? As I recall, I sent you back some bleak reply.... Sorry, but I feel the same is still in order.... 900 NO votes WERE threatened and quite possible. Cole mentioned a month or two ago how he was denounced in London by some administrator in public.... They've had a full year to do that kind of thing at Bahai meetings and elsewhere. I expect the worst.... If an opening presents itself, you might mention on trb the use of Bahai meetings to rally opposition against trb.... ANYTHING I say or do now will be used against trb. The techies are warning me in private email to just keep cool and let everyone else do the talking. I worry though that not enough people other than myself are posting anymore....

> Has a pointer been placed on talisman and irfan, and, if not may
>I do so?

All the Best,
Michael

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, January 31, 1998 9:43 AM
To: Emma Pease
Subject: Re: Harassing, vilifying hate mail....

>Just keep calm and give the political no voters no excuse for claiming >that your behaviour caused all the negative votes. Let the votetaker >or the other proponents deal with any misconduct.
>
>Emma

Will do.... Thanks for the advice. There have been so many dirty tricks all along I really worry something underhanded is taking place behind the scenes.... If not online on the private Bahai lists, I know Bahai meetings have been used in the past to denounce people like Professor Cole at the University of Michigan who have spoken out in any way.... Trb is definitely considered in that same boat, I'm afraid....

I'm now just trying to say nothing, hope for the best, and let the chips fall where they may, as they say....

Thanks again,

Fred

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 02, 1998 6:59 AM
Subject: Talk.religion.bahai: misdirected vote

A ballot for talk.religion.bahai has been sent to me. I am not the votetaker.
All ballots should be sent to Rebecca McQuitty, address given below. Be sure not to "cc" a copy to me. The vote should be confidential until the posting of the RESULT by the votetaker.

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 02, 1998 7:02 AM
To: Rebecca G. McQuitty
Cc: mughal@alumni.caltech.edu
Subject: Fw: CFV: talk.religion.bahai

Rebecca,

Someone's accidentally sent me their vote or a "cc" of it. I'm forwarding it to you along with a cc to the individual. I've also posted a note to news.groups reminding people to send votes directly and only to you.

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

-----Original Message-----
From: Asim Mughal <mughal@alumni.caltech.edu>
To: mcq@wco.com <mcq@wco.com>
Cc: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>;
Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk>; house@usq.edu.au <house@usq.edu.au>
Date: Monday, February 02, 1998 3:47 AM
Subject: Re: CFV: talk.religion.bahai

>-----BEGINNING OF BALLOT: Delete Everything Before This Line-----
>-----
> Usenet Ballot: talk.religion.bahai
>
>Valid ballots are distributed blank in a Call for | Leave this
>Votes posted to news.announce.newgroups or mailed | marker here:
>by the votetaker. Other ballots may be rejected. | <TRB-0001>
>
>Give your real name on the next line (do not give your email address).
>Your name --> Asim Mughal
>[Your Vote] Group (Place your vote in the empty brackets below.)
>-----
>[YES] talk.religion.bahai
>-----
>-----END OF BALLOT: Delete Everything After This Line-----
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 02, 1998 7:12 AM
To: K P Johnson
Subject: Fw: "Bahai Leaders Vexed by On-Line Critics"

FYI...

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

-----Original Message-----
From: Chris Manvell <chris@breacais.demon.co.uk>
Newsgroups: news.groups,alt.religion.bahai
Date: Sunday, February 01, 1998 10:53 AM
Subject: Re: "Bahai Leaders Vexed by On-Line Critics"

>Paul,
>
>I apologise for the tone of my posting about my interaction with you a >while back. I still stand by the basic impression (and I must emphasise >that it was an impression) you gave me of being willing to discredit the >Baha'i Faith. In my post, by half truth I meant putting only one side of >the story (regarding Talisman) and I stand by that. It was not meant as >an insult and maybe it would have been better to have written "biassed".
>I lived through that period on Talisman, so DO know what you were >talking about, and did find the posts of certain people (I do not know >if they were Baha'is or not) most unpleasant, personally insulting, >backbiting and disrespectful to the Central Figures of our Faith, >towards the Institutions of the Faith, and towards individuals who not >always able to defend themselves. I do not dispute the facts that you >quoted.
>
>In article <34D28134.70C1@pilot.msuNOSPAM.edu>, Donald Zhang Osborn ><osborndo@pilot.msuNOSPAM.edu> writes
>>>Second-- Mr. Manvell simply throws out the insulting accusation >>>of my using "half truths to attack the Faith" without citing a >>>single such misrepresentation out of the scores of purely factual >>>statements in the article. At the time it appeared, some people >>>on Talisman II dismissed it as erroneous, biased, etc.-- but >>>others challenged them to find a single misrepresentation of >>>facts therein, and not one was ever pointed out. My
>>>"accusations" are based entirely on the "experience of the Faith"
>>>of those I interviewed, and if Mr. Manvell's experience was >>>different it was undoubtedly because he was not in the same >>>position they were, of trying to reconcile their freedom and >>>objectivity as scholars with the restrictions on discourse >>>imposed by their coreligionists.
>
>There is a problem that we have to resolve about religion and authority.
>As a Baha'i, I accept the succession of the Covenant and that, in those >matters where they have the authority, the decisions of the House are >sacrosanct. For instance, although it has caused me some grief, I have >changed my Internet domain at the request of the House (although it did >take a bit of time to do it). People of all religions have to accept >certain basic tenets and it they do not like those tenets, then it >implies that they do not have that strength of faith to accept their >chosen Manifestation. By rejecting the authority of the House, one is >denying the authority of the succession and, by implication of >Baha'u'llah.
>
>>I can't speak for Chris, though I'm sure none of us are out to insult >>you. It is also not fair for me or anyone to make personal >>characterizations based solely on their impressions. On the other hand,
>>I don't think it is fair to minimize Chris's experience because of his >>different position ... in fact, any "factual" resume of the Talisman >>story really should take account of such perspectives.
>
>One cannot help making "personal characterizations based solely on >(one's) impressions". What was wrong was that I then my >characterisation public, for which I apologise.
>
>As this is not really relevant to news.groups, I have set follow-ups to >ARB only.
>
>Best wishes,
>--
>Chris Manvell

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 02, 1998 7:16 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Ron House wrote:

>The mere fact that they ARE moderators is the essence >of the main problem. For those of us who want freedom >of speech, a moderator is not performing a service.
>I characterise some of those moderators I have had >experience of as "wiser than thou" because that is >precisely my experience of their dealings. How else >would you characterise someone who rejected an article, >not for lacking relevance, not for being abusive,
>but for LACKING A CONCLUSION?????

I was told once upon a time that "sarcasm" was not allowed....
There goes much of the best literature of the human race....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the
newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 02, 1998 7:23 AM
Subject: Re: "Bahai Leaders Vexed by On-Line Critics"

Ron House wrote:

>I can't get ARB, so could you please put news.groups >back in, and advise anyone posting on ARB to do so >as well? I am particularly interested in this >discussion.
>
>In fact, this is a classic case of a need for TRB.

It definitely demonstrates the propagation and accessibility problem with the alt.* hierarchy that has plagued discussion since the last vote on talk.religion.bahai in March 1997....

Someone emailed me about a month ago that he was pleasantly surprised to discover somehow that alt.religion.bahai even existed!!!

He had voted YES!!!

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the
newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Monday, February 02, 1998 7:36 AM
Subject: Re: Baha'i teachings

I'm crossposting this to news.groups from alt.religion.bahai as an example of discussion that people like Ron House might want to listen in or join but can't due to lack of accessbility of the alt.* hierarchy, one of the major reasons justifying the forming of talk.religion.bahai....

Ron, there's actually several responses to this but unfortunately I probably shouldn't repost all of them to news.groups where they'd be too off topic.... You're oughta luck, fella....

Dale Grider wrote in message <34D422AF.4F55@bellsouth.net>...
>I am a Christian who has been "independently investigating" the Baha'i >faith. Frankly I have found some serious problems. One good place to >start in terms of getting some feedback is with respect to the relation >of Science and Religion. This, I understand, is a major doctrinal topic >of consideration within Baha'i theology. I also understand that Baha'i >theology interprets select biblical miracles symbolically. This would not >nesacerily be so bad (depending on specifics) except that I find a great >double standard in the rationale behind which of those miracles are >allegedly to be "symbolized".
>
> On the one hand, apologists like William Sears, in his book The Wine of >Astonishment use a "Science" defined according to a strict materialistic >naturalism with which to refute the possibility of a literal >interpretation of the Resurrection or Ascension of Christ. This outlook >is typical of the Baha'i line of argument that is brought to bear when >literal intepretation of select miracles is out of step with Baha'i >presuppositions. However, in other instances, "Science" gets defined in >very liberal terms that allow for the supernatural (read "SCIENCE AND >THE BAHAI FAITH" written by William S. Hatcher, taken from "Logic and >Logos" pp.95-121.). Also Baha'u'llah and Abdul Baha have no problem >conceding the reality that literal miracles are part of a manifestations >true ability. Further still, even Christian/biblical miracles like the >virgin birth are considered perfectly acceptable, in literal terms, and >evidently not against "Science" and good reason.
>Thus a double standard exists in which Science is either defined in >materialistic/naturalistic terms to refute literal belief in, say, the >Resurrection, while elsewhere the truly supernatural is accepted within >Baha'i belief.
>More detail on this line of thought with specific quotes in context can >be found in the "Science and religion" topic area at the Fireside >Letters Baha'i/Christian homepage website.
>URL;
>
><https://personal.sdf.bellsouth.net/sdf/h/o/howdybud/FS%20website/index%20.html>

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: Rebecca G. McQuitty[SMTP:mcq@wco.com]
Sent: Monday, February 02, 1998 12:45 PM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Vote Ack: talk.religion.bahai

This is an automatic message sent to you after your vote has been counted. If this is correct, there is no need for you to reply. If your vote is registered incorrectly then please vote again so I can fix it.

This is a public vote, and all addresses and votes will be listed in the final voting result. You should keep this ack until you see your name in the result.

You can change your vote by voting again. To erase your vote and eliminate your address and vote from the final results listing, vote again and use a CANCEL in place of YES or NO.

Voter address: FG@hotmail.com
Voter name: Asim Mughal

YES vote on talk.religion.bahai

Thank you for voting. For a copy of the Call For Votes (CFV), reply to me and indicate which vote you want the CFV for; I may be running several.

-- Rebecca G. McQuitty (mcq@wco.com)
Running UseVote 3.0

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 03, 1998 8:32 AM
Subject: Help need! Re: Talk.religion.bahai: misdirected vote

All right, I sent Rebecca a copy of the misdirected vote and a note about it and received back and auto-reply notice that I had voted in the person's name! The only email address I have for her is: mcq@wco.com

Any suggestions?

FG wrote in message <6b48u9$515@news1.newsguy.com>...

>A ballot for talk.religion.bahai has been sent to me. I am not the >votetaker.
>All ballots should be sent to Rebecca McQuitty, address given below. Be >sure not to "cc" a copy to me. The vote should be confidential until the >posting of the RESULT by the votetaker.
>
>--
>FG
>UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
>The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.
>
>The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the >newsgroups specified in the CFV:
>
>news.announce.newgroups
>news.groups
>alt.religion.bahai
>soc.culture.israel
>soc.rights.human
>talk.religion.misc
>soc.religion.bahai
>
>You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.
>
>The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party
votetaker,
>Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 03, 1998 8:39 AM
To: Rebecca G. McQuitty
Subject: Voting PROBLEM:::::Re: Vote Ack: talk.religion.bahai

Someone incorrectly cc'd me their vote. When I tried to forward it to you, this is what I got back! I haven't voted yet so nothing should be recorded for my email address. Sorry this will require more work for you....

-----Original Message-----

From: Rebecca G. McQuitty <mcq@wco.com>
To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Monday, February 02, 1998 11:45 AM
Subject: Vote Ack: talk.religion.bahai

>This is an automatic message sent to you after your vote has been counted.
>If this is correct, there is no need for you to reply. If your vote is >registered incorrectly then please vote again so I can fix it.
>

>This is a public vote, and all addresses and votes will be listed in the >final voting result. You should keep this ack until you see your name in >the result.
>

>You can change your vote by voting again. To erase your vote and eliminate >your address and vote from the final results listing, vote again and use a >CANCEL in place of YES or NO.
>

>Voter address: FG@hotmail.com
>Voter name: Asim Mughal

>
> YES vote on talk.religion.bahai
>
>
>Thank you for voting. For a copy of the Call For Votes (CFV), reply to me >and indicate which vote you want the CFV for; I may be running several.
>
> -- Rebecca G. McQuitty (mcq@wco.com)
> Running UseVote 3.0
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 03, 1998 8:58 AM
Subject: Re: How Baha'u'llah can follow Muhammad, "the Last prophet"

Since your post was censored by soc.religion.bahai, you might want to know that voting is presently taking place on news.groups to form an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith, talk.religion.bahai....

A forum that would be open to Muslims, as well as others....

Are you aware of the existence of alt.religion.bahai?

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

-----original message follows:

Maryam Butson wrote in message <34d3564a.65426358@news.netlink.com.au>...

>The following post was rejected by the srb mods due to it not >addressing Baha'i teachings. As I do wish to pick up on some points >raised by Baha'is on Baha'u'llah following Muhammad, I posting this to >sri as a prelude to my discussing those posts (however due it not >containing Islamic content it may not be passed by them either) - THAT >having been said I am also posting this to talk.religion.misc, >alt.religion.bahai and ccing the posters from srb.

>Regards
>Maryam
>maryamATnetlink.com.au
>

>=====

>Having said I would crawl back under my rock, many of you brought up >excellent points that I do wish to discuss further. Both to extend my >own learning curve (I am a full believer in learning from those with >whom I come into contact even if we do not share the same perception >of reality, even more so at times); and also to give you my perspective
>as a Muslim on understanding my Holy Scripture.

>
>However as I said in my last email, I had people approach me privately >(to which I am normally quite amiable) including one chap who out of >the blue claiming to "be reading SRB", asked me if I was "out to get >Baha'u'llah and the Baha'is" and "not to instill doubts in people's >minds", when I was sitting minding my own business on IRC. I want to >make it clear it's not my motivation to attack the team on their home >turf. I think there should be a forum where Baha'is can discuss >matters pertaining to their own faith, in comfort and relative freedom
>- something I always enjoyed as a Baha'i contributor on SRB.
>Nonetheless when someone makes what I feel is an incorrect statement >about Islam, or the beliefs of Muslims etc. I feel compelled to speak >up as Baha'is would and do in non-Baha'i situations if someone makes >a similarly incorrect statement about the Faith or the beliefs and >practices: which is why I stuck my nose online in the first place.

>
>If people are more comfortable to discuss this on sri, I am more than >happy to: although I understand the hesitation because of the >prohibition on teaching Middle Eastern Muslims (I am Anglo-Australian >FYI). Alternatively I am quite happy to discuss this in a respectful >manner here on sri [should read srb], however I must point out (or >at least record it for posterity) that I genuinely do not post just to >create discord and disharmony. These are issues I fought long and >hard to comprehend, or at least attempt to comprehend. The fact that >I disagree with Baha'i interpretations of the Qur'an and Islam, does >not mean I have it in for them. Of course I would like to share my >perspective on Islam, however I understand this is a Baha'i forum and >would much prefer happier and more educated relations between Baha'is >and Muslims.

>
>That having been said, and assuming I don't see a flurry of posts that >say "go away" I will endeavour to pick up on some of the interesting >points that were raised, God willing.
>
>Regards as always
>
>Maryam

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 03, 1998 9:01 AM
Subject: Re: How Baha'u'llah can follow Muhammad, "the Last prophet"

You and other Muslims might be interested in knowing voting is presently taking place on news.groups for the formation of talk.religion.bahai, an umoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith.

See my signature file at the end of this for more info....

Maryam Butson wrote in message <6b3msl$hpq$1@shell3.ba.best.com>...

>The following post was rejected by the srb [soc.religion.bahai] mods due to it not

>addressing Baha'i teachings. As I do wish to pick up on some points >raised by Baha'is on Baha'u'llah following Muhammad, I posting this to >sri as a prelude to my discussing those posts (however due it not >containing Islamic content it may not be passed by them either) - THAT >having been said I am also posting this to talk.religion.misc, >alt.religion.bahai and ccing the posters from srb.

>Regards
>Maryam
>maryamATnetlink.com.au
>

>=====

>Having said I would crawl back under my rock, many of you brought up >excellent points that I do wish to discuss further. Both to extend my >own learning curve (I am a full believer in learning from those with >whom I come into contact even if we do not share the same perception >of reality, even moreso at times); and also to give you my perspective
>as a Muslim on understanding my Holy Scripture.

>
>However as I said in my last email, I had people approach me privately
>(to which I am normally quite amiable) including one chap who out of >the blue claiming to "be reading SRB", asked me if I was "out to get >Baha'u'llah and the Baha'is" and "not to instill doubts in people's >minds", when I was sitting minding my own business on IRC. I want to >make it clear it's not my movtivation to attack the team on their home >turf. I think there should be a forum where Baha'is can discuss >matters pertaining to their own faith, in comfort and relative freedom
>- something I always enjoyed as a Baha'i contributor on SRB.
>Nonetheless when someone makes what I feel is an incorrect statement >about Islam, or the beliefs of Muslims etc. I feel compelled to speak >up as Baha'is would and do in non-Baha'i situations if someone makes >a similarly incorrect statement about the Faith or the beliefs and >practices: which is why I stuck my nose online in the first place.

>
>If people are more comfortable to discuss this on sri, I am more than >happy to: although I understand the hesitation because of the >prohibition on teaching Middle Eastern Muslims (I am Anglo-Australian >FYI). Alternatively I am quite happy to discuss this in a respectful >manner here on sri [should read srb], however I must point out (or >at least record it for posterity) that I genuinely do not post just to >create discord and disharmony. These are issues I fought long and >hard to comprehend, or at least attempt to comprehend. The fact that >I disagree with Baha'i interpretations of the Qur'an and Islam, does >not mean I have it in for them. Of course I would like to share my >perspective on Islam, however I understand this is a Baha'i forum and >would much prefer happier and more educated relations between Baha'is >and Muslims.

>
>That having been said, and assuming I don't see a flurry of posts that >say "go away" I will endeavour to pick up on some of the interesting >points that were raised, God willing.

>
>Regards as always
>
>Maryam
>

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 03, 1998 9:09 AM
Subject: Baha'u'llah & Muhammad

For your information, an unmoderated news group on the Bahai Faith is now being voted on, talk.religion.bahai, which would have wider accessibility than the present alt.religion.bahai.

See my sig file below for more info....

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Newsgroups:
alt.religion.bahai,news.groups,soc.religion.islam,talk.religion.misc
Date: Tuesday, February 03, 1998 8:01 AM
Subject: Re: How Baha'u'llah can follow Muhammad, "the Last prophet"

>You and other Muslims might be interested in knowing voting is >presently taking place on news.groups for the formation of >talk.religion.bahai, an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith.
>
>See my signature file at the end of this for more info....
>----
>
>Maryam Butson wrote in message <6b3msl$hpq$1@shell3.ba.best.com>...
>
>>The following post was rejected by the srb [soc.religion.bahai] mods due
to
>it not >>addressing Baha'i teachings. As I do wish to pick up on some points >>raised by Baha'is on Baha'u'llah following Muhammad, I posting this to >>sri as a prelude to my discussing those posts (however due it not >>containing Islamic content it may not be passed by them either) - THAT >>having been said I am also posting this to talk.religion.misc, >>alt.religion.bahai and ccing the posters from srb.
>>Regards
>>Maryam
>>maryamATnetlink.com.au
>>
>>=====

>>Having said I would crawl back under my rock, many of you brought up >>excellent points that I do wish to discuss further. Both to extend my >>own learning curve (I am a full believer in learning from those whith >>whom I come into contact even if we do not share the same perception >>of reality, even moreso at times); and also to give you my perspective
>>as a Muslim on understanding my Holy Scripture.
>>
>>However as I said in my last email, I had people approach me privately
>>(to which I am normally quite amiable) including one chap who out of >>the blue claiming to "be reading SRB", asked me if I was "out to get >>Baha'u'llah and the Baha'is" and "not to instill doubts in people's >>minds", when I was sitting minding my own business on IRC. I want to >>make it clear it's not my movtivation to attack the team on their home >>turf. I think there should be a forum where Baha'is can discuss >>matters pertaining to their own faith, in comfort and relative freedom
>>- something I always enjoyed as a Baha'i contributor on SRB.
>>Nonetheless when someone makes what I feel is an incorrect statement >>about Islam, or the beliefs of Muslims etc. I feel compelled to speak >>up as Baha'is would and do in non-Baha'i situations if someone makes >>a similarly incorrect statement about the Faith or the beliefs and >>practices: which is why I stuck my nose online in the first place.
>>
>>If people are more comfortable to discuss this on sri, I am more than >>happy to: although I understand the hesitation because of the >>prohibition on teaching Middle Eastern Muslims (I am Anglo-Australian >>FYI). Alternatively I am quite happy to discuss this in a respectful >>manner here on sri [should read srb], however I must point out (or >>at least record it for posterity) that I genuinely do not post just to >>create discord and disharmony. These are issues I fought long and >>hard to comprehend, or at least attempt to comprehend. The fact that >>I disagree with Baha'i interpretations of the Qur'an and Islam, does >>not mean I have it in for them. Of course I would like to share my >>perspective on Islam, however I understand this is a Baha'i forum and >>would much prefer happier and more educated relations between Baha'is >>and Muslims.

>>
>>That having been said, and assuming I don't see a flurry of posts that >>say "go away" I will endeavour to pick up on some of the interesting >>points that were raised, God willing.

>>
>>Regards as always

>>
>>Maryam

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the
newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 04, 1998 7:01 AM
To: talisman
Subject: Re: CENSORSHIP? soc.religion.bahai

No need for a question mark on censorship....

`~\~Liquid Sky~//~` wrote in message <34d7847a.7069845@news.ping.be>...

>
>FORWARDED

>-----
>X-Mailer: Microsoft Internet Mail & News for Macintosh - 3.0a (370)
>Date: Tue, 03 Feb 1998 09:01:08 -1000
>Subject: FW: Open Letter to President Khatami of Iran
>From: "Island Business Center (Bill Hyman)" <billh@samoatelco.com>
>To: pin00987@ping.be
>CC: srb <srb-mods@bccca.org>
>

>I am returning your submission for the following reasons. It is written in
>a >demeaning manner. It assumes all "Ayatol Bahas" are male, I have >reservations about the title "Ayatol Baha", and I have a personal aversion >to emasculation. If you could resubmit your views in a more respectful >manner I will be pleased to review them again for posting.
>Bill Hyman
>co-moderator
>soc-religion-bahai
>-----

>From: pin00987@ping.be (~x[silvermask]x=~`)
>To: soc-religion-bahai@news3.Belgium.EU.net
>Newsgroups: soc.religion.bahai,news.groups
>Subject: Re: Open Letter to President Khatami of Iran
>Date: Tue, 03 Feb 1998 14:51:15 GMT
>

>In a valuable contribution to my intellectual enrichment, "William P.
>Collins" <wcol@erols.com> wrote as follows:
>

William P. Collins wrote: >> compared to Islamic authorities by disaffected individuals who have made
>a >> habit of collecting injuries to themselves.
>

Liquid Sky responded:
>If individuals go about branding people and their actions with
>"reprehensible" labels, well, what do we have? Lots of Self Styled Self >Appointed "Ayatul Bahas," acting as illegitimate vigilantes (which is >explicitly prohibited in the Baha'i Faith: Authority lies EXCLUSIVELY in >the hands of the Elected Institutions).

>
>And of course, those above mentioned "Ayatul Bahas" just walk into the >vacuum created by the abolition of the clergy, and the believers who feel >infirm in their Independent Investigation of Truth also start looking up to >those Ayatul Bahas for leadership and guidance. A perfect recipe for >disaster and strain on already stretched Baha'i Human Resources.

What do you mean by "disaster" or have in mind?

>REPEAT:
>> who have made a habit of collecting injuries to themselves.
>
>This sounds more like an "Edict of some His Holiness above defined Ayatul >Baha" than an observation. Or in the least, "If only I get a chance I >will help them "collecting those injuries to themselves." Yes. I am >angered - and I do hope that those Ayatul Bahas will soon be shoved into >a corner and emasculated.

It needn't go THAT far....

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the
newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 04, 1998 7:01 AM
Subject: Re: CENSORSHIP? soc.religion.bahai

No need for a question mark on censorship....

``~\~Liquid Sky~//~`` wrote in message <34d7847a.7069845@news.ping.be>...

>
>FORWARDED

>X-Mailer: Microsoft Internet Mail & News for Macintosh - 3.0a (370)
>Date: Tue, 03 Feb 1998 09:01:08 -1000
>Subject: FW: Open Letter to President Khatami of Iran
>From: "Island Business Center (Bill Hyman)" <billh@samoatelco.com>
>To: pin00987@ping.be
>CC: srb <srb-mods@bcca.org>
>

>I am returning your submission for the following reasons. It is written in
>a >demeaning manner. It assumes all "Ayatol Bahas" are male, I have >reservations about the title "Ayatol Baha", and I have a personal aversion >to emasculation. If you could resubmit your views in a more respectful >manner I will be pleased to review them again for posting.

>Bill Hyman
>co-moderator
>soc-religion-bahai
>-----

>From: pin00987@ping.be (`~x[silvermask]x=~`)
>To: soc-religion-bahai@news3.Belgium.EU.net
>Newsgroups: soc.religion.bahai,news.groups
>Subject: Re: Open Letter to President Khatami of Iran
>Date: Tue, 03 Feb 1998 14:51:15 GMT
>

>In a valuable contribution to my intellectual enrichment, "William P.
>Collins" <wcol@erols.com> wrote as follows:

William P. Collins wrote:
>> compared to Islamic authorities by disaffected individuals who have made
a

>> habit of collecting injuries to themselves.
>

Liquid Sky responded:

>If individuals go about branding people and their actions with
>"reprehensible" labels, well, what do we have? Lots of Self Styled Self >Appointed "Ayatul Bahas," acting as illegitimate vigilantes (which is >explicitly prohibited in the Baha'i Faith: Authority lies EXCLUSIVELY in >the hands of the Elected Institutions).
>
>And of course, those above mentioned "Ayatul Bahas" just walk into the >vacuum created by the abolition of the clergy, and the believers who feel >infirm in their Independent Investigation of Truth also start looking up to >those Ayatul Bahas for leadership and guidance. A perfect recipe for >disaster and strain on already stretched Baha'i Human Resources.

What do you mean by "disaster" or have in mind?

>REPEAT:

>> who have made a habit of collecting injuries to themselves.
>
>This sounds more like an "Edict of some His Holiness above defined Ayatul >Baha" than an observation. Or in the least, "If only I get a chance I >will help them "collecting those injuries to themselves." Yes. I am >angered - and I do hope that those Ayatul Bahas will soon be shoved into >a corner and emasculated.

It needn't go THAT far....

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the
newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 04, 1998 7:06 AM
To: talisman
Subject: Re: CENSORSHIP? soc.religion.bahai

Robert A. Little wrote in message <6b8lp2$qct$1@nnrp2.snfc21.pbi.net>...

>There seems to be no question that the moderator censored the message sent >to soc.religion.bahai (see below).

Thank you for admitting THAT....

>Respectfully,
>
>Robert A. Little

>`~\~Liquid Sky~//~` wrote in message <34d7847a.7069845@news.ping.be>...

>>
>>FORWARDED

>>-----
>>-
>>-----

>>X-Mailer: Microsoft Internet Mail & News for Macintosh - 3.0a (370)
>>Date: Tue, 03 Feb 1998 09:01:08 -1000
>>Subject: FW: Open Letter to President Khatami of Iran
>>From: "Island Business Center (Bill Hyman)" <billh@samoatelco.com>
>>To: pin00987@ping.be
>>CC: srb@srb-mods@bccca.org
>>
>>I am returning your submission for the following reasons. It is written in
>>a >>demeaning manner. It assumes all "Ayatul Bahas" are male, I have >>reservations about the title "Ayatul Baha", and I have a personal aversion >>to emasculation. If you could resubmit your views in a more respectful >>manner I will be pleased to review them again for posting.
>>Bill Hyman

[illegible]

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 04, 1998 7:06 AM
Subject: Re: CENSORSHIP? soc.religion.bahai

Robert A. Little wrote in message <6b8lp2$qct$1@nnrp2.snfc21.pbi.net>...

>There seems to be no question that the moderator censored the message sent >to soc.religion.bahai (see below).

Thank you for admitting THAT....

>Respectfully,
>
>Robert A. Little

>`~\~Liquid Sky~//~` wrote in message <34d7847a.7069845@news.ping.be>...

>>
>>FORWARDED
>>-----
>>-
>>-----

>>X-Mailer: Microsoft Internet Mail & News for Macintosh - 3.0a (370)
>>Date: Tue, 03 Feb 1998 09:01:08 -1000
>>Subject: FW: Open Letter to President Khatami of Iran
>>From: "Island Business Center (Bill Hyman)" <billh@samoatelco.com>
>>To: pin00987@ping.be
>>CC: srb <srb-mods@bccca.org>
>>
>>I am returning your submission for the following reasons. It is written in

>>a >>demeaning manner. It assumes all "Ayatol Bahas" are male, I have >>reservations about the title "Ayatol Baha", and I have a personal aversion >>to emasculation. If you could resubmit your views in a more respectful >>manner I will be pleased to review them again for posting.

>>Bill Hyman
>>co-moderator
>>soc-religion-bahai
>>-----

>>From: pin00987@ping.be (~x[silvermask]x=~`)
>>To: soc-religion-bahai@news3.Belgium.EU.net
>>Newsgroups: soc.religion.bahai,news.groups
>>Subject: Re: Open Letter to President Khatami of Iran
>>Date: Tue, 03 Feb 1998 14:51:15 GMT
>
>

>(snip)

>>1. I think that "reprehensible" acts have been quite clearly defined by >>the Founders in their writings.

>>
>>2. If something warrants "reprehension," the authority to call it as >>such, lies exclusively in the hands of the elected institutions.

>>
>>> compared to Islamic authorities by disaffected individuals who have made
>>a >>habit of collecting injuries to themselves.

>>
>>If individuals go about branding people and their actions with
>>"reprehensible" labels, well, what do we have? Lots of Self Styled Self >>Appointed "Ayatul Bahas," acting as illegitimate vigilantes (which is >>explicitly prohibited in the Baha'i Faith: Authority lies EXCLUSIVELY in >>the hands of the Elected Institutions).

>>
>>And of course, those above mentioned "Ayatul Bahas" just walk into the >>vacuum created by the abolition of the clergy, and the believers who feel >>infirm in their Independent Investigation of Truth also start looking up
>>to >>those Ayatul Bahas for leadership and guidance. A perfect recipe for >>disaster and strain on already stretched Baha'i Human Resources.

>>
>>REPEAT:
>>> who have made a habit of collecting injuries to themselves.

>>
>>>This sounds more like an "Edict of some His Holiness above defined Ayatul >>>Baha" than an observation. Or in the least, "If only I get a chance I >>>will help them "collecting those injuries to themselves." Yes. I am >>>angered - and I do hope that those Ayatul Bahas will soon be shoved into >>a corner and emasculated.

>>
>>> The mere breathing in the same sentence that the actions of the Universal
>>House

>>
>>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 04, 1998 7:31 AM
Subject: Civil rights of covenant breakers?

A relevant message to one of the concerns often brought up during discussion for talk.religion.bahai:

-----Original Message-----

From: Loni BramsonLerche <Loni.BramsonLerche@ping.be>
To: Mark A. Foster <owner@sociologist.com>; Juan R. I. Cole <jrcole@umich.edu>; Dean Betts <fdbetts@mindspring.com>
Cc: talisman@umich.edu <talisman@umich.edu>; irfan1@umich.edu <irfan1@umich.edu>
Date: Wednesday, February 04, 1998 4:54 AM
Subject: Re: Khomeinism and phenomenology

>Loni B. quoted:
> "First, the civil rights of Covenant-breakers must be scrupulously upheld."

If this is true, why have so many Bahais claimed their opposition to talk.religion.bahai is based on fear of covenant breakers posting messages to it? Would it not be their "civil right" to do so?

> (From a letter written on behalf of the Universal House of Justice > to a National Spiritual Assembly, October 29, 1974)

> (Multiple Authors: Lights of Guidance, Page: 186)

[clip]

>At 19:23 03-02-98 -0600, Mark A. Foster wrote:

>>At 08:12 PM 2/3/98 -0500, Juan R. I. Cole wrote:

>>

>>>Already the governmental authorities in Germany, >>>who have a special sensitivity to fascism, have their >>>eye on the Baha'i faith as an organization that might >>>be being run like a cult.

>>

>>Juan -

>>

>>Do you have more information on this point?

>>

>>Mark (Foster)

>>

>>

>

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups

news.groups

alt.religion.bahai

soc.culture.israel

soc.rights.human

talk.religion.misc

soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 04, 1998 7:38 AM
Subject: Re: How Baha'u'llah can follow Muhammad, "the Last prophet"

Since your post was censored by soc.religion.bahai, you might want to know that voting is presently taking place on news.groups to form an unmoderated newsgroup on the Baha'i Faith, talk.religion.bahai.... A forum that would be open to Muslims, as well as others....

Are you aware of the existence of alt.religion.bahai?

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.
The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.
The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

-----original message follows:

Maryam Butson wrote in message <34d3564a.65426358@news.netlink.com.au>...

>The following post was rejected by the srb mods due to it not >addressing Baha'i teachings. As I do wish to pick up on some points >raised by Baha'is on Baha'u'llah following Muhammad, I posting this to >sri as a prelude to my discussing those posts (however due it not >containing Islamic content it may not be passed by them either) - THAT >having been said I am also posting this to talk.religion.misc, >alt.religion.bahai and ccing the posters from srb.

>Regards
>Maryam
>maryamATnetlink.com.au
>

>=====

>Having said I would crawl back under my rock, many of you brought up >excellent points that I do wish to discuss further. Both to extend my >own learning curve (I am a full believer in learning from those with >whom I come into contact even if we do not share the same perception >of reality, even more so at times); and also to give you my perspective
>as a Muslim on understanding my Holy Scripture.

>
>However as I said in my last email, I had people approach me privately
>(to which I am normally quite amiable) including one chap who out of >the blue claiming to "be reading SRB", asked me if I was "out to get >Baha'u'llah and the Baha'is" and "not to instill doubts in people's >minds", when I was sitting minding my own business on IRC. I want to >make it clear it's not my motivation to attack the team on their home >turf. I think there should be a forum where Baha'is can discuss >matters pertaining to their own faith, in comfort and relative freedom
>- something I always enjoyed as a Baha'i contributor on SRB.
>Nonetheless when someone makes what I feel is an incorrect statement >about Islam, or the beliefs of Muslims etc. I feel compelled to speak >up as Baha'is would and do in non-Baha'i situations if someone makes >a similarly incorrect statement about the Faith or the beliefs and >practices: which is why I stuck my nose online in the first place.

>
>If people are more comfortable to discuss this on sri, I am more than >happy to: although I understand the hesitation because of the >prohibition on teaching Middle Eastern Muslims (I am Anglo-Australian >FYI). Alternatively I am quite happy to discuss this in a respectful >manner here on sri [should read srb], however I must point out (or >at least record it for posterity) that I genuinely do not post just to >create discord and disharmony. These are issues I fought long and >hard to comprehend, or at least attempt to comprehend. The fact that >I disagree with Baha'i interpretations of the Qur'an and Islam, does >not mean I have it in for them. Of course I would like to share my >perspective on Islam, however I understand this is a Baha'i forum and >would much prefer happier and more educated relations between Baha'is >and Muslims.

>
>That having been said, and assuming I don't see a flurry of posts that >say "go away" I will endeavour to pick up on some of the interesting >points that were raised, God willing.

>
>Regards as always

>
>Maryam

--

Maryam Butson wrote in message <6b3msl$hpq$1@shell3.ba.best.com>...

>The following post was rejected by the srb mods due to it not >addressing Baha'i teachings. As I do wish to pick up on some points >raised by Baha'is on Baha'u'llah following Muhammad, I posting this to >sri as a prelude to my discussing those posts (however due it not >containing Islamic content it may not be passed by them either) - THAT >having been said I am also posting this to talk.religion.misc, >alt.religion.bahai and ccing the posters from srb.

>Regards
>Maryam
>maryamATnetlink.com.au
>

>=====

>Having said I would crawl back under my rock, many of you brought up >excellent points that I do wish to discuss further. Both to extend my >own learning curve (I am a full believer in learning from those with >whom I come into contact even if we do not share the same perception

>of reality, even moreso at times); and also to give you my perspective
>as a Muslim on understanding my Holy Scripture.

>

>However as I said in my last email, I had people approach me privately >(to which I am normally quite amiable) including one chap who out of >the blue claiming to "be reading SRB", asked me if I was "out to get >Baha'u'llah and the Baha'is" and "not to instill doubts in people's >minds", when I was sitting minding my own business on IRC. I want to >make it clear it's not my motivation to attack the team on their home >turf. I think there should be a forum where Baha'is can discuss >matters pertaining to their own faith, in comfort and relative freedom
>- something I always enjoyed as a Baha'i contributor on SRB.
>Nonetheless when someone makes what I feel is an incorrect statement >about Islam, or the beliefs of Muslims etc. I feel compelled to speak >up as Baha'is would and do in non-Baha'i situations if someone makes >a similarly incorrect statement about the Faith or the beliefs and >practices: which is why I stuck my nose online in the first place.

>

>If people are more comfortable to discuss this on sri, I am more than >happy to: although I understand the hesitation because of the >prohibition on teaching Middle Eastern Muslims (I am Anglo-Australian >FYI). Alternatively I am quite happy to discuss this in a respectful >manner here on sri [should read srb], however I must point out (or >at least record it for posterity) that I genuinely do not post just to >create discord and disharmony. These are issues I fought long and >hard to comprehend, or at least attempt to comprehend. The fact that >I disagree with Baha'i interpretations of the Qur'an and Islam, does >not mean I have it in for them. Of course I would like to share my >perspective on Islam, however I understand this is a Baha'i forum and >would much prefer happier and more educated relations between Baha'is >and Muslims.

>

>That having been said, and assuming I don't see a flurry of posts that >say "go away" I will endeavour to pick up on some of the interesting >points that were raised, God willing.

>

>Regards as always

>

>Maryam

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 04, 1998 7:57 AM
To: talisman
Subject: Dr. Juan Cole on Bahai censorship & denial of civil rights....

The relevance of Dr. Juan Cole on Bahai censorship and denial of civil rights
to the discussion for talk.religion.bahai should be obvious by now to most thoughtful people....

-----Original Message-----

From: Juan R. I. Cole <jrcole@umich.edu>
Cc: talisman@umich.edu <talisman@umich.edu>; irfan1@umich.edu
<irfan1@umich.edu>
Date: Tuesday, February 03, 1998 8:23 PM
Subject: Re: Khomeinism and phenomenology

>

>Dear [X]:

>

>The vast majority of Iranian Baha'is do not experience discrimination in
the >form of physical violence. They experience it in the form of being shunned >by their wider society, and from facing disabilities that come from being >shunned. I can't tell you how many Iranian Baha'is have bitterly and at >length complained to me, sometimes with tears in their eyes, about the >social discrimination they faced in Iran. People wouldn't invite them over >to dinner, or if they did they considered the Baha'i guest ritually polluted
>and would break the plates they ate on after they left. I always listened >to such stories of shunning and discrimination with a great deal of >sympathy, and they continue to pull at my heart strings. People should not >be shunned for their beliefs. Nowadays, things are even worse. Iranian >Baha'is may not attend university.

>

>However, I was threatened with being shunned by the Baha'is for my beliefs, >and some of my old friends in the community now shun me, and don't invite me

>over to dinner, or even answer my email greetings. And no doubt some of >them would break their plates if I ate off them. Of course, it would be >much worse if I had actually been declared a CB instead of only being >accused of "making statements contrary to the covenant." I would have >become a non-person to a lifetime of friends and family. A Baha'i >intellectual who was declared a CB would not be welcome to use Baha'i >libraries or archives or to benefit from Baha'i educational activities, in >exactly the same way as the Iranian Baha'is are excluded from Shi'ite >universities.

>
>Moreover, to suggest that the existential hell that a believer is put >through by being "dropped from the rolls" or being accused of contravening
>the covenant is trivial is to take a cruel and instrumental view of human >suffering. The Baha'i authorities are not welcome to treat human beings as >though they are chess pieces, and as though they have no rights. And I >predict to you that if they go on in the direction they are going, sooner
or >later they will land in legal trouble. Already the governmental authorities >in Germany, who have a special sensitivity to fascism, have their eye on
the >Baha'i faith as an organization that might be being run like a cult. To
the >extent that the Baha'i authorities (we are talking about Firuz Kazemzadeh, >Robert Henderson, Douglas Martin, Farzam Arbab and Ian Semple among others) >actually do run the religion like a cult, they will increase the >surveillance of their activities by civil libertarians and the civil >authorities in charge of protecting civil liberties in the free world.
>Already last fall, plans were made to send a German Counselor across the >border to a neighboring country to silence a Baha'i living there. Don't
the >Baha'i authorities have the slightest idea of what that would look like if >it got into the European press?
>
>Anyway, I don't actually see the slightest difference between the way >Baha'is treat those they think should be shunned for their ideas and the way >some Shi'ites shun the Iranian Baha'is. Nor do I see much difference in
the >authoritarian style of the chief Shi'ite authorities and that of the >so-called universal house of justice and its counselors. The only >difference is that the Baha'is don't yet have control of the apparatus of a >state, and so can't jail dissidents. Whether they would execute them if >they could remains to be seen.
>
>
>cheers Juan

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the
newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 04, 1998 7:57 AM
Subject: Dr. Juan Cole on Bahai censorship & denial of civil rights....

The relevance of Dr. Juan Cole on Bahai censorship and denial of civil rights
to the discussion for talk.religion.bahai should be obvious by now to most thoughtful people....

-----Original Message-----
From: Juan R. I. Cole <jrc@umich.edu>
Cc: talisman@umich.edu <talisman@umich.edu>; irfan1@umich.edu
<irfan1@umich.edu>
Date: Tuesday, February 03, 1998 8:23 PM
Subject: Re: Khomeinism and phenomenology

>
>Dear [X]:
>
>The vast majority of Iranian Baha'is do not experience discrimination in
the >form of physical violence. They experience it in the form of being shunned
>by their wider society, and from facing disabilities that come from being >shunned. I can't tell you how many Iranian Baha'is have bitterly and at >length complained to me, sometimes with tears in their eyes, about the >social discrimination they faced in Iran. People wouldn't invite them over >to dinner, or if they did they considered the Baha'i guest ritually

polluted
>and would break the plates they ate on after they left. I always listened >to such stories of shunning and discrimination with a great deal of >sympathy, and they continue to pull at my heart strings. People should not >be shunned for their beliefs. Nowadays, things are even worse. Iranian >Baha'is may not attend university.

>
>However, I was threatened with being shunned by the Baha'is for my beliefs, >and some of my old friends in the community now shun me, and don't invite
me
>over to dinner, or even answer my email greetings. And no doubt some of >them would break their plates if I ate off them. Of course, it would be >much worse if I had actually been declared a CB instead of only being >accused of "making statements contrary to the covenant." I would have >become a non-person to a lifetime of friends and family. A Baha'i >intellectual who was declared a CB would not be welcome to use Baha'i >libraries or archives or to benefit from Baha'i educational activities, in >exactly the same way as the Iranian Baha'is are excluded from Shi'ite >universities.

>
>Moreover, to suggest that the existential hell that a believer is put >through by being "dropped from the rolls" or being accused of contravening
>the covenant is trivial is to take a cruel and instrumental view of human >suffering. The Baha'i authorities are not welcome to treat human beings as >though they are chess pieces, and as though they have no rights. And I >predict to you that if they go on in the direction they are going, sooner
or >later they will land in legal trouble. Already the governmental authorities

>in Germany, who have a special sensitivity to fascism, have their eye on
the >Baha'i faith as an organization that might be being run like a cult. To
the >extent that the Baha'i authorities (we are talking about Firuz Kazemzadeh, >Robert Henderson, Douglas Martin, Farzam Arbab and Ian Semple among others)
>actually do run the religion like a cult, they will increase the >surveillance of their activities by civil libertarians and the civil >authorities in charge of protecting civil liberties in the free world.
>Already last fall, plans were made to send a German Counselor across the >border to a neighboring country to silence a Baha'i living there. Don't
the >Baha'i authorities have the slightest idea of what that would look like if >it got into the European press?

>
>Anyway, I don't actually see the slightest difference between the way >Baha'is treat those they think should be shunned for their ideas and the way >some Shi'ites shun the Iranian Baha'is. Nor do I see much difference in
the >authoritarian style of the chief Shi'ite authorities and that of the >so-called universal house of justice and its counselors. The only >difference is that the Baha'is don't yet have control of the apparatus of a >state, and so can't jail dissidents. Whether they would execute them if >they could remains to be seen.

>
>
>cheers Juan

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <<http://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the
newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 04, 1998 3:01 PM
Subject: Re: Civil rights of covenant breakers?

Dave Ratcliffe wrote in message <34d973b5.167798543@news.microserve.net>...

>Fred, this is a polite request for you to stop dropping your reposts of >others articles into news.groups in your continuing effort to convince >everyone to vote for your proposed group. I'm sure I'm not the only one who >feels that you may only be damaging your position by continuously harping
on >points you made repeatedly during the RFD.
>
>Please, just let the vote proceed quietly.

Dave, the reposts are an attempt to help objective observers have access to sufficiently independent opinions to make a fair appraisal of what's really involved.... I've been portrayed for over a year now by many Bahais as someone all alone in my belief that an unmoderated newsgroup is sorely needed. That just isn't true. The reposts show it.

Many Bahais and non-Bahais or ex-Bahais are afraid to speak out. I think that should worry most people....

"Harping," to my mind, accepts too much the Bahai characterization of me and others and fails to realize how exceedingly serious and pervasive the repercussions of censorship are and have been in the Bahai faith....

What I have reposted is relevant to the general and major issues surrounding talk.religion.bahai.... See the message by Juan Cole that discusses the concerns of the German and Russian States about the Bahai Faith....

"Quietly" would allow too much to be swept under the rug....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 05, 1998 7:45 AM
Subject: Re: Civil rights of covenant breakers?

Dave Ratcliffe wrote in message <34dcc3df.420183205@news.microserve.net>...

>CFV means "Call For Votes", not "Call For More Discussion and campaigning."

What Bahais call covenant breaking has been a major issue all along. When I came across an authoritative Bahai quotation on talisman that seemed to address the civil rights of covenant breakers, I thought it might be interesting to all interested persons to look at it. That's all.... I thought it would help clarify the issue. Sorry so many feel otherwise.

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 06, 1998 7:42 AM
To: Ron House
Subject: Thanks....

Just writing to say thanks for your recent messages.... It's a rare pleasure not to feel all alone....

Apparently, we reached the stage in voting when the fundamentalists appeared worried about which way things were going and had to beat the hell out of me again to reassure themselves.... The naive techies are the ones I can't get over....

I won't be reposting anything again, though, so as not to give people an excuse to jump all over me and trb....

Fred

From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 06, 1998 8:10 AM
To: talisman
Subject: Re: Control of media?

Juan Cole wrote:
> >Baha'i power elite is explicitly committed to censoring everything
Baha'is
> >write; to controlling all media even remotely connected with the Baha'i > >faith <<

Burl Barer responded:
> As a Baha'i who writes and produces media material for the proclamation
and > promotion of the Baha'i faith, I can personally attest that the above > statement is absolute nonsense.

"Absolute nonsense"? Oh, please.....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the
newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 09, 1998 7:07 AM
To: Chris Stone
Subject: Re: Status of talk.religion.bahai

The CFV was posted on January 17th. Sorry you didn't know. I had assumed the votetaker emailed you too but I see in a note she says it bounced....

Hope you get this.

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the
newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 09, 1998 7:24 AM
Subject: talk.religion.bahai

Guy Macon wrote in message <6bi35l$ao0$2@news01.deltanet.com>...

If you think that you can >ignore our advice when we tell you not to campaign during the CFV, you >are sadly mistaken. Ask any of the proponents; they will tell you that >they are committed to following the rules for running a RFD/CFV, and that >they appreciate our efforts to keep those who oppose the proposal from >breaking those same rules.

I am committed to following the rules and DO appreciate the help of others here in pointing that perhaps I clarified when I should not have....

The 2nd CFV has been posted. Let's drop this thread....

>If we have a repeat what happened on the last vote, I want to be able >to say that the proponents were squeaky clean with no hint of anything >even slightly unfair. That will be a big Credit to the Bahai faith.

I agree wholeheartedly....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the
newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 09, 1998 7:53 AM
Subject: Pointers posted

--
The last Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the
newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 09, 1998 8:38 AM
To: talisman
Cc: bahai-st
Subject: Last Pointer to CFV: talk.religion.bahai

Permit me to mention that the last Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 09, 1998 9:03 AM
To: Rebecca McQuitty
Subject: Re: 2nd CFV: talk.religion.bahai

>-----BEGINNING OF BALLOT: Delete Everything Before This Line-----
>-----
> Usenet Ballot: talk.religion.bahai
>
>Valid ballots are distributed blank in a Call for | Leave this
>Votes posted to news.announce.newgroups or mailed | marker here:
>by the votetaker. Other ballots may be rejected. | <TRB-0002>
>
>Give your real name on the next line (do not give your email address).
>Your name -->FG
>[Your Vote] Group (Place your vote in the empty brackets below.)
>-----
>[YES] talk.religion.bahai
>-----
>-----END OF BALLOT: Delete Everything After This Line-----

From: Christopher Stone[SMTP:cstone@ironwood.ru]
Sent: Monday, February 09, 1998 11:11 AM
To: 'FG'
Subject: RE: Status of talk.religion.bahai

I have already voted YES.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 09, 1998 2:07 PM
To: Chris Stone
Subject: Re: Status of talk.religion.bahai

The CFV was posted on January 17th. Sorry you didn't know. I had assumed the votetaker emailed you too but I see in a note she says it bounced....

Hope you get this.

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: Rebecca G. McQuitty[SMTP:mcq@wco.com]
Sent: Monday, February 09, 1998 12:34 PM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Subject: Vote Ack: talk.religion.bahai

This is an automatic message sent to you after your vote has been counted.
If this is correct, there is no need for you to reply. If your vote is registered incorrectly then please vote again so I can fix it.

This is a public vote, and all addresses and votes will be listed in the final voting result. You should keep this ack until you see your name in the result.

You can change your vote by voting again. To erase your vote and eliminate your address and vote from the final results listing, vote again and use a CANCEL in place of YES or NO.

Voter address: FG@hotmail.com
Voter name: FG

YES vote on talk.religion.bahai

Thank you for voting. For a copy of the Call For Votes (CFV), reply to me and indicate which vote you want the CFV for; I may be running several.

-- Rebecca G. McQuitty (mcq@wco.com)
Running UseVote 3.0

From: Rebecca G. McQuitty[SMTP:mcq@wco.com]
Sent: Monday, February 09, 1998 7:25 PM
To: Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us
Subject: 2nd CFV: talk.religion.bahai

The Baha'i Studies List

LAST CALL FOR VOTES (of 2)
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

Usenet readers may now vote on the proposed worldwide newsgroup talk.religion.bahai. This CFV contains information about both the voting process and the proposed group; please read the entire CFV
before voting.

Only the votetaker is authorized to distribute this CFV. Do not post
it to any newsgroup, mail it to any person or mailing list, or place it on the World Wide Web. Ballots or CFVs provided by anyone except the votetaker will be invalid.

Newsgroups line:
talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

Votes must be received by 23:59:59 UTC, 18 Feb 1998.

A neutral, third-party volunteer is conducting this vote. Direct questions about the vote to the votetaker, and questions about the proposed group to the proponents.

Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Proponent: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk>
Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>
Votetaker: Rebecca McQuitty <mcq@wco.com>

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

Between January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, and March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning
talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

Between April 1, 1997 and September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months.

Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for `talk.religion.bahai` and `alt.religion.bahai` for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the `alt.` hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the `talk.` hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the `talk.*` hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

The proponents intend that `talk.religion.bahai` will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group `soc.religion.bahai`, and will provide those without access to `alt.religion.bahai`, on the less well propagated `alt.*` hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on `alt.religion.bahai`, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that `alt.religion.bahai` will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement `talk.religion.bahai` as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: `talk.religion.bahai`

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from `soc.religion.bahai`, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including `soc.religion.bahai`, the `talk.religion.bahai` newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

IMPORTANT VOTING INFORMATION:

The purpose of a Usenet vote is to determine the genuine interest in reading the proposed group, and soliciting votes from uninterested parties defeats this purpose. Do `not` distribute this CFV; instead, direct people to the official CFV posted to `news.announce.newgroups`. Distributing pre-marked, incomplete, or otherwise edited copies of this CFV is considered vote fraud.

At most one vote is allowed per person or per account. Duplicate votes will be resolved in favor of the most recent valid vote. Addresses and votes of all voters will be listed in the final RESULT post.

Voters must mail their ballots directly to the votetaker. Anonymous, forwarded, or proxy votes are not valid. Votes mailed by `WWW/HTML/CGI` forms are considered anonymous, as are votes from any "munged" addresses the votetaker cannot decipher.

Please direct any questions to the votetaker at `<mcq@wco.com>`.

HOW TO VOTE:

Extract the ballot from the CFV by deleting everything before the "BEGINNING OF BALLOT" and after the "END OF BALLOT" lines. Please do `not` send the entire CFV back to me! Don't worry about the spacing of the columns or any quote characters ("`>`") that your software inserts.

Provide your real name on the line that asks for it, and indicate your vote in the brackets beside the group name. Valid votes are YES, NO, ABSTAIN, and CANCEL. Examples of how to properly indicate your vote (do not vote here):

```
[ YES      ] example.vote.yes
[ NO       ] example.vote.no
[ ABSTAIN  ] example.abstention
[ CANCEL   ] example.cancellation
```

Do not modify or delete any other information in this ballot.
Votetaking is automated, and any other changes to the ballot may prevent your vote from being counted.

When you're finished, mail the ballot to <mcq@wco.com>. Replying to this message should work, but check the "To:" line. If you ordinarily use a spam block, please delete it and use a valid address to vote.

If you do not receive an acknowledgment of your vote within three days, contact the votetaker about the problem. You are responsible for reading your ack and making sure your vote is registered correctly.

-----BEGINNING OF BALLOT: Delete Everything Before This Line-----

Usenet Ballot: talk.religion.bahai

Valid ballots are distributed blank in a Call for		Leave this
Votes posted to news.announce.newgroups or mailed		marker here:
by the votetaker. Other ballots may be rejected.		<TRB-0004>

Give your real name on the next line (do not give your email address).
Your name -->

[Your Vote] Group (Place your vote in the empty brackets below.)

[] talk.religion.bahai

-----END OF BALLOT: Delete Everything After This Line-----

DISTRIBUTION

This CFV has been posted to the following newsgroups:

- news.announce.newgroups
- news.groups
- alt.religion.bahai
- soc.culture.israel
- soc.rights.human
- talk.religion.misc
- soc.religion.bahai (posted separately)

The CFV and the eventual RESULT posts will be mailed to these mailing
lists:

Mailing list name: Baha'i Studies
Submission address: Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us
Request address: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

Mailing list name: h-bahai
Submission address: h-bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Request address: smaneck@berry.edu or jrcole@umich.edu

Mailing list name: Talisman
Submission address: talisman@umich.edu
Request address: jsgreen@umich.edu

Pointers directing readers to this CFV will be posted in these groups:

- a.bsu.religion
- alt.religion
- alt.religion.islam
- news.admin.censorship
- soc.religion.eastern
- soc.religion.gnosis
- soc.religion.hindu
- soc.religion.paganism
- soc.religion.quaker
- soc.religion.sikhism
- soc.religion.unitarian-univ
- soc.religion.vaishnava
- talk.religion.buddhism
- talk.religion.newage
- uk.religion.interfaith
- uk.religion.misc
- uk.religion.other-faiths

The CFV is also available by e-mail from the votetaker.

--
Rebecca Graham McQuitty
-
To switch to the digested list, send the following commands to major@johnco.cc.ks.us in the message body
-
unsubscribe bahai-st
subscribe bahai-st-digest

From: Rebecca G. McQuitty[SMTP:mcq@wco.com]
Sent: Monday, February 09, 1998 7:57 PM

To: talisman@umich.edu
Subject: 2nd CFV: talk.religion.bahai

LAST CALL FOR VOTES (of 2)
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

Usenet readers may now vote on the proposed worldwide newsgroup talk.religion.bahai. This CFV contains information about both the voting process and the proposed group; please read the entire CFV before voting.

Only the votetaker is authorized to distribute this CFV. Do not post it to any newsgroup, mail it to any person or mailing list, or place it on the World Wide Web. Ballots or CFVs provided by anyone except the votetaker will be invalid.

Newsgroups line:
talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

Votes must be received by 23:59:59 UTC, 18 Feb 1998.

A neutral, third-party volunteer is conducting this vote. Direct questions about the vote to the votetaker, and questions about the proposed group to the proponents.

Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Proponent: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk >
Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>
Votetaker: Rebecca McQuitty <mcq@wco.com>

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

Between January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, and March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

Between April 1, 1997 and September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months.

Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

IMPORTANT VOTING INFORMATION:

The purpose of a Usenet vote is to determine the genuine interest in reading the proposed group, and soliciting votes from uninterested parties defeats this purpose. Do not distribute this CFV; instead, direct people to the official CFV posted to news.announce.newgroups. Distributing pre-marked, incomplete, or otherwise edited copies of this CFV is considered vote fraud.

At most one vote is allowed per person or per account. Duplicate votes will be resolved in favor of the most recent valid vote. Addresses and votes of all voters will be listed in the final RESULT post.

Voters must mail their ballots directly to the votetaker. Anonymous, forwarded, or proxy votes are not valid. Votes mailed by WWW/HTML/CGI forms are considered anonymous, as are votes from any "munged" addresses the votetaker cannot decipher.

Please direct any questions to the votetaker at <mcq@wco.com>.

HOW TO VOTE:

Extract the ballot from the CFV by deleting everything before the "BEGINNING OF BALLOT" and after the "END OF BALLOT" lines. Please do not send the entire CFV back to me! Don't worry about the spacing of the columns or any quote characters (">") that your software inserts.

Provide your real name on the line that asks for it, and indicate your vote in the brackets beside the group name. Valid votes are YES, NO, ABSTAIN, and CANCEL. Examples of how to properly indicate your vote (do not vote here):

```
[ YES      ] example.vote.yes
[ NO       ] example.vote.no
[ ABSTAIN  ] example.abstention
[ CANCEL   ] example.cancellation
```

Do not modify or delete any other information in this ballot. Votetaking is automated, and any other changes to the ballot may prevent your vote from being counted.

When you're finished, mail the ballot to <mcq@wco.com>. Replying to this message should work, but check the "To:" line. If you ordinarily use a spam block, please delete it and use a valid address to vote.

If you do not receive an acknowledgment of your vote within three days, contact the votetaker about the problem. You are responsible for reading your ack and making sure your vote is registered correctly.

-----BEGINNING OF BALLOT: Delete Everything Before This Line-----

Usenet Ballot: talk.religion.bahai

Valid ballots are distributed blank in a Call for		Leave this
Votes posted to news.announce.newgroups or mailed		marker here:
by the votetaker. Other ballots may be rejected.		<TRB-0008>

Give your real name on the next line (do not give your email address).
Your name -->

[Your Vote] Group (Place your vote in the empty brackets below.)

[] talk.religion.bahai

-----END OF BALLOT: Delete Everything After This Line-----

DISTRIBUTION

This CFV has been posted to the following newsgroups:

```
news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai (posted separately)
```

The CFV and the eventual RESULT posts will be mailed to these mailing lists:

Mailing list name: Baha'i Studies
Submission address: Bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us
Request address: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

Mailing list name: h-bahai
Submission address: h-bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Request address: smaneck@berry.edu or jrcole@umich.edu

Mailing list name: Talisman
Submission address: talisman@umich.edu
Request address: jsgreen@umich.edu

Pointers directing readers to this CFV will be posted in these groups:

a.bsu.religion
alt.religion
alt.religion.islam
news.admin.censorship
soc.religion.eastern
soc.religion.gnosis
soc.religion.hindu
soc.religion.paganism
soc.religion.quaker
soc.religion.sikhism
soc.religion.unitarian-univ
soc.religion.vaishnava
talk.religion.buddhism
talk.religion.newage
uk.religion.interfaith
uk.religion.misc
uk.religion.other-faiths

The CFV is also available by e-mail from the votetaker.

--
Rebecca Graham McQuitty

From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 10, 1998 7:15 AM
To: talisman
Subject: Re: Last Pointer to CFV: talk.religion.bahai

>Dear Fred,
>
>Could you explain to me what the difference would be from having an >"alt" list to having a "talk" list?
>
>Susan

The alt.* hierarchy has very limited accessibility. Many ISPs do not offer the hierarchy at all. Hence, fewer people may participate. This fact has been discussed at great length for over a year now.... It is one of the major reasons I and others propose talk.religion.bahai. The talk.* hierarchy is analogous to a major newspaper versus a little local one in podunk.... All ISPs usually offer all the newsgroups on it. Everyone, for instance, who voted YES last time (and this time) would then be able to access it.

Baha'u'llah was averse to the destruction of books, and, I would think, newspapers, or the electronic journals of our day....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The last Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Wednesday, February 11, 1998 7:06 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

>Guy Macon wrote in message <6bi35l$ao0$2@news01.deltanet.com>...

>>If we have a repeat what happened on the last vote, I want to be able >>to say that the proponents were squeaky clean awith no hint of anything >>even slightly unfair. That will be a big Credit to the Bahai faith.

What do we talk about during the interest poll?

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The last Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 11, 1998 2:50 PM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Steve Vinterna wrote in message <6bsd0$he9@drn.zippo.com>...

From here i[t] looks as if once >talk.religion.bahai is created, you'll have nothing left to talk about. I >certainly hope that is not the case.

It's more that many or some are afraid to say anything.... Aren't you?

I am....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The last Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 12, 1998 8:27 AM
To: Juan R. I. Cole
Subject: Re: Ideas?

>No one tells me these things.

Sarcasm? You receive a lot of complaints since no one may make them in public? I've received a few that have made me feel like the Holy Confessor....

>Detweiler would be a godsend if he could (stupidly) provoke the interest of >the press in the Great Baha'i Cyberspace Inquisition. These people are >their own worst enemies, and they have no idea how fascist they are or >would sound in the real world.

My point was Detweiler and ergo others seem to WANT things thrown into the press.... I don't really care to satisfy any desire of the fanatics....

And don't trust them one iota.

I believe they may very well have again used the BCCA listservs to cobble together, "unobserved," another defeat for talk.religion.bahai. When the massive NO becomes public, and David Lawrence, i.e., Usenet, refuses to overturn it, what would you recommend? I don't believe I or anyone should agree to go back to alt.religion.bahai and wait another six months for the third defeat. The only thing I can think of is to stay on news.groups, crossposting everything to alt.religion.bahai and every newsgroup listed on the RFD until....

Fred

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 13, 1998 8:02 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Emma Pease wrote in message ...
>In <6bs0m1$4jo@news3.newsguy.com> "FG"
<FG@hotmail.com> writes:

>We emulate a Friends' meeting and listen in silence.

....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The last Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, February 14, 1998 9:57 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

>Emma Pease wrote in message ...
>
>>We emulate a Friends' meeting and listen in silence.

....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The last Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, February 14, 1998 10:11 AM
To: talisman
Subject: Re: Dr. Juan Cole on Bahai censorship & denial of civil rights....

Mike Buonsanto wrote in message <34E4B226.E0B9FF9D@oceanus.haystack.edu>...

>I don't think non-Baha'is should have any fear of how they would be >treated in a possible future Baha'i-dominated world, as long as the >Baha'is obey what is written in the Writings.

And should non-Bahais take the example set during the interest polling for talk.religion.bahai as a taste of what to expect, as a taste of what it means to "obey what is written in the Writings"?

Two principles just >quoted in SRB are (quotes from 'Abdul-Baha in the Promulgation of >Universal Peace):

>
> "Baha'u'llah also taught that prejudices - whether religious, >racial, patriotic or political - are destructive to the foundations of human development. Prejudices of any kind are the destroyers of human happiness and welfare. Until they are dispelled, the advancement of the world of humanity is not possible...
> Seventh, Baha'u'llah taught that an equal standard of human rights >must be recognized and adopted. In the estimation of God all men are >equal; there is no distinction or preferment for any soul in the >dominion of His justice and equity..."

>
>In other words, Baha'is are forbidden to be prejudiced against someone >because of their religious or other beliefs, whatever they may be, and >they must accord them equal human rights!

What of the "equal human rights" of those who wanted talk.religion.bahai and voted YES last year? What of the human rights of covenant breakers, which the Writings also claim should be protected? HYPOCRISY Writ Large is all I see....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The last Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the
newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker,
Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, February 14, 1998 10:11 AM
Subject: Re: Dr. Juan Cole on Bahai censorship & denial of civil rights....

Mike Buonsanto wrote in message <34E4B226.E0B9FF9D@oceanus.haystack.edu>...

>I don't think non-Baha'is should have any fear of how they would be >treated in a possible future Baha'i-dominated world, as long as the >Baha'is obey what is written in the Writings.

And should non-Bahais take the example set during the interest polling for talk.religion.bahai as a taste of what to expect, as a taste of what it means to "obey what is written in the Writings"?

Two principles just >quoted in SRB are (quotes from 'Abdul-Baha in the Promulgation of >Universal Peace):

>
> "Baha'u'llah also taught that prejudices - whether religious, >racial, patriotic or political - are destructive to the foundations of human development. Prejudices of any kind are the destroyers of human happiness and welfare. Until they are dispelled, the advancement of the world of humanity is not possible...
> Seventh, Baha'u'llah taught that an equal standard of human rights >must be recognized and adopted. In the estimation of God all men are >equal; there is no distinction or preferment for any soul in the >dominion of His justice and equity..."

>
>In other words, Baha'is are forbidden to be prejudiced against someone >because of their religious or other beliefs, whatever they may be, and >they must accord them equal human rights!

What of the "equal human rights" of those who wanted
talk.religion.bahai and voted YES last year? What of the human rights of covenant breakers, which the Writings also claim should be protected? HYPOCRISY Writ Large is all I see....

--

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The last Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups

news.groups

alt.religion.bahai

soc.culture.israel

soc.rights.human

talk.religion.misc

soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Sunday, February 15, 1998 7:47 AM

Subject: Re: What is the accepted stand on divulging your vote?

Chris Stone wrote in message <01bd399d$75b225e0$1bc0c8c3@cstone>...

>A newsgroup creation committee, basically composed of news.groups regulars who >have some idea of the technical criteria for a sound newsgroup:
hierarchical
>names, reasonable moderation policies, and so forth.

I would be in favor of such a system.... Voting seems purposeless and futile in the context I've experienced it.... The impartiality of the UVV or whatever would be preferable to interest polling.

--

FG

UseNet: alt.religion.bahai

The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The last Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups

news.groups

alt.religion.bahai

soc.culture.israel

soc.rights.human

talk.religion.misc

soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Monday, February 16, 1998 8:17 AM

Subject: Re: What is the accepted stand on divulging your vote?

Dave Ratcliffe wrote in message <34f27874.100712910@news.microserve.net>...

>Fred, the context in which you've experienced it has been largely a result >of your steadfast refusal to listen to advice from people more familiar with >the process than you. I find it difficult to believe that you would pay any >more attention to a formal committee than you did the same people in an >informal group who tried previously to supply you with advice.

You're entitled to your opinion. However, I have listened and followed the advice of a number of people, many times.... In my view, your sweeping characterization of me is neither fair nor accurate and is all too reminiscent of other quarters....

It has often seemed to me many news.groupies really don't understand how sweet but oppressive many Bahais are and to what lengths they'll go to.... Trb is not rec.fun.cats.... There's a long history that can't be ignored, and isn't by those who disregard or have complete contempt for the rules of group formation.

Other than a committee, I don't see any way around the tyrannization of Usenet.... It seems to me some of the other political defeats mentioned demonstrate that as well. Rebecca's concern that appointment or election to the committee itself would then become politicized is probably quite right....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The last Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 16, 1998 8:48 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The last Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 16, 1998 9:29 AM
Subject: Re: What is the accepted stand on divulging your vote?

Rebecca McQuitty wrote in message <6c7m7v$0ie$3@news.ncal.verio.com>...

>Interest is one of the technical criteria for a sound newsgroup.

What should be done when documented traffic is ignored? For instance, dejanews shows alt.religion.bahai has had * 5, 835 * messages posted to it as of this morning since last April....

You >could replace NO votes with a committee, but you still need some way to >demonstrate interest.

What would be wrong with using figures from dejanews when they are available? Someone in this thread mentioned David Lawrence has the prerogative of overturning a NO vote, though he didn't a number of times.... Couldn't that capacity be delegated to elected or selected news.groupies or volunteers? A consortium, perhaps, created or delegated by the system administrators who provide the resources that support Usenet?

Modern societies have courts of appeal; Usenet ought to have something comparable....

--
FG
UseNet: alt.religion.bahai
The RFD for talk.religion.bahai: <https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/rfd.htm>.

The last Call For Votes (CFV) for talk.religion.bahai has been posted to the newsgroups specified in the CFV:

news.announce.newgroups
news.groups
alt.religion.bahai
soc.culture.israel
soc.rights.human
talk.religion.misc
soc.religion.bahai

You may now vote at this time. The interest poll ends on February 18th.

The CFV is also available directly from the impartial third-party votetaker, Rebecca G. McQuitty, via email: mcq@wco.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 20, 1998 9:46 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

Emma Pease wrote

>We emulate a Friends' meeting and listen in silence.

....

--
FG

From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 20, 1998 9:48 AM
To: talisman
Cc: bahai-st
Subject: Re talk.religion.bahai

Emma Pease wrote

>We emulate a Friends' meeting and listen in silence.

....

--
FG

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 22, 1998 8:38 AM
Subject: Re: Baha'i teachings

Grider wrote:

>>I am a Christian who has been "independently investigating" the Baha'i >>faith. Frankly I have found some serious problems. One good place to >>start in terms of getting some feedback is with respect to the relation

Donald Zhang Osborn wrote

>A web site that may interest you and others concerning Baha'i-Christian >dialogue is <https://www.ozemail.com.au/~cdibdin/index.html>

Is the site owned and operated by a Bahai?

--
FG

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 22, 1998 8:51 AM
To: Rebecca G. McQuitty
Subject: RESULTS?

My worry and anxiety have gotten the best of me....

If permissible, I'd appreciate your sharing with me
what's going on, or has gone wrong with the vote....

--
FG

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 22, 1998 9:11 AM
Subject: Re: talk.religion.bahai

"Often silence is the wisest thing for a man to heed." --Pindar

--
FG

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 22, 1998 9:16 AM
To: Ron House
Subject: results??

Ron,

I don't know what's going on with the vote. It must be awfully close and the votetaker is picking through the RESULTS.... I hope trying to invalidate NO votes.

The only other thing I can think of is there has been another massive NO vote and the news.groupies are huddling on what to do about it....

I've emailed this morning the votetaker Rebecca McQuitty. I'll let you know if I hear anything back from her.

Fred

From: Rebecca G. McQuitty[SMTP:mcq@wco.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 22, 1998 7:55 PM
To: bahai-st@johnco.cc.ks.us
Subject: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

The Baha'i Studies List

RESULT
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

There were 109 YES votes and 65 NO votes, for a total of 174 valid votes. There were 10 abstains and 3 invalid ballots.

For group passage, YES votes must be at least 2/3 of all valid (YES and NO) votes. There also must be at least 100 more YES votes than NO votes.

There is a five day discussion period after these results are posted. Unless serious allegations of voting irregularities are raised, the group may not be voted on again for six months.

Please post all discussion of this RESULT to news.groups.

Newsgroups line:
talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

The voting period closed at 23:59:59 UTC, 18 Feb 1998.

A neutral, third-party volunteer conducted this vote. Direct questions about the proposed group to the proponents.

Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Proponent: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk >
Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>
Votetaker: Rebecca McQuitty <mcq@wco.com>

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

Between January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, and March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

Between April 1, 1997 and September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months.

Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

talk.religion.bahai Final Vote Ack

Voted Yes

110576.764 [at] compuserve.com	Henri-Charles de Flhrier
aelyria [at] goodnet.com	Alma Engels
afshin.afraشته [at] utoronto.ca	Afshin Afrashteh
alex [at] unicorn.us.com	Alex Matulich
an588 [at] freenet.carleton.ca	Catherine Woodgold
ann_mcginley [at] hotmail.com	Ann McGinley
aull [at] ll.mit.edu	Brian Aull
baird [at] gate.net	Baird Stafford
bill [at] srisoft.com	Bill W Smith Jr
bmathieu [at] micron.net	Brent Mathieu
bn872 [at] freenet.carleton.ca	Michael McKenny
booda [at] datasync.com	Martin H. Booda
bpurosky [at] visix.com	Bill Purosky
Carol_Bowie [at] mindlink.bc.ca	Carol Bowie
cdt [at] op.net	Chris Trumbore
Chris [at] breacais.demon.co.uk	Christopher John Manvell
chriseb [at] nortel.ca	Chris Ebenezer
cipher [at] mindspring.com	David A. Howard
ck508 [at] freenet.carleton.ca	Lionel Wagner
cstone [at] math.unm.edu	Chris Stone
curtis_whalen+usenet [at] geocities.com	Curtis (Jewell) Whalen
dan [at] remote.control.com	Dan L. Pierson
david [at] home.net.nz	David Farrar
dbowie [at] sas.upenn.edu	David Bowie
desiegel [at] aol.com	David E. Siegel
dputzolu [at] teleport.com	David M. Putzolu
ekako [at] northcoast.com	Kindrick Ownby
elliottglaysher [at] yahoo.com
emma [at] csli.Stanford.EDU	Emma Pease
er_er_an [at] hotmail.com	J Vuh
fbaker [at] ncsa.uiuc.edu	Frank M. Baker
fed [at] millcomm.com	Frank Druktainis
FG [at] hotmail.com	FG
fgsoler [at] value.net	Frank G. Soler
forumbahai [at] es.co.nz	Steve Marshall
fran [at] crhc.uiuc.edu	Frances Baker
gaillard [at] panix.com	Ed Gaillard

gazissax [at] netcom.com	Lynn Diana Gazis
gglaser [at] minn.net	Ginger Glaser
ggw [at] wolves.durham.nc.us	Gregory G. Woodbury
hmiddlem [at] cyberus.ca	Harry T Middleman
hood [at] Eng.Sun.COM	Mark Hood
house [at] usq.edu.au	Ron House
IJF16 [at] student.canterbury.ac.nz	Isaac Freeman
irina [at] rempt.xs4all.nl	Irina Rempt
J.K.A.Singh-Rathore [at] ping.be	J.K.A. Singh-Rathore
jaed [at] best.com	Jeanne A. E. DeVoto
jake [at] netins.net	R. "Jake" Jakoubek
james.farrar [at] ic.ac.uk	James Farrar
jbh5 [at] cornell.edu	Jean B. Hunter
jdg [at] but-i-dont-like-spam.boxmail.com	John David Galt
jeffd [at] goodnet.com	Jeffrey J. Davey
jeffford [at] cs.utexas.edu	Jeff Ford
jharnick [at] nornet.on.ca	John A. Harnick
jkrobert [at] students.wisc.edu.nolongpig	Jason Roberts
jmalina [at] wenet.net	Jo Ann Malina
jolomo [at] netcom.com	Joe Morris
jonathan [at] lionheart.net	Jonathan Padgett
JoySafari [at] aol.com
jtbell [at] cs1.presby.edu	Jon Bell
karromde [at] nyx.net	Ken Arromdee
kebera [at] Cyblings.ON.CA	Krishna E. Bera
keillan [at] quest.cc.purdue.edu	Kelly G. Willis
kopetsbj [at] cs.purdue.edu	Brett J. Kopetsky
kuch [at] ms.uky.edu	John Allen Kuchenbrod
kyra [at] flash.net	Debra Davies Huffman
lightspring [at] jps.net	Thomas Spellman
maryam [at] netlink.com.au	Maryam Butson
Massoud.Ajami [at] sdsu.eduDELETE	Massoud Ajami
matt [at] mec.edu	Matt Bancroft
mcgregoa [at] Cognos.COM	Alayne McGregor
meflin [at] dimensional.com	James S. Lopeman
michael [at] unicorn-connection.co.uk	Michael Parry
mirele [at] super.zippo.com	Deana M. Holmes
mtgalvin [at] ouray.cudenver.edu	Michael-Teunis Galvin
mughal [at] alumni.caltech.edu	Asim Mughal
neil [at] nkelley.demon.co.uk	Neil Kelley
neilc [at] stanford.edu	Neilist Crellin
obfusa [at] mack.rt66.com	Franklin D. Schlatter Group Orthodox
olav [at] viking.mv.com	Olav Nieuwejaar
[at] moa.net
philh [at] vision25.demon.co.uk	Philip Hunt
PIERCEED [at] sswwserver.ssww.csus.edu	Eric David Pierce
pjh1 [at] leicester.ac.uk	Pete Humble
pjohnson [at] vsla.edu	K. Paul Johnson
poul [at] earthling.net.NOSPAM.PLEASE	Poul A. Costinsky
rdetweil [at] boi.hp.com	Dick Detweiler
rick [at] bcm.tmc.edu	Richard Miller
RK-esperantisto [at] juno.com	Rick Koshko
roesingere [at] indy.tce.com	Eric G Roesinger
romanc [at] rpi.edu	Cesar C. Palerm
roxanamorgan11 [at] home.com	Roxana Morgan
rreini [at] wwnet.net	Roger Reini
rtower [at] yahoo.com	Ron Tower
sas [at] frontiernet.net	Stuart Schweid
simon [at] darkmere.gen.nz	Simon Lyall
slavitch [at] loran.com	Michael Slavitch
Tobias.Erle [at] GMX.net	Tobias Erle
todd [at] nutria.nrlssc.navy.mil	Todd Mullins
tommycarter [at] usa.net	Tommy Carter
tricia [at] glonet.co.nz	Tricia Hague-Blackford
Wayne_Sanders-Unrein_at_2-HTI-2VA [at] ccgate.hac.com	Wayne Sanders-Unrein
whateverman [at] erols.com	Jon Richt
wisanr [at] norwich.net	Dick Wisan
WTobyL [at] aol.com	Toby Lomax
wwfiv [at] ix.netcom.com	William W. Farley IV
xanthian [at] well.com	Kent Paul Dolan
znmeb [at] teleport.com	M. Edward Borasky
zutetflute [at] aol.com	Andree Maani

Voted No

abir [at] comtrol.com	Abir Majid
andrew.pemberton-pigott [at] ualberta.ca	Andrew Pemberton-Pigott
babboo [at] writeme.com	Peter Buchy
barneyk [at] ziplitnk.net	Michael "Barney" Kennedy
bobbymitchell [at] totacc.com	Bobby Mitchell
centiped [at] grey.xs4all.nl	Roelf Renkema
d [at] idiom.com	d
David.Robinson [at] Eng.Sun.COM	David Robinson
djull [at] mindspring.com	David Jull
dwolff [at] world.std.com	David "Not a Bahai" Wolff
EdvardJ [at] simi.is	Edvard T. Jonsson
Ekkehard.Uthke [at] gmx.de	Ekkehard Uthke
fdbetts [at] mindspring.com	Dean Betts

forbes [at] cheerful.com	Forbes Benning
Gata [at] aol.com	Shirley Macias
globe99 [at] Mlink.NET	Derrick Jobidon
gpoirier [at] acca.nmsu.edu	G. Brent Poirier
Graham [at] fragrant.demon.co.uk	Graham Sorenson
hcwtcurtis [at] email.msn.com	Larry D. Curtis
hfung [at] lerami.lerctr.org	Hank Fung
hhouse [at] mailcity.com	Harry House
hymanfam [at] samoatelco.com	William M. Hyman
iskandar [at] acsu.buffalo.edu	Iskandar Hai
jasmine [at] fl.net.au	Jasmine Taylor
jjam [at] hplabsz.hpl.hp.com	Jim S. Jam
judd.rook [at] pnn.com	Judd A Rook
kimdv [at] best.com	Kim DeVaughn
krc1 [at] mail.enter.net	Phil Thomas
ksm8p [at] avery.med.virginia.edu	kavian milani
lcs [at] zk3.dec.com	Larry Smith
LSEAMANS [at] MU3.MILLERSV.EDU	Lynne Seamans
marcus9 [at] usa.net	Marcus Davidson
mehyar22 [at] siol.net	Mehyar Badii-Azandahi
mlcook [at] jerez.cca.rockwell.com	Michael Cook
mlocher [at] ibm.net	Maximilian Greer Locher
momen [at] northill.demon.co.uk	Moojan Momen
naddy [at] mips.rhein-neckar.de	Christian Weisgerber
nigel [at] nigelshomes.com	Nigel Austin-Weeks
nightbrd [at] humboldt1.com	Douglas Myers
ongang [at] mail.indigo.ie	Ann O'Neill
pan [at] syix.com	Pan
pat1 [at] cag.lcs.mit.edu	Patrick J. LoPresti
persia [at] persia.com	Robert Moldenhauer
petcook [at] total.net	Peter Cook
pewatler [at] cyf-kr.edu.pl	Miguel Watler
ph289jk [at] prism.gatech.edu	Joseph Khoury
polzer [at] uran.informatik.uni-bonn.de	Andreas Polzer
red [at] rahul.net	Red
riazor [at] nutecnet.com.br	Irlandes Fernandes Gonzaga Junior
rmp [at] heehaw.com	Rafael Palmeiro
roger.borseth [at] mci2000.com	Roger Borseth
rossdee [at] ramhb.co.nz	Ross Deeley
samoasys [at] samoatelco.com	Jane C. Hyman
shohre [at] itis.com	Shohre Mansouri
shrao [at] nyx.net	Shrisha Rao
stainles [at] bga.com	Dwight Brown
steiners [at] primenet.com	Jason Steiner
steve [at] Watt.COM	Steve Watt
stronguv [at] freenet.edmonton.ab.ca	Donald Strong
Sunday122 [at] aol.com	Sunday Marie Witte
talishman [at] usa.net	T. Albert-Ishmael Anderson
tlawson [at] amug.org	Todd C. Lawson
todd.kutches [at] attws.com	Todd Kutches
wdmaddox [at] rice.edu	Bill Maddox
wpagel [at] wazoo.com	Karen L. Pagel

Abstained

af479 [at] rgfn.epcc.Edu	Samandar Roshan-Zamir
biow [at] ezmort.com	Christopher Biow
chris [at] kzim.com	Christopher Robin Zimmerman
guymacon [at] deltanet.com	Guy Macon
hkt [at] wwa.com	Henrietta Thomas
johnn [at] jolt.mpx.com.au	John New
kpascoe [at] ford.com	Kathy Pascoe
NEW_DAWN [at] compuserve.com	Crispin Pemberton-Pigott
rick [at] helix.nih.gov	Rick Troxel
rpascoe [at] freenet.npiec.on.ca	robert Pascoe

Votes in error

fpbbgre [at] gnenanxv.np.am	Scooter
! Invalid address
notarius [at] nym.alias.net	Notarius
! Anonymous remailer
tom-hodges [at] geocities.com	Tom Hodges
! No ballot

--
Rebecca Graham McQuitty

-
To switch to the digested list,
send the following commands to major@johnco.cc.ks.us in the message body

-
unsubscribe bahai-st
subscribe bahai-st-digest

From: Rebecca G. McQuitty[SMTP:mcq@wco.com]
Sent: Sunday, February 22, 1998 7:57 PM

To: talisman@umich.edu
Subject: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

RESULT
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

There were 109 YES votes and 65 NO votes, for a total of 174 valid votes. There were 10 abstains and 3 invalid ballots.

For group passage, YES votes must be at least 2/3 of all valid (YES and NO) votes. There also must be at least 100 more YES votes than NO votes.

There is a five day discussion period after these results are posted. Unless serious allegations of voting irregularities are raised, the group may not be voted on again for six months.

Please post all discussion of this RESULT to news.groups.

Newsgroups line:
talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

The voting period closed at 23:59:59 UTC, 18 Feb 1998.

A neutral, third-party volunteer conducted this vote. Direct questions about the proposed group to the proponents.

Proponent: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Proponent: Chris Manvell <Chris@breacais.demon.co.uk >
Proponent: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
Mentor: Chris Stone <cbstone@phoenix.princeton.edu>
Votetaker: Rebecca McQuitty <mcq@wco.com>

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

Between January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, and March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

Between April 1, 1997 and September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months.

Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

talk.religion.bahai Final Vote Ack

Voted Yes

110576.764 [at] compuserve.com	Henri-Charles de Flhrier
aelyria [at] goodnet.com	Alma Engels
afshin.afrashteh [at] utoronto.ca	Afshin Afrashteh
alex [at] unicorn.us.com	Alex Matulich
an588 [at] freenet.carleton.ca	Catherine Woodgold
ann_mcginley [at] hotmail.com	Ann McGinley
aull [at] ll.mit.edu	Brian Aull
baird [at] gate.net	Baird Stafford
bill [at] srisoft.com	Bill W Smith Jr
bmathieu [at] micron.net	Brent Mathieu
bn872 [at] freenet.carleton.ca	Michael McKenny
booda [at] datasync.com	Martin H. Booda
bpurosky [at] visix.com	Bill Purosky
Carol_Bowie [at] mindlink.bc.ca	Carol Bowie
cdt [at] op.net	Chris Trumbore
Chris [at] breacais.demon.co.uk	Christopher John Manvell
chriseb [at] nortel.ca	Chris Ebenezer
cipher [at] mindspring.com	David A. Howard
ck508 [at] freenet.carleton.ca	Lionel Wagner
cstone [at] math.unm.edu	Chris Stone
curtis_whalen+usenet [at] geocities.com	Curtis (Jewell) Whalen
dan [at] remote.control.com	Dan L. Pierson
david [at] home.net.nz	David Farrar
dbowie [at] sas.upenn.edu	David Bowie
desiegel [at] aol.com	David E. Siegel
dputzolu [at] teleport.com	David M. Putzolu
ekako [at] northcoast.com	Kindrick Ownby
elliottglaysher [at] yahoo.com
emma [at] csli.Stanford.EDU	Emma Pease
er_er_an [at] hotmail.com	J Vuh
fbaker [at] ncsa.uiuc.edu	Frank M. Baker
fed [at] millcomm.com	Frank Druktainis
FG [at] hotmail.com	FG
fgsoler [at] value.net	Frank G. Soler
forumbahai [at] es.co.nz	Steve Marshall
fran [at] crhc.uiuc.edu	Frances Baker
gaillard [at] panix.com	Ed Gaillard
gazissax [at] netcom.com	Lynn Diana Gazis
gglaser [at] minn.net	Ginger Glaser
ggw [at] wolves.durham.nc.us	Gregory G. Woodbury
hmiddlem [at] cyberus.ca	Harry T Middleman
hood [at] Eng.Sun.COM	Mark Hood
house [at] usq.edu.au	Ron House
IJF16 [at] student.canterbury.ac.nz	Isaac Freeman
irina [at] rempt.xs4all.nl	Irina Rempt
J.K.A.Singh-Rathore [at] ping.be	J.K.A. Singh-Rathore
jaed [at] best.com	Jeanne A. E. DeVoto
jake [at] netins.net	R. "Jake" Jakoubek
james.farrar [at] ic.ac.uk	James Farrar
jbh5 [at] cornell.edu	Jean B. Hunter
jdg [at] but-i-dont-like-spam.boxmail.com	John David Galt
jeffd [at] goodnet.com	Jeffrey J. Davey
jeffford [at] cs.utexas.edu	Jeff Ford
jharnick [at] nornet.on.ca	John A. Harnick
jkrobert [at] students.wisc.edu.nolongpig	Jason Roberts
jmalina [at] wenet.net	Jo Ann Malina
jolomo [at] netcom.com	Joe Morris
jonathan [at] lionheart.net	Jonathan Padgett
JoySafari [at] aol.com
jtbell [at] cs1.presby.edu	Jon Bell
karromde [at] nyx.net	Ken Arromdee
kebera [at] Cyblings.ON.CA	Krishna E. Bera
keillan [at] quest.cc.purdue.edu	Kelly G. Willis
kopetsbj [at] cs.purdue.edu	Brett J. Kopetsky
kuch [at] ms.uky.edu	John Allen Kuchenbrod
kyra [at] flash.net	Debra Davies Huffman
lightspring [at] jps.net	Thomas Spellman
maryam [at] netlink.com.au	Maryam Butson
Massoud.Ajami [at] sdsu.eduDELETE	Massoud Ajami
matt [at] mec.edu	Matt Bancroft
mcgregoa [at] Cognos.COM	Alayne McGregor
meflin [at] dimensional.com	James S. Lopeman
michael [at] unicorn-connection.co.uk	Michael Parry

mirele [at] super.zippo.com	Deana M. Holmes
mtgalvin [at] ouray.cudenver.edu	Michael-Teunis Galvin
mughal [at] alumni.caltech.edu	Asim Mughal
neil [at] nkelley.demon.co.uk	Neil Kelley
neilc [at] stanford.edu	Neilist Crellin
obfusa [at] mack.rt66.com	Franklin D. Schlatter Group Orthodox
olav [at] viking.mv.com	Olav Nieuwejaar
[at] moa.net
philh [at] vision25.demon.co.uk	Philip Hunt
PIERCEED [at] sswdserver.sswd.csus.edu	Eric David Pierce
pjhl [at] leicester.ac.uk	Pete Humble
pjohnson [at] vsla.edu	K. Paul Johnson
poul [at] earthling.net.NOSPAM.PLEASE	Poul A. Costinsky
rdetweil [at] boi.hp.com	Dick Detweiler
rick [at] bcm.tmc.edu	Richard Miller
RK-esperantisto [at] juno.com	Rick Koshko
roesingere [at] indy.tce.com	Eric G Roesinger
romanc [at] rpi.edu	Cesar C. Palerm
roxanamorgan11 [at] home.com	Roxana Morgan
rreini [at] wwnet.net	Roger Reini
rtower [at] yahoo.com	Ron Tower
sas [at] frontiernet.net	Stuart Schweid
simon [at] darkmere.gen.nz	Simon Lyall
slavitch [at] loran.com	Michael Slavitch
Tobias.Erle [at] GMX.net	Tobias Erle
todd [at] nutria.nrlssc.navy.mil	Todd Mullins
tommycarter [at] usa.net	Tommy Carter
tricia [at] glonet.co.nz	Tricia Hague-Blackford
Wayne_Sanders-Unrein_at_2-HTI-2VA [at] ccgate.hac.com	Wayne Sanders-Unrein
whateverman [at] erols.com	Jon Richt
wisanr [at] norwich.net	Dick Wisan
WTobyl [at] aol.com	Toby Lomax
wwfiv [at] ix.netcom.com	William W. Farley IV
xanthian [at] well.com	Kent Paul Dolan
znmeb [at] teleport.com	M. Edward Borasky
zutetflute [at] aol.com	Andree Maani

Voted No

abir [at] comtrol.com	Abir Majid
andrew.pemberton-pigott [at] ualberta.ca	Andrew Pemberton-Pigott
babboo [at] writeme.com	Peter Buchy
barneyk [at] ziplink.net	Michael "Barney" Kennedy
bobbymitchell [at] totacc.com	Bobby Mitchell
centiped [at] grey.xs4all.nl	Roelf Renkema
d [at] idiom.com	d
David.Robinson [at] Eng.Sun.COM	David Robinson
djull [at] mindspring.com	David Jull
dwolff [at] world.std.com	David "Not a Bahai" Wolff
EdvardJ [at] simi.is	Edvard T. Jonsson
Ekkehard.Uthke [at] gmx.de	Ekkehard Uthke
fdbetts [at] mindspring.com	Dean Betts
forbes [at] cheerful.com	Forbes Benning
Gata [at] aol.com	Shirley Macias
globe99 [at] Mlink.NET	Derrick Jobidon
gpoirier [at] acca.nmsu.edu	G. Brent Poirier
Graham [at] fragrant.demon.co.uk	Graham Sorenson
hcwtcurtis [at] email.msn.com	Larry D. Curtis
hfung [at] lerami.lerctr.org	Hank Fung
hhouse [at] mailcity.com	Harry House
hymanfam [at] samoatelco.com	William M. Hyman
iskandar [at] acsu.buffalo.edu	Iskandar Hai
jasmine [at] fl.net.au	Jasmine Taylor
jjam [at] hplabsz.hpl.hp.com	Jim S. Jam
judd.rook [at] pnn.com	Judd A Rook
kimdv [at] best.com	Kim DeVaughn
krc1 [at] mail.enter.net	Phil Thomas
ksm8p [at] avery.med.virginia.edu	kavian milani
lcs [at] zk3.dec.com	Larry Smith
LSEAMANS [at] MU3.MILLERSV.EDU	Lynne Seamans
marcus9 [at] usa.net	Marcus Davidson
mehyar22 [at] siol.net	Mehyar Badii-Azandahi
mlcook [at] jerez.cca.rockwell.com	Michael Cook
mlocher [at] ibm.net	Maximilian Greer Locher
momen [at] northill.demon.co.uk	Moojan Momen
naddy [at] mips.rhein-neckar.de	Christian Weisgerber
nigel [at] nigelshomes.com	Nigel Austin-Weeks
nightbrd [at] humboldt1.com	Douglas Myers
ongang [at] mail.indigo.ie	Ann O'Neill
pan [at] syix.com	Pan
patl [at] cag.lcs.mit.edu	Patrick J. LoPresti
persia [at] persia.com	Robert Moldenhauer
petcook [at] total.net	Peter Cook
pewatler [at] cyf-kr.edu.pl	Miguel Watler
ph289jk [at] prism.gatech.edu	Joseph Khoury
polzer [at] uran.informatik.uni-bonn.de	Andreas Polzer
red [at] rahul.net	Red
riazor [at] nutecnet.com.br	Irlandes Fernandes Gonzaga Junior

rmf [at] heehaw.com	Rafael Palmeiro
roger.borseth [at] mci2000.com	Roger Borseth
rossdee [at] ramhb.co.nz	Ross Deeley
samoasys [at] samoatelco.com	Jane C. Hyman
shohre [at] itis.com	Shohre Mansouri
shrao [at] nyx.net	Shrisha Rao
stainles [at] bga.com	Dwight Brown
steiners [at] primenet.com	Jason Steiner
steve [at] watt.COM	Steve Watt
stronguv [at] freenet.edmonton.ab.ca	Donald Strong
Sunday122 [at] aol.com	Sunday Marie Witte
talishman [at] usa.net	T. Albert-Ishmael Anderson
tlawson [at] amug.org	Todd C. Lawson
todd.kutches [at] attws.com	Todd Kutches
wdmaddox [at] rice.edu	Bill Maddox
wpagel [at] wazoo.com	Karen L. Pagel

Abstained

af479 [at] rgfn.epcc.Edu	Samandar Roshan-Zamir
biow [at] ezmort.com	Christopher Biow
chris [at] kzim.com	Christopher Robin Zimmerman
guymacon [at] deltanet.com	Guy Macon
hkt [at] wwa.com	Henrietta Thomas
johnn [at] jolt.mpx.com.au	John New
kpascoe [at] ford.com	Kathy Pascoe
NEW_DAWN [at] compuserve.com	Crispin Pemberton-Pigott
rick [at] helix.nih.gov	Rick Troxel
rpascoe [at] freenet.npiec.on.ca	robert Pascoe

Votes in error

fpbbgre [at] gnenanxv.np.am	Scooter
! Invalid address
notarius [at] nym.alias.net	Notarius
! Anonymous remailer
tom-hodges [at] geocities.com	Tom Hodges
! No ballot

--
Rebecca Graham McQuitty

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 23, 1998 7:57 AM
To: bahai-st; talisman
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

Guy Macon wrote in message <6cradk$lud$8@news01.deltanet.com>...

>
>Interesting...
>
>Here is my theory:
>There was some sort of effort to generate NO votes last time,
>that we did not detect, but there was no such effort this time.

Last time it was done on the BCCA lists and probably through public denunciation at Bahai meetings and word of mouth.... This time, all mention of trb was again prohibited on soc.religion.bahai, I was summarily denied the right to post to the BCCA lists, though people who threatened me were allowed to continue to do so.... The majority of the 65 NO voters were regular posters to bahai-discuss.... 65 is indeed better than 691. I concede some Bahais have learnt something about free speech and conscience.... In that sense, I consider this a victory.... In so far as the BCCA lists were used, I consider the Bahai administration itself complicitous in this defeat....

>The NO vote campaign generated a bunch of YES votes.
>There never was enough interest for group passage.

109 is 100+.... 65 NO votes were still cast primarily for political reasons by intolerant Bahai fundamentalists.... That should not be lost sight of. They're not voting on technical reasons.

>We have met my primary goal; a fair vote.

I would have to say, a fairer vote.... but not a fair one. I do not challenge the RESULT but I do disagree with most of the interpretation of it thus far.... Much of the 157 could not come back because they had no access to alt.religion.bahai and therefore couldn't stay in touch to know a vote was under way given any discussion of it was banned from soc.religion.bahai, where they heard of it the first time. To construe Bahais as innocent lambs here is quite mistaken.... Srb passed in 1992 236: 48.... There were many attempts to constrict and undermine the scope of this proposal and vote. They have again been successful....

>It would be interesting to see how many votes were unique to the >last vote, how many were unique to this one, and how many were >cast in both CFVs.

I agree. I would also think most of the NO voters would be found on both lists....

--
FG

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 23, 1998 7:57 AM
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

Guy Macon wrote in message <6cradk$lud$8@news01.deltanet.com>...

>
>Interesting...

>
>Here is my theory:
>There was some sort of effort to generate NO votes last time,
>that we did not detect, but there was no such effort this time.

Last time it was done on the BCCA lists and probably through public denunciation at Bahai meetings and word of mouth....
This time, all mention of trb was again prohibited on soc.religion.bahai, I was summarily denied the right to post to the BCCA lists, though people who threatened me were allowed to continue to do so.... The majority of the 65 NO voters were regular posters to bahai-discuss.... 65 is indeed better than 691. I concede some Bahais have learnt something about free speech and conscience.... In that sense, I consider this a victory.... In so far as the BCCA lists were used, I consider the Bahai administration itself complicitous in this defeat....

>The NO vote campaign generated a bunch of YES votes.
>There never was enough interest for group passage.

109 is 100+.... 65 NO votes were still cast primarily for political reasons by intolerant Bahai fundamentalists.... That should not be lost sight of. They're not voting on technical reasons.

>We have met my primary goal; a fair vote.

I would have to say, a fairer vote.... but not a fair one. I do not challenge the RESULT but I do disagree with most of the interpretation of it thus far.... Much of the 157 could not come back because they had no access to alt.religion.bahai and therefore couldn't stay in touch to know a vote was under way given any discussion of it was banned from soc.religion.bahai, where they heard of it the first time. To construe Bahais as innocent lambs here is quite mistaken....
Srb passed in 1992 236: 48.... There were many attempts to constrict and undermine the scope of this proposal and vote. They have again been successful....

>It would be interesting to see how many votes were unique to the >last vote, how many were unique to this one, and how many were >cast in both CFVs.

I agree. I would also think most of the NO voters would be found on both lists....

--
FG

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, February 23, 1998 8:04 AM
To: McKenny Michael
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

Michael,

I'm a little befuddled by your comments below.... THEY constrained interest at every point by shutting off access to srb and the BCCA lists, as I see it! See my message on news.groups.

We're you able to email the YES voters?

I have marked August 23rd on my calendar....

FG

-----Original Message-----
From: McKenny Michael <bn872@FreeNet.Carleton.CA>
Newsgroups: news.groups

Date: Monday, February 23, 1998 2:19 AM
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

>
>Greetings, Russ and all, from Ottawa.
> You are quite right.
> I am most impressed by the absence of those many NO votes.
> It looks as if any problems concerning freedom of speech in this >context have been solved.
> You are also right that there appears to be insufficient interest >in such a newsgroup.
>
> All the Best,
> Michael
>
>
>
>
>Russ Allbery (rra@stanford.edu) writes:
>> Jon Bell <jtbell@presby.edu> writes:
>>
>>> As I recall, there were more than 150 YES votes last time around. If >>> they had all returned and voted YES this time, the extra "sympathy" >>> votes like mine probably would have made for a narrow success. But this >>> time there weren't even enough YES votes to counter the usual >>> "background level" NO votes.
>>
>> I think it's fairly clear that believers in the Baha'i faith didn't vote >> against anyone because of their beliefs, at least this time around, and >> that whatever problems there were with the first vote in that respect have >> been addressed.
>>
>> I'd personally like to thank the Baha'i community on Usenet for being as >> reasonable and forthcoming as they have been in the face of what was >> really quite a bit of abuse. It seems pretty clear that at this point >> there simply aren't enough people interested in reading and participating >> in an unmoderated group to warrant the creation of one.
>>
>> My opinion of the Baha'i faith in general has improved quite a bit over >> the course of this RFD and CFV.
>>
>> --
>> Russ Allbery (rra@stanford.edu)
><URL:https://www.eyrie.org/~eagle/>
>
>
>
>--
>"My name's McKenny, Mike McKenny, Warrant Officer, Solar Guard." > (Tom Corbett #1 STAND BY FOR MARS p2)
>

From: Fran Baker[SMTP:fran@crhc.uiuc.edu]
Sent: Monday, February 23, 1998 4:56 PM
To: FG@hotmail.com
Cc: fran@amber.crhc.uiuc.edu
Subject: a problem: a.r.b content

Hi Fred,

One thing that may have affected the vote outcome was that a.r.b. seems to me to have been flooded with ravings of marginal interest as Baha'i topics. I'd be interested to see whether these stop now. If that was an example of what t.r.b.
would be like, I would have to say that it would not be a very useful or interesting group. Is it too paranoid to think that was its purpose? It seemed to get worse as time went on.

--Fran

From: Mark A. Foster[SMTP:owner@sociologist.com]
Sent: Monday, February 23, 1998 10:57 AM
To: Baha'i Studies
Subject: Discussion of talk.religion.bahai

The Baha'i Studies List

Folks,

Another reminder: Some time ago, for various reasons (which some of you probably remember), I called an end to discussion of talk.religion.bahai on this list. When, after a while, this topic was raised again here, I didn't say anything. However, now that voting is over, and some people are disappointed in the results, etc., I would again ask that people do not bring this subject back to this list.

Respectfully, Mark Foster

-
To switch to the digested list, send the following commands to major@johnco.cc.ks.us in the message body
-

unsubscribe bahai-st
subscribe bahai-st-digest

From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 24, 1998 7:28 AM
To: bahai-st
Subject: unsubscribe

Unsubscribe.

FG

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 24, 1998 7:36 AM
To: Fran Baker
Subject: Re: a problem: a.r.b content

Arb was much better during the summer. I and most other people it seemed no longer had the energy to carry on two battles on separate fronts and arb suffered a decline. You may be right that it was orchestrated partly by the faithful opposition.

I'm seriously considering withdrawing from the bahai faith....
The deceit and intrigue has destroyed whatever small amount of faith I had left.... It seems to me I should do it now before things quite down and then I'm declared a cb.... I'm certain the administration had to be involved in the BCCA attacks....

FG

-----Original Message-----
From: Fran Baker <fran@crhc.uiuc.edu>
To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Cc: fran@amber.crhc.uiuc.edu <fran@amber.crhc.uiuc.edu>
Date: Monday, February 23, 1998 3:53 PM
Subject: a problem: a.r.b content

>
>Hi Fred,
>
>One thing that may have affected the vote outcome was that >a.r.b. seems to me to have been flooded with ravings of >marginal interest as Baha'i topics. I'd be interested to see >whether these stop now. If that was an example of what t.r.b.
>>would be like, I would have to say that it would not be a very >useful or interesting group. Is it too paranoid to think that >was its purpose? It seemed to get worse as time went on.

>
>--Fran
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 24, 1998 8:28 AM
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

the Moum's wrote in message <34F2579A.31EF4753@inwave.com>...

>For the record, I have been a subscriber to Baha'i-Discuss for the last >2+ years. I went through the list of NO voters, and found 11 names that >I recognized from Baha'i Discuss, and not all of these are regular >posters. Eleven is hardly a majority of 65.

I stand corrected. You are quite right. I've just had time to compare the list of NO voters with my archive of bahai-discuss messages. I come up with almost the same number.... On first glance, I went too much by the recognition of numerous names who oppose free speech on talisman or elsewhere or basically very fundamentalist in tendency....

It should be noted that Joseph Khoury voted NO for the second time, as did 26 other individuals, and is secretary or whatever for the BCCA and was involved in summarily depriving me of my right of access to the BCCA lists....

FG

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 24, 1998 8:51 AM
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

Johnny wrote in message <34F25050.E8DFE6D6@island.palmtree.com>...

>According to my un-scientific and hurried arithmetic based on the names >only:

>

>of 157 who voted YES last time 25 voted YES this time and >of 691 who voted NO last time 29 voted NO this time.

I've carefully counted 26 NO voters voting NO for the second time. It looks as though your count of YES votes both times is correct within your 10 percent margin of error. Actually, I count only 20 YES votes appearing both times....

The good news would be many Bahais who voted NO the first time either restrained themselves, understood the nature of interest polling, or voted YES this time....

FG

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 24, 1998 8:56 AM
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

Roger Reini wrote in message <34F1697C.36B3@SPAMBLOCKford.com>...

>The result is both disappointing and encouraging at the same time.
>Disappointing because it failed, but encouraging because there is hope >that an improved proposal might succeed in the future.

I would suggest robomoderation of excessive (now don't laugh) crossposting should be part of the next proposal in order to weed out the spam and pornography and messages that go to several groups with little relevance to arb or trb....

FG

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 24, 1998 9:09 AM
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

Chris Manvell wrote in message <$RKBgHAtUf80Ew+o@breacais.demon.co.uk>...

>
>I would like to thank everyone who took an interest in this poll (yes, I >prefer that word to "vote") and who participated both for and against. I >would like, especially, to thank Fred for the idea of creating TRB and >for trusting me enough to ask me to become co-proponent and to Ron for >joining us. [clip]

I also would like to thank everyone who has contributed in anyway whatsoever.

>I would also like to thank the news.groupies for their support and, >almost, infinite patience when faced with netidiots like myself. And, >last but not least, Rebecca for acting as volunteer vote taker.

Special thanks to all the news.groupies who have given much time and effort to ensuring as much as possible a fair and honest discussion and interest poll.... It was close and perhaps talk.religion.bahai will pass next time....

>I've no doubt that there will be a further try to get TRB off the cyber->ground and maybe next time it will succeed.

I think all sides have learned a lot. I believe I have. Mark August 23rd on the calendar....

--
FG

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 24, 1998 3:16 PM
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

Dick Detweiler wrote in message <34F2DDC2.D40@boi.hp.com>...

It seems to me a large number of Bahais have learnt not to oppose or suppress others' opinions, perhaps yourself? I see that as making headway. The next stage would I suppose be more active support, demonstrated through their voting YES, for the rich tension and sparks of truth Abdul-Baha approved of....

You may not agree with me on much or like me, Dick, but there's no reason to continue the demonizing. If love and acceptance and tolerance mean something to Bahais, I would think there would be no need to continue trying to drive me off, as has so often been done....

Let's bury the hatchet. How about your joining Chris, Ron, and myself next time as a proponent? (He says as Chris and Ron perhaps recoil in horror having had enough.)

You see, I don't really want to attack or destroy the Bahai faith; I just want sufficient room within it to breathe and for the masses perhaps to enter it.... Or to have the choice....

--
FG

From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 24, 1998 3:57 PM
To: talisman
Subject: Re RESULT talk.religion.bahai 109: 65

-----Original Message-----
From: Cheryll & Wade Schuette <schuette@s.imap.itd.umich.edu>
To: talisman@umich.edu <talisman@umich.edu>
Date: Monday, February 23, 1998 8:13 AM
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

[clip]

> The vote trend, overall, seems encouraging to continued efforts to >evolve a new newsgroup, to continue consultation on it, and continue >to understand and PROPERLY segment the sources of opposition and meet >their arguments/objections with changes or superior logic.

I appreciate your sharing your point of view. I too am encourage by the RESULTS. I find my faith slightly restored....

> The "everyone who opposes me is an intolerant fundamentalist" tack >seems counter-productive. Better would be "Ok, much closer. Help me >out here. What still needs to be changed to make this fly?"

Now, now, I've never said everyone.... Thank you for the advice. Bahais have made progress and that's what counts.... And many did vote for toleration and respect of others' opinions....

Sincerely, I consider it a victory for the Faith....

--
FG

From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 24, 1998 4:16 PM
To: bn872@freenet.carleton.ca
Cc: talisman
Subject: Re: Deepest Appreciation and Best Wishes

From: McKenny Michael <bn872@freenet.carleton.ca>
To: talisman@umich.edu <talisman@umich.edu>

> I would like to express my deepest thanks to all those Baha'is >who did not oppose the formation of Talk.Religion.Bahai this time.
>By doing so they proved that there is freedom of thought and >expression within Baha'i cyberspace.

Mmmm.... I can't quite go that far, but it is an improvement, one I find heartening....

> No one has any legitimate ability to contradict that, and >certainly not anyone who failed to take advantage of things this time >round and vote for the newsgroup.

Not sure what you mean here in the first sentence. Hope I'm not contradicting you.

> Inasmuch as one of the major reasons for my continuing to post >in Baha'i cyberspace has been to uphold the principle of freedom of >speech, inasmuch as hundreds of NO voters last time round have just >upheld that principle and as I've other things to do, I'm quite >delighted to get on to those other things.

I hope more than just this Bahai has learned from you a thing or two....

> I hope the new wind blowing continues to waft spring freshness >over this section of humanity.

May the gods keep you. I think of Robert Hayden's lines from his "The Year of the Child":

"May you walk
with beauty before you,

beauty behind you, all around you, and
The Most Great Beauty keep you His concern."

> May the future surpass our brightest dreams.

Given the past, broadly speaking, I have my doubts.... My own spiritual struggles....

--
FG

From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 24, 1998 4:25 PM
To: talisman
Subject: Re: Dr. Juan Cole on Bahai censorship & denial of civil rights....

I wrote some days ago:

>What of the "equal human rights" of those who wanted >talk.religion.bahai and voted YES last year? What of the human rights >of covenant breakers, which the Writings also claim should be >protected? HYPOCRISY Writ Large is all I see....

It seems to me I should admit that experience has provided a corrective.
There has been growth on these matters....

--
FG

From: Fran Baker[SMTP:fran@crhc.uiuc.edu]
Sent: Tuesday, February 24, 1998 4:44 PM
To: FG
Cc: fran@amber.crhc.uiuc.edu
Subject: Re: a problem: a.r.b content

FG wrote:

>
> Arb was much better during the summer. I and most other people
> it seemed no longer had the energy to carry on two battles on > separate fronts and arb suffered a decline. You may be right > that it was orchestrated partly by the faithful opposition.
>
> I'm seriously considering withdrawing from the bahai faith....
> The deceit and intrigue has destroyed whatever small amount > of faith I had left.... It seems to me I should do it now before > things quite down and then I'm declared a cb.... I'm certain > the administration had to be involved in the BCCA attacks....
>
> FG
>

Dear Fred,

While in some ways I would be happy to hear you had left the Baha'i Faith, I know it means a lot to you and leaving would represent a tragic loss. So, in that sense, I am sorry to hear you are so dispirited. Good luck either way.

I think the choice that the Faith itself is facing is whether to go on as a minor movement WITH or WITHOUT dignity. What I mean is, the Faith taken as a whole (not just the "grand ideas," which more or less lie in state most of the time), is not going to seem true or appeal to very many people.
So, it can go on quietly and gently, setting a good example, doing good, etc., or it can go on desperately trying to be more than it can be (based on believability or appeal) through various less-than-admirable expansion and regimentation tactics.
It is taking the latter road because it can't give up its grandiose ambitions or view them with real patience. This is too bad, but it was always a possibility (e.g., Baha'u'llah used the CB idea as a method of control, if I am not mistaken, and this idea alone reveals a deep authoritarian and intolerant tendency at the heart of the religion).

Fortunately, the Baha'i judicial system is just a kangaroo court with not real authority. Can I say "Thank God!?"
I hope that, if you do leave the Faith, you take some joy in your freedom.

I think there should be a support group for ex-Baha'is where they can laugh, cry, shout their opinions very loudly, and generally recover from their bad experiences! If I were founding this group, I would call it "Pieces of You" for the song by Jewel about the violence of intolerance toward those who embody, perhaps, aspects of one's self that are threatening.

Best of luck in everything!

Fran

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 24, 1998 8:31 PM
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

Dick Detweiler wrote in message <34F33B86.DE1@boi.hp.com>...

>> You see, I don't really want to attack or destroy the Bahai faith;
>> I just want sufficient room within it to breathe and for the masses >> perhaps to enter it.... Or to have the choice....
>

>I applaud that desire. I agree completely that the light of day >is the best medicine against corruption and hypocrisy. Look what >has been accomplished in the last year - the Baha'i cyber community >has matured a lot as attested by the two votes. Hopefully, many >have learned not to blindly follow the bidding of someone - even >someone they respect - without being apprised of all the facts (I >am referring to the NO vote solicitation of the first vote).

I shan't mention....

Many
>have seen the value of an unmoderated forum, others a better >understanding of Covenant breaking and what it does and does not >mean. Many have a deepened understanding oh how they should handle >these issues in cyber space. The Universal House of Justice >considered the issues you raised and made a ruling all can look at >and follow - not to mention one which, I think, is your best point >of persuasion among Baha'is. All of this as a result of your >unflagging efforts. Not bad, eh? :-)

You and others have helped....

>Looking down the road, to take this through to a completely successful >conclusion will require a more "politic" handling of the proposal.
>Don't anger people you seek to persuade, assume the best rather than >the worst in individuals, follow the rules - even if you know others >are not. All of these things will help you gain the votes you >seek, IMO.
>
>my .02,
>
>Dick D.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, February 24, 1998 8:49 PM
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

Donald Zhang Osborn wrote in message <34F35A6C.B2@pilot.msu.edu>...

>
>I think a proposal built around the idea that there is interest >enough in discussing the Baha'i faith to justify a new unmoderated >newsgroup - rather than there is a need for it because of >"censorship" and "intolerance" - could generate more interest.

Does anyone recall my periodically posting numbers in the THOUSANDS from dejanews? Bahais will have to agree to allow trb to focus on the numbers; many would not permit this approach the second time but ignored the other two proponents and discussion of the numbers preferring their hatred of me.... THE GREAT TRAITOR....

>For one thing, it rings more true and for another, it is certainly >more inclusive (of people who don't see "censorship" etc.).

It's been tried. Dozens and dozens of times. Let's not ignore that.... As though, oops, nobody noticed the THOUSANDS of messages on alt.religion.bahai.... HUNDREDS of Bahais posted to arb (513 different individual's by Detweiler's own count up to October) and yet they had so little interest they couldn't vote for trb....

>Beyond that, positive appeals generate energy (at least potentially) >while negative appeals just deaden the spirit (unless there is a >tangible ill involved), IMHO.

Pretending negative is positive is fatal in this electric world....

But your hearts in the right spot.... Donald, how about joining the proponents too? Seriously....

FG

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 25, 1998 8:26 AM
Subject: Re: META: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

5,956 messages have been posted to alt.religion.bahai as of this morning.... Way back in October more than 500 different people had already posted to arb. The number has surely only increased.

I doubt many alt.* groups have this kind of traffic....

Many Bahais use and post to arb, or lurk on it, but refused to support it with a vote--that's how I read the RESULT....

The consensus last time was to vote NO; this time to shun it; next time? Bahais need to understand it's in their own best interest to support an unmoderated forum that others cannot charge or feel is distorted through censorship and manipulation....

That would mark a logical path of maturation.

FG

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 25, 1998 8:50 AM
Subject: Re: Baha'i teachings

Dale Grider wrote in message <34F3BDFA.25F9@bellsouth.net>...

[clip]

>In your letter you attempt to argue the possibility of the literal >miraculous to avoid the observed double standard in Baha'i acceptance vs >rejection of the miraculous.

You mentioned elsewhere this double standard. I think you're right.
It definitely exists in the Bahai writings....

> My apology if this seems long. But I must say that what often >frustrates me more than folks being long winded, is when they make >unsubstantiated blanket criticism against my alleged "faulty reasoning" >without backing such criticism up with any specifics. If I disagree with >your outlook I will be polite enough to let you know exactly why.
>Several of the posts current on the alt.Baha'i string entitled "Baha'i >teachings" haven't been that courteous to me. It seems that they fail to >include a reasoned explanation for their criticism because it is only an >emotional response that really has no reasoned thought behind it. I can >understand that, given human nature. But it does preclude the >possibility of meaningful discussion.

The length of your posts have deterred me from reading all of them even though I'm interested in your ideas and opinions. Given the nature of this medium, I would find it helpful if you could crystalize your thoughts in briefer form. I do believe you're right about many Bahais just brushing you off with an emotional response void of reasoned critique. I have often criticized such an approach as have others.... Spoon feed us a little more....

FG

>
>God's Truth is one Truth,
>Dale

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 25, 1998 9:18 AM
Subject: Re: META: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

Chris Stone wrote in message <01bd4174$817b5fc0$25c0c8c3@cstone>...
>I will preface this post by saying that I believe this vote was fair, and that >my comments below should in no way imply I am challenging the legitimacy of >this particular result. Rather, I am raising some broader questions about >the institution of the CFV.

While I'm not challenging it, I don't really believe it was fair....
Prohibiting discussion for a year on soc.religion.bahai, where most Bahais online check in at least once in a while, and other such dirty tricks and tactics are far from fair.... Using the BCCA to curtail every possible forum for discussion under its control, srb being one of them, is not fair.... etc....

>Some of this vote's implications disturb me. The first time around, as I >recall, we had approximately 160 YES votes, and the group would have passed >handily without a "vote NO" campaign.

157 YES votes muzzled by 691 NOs....

>
>This time the same proposal gets 109 votes. By every reckoning it was a >better proposal this time around, since several new proponents climbed on >board. Additionally, this time around more news.groupies voted YES. (I did >not vote last time around; this time I voted YES. I do not think I was >alone.) The number of votes reflecting pure interest in the newsgroup, and >not politics, was thus probably below 109 -- let's say 100, as a ballpark >figure.

It's close.... I thank all of you for your support for trb. Too many of the earlier YES voters lost contact due to the alt.* hierarchy, more than I had supposed....

>
>Why, after only six months, do we see 60 fewer YES votes on nearly an >identical proposal?

You really have to factor in the religious side of the Bahai faith in this.
The Word went out, in one way or another, to SHUN the vote is my reading of it; perhaps on and from the BCCA's lists, which would explain why they wanted me off their lists--I wouldn't have stood for such damnable tactics but would have exposed them immediately....

Does not such a result cast doubt upon the accuracy of >the CFV as a predictor of interest? Can we seriously say that Usenet readers >were genuinely interested in Bahaism six months ago, but that they are no >longer interested now?

5,956 posts to alt.religion.bahai since last April.... Lots of interest there; perhaps too many people were overconfident that it would pass and didn't bother to send in a vote....

>
>How many other newsgroups that passed in, say, 1995-97 would no longer meet
a >given threshold of YES votes?
>
>I have never believed the CFV even comes close to measuring interest on >proposals; the outcome depends too much on variables such as skill at >campaigning, timing of the vote, tip-toeing through news.groups, and so forth.
> This result reinforces that belief.

I agree completely with all of the above.... I would be in favor of a panel or committee establishing new groups on a more equitable basis; time went against the proposal too--perhaps it was just too long--but I saw no way around it given the constant attacks and attempts to discredit the proposal or demonize me while dismissing every effort
I made to accomodate others' opinions in the RFD, include other proponents, and so on.... I thought more time would help people cool off and be reasonable. It helped perhaps in terms of the NOs but may have lost a crucial 30 or 40 YES votes.

>
>I would also like to thank Rebecca for munging all the CFV addresses. It's >good to see someone take the bull by the horns. ;)

I'd like to thank you Chris, and really all the news.groupies: Henrietta, Guy Macon, Russ Allbery, Jonathan Stone, Ginger Glaser, Rebecca McQuitty, Emma Pease--anyone else who's name doesn't immediately come to mind--for all your help and support throughout this sometimes tumultously process....

Sorry I've let you all down with another defeat.... I hope next time Bahais will advance from shunning the NO vote to affirming the YES vote....

Almost time to sign off news.groups and head back to alt.religion.bahai....

Thanks again Jonathan for that....

FG

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 25, 1998 2:34 PM
Subject: Re: META: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

Dick Detweiler wrote in message <34F4384D.4045@boi.hp.com>...

>one thing that would be interesting to check is the YES votes that >didn;t show up. I recall that along with the NO vote solicitation, >there were also a few YES vote solicitations on Islamic oriented >newsgroups the first time around. I didn't see this the second time >so perhaps this could account for some of the difference?

I consistently watched for them too but never saw any either.... Most of the Islamic votes last time were probably NO votes, in my opinion, judging vaguely by names and domains.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, February 25, 1998 2:45 PM
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

Dave Ratcliffe wrote in message <34fa47f8.156652045@news.microserve.net>...

I wrote:
>>I would suggest robomoderation of excessive (now don't laugh) >>crossposting should be part of the next proposal in order to weed out >>the spam and pornography and messages that go to several groups >>with little relevance to arb or trb....
>
>I see a flametest in your future. Moderation in talk.* groups is historically >viewed as a Bad Thing [tm], and not without some justification.

Maybe I don't understand what it is. I thought it was merely a screening out of commercial spam and pornography, not content or messages from anyone otherwise.... I don't see that as moderation. If that can't be done in the talk.* hierarchy, leaving discussion free and untouched by interference, where? Or perhaps such robomoderation wouldn't work.

Soc.religion.quaker seems to clear that kind of thing out. How do they do it? Guy, are you around at the moment?

>You'll probably hear more about this when you start the process again in 6 >months. A _lot_ more :)

I'm not looking for a fight over it, okay? I thought it was an innocent idea that most Bahais would probably agree with.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 26, 1998 8:38 AM
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

Guy Macon wrote in message <6d38ul$su1$2@news01.deltanet.com>...

>First, what we don't do. We don't have any sort of moderation (either >official or retro). We are the only unmoderated soc.religion.* newsgroup.
>We do go along with BI>20 spam cancelling, because that is a Usenet wide >standard and not an option for individual unmoderated Usenet newsgroups.

Does that weed out the solicitations for pornography sites?

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 26, 1998 9:03 AM
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

c'est moi wrote in message <6d1uk1$1i9@drn.newsguy.com>...
>In article <6cvpqj$cq0@news1.newsguy.com>, "Frederick says...
>>Does anyone recall my periodically posting numbers in the >>THOUSANDS from dejanews?
>
>Sure. And what percentage were completely off-topic and/or spam? Why did you >include them in your count? All that did was artificially inflate your numbers, >making them not very pertinent.

Bahais repeatedly claimed the covenant breakers and maitreya postings were both. I don't believe so. Both groups have, from their point of views, genuine reasons for posting to a newsgroup on the Bahai faith. An unmoderated newsgroup should allow for variety of opinion, even those that many would not agree with, including myself.

>>Bahais will have to agree to >>allow trb to focus on the numbers; many would not permit this >>approach the second time but ignored the other >>two proponents and discussion of the numbers preferring

>>their hatred of me.... THE GREAT TRAITOR....

>

>BS, Fred.... pure anadulterated BS.

I beg your pardon. You apparently did not follow the discussion in full from September through February.... Bahais did continually insist on my being the ONLY moderator despite strenuous efforts on my part to include others and to focus on the traffic in alt.religion.bahai. Among many Bahais, there is a pronounced tendency to demonize people, noted by Juan Cole and others during the discussion period.

>"allow trb to focus on the number"??? TRB DOESN'T EXIST!!!

Discussion of it....

>

>How did this supposed 'many' not 'permit' this? Were you 'censored' in some >way? Most of the critics to your behaviour/tactics were news.groupies, which as >far as I know is not a Baha'i group.

>

>You do a fine job 'demonizing' yourself, people don't need to do anything more >than observe your tactics to see what you're really about. Straight up - you do >and say many things that annoy people. And wonder of wonders, that does not >endear people to your 'cause', no matter how much you try to play the martyr.

It is true that I am not good at tiptoeing nor concealing the indignation I naturally feel at being censored. Neither did I take kindly the gand warfare tactics of the Bahais, much of which many techies were blind to having no experience or knowledge....

>>>For one thing, it rings more true and for another, it is certainly >>>more inclusive (of people who don't see "censorship" etc.).

>>

>>It's been tried. Dozens and dozens of times. Let's not ignore

>>that.... As though, oops, nobody noticed the THOUSANDS >>of messages on alt.religion.bahai.... HUNDREDS of Bahais

>>posted to arb (513 different individual's by Detweiler's own >>count up to October) and yet they had so little interest they >>couldn't vote for trb....

>

>I don't know about any others, but over the past year I have posted under approximately twenty different names (anbody remember "The Lurker Collective" >post?). Who knows if anybody else has? Sorry Fred, but I wouldn't have felt >right sending in fraudulent votes. However... if that got you what you wanted,

>I wonder if you'd even complain....

What's your real name?

>

>[and, from another message by Fred]

>>Many Bahais use and post to arb, or lurk on it, but refused to >>support it with a vote--that's how I read the RESULT....

>

>So.... it's not that you wanted people to follow the Usenet voting guidelines >at all! You wanted absolute, undivided support for the newsgroup! That is, you >didn't want to give people the CHOICE to participate in the manner they decide.

>

>Your logic is so flawed here it hurts. a.r.b DOES NOT EQUAL t.r.b!!!

I said so a thousand times but Bahais refused to listen, though some progress has been made, perhaps.

>Does that mean ANYTHING to you? Just because someone posts, lurks, or even >spams alt.religion.bahai doesn't mean that he/she MUST support >talk.religion.bahai with a YES vote!

>

>I'd suggest you be careful over the next six months, Fred. I voted YES for the >newsgroup, but if you continue this idiotic behaviour, I may withdraw my vote >the next time around. You've been told time and time again what it will take to >gather support - are you willing and able to listen to this advice, or are you >going to shoot yourself in the foot AGAIN?

>
>>The consensus last time was to vote NO; this time to shun it; >>next time? Bahais need to understand it's in their own best >>interest to support an unmoderated forum that others cannot >>charge or feel is distorted through censorship and manipulation....
>
>As long as one of the proponents keep making a mockery of the ideals he purports >to believe in, it'll never happen. Who's trying to say what others should be >saying/doing? YOU are! Who's attempting to manipulate what people do, against >their freedom of religious conscience and free speech? YOU are! Indeed,
you
>have been more a tyrant than anybody else involved in this matter.
>
>>That would mark a logical path of maturation.
>
>Oh, yes, 'maturation' equals agreeing with and supporting anything Fred Glaysheer >proposes....

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, February 26, 1998 9:26 AM
Subject: Please post to alt.religion.bahai & talk.religion.misc

For those Bahais and non-Bahais who have no access to the alt.* hierarchy, I would like to ask anyone posting to alt.religion.bahai to crosspost simultaneously their messages to talk.religion.misc.

That would allow people to read the discussion that takes place on alt.religion.bahai, and then they could also post back to alt.religion.bahai by including it in their list of newsgroups for crossposting.... This would allow most people to access discussion that takes place on alt.religion.bahai via
talk.religion.misc....

I'm under the impression that most people are unaware that this is one way around the limitations of the alt.*
hierarchy.

--
FG

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 1998 7:08 AM
Subject: Re: Dale Grider Baha'i Teachings

Dale Grider wrote in message <34F6ACFE.66B2@bellsouth.net>...

The point made was well >made in terms of Sharon's rationalizing to resuce the double standard.

You mention Sharon. Sharon Bouchard? I've seen no recent post by her on my news servers feed. Is it failing to pass messages on from her and perhaps others?

>But the tragedy of ruthless and violent persecution against people on >religious grounds is not a joking matter, regardless of points to be >made. Certainly there is no legitimate Christian stance that would fail >to see the tragedy of such persecution.

>
>My sincerest apologies to any and all who may have been offended by my >coupling a tragic injustice with sarcasm meant to address a different >issue.

>
>In Christ,
>Dale

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 1998 7:16 AM
Subject: Re: Dale Grider Baha'i Teachings & Christianity

-----Original Message-----
From: Robert A. Little <littlea@pacbell.net>
Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai
Date: Friday, February 27, 1998 3:21 AM
Subject: Re: Dale Grider Baha'i Teachings

>Mr. Grider:
>Dear Mr. Grider:
>
>I have read your posting (the one I am responding to) with considerable >regret. Several weeks ago you entered this group, said you were a seeker >after the truth of the claim that Baha'u'llah is in fact the Glory of God.

>You have entered into a dialogue with a number of people who have attempted >to answer your oft repeated question. Today, in your response to Sharon you >say such things as "Such a straw grasping argument to evade the point. .
.",
>and you repeat numerous times your opinion that there is a "double >standard" utilized. I don't find mentioned a single statement, principal or >belief with which you agree.
>
>Double standard means that you feel we are essentially liars, is that not
>so?
That's a very harsh way of putting it. He's never used the word. Why should you? He has pointed out what appears to him to be a discrepancy between fundamental approaches to experience in the Bahai Writings.
>
>On two prior occasions, I have asked you what I believe to be the only >question that you should be concerned with, as a Christian: Is Baha'u'llah >the Glory of God? This is the central, the only question.
I find your attempt to bully him distasteful.... The man's a Christian and has been forthright about it from the very beginning. Instead of listening to his point of view, or permitting it a hearing, you seem to want to put him on religious trial.... Your verdict is blatant.... And one Bahais should be ashamed of....
If Baha'u'llah is,
>then your conclusions concerning a "double standard" would need to be >reexamined. If Baha'u'llah is not who He says He is, then you, as a >Christian, have your instructions, from Christ Himself, to avoid yet another
>"false Christ".
>
>What do you think, Dale? No. . . what do you believe?
>
>With Baha'i Love,
How can you even write that?
>
>Robert A. Little
>
>Dale Grider wrote in >
>
>(delete)
>
>>Such a straw grasping argument to evade the point observed in the double >>standard observed in Baha'i relation of Science to religion is beyond >>desperate.
>
>
--
FG
Usenet: alt.religion.bahai

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 1998 7:34 AM
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

Ron House wrote in message <34F656DE.65CF5D3F@usq.edu.au>...
>
>I would like to insert a word here about this view of Fred.
>I remember one post that Fred made shortly after the CFV, >which I suspect is THE chief post that has annoyed non-Baha'is.
>I read that post with a great deal of interest, and found >a lot of highly informative stuff in it, but on re-reading >it and trying to forget what I knew about the background, >I found it sounded divisive and troublemaking. It was easy >to see how others might take the whole wrong impression >from it, and in that sense was a most unfortunate failure >of communication. I would suggest to Fred to try harder >to not misread people's intentions - not every opponent >is malicious; and to others I would say: remember that >there were causes for Fred's irritations; no-one can >be twice-shy until they have been bitten once.

Thanks, Ron.

People who haven't experienced the Bahai Faith have a hard time understanding how pervasive the problem is.
That's often baffled me. My reposts from Juan Cole, for instance, I suppose you allude to.... I genuinely thought they would provide background from which non-Bahais could begin to get a wider view of the general censorship issue in the Bahai Faith. The reaction instead was quite surprising.... To someone with some experience of the Bahai Faith, such as yourself, or me, they ring like a bell....

You are right to point out to me that not every one is malicious.... A shortcoming in my nature perhaps....

Also perhaps too often I find Shakespeare's general evaluation of the human being the only credible one.... Betrayal and treachery....

>
>--
>Ron House
> house@usq.edu.au
>An age is called Dark not because the light fails to shine, but >because people refuse to see it. -- James Michener, "Space"

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 1998 7:47 AM
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

Ron House wrote in message <34F65404.7B1382EF@usq.edu.au>...

>my concern with this latest vote has >nothing to do with illegitimate votes either way, but rather >to do with the Baha'i faith. In the first vote on TRB, there >WAS a conspiracy by Baha'is to vote it down - I proved that >with more certainty than the average murder conviction carries.
>
>But this time there was not. My concern is with the gutlessness >of a religion whose founder promises victory by His pen, and >whose followers have so little faith in that pen that they >aren't champing at the bit to CREATE a forum like TRB. I >believe the Baha'is have demonstrated their almost complete >alienation from the principles of their founder, and I'll >be having more to say about that in an appropriate forum.

Ron, remember you can reach alt.religion.bahai by posting both to it and talk.religion.misc--back there in the dungeon of the alt.* hierarchy, we shall be able to read your words, while our responses can reach you via trm....

Others too might want to note this method of getting around the limitations of the alt.* hierachy....

>
>--
>Ron House
> house@usq.edu.au
>An age is called Dark not because the light fails to shine, but >because people refuse to see it. -- James Michener, "Space"

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 1998 9:48 AM
Subject: Re: RESULT: talk.religion.bahai fails 109:65

Roger Borseth wrote in message <34F5D452.C4F46285@mci2000.com>...
>You have your opinion I have mine but you would deny me the right to >vote my conscience. As long as the name of the group carries reference >to the Baha'i Faith I see it as a signpost inviting people to a meeting >place were they can learn about the Faith. Unless it can be shown to be >a place that I would feel free to invite my neighbor to I will continue >to vote against it.

A place where your neighbor only hears your opinions not those of any other Bahais or non-Bahais?

>By Freds insistence on the numbers in ARB I have used the kind of post >there as a criteria to base my vote. There just have not been enough >Baha'is posting there to make it a viable place to talk intelligently >about the Baha'i Faith without a lot of irrelevant noise. In other words >not a place I would invite my neighbors to, no mater were in the world >these neighbors lived.

Over 5,800 messages have been posted to alt.religion.bahai since last April.... That's an indisputable fact anyone can verify on dejanews.com.

You, and Bahais who apparently share your views, think that is "irrelevant noise." I've never called others' opinions that.... Or "idiotic," as another critic has recently said.... I don't care to live in a closed and sanitized neighborhood, thank you just the same....

>
>Peace and Unity

If fear your conception, held by many Bahais, of these words frightens me....

```

>Roger
>
>Jason Roberts wrote:
>>
>> In article <34F19687.3B5C@boi.hp.com>, Dick Detweiler >> <rdetweil@boi.hp.com> wrote:
>>
>> (snip)
>>
>> > Waitaminutethere Jason. Roger admitted to looking over all the info >> > available and I know he took part in the discussion and then he >> > voted his conscience. I did the same. We came to different >> > conclusions and voted differently. What is wrong with that? Isn't >> > that what the voting franchise is all about? People will have >> > different opinions. I thought we weren't supposed to be automatons >> > about things. In reality, Baha'is DO respect differing opinions >> > and I think that is reflected in the vote. Many Baha'is on both >> > sides of the issue. And that is perfectly OK as long as the opinions >> > expressed are informed - don't you think?
>>
>> I think the only things that should be taken into consideration in Usenet >> voting are technical factors. Any other 'no' vote is censorship, imo.
>>
>>
>> > Dick D.
>>
>> -JR
>>
>> --
>> "I am fluent in over 12 million forms of communication!" - C3PO

```

FG
Usenet: alt.religion.bahai

```

-----
From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 1998 2:49 PM
To: Rebecca G. McQuitty
Subject: Annotated NO voter's list: talk.religion.bahai

```

It seems to me, if looked at closely, the RESULT shows trb being defeated basically by twenty Bahais and an odd selection of people with really no interest in the Bahai Faith to begin with who probably voted NO for very arbitrary and questionable reasons.... 13 people have never posted to Usenet at all....

I'm cc this to Rebecca McQuitty in the hope that she might be able to disqualify some of these votes. It is at least interesting to consider how arbitrary and unfair the defeat of trb was.... 109 votes do constitute 100+.

Why should 30, 40, or so votes from people who really don't give a damn be allowed to defeat not only this proposal but others?

--
FG

```

-----
X = voted NO on 1st & 2nd vote for talk.religion.bahai; 26 people
B = Bahai; 20 people
SRB = messages all or primarily to soc.religion.bahai
---- = not a single hit on dejanews.com.

```

techy indicates interests appear to be in computer technology or technical subject matter

BCCA = frequent poster to the Bahai Computers and Communications Assn's bahai-discuss number with hits = number of messages to Usenet on dejanews.com

```

Voted No
-----
--
X,B abir [at] comtrol.com                               Abir
Majid
X,B andrew.pemberton-pigott [at] ualberta.ca             Andrew
Pemberton-Pigott BCCA
babboo [at] writeme.com                                   Peter Buchy techy
B barneyk [at] ziplink.net                                Michael "Barney"
Kennedy 4 hits
B,SRB bobbymitchell [at] totacc.com                       Bobby
Mitchell 8 hits
centiped [at] grey.xs4all.nl                             Roelf Renkema techy
d [at] idiom.com
d techy

```

---- David.Robinson [at] Eng.Sun.COM	David
Robinson 0 hits
---- djull [at] mindspring.com
David Jull 0 hits
dwolff [at] world.std.com	David "Not a Bahai"
Wolff esparantoist
B,SRB EdvardJ [at] simi.is	Edvard T.
Jonsson
Ekkehard.Uthke [at] gmx.de	Ekkehard
Uthke techy
B,SRB fdbetts [at] mindspring.com
Dean Betts
forbes [at] cheerful.com	Forbes
Benning 2 hit
X,B Gata [at] aol.com	Shirley
Macias
X globe99 [at] Mlink.NET	Derrick
Jobidon 1 hit
B gpoirier [at] acca.nmsu.edu	G. Brent
Poirier BCCA
X,B Graham [at] fragrant.demon.co.uk	Graham
Sorenson BCCA
X hcwtcurtis [at] email.msn.com	Larry D.
Curtis 1 hit
hfung [at] lerami.lerctr.org	Hank
Fung trains & techy
---- hhouse [at] mailcity.com	Harry
House 0 hits
B hymanfam [at] samoatelco.com	William M. Hyman
moderator? BCCA	SRB
X,B iskandar [at] acsu.buffalo.edu
Iskandar Hai
X jasmine [at] fl.net.au	Jasmine
Taylor Pagan
---- jjam [at] hplabsz.hpl.hp.com	Jim
S. Jam 0 hits
X judd.rook [at] pnn.com	Judd A
Rook 1 hit
X kimdv [at] best.com	Kim
DeVaughn 0 hits
X,---- krc1 [at] mail.enter.net
Phil Thomas 0 hits
X,B ksm8p [at] avery.med.virginia.edu	kavian
milani
X lcs [at] zk3.dec.com	Larry
Smith techy
X LSEAMANS [at] MU3.MILLERSV.EDU	Lynne
Seamans techy
---- marcus9 [at] usa.net	Marcus
Davidson 0 hits
B,SRB mehyar22 [at] siol.net	Mehyar
Badii-Azandahi 3 hits
mlcook [at] jerez.cca.rockwell.com	Michael
Cook techy, 2 hits
mlocher [at] ibm.net	Maximilian Greer
Locher 2 hits
X,B momen [at] northill.demon.co.uk	Moojan
Momen
X naddy [at] mips.rhein-neckar.de	Christian
Weisgerber techy
---- nigel [at] nigelshomes.com	Nigel
Austin-Weeks 0 hits
X nightbrd [at] humboldt1.com	Douglas
Myers 0 hits
B, SRB ongang [at] mail.indigo.ie	Ann
O'Neill 2 hits
pan [at] syix.com
Pan Pagan
X patl [at] cag.lcs.mit.edu	Patrick J.
LoPresti techy
B persia [at] persia.com	Robert
Moldenhauer BCCA, 0 hits
X petcook [at] total.net	Peter
Cook 0 hits
X,B pewatler [at] cyf-kr.edu.pl	Miguel
Watler SRB
X,---- ph289jk [at] prism.gatech.edu	Joseph Khoury
BCCA secretary, 0 hits
---- polzer [at] uran.informatik.uni-bonn.de	Andreas
Polzer 0 hits
red [at] rahul.net
Red alt.politics.white-power
---- riazor [at] nutecnet.com.br	Irlandes Fernandes Gonzaga
Junior 0 hits
rmp [at] heehaw.com	Rafael
Palmeiro 1 hit
B roger.borseth [at] mci2000.com	Roger
Borseth BCCA

SRB rossdee [at] ramhb.co.nz	Ross
Deeley techy
B samoasys [at] samoatelco.com	Jane C.
Hyman SRB moderator?
X shohre [at] itis.com	Shohre
Mansouri 0 hits
shrao [at] nyx.net	Shrisha
Rao Hindu?
X stainles [at] bga.com	Dwight
Brown non-Bahai?
X steiners [at] primenet.com	Jason
Steiner Christian?
steve [at] Watt.COM	Steve
Watt techy
---- stronguv [at] freenet.edmonton.ab.ca
Donald Strong techy 0 hits
B,SRB Sunday122 [at] aol.com	Sunday
Marie Witte 6 hits
---- talishman [at] usa.net	T. Albert-Ishmael
Anderson 0 hits
X tlawson [at] amug.org	Todd C.
Lawson Sandra-Bullock fan
X,---- todd.kutches [at] attws.com	Todd
Kutches 0 hits
wdmaddox [at] rice.edu	Bill
Maddox Freemasonry
wpagel [at] wazoo.com	Karen L.
Page1 (1 on SRB) 2 hits

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 1998 2:49 PM
Subject: Annotated NO voter's list: talk.religion.bahai

It seems to me, if looked at closely, the RESULT shows trb being defeated basically by twenty Bahais and an odd selection of people with really no interest in the Bahai Faith to begin with who probably voted NO for very arbitrary and questionable reasons.... 13 people have never posted to Usenet at all....

I'm cc this to Rebecca McQuitty in the hope that she might be able to disqualify some of these votes. It is at least interesting to consider how arbitrary and unfair the defeat of trb was.... 109 votes do constitute 100+.

Why should 30, 40, or so votes from people who really don't give a damn be allowed to defeat not only this proposal but others?

--
FG

X = voted NO on 1st & 2nd vote for talk.religion.bahai; 26 people
B = Bahai; 20 people
SRB = messages all or primarily to soc.religion.bahai
---- = not a single hit on dejanews.com.

techy indicates interests appear to be in computer technology or technical subject matter

BCCA = frequent poster to the Bahai Computers and Communications Assn's bahai-discuss number with hits = number of messages to Usenet on dejanews.com

Voted No

--
X,B abir [at] comtrol.com Abir
Majid
X,B andrew.pemberton-pigott [at] ualberta.ca Andrew
Pemberton-Pigott BCCA
babboo [at] writeme.com Peter
Buchy techy
B barneyk [at] ziplink.net Michael "Barney"
Kennedy 4 hits
B,SRB bobbymitchell [at] totacc.com Bobby
Mitchell 8 hits
centiped [at] grey.xs4all.nl Roelf
Renkema techy
d [at] idiom.com
d techy
---- David.Robinson [at] Eng.Sun.COM David
Robinson 0 hits
---- djull [at] mindspring.com

David Jull 0 hits		David "Not a Bahai"
dwolff [at] world.std.com
Wolff esparantoist
B,SRB EdvardJ [at] simi.is		Edvard T.
Jonsson
Ekkehard.Uthke [at] gm.x.de		Ekkehard
Uthke techy
B,SRB fdbetts [at] mindspring.com
Dean Betts
forbes [at] cheerful.com		Forbes
Benning 2 hit
X,B Gata [at] aol.com		Shirley
Macias
X globe99 [at] Mlink.NET		Derrick
Jobidon 1 hit
B gpoirier [at] acca.nmsu.edu		G. Brent
Poirier BCCA
X,B Graham [at] fragrant.demon.co.uk		Graham
Sorenson BCCA
X hcwtcurtis [at] email.msn.com		Larry D.
Curtis 1 hit
hfung [at] lerami.lercr.org		Hank
Fung trains & techy
---- hhouse [at] mailcity.com		Harry
House 0 hits
B hymanfam [at] samoatelco.com	William M. Hyman	SRB
moderator? BCCA
X,B iskandar [at] acsu.buffalo.edu
Iskandar Hai
X jasmine [at] fl.net.au		Jasmine
Taylor Pagan
---- jjam [at] hplabsz.hpl.hp.com		Jim
S. Jam 0 hits
X judd.rook [at] pnn.com		Judd A
Rook 1 hit
X kimdv [at] best.com		Kim
DeVaughn 0 hits
X,---- krc1 [at] mail.enter.net
Phil Thomas 0 hits
X,B ksm8p [at] avery.med.virginia.edu		kavian
milani
X lcs [at] zk3.dec.com		Larry
Smith techy
X LSEAMANS [at] MU3.MILLERSV.EDU		Lynne
Seamans techy
---- marcus9 [at] usa.net		Marcus
Davidson 0 hits
B,SRB mehyar22 [at] siol.net		Mehyar
Badii-Azandahi 3 hits
mlcook [at] jerez.cca.rockwell.com		Michael
Cook techy, 2 hits
mlocher [at] ibm.net	Maximilian Greer
Locher 2 hits
X,B momen [at] northill.demon.co.uk		Moojan
Momen
X naddy [at] mips.rhein-neckar.de		Christian
Weisgerber techy
---- nigel [at] nigelshomes.com		Nigel
Austin-Weeks 0 hits
X nightbrd [at] humboldt1.com		Douglas
Myers 0 hits
B, SRB ongang [at] mail.indigo.ie		Ann
O'Neill 2 hits
pan [at] syix.com
Pan Pagan
X patl [at] cag.lcs.mit.edu		Patrick J.
LoPresti techy
B persia [at] persia.com		Robert
Moldenhauer BCCA, 0 hits
X petcook [at] total.net		Peter
Cook 0 hits
X,B pewatler [at] cyf-kr.edu.pl		Miguel
Watler SRB
X,---- ph289jk [at] prism.gatech.edu		Joseph Khoury
BCCA secretary, 0 hits
---- polzer [at] uran.informatik.uni-bonn.de		Andreas
Polzer 0 hits
red [at] rahul.net
Red alt.politics.white-power
---- riazor [at] nutecnet.com.br	Irlandes Fernandes Gonzaga
Junior 0 hits
rmp [at] heehaw.com		Rafael
Palmeiro 1 hit
B roger.borseth [at] mci2000.com		Roger
Borseth BCCA
SRB rossdee [at] ramhb.co.nz		Ross
Deeley techy
B samoasys [at] samoatelco.com		Jane C.

Hyman	SRB moderator?
X shohre [at] itis.com		Shohre
Mansouri	0 hits
shrao [at] nyx.net		Shrisha
Rao	Hindu?
X staines [at] bga.com		Dwight
Brown	non-Bahai?
X steiners [at] primenet.com		Jason
Steiner	Christian?
steve [at] Watt.COM		Steve
Watt	techy
----	stronguv [at] freenet.edmonton.ab.ca
Donald Strong	techy 0 hits
B,SRB Sunday122 [at] aol.com		Sunday
Marie Witte	6 hits
----	talishman [at] usa.net	T. Albert-Ishmael
Anderson	0 hits
X tlawson [at] amug.org		Todd C.
Lawson	Sandra-Bullock fan
X,----	todd.kutches [at] attws.com	Todd
Kutches	0 hits
wdmaddox [at] rice.edu		Bill
Maddox	Freemasonry
wpagel [at] wazoo.com		Karen L.
Pagel	(1 on SRB) 2 hits

 From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
 Sent: Friday, February 27, 1998 7:02 PM
 To: talisman
 Subject: Fw: Annotated NO voter's list: talk.religion.bahai

FYI

FG

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
 Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,news.groups
 Date: Friday, February 27, 1998 1:49 PM
 Subject: Annotated NO voter's list: talk.religion.bahai

>It seems to me, if looked at closely, the RESULT shows trb being >defeated basically by twenty Bahais and an odd selection of people >with really no interest in the Bahai Faith to begin with who probably >voted NO for very arbitrary and questionable reasons.... 13 people >have never posted to Usenet at all....
 >
 >I'm cc this to Rebecca McQuitty in the hope that she might be able >to disqualify some of these votes. It is at least interesting to consider >how arbitrary and unfair the defeat of trb was.... 109 votes do >constitute 100+.
 >
 >Why should 30, 40, or so votes from people who really don't give a >damn be allowed to defeat not only this proposal but others?

>
 >--
 >FG

>
 >-----
 >X = voted NO on 1st & 2nd vote for talk.religion.bahai; 26 people
 >B = Bahai; 20 people
 >SRB = messages all or primarily to soc.religion.bahai
 > ---- = not a single hit on dejanews.com.
 >

>techy indicates interests appear to be in computer technology >or technical subject matter
 >

>BCCA = frequent poster to the Bahai Computers and >Communications Assn's bahai-discuss
 >

>number with hits = number of messages to Usenet on dejanews.com
 >
 >
 >

> Voted No

> -----
 >
 >--

>X,B abir [at] comtrol.com	Abir
>Majid
>X,B andrew.pemberton-pigott [at] ualberta.ca	Andrew
>Pemberton-Pigott BCCA
> babboo [at] writeme.com	Peter
>Buchy techy
>B barneyk [at] ziplink.net	Michael "Barney"
>Kennedy 4 hits

>B,SRB bobbymitchell [at] totacc.com	Bobby
>Mitchell 8 hits
> centiped [at] grey.xs4all.nl	Roelf
>Renkema techy
> d [at] idiom.com
>d techy
>---- David.Robinson [at] Eng.Sun.COM	David
>Robinson 0 hits
>---- djull [at] mindspring.com
>David Jull 0 hits
> dwolff [at] world.std.com	David "Not a Bahai"
>Wolff esparantoist
>B,SRB EdvardJ [at] simi.is	Edvard T.
>Jonsson
> Ekkehard.Uthke [at] gmx.de	Ekkehard
>Uthke techy
>B,SRB fdbetts [at] mindspring.com
>Dean Betts
> forbes [at] cheerful.com	Forbes
>Benning 2 hit
>X,B Gata [at] aol.com	Shirley
>Macias
>X globe99 [at] Mlink.NET	Derrick
>Jobidon 1 hit
>B gpoirier [at] acca.nmsu.edu	G. Brent
>Poirier BCCA
>X,B Graham [at] fragrant.demon.co.uk	Graham
>Sorenson BCCA
>X hcwtcurtis [at] email.msn.com	Larry D.
>Curtis 1 hit
> hfung [at] lerami.lerctr.org	Hank
>Fung trains & techy
>---- hhouse [at] mailcity.com
Harry
>House 0 hits
>B hymanfam [at] samoatelco.com	William M. Hyman
>moderator? BCCA	SRB
>X,B iskandar [at] acsu.buffalo.edu
>Iskandar Hai
>X jasmine [at] fl.net.au	Jasmine
>Taylor Pagan
>---- jjam [at] hplabsz.hpl.hp.com	Jim
>S. Jam 0 hits
>X judd.rook [at] pnn.com	Judd A
>Rook 1 hit
>X kimdv [at] best.com	Kim
>DeVaughn 0 hits
>X,---- krc1 [at] mail.enter.net
>Phil Thomas 0 hits
>X,B ksm8p [at] avery.med.virginia.edu	kavian
>milani
>X lcs [at] zk3.dec.com	Larry
>Smith techy
>X LSEAMANS [at] MU3.MILLERSV.EDU	Lynne
>Seamans techy
>---- marcus9 [at] usa.net	Marcus
>Davidson 0 hits
>B,SRB mehyar22 [at] siol.net	Mehyar
>Badii-Azandahi 3 hits
> mlcook [at] jerez.cca.rockwell.com	Michael
>Cook techy, 2 hits
> mlocher [at] ibm.net	Maximilian Greer
>Locher 2 hits
>X,B momen [at] northill.demon.co.uk	Moojan
>Momen
>X naddy [at] mips.rhein-neckar.de	Christian
>Weisgerber techy
>---- nigel [at] nigelshomes.com	Nigel
>Austin-Weeks 0 hits
>X nightbrd [at] humboldt1.com	Douglas
>Myers 0 hits
>B, SRB ongang [at] mail.indigo.ie
Ann
>O'Neill 2 hits
> pan [at] syix.com
>Pan Pagan
>X patl [at] cag.lcs.mit.edu	Patrick J.
>LoPresti techy
>B persia [at] persia.com	Robert
>Moldenhauer BCCA, 0 hits
>X petcook [at] total.net	Peter
>Cook 0 hits
>X,B pewatler [at] cyf-kr.edu.pl	Miguel
>Watler SRB
>X,---- ph289jk [at] prism.gatech.edu	Joseph Houry
>BCCA secretary, 0 hits
>---- polzer [at] uran.informatik.uni-bonn.de	Andreas
>Polzer 0 hits

```

> red [at] rahul.net
>Red alt.politics.white-power
>---- riazor [at] nutecnet.com.br Irlandes Fernandes Gonzaga
>Junior 0 hits
> rmp [at] heehaw.com Rafael
>Palmeiro 1 hit
>B roger.borseth [at] mci2000.com Roger
>Borseth BCCA
>SRB rossdee [at] ramhb.co.nz Ross
>Deeley techy
>B samoasys [at] samoatelco.com Jane C.
>Hyman SRB moderator?
>X shohre [at] itis.com Shohre
>Mansouri 0 hits
> shrao [at] nyx.net Shrisha
>Rao Hindu?
>X stainles [at] bga.com Dwight
>Brown non-Bahai?
>X steiners [at] primenet.com Jason
>Steiner Christian?
> steve [at] Watt.COM Steve
>Watt techy
>---- stronguv [at] freenet.edmonton.ab.ca
>Donald Strong techy 0 hits
>B,SRB Sunday122 [at] aol.com Sunday
>Marie Witte 6 hits
>---- talishman [at] usa.net T. Albert-Ishmael
>Anderson 0 hits
>X tlawson [at] amug.org Todd C.
>Lawson Sandra-Bullock fan
>X,---- todd.kutches [at] attws.com
Todd
>Kutches 0 hits
> wdmaddox [at] rice.edu Bill
>Maddox Freemasonry
> wpagel [at] wazoo.com Karen L.
>Pagel (1 on SRB) 2 hits
>
>
>
>

```

```

-----
From: Cheryll & Wade Schuette[SMTP:schuette@s.imap.itd.umich.edu]
Sent: Friday, February 27, 1998 11:28 PM
To: FG
Subject: Re: Fw: Annotated NO voter's list: talk.religion.bahai

```

FG <FG@hotmail.com> wrote

```

>>It seems to me, if looked at closely, the RESULT shows trb being >>defeated basically by twenty Bahais and an odd selection of people >>with really no interest in the Bahai Faith to begin with who probably >>voted NO for very arbitrary and questionable reasons...

```

On the contrary -- the 65 votes was in the ballpark one might expect on any widely debated USENET vote on almost any subject. That's life in the USENET universe, for better or worse.

What I see is that a third of the people who voted YES the first time, after six months of observation of A.R.B. and much public discussion, did not vote YES on the second vote. If those 157 votes had simply persisted, and added only 10 more votes, TRB would have succeeded.

In any case, you can complain to the vote-takers all you like, but the reality is that, to get this group formed, more YES voters are going to be needed, and that means understanding why the appeal is so low.

Wade

```

-----
From: Suzanne Gerstner[SMTP:gerstner@bart.nl]
Sent: Saturday, February 28, 1998 7:29 AM
To: FG
Subject: Re: Annotated NO voter's list: talk.religion.bahai

```

Dear Frederick,

The phrase which comes to my mind is radiant acquiescence. The vote was taken, and the answer was no. This was the second time. I think it's time to move on to other subjects. Are there aspects of this glorious Faith which interest you? Please share them. The time is short and there's much real teaching to be done.

Suzanne Gerstner
The Hague, The Netherlands

"How good it is if the friends be as close as sheaves of light,
if they stand together in a firm unbroken line."

'Abdul-Baha

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,news.groups
Date: Friday, February 27, 1998 7:49 PM
Subject: Annotated NO voter's list: talk.religion.bahai

>It seems to me, if looked at closely, the RESULT shows trb being >defeated basically by twenty Bahais and an odd selection of people >with really no interest in the Bahai Faith to begin with who probably >voted NO for very arbitrary and questionable reasons.... 13 people >have never posted to Usenet at all....
>
>I'm cc this to Rebecca McQuitty in the hope that she might be able >to disqualify some of these votes. It is at least interesting to consider >how arbitrary and unfair the defeat of trb was.... 109 votes do >constitute 100+.
>
>Why should 30, 40, or so votes from people who really don't give a >damn be allowed to defeat not only this proposal but others?
>
>--
>FG
>
>-----
>X = voted NO on 1st & 2nd vote for talk.religion.bahai; 26 people
>B = Bahai; 20 people
>SRB = messages all or primarily to soc.religion.bahai
> ---- = not a single hit on dejanews.com.
>
>techy indicates interests appear to be in computer technology
>or technical subject matter
>
>BCCA = frequent poster to the Bahai Computers and >Communications Assn's bahai-discuss
>
>number with hits = number of messages to Usenet on dejanews.com
>
>
> Voted No
> -----
-
>--
>X,B abir [at] comtrol.com Abir
>Majid
>X,B andrew.pemberton-pigott [at] ualberta.ca Andrew
>Pemberton-Pigott BCCA
> babboo [at] writeme.com Peter
>Buchy techy
>B barneyk [at] ziplink.net Michael "Barney"
>Kennedy 4 hits
>B,SRB bobbymitchell [at] totacc.com Bobby
>Mitchell 8 hits
> centiped [at] grey.xs4all.nl Roelf
>Renkema techy
> d [at] idiom.com
>d techy
>---- David.Robinson [at] Eng.Sun.COM David
>Robinson 0 hits
>---- djull [at] mindspring.com
>David Jull 0 hits
> dwolff [at] world.std.com David "Not a Bahai"
>Wolff esparantoist
>B,SRB EdvardJ [at] simi.is Edvard T.
>Jonsson
> Ekkehard.Uthke [at] gmx.de Ekkehard
>Uthke techy
>B,SRB fdbetts [at] mindspring.com
>Dean Betts
> forbes [at] cheerful.com Forbes
>Benning 2 hit
>X,B Gata [at] aol.com Shirley
>Macias
>X globe99 [at] Mlink.NET Derrick

```

>Jobidon 1 hit
>B gpoirier [at] acca.nmsu.edu G. Brent
>Poirier BCCA
>X,B Graham [at] fragrant.demon.co.uk Graham
>Sorenson BCCA
>X hcwtcurtis [at] email.msn.com Larry D.
>Curtis 1 hit
> hfung [at] lerami.lerctr.org Hank
>Fung trains & techy
>---- hhouse [at] mailcity.com
Harry
>House 0 hits
>B hymanfam [at] samoatelco.com William M. Hyman SRB
>moderator? BCCA
>X,B iskandar [at] acsu.buffalo.edu
>Iskandar Hai
>X jasmine [at] fl.net.au Jasmine
>Taylor Pagan
>---- jjam [at] hplabsz.hpl.hp.com Jim
>S. Jam 0 hits
>X judd.rook [at] pnn.com Judd A
>Rook 1 hit
>X kimdv [at] best.com Kim
>DeVaughn 0 hits
>X,---- krc1 [at] mail.enter.net
>Phil Thomas 0 hits
>X,B ksm8p [at] avery.med.virginia.edu kavian
>milani
>X lcs [at] zk3.dec.com Larry
>Smith techy
>X LSEAMANS [at] MU3.MILLERSV.EDU Lynne
>Seamans techy
>---- marcus9 [at] usa.net Marcus
>Davidson 0 hits
>B,SRB mehyar22 [at] siol.net Mehyar
>Badii-Azandahi 3 hits
> mlcook [at] jerez.cca.rockwell.com Michael >Cook techy, 2 hits
> mlocher [at] ibm.net Maximilian Greer
>Locher 2 hits
>X,B momen [at] northill.demon.co.uk Moojan
>Momen
>X naddy [at] mips.rhein-neckar.de Christian >Weisgerber techy
>---- nigel [at] nigelshomes.com Nigel
>Austin-Weeks 0 hits
>X nightbrd [at] humboldt1.com Douglas
>Myers 0 hits
>B, SRB ongang [at] mail.indigo.ie
Ann
>O'Neill 2 hits
> pan [at] syix.com
>Pan Pagan
>X patl [at] cag.lcs.mit.edu Patrick J.
>LoPresti techy
>B persia [at] persia.com Robert
>Moldenhauer BCCA, 0 hits
>X petcook [at] total.net Peter
>Cook 0 hits
>X,B pewatler [at] cyf-kr.edu.pl Miguel
>Watler SRB
>X,---- ph289jk [at] prism.gatech.edu Joseph Khoury
>BCCA secretary, 0 hits
>---- polzer [at] uran.informatik.uni-bonn.de Andreas
>Polzer 0 hits
> red [at] rahul.net
>Red alt.politics.white-power
>---- riazor [at] nutecnet.com.br Irlandes Fernandes Gonzaga
>Junior 0 hits
> rmp [at] heehaw.com Rafael
>Palmeiro 1 hit
>B roger.borseth [at] mci2000.com Roger
>Borseth BCCA
>SRB rossdee [at] ramhb.co.nz Ross
>Deeley techy
>B samoasys [at] samoatelco.com Jane C.
>Hyman SRB moderator?
>X shohre [at] itis.com Shohre
>Mansouri 0 hits
> shrao [at] nyx.net Shrisha
>Rao Hindu?
>X stainles [at] bga.com Dwight
>Brown non-Bahai?
>X steiners [at] primenet.com Jason
>Steiner Christian?
> steve [at] Watt.COM Steve
>Watt techy
>---- stronguv [at] freenet.edmonton.ab.ca

```

>Donald Strong techy 0 hits
 >B,SRB Sunday122 [at] aol.com Sunday
 >Marie Witte 6 hits
 >---- talishman [at] usa.net T. Albert-Ishmael
 >Anderson 0 hits
 >X tlawson [at] amug.org Todd C.
 >Lawson Sandra-Bullock fan
 >X,---- todd.kutches [at] attws.com
 Todd
 >Kutches 0 hits
 > wdmaddox [at] rice.edu Bill
 >Maddox Freemasonry
 > wpagel [at] wazoo.com Karen L.
 >Pagel (1 on SRB) 2 hits
 >
 >
 >
 >

 From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
 Sent: Saturday, February 28, 1998 8:24 AM
 Subject: Re: Annotated NO voter's list: talk.religion.bahai

Dave Ratcliffe wrote in message <34fb961f.451416538@news.microserve.net>...

>The vote is over. Your proposal failed. Votes cannot, and _should_ not_, be >disqualified because of past posting history, motivation to vote , hair >color, religion or propensity to belch after a large meal.

I agree the vote is over. I accepted the RESULT and haven't really attempted to challenged it. I have looked closely at the NO votes because I think I and other proponents and people interested in maintaining a fair system on Usenet might learn something from
 it.

I for one am extremely surprised that only 20 Bahais voted NO.
 That's real progress due to my and others' efforts.... I am also surprised that so many people voted at all who really have no interested whatsoever in the subject or proposal--just for the hell of it, apparently.... These are observations worth making in preparation for the next vote....

I'm also surprised that so few people came back--or, I should say, since I believe it, lost touch as a result of SRB's banning all discussion and other Bahai efforts to limit discussion about the interest poll.

>
 >Just how long are you going to keep this up?

You're phrasing baffles me a little. Keep what up? I believe learning from the RESULT by giving it a close reading is valuable. That's all. Such a reading doesn't say much in my opinion for the effectiveness of Usenet interest polling. And again it's that broad perspective that I'm trying to share with you and other techies....

>--
 >Dave Ratcliffe
 >dave@frackit.com

FG

 From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
 Sent: Saturday, February 28, 1998 8:36 AM
 To: talisman
 Cc: Suzanne Gerstner
 Subject: Re: Annotated NO voter's list: talk.religion.bahai

>Dear Frederick,
 >
 >The phrase which comes to my mind is radiant acquiescence. The vote was >taken, and the answer was no. This was the second time. I think it's time >to move on to other subjects. Are there aspects of this glorious Faith >which interest you? Please share them. The time is short and there's much >real teaching to be done.

Where would I share them where there aren't Bahai fanatics given to persecution and torture?

>Suzanne Gerstner
 >The Hague, The Netherlands
 >
 >"How good it is if the friends be as close as sheaves of light,
 >if they stand together in a firm unbroken line."

```

>
>'Abdul-Baha

The Twenty Bahai Inquisitors:

>>X,B abir [at] comtrol.com
Abir
>>Majid

>>X,B andrew.pemberton-pigott [at] ualberta.ca      Andrew
>>Pemberton-Pigott BCCA
>> babboo [at] writeme.com                        Peter

>>B,SRB bobbymitchell [at] totacc.com                Bobby
>>Mitchell 8 hits
>> centiped [at] grey.xs4all.nl                    Roelf

>>B,SRB EdvardJ [at] simi.is                        Edvard
T.
>>Jonsson

>>B,SRB fdbetts [at] mindspring.com
>>Dean Betts

>>X,B Gata [at] aol.com                            Shirley
>>Macias

>>B gpoirier [at] acca.nmsu.edu                    G. Brent
>>Poirier BCCA

>>X,B Graham [at] fragrant.demon.co.uk             Graham
>>Sorenson BCCA

>>B hymanfam [at] samoatelco.com                  William M. Hyman   SRB
>>moderator? BCCA

>>X,B iskandar [at] acsu.buffalo.edu
>>Iskandar Hai

>>B,SRB mehyar22 [at] siol.net                    Mehyar
>>Badii-Azandahi 3 hits

>>X,B momen [at] northill.demon.co.uk
Moojan
>>Momen

>>B, SRB ongang [at] mail.indigo.ie
>Ann

>>B persia [at] persia.com                        Robert
>>Moldenhauer BCCA, 0 hits

>>X,B pewatler [at] cyf-kr.edu.pl                  Miguel
>>Watler SRB

>>X,B,---- ph289jk [at] prism.gatech.edu           Joseph Khoury
>>BCCA secretary, 0 hits

>>B roger.borseth [at] mci2000.com                 Roger
>>Borseth BCCA

>>SRB rossdee [at] ramhb.co.nz                    Ross

>>B samoasys [at] samoatelco.com                  Jane C.
>>Hyman SRB moderator?

>>B,SRB Sunday122 [at] aol.com                    Sunday
>>Marie Witte 6 hits

```

```

-----
From: FG[SMTP:fglaysh@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, February 28, 1998 8:44 AM
To: Cheryll & Wade Schuette
Cc: talisman
Subject: Re: Fw: Annotated NO voter's list: talk.religion.bahai

```

```

> FG <FG@hotmail.com> wrote
>
>>>It seems to me, if looked at closely, the RESULT shows trb being >>>defeated basically by twenty Bahais and an odd selection of people >>>with really no interest in the Bahai Faith to begin with who probably >>>voted NO for very arbitrary and questionable reasons...
>
>On the contrary -- the 65 votes was in the ballpark one might expect >on any widely debated USENET vote on almost any subject. That's life >in the USENET universe, for better or worse.

```

Yes, it is in the Usenet ballpark... Was it calculated by Bahais through using bahai-discuss to be just the right number? I'm not sure anything can be ruled out....

>
>What I see is that a third of the people who voted YES the first time, >after six months of observation of A.R.B. and much public discussion, >did not vote YES on the second vote. If those 157 votes had simply >persisted, and added only 10 more votes, TRB would have succeeded.

Well, many or most of them came originally I believe from discussion on soc.religion.bahai, which banned all discussion of the proposal a year ago in order to defeat it. They've succeeded again. The BCCA is also complicitous in this 2nd defeat, as it was in the first.... In so far as the BCCA is part of the administration, I believe it's open to question whether or not the UHJ supported its efforts to blackball and defeat talk.religion.bahai....

>
>In any case, you can complain to the vote-takers all you like, but the >reality is that, to get this group formed, more YES voters are going to >be needed, and that means understanding why the appeal is so low.

I'm not complaining in the sense of challenging the RESULT. It's much closer this time, and I'm willing to hope it shows progress and deeper thought on the part of Bahais about free speech and conscience. Given the distortions imposed by SRB and the BCCA on discussion, I don't believe an accurate appraisal can be made that leaves their interference out of the balance....

>Wade

FG

From: Dean Betts[SMTP:fdbetts@mindspring.com]
Sent: Saturday, February 28, 1998 11:30 AM
To: FG
Subject: Re: Annotated NO voter's list: talk.religion.bahai

Why don't you relax?

At 07:36 AM 2/28/98 -0500, you wrote:

>>Dear Frederick,
>>
>>The phrase which comes to my mind is radiant acquiescence. The vote was >>taken, and the answer was no. This was the second time. I think it's time >>to move on to other subjects. Are there aspects of this glorious Faith >>which interest you? Please share them. The time is short and there's much >>real teaching to be done.

>
>Where would I share them where there aren't Bahai fanatics given to >persecution and torture?

>
>
>>Suzanne Gerstner
>>The Hague, The Netherlands
>>
>>"How good it is if the friends be as close as sheaves of light,
>>if they stand together in a firm unbroken line."
>>
>>'Abdul-Baha
>
>
>The Twenty Bahai Inquisitors:
>
>>>X,B abir [at] comtrol.com
>Abir
>>>Majid
>
>
>>>X,B andrew.pemberton-pigott [at] ualberta.ca Andrew
>>>Pemberton-Pigott BCCA
>>> babboo [at] writeme.com Peter
>
>
>>>B,SRB bobbymitchell [at] totacc.com Bobby
>>>Mitchell 8 hits
>>> centiped [at] grey.xs4all.nl Roelf
>
>>>B,SRB EdvardJ [at] simi.is Edvard
>T.
>>>Jonsson
>
>>>B,SRB fdbetts [at] mindspring.com
>>>Dean Betts
>
>>>X,B Gata [at] aol.com Shirley
>>>Macias
>
>>>B gpoirier [at] acca.nmsu.edu G. Brent

```
>>>Poirier BCCA
>
>>>X,B Graham [at] fragrant.demon.co.uk Graham
>>>Sorenson BCCA
>
>>>B hymanfam [at] samoatelco.com William M. Hyman SRB
>>>moderator? BCCA
>
>>>X,B iskandar [at] acsu.buffalo.edu
>>>Iskandar Hai
>
>>>B,SRB mehyar22 [at] siol.net Mehyar
>>>Badii-Azandahi 3 hits
>
>>>X,B momen [at] northill.demon.co.uk
>Moojan
>>>Momen
>
>>>B, SRB ongang [at] mail.indigo.ie
>>Ann
>
>>>B persia [at] persia.com Robert
>>>Moldenhauer BCCA, 0 hits
>
>>>X,B pewatler [at] cyf-kr.edu.pl Miguel
>>>Watler SRB
>
>>>X,B,---- ph289jk [at] prism.gatech.edu Joseph >Khoury
>>>BCCA secretary, 0 hits
>
>>>B roger.borseth [at] mci2000.com Roger >>>Borseth BCCA
>
>>>SRB rossdee [at] ramhb.co.nz Ross
>
>>>B samoasys [at] samoatelco.com Jane C.
>>>Hyman SRB moderator?
>
>>>B,SRB Sunday122 [at] aol.com Sunday
>>>Marie Witte 6 hits
>
>
>

*****
Verily, He is the Merciful, the Compassionate. Praise be to God, the Lord of all the worlds.
- Baha'u'llah
*****
```

Homepage

The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience

arb83198-103198

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 1998 5:14 AM
To: Ron House
Cc: Fran Baker
Subject: Re: Fw: ROUGH DRAFT - news release

Excellent piece, Ron. It really reads well. And perfectly addresses the issues involved.... Let's use it verbatim. I agree too with Fran about keeping the rhetoric as low keyed as possible....

I'll add it to the next draft of the RFD and post it in a few minutes.

Fred

-----Original Message-----

From: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
To: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Cc: Fran Baker <fran@crhc.uiuc.edu>; fbaker@ncsa.uiuc.edu <fbaker@ncsa.uiuc.edu>
Date: Sunday, August 30, 1998 11:13 PM
Subject: Re: Fw: ROUGH DRAFT - news release

>Here is my solution to the 'civil rights' question.

>See what you all think:

>

>

>CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

>

>All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

>

>Postings may take any point of view with regard to the Baha'i Faith. Whilst this allows criticism, including criticism that might be uncomfortable or hurtful to some, it also fully opens the door for enquirers to see with their own eyes and not through the eyes of their neighbours by asking questions and reading replies from anyone who is interested in their question. Talk.religion.bahai also fills the need for the first and only universally accessible Internet forum about the Baha'i Faith. As the Internet is clearly becoming an indispensable part of modern life, such access for those interested in the Baha'i Faith will, in the future, be as important a civil right as the right to free speech in non-electronic forums. Thus talk.religion.bahai is clearly in the spirit of Baha'u'llah's injunctions supporting a free press.

>

>As Baha'u'llah taught, a free press has both rights and responsibilities. Therefore some Baha'is might fear misuse of the facility, especially postings by covenant-Breakers. However, Shoghi Effendi has addressed this question:

>

>"First, the civil rights of Covenant-breakers must be scrupulously upheld." Shoghi Effendi, Lights of Guidance, page: 186.

>

>Further, it is permitted for Baha'is to read and post material in an >open Internet forum:

>
>"In general, the House of Justice has no objection to Baha'is'
>participating in public, unmoderated discussions about the >Faith, whether those discussions take place in person or >through some form of electronic communication."
>Department of the Secretariat, DATE: 14 October 1997 U.S.A.

>
>Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting >procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

>
>(The rest as before)

>
>
>
>
>--
>Ron House house@usq.edu.au

>
>Speed bumps are installed in the belief that if a road is >unsafe at 50, we should make it unsafe at 30.

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 1998 5:17 AM
To: Frank Baker
Subject: Fw: Fw: ROUGH DRAFT - news release

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
To: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
Cc: Fran Baker <fran@crhc.uiuc.edu>
Date: Monday, August 31, 1998 6:14 AM
Subject: Re: Fw: ROUGH DRAFT - news release

>Excellent piece, Ron. It really reads well. And perfectly >addresses the issues involved.... Let's use it verbatim.
>I agree too with Fran about keeping the rhetoric as low >keyed as possible....
>
>I'll add it to the next draft of the RFD and post it in a few minutes.

>
>Fred

>
>
>-----Original Message-----
>From: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
>To: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
>Cc: Fran Baker <fran@crhc.uiuc.edu>; fbaker@ncsa.uiuc.edu ><fbaker@ncsa.uiuc.edu>
>Date: Sunday, August 30, 1998 11:13 PM
>Subject: Re: Fw: ROUGH DRAFT - news release

>
>
>>Here is my solution to the 'civil rights' question.
>>See what you all think:

>>
>>
>>CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

>>
>>All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history,
>>teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for >>discussion.

>>
>>Postings may take any point of view with regard to the Baha'i Faith.
>>Whilst this allows criticism, including criticism that might be >>uncomfortable or hurtful to some, it also fully opens the door >>for enquirers to see with their own eyes and not through the >>eyes of their neighbours by asking questions and reading replies

>>from anyone who is interested in their question. Talk.religion.bahai >>also fills the need for the first and only universally accessible >>Internet forum about the Baha'i Faith. As the Internet is clearly >>becoming an indispensable part of modern life, such access for >>those interested in the Baha'i Faith will, in the future, be >>as important a civil right as the right to free speech in non->>electronic forums. Thus talk.religion.bahai is clearly in the >>spirit of Baha'u'llah's injunctions supporting a free press.
>>
>>As Baha'u'llah taught, a free press has both rights and >>responsibilities. Therefore some Baha'is might fear misuse of >>the facility, especially postings by covenant-Breakers. However,
>>Shoghi Effendi has addressed this question:
>>
>>"First, the civil rights of Covenant-breakers must be scrupulously >>upheld." Shoghi Effendi, Lights of Guidance, page: 186.
>>
>>Further, it is permitted for Baha'is to read and post material in an >>open Internet forum:
>>
>>"In general, the House of Justice has no objection to Baha'is'
>>participating in public, unmoderated discussions about the >>Faith, whether those discussions take place in person or >>through some form of electronic communication."
>>Department of the Secretariat, DATE: 14 October 1997 U.S.A.
>>
>>Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting >>procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.
>>
>>(The rest as before)
>>
>>
>>
>>--
>>Ron House house@usq.edu.au
>>
>>Speed bumps are installed in the belief that if a road is >>unsafe at 50, we should make it unsafe at 30.
>>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 1998 5:26 AM
To: bahai-faith @ makelist.com
Subject: 2nd ROUGH DRAFT - RFD - talk.religion.bahai

[This is a rough draft only. You may not vote at this time. Ron House contributes all of the revisions regarding "civil rights."]

REQUEST FOR DISCUSSION (RFD)
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

This is a formal Request for Discussion (RFD) to create an unmoderated worldwide discussion group called talk.religion.bahai. This is not a Call for Votes (CFV); you cannot vote at this time. Procedural details appear below. All followup discussion should be crossposted to news.groups,alt.religion.bahai.

Newsgroup line:
talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

From January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, until March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning

talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

From April 1, 1997, to September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months. Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

From September 28, 1997, to August 31, 1998, over 23,000 messages have been posted to alt.religion.bahai resulting in X messages per day for 331 days and X messages per month for nine months.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Baha'i Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

As a further indication of interest in an unmoderated newsgroup, it should be noted that the web site "The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience" has had more than 3,000 hits on it since May 8, 1998.

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm>

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Postings may take any point of view with regard to the Baha'i Faith. Whilst this allows criticism, including criticism that might be uncomfortable or hurtful to some, it also fully opens the door for enquirers to see with their own eyes and not through the eyes of their neighbours by asking questions and reading replies from anyone who is interested in their question. Talk.religion.bahai also fills the need for the first and only universally accessible Internet forum about the Baha'i Faith. As the Internet is clearly becoming an indispensable part of modern life, such access for those interested in the Baha'i Faith will, in the future, be as important a civil right as the right to free speech in non-electronic forums. Thus talk.religion.bahai is clearly in the spirit of Baha'u'llah's injunctions supporting a free press.

As Baha'u'llah taught, a free press has both rights and responsibilities. Therefore some Baha'is might fear misuse of the facility, especially postings by covenant-breakers. However, Shoghi Effendi has addressed this question:

"First, the civil rights of Covenant-breakers must be scrupulously upheld." Shoghi Effendi, Lights of Guidance, page: 186.

Further, it is permitted for Baha'is to read and post material in an open Internet forum:

"In general, the House of Justice has no objection to Baha'is' participating in public, unmoderated discussions about the Faith, whether those discussions take place in person or through some form of electronic communication."

Department of the Secretariat, DATE: 14 October 1997 U.S.A.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

PROCEDURE:

An instructive passage by Russ Allbery might fruitfully be considered by all:

"There is no official 'list of acceptable reasons for voting'; Nothing of the sort is enforced. There's no way of knowing why people vote the way they do. There is, however, a general consensus that certain patterns of voting constitute abuse of the system. Block voting on religious, cultural, ethnic, or political grounds is one of the things that is frowned upon. It is unlikely that even extreme block voting would cause a result to be overturned, but it's practically assured that block voting will earn an extremely bad reputation for the group doing the block voting. In other words, yes, the Baha'i could vote down the newsgroup en masse and be successful. This would, however, also earn the Faith a reputation (fairly or no) amongst those people who followed the proposal as a religion that advocates censorship. I think it's in the best interest of Baha'is and the Baha'i Faith to avoid that."

The process of creating newsgroups is twofold. First is the RFD stage, when someone writes a Request for Discussion (RFD) outlining the purpose of the proposed group. The RFD appears in news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, and other relevant discussion groups. Anyone may publicly comment on the RFD in news.groups for a three-week period. During the discussion phase, proponents may modify the RFD in response to suggestions from posters on news.groups.

The second stage is the Call for Votes (CFV) stage. The proposal must pass a Usenet-wide vote with a 2/3 supermajority -- and at least 100 more votes in favor than against -- to be created. Anyone with an e-mail address may cast a ballot. A neutral votetaker from the Usenet Volunteer Votetakers (UVV) conducts all CFV's.

This RFD attempts to comply with the Usenet newsgroup creation guidelines outlined in "How to Create a New Usenet Newsgroup" and "Writing an RFD" and available for perusal on news.groups or news.announce.newgroups. Please refer to these documents if you have further questions about the process.

DISTRIBUTION:

This RFD has been posted to the following newsgroups:

news.announce.newgroups,news.groups,soc.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc,soc.rights.human

and the following three mailing lists:

Talisman
Subscribe via: jsgreen@umich.edu

Bahai Studies
Subscribe via: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

h-Bahai h-Bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Subscribe jrcole@umich.edu

Pointers will appear in the following newsgroups:

soc.religion.unitarian-univ,soc.religion.eastern,
soc.religion.gnosis,soc.religion.hindu,
soc.religion.paganism,soc.religion.quaker,
soc.religion.sikhism,soc.religion.scientology,
soc.religion.vaishnava,talk.religion.buddhism,
talk.religion.newage,alt.religion.islam,alt.religion,
uk.religion.misc,uk.religion.interfaith,
uk.religion.other-faiths,news.admin.censorship

And to the following seven Bahai-only listservs:

Subscribe via bahai-request@bccca.org

Baha'i Campus Forum (BCF)

Baha'i Discuss (Discuss)

Baha'i Singles (Singles)

Baha'i Teachers (Teachers)

Baha'i Women Converse (Women)

Baha'i Youth (Youth - aimed at the 12-18 age group)

Baha'i Announce (Announce)

Proponent: FG

Proponent: Ron House

Proponent: Fran Baker

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 31, 1998 5:31 AM
To: M Clark
Subject: Re: Censorship on SRB

Please post this to alt.religion.bahai. Thank you.

-----Original Message-----
From: M Clark <mclark@tpgi.com.au>
To: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Sunday, August 30, 1998 8:48 PM
Subject: Re: Censorship on SRB

>At 04:20 24/08/98 -0400, you wrote:
>>Deceit and lies in the name of the Faith are wrong.... And so >>is censorship for the same specious reasons....
>
>True. It sounds like you have had some bad experiences in this regard.
>
>I don't know how long you have been associated with the Faith, or how you >feel about it at the moment. After 20 years as a Baha'i, I have seen most >of what goes down, but I have also become aware that a mechanism exists >within the Faith that sooner or later deals with abuses. I believe it is >one of the mechanisms referred to in the quote about "there is a power in >this cause ... " Many Baha'is are aware of it. The problem with some is >that they believe that because they recognise the Cause, they automatically >understand it. Situations develop where people, sometimes without realising >it, exercise authority which they do not possess. Only the elected have >authority, and only then as members of an Assembly, not as individuals.

>Persons _appointed_ to positions may have responsibilities, but do not have >authority. The Faith has no priesthood, but there are a few would-be >Mullahs and Cardinals running around within it.

>
>Regards,
>
>Martin Clark

>
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, September 01, 1998 5:14 AM
To: Ron House
Subject: Re: Fw: ROUGH DRAFT - news release

Your message was posted to arb. No one has commented on it yet. I didn't add it to the 2nd draft because I first I forgot (sorry) and then earlier I had been thinking it could be used to drag out the discussion period for another week or so to get us well into at least the middle of September. There are a number of things that will have to be discussed about it. I've been trying to get the cb thing finished first before taking up the newsgroups.

-----Original Message-----

From: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
To: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Cc: Fran Baker <fran@crhc.uiuc.edu>
Date: Monday, August 31, 1998 10:22 PM
Subject: Re: Fw: ROUGH DRAFT - news release

>FG wrote:
>>
>> Excellent piece, Ron. It really reads well. And perfectly >> addresses the issues involved.... Let's use it verbatim.
>> I agree too with Fran about keeping the rhetoric as low >> keyed as possible....
>>
>> I'll add it to the next draft of the RFD and post it in a few minutes.
>>
>Thanks Fred. Did you add those extra newsgroups I >suggested?

>
>--
>Ron House house@usq.edu.au
>
>Speed bumps are installed in the belief that if a road is >unsafe at 50, we should make it unsafe at 30.
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, September 01, 1998 5:37 AM
Subject: Re: 2nd ROUGH DRAFT - RFD - talk.religion.bahai

Roger Reini wrote in message <35eadbae.4455680@news.newsguy.com>...
>On Mon, 31 Aug 1998 06:26:52 -0400, "FG"
><FG@hotmail.com> wrote:
>>Postings may take any point of view with regard to the Baha'i Faith.
>>Whilst this allows criticism, including criticism that might be >>uncomfortable or hurtful to some, it also fully opens the door

>>for enquirers to see with their own eyes and not through the >>eyes of their neighbours by asking questions and reading replies >>from anyone who is interested in their question. Talk.religion.bahai
>>also fills the need for the first and only universally accessible >>Internet forum about the Baha'i Faith.
>
>This should be qualified with "unmoderated", for s.r.b is universally >accessible -- at least for those sites which choose to carry the soc.*
>hierarchy.

Sure: "only universally accessible unmoderated Internet forum...."

>
>> As the Internet is clearly >>becoming an indispensable part of modern life, such access for >>those interested in the Baha'i Faith will, in the future, be >>as important a civil right as the right to free speech in non->>electronic forums.
>
>Hm -- now this is an interesting twist in the argument, stating the >reasons why it should be regarded as a civil rights issue. I'm not >necessarily agreeing with it, but putting it in this form helps to >build the case.
>
>> Thus talk.religion.bahai is clearly in the >>spirit of Baha'u'llah's injunctions supporting a free press.
>>
>>As Baha'u'llah taught, a free press has both rights and >>responsibilities. Therefore some Baha'is might fear misuse of >>the facility, especially postings by covenant-Breakers. However,
>>Shoghi Effendi has addressed this question:
>>
>>"First, the civil rights of Covenant-breakers must be scrupulously >>upheld." Shoghi Effendi, Lights of Guidance, page: 186.
>
>It was not Shoghi Effendi who said this but the Universal House of >Justice. Actually, the reference is "From a letter written on behalf >of the Universal House of Justice to a National Spiritual Assembly, >October 29, 1974)
> (Multiple Authors: Lights of Guidance, Page: 186)
>
>Please correct this.

Had meant to before posting this 2nd draft and then forgot somehow. Thanks. Will do so on the 3rd draft, if I can remember....

>
>>
>>Further, it is permitted for Baha'is to read and post material in an >>open Internet forum:
>>
>>"In general, the House of Justice has no objection to Baha'is'
>>participating in public, unmoderated discussions about the >>Faith, whether those discussions take place in person or >>through some form of electronic communication."
>>Department of the Secretariat, DATE: 14 October 1997 U.S.A.
>>
>
>This is better, though I doubt that those who object to an unmoderated >newsgroup on principle will be convinced to re-evaluate their >position.

What "principle" do they object on?

>
>
>Roger (rreini@wwnet.net)
><https://fp-www.wwnet.net/~rreini/>

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, September 01, 1998 5:44 AM
Subject: Re: 2nd ROUGH DRAFT - RFD - talk.religion.bahai

John Noland wrote in message
<2A90EF02E296956B.A64F0B938A213433.74076DA3C98E0B3D@library-proxy.airnews.net>...

>
>FG wrote in message <6sdtqi$dut@news3.newsguy.com>...
>>[This is a rough draft only. You may not vote at this time. Ron House >>contributes all of the revisions regarding "civil rights."]
>
>

>>As a further indication of interest in an unmoderated newsgroup, >>it should be noted that the web site "The Bahai Faith & Religious >>Freedom of Conscience" has had more than 3,000 hits on it >>since May 8, 1998.
>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm>
>

>Hi Frederick, Ron and Fran,
>

>Have you run this by the news.groupies yet? I honestly don't think >the inclusion of your Web site hits is necessary or appropriate.
>First of all, as written it doesn't explain how this relates to an >interest in trb. There's also no way to relate web traffic to >newsgroup traffic. Also, how accurate is the count? I've visited >your web site at least half a dozen times, so each of those counts >as a hit. I think the data from arb and srb is adequate to show >interest.
>

>John

It will have to be in the draft posted to news.announce.newgroups for the news.groupies to see it. It can then be deleted before the final official posting of the RFD before the interest poll starts. I'll try to revise the intro somehow and make it clearer. I don't believe it can be disputed that the vast majority of the hits on the web site are from readers from Usenet.... Since I don't have a counter on every page, there have certainly been many more hits than have been recorded. There have been times too when the counter has gone berserk and not been able apparently to keep up with the traffic....

How would srb data relate to arb or trb?

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Tuesday, September 01, 1998 5:58 AM
To: bahai-faith @ makelist.com
Subject: Re: The Baha'i Technique

Kent Johnson wrote in message <6s9tma$1oi$1@as4100c.javanet.com>...

>As a Baha'i who has experienced and observed these things you talk about, I >find it sad. The Baha'i Faith is not living up to its destiny in this >regard. I have seen them do all the things you mention, and more. It turns >my stomach that they call themselves a Baha'i Group while doing these things
>so obviously partisan and consciously unjust. I have pointed it out to some >of the moderators and they are in an Us Vs Them mindset. I can only >apologize for them.
>
>--Kent

Thank you, Kent, for having the honesty and integrity to acknowledge the seriousness of the situation at soc.religion.bahai. I believe you identify something that really needs to be addressed and few Bahais have had the courage to do so. The "moderators," and really Bahais in general, almost always respond to anything other than the most pedestrian opinion with reactionary sentiments and accusations of one type or another.... I believe you're quite right about their mindset having become "Us Vs Them." I would think their injustices are evident to outside observers too.... I think especially of their banning me from posting to soc.religion.bahai because of my signature file, which points to my web site, which points to Yahoo, which ultimately points to a couple of covenant breaker sites.... Not to mention one of the most complete listings of Bahai information on the Net, which is why I put it on my site....

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

>
>
>FG wrote in message <6s94hd$6f4@news1.newsguy.com>...
>>During the last year and a half, a number of observers have noted >>several common methods many Bahais use to avoid various issues >>or discredit people who hold other opinions than their own...
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Tuesday, September 01, 1998 6:13 AM
Subject: Re: The Baha'i Technique

FG wrote in message <6sgk20$r0f@news3.newsguy.com>...
>Kent Johnson wrote in message <6s9tma$1oi$1@as4100c.javanet.com>...
>
>>As a Baha'i who has experienced and observed these things you talk about,
I
>>find it sad. The Baha'i Faith is not living up to its destiny in this >>regard. I have seen them do all the things you mention, and more. It >turns my stomach that they call themselves a Baha'i Group while doing >these things so obviously partisan and consciously unjust. I have pointed >it out to some of the moderators and they are in an Us Vs Them mindset.

>I can only apologize for them.

>>

>>--Kent

On further reflection, let me add too that this touches on what is THE really profoundly disturbing problem with the Bahai Faith as it has become for many Bahais.... EVERYTHING is a threat, EVERYONE is an enemy, if they don't share what such Bahais believe is the correct interpretation of the Bahai writings or whatever.... Their response is always akin to some kind of demonization or denunciation, never a good-faith exchange between people of good will, albeit differing opinions.... Their response is clearly partisan, while attempting to obscure or deny the fact.... THEY possess the truth; everyone else is a heretic....

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

>>

>>

>>FG wrote in message <6s94hd$6f4@news1.newsguy.com>...

>>>During the last year and a half, a number of observers have noted

>>>several common methods many Bahais use to avoid various issues >>>or discredit people who hold other opinions than their own...

>>

>>

>

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, September 02, 1998 6:53 AM
To: Ron House
Subject: Fw: Fw: ROUGH DRAFT - news release

The news.groupies will care though. They believe one should post the RFD or a pointer to too many groups. That when you do that you're fishing for votes in a way that's comparable to spam. They'll ask have you subscribed to these groups and is the proposal relevant to them? At least they have in the past. I'm all for adding them. I'll get to it as soon as possible....

-----Original Message-----

From: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
To: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Tuesday, September 01, 1998 8:36 PM
Subject: Re: Fw: ROUGH DRAFT - news release

>FG wrote:

>>

>> Your message was posted to arb. No one has commented >> on it yet. I didn't add it to the 2nd draft because I first I >> forgot (sorry) and then earlier I had been thinking it could >> be used to drag out the discussion period for another >> week or so to get us well into at least the middle of >> September. There are a number of things that will have to >> be discussed about it. I've been trying to get the cb >> thing finished first before taking up the newsgroups.

>

>I don't know that the average person particularly cares which >newsgroups get told. Why not just add the lot and see if >anyone objects?

>

>--

>Ron House house@usq.edu.au
>
>Speed bumps are installed in the belief that if a road is >unsafe at 50, we should make it unsafe at 30.
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, September 02, 1998 6:57 AM
Subject: fw Ron House Re: 2nd ROUGH DRAFT - RFD - talk.religion.bahai

-----Original Message-----

From: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
To: bahai-faith@makelist.com <bahai-faith@makelist.com>
Date: Tuesday, September 01, 1998 8:38 PM
Subject: Re: [bahai-faith] 2nd ROUGH DRAFT - RFD - talk.religion.bahai

>FG wrote:
>>
>> Roger Reini wrote in message <35eadbae.4455680@news.newsguy.com>...
>
>> >This should be qualified with "unmoderated", for s.r.b is universally >> >accessible -- at least for those sites which choose to carry the soc.*
>> >hierarchy.
>>
>> Sure: "only universally accessible unmoderated Internet forum...."
>
>I disagree that srb is universally accessible. Covenant >breakers and Fred can't post there - and, I presume, based >on the absurdity of their treatment of Fred's case, neither >can anyone else who commits the sin of mentioning Yahoo.

>
>--
>Ron House house@usq.edu.au
>
>Speed bumps are installed in the belief that if a road is >unsafe at 50, we should make it unsafe at 30.
>
>

>List Site: <https://www.findmail.com/list/bahai-faith/>
>To unsubscribe, send to bahai-faith-unsubscribe@makelist.com
>
>FREE group e-mail lists at <https://www.findmail.com>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, September 02, 1998 6:58 AM
To: bahai-faith @ makelist.com
Subject: Fw: 2nd ROUGH DRAFT - RFD - talk.religion.bahai

-----Original Message-----

From: Donald Zhang Osborn <osborndo@pilot.msuNOSPAM.edu>
Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc
Date: Tuesday, September 01, 1998 7:10 PM
Subject: Re: 2nd ROUGH DRAFT - RFD - talk.religion.bahai

>FG wrote:
>> John Noland wrote in message
>><2A90EF02E296956B.A64F0B938A213433.74076DA3C98E0B3D@library-proxy.airnews.n et
>>...
>>>>As a further indication of interest in an unmoderated newsgroup,
>>>>it should be noted that the web site "The Bahai Faith & Religious >>>>Freedom of Conscience" has had more than 3,000 hits on it
>>>>since May 8, 1998.
>>>><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm>
>>>

>>>Hi Frederick, Ron and Fran,
>>>
>>>Have you run this by the news.groupies yet? I honestly don't think >>>the inclusion of your Web site hits is necessary or appropriate.
>
>I'd concur with Roger and John that it is inappropriate to include >Frederick's website in the RFD. For one thing, web hits don't >necessarily translate into Usenet interest. For another, if one >includes this website, then why not also hits on other Baha'i-related >websites as further "evidence" of potential interest in Usenet >discussion? And another, this website has what strikes this reader as a >very selective presentation of past events. Frederick is certainly free >to publicize his website during the discussion period (though I would >hope this would not be a part of rehashing old debates), but IMHO it >doesn't belong in the RFD.
>
>Hope this helps...
>
>DZO

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, September 02, 1998 7:06 AM
Subject: Re: The Baha'i Technique

The truth is the UHJ knows exactly what the "moderators" of soc.religion.bahai are doing and apparently approves of it and appears even to be advising them through the BCCA, or while hiding behind the BCCA....

The UHJ has no excuse of ignorance whatsoever. I've emailed them directly over 30 times, recently on July 24th notifying them of the imposition of the ban on my signature file, and they've stood by and condoned such contemptible fanaticism as they always do....

There's nothing "isolated" about the srb. It's widely known and many, many people have said so.... Messages to that effect from more than 30 people can be found on my web site.

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

Chris Manvell wrote in message ...

>In article <6shqbu$81n$1@as4100c.javanet.com>, Kent Johnson ><comp2k@javanet.com> wrote
>>All of the criticisms you mention are, in many cases, fair. They trouble >>me. In my opinion, however, they are criticisms of individuals who ban >>together and do harm to the Faith while calling themselves Baha'is. The >>criticisms do not apply to the Faith itself unless and until these groups >>find a way to usurp the power that is the Baha'i Faith itself. As long as >>you and I keep noticing, that will not happen.
>

>I respectfully ask to disagree. The Faith itself is the Faith of >Baha'u'llah. If others usurp it, it is no longer the Faith of >Baha'u'llah but something else calling itself the Baha'i Faith. I do >not believe that this has happened, apart from in fairly isolated cases.
>--

>Chris Manvell, Isle of Skye, Scotland. Tel.:+44+(0)1471-822317
> Fax.:+44+(0)870-0568081
>Personal Web site: <<https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/index.htm>>
>Association of Baha'i Studies (English speaking Europe):
> <<https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/BSR/BSR.htm>>
>Sgriobtiurean Creidimh nam Baha-i

> <<https://www.breacais.demon.co.uk/gaelic/index.htm>>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, September 02, 1998 7:16 AM
To: bahai-faith @ makelist.com
Subject: Re: Fran Baker page added to web site

Chris Manvell wrote in message ...

>You obviously were not reading SRB during the Ahmadiya (sp.)/Baha'i >debate, or the debate between a Christian minister and the Baha'is.
>What, in spite of the protestations of some people, is NOT allowed is >rudeness, personal attacks, and UCE. Sometimes one moderator is >stricter in their interpretation than at others but generally, if one >wants to discuss the Faith without having to put up with the personal >invective of some people, it is a good place to be as one can >concentrate on the matter at hand and not in having to defend oneself >etc.

What "personal invective" is there in my signature file? Is it rude?
There are many suppressed messages on my web site that were not rude in any way whatsoever.... This accusation is merely a ruse....

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, September 02, 1998 8:09 AM
To: Jackson Armstrong-Ingram
Subject: Re: reliability of information

I came across this message while cleaning out my old files. Would you perhaps have a copy of the "Wilson Diary"?

I'd like to add it to my web page.

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

-----Original Message-----

From: Jackson Armstrong-Ingram <jarmstro@iusb.edu>
To: irfan <irfan1@umich.edu>
Cc: Talisman <talisman@umich.edu>
Date: Thursday, December 04, 1997 6:26 PM
Subject: reliability of information

>It would seem appropriate to mention that I know from sources other than >Juan that the information he gave about a list member being under >'investigation' because of postings is correct. This has actually been >going on for some time.

>
>I might also mention, that the time I worked at the National Center >included the period covered by the 'Wilson diary' as it has been seen in >electronic form. Whoever may be the author of that text, those events for >which I have personal knowledge are accurately portrayed, however

>'colorized' these passages may seem to those who were not there.

>
>I do not intend to engage in any discussion or further elaboration of this >post. I simply felt that it needed to be made clear that just because >news comes from Juan that does not in itself make it dismissable.

>
>Jackson

>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 03, 1998 4:47 AM
To: bahai-faith @ makelist.com
Subject: Fw: fw Ron House Re: 2nd ROUGH DRAFT - RFD - talk.religion.bahai

-----Original Message-----

From: Donald Zhang Osborn <osborndo@pilot.msuNOSPAM.edu>
Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc
Date: Wednesday, September 02, 1998 4:14 PM
Subject: Re: fw Ron House Re: 2nd ROUGH DRAFT - RFD - talk.religion.bahai

>FG wrote:

>>-----Original Message-----

>>From: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
>>To: bahai-faith@makelist.com <bahai-faith@makelist.com>
>>Date: Tuesday, September 01, 1998 8:38 PM
>>Subject: Re: [bahai-faith] 2nd ROUGH DRAFT - RFD - talk.religion.bahai

>>

>>>FG wrote:

>>>>

>>>> Roger Reini wrote in message <35eadbae.4455680@news.newsguy.com>...

>>>>

>>>>>This should be qualified with "unmoderated", for s.r.b is universally >>>>>accessible -- at least for those sites which choose to carry the soc.*
>>>>>hierarchy.

>>>>

>>>> Sure: "only universally accessible unmoderated Internet forum...."

>>>>

>>>>I disagree that srb is universally accessible. [...]

>

>As soc.* and talk.* are both "Big 8" hierarchies, the groups in them are >equally accessible as I understand it. So if talk.religion.bahai would >be "universally accessible" ("universally" for people with access to >computers, of course...) then so is soc.religion.bahai.

>

>The whole issue of access as I understand it was brought up in the first >place (and put in the t.r.b. RFD) because alt.* hierarchy groups are not >carried by all servers, but "Big 8" groups supposedly are. So, even >though a.r.b. is not moderated, it is not "universally accessible," and >therefore t.r.b. is "needed" so to have a "universally accessible" >non-moderated ng.

>

> [. . .] Covenant

>>>breakers and Fred can't post there - and, I presume, based >>>on the absurdity of their treatment of Fred's case, neither >>>can anyone else who commits the sin of mentioning Yahoo.

>

>S.r.b. is a moderated group. As such what is posted may be limited, >not who posts. IOW, it's not an "access" issue, but one relating to >standards of moderation. Anyway, as I understand it, a Covenant-breaker >or Fred can post anything relating to the Baha'i teachings that >doesn't include Covenant-breaking material (or links to it). One may or >may not agree with the moderation policy, but moderation does not affect >the accessibility of a newsgroup.

>

>I would therefore concur with what Roger suggested.

>

>Hope this helps.
>
>DZO
>
>NB- The message to which I'm replying responds to a posting in another >part of this thread.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 03, 1998 5:02 AM
Subject: alt.religion.bahai FAQ

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) for
Alt.Religion.Bahai and bahai-faith@makelist.com
September 3, 1998
This FAQ will be reposted approximately every two weeks.

Please note that crossposting your messages to talk.religion.misc makes it possible for some people without access to the alt.*
hierarchy to follow along with the discussion on alt.religion.bahai.
Similarly, crossposting or sending a courtesy copy, "cc," to
bahai-faith@makelist.com also allows people with only email access to participate. Currently, 23 individuals are subscribed.
Other people with web access might use www.dejanews.com or www.reference.com. They both offer reading and posting capabilities, including free email accounts, for people who can't directly access
alt.religion.bahai.
Though these stopgap measures may appear cumbersome or repetitive,
they really do compensate a little for the lack of talk.religion.bahai, which would be an unmoderated newsgroup on a major hierarchy that most people ought to be able to use.
Alt.Religion.Bahai is now available on America Online (AOL).

NOTE: Not all people agree on the interpretations given below.
Question #1 "what would be the difference between the proposed newsgroup talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai?"
ANSWER: The alt.* hierarchy is not widely available, while the talk.* hierarchy is, since it is on what's called the Big 8 hierarchy of Usenet. Many more Bahais and non-Bahais would be able to access talk.religion.bahai.
Question #2 "Isn't ARB also unmoderated?"
ANSWER: Yes. Alt.religion.bahai is unmoderated and talk.religion.bahai would be too. Though not a newsgroup, the mailing list bahai-faith@makelist.com is also unmoderated.
Question #3 "Why create a t.r.b.?"
ANSWER #1: Because many people believe they experienced or are continuing to experience censorship when attempting to post to soc.religion.bahai. See the quotations from Abdul-Baha:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm>
ANSWER #2: Because the Bahai writings support free speech and religious conscience.
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm>
ANSWER #3: [fill in the blank according to your own opinion.]
Question #4: "Why do the srb moderators oppose trb?"
ANSWER: [Perhaps they'll supply us with an answer to place
here]
Question #5: "Are Bahais opposed to freedom of speech and conscience?"
ANSWER: Despite glowing words of love and support for other people's opinions, despite the Universal House of Justice stating at least publicly it is not opposed to an unmoderated forum, the record of actual behavior by Bahais and on soc.religion.bahai and the experience of many Bahais and people who have left the Bahai Faith give reason for concern.

Chronology of major events: talk.religion.bahai

January 17, 1997: The 1st proposal for talk.religion.bahai was submitted to news.announce.newgroups.

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/1stRFD.htm>

Early March 1997: Mark Towfiq, chairman of the BCCA, the Bahai Computer and Communication Association, posts to three Bahai-only mailing lists a call for Bahais to vote NO against talk.religion.bahai.

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Towfiq.htm>

March 1997: soc.religion.bahai bans all discussion of talk.religion.bahai from its newsgroup. This ban is still in effect more than a year and a half later.

March 31, 1997: The 1st proposal was defeated 157 YES to 691 NO.

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/1stRESULT.htm>

April 3, 1997: Jonathan Grobe, a non-Bahai, creates alt.religion.bahai.

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/arb.htm>

October 14, 1997: The Universal House of Justice releases a message stating it has no objection to unmoderated newsgroups: <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/UHJ1.htm>

November 1997: At a time when discussion was highly favorable in support of talk.religion.bahai, the BCCA deprives FG of access to the private Bahai-only mailing list bahai-discuss and all of its other lists, inflaming Bahai passions against trb. See bahai-discuss archived files and correspondence between FG and the BCCA committee: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

December 19, 1997: The Universal House of Justice releases a message that suggests it does not understand the nature of Usenet interest polling:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/UHJ2.htm>

January 12, 1998: The 2nd proposal for talk.religion.bahai was submitted.

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/2ndRFD.htm>

February 22, 1998: The 2nd proposal was defeated 109 YES to 65 NO.

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/2ndRESULT.htm>

May 25, 1998: srb bans all messages from FG that contain his signature file.

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb23.htm>

August 28, 1998: The 3rd proposal scheduled to be submitted.

For past discussion of censorship on soc.religion.bahai and other issues, including censorship within the Bahai community, see the Web site below.

WEB SITE:

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

MAILING LIST:

bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts) For Web subscription

& List Archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

To Subscribe: e-mail to bahai-faith-subscribe@makelist.com

To Unsubscribe: e-mail to bahai-faith-unsubscribe@makelist.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Thursday, September 03, 1998 5:05 AM

Subject: REPOST - To UHJ July 24, 1998

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>

To: UHJ <secretariat@bwc.org>; Letters to Editor <letters@nytimes.com>;

bahai-faith @ makelist.com <bahai-faith@makelist.com>

Subject: To UHJ July 24, 1998

Date: Friday, July 24, 1998 9:03 PM

July 24,1998

Dear Members of the Universal House of Justice:

As a Bahai, I am saddened by the news of the execution of yet another Bahai in Iran. However, the immediate public statements made by Firuz Kazemzadeh of the National Spiritual Assembly of the United States, reminiscent of Robert Henderson's piece in The New York Times on January 13th of this year, appear equally lamentable for their blatant hypocrisy: "We had hoped that President Khatami's assertions about freedom, justice and the rule of law in Iran would apply to the Baha'is of that country.... We urge the international community to protest vigorously Mr. Rowhani's killing and to seek justice for the beleaguered Iranian Baha'i community."

The tragic loss of Bahai lives in Iran and the subsequent exploitation of their deaths by Bahai spokesmen, often in the American media, always courting the President and other members of the government, has become a predictable pattern rendered intolerable in the context of continuing and pervasive Bahai censorship and denial of human and civil rights in the United States and elsewhere. Such incidents as I queried you about in my unanswered email of March 31, 1997, available on my Web site, regarding the crushing of the magazine Dialogue, the resignations of a number of scholars from the Bahai Encyclopedia, the attacks on the listserv known as Talisman I at Indiana University, the harassing and blacklisting of many individuals, Bahai and non-Bahai, suggest profoundly deep-seated problems within the Bahai community and administration.

To these incidents must now be added the apparent conspiracy for more than a year and a half of the Bahai Computer and Communications Committee (BCCA), under the chairmanship of Mark Towfiq, to defeat twice now, along with the collusion of other Bahais, the creation of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith which would be known as talk.religion.bahai. You may find extensive documentation for all of these violations of the basic human rights of many Bahais and non-Bahais on my Web site, "The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience": <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

Because the third interest poll for talk.religion.bahai on Usenet is approaching, after August 28th, I ask you again to investigate the BCCA and its depriving me of access last November from all private Bahai-only mailing lists at a crucial moment just when the tide of discussion was going very much in favor of the newsgroup, noted by many observers. I also ask whether you supported or were involved in that decision? The relevant files can be found on my Web site under Bahai-Discuss Archives.

Similarly, I would like to know whether your institution or the BCCA has approved of or advocated the recent ban of my email signature file by the moderators of soc.religion.bahai, as well as their complete ban for more than a year and a half now on all discussion regarding talk.religion.bahai.

The prevailing atmosphere of suppression of free speech and religious conscience that now characterizes the Bahai Faith cannot but call into question the honesty of many members of the Bahai administration and perhaps the institutions themselves.

I ask once more whether censorship is allowed in the Bahai Faith and what passages of the Bahai Writings support it, what are the "rules," if you will, of Bahai censorship?

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> See alt.religion.bahai, talk.religion.misc, or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>
cc: The New York Times, letters@nytimes.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 03, 1998 5:12 AM
To: Ron House

Cc: Fran Baker
Subject: Re: Fw: Fw: ROUGH DRAFT - news release

Sounds good. I'm not dodging this issue, I'm just so busy with everything else and really believe we need to hold on to it in order to drag out discussion through much of this month if possible in order to get the USA student vote on our side as advised by some news.groupies.

We've got a national holiday over here until Sept. 8th. I'm over due for a break.... Hope you and others can take up the slack....

-----Original Message-----

From: Ron House <house@usq.edu.au>
To: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Wednesday, September 02, 1998 9:27 PM
Subject: Re: Fw: Fw: ROUGH DRAFT - news release

>FG wrote:

>>

>> The news.groupies will care though. They believe one >> should post the RFD or a pointer to too many groups.
>> That when you do that you're fishing for votes in a way >> that's comparable to spam. They'll ask have you subscribed >> to these groups and is the proposal relevant to them?
>> At least they have in the past. I'm all for adding them. I'll >> to get to it as soon as possible....

>

>I did subscribe to all of them, read sample posts, and >anything I cross-post will be specifically written for >the NGs concerned, not just general appeals aka spam.

>

>--

>Ron House house@usq.edu.au

>

>Speed bumps are installed in the belief that if a road is >unsafe at 50, we should make it unsafe at 30.

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, September 09, 1998 1:33 PM
To: AGrove1756@aol.com
Subject: Re: Baha'i Youth Classes

Nothing offensive intended against you but your comments strike me as cheap and meaningless rhetoric as long as the systematic censorship continues here in the US, where I live and have experienced in the Bahai faith now for over 20 years, especially on soc.religion.bahai....

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

-----Original Message-----

From: AGrove1756@aol.com <AGrove1756@aol.com>
To: FG@Hotmail.com <FG@Hotmail.com>
Date: Tuesday, September 08, 1998 4:59 PM
Subject: Re: Baha'i Youth Classes

>Regarding the postings that you forwarded: an eloquent >description of the old world order. I have not encountered >any of those techniques when serving at the Baha'i World >Centre, when consulting with the Asian Counselors as >an ABM or when working with various NSA's, I am saddened >that you think of it as a trend. If you were to look outside >of the US you would find other old world order problems, >but also a very strong effort to shed old patterns.

>

>We are after all, children of the half light.

>Anne

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, September 09, 1998 1:41 PM
Subject: fw LaAeterna Re: fw Juan Cole [bahai-faith] mutilation theology (further)

-----Original Message-----

From: LaAeterna@aol.com <LaAeterna@aol.com>
To: bahai-faith@makelist.com <bahai-faith@makelist.com>
Date: Friday, September 04, 1998 11:43 PM
Subject: Re: [bahai-faith] mutilation theology (further)

>The quotes Burl pulled out do not in any way say the the Universal House has >anything other than a legislative function. Nor can he show anything that >gives the UHJ legitimacy without a Guardian. As Abdul'Baha stated over and >again, it is a legislative body only, with some arbitration duties.
Period.
>That it has chosen to take a huge interpretive leap and given itself majesty
>where it has none appointed it, shows exactly why a Guardian_is_essential:
to >maintain the spiritual aspect of the Faith. That there IS NO Guardian now >cannot be shrugged off.
>Shoghi Effendi states (page 9, WOB) that the administration *is*not*the*Faith >but is, instead, an instrument of the faith. Instruments are not perfect nor >are they permanent institutions, but have been shown throughout the history
of >humanity to be temporary tools useful for a period of time (sometimes >undefined).
>It could well be that the "tool" we are using now is defective, exactly >because one of the primary aspects is missing, As one poster so aptly put
it
>: a headless body. I would say rather: an empty shell without a guiding >spirit. That it is making such shocking decisions re: its members and >alienating so many demonstrates my point quite nicely.

>Nancy

>

>

>

>List Site: <https://www.findmail.com/list/bahai-faith/>
>To unsubscribe, send to bahai-faith-unsubscribe@makelist.com
>
>FREE group e-mail lists at <https://www.findmail.com>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, September 09, 1998 2:08 PM
To: Fran Baker
Subject: Recommendation?

Fran,

I hope you don't mind my giving your name and email address to America Online as someone who might vouch for me. AOL has a number of forums that require a Forum Leader. The current one is very inactive and many things that might make for a fairer representation of viewpoints have been nicely neglected somehow.... It seems to me no one else is going to do it so what the heck....

FG@AOL.com
(please continue to use my FG@hotmail.com address)

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, September 09, 1998 2:10 PM
To: Fran Baker
Subject: Re: a vacation?

Just got your note. Guess we're on at the same time.
Rare for me. I'm usually online early in the morning....
Trying to get the bugs out the system and get caught up.....

-----Original Message-----
From: Fran Baker <fran@crhc.uiuc.edu>
To: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Cc: fran@amber.crhc.uiuc.edu <fran@amber.crhc.uiuc.edu>
Date: Wednesday, September 09, 1998 2:40 PM
Subject: Re: a vacation?

>Dear Fred,
>
>Thanks for the pep talk. I was beginning to need one badly!
>It was all I could do not to tell Rick to stop Schaut-ing at me.
>
>Thanks for the update, too.
>
>--Fran
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 10, 1998 5:47 AM
Subject: Re: fw Juan Cole [bahai-faith] mutilation theology (further)

>To: bahai-faith@makelist.com
>From: Juan Cole <jrcole@umich.edu>
>Subject: [bahai-faith] mutilation theology (further)

And I think the lack of institutional checks >and balances in the current structure, which Shoghi Effendi thought so >essential, are an excellent explanation for why the mutilation of the >Baha'i faith has occurred. Someone accused me of conducting a personal >vendetta. But this is not about personalities. The structures are the >problem; even really promising people are corrupted by absolute power, >which is what the Baha'i institutions now have within the community.

Plato, of course, is the other classical meditation on republicanism devolving into demagoguery and tyranny, especially his Republic....
I'd also recommend the Federalist Papers for serious consideration of checks and balances and reflection on the lessons of the classical past as well for that matter.... Allan Bloom's Closing of the American Mind draws insightfully from these works....

A pity, but it seems Shoghi Effendi's education was lacking in such sources.... Given my experience with censorship on soc.religion.bahai and the involvement of the BCCA in it, I agree fully with Dr. Cole that there are no checks or balances now within the Baha'i Faith.

By the way, for a fascinating aside on Galileo, which fits the context so penetratingly well, one might look at the excerpts from John Milton's Areopagitica on my web site. Milton visited Galileo while he was under house arrest....

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Areopagitica.htm>

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 10, 1998 6:10 AM
To: Fran Baker
Subject: Re: Recommendation?

Lovely picture of you and Frank!

By the way, where is he? I'm worried that he's never really participated on arb, as you have....

-----Original Message-----
From: Fran Baker <fran@crhc.uiuc.edu>
To: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Cc: fran@amber.crhc.uiuc.edu <fran@amber.crhc.uiuc.edu>
Date: Wednesday, September 09, 1998 3:32 PM
Subject: Re: Recommendation?

>Sure thing.
>
>By the way, I have a web site, but it is just personal stuff.
>It's <https://chaos.crhc.uiuc.edu/~fran/>.
>
>--Fran
>
>FG wrote:
>>
>> Fran,
>>
>> I hope you don't mind my giving your name and email address >> to America Online as someone who might vouch for me. AOL >> has a number of forums that require a Forum Leader. The >> current one is very inactive and many things that might make >> for a fairer representation of viewpoints have been nicely >> neglected somehow.... It seems to me no one else is going >> to do it so what the heck....
>>
>> FG@AOL.com
>> (please continue to use my FG@hotmail.com address)
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 10, 1998 6:13 AM
To: martinc
Subject: Re: Censorship on SRB

The least you can do then, is write srb "moderators" and ask them to post a retraction of the abuse of my message
so that readers understand how it has been abused....

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

-----Original Message-----

From: martinc <martinc@thuringowa.qld.gov.au>
To: 'FG' <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Wednesday, September 09, 1998 7:37 PM
Subject: RE: Censorship on SRB

> You said:

>
> "As far as I can recall, I asked for it to be posted to >> alt.religion.bahai, not soc.religion.bahai.

>>
>> I believe you've abused the nature of my message to >> you."

>>
> Looking back through the inbox, I find that you are right, and I > apologise for this error. I certainly picked up the thread from SRB and > our correspondence followed on from that, so maybe that explains the > oversight.

>
> Regards,
>
> Martin Clark

>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 10, 1998 6:15 AM
Subject: Re: Censorship on SRB

The message George refers to was posted to srb without my consent. I believe it was allowed in order to further agitate Bahais against me and talk.religion.bahai. I specifically requested the person in question to post to arb, never to srb....

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
To: martinc <martinc@thuringowa.qld.gov.au>
Date: Thursday, September 10, 1998 7:13 AM
Subject: Re: Censorship on SRB

>The least you can do then, is write srb "moderators" and >ask them to post a retraction of the abuse of my message
>so that readers understand how it has been abused....

>
>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
>talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
>Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

>
>
>
>
>

>-----Original Message-----

>From: martinc <martinc@thuringowa.qld.gov.au>
>To: 'FG' <FG@hotmail.com>
>Date: Wednesday, September 09, 1998 7:37 PM
>Subject: RE: Censorship on SRB

>
>
>> You said:
>>
>> "As far as I can recall, I asked for it to be posted to >>> alt.religion.bahai, not soc.religion.bahai.
>>>
>>> I believe you've abused the nature of my message to
>>> you."
>>>

>> Looking back through the inbox, I find that you are right, and I >>apologise for this error. I certainly picked up the thread from SRB and >>our correspondence followed on from that, so maybe that explains the >>oversight.
>>
>> Regards,
>>
>> Martin Clark
>>
>>
>

George wrote in message <6spa1i$d35$1@news.eli.net>...

>

>George wrote in message <6snvm1$211$1@news.eli.net>...

>>Found this on SRB.

>>For those who may not post there.

>>Thought you might not know.

>>PostOn.

>>George

>>

>>mclark@tpgi.com.au wrote in message

>><"X7F7cD.A.YhD.k7K71"@bounty.bcca.org>...

>>>Date sent: Tue, 01 Sep 98 07:12:43 GMT

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>>At 04:20 24/08/98 -0400, FG wrote:

>>>>Deceit and lies in the name of the Faith are wrong.... And so >>>>is censorship for the same specious reasons....

>>>

>>>True. It sounds like you have had some bad experiences in this regard.

>>>

>>>I don't know how long you have been associated with the Faith, or how you >>>feel about it at the moment. After 20 years as a Baha'i, I have seen most >>>of what goes down, but I have also become aware that a mechanism exists >>>within the Faith that sooner or later deals with abuses. I believe it is >>>one of the mechanisms referred to in the quote about "there is a power in >>>this cause ... " Many Baha'is are aware of it. The problem with some is >>>that they believe that because the recognise the Cause, they automatically >>>understand it. Situations develop where people, sometimes without >realising

>>>it, exercise authority which they do not possess. Only the elected have >>>authority, and only then as members of an Assembly, not as individuals.

>>>Persons _appointed_ to positions may have responsibilities, but do not >have >>>authority. The Faith has no priesthood, but there are a few would-be >>>Mullahs and Cardinals running around within it.

>>>

>>>Regards,

>>>

>>>Martin Clark

>>>

>>

>>

>

>

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]

Sent: Thursday, September 10, 1998 6:29 AM

Subject: REPOST - The Bahai technique

During the last year and a half, a number of observers have noted several common methods many Bahais use to avoid various issues or discredit people who hold opinions other than their own:

FG:

"Some of the most striking methods demonstrated repeatedly by many Bahais during the last year and a half of discussion about an unmoderated newsgroup is their refusal to listen and respond to the criticisms of those who are in favor of talk.religion.bahai, ignoring their concerns, never responding analytically to their messages and reasoning and logic and evidence, attacking them through character assassination and ad hominem, ganging up on individuals, and "circling the wagons" around every action of the srb moderators or others who are opposed to talk.religion.bahai."

More than twenty different people on my web site have posted messages explaining their experience with srb censorship yet many srb Bahais NEVER address their concerns. Ignoring such charges will not make them go away. NO ONE has to "try" to link the trb interest poll with censorship on srb; the moderators themselves have done that by suppressing droves of people for years. There are many people who believe such suppression is part and parcel of the Bahai community as it exists today. A YES vote need not necessarily support such a belief. There are other reasons Bahais might vote YES.

Ron House:

"I know what you mean. I've found over the years that there is a technique used by traditional Baha'is and others to squash dissension: harry the dissenter so much he says something intemperate, then point out how 'loving' and 'compassionate' they are and how nasty the dissenter is. The trouble is that this technique works, so I've been making a conscious effort not to fall for it. Also, when they get the dissenter discouraged and miserable enough, he invariably makes a slip-up sooner or later that they can REALLY let loose the venom over. IMHO, they did this to you when you misread Sharon's intentions. At any other time, they would overlook faults, as Baha'u'llah says, but when they're in this mode they go for the jugular. Very sad."

Fran Baker:

"Just have to say that in my experience this is a common technique of manipulative people in general; it is especially effective with thoughtful people who are willing to see both sides of things, i.e., their own fault. I consider this brow-beating technique to be a form of abuse. The only way to deal with it is to call them on it every time and to refuse to let yourself be beat up, i.e., not to do your part of the "tango." This can be very hard to do, but it works. You can break this pattern in a personal relationship. I don't know whether it's possible when a group acts this way. Very scary."

Dr. Juan Cole:

"Let me ask you why in the world you think that I would risk my professional reputation by publicly stating falsehoods? ...The very technique of the more glaze-eyed among these people is to unbearably bully a Baha'i whom they don't like, use unjustified threats of declaring him or her a CB to silence the individual, and if the person will not be silenced, then to depend upon the gullibility of the Baha'is in refusing to listen to any victim's story because, of course, the Baha'i institutions are infallible and divinely guided and could never do anything wrong. It is a perfect racket.

"Of course, this technique of making liberals go away has been enormously successful, and ex-Baha'i liberals have no credibility with the remaining Baha'is nor do most of them have any energy to continue to make a case, either to the Baha'is or the outside world, for the incredible abuses that go on inside this organization ostensibly committed to tolerance!"
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Cole10.htm>

This document may also be found on my web site:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 10, 1998 7:40 AM
Subject: Re: Censorship at alt.religion.bahai

I wish I knew how to look into this but it's really quite complicated and beyond me. I'll forward this to news.groups in the hope that someone there can and people won't mind though the RFD is still a week or two away from posting....

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

K. Paul Johnson wrote on talk.religion.misc in message <35f57c54.0@vlinsvr>...

>Today I did a DejaNews check of alt.religion.bahai, which I >cannot read at this site. I found three or four cancelled posts;
>two by Joel Marangella and one or two by Timothy Mulligan. Don't >have a clue as to how this kind of cancellation is done. But >apparently this is an instance of censorship of the most offensive >kind, and I'd hope there might be some way to identify the >culprit. Is this against the law? What can be done?
>
>Marangella is a so-called "Covenant breaker," while Mulligan is >an ex-Baha'i. This cancellation pattern is symptomatic of what >certain kinds of Baha'is think is the right way to deal with >dissenting voices-- SILENCE THEM. What sort of "New World Order" >would it be if such behavior and attitudes were in control?
>Probably paradise in the eyes of such people, but hell on earth >for the rest of us.
>
>Fred, please look into this.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 10, 1998 7:40 AM
To: FG
Subject: Fw: Censorship at alt.religion.bahai

-----Original Message-----

From: K. Paul Johnson <pjohnson@vlinsvr.vsla.edu>
Newsgroups: talk.religion.misc
Date: Tuesday, September 08, 1998 2:49 PM
Subject: Censorship at alt.religion.bahai

>Today I did a DejaNews check of alt.religion.bahai, which I >cannot read at this site. I found three or four cancelled posts;
>two by Joel Marangella and one or two by Timothy Mulligan. Don't >have a clue as to how this kind of cancellation is done. But >apparently this is an instance of censorship of the most offensive

>kind, and I'd hope there might be some way to identify the >culprit. Is this against the law? What can be done?
>
>Marangella is a so-called "Covenant breaker," while Mulligan is >an ex-Baha'i. This cancellation pattern is symptomatic of what >certain kinds of Baha'is think is the right way to deal with >dissenting voices-- SILENCE THEM. What sort of "New World Order" >would it be if such behavior and attitudes were in control?
>Probably paradise in the eyes of such people, but hell on earth
>for the rest of us.
>
>Fred, please look into this.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 10, 1998 7:43 AM
Subject: Cancelled messages - a call for help

I wish I knew how to look into this but it's really quite complicated and beyond me. I'll forward this to news.groups in the hope that someone there can, and people won't mind, though the RFD is still a week or two away from posting....

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

K. Paul Johnson wrote on talk.religion.misc in message <35f57c54.0@vlinsvr>...

>Today I did a DejaNews check of alt.religion.bahai, which I >cannot read at this site. I found three or four cancelled posts;
>two by Joel Marangella and one or two by Timothy Mulligan. Don't >have a clue as to how this kind of cancellation is done. But >apparently this is an instance of censorship of the most offensive
>kind, and I'd hope there might be some way to identify the >culprit. Is this against the law? What can be done?
>
>Marangella is a so-called "Covenant breaker," while Mulligan is >an ex-Baha'i. This cancellation pattern is symptomatic of what >certain kinds of Baha'is think is the right way to deal with >dissenting voices-- SILENCE THEM. What sort of "New World Order" >would it be if such behavior and attitudes were in control?
>Probably paradise in the eyes of such people, but hell on earth
>for the rest of us.
>
>Fred, please look into this.

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 10, 1998 3:15 PM
To: bahai-faith@makelist.com
Subject: Re: fw Juan Cole [bahai-faith] mutilation theology (further)

For the umpteenth time, I'm not the moderator, I'm not the moderator, I'm not the moderator!!!

For a long time I tried to forward EVERYTHING and about killed myself trying to keep up with it all. For roughly TWO months now the FAQ has stated in painful detail how to "cc" messages to bahai-faith@makelist.com George is one of the few people who does so fairly regularly.

I forward what I want, none too consistently, and shan't accept criticism lightly for it. You're free to forward his message. By the way, why doesn't he post it himself to alt.religion.bahai? Or have the last two Bahai attacks on talk.religion.bahai deprived him of access? Why didn't he vote YES?

Unlike most Bahais, I've attempted to rectify the situation....

What's your excuse?

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

Richard Schaut wrote in message ...

>
>FG wrote in message <6t8aq4$a76@news3.newsguy.com>...
>>>To: bahai-faith@makelist.com
>>>From: Juan Cole <jrcole@umich.edu>
>>>Subject: [bahai-faith] mutilation theology (further)
>
>
>Fred, is there any particular reason that you keep forwarding these messages
>that Dr. Cole has sent to bahai-faith@makelist.com but have not forwarded >the remarks of some of the other participants (e.g. Burl Barer)? How is >your failure to forward both sides of that discussion any different from what >you accuse the moderators of soc.religion.bahai of doing?
>
>BTW, those who are interested in views that differ from those of Dr. Cole >regarding the necessity of a living Guardian should point their browsers to ><https://www.interlog.com/~winters/articles/flow.html>
>
>
>Regards,
>Rick Schaut
>
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 10, 1998 3:15 PM
Subject: Re: fw Juan Cole [bahai-faith] mutilation theology (further)

For the umpteenth time, I'm not the moderator, I'm not the moderator, I'm not the moderator!!!

For a long time I tried to forward EVERYTHING and about killed myself trying to keep up with it all. For roughly TWO months now the FAQ has stated in painful detail how to "cc" messages to bahai-faith@makelist.com George is one of the few people who does so fairly regularly.

I forward what I want, none too consistently, and shan't accept criticism lightly for it. You're free to forward his message. By the way, why doesn't he post it himself to alt.religion.bahai? Or have the last two Bahai attacks on talk.religion.bahai deprived him of access? Why didn't he vote YES?

Unlike most Bahais, I've attempted to rectify the situation....

What's your excuse?

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

Richard Schaut wrote in message ...

>
>FG wrote in message <6t8aq4$a76@news3.newsguy.com>...
>>>To: bahai-faith@makelist.com
>>>From: Juan Cole <jrcole@umich.edu
>>>Subject: [bahai-faith] mutilation theology (further)
>
>
>Fred, is there any particular reason that you keep forwarding these messages
>that Dr. Cole has sent to bahai-faith@makelist.com but have not forwarded >the remarks of some of the other participants (e.g. Burl Barer)? How is >your failure to forward both sides of that discussion any different from what >you accuse the moderators of soc.religion.bahai of doing?
>
>BTW, those who are interested in views that differ from those of Dr. Cole >regarding the necessity of a living Guardian should point their browsers to ><https://www.interlog.com/~winters/articles/flow.html>
>
>
>Regards,
>Rick Schaut
>
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 10, 1998 3:19 PM
To: Timothy Mulligan
Subject: Fw: Censorship at alt.religion.bahai

Timothy,

Are you aware that someone may have cancelled three of your messages to arb?

Let us know if you did this yourself or someone else is at work for Baha'u'llah....

-----Original Message-----

From: K. Paul Johnson <pjohnson@vlinsvr.vsla.edu>
Newsgroups: talk.religion.misc,alt.religion.bahai
Date: Thursday, September 10, 1998 3:15 PM
Subject: Re: Censorship at alt.religion.bahai

>Richard Schaut (RSSchaut@email.msn.com) wrote:
>:
>: K. Paul Johnson wrote in message <35f57c54.0@vlinsvr>...
>
>: >two by Joel Marangella and one or two by Timothy Mulligan. Don't >: >have a clue as to how this kind of cancellation is done. But >: >apparently this is an instance of censorship of the most offensive

>
>:
>: Gads, you have no idea how it's done, but it somehow has to be censorship.
>
>You misrepresent my position. I did not say it had to be >censorship. I said-- as you can see-- that apparently it was >censorship. Why? Mulligan and Marangella have been the most >unpopular of contributors in the eyes of people who make it clear >that they do not want all sides of Baha'i issues aired.
>
>: Amazing.
>
>Your knee-jerk defensiveness amazes me at least as much as my >suspicion of the dark possibilities of Baha'i fundamentalism >amazes you.
>:
>: People, for a number of reasons, cancel their own posts. Had Mr. Johnson
>: done a thorough enough search, he would have found at least one of my posts
>: cancelled--I cancelled it.
>
>Why in the world would I have done such a search?
>:
>: And, yes, it's possible to fake a cancellation message, but any individual
>: who has the knowledge can do so.* When that happens, the people whose posts
>: have been cancelled generally complain about the fact. In this case,
>: neither Mr. Mulligan nor Mr. Marangella have so complained.
>
>Thus you assume that they did cancel their own posts? OK, let's >ask them.
>:
>: Thus, it takes a substantive leap to go from the appearance of a couple
of
>: cancelled messages to the conclusion of censorship. One needs a bit more
>: evidence of such, and that evidence is lacking here.
>
>Evidence you choose to disregard: it's not just a couple of >cancelled messages but actually five (not three or four as I >said.) Not just any two random people but two of the most hated >contributors in the eyes of fundamentalist Baha'is: one, a >"Covenant-breaker" leader-- and it is abundantly clear that >Baha'is do not want the views of "Covenant-breakers" to be >freely expressed-- the other, a disgruntled and very articulate >ex-Baha'i, who has attracted a whole lot of negative emotion from >defenders of Baha'i orthodoxy.
>:
>: BTW, if you think your messages have been cancelled by someone else, you
>: should contact the news administrator at your particular ISP.
>
>Rick, if you believe that Marangella and Mulligan canceled their >own posts, why don't you write and ask them? If you won't, I >will.
>
>PJ

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 10, 1998 4:07 PM
To: FG
Subject: NEWS RELEASE

NEWS RELEASE

For immediate release. . . [or]
For Use the Week of September 20th. . .

Contact: FG (xxx) xxx-xxxx or
FG@hotmail.com

Baha'is Debate Freedom of Speech and Conscience

The third interest poll is beginning for talk.religion.bahai, a proposed unmoderated newsgroup on the part of the Internet known as Usenet. Critics charge members of the Baha'i Faith have opposed its creation now for more than a year and a half because they would not be able to exercise the kind of control they exert over soc.religion.bahai, a moderated newsgroup.

Under the Usenet guidelines for discussion groups, if a newsgroup is moderated, a single moderator or panel of moderators chooses which messages are posted for all subscribers to read. There seems to be a classic struggle between Baha'is and ex-Baha'is of liberal sentiment and the elements of a conservative orthodoxy. Both appear ready for another stormy battle on news.groups, the discussion group where the creation of a new forum is always debated.

Some critics even go further. Dr. Juan Cole of the Department of History at the University of Michigan, a former Baha'i who withdrew from the Faith after more than twenty years, has asserted there is widespread, pervasive censorship and distortion of information throughout the religion that belies the gentle and tolerant universalism of its Founders. Recently, Dr. Cole has said, "The checks and balances . . . will have to come from public opinion, within the faith and without."

A poet and literary critic who remains a Baha'i after more than two decades of membership, FG, one of the proponents of talk.religion.bahai, has developed a web site, "The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience," documenting numerous instances of interference with free speech by the moderators of soc.religion.bahai and the Baha'i Administration:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

Whatever the outcome of the third interest poll, the more than 30,000 messages posted to alt.religion.bahai, a less accessible newsgroup than the one wanted, shows Baha'is and others have a lot to say on the matter!

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 10, 1998 4:21 PM
To: Mulligan, Tim
Subject: Re: Cancelled posts at arb

Tim,

It's not paranoia; it's that so many of their tricks have been so low and dirty!

I wish you wouldn't leave. It plays right into their hands at a crucial moment. The RFD will probably be posted during the week of the 20th. How about if you take a few weeks off? Or just post every other day, or once in a while.... Whatever....

For God's sake, please come back and vote in early October....

Don't consign other people to a religion in which no other opinions can ever be heard. Help us provide a forum where you, for instance, can receive the hearing you want or wanted.

Fred

-----Original Message-----

From: Mulligan, Tim <TMulligan@Central.UH.EDU>
To: 'FG@hotmail.com' <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Thursday, September 10, 1998 4:22 PM
Subject: FW: Cancelled posts at arb

Thanks for your concern. I have to agree with the Baha'I fundies in this case however: you guys are paranoid! I suggest you take a one month break from all posting. Seriously. Just let it go, at least for a little while. You need the break.

My response to Paul follows.

Tim

-----Original Message-----

From: Mulligan, Tim
Sent: Thursday, September 10, 1998 2:36 PM
To: 'K. Paul Johnson'
Subject: RE: Cancelled posts at arb

Paul,

I'm afraid you are mistaken. I canceled all my remaining posts last week, in the interest of pulling up stakes and disengaging from the ego battles on arb and srb.

I appreciate your intent, which was to defend my right to post. But you were simply mistaken, and you need to admit that in the newsgroups. I will not post any further in Baha'I newsgroups, or any other newsgroups for that matter, because, as I've said, with rare exception, they're simply an arena for the psychological equivalent of gladiator battles.

You have my permission to post the content of this email message to the newsgroups, but only if you quote the entire message.

Tim Mulligan

Tmulligan@central.uh.edu <mailto:Tmulligan@central.uh.edu>

-----Original Message-----

From: K. Paul Johnson [SMTP:pjohnson@vsla.edu]
<mailto:[SMTP:pjohnson@vsla.edu]>
Sent: Thursday, September 10, 1998 2:30 PM
To: jmara@cyllene.uwa.edu.au <mailto:jmara@cyllene.uwa.edu.au>
Cc: tmulligan@central.uh.edu
<mailto:tmulligan@central.uh.edu>
Subject: Cancelled posts at arb

Dear Joel and Timothy,

On a Dejanews search of alt.religion.bahai, I found several cancelled posts from each of you; five from TM and three at least from JM. I then expressed suspicion that someone other than yourselves was cancelling them out of the desire to censor opinions regarded as anathema to certain Baha'is.

The fundamentalists then accused me of making an accusation with no evidence and of being mentally ill.

So I am writing to ask each of you if you did indeed cancel your own posts to arb, or if you know who did. Please answer me ASAP and better yet, post to arb and talk.religion.misc about this issue.

Sincerely,

Paul Johnson

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, September 10, 1998 4:22 PM
To: Ron House
Subject: Fw: NEWS RELEASE

Ron,

What do you think of this draft?

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
To: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Thursday, September 10, 1998 5:09 PM
Subject: NEWS RELEASE

> NEWS RELEASE
>
>For immediate release. . . [or]
>For Use the Week of September 20th. . .
>
>Contact: FG (xxx) xxx-xxxx or >FG@hotmail.com
>
>Baha'is Debate Freedom of Speech and Conscience
>
>The third interest poll is beginning for talk.religion.bahai, >a proposed unmoderated newsgroup on the part of the >Internet known as Usenet. Critics charge members of the >Baha'i Faith have opposed its creation now for more than a >year and a half because they would not be able to exercise >the kind of control they exert over soc.religion.bahai, a >moderated newsgroup.
>
>Under the Usenet guidelines for discussion groups, if a >newsgroup is moderated, a single moderator or panel of >moderators chooses which messages are posted for all >subscribers to read. There seems to be a classic struggle >between Baha'is and ex-Baha'is of liberal sentiment and the >elements of a conservative orthodoxy. Both appear ready for >another stormy battle on news.groups, the discussion group >where the creation of a new forum is always debated.
>
>Some critics even go further. Dr. Juan Cole of the >Department of History at the University of Michigan, a >former Baha'i who withdrew from the Faith after more than >twenty years, has asserted there is widespread, pervasive >censorship and distortion of information throughout the >religion that belies the gentle and tolerant universalism of >its Founders. Recently, Dr. Cole has said, "The checks >and balances . . . will have to come from public opinion, >within the faith and without."
>
>A poet and literary critic who remains a Baha'i after more >than two decades of membership, FG, >one of the proponents of talk.religion.bahai, has developed >a web site, "The Baha'i Faith & Religious Freedom of >Conscience," documenting numerous instances of >interference with free speech by the moderators of >soc.religion.bahai and the Baha'i Administration:

><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>
>
>Whatever the outcome of the third interest poll, the more >than 30,000 messages posted to alt.religion.bahai, a less >accessible newsgroup than the one wanted, shows Baha'is >and others have a lot to say on the matter!
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, September 11, 1998 6:37 AM
To: bahai-faith @ makelist.com
Subject: On AOL- Re: ARB more harm than good?

This is exactly what's happening on America Online from my observing for more than a month now. The largest ISP is being used and manipulated by Bahais in the very same way as they have approached the interest polls for talk.religion.bahai and as described in "The Bahai technique."
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

kate_mccolloch_bodi@my-dejanews.com wrote in message <6tafaq$g6b$1@nnrp1.dejanews.com>...
>I heard through this list that America On-line had a chat room for Baha'is
so
>I decided on evening to peer inside and have a look-see. I was not granted >the opportunity to lurk for a few moments to get the feel for the
atmosphere,
>perhaps my screen name made them nervous...I asked those in the room very >politely a few simple honest questions. Although they seemed very nervous >they finally obliged...although several left when they asked me questions.
I
>was told there room was a place to for those interest in the faith to ask >that this was their purpose. I told them also that I went there because I >saw it mentioned here. Strange that they should warn me not to hang out
here
>though because in their opinion...ARB does more harm than good.with >laughter and free speechkate
>
>-----== Posted via Deja News, The Leader in Internet Discussion ==-----
>https://www.dejanews.com/rg_mkgrp.xp Create Your Own Free Member Forum

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, September 11, 1998 6:45 AM

To: bahai-faith @ makelist.com
Subject: Re: fw Ron House Re: 2nd ROUGH DRAFT - RFD - talk.religion.bahai

Roger Reini wrote in message <35f05772.13211616@news.newsguy.com>...

>
>As far as >Fred's blockage from posting because of a .sig statement, that does >begin to stretch things. Perhaps if the URL pointed to his main >homepage rather than his Baha'i page, that might be enough to get the >posting through.

The URL in my signature file did and does point to my main homepage/index.htm

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, September 11, 1998 6:51 AM
Subject: Re: 2nd ROUGH DRAFT - RFD - talk.religion.bahai

Roger Reini wrote in message <35eadbae.4455680@news.newsguy.com>...

>On Mon, 31 Aug 1998 06:26:52 -0400, "FG"
><FG@hotmail.com> wrote:
>
>>[This is a rough draft only. You may not vote at this time. Ron House >>contributes all of the revisions regarding "civil rights."]
>>
>
>This is better, though I doubt that those who object to an unmoderated >newsgroup on principle will be convinced to re-evaluate their >position.

Roger, you've never answered me. What principle is that?

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, September 11, 1998 7:04 AM
Subject: 3rd ROUGH DRAFT - RFD talk.religion.bahai

[This is a rough draft only. You may not vote at this time.]

REQUEST FOR DISCUSSION (RFD)
unmoderated group talk.religion.bahai

This is a formal Request for Discussion (RFD) to create an unmoderated worldwide discussion group called talk.religion.bahai. This is not a Call for Votes (CFV); you cannot vote at this time. Procedural details appear below. All followup discussion should be crossposted to news.groups,alt.religion.bahai.

Newsgroup line:
talk.religion.bahai Discussion of the Baha'i Faith.

RATIONALE: talk.religion.bahai

Currently, the only newsgroup on the Big 8 heirarchies, which exists specifically for discussion of the Baha'i Faith, is moderated. A need exists for an unmoderated forum, and this proposed newsgroup would meet that need.

From January 17, 1997, the posting of the first proposed RFD, until March 27, 1997, more than 759 messages were posted concerning talk.religion.bahai, 11 messages per day for 70 days.

From April 1, 1997, to September 27, 1997, over 2,863 messages have been posted on alt.religion.bahai from people with highly varying points of view on the Baha'i Faith, resulting in 16 messages per day for 179 days, and 477 messages a month for six months. Since www.dejanews.com does not pick up all postings, an additional conservative 5 percent, roughly 150 messages, have probably been lost from the archive. During this time period, approximately 513 different individuals posted on over 1,200 threads.

From September 28, 1997, to September 11, 1998, over 30,000 messages have been posted to alt.religion.bahai resulting in X messages per day for 331 days and X messages per month for nine months.

These numbers may be verified by searching www.dejanews.com for talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai for the relevant time periods. Please note that despite the poor propagation of the alt.* hierarchy the high rate of posting demonstrates significant interest, justifying the forming of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith on the talk.* hierarchy. It is only reasonable to conclude that the easy accessibility of the talk.* hierarchy will lead to even higher rates of posting by interested people.

As a further indication of interest in an unmoderated newsgroup, it should be noted that the web site "The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience" has had more than 3,000 hits on it since May 8, 1998.
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm>

The proponents intend that talk.religion.bahai will complement, rather than supplant, the existing moderated group soc.religion.bahai, and will provide those without access to alt.religion.bahai, on the less well propagated alt.* hierarchy, the opportunity to participate, especially since many people who voted YES on the first proposal were unable to join in on alt.religion.bahai, their ISPs not carrying the hierarchy. It is anticipated that alt.religion.bahai will evolve along as its users see fit and will complement talk.religion.bahai as an alternative unmoderated newsgroup.

CHARTER: talk.religion.bahai

All topics or ideas relevant to the Baha'i faith -- its history, teachings, theology, etc. -- would be appropriate areas for discussion.

Postings may take any point of view with regard to the Baha'i Faith. Whilst this allows criticism, including criticism that might be uncomfortable or hurtful to some, it also fully opens the door for enquirers to see with their own eyes and not through the eyes of their neighbours by asking questions and reading replies from anyone who is interested in their question. Talk.religion.bahai also fills the need for the first and only universally accessible Internet forum about the Baha'i Faith. As the Internet is clearly becoming an indispensable part of modern life, such access for those interested in the Baha'i Faith will, in the future, be as important a civil right as the right to free speech in non-electronic forums. Thus talk.religion.bahai is clearly in the spirit of Baha'u'llah's injunctions supporting a free press.

As Baha'u'llah taught, a free press has both rights and responsibilities. Therefore some Baha'is might fear misuse of the facility, especially postings by covenant-breakers. However, Shoghi Effendi has addressed this question:

"First, the civil rights of Covenant-breakers must be scrupulously upheld."

From a letter written on behalf of the Universal House of Justice to a National Spiritual Assembly, October 29, 1974. Lights of Guidance, Page: 186.

Further, it is permitted for Baha'is to read and post material in an open Internet forum:

"In general, the House of Justice has no objection to Baha'is' participating in public, unmoderated discussions about the Faith, whether those discussions take place in person or through some form of electronic communication."
Department of the Secretariat, DATE: 14 October 1997 U.S.A.

Readers are asked to observe standard netiquette and voting procedure in their use of this newsgroup and during its creation.

Readers are asked to observe Baha'i standards of conduct and not to start or prolong flamewars in the group, but to focus instead on articles and threads written in more moderate terms.

The posting of articles not specifically relevant to the Baha'i Faith is strongly discouraged. Also discouraged are personal messages, large ASCII graphics, binaries, special-format files, pornography, spam, and any postings of a purely commercial nature.

Crossposting to irrelevant groups is also discouraged, and readers are encouraged to redirect followups to reduce excessive crossposting. Readers may also post articles that have been rejected from soc.religion.bahai, so long as they conform to this charter.

As is true for other groups devoted to discussing a particular religion, including soc.religion.bahai, the talk.religion.bahai newsgroup is not an official organ of any institutional faith.

END CHARTER.

PROCEDURE:

An instructive passage by Russ Allbery might fruitfully be considered by all:

"There is no official 'list of acceptable reasons for voting'; Nothing of the sort is enforced. There's no way of knowing why people vote the way they do. There is, however, a general consensus that certain patterns of voting constitute abuse of the system. Block voting on religious, cultural, ethnic, or political grounds is one of the things that is frowned upon. It is unlikely that even extreme block voting would cause a result to be overturned, but it's practically assured that block voting will earn an extremely bad reputation for the group doing the block voting. In other words, yes, the Baha'i could vote down the newsgroup en masse and be successful. This would, however, also earn the Faith a reputation (fairly or no) amongst those people who followed the proposal as a religion that advocates censorship. I think it's in the best interest of Baha'is and the Baha'i Faith to avoid that."

The process of creating newsgroups is twofold. First is the RFD stage, when someone writes a Request for Discussion (RFD) outlining the purpose of the proposed group. The RFD appears in news.announce.newgroups, news.groups, and other relevant discussion groups. Anyone may publicly comment on the RFD in news.groups for a three-week period. During the discussion phase, proponents may modify the RFD in response to suggestions from posters on news.groups.

The second stage is the Call for Votes (CFV) stage. The proposal must pass a Usenet-wide vote with a 2/3 supermajority -- and at least 100 more votes in favor than against -- to be created. Anyone with an e-mail address may cast a ballot. A neutral votetaker from the Usenet Volunteer Votetakers (UVV) conducts all CFV's.

This RFD attempts to comply with the Usenet newsgroup creation guidelines outlined in "How to Create a New Usenet Newsgroup" and "Writing an RFD" and available for perusal on news.groups or news.announce.newgroups. Please refer to these documents if you have further questions about the process.

DISTRIBUTION:

This RFD has been posted to the following newsgroups:
news.announce.newgroups,news.groups,soc.religion.bahai,
alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc,soc.rights.human

and the following three mailing lists:

Talisman
Subscribe via: jsgreen@umich.edu

Bahai Studies
Subscribe via: major@johnco.cc.ks.us

h-Bahai h-Bahai@h-net.msu.edu
Subscribe jrcole@umich.edu

Pointers will appear in the following newsgroups:

soc.religion.unitarian-univ,soc.religion.eastern,
soc.religion.gnosis,soc.religion.hindu,
soc.religion.paganism,soc.religion.quaker,
soc.religion.sikhism,soc.religion.scientology,
soc.religion.vaishnava,talk.religion.buddhism,
talk.religion.newage,alt.religion.islam,alt.religion,
uk.religion.misc,uk.religion.interfaith,
uk.religion.other-faiths,news.admin.censorship,
alt.atheism,alt.atheism.moderated,
alt.religion.christian.biblestudy,alt.religion.christian.last-days, alt.religion.christian.roman-catholic,aus.religion.christian,
alt.religion.christian.pentecostal,alt.religion.vaisnava, alt.individualism,talk.philosophy.misc,alt.activism,talk.atheism,
talk.philosophy.humanism,talk.philosophy.misc,
alt.philosophy.debate

And to the following seven Bahai-only listservs:

Subscribe via bahai-request@bccca.org
Baha'i Campus Forum (BCF)
Baha'i Discuss (Discuss)
Baha'i Singles (Singles)
Baha'i Teachers (Teachers)
Baha'i Women Converse (Women)
Baha'i Youth (Youth - aimed at the 12-18 age group)
Baha'i Announce (Announce)

Proponent: FG
Proponent: Ron House
Proponent: Fran Baker

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, September 11, 1998 7:43 AM
To: FG
Subject: soc.religion.bahai victims speak out

Kent Johnson:

"It turns my stomach that they call themselves a Baha'i Group while doing these things so obviously partisan and consciously unjust."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb61.htm>

Ron House:

"I think the following is a clear case of malicious rejection of an article by the worst of the moderators of soc.religion.bahai."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb53.htm>

Timothy Mulligan:

"(Sigh) Fred, I'm beginning to think you're right about those SRB moderators."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb59.htm>

RobertNik:

"these guys are pompous arseholes IMHO."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb54.htm>

Bruce Burrill:

"What are Baha'i afraid of?"

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb60.htm>

Zute flute:

"Frankly I could not see anything in the letter I wrote which would prompt someone to ask whether or not I am a Baha'i."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb50.htm>

YU ZIR:

"But as an outsider, I can perhaps see the point Fred Glaysher is making, and which point none of SRB's defenders seem to address."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb46.htm>

Matthew Cromer:

"The current moderators regulate the contents--posting articles which they agree with...."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb47.htm>

Melissa Boyer Kafes:

"For me, I have posted a couple of times on soc.religion.bahai and have gotten a couple of nasty emails...."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb44.htm>

Harold Shinsato:

"It seems like there is an oppression over the Baha'i Faith."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb33.htm>

Maryam:

"Firstly, there is nothing in Fred's sig. file that mentions CB material."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb22.htm>

Laeterna:

"To say I was flabberghasted at this type of "moderating" was putting it mildly indeed."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/censored2.htm>

Guy Macon"

"Please explain which portion of the charter the following post violates."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/censored1.htm>

Robin Peters:

"I think you're to be commended for your persistence in the face of consistent censorship."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb43.htm>

jgoldberg:

"I refuse to post on soc.religion.bahai because of the arbitrary and mean-spirited manner of censorship practiced by the moderators. "

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb57.htm>

Many other similar messages may be found on my web site under soc.religion.bahai censorship.

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai, talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)

Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, September 11, 1998 7:53 AM
To: D E Siegel
Subject: talk.religion.bahai

>Please do not turn the next t.r.b debate into a wrangle over who has censored >whom on s.r.b, either via moderation or via cancels. >

> -David E. Siegel

David,

I'd really appreciate your advice on how to approach the interest poll this time. So many people have experienced censorship that it seems inescapable and is the impetus behind why people want an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith, talk.religion.bahai. I do intend to try more to keep discussion of the religious side of the issues on alt.religion.bahai and the technical only, if possible, on news.groups. Emma Pease suggested this a couple of months ago. I'd appreciate hearing any ideas you might have.

Thanks.

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai, talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)

Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, September 11, 1998 7:57 AM
To: bahai-faith @ makelist.com
Subject: On soc.religion.bahai - brief quotations

Kent Johnson:

"It turns my stomach that they call themselves a Baha'i Group while doing these things so obviously partisan and consciously unjust."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb61.htm>

Ron House:

"I think the following is a clear case of malicious rejection of an article by the worst of the moderators of soc.religion.bahai."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb53.htm>

Timothy Mulligan:

"(Sigh) Fred, I'm beginning to think you're right about those SRB moderators."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb59.htm>

RobertNik:

"these guys are pompous arseholes IMHO."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb54.htm>

Bruce Burrill:

"What are Baha'i afraid of?"

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb60.htm>

Zute flute:

"Frankly I could not see anything in the letter I wrote which would prompt someone to ask whether or not I am a Baha'i."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb50.htm>

YU ZIR:

"But as an outsider, I can perhaps see the point Fred Glaysheer is making, and which point none of SRB's defenders seem to address."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb46.htm>

Matthew Cromer:

"The current moderators regulate the contents--posting articles which they agree with...."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb47.htm>

Melissa Boyer Kafes:

"For me, I have posted a couple of times on soc.religion.bahai and have gotten a couple of nasty emails...."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb44.htm>

Harold Shinsato:

"It seems like there is an oppression over the Baha'i Faith."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb33.htm>

Maryam:

"Firstly, there is nothing in Fred's sig. file that mentions CB material."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb22.htm>

Laeterna:

"To say I was flabberghasted at this type of "moderating" was putting it mildly indeed."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/censored2.htm>

Guy Macon

"Please explain which portion of the charter the following post violates."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/censored1.htm>

Robin Peters:

"I think you're to be commended for your persistence in the face of consistent censorship."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb43.htm>

jgoldberg:

"I refuse to post on soc.religion.bahai because of the arbitrary and mean-spirited manner of censorship practiced by the moderators. "

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb57.htm>

Many other similar messages may be found on my web site under soc.religion.bahai censorship.

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, September 11, 1998 2:16 PM
Subject: Bahai accusation of TOS on AOL

I ask all Bahais or non-Bahais on AOL to email
the TOSGeneral@aol.com and inform him or her what you believe may be actually involved here on the part of Bahais.

I myself have stated my opinion below.

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

Subj: Terms of Service
Date: 98-09-11 02:54:49 EDT
From: TOSBoards2
To: FG

Dear Member,

I need to let you know that America Online was notified of a post to one of our message boards which violates the Terms of Service. Here is the information I have placed on the account regarding this incident:

On 9/9/98 6:58 AM Eastern Daylight EST the FG screen name posted a message in Baha'i Message Boards, For Non Baha'is >> Subject: Re: Literalminded Bahai ignorance. The following is an excerpt from the post: " The typical response of Bahai fanatics....
FG:

"Some of the most striking methods demonstrated repeatedly by many Bahais during the last year and a half of discussion about an unmoderated newsgroup is their refusal to listen and respond to the criticisms of those who are in favor of talk.religion.bahai, ignoring their concerns, never responding analytically to their messages and reasoning and logic and evidence, attacking them

through character assassination and ad hominem, ganging up on individuals, and "circling the wagons" around every action of the srb moderators or others who are opposed to talk.religion.bahai.

"More than twenty different people on my web site have posted messages explaining their experience with srb censorship yet many srb Bahais NEVER address their concerns. Ignoring such charges will not make them go away. NO ONE has to "try" to link the trb interest poll with censorship on srb; the moderators themselves have done that by suppressing droves of people for years. There are many people who believe such suppression is part and parcel of the Bahai community as it exists today. A YES vote need not necessarily support such a belief. There are other reasons Bahais might vote YES."

Ron House:

"I know what you mean. I've found over the years that there is a technique used by traditional Baha'is and others to squash dissension: harry the dissenter so much he says something intemperate, then point out how 'loving' and 'compassionate' they are and how nasty the dissenter is. The trouble is that this technique works, so I've been making a conscious effort not to fall for it. Also, when they get the dissenter discouraged and miserable enough, he invariably makes a slip-up sooner or later that they can REALLY let loose the venom over. IMHO, they did this to you when you misread Sharon's intentions. At any other time, they would overlook faults, as Baha'u'llah says, but when they're in this mode they go for the jugular. Very sad."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/House2.htm>

Fran Baker:

"Just have to say that in my experience this is a common technique of manipulative people in general; it is especially effective with thoughtful people who are willing to see both sides of things, i.e., their own fault. I consider this brow-beating technique to be a form of abuse. The only way to deal with it is to call them on it every time and to refuse to let yourself be beat up, i.e., not to do your part of the "tango." This can be very hard to do, but it works. You can break this pattern in a personal relationship. I don't know whether it's possible when a group acts this way. Very scary."

Dr. Juan Cole:

"Let me ask you why in the world you think that I would risk my professional reputation by publicly stating falsehoods? ...The very technique of the more glaze-eyed among these people is to unbearably bully a Baha'i whom they don't like, use unjustified threats of declaring him or her a CB to silence the individual, and if the person will not be silenced, then to depend upon the gullibility of the Baha'is in refusing to listen to any victim's story because, of course, the Baha'i institutions are infallible and divinely guided and could never do anything wrong. It is a perfect racket.

"Of course, this technique of making liberals go away has been enormously successful, and ex-Baha'i liberals have no credibility with the remaining Baha'is nor do most of them have any energy to continue to make a case, either to the Baha'is or the outside world, for the incredible abuses that go on inside this organization ostensibly committed to tolerance!"

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Cole10.htm>

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> See alt.religion.bahai, talk.religion.misc, or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/baha'i>

baha'i"

Our Terms of Service agreement, which was presented during the sign up process, allows America Online to be informative, entertaining and, above all, fun for all of our Members. You can review that agreement by using keyword TOS. This area also has information and tools you can use to help protect your account. Also, you may want to take a look at our PARENTAL CONTROLS. This will allow you, among other things, to limit and/or block specific screen names from various online activities.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please

send mail to <A HREF="mailto: TOSGeneral">TOSGeneral.

Regards,
Bill
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

* Have you heard about AOL's latest and easiest to use software version, 4.0?
You can upgrade for free at keyword: <A HREF="aol://1722:Upgrade">Upgrade.
With AOL 4.0, you can have fun by sending multiple files, changing screen names without signing off, customizing your toolbar, and much, much more.
Upgrade today!

Bahai posts on AOL responding to "The Bahai Technique":

Subject: Re: fw Juan Cole Re: [bahai-faith] mutilation theology
Date: Wed, Sep 9, 1998 11:46 EDT
From: <A HREF="aol://3548:Holly7711">Holly7711
Message-id: <1998090915464300.LAA29616@ladder01.news.aol.com>

Friends,

This stuff is not only ugly in its outlook toward Baha'is, but now there is criticism of the Universal House of Justice and the beloved institutions of the Faith.

This is right on the edge... borderline.

Charlotte

Subject: Re: fw Juan Cole Re: [bahai-faith] mutilation theology
Date: Wed, Sep 9, 1998 11:59 EDT
From: <A HREF="aol://3548:Karndor">Karndor
Message-id: <1998090915595200.LAA03894@ladder03.news.aol.com>

Charlotte,

before you read a post, look who wrote it, and if it is someone, that you might think is a CB, or will make you mad, don't read it, and go on to the next one. trust me it works.

Karen

Momie to

Forrest Febuary 17,1994

Terran October 23, 1996

<A HREF="https://members.aol.com/ballyhoo9/sexyguy.html">
<[A HREF="https://www.kidscom.com/orakc/Mousers/mouse.html">KidsCom: Mousers
](https://www.kidscom.com/orakc/Mousers/mouse.html)

Subject: General Disclaimer
Date: Wed, Sep 9, 1998 14:00 EDT
From: <A HREF="aol://3548:WScott1995">WScott1995
Message-id: <1998090918003500.OAA11333@ladder01.news.aol.com>

For those visiting our Baha'i boards, anyone can post here and say they are
a Baha'i. That doesn't necessarily make it so. Every religion has their wolves in sheeps clothing would would try to destroy the flock, and this forum makes

this particularly easy since they can hide behind their computers and no one will know who they are. Baha'is need to deal with these people as both our writings and the Bible says:

"But shun profane and vain babblings: for they will increase unto more ungodliness. And their word will eat as doth a canker....and overthrow the faith of some." (2 Tim. 2:16-17)

"Guard what was committed to your trust, avoiding the profane and vain babblings and contradictions of what is falsely called knowledge -by professing it, some have strayed concerning the faith." (1 Tim 6:20-21)

A true Baha'i would abide by the teachings of Baha'u'llah, in every situation, to the best of his or her ability. And those teachings are:

"Should anyone wax angry with you, respond to him with gentleness; and should anyone upbraid you, forbear to upbraid him in return, but leave him to himself and put your trust in God, the omnipotent Avenger, the Lord of might and justice." (Bahá'u'lláh: The Kitáb-i-Aqdas, Page: 75)

Love and peace, Wendy-----<-@

Subject: Re: General Disclaimer
Date: Wed, Sep 9, 1998 15:05 EDT
From: Bennachti
Message-id: <1998090919050600.PAA17531@ladder01.news.aol.com>

I agree, Wendy. I am always reminded of this passage, when I meet people like that online:

"Erelong shall clamorous voices be raised in most lands.
Shun them, O My people, and follow not the iniquitous and evil-hearted."
Baha'u'llah, Kitab-i-Aqdas, pg. 32

I'm all in favor of Karen's suggestion too, to just skip over the names of people who seem to be filled with hatred. I hope that for their sake they learn that their anger only hurts them, not anyone else. They can stew in it, suffer from it, develop heart and liver diseases from it (and more) but it doesn't affect the rest of us at all. It is a most unfortunate malady, this anger and hatred. May God help all of us to recover from angers and resentments whensoever they may afflict us.

Love you all
Zaynab

No man shall attain the shores of the ocean of true understanding except he be detached from all that is in heaven and on earth.
- Bahá'u'lláh -

My Bahá'í Faith website: Camphor Fountain

Subject: Re: General Disclaimer
Date: Wed, Sep 9, 1998 15:14 EDT
From: Holly7711
Message-id: <1998090919140800.PAA18518@ladder01.news.aol.com>

Excellent advice, everyone!

Thanks particularly for those quotes from the writings.... always good spiritual food for just about any situation that comes up. :)

Love,
Charlotte

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, September 11, 1998 2:25 PM
To: bahai-faith @ makelist.com
Subject: Re: ARB more harm than good?

kate_mccolloch_bodi@my-dejanews.com wrote in message
<6tafaq$g6b$1@nnrp1.dejanews.com>...
>I heard through this list that America On-line had a chat room for Baha'is
so
>I decided on evening to peer inside and have a look-see. I was not granted >the opportunity to lurk for a few moments to get the feel for the
atmosphere,
>perhaps my screen name made them nervous...I asked those in the room very >politely a few simple honest questions. Although they seemed very nervous >they finally obliged...although several left when they asked me questions.
I
>was told there room was a place to for those interest in the faith to ask >that this was their purpose. I told them also that I went there because I >saw it mentioned here. Strange that they should warn me not to hang out
here
>though because in their opinion...ARB does more harm than good.with >laughter and free speechkate
>

Given Bahais on AOL are now alleging a TOS against me, I urge you to reciprocate and contact the TOSGeneral@aol.com immediately.
If you can remember the Bahais involved and their addresses, you should pass that along to him or her too. One or all of them might very well be the same Bahais who are trying to blackball me on AOL!

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, September 11, 1998 2:26 PM
To: kate_mccolloch_bodi@my-dejanews.com
Subject: Fw: ARB more harm than good?

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
To: bahai-faith @ makelist.com <bahai-faith@makelist.com>
Date: Friday, September 11, 1998 3:25 PM
Subject: Re: ARB more harm than good?

>kate_mccolloch_bodi@my-dejanews.com wrote in message
><6tafaq$g6b$1@nnrp1.dejanews.com>...
>>I heard through this list that America On-line had a chat room for Baha'is

>so >>I decided on evening to peer inside and have a look-see. I was not granted
>>the opportunity to lurk for a few moments to get the feel for the
>atmosphere,
>>perhaps my screen name made them nervous...I asked those in the room very >>politely a few simple honest questions. Although they seemed very nervous >>they finally obliged...although several left when they asked me questions.
>I
>>was told there room was a place to for those interest in the faith to ask >>that this was their purpose. I told them also that I went there because I >>saw it mentioned here. Strange that they should warn me not to hang out
>here
>>though because in their opinion...ARB does more harm than good.with >>laughter and free speechkate
>>
>
>Given Bahais on AOL are now alleging a TOS against me, I urge you >to reciprocate and contact the TOSGeneral@aol.com immediately.
>If you can remember the Bahais involved and their addresses, you >should pass that along to him or her too. One or all of them might >very well be the same Bahais who are trying to blackball me on >AOL!
>
>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
>talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
>Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Friday, September 11, 1998 2:31 PM
To: bahai-faith @ makelist.com
Subject: Re: Bahai accusation of TOS on AOL

Oops! Here's my message to the TOSGeneral@AOL.com

Subj: Accusation of TOS at AOL
Date: 98-09-11 15:03:38 EDT
From: FG
To: TOSGeneral
CC: FG@hotmail.com

Please explain to me how my post is a TOS.

It appears to me that you fail to understand the context in which my message was posted. There has been a pervasive Bahai effort for more than a year and a half to censor and control all knowledge and information on the Bahai Faith. Extensive documentation to this effect, with statements and samples of suppressed messages from well over 30 people, can be found on my web site:

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

Extensive discussion relevant to Bahai censorship can also be found on alt.religion.bahai

If AOL is not merely to be a pawn used by Bahais, unknown in this instance, hiding behind anonymity, it is essentially that you reveal my accuser's identity, something which is long recognized in common law. Note the so-called TOS below contains observations from four different people, one a Professor of History at the University of Michigan.

Further, to understand the nature of my comments, you would need to consider the posts that I was responding to, post which follow the "Bahai technique" remarked upon by myself and the other three people below.

I wish to draw to the attention of AOL that Bahais are apparently using your naivete regarding what Bahais call "covenant breaking" in this instance.

I am confident a fair and just investigation in regard to the so-called TOS will help AOL reach a balanced understanding of what is truly involved in the accusation.

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> See alt.religion.bahai, talk.religion.misc, or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

Subj: Terms of Service
Date: 98-09-11 02:54:49 EDT
From: TOSBoards2
To: FG

Dear Member,

I need to let you know that America Online was notified of a post to one of our message boards which violates the Terms of Service. Here is the information I have placed on the account regarding this incident:

On 9/9/98 6:58 AM Eastern Daylight EST the FG screen name posted a message in Baha'i Message Boards, For Non Baha'is >> Subject: Re: Literal-minded Bahai ignorance. The following is an excerpt from the post:
" The typical response of Bahai fanatics....
FG:

"Some of the most striking methods demonstrated repeatedly by many Bahais during the last year and a half of discussion about an unmoderated newsgroup is their refusal to listen and respond to the criticisms of those who are in favor of talk.religion.bahai, ignoring their concerns, never responding analytically to their messages and reasoning and logic and evidence, attacking them through character assassination and ad hominem, ganging up on individuals, and "circling the wagons" around every action of the srb moderators or others who are opposed to talk.religion.bahai.

"More than twenty different people on my web site have posted messages explaining their experience with srb censorship yet many srb Bahais NEVER address their concerns. Ignoring such charges will not make them go away. NO ONE has to "try" to link the trb interest poll with censorship on srb; the moderators themselves have done that by suppressing droves of people for years. There are many people who believe such suppression is part and parcel of the Bahai community as it exists today. A YES vote need not necessarily support such a belief. There are other reasons Bahais might vote YES."

Ron House:

"I know what you mean. I've found over the years that there is a technique used by traditional Baha'is and others to squash dissension: harry the dissenter so much he says something intemperate, then point out how 'loving' and 'compassionate' they are and how nasty the dissenter is. The trouble is that this technique works, so I've been making a conscious effort not to fall for it. Also, when they get the dissenter discouraged and miserable enough, he invariably makes a slip-up sooner or later that they can REALLY let loose the venom over. IMHO, they did this to you when you misread Sharon's intentions. At any other time, they would overlook faults, as Baha'u'llah says, but when they're in this mode they go for the jugular. Very sad."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/House2.htm>

Fran Baker:

"Just have to say that in my experience this is a common technique of manipulative people in general; it is especially effective with thoughtful people who are willing to see both sides of things, i.e., their own fault. I consider this brow-beating technique to be a form of abuse. The only way to deal with it is to call them on it every time and to refuse to let yourself be beat up, i.e., not to do your part of the "tango." This can be very hard to do, but it works. You can break this pattern in a personal relationship. I don't know whether it's possible when a group acts this way. Very scary."

Dr. Juan Cole:

"Let me ask you why in the world you think that I would risk my professional reputation by publicly stating falsehoods? ...The very technique of the more glaze-eyed among these people is to unbearably bully a Baha'i whom they don't like, use unjustified threats of declaring him or her a CB to silence the individual, and if the person will not be silenced, then to depend upon the gullibility of the Baha'is in refusing to listen to any victim's story because, of course, the Baha'i institutions are infallible and divinely guided and could never do anything wrong. It is a perfect racket.

"Of course, this technique of making liberals go away has been enormously successful, and ex-Baha'i liberals have no credibility with the remaining Baha'is nor do most of them have any energy to continue to make a case, either to the Baha'is or the outside world, for the incredible abuses that go on inside this organization ostensibly committed to tolerance!"

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Cole10.htm>

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> See alt.religion.bahai, talk.religion.misc, or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/baha'i>

baha'i"

Our Terms of Service agreement, which was presented during the sign up process, allows America Online to be informative, entertaining and, above all, fun for all of our Members. You can review that agreement by using keyword TOS. This area also has information and tools you can use to help protect your account. Also, you may want to take a look at our PARENTAL CONTROLS. This will allow you, among other things, to limit and/or block specific screen names from various online activities.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,
Bill
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

* Have you heard about AOL's latest and easiest to use software version, 4.0? You can upgrade for free at keyword: Upgrade. With AOL 4.0, you can have fun by sending multiple files, changing screen names without signing off, customizing your toolbar, and much, much more. Upgrade today!

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, September 12, 1998 4:58 AM
Subject: Re: On soc.religion.bahai - brief quotations

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,

talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, September 12, 1998 5:54 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Subject: Fw: The Bahai technique

<<Message: Re: The Bahai technique>>
The attached message shows the kind of attacks
Bahais are mounting against people on AOL and in response to which I posted "The Bahai Technique" you're apparently citing me for.

FG@aol.com

-----Original Message-----

From: FG@aol.com <FG@aol.com>
To: FG@hotmail.com <FG@hotmail.com>
Date: Monday, September 07, 1998 10:36 AM
Subject: Fwd: The Bahai technique

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, September 12, 1998 6:10 AM
To: Kate Bodi
Subject: Re: Fw: ARB more harm than good?

>Fred,
>
>Thank you. Yes, I will try. I just found your post on TOS...to which I added some simple truth.
>
> BTW, I stumbled across a name in connection with yours on a posting relating to this topic, Bennatchi (sp?).

Kate,

I recognize the name too. I've tried to search www.dejanews.com for it but can't find a message from her under alt.religion.bahai.

I do not remember the Baha'is involved exactly...maybe sort of; however, she was present during the above incident, although the only one truly helpful to me. I was hoping to contact her again, but lost her email...so until I relocate the post.

Someone called Wendy? She's emailed a couple of posts accusing me of being a cb and so on.
I posted her message to arb.

>
>I would just like you to know that I am sympathetic and understand (I think) your efforts at free speech in this arena. They just don't understand me yet...but they are very leery and may not like what I must do for myself. Do not misunderstand me, I do not wish to detract from anyone's faith...merely to eradicate hipocrisy...which is a cancer of the truth.

>
>kate

I'm not hiding anything complicated. All I want is free speech, to speak my mind and so that others can too. I too am not trying to destroy others' belief in the Bahai Faith. It's the censorship and hypocrisy too that deeply shakes mine to the foundations....

I'm going to forward from arb your message about the chatroom on AOL to the TOSGeneral@aol.com
Hope you don't mind. They should know both sides.
If you can email them yourself too, I'd appreciate it.

Don't let the fundamentalists drive you away or make you embittered. Truth and openness will win in the end.

Thanks, Kate.

Fred

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, September 12, 1998 6:12 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Subject: Fw: ARB more harm than good?

I'm forwarding this message to you since you have recently cited me for a TOS on the basis of a Bahai's apparent denunciation of me to you. I believe you should be aware of the complexity of the situation and on your guard for false accusations from Bahais.

Please contact Kate so that she can corroborate her message below.

FG@hotmail.com

-----Original Message-----

From: kate_mccolloch_bodi@my-dejanews.com <kate_mccolloch_bodi@my-dejanews.com>
Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai
Date: Friday, September 11, 1998 2:18 AM
Subject: ARB more harm than good?

>I heard through this list that America On-line had a chat room for Baha'is so >I decided on evening to peer inside and have a look-see. I was not granted >the opportunity to lurk for a few moments to get the feel for the atmosphere, >perhaps my screen name made them nervous...I asked those in the room very >politely a few simple honest questions. Although they seemed very nervous >they finally obliged...although several left when they asked me questions.
I
>was told there room was a place to for those interest in the faith to ask >that this was their purpose. I told them also that I went there because I >saw it mentioned here. Strange that they should warn me not to hang out here >though because in their opinion...ARB does more harm than good.with >laughter and free speechkate
>
>-----== Posted via Deja News, The Leader in Internet Discussion ==-----
>https://www.dejanews.com/rg_mkgrp.xp Create Your Own Free Member Forum

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, September 12, 1998 6:16 AM
To: TOSGeneral@aol.com
Subject: Fw: AOL Bahai threats

I'm forwarding these messages which we're posted on the Bahai Message Boards threatening me with the Bahai religious persecution by turning me into the Bahai officials for alleged transgressions. Again, this is the way Bahais are operating on AOL. You're communications to me seem quite naive in this regard. Please visit my web site and apprise yourself and AOL of the very long history of Bahai opposition to freedom of speech and conscience:

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai, talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

>Subject: Re: Literal-minded Bahai ignorance
>Date: Tue, Sep 8, 1998 14:17 EDT
>From: Ecominer
>Message-id: <1998090818173900.OAA01117@ladder03.news.aol.com>
>
>Thank-you...do you know, or can you discover who this guy's Auxillary Board
for >Protection is? I think it is time to talk to that person about this situation
>and put this very angry, hurt soul into the proper hands????
>
>
>

>Subject: Re: Literal-minded Bahai ignorance
>Date: Tue, Sep 8, 1998 16:05 EDT
>From: Bennachti
>Message-id: <1998090820050400.QAA11750@ladder03.news.aol.com>
>
>Debbie, if you feel that is the right course of action, you can just forward
>the postings to your own Auxiliary Board Member and that person should be able >to take it from there.
>
>

>Love
>Zaynab
>
>
>No man shall attain the shores of the ocean of true understanding except he
be >detached from all that is in heaven and on earth.

> - Bahá'u'lláh -
>
>

>My Bahá'í Faith website: Camphor Fountain
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, September 12, 1998 6:36 AM
Subject: Re: Bahai accusation of TOS on AOL

RMckin6046 wrote in message
<1998091121465800.RAA00697@ladder03.news.aol.com>...
>Dear Friends:

>
>I posted a rather long reply to this topic earlier. And, this despite an >intention not to reply to Glayshe's constant harangues. I know that response
>to him goes no where.

For insight into what's really being said here read:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

>
>Nevertheless... If you could not make it through the whole post, the nub of
the >issue is this: It is a violation of AOLs TOS (Terms of Service) for one to >post the same message to multiple folders on one of AOLs interest Forums.
On >more than one occasion, Glaysheer posted the same message to almost every folder
>on AOLs Baha'i Faith Forum. It was pointed out to him that this was a >violation, but he continues to do it. I assume that any reported TOS violation
>centers on this issue.

It was not to every folder. There is no statement in the AOL TOS documents that posting a message to more than one board is a TOS. Regardless, that was a number of weeks ago in mid August. Notice the assumption here. AOL has not yet stated why or who alleged a TOS against me. Perhaps it was one of the Bahais below who posted these messages to the same message boards on AOL. Such tactics indeed follow to the
"T" if you will the Bahai technique of discrediting others:

Subject: Re: Literal-minded Bahai ignorance
Date: Tue, Sep 8, 1998 14:17 EDT
From: Ecominer
Message-id: <1998090818173900.OAA01117@ladder03.news.aol.com>

Thank-you...do you know, or can you discover who this guy's Auxillary Board
for Protection is? I think it is time to talk to that person about this situation
and put this very angry, hurt soul into the proper hands????

Subject: Re: Literal-minded Bahai ignorance
Date: Tue, Sep 8, 1998 16:05 EDT
From: Bennachti
Message-id: <1998090820050400.QAA11750@ladder03.news.aol.com>

Debbie, if you feel that is the right course of action, you can just forward
the postings to your own Auxiliary Board Member and that person should be able to take it from there.

Love
Zaynab

No man shall attain the shores of the ocean of true understanding except he
be detached from all that is in heaven and on earth.
- Bahá'u'lláh -

My Bahá'í Faith website: Camphor Fountain

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, September 12, 1998 6:49 AM
Subject: Re: Censorship at alt.religion.bahai

K. Paul Johnson wrote in message <35f8651f.0@vlinsvr>...
>Richard Schaut (RSSchaut@email.msn.com) wrote:
>:
>: Clearly, you saw no other reasonable explanation. At no point did you ask
>: as to whether or not there might be other explanations. You reached a >: conclusion, however tentative, in a matter about which you profess
>: ignorance.
>
>You are jumping to conclusions about my own thought processes >without asking the one who knows, which seems contrary to the >principles you are espousing here. Actually I did see >another reasonable explanation-- self-cancellation-- but thought >that conceivable on Mulligan's part but not Marangella's. The >coincidence of the two was striking.

The coincidence of the two happening at the same time took me in also, I must admit.... Given the type of duplicity so often demonstrated, most clearly in srb's suppression of all discussion of trb and my signature file, I believe my and Paul's concern was warrented. As they say, vigilance is the eternal price of freedom....

>:
>: It's not your suspicion that amazes me. What amazes me is the fact that
>: people reach conclusions on matters about which they profess ignorance.
>
>Not knowing how cancellations can be forged has little to do with >knowing that it's possible. I don't know how precisely what >I'm typing gets to your screen, but I still conclude, on reliable >evidence, that it does.
>
>: As for the "dark possibilities of Baha'i fundamentalism," even the >: existence of this alleged "Baha'i fundamentalism" is far more a matter of
>: rhetoric than it is a matter of fact.
>
>Not at all. We can come up with objective definitions of >fundamentalism as a historical phenomenon in 20th century >Christianity, and then compare non-Christian movements to it to >see how they display the same characteristics. Juan Cole has >posted eloquently on this score.
>
>: Oh, because one might want to test a hypothesis before running with it to
>: some public forum.
>
>What would your cancelling your own posts have to do with >Marangella cancelling his? Or Mulligan? Isn't it obvious >especially in the former case that there is cause for suspicion?
>
>: about such things before putting one's foot so squarely in one's mouth.
>
>As you know, I now have written to both people and we will see >what Marangella has to say.
>:
>: Indeed, why in the world would you post such an inflammatory tentative >: conclusion without having first gathered sufficient information as to at >: least know what you're talking about?
>
>You keep harping on the technical knowledge. I do know, very >well, how Baha'is feel about Joel Marangella. And how a fair >number have felt about Tim Mulligan. And that forged >cancellations occur.
>:
>: No. I _conclude_, based upon the extent to which I would expect these >: people to complain about it had someone else cancelled their messages,
that
>: they themselves cancelled their own messages.
>
>That rests on the assumption that they knew of the cancellation.
>
>: >: Thus, it takes a substantive leap to go from the appearance of a couple
>: of
>: >: cancelled messages to the conclusion of censorship. One needs a bit more
>: >: evidence of such, and that evidence is lacking here.
>
>Eight so far, and from about the most controversial people >who have ever posted to arb.

>:
>: And, let's not forget that the word "censorship" implies an official
>: sanction in some way.
>
>Certainly not in the sense I was using it.
>
> Even the existence of a few rogue cancellation
>: messages demonstrates little with regard to "censorship" unless one can >: prove who sent those messages, and can prove that the person was acting
>: under the knowledge and sanction of some official institution. Absence any
>: evidence of such sanction, all one has is evidence of a prank--a single
>: individual acting inappropriately.
>
>You are awfully disingenuous here. Are you really pretending >that someone cancelling posts by Marangella (especially) would be >simply an individual pulling a prank? That official and >institutional attitudes toward that gentleman would not have >any impact on the person who would pull such a "prank?" I do not >suspect that any Baha'i institution knew of the forged >cancellations, if they occurred at all. But censorship can be >official or unofficial. If a person forged cancellation messages >based on his institutional loyalties, in order to prevent an >opposing view being heard, that's a self-appointed censor.
>Which is all I ever suspected.
>
>: So, Mr. Johnson, you have a long way to go in order to justify even a >: tentative conclusion of "censorship".
>
>By your definition, yes. But what word would you use, if what I >suspected were true? If an individual Baha'i, whose attitudes >toward Marangella were shaped by institutional policies, decided >to forge cancellations in order to prevent others from reading >his posts? A prank, by my definition, is random and playful, not >ideologically directed and purposeful.
>
>This is all rather beside the point until we hear from >Marangella. But even if he denies cancelling his posts, you will >presumably insist that this proves nothing and that whoever did >cancel them was probably not ideologically motivated anyhow.
>
>What it comes down to, of course, is that you are resolutely >fixed in your conviction that Baha'i institutions and their >supporters are entirely innocent of any charges made against >them. This conviction has been apparent in years of your posts >that I have read. Whereas I am equally fixed in my conviction >that these institutions and their supporters are in many cases >guilty as charged-- not necessarily every case. That leaves >me the flexibility to admit that perhaps this case is purely >coincidental and nothing underhanded was going on. But I don't >see that you have any room at all to admit that a supporter of >the Baha'i administration might take it upon himself to cancel >posts by a "Covenant-breaker" in the belief, institutionally >shaped and nurtured, that such people are spiritually diseased >and their words should never be read by the faithful.
>
>Can you admit that possibility?
>
>PJ

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, September 12, 1998 6:52 AM
Subject: Re: Censorship on SRB

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, September 12, 1998 7:07 AM
To: bahai-faith @ makelist.com
Subject: Re: fw Juan Cole Re: [bahai-faith] mutilation theology

Roger,

I believe you misread Cole. His point is there are no checks or balances in the Bahai Faith. I believe that observation is true; indeed, it's been obvious to me for years.... The last two years' experience with srb and trb has only confirmed that conviction....

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

FG wrote in message
<1998090909522700.FAA11217@ladder03.news.aol.com>...
>Date: Fri, 04 Sep 1998 02:08:01 -0400
>To: talisman@umich.edu
>From: Juan Cole <jrcole@umich.edu> Save Address Block Sender
>Cc: bahai-faith@makelist.com
>In-Reply-To: <v01540b02b2150f5723f2@[139.80.53.29]>
>Mime-Version: 1.0
>Content-Type: text/plain; charset="iso-8859-1"
>Content-Transfer-Encoding: quoted-printable
>Subject: Re: [bahai-faith] mutilation theology
>Reply Reply All Forward Delete Previous Next Close
>
>
>
>Someone asked where Shoghi Effendi spoke of the administrative order being >mutilated without a Guardian. It is World Order of Baha'u'llah p. 148:
>
>"An attempt, I feel, should at the present juncture be made to explain the >character and functions of the twin pillars that support this mighty >Administrative Structure--the institutions of the Guardianship and of the >Universal House of Justice. To describe in their entirety the diverse >elements that function in conjunction with these institutions is beyond the >scope and purpose of this general exposition of the fundamental verities of >the Faith. To define with accuracy and minuteness the features, and to >analyze exhaustively the nature of the relationships which, on the one >hand, bind together these two fundamental organs of the Will of >Abdu'l-Bahá and connect, on the other, each of them to the Author of the >Faith and the Center of His Covenant is a task which future generations

>will no doubt adequately fulfill. My present intention is to elaborate >certain salient features of this scheme which, however close we may stand >to its colossal structure, are already so clearly defined that we find it >inexcusable to either misconceive or ignore. 13 It should be stated, at the >very outset, in clear and unambiguous language, that these twin >institutions of the Administrative Order of Bahá'u'lláh should be regarded >as divine in origin, essential in their functions and complementary in >their aim and purpose. Their common, their fundamental object is to insure >the continuity of that divinely-appointed authority which flows from the >Source of our Faith, to safeguard the unity of its followers and to >maintain the integrity and flexibility of its teachings. Acting in >conjunction with each other these two inseparable institutions administer >its affairs, coordinate its activities, promote its interests, execute its >laws and defend its subsidiary institutions. Severally, each operates >within a clearly defined sphere of jurisdiction; each is equipped with its >own attendant institutions--instruments designed for the effective >discharge of its particular responsibilities and duties. Each exercises, >within the limitations imposed upon it, its powers, its authority, its >rights and prerogatives. These are neither contradictory, nor detract in >the slightest degree from the position which each of these institutions >occupies. Far from being incompatible or mutually destructive, they >supplement each other's authority and functions, and are permanently and >fundamentally united in their aims."

>
>The uhj tries to interpret this passage away by pointing out that the >Guardianship operated just fine without a house of justice, so obviously >the house of justice can operate without a living Guardian. Moreover, the >lack of a living guardian does not detract from the fact that the >guardianship did exist at one point, leaving a great deal of guidance.

>
>The problem is that the Guardian did think it essential that a house of >justice come to be asap, and he constantly put things off or made rulings >provisional upon their future acceptance. Obviously, this schema cannot >work the other way around--the uhj cannot put things off or rule only >provisionally on issues in hopes of a future guardian arising, since there >can be no further guardians. Moreover, it is also clear from his diction >that he felt that key checks and balances in the Baha'i system were >provided by a living Guardian.

>
>On pp. 154-155 of World Order of Baha'u'llah, Shoghi Effendi continues,

>
>"The hereditary authority which the Guardian is called upon to exercise, >the vital and essential functions which the Universal House of Justice >discharges, the specific provisions requiring its democratic election by >the representatives of the faithful--these combine to demonstrate the truth >that this divinely revealed Order, which can never be identified with any >of the standard types of government referred to by Aristotle in his works, >embodies and blends with the spiritual verities on which it is based the >beneficent elements which are to be found in each one of them. The admitted >evils inherent in each of these systems being rigidly and permanently >excluded, this unique Order, however long it may endure and however >extensive its ramifications, cannot ever degenerate into any form of >despotism, of oligarchy, or of demagoguery which must sooner or later corrupt
>the machinery of all man-made and essentially defective political >institutions."

>
>Shoghi Effendi is referring to Aristotle's division of government into rule >by the one, rule by the few, and rule by the many. Aristotle thought each >of these forms of government, in turn, had a virtuous and corrupt form.
>Rule of the one is ideally a virtuous monarchy, but it could deteriorate >into despotism. Rule of the few is ideally a noble aristocracy, but it >could deteriorate into oligarchy (we would say a junta). Rule of the many >is ideally a just Republic or Polity that protects the rights of >minorities; but it could deteriorate into demagoguery and a tyranny of the >majority.

>
>Shoghi Effendi was saying that the Baha'i system had all three elements:
>rule of the one was the Guardianship, rule of the few was the Hands (?), >and rule of the many was the elected officers of the houses of justice >(including NSAs and LSAs).

>Now, according to Aristotle, the rule of the many, i.e., the rule of the >houses of justice, was liable to deteriorate into demagoguery and the >tyranny of the majority (a sort of populist fascism, we might say). Shoghi >Effendi says explicitly that it is the hereditary principle of the >Guardianship (i.e. the Baha'i equivalent of monarchy) that keeps this >deterioration from occurring. Obviously, in the absence of a living >Guardian and with the end of the institution of the hands of the cause, the >Baha'i system no longer has a living, breathing representative of the >monarchical principle nor of the aristocratic. This means that the houses >of justice have become a Republic. And according to Shoghi Effendi's >analysis, this Republic is open to going bad and becoming demagogic.
>Notice that he does not say that what prevents the uhj from becoming >tyrannical is its own infallibility, or divine guidance, or anything so >airy fairy. He is concrete and explicit. It is the simultaneous presence >of the monarchical, aristocratic and republican forms of governance that >act as institutional brakes on one another. That institutional brake is no >longer effectively present.

>
>And this is the only way I can understand how things have gone so wrong in >the Baha'i faith. Things are so corrupt that people like Firuz Kazemzadeh >go about publicly and explicitly identifying the elected officials of the >faith with an "aristocracy!" This does so much damage to both Aristotle >and Shoghi Effendi (not to mention common sense) that one cringes. I >suppose it must be nice for Firuz, though. And one of the reasons I left >was that in spring of 1996 the uhj mangled the interpretation of this >passage by insisting that it is the 'rule of the one'! Well, of course, >they aren't authorized to interpret things, though, are they?

>
>What would replace the role of the Guardian in keeping the elected >officials from becoming demagogues? Well, maybe nothing can. But maybe >public opinion could. Just the censure of ordinary Baha'is. And the >wonderful thing for the Baha'i faith at this juncture, and the thing that >gives even me hope for those still clinging to the crimson ark, is that >cyberspace is creating a Baha'i public opinion, and the uhj and the nsa's >are beginning to feel pressure from it. They hate it. They had liked >thinking of themselves as 'aristocrats' (or actually oligarchs given how >they often have behaved). But they had better shed the velvet robes and >dump the silver wine goblets, with the $200 million palaces, and get back >to being plain democratic representatives of the Baha'i Republic or >eventually they will lose all their power and perquisites, altogether.

>
>
>cheers Juan

>
>
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, September 12, 1998 7:15 AM
Subject: Re: There's protection, and then there's Protection

Richard Schaut wrote in message <#ynwxEQ39GA.278@upnetnews05>...
>
>Fran Baker wrote in message <6t98s4$6ia$1@chaos.crhc.uiuc.edu>...
>>>Subject: Re: Literal-minded Bahai ignorance
>>>Thank-you...do you know, or can you discover who this guy's Auxillary >Board for >>>Protection is?
>
>>I will never forget my surprise, quickly followed by the usual >>bemusement when I learned that "protection" in this context >>meant protection of the religion.
>
>Gosh, Fran, while you're in the mood to provide information, why omit the >fact that members of the Auxiliary Board have no authority? They give >counsel. They provide assistance. They cannot tell people what to do.

They harass scholars and other people, driving them out of the Bahai Faith, as Juan Cole so rightly points out in another current thread, but, ohhhh, they have no power!

YES, we have no bannanas,
Oh, we have no bannanas today....

>
>
>
>>Hmmm, why all that money and work keeping up a showplace in Haifa?
>
>
>"Showplace" what "showplace"?

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

See Cole:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Cole17.htm>

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, September 12, 1998 7:19 AM
Subject: Re: Wanted: Cyber Psych

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, September 12, 1998 7:23 AM
Subject: Re: On AOL- Re: ARB more harm than good?

Roger Reini wrote in message <35fd32d9.70796364@news.newsguy.com>...

>On Fri, 11 Sep 1998 07:37:24 -0400, "FG"

><FG@hotmail.com> wrote:

>
>>This is exactly what's happening on America Online from >>my observing for more than a month now. The largest ISP >>is being used and manipulated by Bahais in the very same >>way as they have approached the interest polls for >>talk.religion.bahai and as described in "The Bahai technique."

>
>IMHO, you cannot legitimately make this assertion, for the opinions >expressed by participants in AOL discussion areas are those of the >participants. The discussions did not involve the operation of >America Online (the corporation and the service). Ergo, there is no
>"manipulation" of AOL.

Roger,

You misread me above. I'm not saying AOL itself is responsible but Bahais who are abusing it and using it for suppressing what they don't want others to hear. Kate's message along these lines are a good example of the way in which Bahais in chatrooms are driving people out or away. It's the technique Bahais are taught as soon as they sign their "cards." It certainly explains why the supposed 130,000 Bahais in America are really no more than 25,000: 105,000 have voted with their feet....

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Saturday, September 12, 1998 7:27 AM
Subject: Re: ARB more harm than good?

Incidentally, I've forwarded Kate's message to TOSGeneral@aol.com and advise others who have experienced such "Bahai love" to contact them too.

FG wrote in message <6tbtg6$hdk@news3.newsguy.com>...
>kate_mccolloch_bodi@my-dejanews.com wrote in message
><6tafaq$g6b$1@nnrp1.dejanews.com>...
>>I heard through this list that America On-line had a chat room for Baha'is
>so >>I decided on evening to peer inside and have a look-see. I was not granted
>>the opportunity to lurk for a few moments to get the feel for the
>atmosphere,
>>perhaps my screen name made them nervous...I asked those in the room very >>politely a few simple honest questions. Although they seemed very nervous >>they finally obliged...although several left when they asked me questions.
>I
>>was told there room was a place to for those interest in the faith to ask >>that this was their purpose. I told them also that I went there because I >>saw it mentioned here. Strange that they should warn me not to hang out
>here
>>though because in their opinion...ARB does more harm than good.with >>laughter and free speechkate
>>
>
>Given Bahais on AOL are now alleging a TOS against me, I urge you >to reciprocate and contact the TOSGeneral@aol.com immediately.
>If you can remember the Bahais involved and their addresses, you >should pass that along to him or her too. One or all of them might >very well be the same Bahais who are trying to blackball me on >AOL!
>
>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
><<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
>talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
>Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>
>
>
>
>
>
>

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, September 13, 1998 10:07 AM
To: bahai-faith @ makelist.com
Subject: AOL removes TOS - Bahai accusation

After an apparent investigation of the threatening messages I receive from Bahais on AOL's Message Boards, the TOSGeneral has removed the charge of a TOS against me.

I believe this is another clear and blatant example of the vindicating the validity of my and others' observations of how many Bahais operate, summed up, really, in the "Bahai technique."
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

Subj: Fwd: TOS violation for what?
Date: 98-09-12 06:52:07 EDT
From: TOSGen2
To: FG

Dear Member,

Thank you for writing regarding the Terms of Service notation on your account.

We have reviewed your account history, and in light of the circumstances that you described, removed the notation.

You may want to visit keyword NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH and review the guidelines available there with all users of this account.

Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,
Larry
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

* Have you heard about AOL's latest and easiest to use software version, 4.0? You can upgrade for free at keyword: Upgrade. With AOL 4.0, you can have fun by sending multiple files, changing screen names without signing off, customizing your toolbar, and much, much more. Upgrade today!

Forwarded Message:
Subj: Fwd: TOS violation for what?
Date: 98-09-12 06:42:14 EDT
From: TOSGeneral
To: TOSGen2

[This Message (REGULAR) Has Been Forwarded By The Mail Spinner]

Forwarded Message:
Subj: TOS violation for what?
Date: 98-09-12 06:42:00 EDT
From: FG
To: TOSGeneral
CC: FG@hotmail.com

I would appreciate it if you would state for what reason I've received a TOS. I've read the TOS info and do not believe I've committed anything listed there.

As I stated in my first response, copied below, Baha'is have opposed freedom of speech and conscience systematically now for more than a year and a half and there is a long record available to prove it if you'd look at my web site. Baha'is on the Message Board for Non-Bahais accused me of being what they term a "covenant breaker" or suggested as much. That's an attack according to your TOS and I shall be forward a number of complaints to you shortly so that you perceive both sides of the issue.

FG@aol.com

Subj: Fwd: Accusation of TOS at AOL
Date: 98-09-11 15:09:33 EDT
From: TOSGen2
To: FG

Dear Member,

We have reviewed your account, and our records do not support a removal of the warning at this time. The notation will drop off of your account six months after the date it was issued.

As stated in the Terms of Service, the master account holder is responsible for all activity that takes place on an account.

We encourage you to review the Terms of Service and the Community Guidelines (both available at keyword TOS or keyword NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH) with anyone who has access to your America Online account. You may also want to explore keyword PARENTAL CONTROLS for ways to limit a screen name's access to AOL and/or the Internet.

Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral, or you may call Member Services at 1-800-827-6364.

Regards,
Jim
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

* Have you heard about AOL's latest and easiest to use software version, 4.0? You can upgrade for free at keyword: Upgrade. With AOL 4.0, you can have fun by sending multiple files, changing screen names without signing off, customizing your toolbar, and much, much more. Upgrade today!

Forwarded Message:
Subj: Fwd: Accusation of TOS at AOL
Date: 98-09-11 15:03:44 EDT
From: TOSGeneral
To: TOSGen2

[This Message (REGULAR) Has Been Forwarded By The Mail Spinner]

Forwarded Message:
Subj: Accusation of TOS at AOL
Date: 98-09-11 15:03:38 EDT
From: FG
To: TOSGeneral
CC: FG@hotmail.com

Please explain to me how my post is a TOS.

It appears to me that you fail to understand the context in which my message was posted. There has been a pervasive Bahai effort for more than a year and a half to censor and control all knowledge and information on the Bahai Faith. Extensive documentation to this effect, with statements and samples of suppressed messages from well over 30 people, can be found on my web site:

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

Extensive discussion relevant to Bahai censorship can also be found on alt.religion.bahai

If AOL is not merely to be a pawn used by Bahais, unknown in this instance, hiding behind anonymity, it is essentially that you reveal my accuser's identity, something which is long recognized in common law. Note the so-called TOS below contains observations from four different people, one a Professor of History at the University of Michigan.

Further, to understand the nature of my comments, you would need to consider the posts that I was responding to, post which follow the "Bahai technique" remarked upon by myself and the other three people below.

I wish to draw to the attention of AOL that Bahais are apparently using your naivete regarding what Bahais call "covenant breaking" in this instance.

I am confident a fair and just investigation in regard to the so-called TOS will help AOL reach a balanced understanding of what is truly involved in the accusation.

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> See alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc, or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

Subj: Terms of Service
Date: 98-09-11 02:54:49 EDT
From: TOSBoards2
To: FG

Dear Member,

I need to let you know that America Online was notified of a post to one of our message boards which violates the Terms of Service. Here is the information I have placed on the account regarding this incident:

On 9/9/98 6:58 AM Eastern Daylight EST the FG screen name posted a message in Baha'i Message Boards, For Non Baha'is >> Subject: Re: Literal-minded Bahai ignorance. The following is an excerpt from the post:
" The typical response of Bahai fanatics....
FG:

"Some of the most striking methods demonstrated repeatedly by many Bahais during the last year and a half of discussion about an unmoderated newsgroup is their refusal to listen and respond to the criticisms of those who are in favor of talk.religion.bahai, ignoring their concerns, never responding analytically to their messages and reasoning and logic and evidence, attacking them through character assassination and ad hominem, ganging up on individuals, and "circling the wagons" around every action

of the srb moderators or others who are opposed to
talk.religion.bahai.

"More than twenty different people on my web site have posted messages explaining their experience with srb censorship yet many srb Bahais NEVER address their concerns. Ignoring such charges will not make them go away. NO ONE has to "try" to link the trb interest poll with censorship on srb; the moderators themselves have done that by suppressing droves of people for years. There are many people who believe such suppression is part and parcel of the Bahai community as it exists today. A YES vote need not necessarily support such a belief. There are other reasons Bahais might vote YES."

Ron House:

"I know what you mean. I've found over the years that there is a technique used by traditional Baha'is and others to squash dissension: harry the dissenter so much he says something intemperate, then point out how 'loving' and 'compassionate' they are and how nasty the dissenter is. The trouble is that this technique works, so I've been making a conscious effort not to fall for it. Also, when they get the dissenter discouraged and miserable enough, he invariably makes a slip-up sooner or later that they can REALLY let loose the venom over. IMHO, they did this to you when you misread Sharon's intentions. At any other time, they would overlook faults, as Baha'u'llah says, but when they're in this mode they go for the jugular. Very sad."

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/House2.htm>

Fran Baker:

"Just have to say that in my experience this is a common technique of manipulative people in general; it is especially effective with thoughtful people who are willing to see both sides of things, i.e., their own fault. I consider this brow-beating technique to be a form of abuse. The only way to deal with it is to call them on it every time and to refuse to let yourself be beat up, i.e., not to do your part of the "tango." This can be very hard to do, but it works. You can break this pattern in a personal relationship. I don't know whether it's possible when a group acts this way. Very scary."

Dr. Juan Cole:

"Let me ask you why in the world you think that I would risk my professional reputation by publicly stating falsehoods? ...The very technique of the more glaze-eyed among these people is to unbearably bully a Baha'i whom they don't like, use unjustified threats of declaring him or her a CB to silence the individual, and if the person will not be silenced, then to depend upon the gullibility of the Baha'is in refusing to listen to any victim's story because, of course, the Baha'i institutions are infallible and divinely guided and could never do anything wrong. It is a perfect racket.

"Of course, this technique of making liberals go away has been enormously successful, and ex-Baha'i liberals have no credibility with the remaining Baha'is nor do most of them have any energy to continue to make a case, either to the Baha'is or the outside world, for the incredible abuses that go on inside this organization ostensibly committed to tolerance!"

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Cole10.htm>

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:

<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> See alt.religion.bahai, talk.religion.misc, or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)

Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

baha'i

baha'i"

Our Terms of Service agreement, which was presented during the sign up process, allows America Online to be informative, entertaining and, above all, fun for all of our Members. You can review that agreement by using keyword TOS. This area also has information and tools you can use to help protect your account. Also, you may want to take a look at our PARENTAL CONTROLS. This will allow you, among other things, to limit and/or block specific screen names from various online activities.

Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,
Bill
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

* Have you heard about AOL's latest and easiest to use software version, 4.0? You can upgrade for free at keyword: Upgrade. With AOL 4.0, you can have fun by sending multiple files, changing screen names without signing off, customizing your toolbar, and much, much more. Upgrade today!

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, September 13, 1998 10:14 AM
Subject: Re: Bahai accusation of TOS on AOL

I'll add all of the relevant messages on this attempt by some Bahais to have me thrown off AOL to my web site so that those people interested in understanding what's really just taken place in this regard can decide for themselves.

I, for one, believe this incident corroborates once again the duplicity and opposition of many Bahais to freedom of speech and conscience....

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai, talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

Subj: Fwd: TOS violation for what?
Date: 98-09-12 06:52:07 EDT
From: TOSGen2
To: FG

Dear Member,

Thank you for writing regarding the Terms of Service notation on your account.

We have reviewed your account history, and in light of the circumstances that you described, removed the notation.

You may want to visit keyword NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH and review the guidelines available there with all users of this account.

Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

Regards,
Larry
Community Action Team
America Online, Inc.

* Have you heard about AOL's latest and easiest to use software version, 4.0? You can upgrade for free at keyword: Upgrade. With AOL 4.0, you can have fun by sending multiple files, changing screen names without signing off, customizing your toolbar, and much, much more. Upgrade today!

Forwarded Message:
Subj: Fwd: TOS violation for what?
Date: 98-09-12 06:42:14 EDT
From: TOSGeneral
To: TOSGen2

[This Message (REGULAR) Has Been Forwarded By The Mail Spinner]

Forwarded Message:

Subj: TOS violation for what?

Date: 98-09-12 06:42:00 EDT

From: FG

To: TOSGeneral

CC: FG@hotmail.com

I would appreciate it if you would state for what reason I've received a TOS. I've read the TOS info and do not believe I've committed anything listed there.

As I stated in my first response, copied below, Baha'is have opposed freedom of speech and conscience systematically now for more than a year and a half and there is a long record available to prove it if you'd look at my web site. Baha'is on the Message Board for Non-Bahais accused me of being what they term a "covenant breaker" or suggested as much. That's an attack according to your TOS and I shall be forward a number of complaints to you shortly so that you perceive both sides of the issue.

FG@aol.com

FG wrote in message <6tdmcb$d56@news3.newsguy.com>...

>RMckin6046 wrote in message

><1998091121465800.RAA00697@ladder03.news.aol.com>...

>>Dear Friends:

>>

>>I posted a rather long reply to this topic earlier. And, this despite an >>intention not to reply to Glaysher's constant harangues. I know that >response

>>to him goes no where.

>

>For insight into what's really being said here read:

><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

>

>>

>>Nevertheless... If you could not make it through the whole post, the nub of

>the

>>issue is this: It is a violation of AOLs TOS (Terms of Service) for one to >>post the same message to multiple folders on one of AOLs interest Forums.

>On

>>more than one occasion, Glaysher posted the same message to almost every folder

>>on AOLs Baha'i Faith Forum. It was pointed out to him that this was a >>violation, but he continues to do it. I assume that any reported TOS

>violation

>>centers on this issue.

>

>It was not to every folder. There is no statement in the AOL TOS

>documents that posting a message to more than one board is >a TOS. Regardless, that was a number of weeks ago in mid

>August. Notice the assumption here. AOL has not yet stated

>why or who alleged a TOS against me. Perhaps it was one of >the Bahais below who posted these messages to the same >message boards on AOL. Such tactics indeed follow to the

>"T" if you will the Bahai technique of discrediting others:

>

>Subject: Re: Literal-minded Bahai ignorance

>Date: Tue, Sep 8, 1998 14:17 EDT

>From: Ecominer

>Message-id: <1998090818173900.OAA01117@ladder03.news.aol.com>
>
>Thank-you...do you know, or can you discover who this guy's Auxillary Board
>for >Protection is? I think it is time to talk to that person about this >situation
>and put this very angry, hurt soul into the proper hands????
>
>
>
>Subject: Re: Literal-minded Bahai ignorance
>Date: Tue, Sep 8, 1998 16:05 EDT
>From: Bennachti
>Message-id: <1998090820050400.QAA11750@ladder03.news.aol.com>
>
>Debbie, if you feel that is the right course of action, you can just forward
>the postings to your own Auxiliary Board Member and that person should be >able >to take it from there.
>
>Love
>Zaynab
>
>
>No man shall attain the shores of the ocean of true understanding except he
>be >detached from all that is in heaven and on earth.
> - Bahá'u'lláh -
>
>My Bahá'í Faith website: Camphor Fountain
>
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, September 13, 1998 10:20 AM
To: talisman; bahai-faith @ makelist.com
Subject: Re: fw Juan Cole Re: [bahai-faith] mutilation theology

Plato's comments in the Republic seem apt here as well:

"For cobblers who deteriorate and are spoiled and pretend to be the workmen that they are not are no great danger to a state. But guardians of laws and of the city who are not what they pretend to be, but only seem, destroy utterly, I would have you note, the entire state.... but these helpers and guardians are to be constrained and persuaded to do what will make them the best craftsmen in their own work, and similarly all the rest." Book IV

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

FG wrote in message
<1998090909522700.FAA11217@ladder03.news.aol.com>...
>Date: Fri, 04 Sep 1998 02:08:01 -0400
>To: talisman@umich.edu
>From: Juan Cole <jrcole@umich.edu> Save Address Block Sender
>Cc: bahai-faith@makelist.com
>In-Reply-To: <v01540b02b2150f5723f2@[139.80.53.29]>

>Mime-Version: 1.0
>Content-Type: text/plain; charset="iso-8859-1"
>Content-Transfer-Encoding: quoted-printable
>Subject: Re: [bahai-faith] mutilation theology
>Reply Reply All Forward Delete Previous Next Close
>
>
>
>Someone asked where Shoghi Effendi spoke of the administrative order being >mutilated without a Guardian. It is World Order of Baha'u'llah p. 148:
>
>"An attempt, I feel, should at the present juncture be made to explain the >character and functions of the twin pillars that support this mighty >Administrative Structure--the institutions of the Guardianship and of the >Universal House of Justice. To describe in their entirety the diverse >elements that function in conjunction with these institutions is beyond the >scope and purpose of this general exposition of the fundamental verities of >the Faith. To define with accuracy and minuteness the features, and to >analyze exhaustively the nature of the relationships which, on the one >hand, bind together these two fundamental organs of the Will of the >`Abdu'l-Bahá and connect, on the other, each of them to the Author of the >Faith and the Center of His Covenant is a task which future generations >will no doubt adequately fulfill. My present intention is to elaborate >certain salient features of this scheme which, however close we may stand
>to its colossal structure, are already so clearly defined that we find it >inexcusable to either misconceive or ignore. 13 It should be stated, at the >very outset, in clear and unambiguous language, that these twin >institutions of the Administrative Order of Bahá'u'lláh should be regarded >as divine in origin, essential in their functions and complementary in >their aim and purpose. Their common, their fundamental object is to insure >the continuity of that divinely-appointed authority which flows from the >Source of our Faith, to safeguard the unity of its followers and to >maintain the integrity and flexibility of its teachings. Acting in >conjunction with each other these two inseparable institutions administer >its affairs, coordinate its activities, promote its interests, execute its >laws and defend its subsidiary institutions. Severally, each operates >within a clearly defined sphere of jurisdiction; each is equipped with its >own attendant institutions--instruments designed for the effective >discharge of its particular responsibilities and duties. Each exercises, >within the limitations imposed upon it, its powers, its authority, its >rights and prerogatives. These are neither contradictory, nor detract in >the slightest degree from the position which each of these institutions >occupies. Far from being incompatible or mutually destructive, they >supplement each other's authority and functions, and are permanently and >fundamentally united in their aims."
>
>The uhj tries to interpret this passage away by pointing out that the >Guardianship operated just fine without a house of justice, so obviously >the house of justice can operate without a living Guardian. Moreover, the >lack of a living guardian does not detract from the fact that the >guardianship did exist at one point, leaving a great deal of guidance.
>
>The problem is that the Guardian did think it essential that a house of >justice come to be asap, and he constantly put things off or made rulings >provisional upon their future acceptance. Obviously, this schema cannot >work the other way around--the uhj cannot put things off or rule only >provisionally on issues in hopes of a future guardian arising, since there >can be no further guardians. Moreover, it is also clear from his diction >that he felt that key checks and balances in the Baha'i system were >provided by a living Guardian.
>
>On pp. 154-155 of World Order of Baha'u'llah, Shoghi Effendi continues,
>
>"The hereditary authority which the Guardian is called upon to exercise,
>the vital and essential functions which the Universal House of Justice >discharges, the specific provisions requiring its democratic election by
>the representatives of the faithful--these combine to demonstrate the truth >that this divinely revealed Order, which can never be identified with any >of the standard types of government referred to by Aristotle in his works, >embodies and blends with the spiritual verities on which it is based the >beneficent elements which are to be found in each one of them. The admitted >evils inherent in each of these systems being rigidly and permanently

>excluded, this unique Order, however long it may endure and however >extensive its ramifications, cannot ever degenerate into any form of >despotism , of oligarchy, or of demagoguery which must sooner or later corrupt
>the machinery of all man-made and essentially defective political >institutions."

>

>Shoghi Effendi is referring to Aristotle's division of government into rule
>by the one, rule by the few, and rule by the many. Aristotle thought each >of these forms of government, in turn, had a virtuous and corrupt form.
>Rule of the one is ideally a virtuous monarchy, but it could deteriorate >into despotism. Rule of the few is ideally a noble aristocracy, but it >could deteriorate into oligarchy (we would say a junta). Rule of the many >is ideally a just Republic or Polity that protects the rights of >minorities; but it could deteriorate into demagoguery and a tyranny of the >majority.

>

>Shoghi Effendi was saying that the Baha'i system had all three elements:
>rule of the one was the Guardianship, rule of the few was the Hands (?), >and rule of the many was the elected officers of the houses of justice >(including NSAs and LSAs).

>Now, according to Aristotle, the rule of the many, i.e., the rule of the >houses of justice, was liable to deteriorate into demagoguery and the >tyranny of the majority (a sort of populist fascism, we might say). Shoghi >Effendi says explicitly that it is the hereditary principle of the >Guardianship (i.e. the Baha'i equivalent of monarchy) that keeps this >deterioration from occurring. Obviously, in the absence of a living >Guardian and with the end of the institution of the hands of the cause, the >Baha'i system no longer has a living, breathing representative of the >monarchical principle nor of the aristocratic. This means that the houses >of justice have become a Republic. And according to Shoghi Effendi's >analysis, this Republic is open to going bad and becoming demagogic.
>Notice that he does not say that what prevents the uhj from becoming >tyrannical is its own infallibility, or divine guidance, or anything so >airy fairy. He is concrete and explicit. It is the simultaneous presence >of the monarchical, aristocratic and republican forms of governance that >act as institutional brakes on one another. That institutional brake is no >longer effectively present.

>

>And this is the only way I can understand how things have gone so wrong in >the Baha'i faith. Things are so corrupt that people like Firuz Kazemzadeh >go about publicly and explicitly identifying the elected officials of the >faith with an "aristocracy!" This does so much damage to both Aristotle >and Shoghi Effendi (not to mention common sense) that one cringes. I >suppose it must be nice for Firuz, though. And one of the reasons I left >was that in spring of 1996 the uhj mangled the interpretation of this >passage by insisting that it is the 'rule of the one'! Well, of course, >they aren't authorized to interpret things, though, are they?

>

>What would replace the role of the Guardian in keeping the elected >officials from becoming demagogues? Well, maybe nothing can. But maybe >public opinion could. Just the censure of ordinary Baha'is. And the >wonderful thing for the Baha'i faith at this juncture, and the thing that >gives even me hope for those still clinging to the crimson ark, is that >cyberspace is creating a Baha'i public opinion, and the uhj and the nsa's >are beginning to feel pressure from it. They hate it. They had liked >thinking of themselves as 'aristocrats' (or actually oligarchs given how >they often have behaved). But they had better shed the velvet robes and >dump the silver wine goblets, with the $200 million palaces, and get back >to being plain democratic representatives of the Baha'i Republic or >eventually they will lose all their power and perquisites, altogether.

>

>

>cheers Juan

>

>

>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, September 13, 1998 10:25 AM
To: talisman
Subject: Fw: AOL removes TOS - Bahai accusation

fyi

-----Original Message-----

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
Newsgroups: alt.religion.bahai,talk.religion.misc
Date: Sunday, September 13, 1998 11:07 AM
Subject: AOL removes TOS - Bahai accusation

>After an apparent investigation of the threatening messages
>I receive from Bahais on AOL's Message Boards, the >TOSGeneral has removed the charge of a TOS against me.

>
>I believe this is another clear and blatant example of the >vindicating the validity of my and others' observations of >how many Bahais operate, summed up, really, in the >"Bahai technique."
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

>-----
>Subj: Fwd: TOS violation for what?

>Date: 98-09-12 06:52:07 EDT

>From: TOSGen2

>To: FG

>Dear Member,

>Thank you for writing regarding the Terms of Service notation on your >account.

>We have reviewed your account history, and in light of the circumstances >that you described, removed the notation.

>You may want to visit keyword NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH and review the guidelines >available there with all users of this account.

>Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have >any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral.

>Regards,

>Larry

>Community Action Team

>America Online, Inc.

>
>* Have you heard about AOL's latest and easiest to use software version, >4.0? You can upgrade for free at keyword: Upgrade. With AOL 4.0, you can >have fun by sending multiple files, changing screen names without signing >off, customizing your toolbar, and much, much more. Upgrade today!

>-----
>Forwarded Message:

>Subj: Fwd: TOS violation for what?

>Date: 98-09-12 06:42:14 EDT

>From: TOSGeneral

>To: TOSGen2

>[This Message (REGULAR) Has Been Forwarded By The Mail Spinner]

>-----
>Forwarded Message:

>Subj: TOS violation for what?

>Date: 98-09-12 06:42:00 EDT

>From: FG

>To: TOSGeneral

>CC: FG@hotmail.com

>
>I would appreciate it if you would state for what >reason I've received a TOS. I've read the TOS >info and do not believe I've committed anything >listed there.
>
>As I stated in my first response, copied below, >Baha'is have opposed freedom of speech and >conscience systematically now for more than >a year and a half and there is a long record >available to prove it if you'd look at my web >site. Baha'is on the Message Board for >Non-Bahais accused me of being what they >term a "covenant breaker" or suggested as >much. That's an attack according to your >TOS and I shall be forward a number of >complaints to you shortly so that you perceive >both sides of the issue.
>
>FG@aol.com
>
>
>
>Subj: Fwd: Accusation of TOS at AOL
>Date: 98-09-11 15:09:33 EDT
>From: TOSGen2
>To: FG
>
>Dear Member,
>
>We have reviewed your account, and our records do not support a removal of >the warning at this time. The notation will drop off of your account six >months after the date it was issued.
>
>As stated in the Terms of Service, the master account holder is responsible >for all activity that takes place on an account.
>
>We encourage you to review the Terms of Service and the Community
Guidelines
>(both available at keyword TOS or keyword NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH) with anyone >who has access to your America Online account. You may also want to explore >keyword PARENTAL CONTROLS for ways to limit a screen name's access to AOL >and/or the Internet.
>
>Please note, this screen name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have >any comments or questions please send mail to TOSGeneral, or you may call >Member Services at 1-800-827-6364.
>
>Regards,
>Jim
>Community Action Team
>America Online, Inc.
>
>* Have you heard about AOL's latest and easiest to use software version, >4.0? You can upgrade for free at keyword: Upgrade. With AOL 4.0, you can >have fun by sending multiple files, changing screen names without signing >off, customizing your toolbar, and much, much more. Upgrade today!
>-----
>Forwarded Message:
>Subj: Fwd: Accusation of TOS at AOL
>Date: 98-09-11 15:03:44 EDT
>From: TOSGeneral
>To: TOSGen2
>
>[This Message (REGULAR) Has Been Forwarded By The Mail Spinner]
>-----
>Forwarded Message:
>Subj: Accusation of TOS at AOL
>Date: 98-09-11 15:03:38 EDT
>From: FG

>To: TOSGeneral
>CC: FG@hotmail.com
>
>Please explain to me how my post is a TOS.
>
>It appears to me that you fail to understand the >context in which my message was posted. There >has been a pervasive Bahai effort for more than a >year and a half to censor and control all knowledge >and information on the Bahai Faith. Extensive >documentation to this effect, with statements and >samples of suppressed messages from well over >30 people, can be found on my web site:
>
>The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>
>
>Extensive discussion relevant to Bahai censorship >can also be found on alt.religion.bahai
>
>If AOL is not merely to be a pawn used by Bahais, >unknown in this instance, hiding behind anonymity,
>it is essentially that you reveal my accuser's >identity, something which is long recognized in >common law. Note the so-called TOS below contains >observations from four different people, one a >Professor of History at the University of Michigan.
>
>Further, to understand the nature of my comments, >you would need to consider the posts that I was >responding to, post which follow the "Bahai >technique" remarked upon by myself and the >other three people below.
>
>I wish to draw to the attention of AOL that Bahais >are apparently using your naivete regarding what >Bahais call "covenant breaking" in this instance.
>
>I am confident a fair and just investigation in regard to the so-called >TOS will help AOL reach a balanced understanding of what is >truly involved in the accusation.
>
>FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> See alt.religion.bahai,
>talk.religion.misc, or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
>Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>
>
>
>
>-----
>Subj: Terms of Service
>Date: 98-09-11 02:54:49 EDT
>From: TOSBoards2
>To: FG
>
>Dear Member,
>
>I need to let you know that America Online was notified of a post to one of >our message boards which violates the Terms of Service. Here is the >information I have placed on the account regarding this incident:
>
>On 9/9/98 6:58 AM Eastern Daylight EST the FG screen name posted a >message in Baha'i Message Boards, For Non Baha'is >> Subject: Re:
>Literal-minded Bahai ignorance. The following is an excerpt from the post:
>" The typical response of Bahai fanatics....
>FG:
>
>"Some of the most striking methods demonstrated repeatedly by
>
>many Bahais during the last year and a half of discussion about

>
>an unmoderated newsgroup is their refusal to listen and respond to
>
>the criticisms of those who are in favor of talk.religion.bahai,
>
>ignoring their concerns, never responding analytically to their
>
>messages and reasoning and logic and evidence, attacking them
>
>through character assassination and ad hominem, ganging up
>
>on individuals, and "circling the wagons" around every action
>
>of the srb moderators or others who are opposed to
>
>talk.religion.bahai.
>
>"More than twenty different people on my web site have posted messages
>
>explaining their experience with srb censorship yet many srb Bahais
>
>NEVER address their concerns. Ignoring such charges will not make
>
>them go away. NO ONE has to "try" to link the trb interest poll with
>
>censorship on srb; the moderators themselves have done that by
>
>suppressing droves of people for years. There are many people who
>
>believe such suppression is part and parcel of the Bahai
>
>community as it exists today. A YES vote need not necessarily
>
>support such a belief. There are other reasons Bahais might vote
>
>YES."
>
>
>
>Ron House:
>
>"I know what you mean. I've found over the years that
>
>there is a technique used by traditional Baha'is and
>
>others to squash dissension: harry the dissenter so
>
>much he says something intemperate, then point out
>
>how 'loving' and 'compassionate' they are and how
>
>nasty the dissenter is. The trouble is that this
>
>technique works, so I've been making a conscious >effort not to fall for it. Also, when they get the
>
>
>dissenter discouraged and miserable enough, he
>
>invariably makes a slip-up sooner or later that they >can REALLY let loose the venom over. IMHO, they did
>
>
>this to you when you misread Sharon's intentions.
>
>At any other time, they would overlook faults, as
>
>Baha'u'llah says, but when they're in this mode
>
>they go for the jugular. Very sad."

>
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/House2.htm>
>
>
>
>Fran Baker:
>
>"Just have to say that in my experience this is a common
>
>technique of manipulative people in general; it is especially
>
>effective with thoughtful people who are willing to see both >sides of things, i.e., their own fault. I consider this brow-beating >technique to be a form of abuse. The only way to deal with it is
>
>
>
>to call them on it every time and to refuse to let yourself be beat
>
>up, i.e., not to do your part of the "tango." This can be very hard
>
>to do, but it works.You can break this pattern in a personal
>
>relationship. I don't know whether it's possible when a group
>
>acts this way. Very scary."
>
>
>
>
>Dr. Juan Cole:
>
>"Let me ask you why in the world you think that I would risk my professional
>
>reputation by publicly stating falsehoods? ...The very technique of the
>
>more glaze-eyed among these people is to unbearably bully a Baha'i whom
>
>they don't like, use unjustified threats of declaring him or her a CB to
>
>silence the individual, and if the person will not be silenced, then to
>
>depend upon the gullibility of the Baha'is in refusing to listen to any
>
>victim's story because, of course, the Baha'i institutions are infallible
>
>and divinely guided and could never do anything wrong. It is a perfect
>
>racket.
>
>"Of course, this technique of making liberals go away has been enormously
>
>successful, and ex-Baha'i liberals have no credibility with the remaining
>
>Baha'is nor do most of them have any energy to continue to make a case,
>
>either to the Baha'is or the outside world, for the incredible abuses that
>
>go on inside this organization ostensibly committed to tolerance!"
>
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Cole10.htm>
>
>
>
>FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
>
><https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> See alt.religion.bahai,
>
>talk.religion.misc, or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
>

>Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>
>
>baha'i
>
>
>
>baha'i"
>
>Our Terms of Service agreement, which was presented during the sign up >process, allows America Online to be informative, entertaining and, above >all, fun for all of our Members. You can review that agreement by using >keyword TOS. This area also has information and tools you can use to help >protect your account. Also, you may want to take a look at our PARENTAL >CONTROLS. This will allow you, among other things, to limit and/or block >specific screen names from various online activities.
>
>Thanks for taking the time to read this letter. Please note, this screen >name cannot accept replies. Therefore, if you have any comments or questions
>please send mail to TOSGeneral.
>
>Regards,
>Bill
>Community Action Team
>America Online, Inc.
>
>* Have you heard about AOL's latest and easiest to use software version, >4.0? You can upgrade for free at keyword: Upgrade. With AOL 4.0, you can >have fun by sending multiple files, changing screen names without signing >off, customizing your toolbar, and much, much more. Upgrade today!
>
>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, September 13, 1998 12:35 PM
Subject: Re: the censorship that wasn't

Kent Johnson wrote in message <6tf8sh$7bd$1@as4100c.javanet.com>...
>If you are interested in real evidence of censorship for no good reason, I >have some. I see no reason to put it here publicly, but it happened and >there is plenty of evidence, at least where it concerns me.
>
>Warm Baha'i Love. --Kent

Please do post it on alt.religion.bahai. A number of people have pointed out from time to time that doing so is really the only way of dealing with Bahai censorship on soc.religion.bahai and elsewhere. I believe Ron House and Michael McKenny have said as much. Whoever....

Please compare the recent attempts of Bahais on AOL to get me kicked off by charging me with a TOS. The messages threatening me with denunciation to an auxiliary board member speak for themselves.... Bahais and non-Bahais need to know how common such contemptible tactics really are and only the indisputable evidence is capable of waking up some people....

Consider, too, that by posting such messages of Bahai duplicity and intrigue, it is the surest safeguard against their attempting such things again. They'll KNOW the truth will come out and restrain themselves at least a little....

Compare too the observations in "The Bahai technique."
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/technique.htm>

FG....The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> AOL: alt.religion.bahai,
talk.religion.misc; or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, September 13, 1998 12:40 PM
Subject: REPOST alt.religion.bahai FAQ

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) for
Alt.Religion.Bahai and bahai-faith@makelist.com
September 3, 1998
This FAQ will be reposted approximately every two weeks.

Please note that crossposting your messages to talk.religion.misc makes it possible for some people without access to the alt.*
hierarchy to follow along with the discussion on alt.religion.bahai.
Similarly, crossposting or sending a courtesy copy, "cc," to
bahai-faith@makelist.com also allows people with only email
access to participate. Currently, 23 individuals are subscribed.
Other people with web access might use www.dejanews.com or
www.reference.com They both offer reading and posting capabilities, including free email accounts, for people who can't directly access
alt.religion.bahai.
Though these stopgap measures may appear cumbersome or repetitive,
they really do compensate a little for the lack of
talk.religion.bahai, which would be an unmoderated newsgroup
on a major hierarchy that most people ought to be able to use.
Alt.Religion.Bahai is now available on America Online (AOL).

NOTE: Not all people agree on the interpretations given below.

Question #1 "what would be the difference between the proposed newsgroup talk.religion.bahai and alt.religion.bahai?"
ANSWER: The alt.* hierarchy is not widely available, while the talk.* hierarchy is, since it is on what's called the Big 8 hierarchy of Usenet. Many more Bahais and non-Bahais would be able to access talk.religion.bahai.

Question #2 "Isn't ARB also unmoderated?"
ANSWER: Yes. Alt.religion.bahai is unmoderated and talk.religion.bahai would be too. Though not a newsgroup, the mailing list bahai-faith@makelist.com is also unmmoderated.

Question #3 "Why create a t.r.b.?"
ANSWER #1: Because many people believe they experienced or are continuing to experience censorship when attempting to post to soc.religion.bahai. See the quotations from Abdul-Baha:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm>

ANSWER #2: Because the Bahai writings support free speech and
religious conscience.
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/bahai.htm>

ANSWER #3: [fill in the blank according to your own opinion.]

Question #4: "Why do the srb moderators oppose trb?"
ANSWER: [Perhaps they'll supply us with an answer to place

here]

Question #5: "Are Bahais opposed to freedom of speech and conscience?"

ANSWER: Despite glowing words of love and support for other people's opinions, despite the Universal House of Justice stating at least publicly it is not opposed to an unmoderated forum, the record of actual behavior by Bahais and on soc.religion.bahai and the experience of many Bahais and people who have left the Bahai Faith give reason for concern.

Chronology of major events: talk.religion.bahai

January 17, 1997: The 1st proposal for talk.religion.bahai was submitted to news.announce.newgroups.
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/1stRFD.htm>

Early March 1997: Mark Towfiq, chairman of the BCCA, the Bahai Computer and Communication Association, posts to three Bahai-only mailing lists a call for Bahais to vote NO against talk.religion.bahai.
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/Towfiq.htm>

March 1997: soc.religion.bahai bans all discussion of talk.religion.bahai from its newsgroup. This ban is still in effect more than a year and a half later.
March 31, 1997: The 1st proposal was defeated 157 YES to 691 NO.
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/1stRESULT.htm>

April 3, 1997: Jonathan Grobe, a non-Bahai, creates alt.religion.bahai.
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/arb.htm>

October 14, 1997: The Universal House of Justice releases a message stating it has no objection to unmoderated newsgroups: <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/UHJ1.htm>

November 1997: At a time when discussion was highly favorable in support of talk.religion.bahai, the BCCA deprives FG of access to the private Bahai-only mailing list bahai-discuss and all of its other lists, inflaming Bahai passions against trb. See bahai-discuss archived files and correspondence between FG and the BCCA committee: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>

December 19, 1997: The Universal House of Justice releases a message that suggests it does not understand the nature of Usenet interest polling:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/UHJ2.htm>

January 12, 1998: The 2nd proposal for talk.religion.bahai was submitted.
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/2ndRFD.htm>

February 22, 1998: The 2nd proposal was defeated 109 YES to 65 NO.
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/2ndRESULT.htm>

May 25, 1998: srb bans all messages from FG that contain his signature file.
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/srb23.htm>

August 28, 1998: The 3rd proposal scheduled to be submitted.

For past discussion of censorship on soc.religion.bahai and other issues, including censorship within the Bahai community, see the Web site below.

WEB SITE:

The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

MAILING LIST:

bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts) For Web subscription & List Archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>
To Subscribe: e-mail to bahai-faith-subscribe@makelist.com
To Unsubscribe: e-mail to bahai-faith-unsubscribe@makelist.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, September 13, 1998 12:41 PM
Subject: REPOST To Bahai UHJ July 24, 1998

From: FG <FG@hotmail.com>
To: UHJ <secretariat@bwc.org>; Letters to Editor <letters@nytimes.com>;
bahai-faith @ makelist.com <bahai-faith@makelist.com>
Subject: To UHJ July 24, 1998
Date: Friday, July 24, 1998 9:03 PM
July 24,1998

Dear Members of the Universal House of Justice:

As a Bahai, I am saddened by the news of the execution of yet another Bahai in Iran. However, the immediate public statements made by Firuz Kazemzadeh of the National Spiritual Assembly of the United States, reminiscent of Robert Henderson's piece in The New York Times on January 13th of this year, appear equally lamentable for their blatant hypocrisy: "We had hoped that President Khatami's assertions about freedom, justice and the rule of law in Iran would apply to the Baha'is of that country.... We urge the international community to protest vigorously Mr. Rowhani's killing and to seek justice for the beleaguered Iranian Baha'i community."

The tragic loss of Bahai lives in Iran and the subsequent exploitation of their deaths by Bahai spokesmen, often in the American media, always courting the President and other members of the government, has become a predictable pattern rendered intolerable in the context of continuing and pervasive Bahai censorship and denial of human and civil rights in the United States and elsewhere. Such incidents as I queried you about in my unanswered email of March 31, 1997, available on my Web site, regarding the crushing of the magazine Dialogue, the resignations of a number of scholars from the Bahai Encyclopedia, the attacks on the listserv known as Talisman I at Indiana University, the harassing and blacklisting of many individuals, Bahai and non-Bahai, suggest profoundly deep-seated problems within the Bahai community and administration.

To these incidents must now be added the apparent conspiracy for more than a year and a half of the Bahai Computer and Communications Committee (BCCA), under the chairmanship of Mark Towfiq, to defeat twice now, along with the collusion of other Bahais, the creation of an unmoderated newsgroup on the Bahai Faith which would be known as talk.religion.bahai. You may find extensive documentation for all of these violations of the basic human rights of many Bahais and non-Bahais on my Web site, "The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience": <https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm>

Because the third interest poll for talk.religion.bahai on Usenet is approaching, after August 28th, I ask you again to investigate the BCCA and its depriving me of access last November from all private Bahai-only mailing lists at a crucial moment just when the tide of discussion was going very much in favor of the newsgroup, noted by many observers. I also ask whether you supported or were involved in that decision? The relevant files can be found on my Web site under Bahai-Discuss Archives.

Similarly, I would like to know whether your institution or the BCCA has approved of or advocated the recent ban of my email signature file by the moderators of soc.religion.bahai, as well as their complete ban for more than a year and a half now on all discussion regarding talk.religion.bahai.

The prevailing atmosphere of suppression of free speech and religious conscience that now characterizes the Bahai Faith cannot but call into question the honesty of many members of the Bahai administration and perhaps the institutions themselves.

I ask once more whether censorship is allowed in the Bahai Faith and what passages of the Bahai Writings support it, what are the "rules," if you will, of Bahai censorship?

FG...The Bahai Faith & Religious Freedom of Conscience:
<https://members.tripod.com/~FG/index.htm> See alt.religion.bahai, talk.religion.misc, or bahai-faith@makelist.com (accepts all "cc" posts)
Subscription & archive: <https://www.findmail.com/listsaver/bahai-faith/>
cc: The New York Times, letters@nytimes.com

From: FG[SMTP:FG@hotmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, September 13, 1998 12:43 PM
Subject: REPOST the Bahai technique

During the last year and a half, a number of observers have noted several common methods many Bahais use to avoid various issues or discredit people who hold opinions other than their own:

FG:
"Some of the most striking methods demonstrated repeatedly by many Bahais during the last year and a half of discussion about an unmoderated newsgroup is their refusal to listen and respond to the criticisms of those who are in favor of talk.religion.bahai, ignoring their concerns, never responding analytically to their messages and reasoning and logic and evidence, attacking them through character assassination and ad hominem, ganging up on individuals, and "circling the wagons" around every action of the srb moderators or others who are opposed to talk.religion.bahai."

"More than twenty different people on my web site have posted messages explaining their experience with srb censorship yet many srb Bahais NEVER address their concerns. Ignoring such charges will not make them go away. NO ONE has to "try" to link the trb interest poll with censorship on srb; the moderators themselves have done that by suppressing droves of people for years. There are many people who believe such suppression is part and parcel of the Bahai community as it exists today. A YES vote need not necessarily support such a belief. There are other reasons Bahais might vote YES."

Ron House:
